While we're only guessing we think we're fairly accurate in assuming another park referendum may be in the offering before too long. The experience of the last two park referendums has shown that it is probably necessary to acquire land only in the next referendum. The problems confronting the scheduling of another referendum will have to be weighed against the other referendums which are in store for Nilesites. District 63 residents will be voting on an addition for Oak School in November and the third high school bond in Maine Township will also be up for vote soon. Thus, the park board has the unenviable problem of trying to determine when to try for a land referendum...and for what areas?

Meanwhile, while these issues will be confronting voters, the swimming pool crowd will begin to be heard soon...asking why Niles does not have any swimming facilities?

And back at the village hall the cry is continuing for more space for the village clerk's office and the police department. Perhaps the sales tax windfall which is beginning to blow Niles way can be used for such expansion. While it is expensive today (and it will be more-so tomorrow) the only answer to Niles growing pains is for a new village hall. For if there were to be additions to the present hall, these would soon be outmoded since the Niles of today, fast approaching 25,000 population, may well be a town of 50,000, in the not too distant future.

If we can use the past eight years as a measuring stick it is conceivable that our present taxes could increase similarly in the next eight years. And if inflation causes salaries and expenses to go up in a similar fashion we'll have to re-orient our thinking about the future. Tax bills of $350-$400 may be $700-$800. And $250,000 sales tax returns may become $500,000 returns. All these new figures will be upon us as we approach the seventies. And $5000 lots of five years ago, now selling $9000 today, may be selling for $14,000 during the next eight years.

Thus, no matter how severe the costs might seem today, it is likely it is still a bargain to buy and build now, to meet the blown up needs of tomorrow.

"Jet-Propelled" Building Boom?

Transfer of several thousand airline employees from Midway Airport to O'Hare International Airport is creating a considerable increase in home building sales in Des Plaines and the surrounding northwest suburbs.

United Air Lines will move several thousand people into its new executive headquarters at O'Hare when work is completed sometime in December and American Airlines announces it is also shifting its executive offices from Midway to O'Hare. The new operation will require moving more than 1,000 American employees.

Mayor Blase said it was determined that several of the men showed qualifications for the top job. This comment seems to verify that the police chief will definitely be chosen from among the candidates from the Niles police force. After the Blase-Smigiel-Bruno committee receives the recommendations from the traffic men they will then narrow the field of candidates to three. Blase will then choose from among the three men. And as Blase had mentioned, the choice "may be forthcoming" at next Tuesday's meeting.

While a Public Works Department worker inspects sewer in front of 7524 Keeney, Niles bicyclists playfully ride through the water caused by the sudden two inch downpour last Thursday morning. Bicyclists include John and Cynthia La Porta, 8137 Olcott and Nadine and Dawn Reynolds, 8035 Oconto.

resident mentioned that this is the third time in the past 3 years Niles had a "25 year rain" and questioned what the term really meant. Bacher said the weather bureau is unable to explain the sudden downpour which he cited as being abnormal.

Complaints from residents were then heard. Joe Risily, 3104 Ottawa, first cited the health hazard in water on his block and Bacher made an appointment to go over to his area and review the sewers which Risily said were in need of being cleaned.

Poeschl brought up the problem of disconnecting downspouts and Risily admitted some residents had the spouts connected to the sewers.

Engineer Olson told residents that sewers are built on the assumption of storms which have a once-in-five-year frequency. He said to most storms of a 25 year frequency was not physically nor financially advisable since costs would increase from 50 to 100% for such sewers. To meet the once-in-fifty year storms Olson said the cost would be 300% more than what is now being charged for present sewers.

Mrs. Marzello, cited problems in the 8700 blocks of Ozark, Ozanam, Merrill, Elmore and Wisner. She said the area "is a nightmare" during rainfalls and feared the danger of typhoid to the children there. Other complaints were for areas in the blocks of 8400 on Olcott and Osceola, 8200 Odell, 8100 Ozanam, and in the Neva-Howard area in Kirk Lane.

NILES 7-5880 OPEN 7 DAYS

by David Esser Editor & Publisher

While the polio season is almost upon us the chance that Nilesites will have a public station to obtain these shots becomes increasingly remote. As we mentioned last week the Niles Woman's Club carried the ball for the entire village, organizing and working at the library-clinic, which resulted in approximately 500 shots being administered last year. However, the hue and cry from doctors in Niles helped make the experience one which they did not care to encounter again this year. Certainly the fine efforts of the girls proved worthwhile...simply in their knowing they helped protect 500 persons from this crippling disease. It would certainly be in the best interest of the village for any group in Niles to take the bull by the horns and sponsor a similar public-polio clinic again.

The Woman's Club and The Lion's Club in particular, more than carry their share of civic activities during the course of a year's time. But what about one of the other groups in town taking this action? The polio vaccine, already paid for by taxpayers is waiting for us...and can easily be obtained through the County Health Board. We're sure a public letter inviting all doctors in Niles to give a couple hours of their time for this cause would bring a 100% response...especially if the request was done publicly.

We can see no reason why the opportunities for this immunity should not be made accessible to suburbanites as it is to city dwellers...via a public clinic.

Actually since this is in the public domain we wonder if the new health board might initiate such an action. When an outbreak of typhoid suddenly was revealed in Chicago this past year, the Chicago Health Board quickly immunized residents in the west side area where it occurred. We can see little difference in this action, than a similar action to fight polio. Obviously there are times when the public has to be protected from themselves. And if there are any persons who have not received the entire series of polio shots by now, then certainly these people are in need of this public protection.

Niles tremendous growth generally results in the trust.

Emrikson New Police Chief: Father Van Civil Service Head

Police Chief Clarence Emrikson, Emrikson Selection Like Horatio Alger Story

The rise from patrolman to police chief in 10 months is the Horatio Alger story of Niles' new police chief.

Former patrolman Clarence Emrikson received his three sergeant stripes 10 months ago, after serving on Niles force for three years. When the opening for police chief in Niles developed Emrikson competed with ten of his fellow Niles officers and was selected chief by new Mayor Nick Blase, after an intensive study was made regarding the qualifications of the ten men. Blase was helped in his selection by trustee Sam Bruno, as well as Judge Tony Smigiel and two men from Northwestern University's Traffic Institute. The group narrowed the field of ten candidates to five, according to Blase, and he made the final selection for his top man on the Niles police department. Emrikson represents the new youth movement which has taken over the Niles village government since the April election. Like Niles' new Mayor, Emrikson is 32 years old. He has been a resident of Niles for the past ten years and lives at 8433 Ozark Avenue. He and his wife Marion have been married twelve years and have six children, Kenneth, 10, Kathleen, 9, Karen, 7, Kimberly, 4, Keith 3 and Kevin 2.

Both Marion and Clarence are former Chicagoites. Marion formerly from Humboldt Park area and Clarence from neighboring Norwood Park. He is an alumnus of Taft High School.

Before joining Niles police force he was in the construction business, working as a carpenter. Our new chief served in the Marine Corps, from 1945 to 1948 and was in the Merchant Marine, enlisting before he was sixteen years old.

Grennan Heights Pick 2 King, Queen Candidates

A big opportunity is in store for a Grennan Heights boy and girl sixteen or seventeen years of age whose families are members of the Grennan Heights Improvement Association. We have been asked to submit two entries for King and Queen of Niles Days. This is not strictly a beauty contest. A wholesome personality and background will be given equal consideration. Anyone interested in representing the Grennan Heights Improvement Association in this Niles Days contest may file an application at the SUMMER FESTIVAL, June 24th, in Grennan Heights Park. There will be a personal interview consisting of three questions for whoever is chosen to represent the Grennan Heights Improvement Association. This interview will be by a committee from Golf Mill who are not Niles' residents, under the auspices of the Niles Days King and Queen Committee. The King, Queen and Court will appear at Golf Mill South Court—the boys in dark suits and the girls in their best party dresses—for the crowning on Friday evening, July 21st, and then proceed via open cars to the area of the Niles Days Festival to reign for the duration of Niles Days. They will also be present for photographs, publicity and newspaper interviews. It all sounds like "rush week" on the campus. However, it is not all rush, there are going to be many rewarding compensations. Details will be given by the Niles Days King and Queen Committee headed by Mrs. Marge Lieske. We hope the Grennan Heights Improvement Association will have the King and Queen of Niles.

Blase Tells New Chief Enforce Laws

Before another jam-packed meeting Tuesday night Mayor Blase set the controls of his New Era Express—full throttle ahead as he appointed Clarence Emrikson, 8433 Ozark, as police chief and Notre Dame's Father John Van Wolfer as chairman of Niles Police and fire commission, which is Niles civil service board. Robert Schmidt, 7851 Oconto, was selected as Niles new village treasurer and Leo Filas, a Kirk Lane resident would join Father Van, and hold-over member Lee Sims on the police-fire commission. Blase then immediately told Police Chief Emrikson to enforce the closing time on all taverns and lounges, allowing ten minutes after closing time for emptying the premises. Blase added, "I strongly ask the new chief that laws governing gambling be rigidly adhered to...and with no exceptions." Blase then reminded Blase about minors purchasing cigarettes in town and Blase added this to laws which should be strictly enforced. He also brought up the subject of smutty magazines but left the subject in mid-stream when Szymanski questioned the determining what was smut.

In other action Poeschl reported that the only way building permits will be given to a Washington and Monroe landowner is when he dedicates his street to the village. Poeschl will do up ordinance for 4-way stop signs around Grennan Heights park and will study "no parking" request by park board for area alongside the park.

New Mc Donald's Restaurant Opens

The new McDonald's restaurant at 7937 Milwaukee Avenue in Niles is scheduled to open on Tuesday, June 13, Louis C. Copley, manager of the new restaurant, announced today.

Featured by the new McDonald's, one of a national chain of 255 restaurants in 34 states, will be 15-cent hamburgers—the most popular single food order of the American eating public," according to Copley.

McDonald's operates on a streamlined technique, that delivers a meal of hamburger, French fries and milkshake in 50 seconds. The check for this meal is 45 cents, as it was ten years ago, and quality and quantity are the same.

The chain has sold more than 400 million hamburgers in five years and follows the policy of serving a meal quickly in spotless surroundings at pre-inflation prices.

The new McDonald's in Niles is smartly designed with rain-bow-shaped arches, lighted by neon, that identify the restaurants from coast to coast.

The food preparation area measures 400 square feet, and the building also includes space for heating apparatus and storage of equipment.

The brightly lighted food preparation area is walled 900 sq. feet of quarter-inch plate glass, enabling the customer who places his order at a service window to see for himself that preparation of his food is quick and clean.

Only three food items are served at McDonald's. These are hamburgers, cheeseburgers and French fries. Drinks are soft drinks, milkshakes, cocoa, milk, hot and cold chocolate.

Orders are taken at a window in the plate glass wall of the restaurant directly from the customer, who carries his sandwiches to his car or home. This self-service does away with two nuisances—tipping and waiting.

No carhops are employed and no person may enter the food area except the operator and employees.

Assembly line grills and mixers prepare the food and infrared heating lamps and cold storage wells keep it ready for instant service. Thirty-six hamburgers can be prepared in 110 seconds. Check averages are around 72 cents per order. McDonald's units turn out an average of 70,000 burgers and 31,000 shakes a month, as high as 4700 orders of French fries in a day.

"Uniformity in food preparation pays off in low prices for our customers," says Donald R. Conley, vice-president of McDonald's Systems, Inc. "We have adopted a simple formula that includes just ten items on the menu. A unit in Connecticut serves exactly the same kind of food as one in California. In that way we are able to get our cost way down. There's a small margin of profit, but we make up for it in volume.

"Our idea is to be part of the community whether we're in Florida, Illinois, or Iowa," states Conley. "Of course, we have many transients, particularly those who know the food and service at a McDonald's in Colorado will be the same he had in Illinois, but our backbone is community trade.

"Every McDonald's unit caters to the family. Local organizations order from us for picnics and rallies, families stop by on their way home from the movies. A school may order a couple of hundred hamburgers for a class party, the family may pick up a bag of two or six."

Every cleaning measure, down to the last sweep of the mop, is outlined and followed by the individual operators. There are no dirt-catching corners or hanging advertisements on the outside the restaurant.

"We have had mothers come to us to ask for us for their young sons because of McDonald's wholesome atmosphere, and we are proud of this. We sell 15-cent hamburgers with dignity, courtesy and pride, and wherever we are, we expect to be as much a permanent community service as the hardware store, the grocery store, and the drugstore," says Conley.

Many of the most appealing books for children from 11-15 years of age tell of people who are asking questions, making decisions and taking a stand for what they believe in. Taking a stand often means making a sacrifice, or a whole series of sacrifices, or it may require perseverance in the face of torment, suffering, even danger.

In the book, THE HOUSE OF SIXTY FATHERS by Meinert DeJong, the story is based on one of the author's actual experiences. During World War II Mr. DeJong was official historian for the Chinese-American Composite Wing, which was part of Chennault's famous Fourteenth Air Force. A young Chinese War orphan, who is the central figure of his story, was adopted by DeJong's outfit. The boy chose Mr. DeJong as his special "father" and the two became exceedingly devoted to one another. Mr. DeJong wanted to bring the boy back to the United States with him, but because of legal complications he was unable to do so. However, the men in the outfit left the youngster well provided for when they returned to America. The Communists then took over that section of China and the author has never received any information as to what has happened to the boy.

The scene of this book by Mr. DeJong is, of course, China. It is a moving realistic story of China during the early days of the Japanese invasion. Tien Pao, a small Chinese boy, and his family fled inland on a sampan when the Japanese attacked their coastal village. Young Tien Pao is along on his family's sampan when the boat breaks loose from its moorings and is caught by the rushing waters of the river. When the sampan finally lands, Tien Pao is in Japanese territory and with only his pig for company, he starts on the long and hazardous journey back to Hengyang and his parents. The story tells of the adventures of the boy as he makes his way back up the river despite the threat of bombings, starvation and pig-stealers. The author provides stark realistic word pictures that will give the reader the full impact of the terror, pain, hunger and finally the joy that Tien Pao knew during his search for his family.

THE HOUSE OF SIXTY FATHERS could be the story of any child in any war. In his expressive pictures the illustrator Maurice Sendak, has caught the essence of Tien Pao and his faith, courage and unwillingness to surrender his belief in the impossible.

TWENTY AND TEN by Claire Huchet Bishop, is another story of World War II. With a French wartime background, it is an account of how 20 French children during the occupation of the Second World War connive to hide and feed in their mountain school ten Jewish children fleeing the Nazis. During the occupation twenty French children were taken to a refuge in the mountains by a wise Sister, and to their school came ten refugee children who had to be hidden from the Nazis. When they were asked to help the ten Jewish children and share with them their meager rations, they did so gladly. It seemed just another game until the Nazi soldiers came for the first time, and even then, in the face of possible disaster, the children managed to turn the soldiers' search into a joke.

Harczak's Bowl In Finals

The team of "HARCZAK'S SAUSAGE" entered the Northwest Suburban Bowling Proprietors Tournament this year, and bowled into second position in the preliminaries, which were held at Niles Bowling Center. The team rolled 3077. This made the team eligible for the semi-finals, which was also held at Niles Bowling Center. During the semi-finals, they won first position, by rolling 3074. With some 1500 teams participating in this tournament, only 8 teams entered the Finals, which were held at Barrington, Illinois, Sunday, June 11, 1961.

In the finals, the team gained 4th position, rolling a 2931 series and the team was awarded $300.00 in cash. Had the team finished in 1st place, they would have gained the top prize of $1500.00. This Center, during the regular bowling season. Here's hoping that the team repeats itself next season and wins the first place in the FINALS.

Provenzano To Receive Holy Name Gavel

After a most successful year, aggressive and dynamic President John Perlon, will turn the St. John Brebeuf Holy Name Society gavel over to the newly elected President, Michael Provenzano, at its annual Communion Mass at Ed Robert's Colonial Motel Restaurant, 9101 Waukegan Rd. Tickets are $1.50 per person and reservations will be limited to the first 120 members.

Other officers elected at our last meeting were: Edward Coudek, Vice-President; Tad Lesniak, 1st Vice-President & Publicity Chairman; Joseph Caruso, Treasurer and Henry Suppan, Secretary.

The newly elected President urges all members of St. John Brebeuf Holy Name Society, "To Sign One - in '61."

The newly elected officers will start their membership drive in a few weeks, with their slogan, "Every Catholic man in Niles, a Holy Name man."

There is always need of this organization dedicated to the honor of God; and especially is this true today when unbelievers are so rampant. One of the aims of our Holy Name Society is to promote spiritual welfare of the men of our parish by encouraging and assisting them to observe the practices of the confraternity of the Most Holy Name of Jesus, namely, the frequent reception of the Sacraments, the honoring of the Most Holy Name by an active religious life, and the working against all things, which offend the Most Holy Name.

Niles Baseball Leagues

Monday, June 5, the first night game was played under lights at Niles Public between VFW Post 7712 and Lytton's Pirates. In this night game the Cubs scored their second victory with a score of 11-5. (Eleven must be Peterson's lucky number). Cub player Zaleski was the winning pitcher, also having the only home run in the game.

Our hats are off to the Park Board for putting in this beautiful lighting system. Before the game started, it was a thrill indeed to see our boys standing on the foul lines with their caps over their hearts while our flag was raised and the Star Spangled Banner was played. Cheers are in order too for Larry Peterson, manager of the Cubs. With the conclusion of last year's games and the beginning of this year's, Peterson's team had lost sixteen games in a row. This year, he won his first game against the Giants with a score of 11-3. Rappola was winning pitcher. Kolar and Rappola had home runs.

Sunday, June 18 Collections Go For Seminary Expansion

Catholics of the Archdiocese of Chicago have been urged to give most generously to a special collection for seminary expansion which will be taken up Sunday, June 18, in all parishes.

The results of the collection will go towards the $8 million dollar building costs of two new Catholic seminaries, Quigley South at 79th and Western in Chicago, and St. Mary's of the Lake, Junior College Department, in Niles, Illinois. Quigley South is a new building, currently under construction, St. Mary's formerly St. Hedwigs Orphanage is presently undergoing extensive remodeling. Both of the new seminaries will enroll their first students in September.

"Through the great generosity of our Catholic people," said the Very Rev. Msgr. Martin M. Howard, rector of Quigley Preparatory Seminary, 103 E. Chestnut, "about $2 1/2 million of the $8 million needed has already been contributed to Cardinal Meyer's Seminary Expansion Program. The collection of this amount in only two years is an inspiring achievement which shows that many local Catholics are gravely aware of the need for new seminaries.

"Yet much more is needed to complete the task," he continued. "Although both schools will be opened in just a few months, more than $5 1/2 million must still be obtained to pay for them. I hope all Catholics will keep this in mind, and be more generous than ever to our 1961 collection next Sunday.

Msgr. Howard said that the opening of the new seminaries will reduce the badly overcrowded conditions that have existed at the original Northside Quigley for several years. Quigley South will eventually accommodate 1200 high-school age seminarians, and St. Mary's will have a total enrollment of 381 fifth and sixth-year seminarians.

In addition to the overcrowding of Quigley North, other reasons making new seminary facilities necessary are:

There has been no new seminary built in this Archdiocese for 35 years.

Since 1926, when the last new seminary was constructed the Catholic population has increased by 900,000 people.

Today there are only about 1200 diocesan priests in Cook and Lake counties—one priest for every 1700 Catholics.

His Eminence Albert Cardinal Meyer, Archbishop of Chicago, in a recent pastoral letter to all Catholics, said:

"Our present Seminary Buildings at Quigley North and Mundelein were built by the sacrifices of the Catholics who lived in Chicago 35 to 40 years ago. They made sacrifices so that we in our day would have the consolation of having priests to help us serve God."

"Today we face a similar problem. We, too, must make sacrifices if we are to provide priests for ourselves, our children, and our children's children in the years which lie ahead. As we have received the torch of faith from our forefathers, let us by our efforts toward the completion of the Seminary Expansion Program pass the torch of faith to the generations of Catholics who will follow us in this Archdiocese."

Tells Need For Teacher's Helpers

The Board of Education of the Niles Township High Schools recently approved the proposal for an extended use of the "Lay Reader Program" at the Niles West high school.

The program of using housewives and others who are academically qualified to assist in reading compositions and essays written for English classes was used on trial last semester. With Board approval, one lay reader and three English teachers were used for four months.

The proposal for next year is that nine lay readers be employed for use by eighteen English teachers or one lay reader for two teachers. In the proposal the Niles West English department asked that each lay reader spend twelve hours per week in reading compositions to enable the reader to do two sets of papers for each of the two teachers assigned him each week at a cost of $150 a month per reader to the high school district.

The purpose of the lay reader program is to improve students' writing. English teachers want to develop writing skills in all of their students but limitations are imposed by the sheer weight of numbers, even in a school system such as Niles which maintains a relatively reasonable teacher-pupil ratio, reported the Niles West English department.

Mrs. Liza Hobbs, Niles West English teacher and coordinator of the Lay Reader program, said the limited use of lay readers last semester proved highly successful from the viewpoints of teacher, student, and lay reader.

During the experimental period using the lay reader last semester teachers involved carefully explained to students that responsibility for grading would ultimately remain with the classroom teacher and not the lay reader. Students had explained to them also that the use of a trained reader would help them to improve their writing by enabling the teacher to assign more compositions and providing more detailed comments on such things as organization, vocabulary, and sentence structure.

Mrs. Hobbs reports that students responded enthusiastically, and that as time progressed the classroom teacher assumed more and more the role of confident and consultant. Students brought many questions to the teacher that they might formerly have taken a chance on leaving unsettled. If there was help available before the lay reader graded a composition, the students wanted that help. This put the emphasis more in the direction of careful preparation before the paper was submitted, as well as enabling the student to see the English teacher even more as a helpful cooperative force in his life.

Looking upon the lay reader as an added assistance to the English teacher and as a contributor to the school program in English instruction, Mrs. Hobbs said the reader used last semester enjoyed the stimulation of ideas and reported that a definite change in improved student writing occurred to an appreciable degree.

Persons who are interested in working as lay readers next fall should write a letter of application addressed to the chairman of the Lay Reader Committee, Niles West High School, Skokie, Illinois.

The letter of application should contain such information as academic degree held, where it was received, courses in writing and Marge Sotan, 8262 Elmore, is chairman for the 1961 Niles Cancer Drive. Eugene De Blasi, 8313 Elmore, is chairman of the board of the Northwest Suburban Council of the American Cancer Society.

Thanks Nilesites For Cancer Fund Support

As chairman for Niles of the 1961 Cancer Fund Drive, Mrs. Marge Sotan of 8262 N. Elmore, wishes to thank all of the residents who aided her as active workers and those who contributed during the drive. She requests that the envelopes which are still out please be returned so that a final tabulation of total contributions may be made. Mrs. Sotan urges that everyone be aware that cancer is not just a once a year threat to humanity, but is at work every day of the year bringing unhappiness, suffering and financial strain to thousands. Researchers are at work vigilantly seeking the causes and cure for this dread malady. Continue to fight cancer with a checkup and a check.

The hand-to-hand envelopes and additional contributions may be delivered to Mr. Albert Green at Niles Drugs, Milwaukee and Oakton, Mrs. Sotan or Mr. Eugene DiBlasi, 8313 N. Elmore.

Tells July 4th Parade Route

The Niles Fourth of July Committee developed a popular route for its parade. This particular route has been chosen so that all of Niles can see the parade in its full festive and colorful spirit and costume.

The assembly point for the parade, which will begin at 10:00 a.m., will be at the Touhy Avenue Park. It will start there, go East on Touhy to Milwaukee, go Northwest on Milwaukee to Harlem, go North on Harlem to Oakton, and West on Oakton to Milwaukee where the parade will disband.

Prizes will be awarded to the winners during the Evening

Program which will be held at the Notre Dame Stadium. They will be divided into three groups: the Kiddie Parade, the Best Float, and the Most Original Entry.

All participants in the Kiddie Parade, not entering through a neighborhood group, can contact Mrs. Lillian Sabac at N17-7407 and be registered for the parade.

More talent is needed for the parade in order to achieve the true community spirit. Let's have a 100% participation by notifying Stanley J. Glowacki at N17-7332 or Al Green at N17-7614 of our talent and willingness to participate.

These Explorers explained the purpose of the shelter and some of the fundamentals of civil defense to the people attending the big show.

Meeting On Cerebral Children

A meeting for parents of handicapped children, who will attend United Cerebral Palsy's Summer Day Camp, will be held in Wilmette on Tuesday, June 27, to discuss plans for camp activities.

The meeting, scheduled for 8 p.m., will be held at the Roma School, 600 Roma Ave., the site of the North Suburban Day Camp. The purpose of the meeting is to familiarize the parents with camp facilities, introduce them to staff members and volunteers who will be working with their children, and to instruct them in the preparation of their children for camp.

The day camp, which will be run from July 10 through August 18, is one of four organized by United Cerebral Palsy to provide a healthful, recreational experience for children whose handicaps exclude them from other day camp activities. Under the supervision of professionally trained counselors, the children will participate in arts and crafts, swimming, nature hikes, field trips, and other activities.

All physically handicapped children between the ages of 5 and 15 may enroll. Those parents interested in this service should contact United Cerebral Palsy at 203 N. Avasth Avenue, Chicago 1, or call R16-4229. Already more than 20 children from the North Suburban area have been enrolled.
