He's Buyin' A Drink - Guess Who's Running For Twp. Committeeman?

(Written Tuesday before a big Wednesday news conference)
Memo from Sally to Bud: Ken Cohen called Friday and said Nick Blase is calling a 1 P.M. Wednesday press conference at Tiffany's. Mr. Cohen said cocktails will be served.

Memo from Bud to Sally: If Nick Blase is buying a drink it must be a very important meeting...since he's already a bank director, a travel agency owner, a lawyer, and a Mayor and he only bought a drink when he became Mayor, this meeting must have some political connotation.

Memo from Sally to Bud: So what else is knew?

Now that the holiday fog is beginning to lift we can get back on the local track and see what's going on in and around the town.

On a note of "Auld Lang Syne" friends of one of our favorites, Edna Walger, are giving her a farewell dinner January 27 at Bunker Hill. Edna and her Ed are moving to Denver after spending 12 years in Niles. In past years Edna headed our "Esoterically Edna" column while sandwiching in volunteer work on behalf of many groups in Niles. Her work on behalf of the library, Women's Club, Art Guild and Citizens' Committee were important contributions to the community.

A heretofore unmentioned story shows how a volunteer worker who stays behind the scenes can play a key role in molding others' futures.

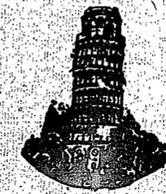

Back around 1960 Edna helped form the Niles Citizens Committee. While the group represented most of the civic groups in Niles, only seven or eight people ever showed up at meetings. After the group got off to a lame start Edna telephoned one night and said it was time to get the organization off-center, and queried who should become president. Because only six or seven ever attended the meetings, one of the attendees would head the group. After listing those present we said there was a very quiet guy who sat in the rear of the room during meetings. While he had not become noticeable, "he was an attorney" and "maybe he might be a good president." The next week the election took place and "the guy in the back of the room" was elected.

In subsequent months the group petitioned the village, and presented opposition to multiple dwellings at a zoning board meeting.

While the "Citizens" never made much of a stir they made the newspaper headlines with their efforts.

In 1961, when Ken Scheel, Bob Wente and Len Szymanski decided to oppose the entrenched forces in Niles, they looked around for a Mayor candidate. And the "guy in the back of the room" was chosen to head their ticket, while they figured he had little vote-getting attraction, nevertheless his exposure as the head of a group which opposed multiples made him acceptable. At election time in 1961 "the guy in the back of the room" was pulled into office by the three trustee candidates, who led at every precinct over their Mayor candidate. Now, "the guy in the back of the room" is vying for the Committeeman post in Maine Township, owns a travel agency, is a bank director, all because behind-the-scenes

CURTAIN GOES DOWN AT MILL RUN PLAYHOUSE

Closes After Monday Meeting

by Frieda Aron

After a weekend of meetings, the stockholders of the Mill Run Playhouse and Mr. Yort, manager of the Golf Mill Development Co., held one final meeting in the dining room of Tiffany's restaurant, on Monday, January 3rd at 1:00 P.M. Around the corner in the Coffee shop, Gary Mann, producer of the theatre was having lunch with Frank Shepard Jr., resigned manager of the theatre. Gary was called out during his lunch and when he returned told Frank, "Well that's it."

The stockholders had decided to file bankruptcy proceedings on Tuesday morning, January 4th at 10:00 A.M., and a sign was placed on the box office door of the theatre, reading—"Future performances cancelled until further notice".

The simple facts are the hardest to accept. Yes—times were critical for the theatre, everyone knew that, but it had to get better. How could they close it down? Doom settled on the very fabric of the beautifully decorated interior of the Mill Run Playhouse and everyone wandered through the day with tear-laden eyes.

The next job was to contact all the actors. It was impossible to reach Van Johnson by phone so Gary Mann and Jack McGuire, the public relations man for the theatre went to the Ambassador East Hotel where Mr. Johnson has been staying, and gave him the bad news. Then back to the theatre came Mr. Mann and the entire cast was finally notified by 6:30 P.M. The actors were fully paid off, according to their Equity Union contract—salary for the run of the show plus transportation expenses back home, which for most of the cast was New York.

All of the employees were paid off to date and the secretary would spend all of Tuesday

Debaters Win 7 Out Of 8

Seven convincing victories in eight debates carried Maine East's corps of novice debaters into a satisfying third place finish in the strong 25-school tournament held at Rockford, Illinois, just before the Christmas vacation.

Representing Maine in the December 18 contest hosted by Harlem high school was a team of three sophomores and one junior. Standing, left to right, are Joel Levinson, Phillip Allen and Pam Matteoni, all sophomores from Niles. The fourth member, David Ackerman, Morton Grove junior, is sitting next to Mrs. Cynthia Schaulis, adviser, who joined the Maine East faculty during the school year.

Testimonial For Edna Walger

When Ed and Edna Walger recently announced their decision to move to Colorado for business reasons, the news was met by their friends with mixed emotions; happiness in the hope that this new home and new opportunity will make their dreams come true... and sad for the thought of losing these wonderful people.

Throughout her years of residence here, Edna Walger has interested herself and diligently worked for the revitalization and betterment of Niles. Her loyalty, inspiration and enthusiasm has left an indelible mark on our community and for this we are indebted...for this we would like to say thanks.

A Testimonial Dinner-Dance is being planned in the honor of Edna Walger to take place Thursday, Jan. 27, 1966, at the Bunker Hill Country Club, 6635 Milwaukee Ave., Niles. Cocktails will be served from 6-7 p.m., Dinner served at 7 p.m., and dancing to the music of the Al Peter's Band will begin at 9 p.m. The tickets are $3.50 each and reservations are limited to 240 guests. In charge of planning this event are Mrs. Diane Hanson, phone 825-6471, and Ang Marcheschi, phone 967-8564.

Goodyear Tire Announces Auto Center Opening

Opening of a modern, fast-service auto center at 9503 North Milwaukee, across from the Golf Mill Shopping Center in Niles, was announced today by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company.

Largest of 21 Goodyear company outlets in the Chicago area, the center has 12 service bays and offers a complete range of auto repair and maintenance services.

In addition, the center is an outlet for General Electric Appliances, Full lines of GE home appliances, regular and stereo radios and players, and both conventional and color television sets are available in an attractive display and sales room adjacent to the service area.

Charles S. Fynacker, manager, said the center and its facilities are designed to offer the most comprehensive fast-est and most convenient automotive service in this area. The center will have a total of 17 employees.

"We are particularly endeavoring to make the new center appeal to women motorists," said Fynacker. "Convenient credit, ample parking area and a 'white glove' atmosphere are part of this effort to serve women."

Fynacker pointed out that more women are getting the responsibility of obtaining service and maintenance for the family car, in suburban areas, he said, as high as 50 per cent of auto service is obtained by women.

Maine Ridge Boy Scouts Meet January 21

Boy scout troops in Niles and Park Ridge will hold their annual Maine Ridge District first aid meet on Friday, Jan. 21, at 7:45 P.M. at the Emerson Jr. high school, 8101 Cumberland, Niles. District health and safety chairman Dr. Sanford Franzblau, 1030 S. Home, ave. in Park Ridge, expects all 24 troops to be represented by one or more patrols. No patrols will be accepted unless a capable adult judge accompanies it.

The meet is primarily an incentive to scouts to improve their ability so that they can render skillful and effective first aid in any emergency. First aid is the immediate and temporary care given the victims of an accident or sudden illness until the services of a doctor can be obtained.

Troops have been practicing for many weeks and are now conducting troop first aid exercises with the four patrol problems furnished by Dr. Franzblau and his committee. Up to three patrols scoring 80% or better on these four problems will be eligible for the district meet.

A Northwest Suburban Council first aid meet will be held later with the top four patrols of each district meet being eligible to compete.

In the scouting organization, the Institutional representative is the coordinator of cubbing, scouting and exploring in his institution. As a member of the Maine Ridge district and Northwest Suburban council, he represents the policies and programs to his institution. He is also coordinator of scouting in the institution and sees that all key people and parents know about all phases of the scouting program.

Sponsoring institutions in Niles and their institutional representatives at Dec. 13 are: St. Isaac Joques Catholic church, William Peirine, 7040 Wilson terrace; Oak School P.T.A., Martin Kaiser; 8716 Elmora; Niles Community church, Dan Tracy, 7953 N. Odell; Our Lady of Ransom Catholic church, Thomas Powers, 8561 W. Clara Drive.

Recovery's North Suburban Holiday Party

At the recent Holiday Party of Recovery's North Suburban Illinois District, Mayor Nicholas Blase was presented with a token of appreciation, the organization's book "Mental-Health Through Will-Training", while he was their honored guest.

Recovery Inc., was organized in 1937 by the late Dr. Abraham A. Low, Associate Professor of Psychiatry at the University of Illinois, for the prevention of chronicity of nervous patients and the relapse of former mental patients. It is a non-profit sectarian organization, even though groups meet in the rooms of a church, synagogue or school, with a proven methods of self-help techniques.

The Mayor demonstrated "brotherhood" to his community by taking time from his busy schedule to appear. He made a short speech stating that upon being introduced to Recovery, he "did what the community expects of me"—he checked thoroughly into the authenticity of the organization—and is now glad to learn of an established group in Niles, mayor Blase then mentioned his approval and cooperation toward the plans of the forthcoming public panel demonstration of the recovery group-therapy techniques of systematic self-help. Invitations to all professionals of Niles, as well as officers of various organizations will be sent out in January.

Reverend Peter Zawadowsky, also a guest of honor, represented the "helping hand" facilities that St. John Brebeuf has willingly given to the Niles group for 4 years. Niles Recovery group meets every Mon. at 8 p.m. in the school faculty lounge.

The Skokie Leader, Mrs. Geo. Coconati was hostess of the party; she reminded all guests of the Tuesday meetings in the Oakton Recreation Center. Anyone interested in learning more of Recovery Inc., may write or phone for information to the headquarters at 116 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago Ill., 60603.

Film On Iceland At Maine East

"Incredible Iceland", a film exploration of that little-publicized but enchanting island, will be shown in the auditorium of Maine Township High School East, at Potter and Dempster, Park Ridge, 8 p.m. January 12. Robert Davis, the narrator-guide, ranks as an all time favorite of Community Lecture Series patrons. He returns to the Maine platform for his seventh engagement.

Several visits to majestic Iceland have enabled Mr. Davis to produce a film study of scope, insight and wit. Traveling by plane, boat, jeep and afoot he explores spectacular rock formations, glaciers, springs and geysers.

Fifty years ago the capital, Reykjavik, had 7000 inhabitants, no streets or utilities. Today 80,000 are supplied with modern conveniences including hot water piped from natural springs. One of the world's most democratic states, enjoying one of the highest standards of living, has been created by 150,000 people. There is no unemployment, class consciousness, delinquency, army or tipping.

Iceland has 8000 full time fishermen. Ninety per cent of the catch is processed and exported. About 500 whales are caught each year, and the film shows how they are prepared for market.

Hot houses, heated by natural hot springs produce bananas, grapes, mushrooms, vegetables and flowers.

The arts of Iceland are represented by scenes of ceramics created from lava ash, stone and wood sculpture, and the creation of gold filigree jewelry.

Culture—development or improvement by education or training; enlightenment or refinement resulting from such development.....

Who closed the Mill Run Playhouse? Why?

Two years on the drawing board, eleven months being built, construction costs were $780,000 plus furnishings of approximately $70,000 — a magnificent structure built with high hopes and fabulous promise — could rigor mortis have set in after only six months? Stockholders have poured $237,000 into the venture and there are debts totaling $475,000—neither is unexpected or unsurmountable. It is not realistic to expect returns on an investment of this type within six short months!

Some very pertinent questions could be answered, but will they be?

Why did the stockholders decide to pull out and plead bankruptcy this time of the year—could it be for tax purposes?

Why weren't bills paid on time?

Why weren't the creditors paid partially — they didn't ask for total payment—there were funds for a little on each account?

Why did the stockholders close the theatre and not the creditors?

Are the stockholders' disbanding in favor of a new group — or is this an excuse to dump the producer?

Holiday weeks are poor for business in all of theatre land, but advance for the future weeks were satisfactory and getting better. Was the public apathetic? Was the publicity inadequate? Was culture only talked about and not really appreciated?

Who thinks of culture when attending a theatre; it's a pleasurable experience to spend an evening laughing, crying, or beating time to the music, with the cast.

Were the prices too steep? Could have been. Were the restaurant facilities inadequate? Could have been. Was the cooperation for theatre parties lacking — lowering the prices so the organization would also profit. Could have been.

Time and experience would have straightened out the kinks, but someone sabotaged that time.

Who closed the Mill Run Playhouse? Why?

There are only 353 days left until "the season to be gay and jolly"; the last trees have been unceremoniously dumped upside down into the ash cans, the gifts have been returned and exchanged and the toys are broken. Now there remains one last chore. Get out all the wrappings, the boxes, the crates, the string; into their specially appointed niches place our benevolence, our compassion, our brotherly love, our generosity towards our fellow man. After one week of overuse—51 weeks of recuperation.

New Building For Niles Savings & Loan

Plans are being prepared for the construction of new facilities for Niles Savings to be located at the South East Corner of Dempster Street and Shermer Avenue in Niles. The new facilities will provide nearly 10,000 square ft. of floor space, including basement and mezzanine area, enclosed in a distinctive copper roofed structure featuring soaring laminated wood bents and boulder stone walls. Irving Deemar, President of the Association, stated that the latest and most modern Banking & Savings equipment will be installed to serve community growth and needs.

and an exposed ceiling of curved laminated wood beams and decking.

Henry L. Ford, Exec. V.P. said that parking will be provided for nearly 100 cars and facilities for drive-in banking will be served by a separate drive-in lane.

The mezzanine will be glass enclosed and look down over the main banking area. The lower level will provide space for safe deposit vault, employees lounge, mailing and record rooms and a large meeting hall with adjoining kitchen, that will serve community and business functions.

Architect for the project is Marshall D. Leib & Associates.

The Fate Of Tam O'Shanter Country Club

This article was written before the federal grant was turned down.

Chicago resident Paul Kastmatis, a senior student at Quigley Seminary, completed a term paper for his sociology class, reviewing the Tam O'Shanter controversy.

Paul spent much time interviewing concerned persons in this area, studied much pertinent material, and drew the observations which are incorporated in the following report:

The Fate of Tam O'Shanter Country Club
by—Paul Kastmatis

The famed Tam O'Shanter Country Club is located at Howard Street and Caldwell Road in Niles, Ill. Known throughout the world as a beautiful championship golf course, Tam O'Shanter was the site of the one-time All-American Golf Tournament and the World Invitational Golf Tournament. The center of the club is the huge white clubhouse, consisting of five large dining rooms, a mens and a ladies locker rooms, several game rooms, a pro shop, and several offices. Adjacent to the clubhouse are two olympic size swimming pools and four tennis courts. To accommodate the many visitors to Tam O'Shanter, there are 3 paved parking lots which have a combined capacity for over 500 cars.

Tam O'Shanter members, visitors, and people just driving past the club have long been enjoying the beauty and the adequate facilities which the former owner, George S. May, has provided. But today the future of Tam O'Shanter appears to be gloomy if not a disastrous one. In April of 1965, the family of George S. May sold Tam O'Shanter Country Club to the J. Emil Anderson and Son Co., Inc. for the low price of approximately 3.2 million dollars. At the time of the sale, a rumor circulated which indicated that the new owner intended to destroy Tam O'Shanter and build industry on the one hundred twenty acre tract of land. The Park District Board of the city of Niles learned that the alleged rumor was the actual plan of the new owner, Egge, to acquire the last open tract of land in the village of Niles, for the purpose of providing much needed recreational facilities, the Niles Park District Board arranged a meeting with representatives of the J. Emil Anderson and Son Co., Inc. At the meeting, the Park Board offered to buy Tam O'Shanter for 3.5 million dollars. The Anderson Co. response—no!

Early in the summer of 1965, representatives of the Anderson Company met with Mayor Nicholas Blase, the mayor of Niles Village Board, and the Park District Board to discuss the matter of zoning ordinances. According to the Niles ordinances, the Tam O'Shanter land is zoned as a residential area. In order to build a network of small industries, the Anderson Company will have to have the land re-zoned for industry. But knowing that it would be very difficult to gain permission to industrialize the entire area, the Anderson Company proposed a plan to the Board members. Seventy acres of the land would be used for industry, and the remaining 50 acres would be sold to the Niles District. With an additional purchase of the land bordering Tam O'Shanter on the west, which is owned by the Forest Preserve of Cook County, the Park District could build an 18 hole golf course similar to other Park District courses (i.e.—Indian Boundary, Billy Caldwell, Etc.). The plan submitted by the Anderson Company was neither accepted nor rejected. Nor did the Village Board rezone the land for industry; the problem remained unsettled.

In 1964, the Niles Park District Board attempted to acquire a tract of land in Niles owned by the Acrylic Corporation in order to provide recreational facilities for the people of Niles. The Acrylic Corporation refused to sell the land to the Board. The Park Board then went to court and filed a condemnation suit against the owner of the corporation, hoping to thus obtain the land through the right of eminent domain. But before the suit had actually been filed, the Acrylic owner sold the corporation to his wife for 7 million dollars. Not only did the value of the corporation increase exceedingly, but the Park Board was now trying to sue a man who no longer owned the corporation. The Park Board had been outfoxed, and had no alternative but to withdraw its condemnation suit.

On the morning after the Village Board and the Park District Board met with the Anderson Company, the Park District Board appeared in court and filed a condemnation suit against the Anderson Company. The Board recalled the trickery of the Acrylic Corporation and wanted to prevent any similar action on the part of the Anderson Company.

Logical questions now arise concerning the action taken by the Park Board which should be answered: Why didn't the Board accept the original plan of the Anderson Company? What was the better plan desired by the Board? How does the Board propose to pay for Tam O'Shanter?

To begin with, it is doubtful that the Cook County Forest Preserve would agree to sell the Forest Preserve property that borders Tam O'Shanter. It has been the policy of the Cook County Forest Preserve not to allow any felling of trees or buildings of any sort on its property. It is their intention to keep the land in its natural state. Therefore, the proposed plan of the Anderson Company does not seem to be feasible.

The Park Board would like to see Tam O'Shanter kept as a championship golf course. Therefore, the golfing rate would be high in order to discourage the high handicap golfer. For 15 dollars a year, any citizen of Niles could make use of Tam's olympic-sized pools. A restaurant would be operated in the clubhouse, and the dining rooms would be rented out for weddings, parties, dances, etc. The tennis courts would also be used by the people of Niles. In addition, the Park Board would try to buy the Forest Preserve land bordering Tam O'Shanter. The land would be left untouched except for hiking paths and camping grounds. The Board would try to obtain permission to build a small fieldhouse in an extreme western section of Information regarding the closing of Niles Township High Schools because of weather conditions will be broadcast on radio stations, WGN, WEAW (1300) and WRSV (98.3 on the FM dial) announced Superintendent Dr. Clyde Parker.

Down By The Old Mill Run

by Frieda Aron

"A little red car came up and out came a thousand clowns", said Van Johnson, star of the recent production at the Mill Run Playhouse. How many clowns does each of us have in our make-up?

Wearing his insouciance and unconformity with the greatest of ease and charm, Van Johnson seemed a natural for the part of the writer, beset by demands to abandon his clowns and hew the line of the masses.

"A Thousand Clowns" has a far out humor, but not far out enough to be misunderstood. The chuckles came silently and then openly until the tempo of laughter reached a crescendo with the appearance of Bruce Kirby as the T.V. kiddie comic, Leo Herman. This Pagliacci of the children's hour had the audience in the palm of his hand from the first merry moment. Coming through the doorway unloading his bag of tricks, he broke you up until his final painful efforts to stimulate a child's laughter, left you with an ache in your heart. "Children are too honest to be wise", says Leo Herman when his "tested and proved" material dies under the unlaughing eyes of a child. He does a magnificent portrayal of the pathos behind the humor, and through your laughter flowed an instant pledge to be more appreciative of comics.

"This is the best part I've ever had—I feel it will reach everyone and everywhere". The face that laughs and the soul that weeps—who doesn't know Leo Herman!

Concentrating on comedy roles—Luther Billis in South Pacific, Sgt. Kissel in Car 54, the T.V. comedy, among others, and television commercials, doesn't prevent Bruce from enjoying a variety of roles. His favorite is the part of actors' agent in the musical "Gypsy", which he does very often in summer stock. This role runs the gamut of emotions that gives an actor fulfillment. "Summer stock is the best way to learn the craft of acting" and Bruce is busy all summer long working at perfecting his art. However he also says "a married actor with two kids can't wait for parts", so the rest of the year Bruce manages Julius Monks Plaza Nine, a plush entertainment room in New York, with an agreement that when acting parts come up a leave of absence is granted. The arrangement is working out most satisfactorily.

Contrary to the fantasies of the non-actor, touring with a show is less glamorous than it is boring and lonesome. The long, long, periods with nothing to do between shows make a family man terribly homesick and Bruce Kirby, father of two boys, husband of Lulu, called "sauce maker to the stars" by her family—sounds like a fabulous cook, tries to be away from home as little as possible. Unless the family comes along. Then with his wife to make a home away from home, the family unit is complete and the artistry of Bruce Kirby comes through loud and clear. The many clowns in the character Leo Herman were delightfully brought into being by Bruce Kirby.

This was the last production for the Mill Run Playhouse—this time around—(See "Another Morn—Another Yawn").

Boy Scouts Celebrate 56th Anniversary

February 7 to 13 is an important event for cub scouts, boy scouts, explorers and scouters for it is the 56th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America. Maine Ridge district vice chairman, Tom Powers, 8561 Kedzie, Niles, says that packs, troops and posts in every section of our nation are making great plans for the celebration.

It will be a time to place special emphasis on wearing the uniform, giving special recognition to leaders and former scout members, saying thanks to the sponsoring institution, demonstrating the scout skills to the public, observing Scout Sunday or Sabbath and inviting boys to join.

The theme of Breakthrough or Youth encompasses all of these items in the determination of Mr. Powers and all scouters to bring better cubing, scouting and exploring to more boys.

the land, where the recreational activities of the area would be organized.

The Niles Park District Board, J. Emil Anderson and Son Company Inc. case is now being heard in court, and it is hoped that the jury will reach a verdict before next year. In this case, it is up to the jury to decide whether the Tam O'Shanter land is more valuable as a recreational or as an industrial site. If the jury states that the land is best used as a recreational site, it then determines the true value of the land. If the land is worth about eight million dollars as the Anderson Company claims, the Niles Park Board, unable to secure so large an amount of money, will withdraw their suit of condemnation. But if the value is set between three and four million dollars, as the Park Board hopes, the Board will purchase Tam O'Shanter.

According to members of the Park Board, the citizens of Niles would not be taxed in order to pay for Tam O'Shanter. One-half of the money would be supplied by a government grant. Revenue bonds would be sold to raise the other half of the money. Possibly the Board would be short $500,000, but few people would object to the slight tax increase necessary to raise that sum.

When the mayor of Niles learned that the Park Board had filed suit against the Anderson Company, he became incensed. The city of Niles, due to the existence of industry in the area, has the lowest taxes in Cook County. The industry proposed by the Anderson Company would give Niles between three and four hundred thousand dollars in taxes. Mayor Blase consequently is in favor of the original plan of the Anderson Company, whereby there would be a golf course and industry combined. Since the Park Board filed suit in court, there has been a split between the Village Board and the Park Board.

Because the citizens of Niles are directly affected by the outcome of the Tam O'Shanter problem, it is pertinent to pose the question, "How do they feel about the Park Board acquiring Tam O'Shanter?" The fact that the Village Board and the Park Board are at variance with one another has caused two lines of thought among the people of Niles. Some people back the mayor, and want both industry and a golf course. Others want Tam O'Shanter.

During the past summer, some of the citizens formed a Save Tam Committee to back the efforts of the Park Board. According to a Park Board member, five thousand people or over half of the registered voters in Niles have signed the petition sent around by the Save Tam Committee. This petition states that the people who have signed are in favor of saving Tam O'Shanter, even to the extent of increasing their taxes to get it. It would seem, considering five thousand signatures, that the majority of the people back the Park Board. But it must be remembered that while it is not difficult to sign your name to a petition, it is quite another matter to vote for an increase in your taxes. This is further emphasized by the fact that a 2 1/2% increase in taxes per $100 is on the verge of being levied on the voters for education.

There are both pros and cons to the question of whether the Park Board should try to acquire Tam O'Shanter Country Club. Many of them I have already pointed out, but it's necessary to emphasize the factors related to the problem.

It would be difficult to deny the fact that the city of Niles is in need of land for recreational facilities. For the population of approximately 30 thousand people, there are 35 acres of land presently being employed for recreational facilities. This means that there is about one acre of land for every one thousand people. Land is needed, and Tam O'Shanter is the only tract of land remaining in Niles.

Tam O'Shanter is a world renowned tournament site. People from every continent have come to participate in and to watch the golf classics held there. It is an extremely beautiful club, Tam has always been a part of Niles, and the people feel that it is a part of their heritage.

Presently, industry borders Howard Street on both sides just east of Tam O'Shanter for about a mile. Opposite the golf course on Caldwell Road north of Howard Street is a large Salerno factory. The Anderson Company intends to build industry all along Caldwell Road on both sides of the street from Gross Point Road to Oakton Street, thus industrializing the entire area. In addition to this, there is a river which winds through Tam O'Shanter which might face pollution if industry is built on the land.

It seems as though the big blunder of the Niles Park District Board was filing the suit of condemnation without realizing what they were getting into. After they had taken this action, the Board asked a firm that handles such matters to make a feasibility report on Tam O'Shanter. This report, which has not yet been completed will tell the Board such things as how much money it costs to operate Tam at a profit; how much of a profit can be made from Tam; how Tam should be operated, etc.

The conclusions that can be drawn from this explanation are two. (1) If Tam O'Shanter is not run at a profit, money spent on maintaining the club would have to be paid to the bonding house.

Tam O'Shanter

Large sums of money are involved not only in the acquisition of Tam O'Shanter, but mainly in operating the club. It is believed by the members of the Park Board, that they will be able to purchase Tam for about 3.5 million dollars. Now as was previously mentioned one-half of the money will hopefully come from a government grant. The problem is that the federal government usually requires that in a case of eminent domain, a city must apply for a grant before filing a suit in court. Niles filed a suit for the grant; therefore, there is a possibility that they may not receive the grant at all.

Assuming that the federal government does grant money to the Niles Park Board, money is still needed for purchasing and operating Tam O'Shanter. As was stated before, this money would be raised through the sale of revenue bonds. But a bonding house will not risk its money on a business which might fall through. In other words, the feasibility report must show that Tam can be run at a profit. However, the Park Board doesn't seem to realize how much money it takes to operate the club at a profit. According to the general manager at Tam O'Shanter, it is impossible to say how much it costs to operate the club each year because memberships change, so much is involved, etc. But considering parts of the club individually, it would take $6000 to operate the two swimming pools, which have not been used since the 1964 season. (And the Park Board talks about $15 dollar-a-year pool memberships!) Between sixty and ninety thousand dollars is spent annually to maintain the golf course alone.

While the Park Board contends they will derive profit from golf cart rental and operating the "pro shop" this is not believed to be a profitable venture. Further evidence that it is difficult to run Tam profitably comes from a statement made by the owner of the Anderson Company, "Niles could not run Tam at a profit by investing six or seven million dollars."

The conclusions that can be drawn from this explanation are two. (1) If Tam O'Shanter is not run at a profit, money spent on maintaining the club would have to be paid to the bonding house.

The condition of Tam O'Shanter would then deteriorate considerably. (2) The people of Niles would be asked to vote for an increase in taxes to defray the cost of maintaining Tam. A further consideration which must be made is this - if the Park Board is confronted by money problems, they cannot sell Tam O'Shanter. According to law, once land has been condemned for public use, it cannot be sold.

If the Park Board of Niles could operate Tam O'Shanter according to their proposed plan without all the conflicting factors mentioned, it would be good not only for the Niles citizens but for people everywhere. It would be a blessing if there were an interested party who, if the Park Board withdrew its suit, would buy Tam for seven million dollars and operate it as a golf course. In reality, neither of these propositions are probable.

There is a solution, however, which I think to be a good one if the Park Board does acquire Tam O'Shanter. The Board could operate the golf course and try to buy the bordering forest preserve land for hiking paths and camping grounds. But instead of taking the burden of the clubhouse upon itself, it could lease it to interested parties. For example, the dining rooms could be leased to a restaurant firm, the pro shop to a golf pro, and the pools to another party. In this way the Park Board would not lose money on Tam O'Shanter.
