a step downward or backward. We believe that we are not retrogressing but rather taking a step forward and upward, a step badly needed.

We believe further that the wish of the majority of the people should rule in this matter. The minority must be respected and have a voice, but where there is an impasse the minority must not expect to have its way. They do not have their way in duly authorized elections. They should not have their way here.

We are hoping and praying that a compromise can be reached. We regret that the spirit of brotherhood has been threatened by this prayer issue, but we must remember that the brotherhood of man has meaning only when we recognize at the same time the Fatherhood of God.

Sincerely yours, (Rt. Rev. Msgr.) John J. Flanagan, Pastor St. John Brebeuf Church

Presents Views On TAM

Dear Mr. Besser:

I am writing this letter in an attempt to present my views on Tam - I don't agree that picketing will accomplish a great deal, but I do believe it represents a general feeling of frustration the ordinary citizen has when he is confronted by a situation seemingly beyond his control.

I believe most of the people in Niles are concerned about Tam. I don't believe they are so much interested in saving Tam as a golf course as they are against the building of another large factory complex. The traffic situation in the factory area along Oakton is terrible. If we build more factories on Tam, we will compound this problem and become just another factory town like Franklin Park, Cicero, etc. I personally would rather see a residential section on Tam if we can't afford it for a park. I do agree that all of our trustees and Mayor Blase are exceedingly quiet on this issue. Where are all the people who were vociferous and in the forefront when Niles became an All American City? Surely the brochures presented in San Francisco included our beautiful golf course as one of our proud possessions.

Years ago the "old" Niles allowed the disgrace that is Milwaukee Avenue. This street, which cuts through the heart of Niles, is a sight to sadden anyone interested in civic beauty and came about through the same short-sighted view we seem to be displaying on the Tam issue.

We have a choice of becoming just another "factory" town or remaining an All American City!

Sincerely, William M. Doyle 8026 Overhill Niles good project" which manifested his optimism. Anderson also noted he would likely know definitely about the decision by the end of the week.

Niles Park Commissioner Chamerski is convinced the grant "is in the bank". His letter from Deputy Commissioner Wharton, which he says cannot be revealed, implies (or assures) the grant will be approved.

Chamerski chortled about everyone (THE BUGLE particularly) took his efforts too lightly when he began sending letters to Washington, noting "politics" was blocking Niles from receiving the grant. He said he sent many letters and telephone calls to top government officials, seeking their help in the project. He noted he has now received favorable comment from both Senators, as well as Representatives Jollier and Rumsfeld, and from Weaver.

Chamerski also noted the court condemnation proceedings have again been delayed, and the owners of TAM have been much more "friendly" and receptive since the sudden turn in events.

In answer to a BUGLE query as to what the cost of the course would be (grant or no grant) he said he has appraisal figures which would make the course within reach of Niles Park Board, thru the sale of revenue bonds. He did not give a figure as to what they were.

East Maine Caucus Selects Davis, Luck, Hartzell

The East Maine Township General Caucus held their annual meeting to endorse candidates last Thursday night, approving two candidates for elementary school district 63's board and one candidate for district 207's Maine High School Board.

In the high school contest Nilesite L. Wesley Hartzell, 8293 Merrill, was approved by the caucus. The caucus groups in the high school district alternate the number of caucus-endorsed candidates which come from each school district. Presently, district 63 has 2 members on the high school board, President Stanley Osri and Walter Craigie, who will retire after this year's term has been completed. Each year one district among the 3 from East Maine, Des Plaines, and Park Ridge, alternately have three members among the 7-member board.

Hartzell competed for caucus endorsement with Roy Makela, 8051 Octavia, Niles. Hartzell is a Chicago newspaperman and Makela is an architect.

In the district 63 race incumbent Irene Luck, 3552 Thornberry, Glenview and Theodore Davis, 9467 Park Lane, Des Plaines, were selected as caucus approved elementary school candidates. Other candidates who appeared before the committee included Martin Ashman, 7932 Churchill, Morton Grove and Jerry Maller, 8045 Lyons, Niles.

Mrs. Luck, a mother of 3 is completing her first 3-year term on the school board. She is vice president of the board.

Davis, a father of 3 children is an investment broker. He was unsuccessful in seeking caucus-endorsement last year.

From The Left Hand by David Besser Editor & Publisher

Niles Park president Steve Chamerski believes the federal grant for $2,000,000 is in Niles back pocket and he is equally convinced his group can obtain up to $2,500,000 in revenue bonds from many different sources for the purchase of TAM.

Mayor Nick Blase, who presently is being represented as a guy in a black hat, writes in this week's BUGLE he too favors the acquisition of TAM, so long as it is economically feasible. Nick makes a particular point of emphasizing this word "economical." He also notes only about 5% to 8% of park district residents are golfers and he does not believe 100% of the residents should be taxed primarily for a golf recreation, if the need for taxes comes to the fore.

Back to Mr. Chamerski: he believes Blase is against the acquisition and would prefer to see TAM go industrial. Says Mr. C. "If we can have the government pay for half of the golf course, we would be foolish to let it slip through our fingers."

Mr. Blase makes a point that no one knows what the figure for TAM will be until the court makes a decision as to its true value. Blase considers the proposal for the smaller 18 hole par 3 golf course (the back end of TAM and the forest preserve area) as a possibility not to be dismissed.

Most of the Hullabaloo surrounding TAM stems from the "reverse approach" which has been taken. Normally, when you make a purchase you know the cost, and then determine whether or not you can afford your acquisition. You know your income, you set aside so much for your payments and you then make your decision. However, in the case of the TAM purchase it is unfortunately a game of blindman's bluff, and with blue chips. You agree to make a purchase, without having the money, and without any knowledge whether or not you will have the money after you agree to its purchase.

Heated Debate....'Blase Does Not Speak For Entire Village Board'

BLASE, PECK, SCHEEL DIFFER ON TAM PURCHASE

Peck Would Favor Small Taxation

Niles two independent trustees, Keith Peck and Ken Scheel both moved away from the expressed policy of Mayor Nick Blase on the Tam O'Shanter controversy, when they commended the park board for its tenacity in pursuing the acquisition of the course.

Mayor Blase, obviously ruffled by a story in Sunday's Chicago Tribune which stated, "Blase has favored industrializing the acreage for the revenue it would bring the village" heatedly asked Scheel and Peck to be specific on their feelings about TAM. Peck said to Blase, "You've talked for yourself" and Blase's statements left the impression they were that of the entire village board. "I don't go along with you", Peck added. He said he favored the acquiring of the entire course, and if it required a small amount of taxation to villagers, about $10 or $15 annually, Peck said he still favored it. Scheel also commended the Park Board but would not be drawn out by Blase as to whether he favored any taxation. Blase emphasized he was in favor of the acquisition, but only if it did not cost the residents any money. He said only 6% to 8% of Nilesites are golfers and he did not feel 100% of the people should have to pay for such a recreation. Peck differed with Blase saying of persons engaged in recreational pursuits 25% engage in golf. He also added nature and camp activities as well as other recreation would be made available if the entire area became public land.

A musical program consisting in all of nine performers will be provided for the entertainment of the patrons and the Lions Club of Niles extends an invitation to all to attend. Trustees Marcheschi, Berkowsky and Wente, all who echo Blase's sentiments most of the time, agreed all trustees favor the acquiring of TAM "if it can be done economically".

42 Nilesites Examined For Cancer

During 1965, 7,481 people, 42 of them from the Niles area were examined at the Cancer Prevention Center of Chicago. This includes 5,242 women and 2,239 men, and represented a twenty-five percent increase in the number of examinations over the previous year.

In making this report public, Albert A. Robin, Chicago real estate developer and the Center's president attributed the rise in examinations to increased public awareness. "More and more people," he said, "are realizing that cancer can be cured if it is detected early enough. One factor that has greatly influenced this recognition is the wide publicity given to successful battles waged by prominent citizens like John Wayne and Van Johnson, both of whom have benefited from early detection of cancer. Their well-publicized resumption of daily activity, after treatment, strikingly emphasized the results that can be achieved if cancer is discovered in its most incipient stages."

Established in 1943, the Center, located at 17 West Huron Street, is dedicated to the early detection of cancer through periodic physical examinations. Under the direction of Dr. Caesar Portes, its medical director and president-elect of the Illinois State Medical Society, it maintains a staff of qualified physicians, registered nurses, and medical technicians whose responsibility is to conduct cancer-detection examinations.

According to Dr. Portes, the purpose of these examinations is to discover the development of early cancer or conditions which may become cancerous. "Many early cancers," Dr. Portes emphasized, "can be detected through a periodic, cancer-oriented, physical examination and if found early enough can be cured. Similarly, conditions which may ultimately develop into precancerous conditions may be discovered, and medically treated before they become serious. When such symptoms are found, Dr. Portes said, "the center, which is solely a detection clinic, refers examinees to their personal physician or if they have none to the Chicago Medical Society referral system."

During its twenty-three year history, the center has examined 125,000 people. Each of these individuals apparently was in good health. None of them were under a physician's care. In the recent statistical report, Dr. Portes pointed out, examinations this past year at the clinic revealed that about 2.3 percent of the examinees had suspicious symptoms of cancer while another 14 percent seemed to be harboring such precancerous conditions as growths, swellings, ulcerations and other chronic irritations. Equally significant, more than eighty percent of those examined were diagnosed as having a variety of previously undetermined ailments ranging from diabetes and high blood pressure to tuberculosis and heart and kidney diseases.

In October, ground was broken and work is rapidly moving forward on the construction of a new clinic, which will be located on the southeast corner of Dearborn and Huron Streets. Scheduled for completion later this year, the new building containing increased accommodations and the latest in cancer detecting equipment will allow the center to double its examining facilities.

Sewer Preventative Maintenance

After the several days of rain during the week of February 7, many Niles residents found that their sewer lines were in need of rodding.

The Niles Public Works Department cannot stress too strongly how important it is to practice a regular preventative maintenance program for sewer lines. Residents hire mechanics to make yearly inspections and needed repairs on their automobiles and the same maintenance program should be applied to sewers. Fats, vegetable pieces, hair, tree roots and other materials build up and collect in sewer lines restricting the flow of drainage into the main village sewer in the street. Residents who have garbage disposals should flush more water down when using the disposal to prevent the accumulation of food particles which build up on the walls of the sewer lines inside the house and cause a restriction of the flow of drainage.

After a period of time the sewer line is completely closed and the sewerage backs up into basements. This back up can be avoided if residents place a spoonful of commercial drain pipe cleaner in sinks regularly and have a licensed sewer contractor rod out their sewer line at least once each year if your property has many trees, or rodded at least once every two or three years for areas with few trees. Tree roots are the biggest cause of sewer block ups because of their fast growth. If you have had repeated basement flooding, or if you live in a low spot, we would recommend the installation of an overhead sewer.

Feature Mary Jane Laurin Paintings In Lawrencewood

Each month the Niles Art Guild exhibits the work of one of their members in the windows of the Art Gallery located on 229 Lawrencewood Shopping Center, Waukegan and Oakton Streets in All-America City Niles. Laurin is well versed in these areas.

After graduation from high school she chose to pursue an art course in the painting medium and attended courses at the Evinger Adult Evening school. Here she studied for three years under the direction of master artist, Walter Bower — artist for International Harvester Corporation and instructor at Maine E. and W. Adult evening schools. Since exhibiting her paintings at the Art Fairs in Edison Park, Park Ridge, Glenview and Niles she has had request for private exhibits at the Park Ridge City Hall and the O'Hare Inn located on Higgins Road.

Currently Mrs. Laurin, and able accountant to boot is concentrating her talents on portraiture. Her leisure hours are devoted to helping her chemist husband with his avid avocation photography and contributing to his skill with making old motorcars like new (he drives a '50 Pontiac to prove it) plus counselling her three daughters in their respective artistic talents; interior decorating, millinery and art. You will meet Mrs. Laurin in the Art Gallery at 229 Lawrencewood during this month of February on Tuesday evenings from 8:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. and at the weekends, 10:00 a.m. till 5:00 p.m. You are cordially invited to stop in and chat with this fine artist and other members of the Niles Art Guild.

Featured this month will be the pictures created by Mary Jane Laurin, 6911 N. Osceola, Chicago, a Gold Ribbon award winner for two consecutive years at city wide P.T.A. Horner Park Art exhibitions. Her pictures will include scenic paintings in oils, still life in pastels and groupings of variegated techniques, and picture sizes will range 5 ins. by 8 ins., through 24 ins. by 30 ins. inclusive.

Another Morn'nother Yawn..

Frieda Aron 966-9669

The subject of prayers in school has become an appendage to that infallible triumvirate—God, the American Flag and Mother, the merest mention of which, is guaranteed to bring a quiver to the lips and moisture to the eyes. From three sides I am being flayed mercilessly and the fourth side is presenting uneasy, qualified agreement. That's perfectly understandable. "A Man must consider what a rich realm he advocates when he becomes a conformist." How many can resist the dragnet?

From a critic—"the young people of today need some spiritual guidance and if they do not get it at home, we cannot have too much flag waving and enough prayers outside the home."

The late President J. F. Kennedy said prayers belong at home and in the church, and please let me quote from one of my columns—Dec., 1963—"I had been taught to invite their friends to our Temple and to join their friends in the Churches of their affiliation. A House of Worship is the same, be the prayers in Latin, Hebrew, Sanskrit, Chinese, etc.; should you feel need to commune with God in His House, and your own is not available, any and each of the other denominations will serve equally well." I was talking about my children, how we had brought them up to feel about religion. They do not need prayers or religious instruction in school. If it doesn't come from the home, no outside influence can have much effect. One can consider that the late President was a religious man; I consider myself not too subservient to organized religion, but our thoughts followed the same path.

And now a few explanations and a few reiterations to my severest critic—Monsignor Flanagan

1. You are right, Father Flanagan, the discussion was about school prayers only at school functions, but I simply went on into the ever-lively debate of religious instruction, etc.
 2. This is a quote from the Daily News, dated Jan. 31st. "It was recommended to us by the administration on the basis of a meeting with our local clergymen," said Maj (John) Mau, president of the Niles Township School Board. "None of the clergy seemed very opposed." To me, this means approval. However, since then, there has been an interfaith meeting and the ban has been rescinded.
 3. It would be utterly unrealistic to consider clergy "rabid prayer lovers" or doctors "rabid pill lovers". What one prescribes for the soul the other prescribes for the body—for those who need either or both, it is the bigot who uses prayer as a cover-up for his hatred and distrust of all those not of his ilk, who are the "rabid prayer lovers and not people lovers."
 4. Although the majority may rule politically, the Bill of Rights provides us with freedom of religion and freedom of no religion and the minority need not follow any majority rule in that situation.
- Thank you all for your responses. I do so appreciate hearing from you—agreeing or disagreeing—that doesn't matter at all. That is our heritage.
- Ralph Waldo Emerson said it for me "Who so would be a man must be a nonconformist."

United Motor Coach Safety Awards

A Special Phone for the Hard-of-Hearing

The little wheel on the handset lets you turn up the volume of the caller's voice.

It's adjustable to suit your needs—just like the volume control on your television set. With the volume turned down, it's a regular phone.

This phone is one of many services we've developed to help the handicapped communicate. Others include special visual signals to replace the telephone bell for the deaf; an electronic larynx that lets many people talk despite impaired vocal cords; a switchboard for blind operators; telephones that can be used without being held, for people with limited use of hands and arms; and a handset that lets the caller amplify his voice if his speech should be impaired.

Where these standard aids are not the answer, telephone engineers may be able to design and build devices to meet special communications needs.

So, if you or someone you know could benefit from services like these, let us help. For more information, call your Illinois Bell Service Representative.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Blase On TAM

I have made it my policy recently not to comment on the subject of Tam O'Shanter, in order to be fair to both sides. Since this matter is in court, comments by public officials should be avoided. Unfortunately though, a small group of people, who have the idea that they want Tam at any cost have constantly tried, by any measure that they can find, to insinuate that my interest in Tam does not correspond to the interest of the general public. I feel it necessary, at this time, to again explain my position in order to clear the air.

The only issue involved regarding Tam is, "Can Tam be acquired at a reasonable cost." If Tam can be acquired at a reasonable cost and there could be enough revenue produced by Tam to pay for the purchase without further taxing the people, then I would be for the acquisition of Tam O'Shanter.

Unfortunately, to date, there is no way of telling what Tam would cost, and therefore, it is very difficult for anyone to say whether we can afford Tam or not. It also seems that when you consider that only 6 to 8 per cent of the people play golf that it would be totally unfair to acquire a golf site, no matter what its reputation, at a cost that would involve taxing 100% of the people.

I believe that we need further recreational facilities, but I also believe that it is just as feasible to think that we can get one-half of Tam and use it for all the recreational purposes that we need including a 9 hole golf course or an 18 hole par 3 golf course rather than to acquire all of Tam at some astronomical figure. No matter how much we want recreation, we must first be able to afford it, and secondly, we must provide recreation for all the people, and not just for those who play golf.

Some arguments have been made that we don't want Niles to become a factory town. Niles is fortunate in that all industry is situated on the South-east end of town, and adding half of Tam for industrial purposes could not possibly ruin the community, and would in fact, add considerably from the view point of taxes.

Recently, a petition was submitted to the people and then submitted to our zoning board. This petition was signed by approximately 5000 people and the petition read, in fact, that these people want Tam if it can be acquired economically. I do not know of anyone who is against this idea, including myself. The key word is economically, and the resolution of what will ultimately happen to Tam will be when there is a decision on its cost to the Park District, and not until that time.

The feasibility study recently made by the Park District, which in my opinion, is exaggerated from the point of view that it exaggerates the income to be produced by Tam. It includes such things as the use of concessions which would obviously have to include liquor licenses, these licenses are not allowed to be held, by Law, any municipal government. It also includes the renting of cabanas at $100 each per year for a total amount of money that would indicate the use of these cabanas comes from many people outside of Niles. I believe that in order to advise the people properly, a feasibility study must contain reasonable facts and figures as to what can be done by TAM, and not the highest use of TAM by using figures that are unrealistic and improbable.

It has been insinuated that our Board has taken a position against the 5000 people who signed the petition, when as a matter of fact, we all agree with the theme that WE WANT TAM, but only if we can acquire it economically.

My position will remain that I am for TAM, if it can be acquired economically, but we cannot tell what that figure will be until there is a court decision setting the figure. At that time, we will have to decide, based on a proper and reasonable feasibility study, whether we can afford TAM. If purchasing Tam means going to the people for further taxes, then I am against it because I would then feel that we can acquire half of Tam at a considerably lower figure and still afford all the recreation that is needed for 100% of our people.

A Park District must provide for the recreational needs of all its residents, and not for just 6 to 8 per cent that play golf. This is particularly true if in order to provide golfing facilities for 6 to 8 per cent of the people you must impose further taxes on 100% of the residents of Niles.

No 10 Per Cent

Dear Editor:

I am asking your help through your letter to the Editor column. Once and for all I would like to see a misconception on the part of a few. I am sure, cleared up. Today, Feb. 16th, a friend of mine came to my home and asked if I would either confirm or deny something that she had heard several times. Her question was, "Does the chairman of a charity drive, such as the March of Dimes, Heart Fund, United Crusade, etc., receive 10% of all monies raised in their villages?" I assured her that this was not true and that a thank you is all a chairman gets. I showed her some certificates of service and a letter opener which was given to me by the Chicago Heart Association as a thank you. Did this lady believe me? All I can say is I hope so.

Thank you so much for your help.

Frank Turk Attends Meeting

Frank Turk of Turk and Sons, Niles, was among the more than 400 midwestern air conditioning dealers attending a meeting here at which it was predicted industry volume would top $3 billion in 1966.

Officials of Carrier Air Conditioning Co., which sponsored the meeting with area distributors, said the total value of U. S. air conditioning equipment installations in buildings here and abroad during the year would rise nine per cent to nearly $3.2 billion from an estimated $2.9 billion in 1965. Company spokesmen told dealers the recent growth rate of the air conditioning industry has been more than double that of the gross national product.

Of particular significance was a prediction that packaged equipment of the type sold by dealers would show the sharpest sales increase in 1966, primarily because of increased demand for central home cooling systems. Sales of packaged units, not including room air conditioners, are expected to increase 15 per cent to more than $1.1 billion, the company said. Room air conditioner sales are expected to rise about seven per cent above the 1965 retail value of $650 million, the company added.

The meeting was one of a series of 13 which Carrier is staging around the country to acquaint its dealers with new products and business developments within the industry.

UNITED MOTOR COACH CO. Des Plaines, Illinois

John P. Bryne, "Mr. Democrat" Here Quits Party Posts; To Back R. C. Wessell For Committeeman

John P. Bryne, "Mr. Democrat" of Maine Township who has voted in every Presidential election except that in 1912, has resigned as treasurer and precinct captain in the Maine Regular Democratic Organization.

Byrne, of 3000 Curtis in the Orchard Place section of Des Plaines, immediately announced his support of Richard C. Wessell, editor and publisher of JOURNAL-NEWS Publications who is seeking the office of Maine township Democratic committeeman in the June 14, 1966 Primary Election.

For the past 15 years, Byrne, a retired railroad employee, has served as treasurer—during the time Thomas C. Bradley has held the office of committeeman. Previously he was vice president and president of the regular Democratic group. During the mid-1930's he was a candidate for the committeeman's post.

IN SUBMITTING his resignation and telling of his support for Wessell, Byrne said: "There is a breath of something new in the political air of 1966. The people want a change. We are not satisfied with the usual platitudes. New thinking, new faces are sorely needed. We must have men who can stand back and look at the whole picture, every bit of it, clearly and without prejudice. Wessell will provide the breath of something new. I will work for his election."

MR. BYRNE'S two grandfathers came to this country from their native Ireland around 1850—one from Grehlone, County Monaghan, the other from County Limerick. Both settled in Iowa where Byrne was born and both grandfathers became local office holders and ardent Democrats.

"My uncles, parents, and grandfathers saw to it that I became a staunch Democrat at any early age—about 7," says Byrne.

His first political campaigning came in 1896 during the Bryan-McKinley campaign. "I will remember the youngsters in our small town wore caps with silver or gold braid, depending on whether you were for Bryan (silver) or McKinley (gold). My father took me to Jake Doerman's general store to buy a Bryan cap. They were all too big and when Jake suggested I take a McKinley cap to fit my head I rebelled and grabbed a much too small Bryan cap. I wore it all Summer."

THE LONG-TIME Maine Democratic leader took a job with a railroad in Canada during the Summer of 1912 and wasn't able to vote in the Presidential election thereafter except in 1924 when I supported Bob LaFollette of Wisconsin.

The Byrnes, including his wife, Helen, moved to Maine township in 1925. In 1928 they helped form the first Regular Democratic Organization here in 1928. "That was in a day when precinct captains were called precinct committeemen and they were elected, one for each of the 19 precincts in the township at the time. They, in turn, elected the township district leader."

Mrs. Byrne has been active for many years in local Democratic circles.

Mr. Byrne recalls that Dr. Ernest Hoffman ran the Democratic campaign here in 1928. The late King Eley, father of Ed Eley, Des Plaines city attorney in the mid-1950's and prominent Chicago and Des Plaines attorney, took over after the election. "I was elected precinct committeeman of the old Orchard Place 11th precinct," Byrne recalls. It consisted of three square miles of land. When the votes in the '28 campaign were counted I had carried our precinct for Floyd Thompson, Democratic candidate for governor, who lost to Len Small.

Rotarians Celebrate In New Meeting Place

Niles Rotarians at their meeting Monday celebrated the 61st anniversary of the first Rotary club. Throughout the week more than 581,500 Rotarians who belong to 12,000 clubs in 131 countries will have celebrated this occasion.

Rotary began in Chicago on February 23, 1905, when four business associates came together to lessen the loneliness in their lives and to test the founder's belief that business relations could—and should—foster friendly relations. Business practices, thought the founder, need not be barrier to friendship.

Since those early days, Rotary has become a prime mover in community betterment work, youth activity, helping the crippled and the handicapped, raising the standards of business and professional practices, and informing friendly personal ties among men that have contributed to better international understanding.

It has long been our observation that Rotarians believe in practicing rather than preaching. They are more concerned with finding new opportunities for service than with patting

The Rotary club of this community, as do other Rotary clubs in their communities, helps in many ways to make NILES a better place to live and to work and to raise happy, healthy families.

Herbert Harrig, president of Niles Rotary, presided at the Monday luncheon meeting at its new location in the Skyline Room of the Leaning Tower YMCA, 6300 Touhy.

Our congratulations to rotarians of this community on this anniversary. We wish for the Rotary clubs of the world continued success in rendering the kind of creative services to humanity for which Rotary is especially suited.

Niles Twp. Clergy Agree To Compromise Plan On School Prayer

The Niles Township Clergy forum, composed of 20 priests, ministers and rabbis, said Friday that it had agreed on a compromise plan aimed at easing the community's school prayer dispute.

The forum unanimously proposed a combined baccalaureate religious service for high school seniors during graduation week.

Attendance by the seniors will be voluntary.

The Forum said it would endorse the resolution the school board of District 219.

The board had recently voted to prohibit prayers at commencement programs, but agreed to reconsider the action March 27 because of an uproar by townspeople.

Residents supporting and opposing prayers for graduating Niles Township High School seniors have taken sides in the bitter issue.

The high school system is divided into East, North and West schools.

The forum also sent to the board a resolution stating that the forum did not believe it proper to tell the school board what to do.

The Forum released the resolutions, adopted Thursday after three hours of discussions, at a news conference Friday in St. Lambert's Roman Catholic Church, 8148 N. Darlow, Skokie.

The forum stressed that the resolutions were adopted unanimously.

The resolution proposing the combined religious baccalaureate service noted that the prayer matter had become a hot issue in the township.

But it also noted that prayer before and after the exercises, "occupies only a small part of the ceremonies."

The clergy said it "feels that graduation should be the occasion of a religious experience."

At the news conference were: The Rev. Thomas Tivy, assistant pastor at St. Lambert's, the Rev. Q. Gerald Roseberry, pastor of Evanshine United Presbyterian Church and Rabbi Sidney Jacobs, of Niles Township Jewish Congress, all in Skokie.

2 Argonne Technicians Retrieve Cobalt Capsule At Lutheran General

Two Argonne National Laboratory technicians retrieved a radioactive cobalt capsule Friday with a self-propelled mechanical arm.

The capsule—about the size of a table-tennis ball—accidentally fell to the floor Thursday in the lead-lined cancer room at Lutheran General Hospital, 1775 Dempster, Park Ridge. It was being installed in a cancer treatment machine at the time.

Operating the arm from a console outside the room, the technicians plucked the pellet from the floor and popped it into its protective container.

Then they recalled the unit, which obediently emerged from the room, dragging its electrical control cord behind it, a hospital spokesman said.

The technicians, Louis P. Liorce and John A. Vanlooy of the Chemistry Hot Laboratory at Argonne, watched the arm through a shielded window in the treatment room as they guided it.

The machines, called self-propelled manipulators, "are still in the process of being developed," said an AEC spokesman. "It's just a lucky thing that Argonne happened to have one available."

The recovery was carried off in 15 minutes. The AEC spokesman said the room would require no decontamination since the cobalt capsule had not been broken.

Two technicians of Atomic Energy of Canada, Ltd., Ottawa, Edward Pink, 48, and Ronald Kelly, 30, received slight

Approve New Salary Schedule In School District 63

A liberal new salary schedule for teachers, which compares favorably with top salary schedules in the North Suburban area, was approved Wednesday, January 9, 1966 by the School Board of East Maine District No. 63 during its semi-monthly meeting. The schedule, designed by a committee of East Maine teachers in coordination with Superintendent G. William Bullock, Jr., will provide higher salaries to attract new and unusually qualified teachers to the district, and to hold currently active and qualified personnel.

The schedule is also designed to encourage teachers to go back to school for advanced degrees by providing intermediate raises in salary between accreditation of a bachelor's degree and that of a master's. A teacher who has a master's degree plus 30 semester hours who remains in the district 16 or more years can earn a salary of over $10,000.

Under the provisions of the schedule, a teacher may receive two days of personal absence which are a part of the 12 days of sick leave now granted. A teacher may accumulate a possible total of 80 days sick leave at the rate of 12 days per year, without loss of pay.

In other action, the board approved ratification of the contract awarding construction of Shelley Nathanson School to Warchol Construction Company of Chicago. The completion date for the new school, to be located at Church Street and Potter Road, is September 1. A resolution requesting that the surrounding municipalities enact annexation referenda ordinances, when legally possible, which upon voter approval would erase all the unincorporated area in the East Maine School District was offered by board member Arnold Kapp and approved by board vote. The resolution also requested that a meeting of municipalities be called to facilitate action in this direction.

Advances in the development of a process-oriented program of teaching science in the district was presented to the board by Ralph Lieber, principal of Oak School and chairman of the science curriculum committee, and Miss Marjorie Paster and Mr. Nell Hettiger, science teachers at the East Maine Junior High School, also members of the committee.

They stressed that plans for the development of a science teaching program will be twofold: beginning with a "block approach" to the teaching of science, Grades 1-6. This means that one topic area, such as energy, may be taught at Grade 1, reintroduced at Grade 3, further developed in depth in Grades 5 and 6. The next step will be to develop curriculum and study new materials so that selection of texts may fit into an existing curriculum concept designed for this particular school system and its attitude toward the teaching of science, and not to a publisher's outline and text series for the teaching of science at the elementary level. Mr. Lieber pointed out that this unfortunately has often been the case in past teaching of science in the elementary grades.

Miss Paster then demonstrated a method of teaching science called the process method, which teachers are attempting to introduce into their classrooms. In the process method, the students observe an experiment and then ask questions about what they have observed, to which the teacher will answer "yes" or "no".

"In this way," explained Miss Paster, "we enjoy the problem-solving ability of the students, using the process of scientific inquiry to arrive at content and the basic underlying scientific principles which we want them to understand in relation to the particular experiment."
