the Sox farm system, a job which requires many years before the harvest becomes ripe. While waiting for the crop to bloom he went out and found a sound baseball man, a Mr. Lane, who proceeded to give Chicago fans exciting baseball, and an eventual first place winner.

Mr. Comiskey, heir apparent to take over the team, was pictured by the Chicago writers as a prodigal son, spoiled, pampered and generally discredited, despite the success of his efforts. When Mr. Vecek bought the team, they won the pennant, due to the past years efforts of Mr. Lane and Mr. Comiskey.

In 2 years Vecek traded away four of the best young players the Sox had, all who have played on the All Star teams the past 2 years.

When Niles boy Mr. Short took over the reins from Mr. Vecek he traded away a Mr. Aparicio, who was likely the best all-around shortstop the Sox have had since their golden days in 1919-20. And while the Chicago press has hailed the trade as an act of genius, the Sox have never won the pennant, while Mr. Aparicio and friends are about to become king of the hill in 1966.

Morton Grovite Brosnan knows of what he speaks when he points a finger at the general manager as the guy who is behind the throttle. Luckily for Nilesite Short he had the best pitching manager in baseball fronting for him the past years...making Nilesite Short look like a first rate GM.

Since we've struck, or been stuck, with the Sox during the inglorious 30's and 40's we know what it's like to be at the bottom of the league looking up. But those were days when the Sox ownership was teetering on bankruptcy. Failure was partly due to lack of funds. Today, owner Allyn is stuffed with the green stuff...but he's still owner of a 7th or 8th place club.

Next time Mr. Short, when the nitpicking Chicago writers begin taking shots at the innocuous Mr. Stanky, why don't you show that All America spirit which made Niles what it is...stand up and tell them you've stood up.

Mr. Brosnan, who'd rather opioniate than play ball, is throwing you a straight fast ball right down the middle... you might say he'd rather write than pitch.

In the case of your baseball writing friends, Nilesite Short, I think they'd rather pitch curves than write the true story.

perhaps some $2,000,000. Mr. Sustad said it could not be planned hastily. Much thought would have to go into the matter and it would take until November, possibly, until the plans were constructed.

"We are not dealing with some little schmo who comes in from the corner with a set of blue prints," said Mayor Blase, "the Ford Company is a reputable firm and we can imagine they will be depended upon to do a good job." We desperately need an Auto Agency in Niles; that is the best source of sales tax revenue, continued the Mayor, and he wouldn't like to see the deal slip through and go down the drain.

"Can you delay the time limit set for the option?" asked Trustee Berkowsky.

The option must be picked up by September 9th Mr. Sustad said that could not be done out of fairness to the property owner.

What about the land? The option was for all 13 acres or a part only—8 1/2 acres perhaps. There is no way of knowing right now how much of the land will be put to use.

In a final decision Trustee Wentz motioned that The Ford Company be given permission to use 13 acres or any part thereof as a B2 zoning—special use. However should the company find they will use only 8 1/2 acres, then they must reappear before the board. Trustee Scheel seconded the motion.

the flavor of the town has vanished. We have respectability, big business, 30,000 residents, a prosperous government, a fair claim to culture. Also a sometimes belly dancer, three movie houses and a total of 48 saloons plastering all of Niles. The other side of Niles is a happy blend of the old and the new, the beauty and the ugliness, and in time will boom devastatingly into a super-active community and find its niche among all other towns with equal facilities.

Let's have a face lifting for the strip, the ugly, ungly strip. Make it our real front-piece and give Niles back its swing, its flavor, its charm. It's a false assumption that only the illegal and the illicit can be exciting, glamorous and colorful. With imagination, a dash of daring, a sprinkle of originality, a spatter of romance, a flash of mystery, you have all the ingredients of a charmingly roughish atmosphere. We need it, we can parlay the strip to great advantages for the community of Niles and for the pleasure of visitors being drawn into Niles, a new, exciting Niles.

How can it be done, and who is going to do it?

leave and leave of absence are specifically spelled out in Board policy Parker said presently the superintendent has "latitude" in applying this policy. He cited additional sick leave as an example of broadening policy when a crisis might arise for a teacher.

In the case of having a collective bargaining agent Parker said once an agreement is arrived at there is no varying from it, emphasizing the contrast in the two approaches.

Parker also noted there is no legislation requiring the school board enter into an agreement with such an agent though he said one court opinion has stated such an agreement is possible.

The school superintendent also noted working conditions at Niles High are outstanding saying salaries are good, as are the buildings and the equipment. Parker noted the school district spends as much as any district and the conditions here are "designed for public education".

Parker did say fringe benefits for teachers are not "written up but they do exist".

Contracts for the coming year would not be affected by the action for the coming year. All contracts are mailed to teachers and personnel by April and are returned by July 1.

'Unmagnificent Mile' Could Become 'Magnificent Mile'

Unmagnificent mile? No! Magnificent mile or reasonable facsimile? Yes...not improbable and highly possible.

The northern tip of Milwaukee Avenue just before reaching Touhy is in total disrepute and needs immediate demolish-ment; the southern tip of Milwaukee, just north of Devon, has some unprized spots that unfortunately connect Chicago with Niles, but these taper off before the real heart of Niles, the most substantial and best organized part of the strip is reached. Since the inevitable end of all life is death, masonry and flowers are an integral part of a cemetery; we must therefore allow the triumvirate to live in beauteous harmony until the time when there is no need for a final resting place, which means the trio remains inviolate forever.

The avante garde of our projected face lift, symbolically enough, stands almost in the center of the ten block strip. It is "Down the Street", a simple redwood building, a survey with a fringe on top, perched jauntily on its roof. Come with me and lose a century, to a cafe off the Barbary Coast of Frisco. Red velvet walls with can-can girls, a horseshoe bar with red-fringed Victorian lamp gently swaying over the bar, clusters of gaslite bulbs dimly lighting the close and intimate tables and an old-time portrait of our town, bring absolute warmth and charm to this regional flavored tavern. The menu is gaily and pictorially reminiscent of the lavish days of Diamond Jim, the romantic days of the Gibson Girl, the flamboyance of Jim

We have a golden opportunity in our community to create a local theatre group which might get substantial financing from the federal government. Congress recently passed a bill to help the performing arts. A committee of most distinguished artists are overseeing the project which is aimed at filtering money into artistic endeavors. Because Niles has the beautiful Mill Run Theatre sitting empty, the first major hurdle in such an undertaking may easily be scaled.

In Chicago Mayor Daley has a committee which intends creating a civic-backed theatre there...there is no reason why we couldn't carry the ball here.

A lady who has received much praise thru the years, Alvina Krause, who has headed Northwestern's fine theatre groups is available, and a likely candidate for the Chicago theatre. Niles has one producer-director, a Jerry Epperson, who would be an invaluable aide in such an undertaking. Morton Grove also has the producer of the Orchard Country Club productions living there.

With the availability of a first class theatre, a steady market of theatre-goers, and professionals' experienced in the art, and the potential for receiving money for such an endeavor, our community may be a first class candidate for such an enterprise. It would be a big venture, requiring big people doing big things.

One of Niles police cars thrilled its high-pitched eerie siren thru the town before I had my morning coffee Tuesday. Before that first-cup-of-coffee any hour is early to us, though the time was after 8:30 A.M. The sound can be heard from a great distance, and it stops me in my tracks at any hour.

But early in the morning it sounds like something created from a science fiction movie. The high pitch may send a message to local canine residents but any sustained listening of this siren would cause us to seek immediate shelter. It makes me feel George Orwell's 1984 is already here.

We spent a fine two hours with an editorial writer for a chain of newspapers throughout the country, who gave us the background to the People-In-Politics program Michigan City, Indiana instituted three years ago. More than 400 people have been through the course which stimulates and educates citizens in the why's and how's of getting active in politics. The program, which has textbooks created by the U. S. Last night at the opening of Niles Days Festivities being held at the Lawrencewood Shopping Plaza, Mrs. Harry (June) Hart of 8850 Merrill and Russell McAndrews of 8216 Osceola, in Niles, were revealed as Mr. and Mrs. Niles of 1966-67. Mrs. Norton (Renée) Goodman, contest chairman, presented each winner with an engraved silver trophy. John Poeschl a Marge Berles who was Mr. and Mrs. Niles the preceding year (1965-66) presented flowers to their successors.

Russ was not an easy one for the judges - Roger Gee, editor of the Review, Bacine Newberger, and Frieda Aron of the Bugle. The runners-up were marvelously competitive. Deeply appreciative of the many wonderful letters sent in on behalf of the unexpectedly large number of nominees, the judges would have like to vote for at least three Mr. Niles and three Mrs. Niles. It wasn't possible and it was tough, but the choice could not have been better.

Golden Nugget Days are here because the Niles Days Festivities are on, right now at the Lawrencewood Shopping Plaza on Oakton and Waukegan Roads.

The final hours of preparations were busy busy ones for village officials, Niles Days chairman Frank (Bud) Hanson and his intrepid troop of Nilesite workers. Their names will appear in a later issue of your local paper.

Calling Bill Berns, ticket distribution chairman for the Niles Days Grand Prize - THE RED MUSTANG - we see him here - we see him there - but love that lad is everywhere.

Those grand people the merchants, management, and industry have donated their awards now awaiting YOU at the GOLDEN NUGGET festivities from July 20 through July 24. "They're wonderful, wonderful" panted Niles Days Gift chairman, Diane Hanson, as we discovered her surrounded by packages and still more packages all ready for the carnival events.

There's continuity here in Niles. There's a job to be done, and our Village recently named the All-America City does it with pride. Sooo, giddy-up Nilesites to all the fun of the fair at the Lawrencewood Shopping Plaza. Proceeds are for Niles youth, Niles firemen and Niles Library.

East Maine School District 63 News

The Board of Education of East Maine School District #63 conducted one of its regular meetings on July 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the East Maine Junior High School.

After the approval of the minutes, action was taken on the appointment of several teachers, a science consultant and a school nurse. Other action was taken to accept the resignation of several members of the teaching staff.

At this meeting the Junior High School hours were established as 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. for the regular school day with extra curricular activities from 2:30 to 3:30. On Thursday, the day set aside for district-wide in-service training, the Junior High School hours will be 8 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. In relation to the school hours, the Board of Education indicated it will send letters to all parents in the district informing them of the school hours for the school year 1966-67 and describe in some way the reason for the altered schedule on Thursdays.

The Superintendent of Schools reported that 83 pupils are currently participating in the Summer Music Program. During the regular school year instrumental program, he reported, allowance would be made for lessons for advanced as well as beginning pupils.

The business manager delivered a report on the construction progress of the Shelley-Nathanson School and the Board of Education was assured the school will open on time in September. The business manager also reported that crossing guards for the corner of Golf Road and Western Avenue have been approved by the Cook County Sheriff's office. Following an executive session the Board of Education took action in reorganizing the assignments of certain members of the clerical staff in the office of the superintendent, assistant superintendent, and business manager.

Trying to find 2,500 volunteers are Service League co chairmen Mrs. Robert Bjork, left, and Mrs. Veron Guse. They and other volunteers are spending hundreds of hours on the telephone to find the volunteers for the cancer research program.

Seek Smokers For LGH Cancer Research

How do you find 2,500 smokers?

That's the problem confronting Mrs. Veron Guse and Mrs. Robert Bjork of the Service League of Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge.

The two women are serving as co-chairmen for the cancer research project being conducted at Lutheran General Hospital. The project is aimed at finding a simple method of detecting lung cancer.

Trying to find volunteers to participate in the project is nothing new. They had the job of lining up 2,000 volunteers last fall when the study began.

"There's really nothing to participating," Mrs. Guse pointed out.

Participants in the study are asked to deposit a sputum sample in a small sanitary vial for three consecutive mornings. Volunteers deliver and pick up the samples at the participant's home. The samples are then checked at the hospital for abnormalities among the cells.

Heading the project is Dr. Jonas Valaitis, chief pathologist. The study is being supported by a $22,500 grant from the Illinois Division of the American Cancer Society.

A temporary office has been set up on the eighth floor of Lutheran General. To make the test successful, 40 volunteers are needed to participate each day.

"This means that our workers may have to make two or three hundred telephone calls to line up this number," Mrs. Guse stated.

"People are very co-operative. But it's still a matter of finding people who have smoked for at least 10 years," she stated.

Montessori Meeting July 27 In Park Ridge

Two experienced and certified Montessori directresses, Mrs. John J. Sullivan and Mrs. William R. Bowes, both of Park Ridge, announced the September opening of a Montessori school for 100 pre-school children, age 2 1/2 to 5, in a house totally adapted to little children which is located at 1004 N. Cumberland Ave., Park Ridge.

"This property is truly a children's house" in the highest Montessori tradition, and offers an environment ideal for the learning needs of the pre-school child where his natural aptitude for order, concentration, intellectual curiosity and creativity can be fostered. With this environment the child can readily master such skills as language, reading and writing.

mathematics, geography and natural sciences," Mrs. Sullivan stated.

"The school will be operated by the Montessori Society of Park Ridge, a not for profit corporation, and is sponsoring the training of three assistant directresses for the school who are studying in an approved American Montessori Society training course," Mrs. Bowes said.

Mrs. Bowes announced that a second meeting for those interested in learning more about the value of the Montessori method or enrolling their children in the school will be held on Wednesday, July 27 at 8:00 p.m. at the Carriage House of the Drake Funeral Home, 625 Busse Highway, Park Ridge. "How To Prepare your Pre-school Child For Classroom Experience In September" will be discussed. She also stated that Mrs. John Pfordresher, telephone 825-3889, has been appointed Registrar for the school and will answer all inquiries.

Benefit Theatre Performance Will Aid Settlement House

Mr. and Mrs. William Barabas, 6965 Seward Ave., Niles, members of the board of Association House of Chicago have announced that a benefit theater performance will be held for this settlement house Thursday evening, 8:30 p.m., August 18. The benefit will be a performance of the English comedy, "The Grass Is Greener," starring Celeste Holm, at the new Lymanhoe Theater, 3000 North Clark St.

"We have planned this event to help raise funds for this settlement house serving the Inner City," Mr. Barabas said. Association House was in the midst of the recent riots on the Northwest Side of Chicago and its staff worked 24 hours every day to help stabilize this dangerous situation. Much of the financial need which prompts this benefit was caused by this recent emergency and by the increasing, intensive work required ever since."

Tickets for the special performance are $6.50 each and may be secured from Mr. Barabas or by contacting Association House, 2150 West North Ave., 276-0084.

Founded in 1899, this settlement house serves a community of more than 45,000 people of 24 different nationalities and ethnic groups. A pioneer in modern social work, Association House provides a full program of English and Citizenship classes, recreation and camping activities for children, tutoring, services for Senior Citizens, work with teen gangs and school drop-outs, and counseling for families facing emergencies or the endless cycle of poverty.

"The area served by Association House presents all the abrasive challenges of the modern city—new transient population, language barriers, poverty, broken homes, crowded housing, the pressures of a 'changing' neighborhood against a back-drop of well-kept homes and established residents," Mr. Barabas said.

"In its area of intensive service, Association House is the only agency with the variety and extent of services of a settlement house, To meet the changing needs and problems of the modern urban community, its services today reach out from its building to street corners and alleys, to homes and community centers, to store fronts and basements. Those of us who live in the suburbs can play an important role in reinforcing this critical work in the Inner City and volunteer talents and financial support are needed and welcomed."

High Per Cent Of Nilehi Grads Complete College

"How many graduates of our high school stay in college, not just start in college?"

Back in 1960, at a meeting of administrators in the Niles Township High School system someone asked this question. Since no one really knew the answer, Dr. Arthur Ryden, district director of guidance, decided to do a five year continuous study of the graduates of that year. In 1960, there were 876 students in the graduating class of Niles Township High School. This was one of the last classes before the township became a multi-school district. Hence there was a large number of students with which to work as a population base for this study.

The project began at about the mid-point of the school year 1960-61, at which time the first follow-up questionnaire was mailed to the 1960 graduates. By persistent efforts, including sending out second and even third letters of inquiry, the staff was able to receive information on the first year activities of 99 per cent of the class. Such a high percentage of returns for a large and widely-scattered class was considered remarkable.

For the next four years this follow-up procedure was repeated. Although it was not possible to maintain for five continuous years this intensive effort to secure such exceptionally high percentage figures on returns, yet by 1965, a total of 78 per cent of the class, were still voluntarily participating in the project.

What kinds of things did this longitudinal study show about these very important first five years out of high school? Below are some of the salient findings.

Findings on Educational Achievements— For the class as a whole the staying power of those who started college was quite high. Approximately 70% of this class started college in 1960. By 1965, 55% of the entire class had either graduated or were about to complete undergraduate work. For the boys the figures are especially remarkable, since 78% started college and by 1965, 70% of all of the boys of the class had either graduated or were in the final stages of undergraduate work.

— Because of this high figure on college attendance it is understandable that so many boys (29% of all boys in the class) were pursuing advanced degrees either in graduate schools or in professional schools. In contrast, only about 5% of the girls were seeking advanced degrees.

— Over a third (36%) of those who stayed in college did change schools at least once as undergraduates. The reasons for changing schools varied, but finances, change of major, and marriage were leading factors.

Some merely wanted the experience of being away from home for a year or two.

— Most of the college-bound students (90%) went to colleges in the Midwest. In fact, 70% of the college group stayed in Illinois schools.

— Many of the college group (24%) won some sort of special recognition—either for scholarship or leadership, or both.

Findings on Occupational Identifications — The highest categories were as follows: For boys, professional occupations and accounting, 20%; sales and related fields, 09%; skilled trades and technical occupations, 07%. For girls, professional occupations 37%; clerical and kindred office occupations, 27%; skilled technicians (laboratory, medical, etc.) 03%; sales and related fields, 02%.

— Leading professions among the boys were engineering and architecture, 10%; law, 06%; scientific research, 05%; and medicine, 04%. Among the girls in professions, teaching ranked first, 24%. Nursing was second but named by only 4%.

— Another large occupational group were the 26% of the girls who were full-time housewives by 1965.

Findings on Personal Life Information — Only a little over a third of the class (35%) were still living in Niles Township in 1965. However, most of them were still living in northern Illinois — especially the girls.

— Almost two-thirds of the girls were married by April, 1965, and almost a fourth of them (22%) were mothers already.

— It was noteworthy to find that more of the married alumni met in high school than anywhere else, and that more than half of them (59%) met in either high school or college.

Dr. Ryden's concluding comment on the final summary stated that "The information which we have received on the class of 1960 certainly confirms the pride which our community has in its high school graduates."

NFD Demonstrates New Fire Extinguisher

Restaurant owners and industrial personnel have been invited by the Niles Fire Department, and Chief Albert L. Hoelbl, to attend a demonstration, next July 25, of a new fire extinguishing system designed especially to fight fires in ducts and exhaust systems.

Designed primarily to combat fires in restaurant grease ducts and hoods, the system can be utilized with equal effectiveness in any industrial operation which has an exhaust system. A dry chemical powder is the extinguishing agent used, when heat melts a fusible link installed in the duct and triggers off the system automatically.

The demonstration, to be held at 2 p.m., will be conducted in the training area of Niles Station 2, 8360 W. Dempster St., and is sponsored by the Ansil Company of Marinette, Wisconsin, designers of the system, and Charles R. Teas & Company of Chicago, local distributors.

A portable trailer, built to simulate a restaurant exhaust system, will be used for the demonstration. Grease and other flammables will be used to create the fire. In addition to this demonstration, the proper use of all forms of portable extinguishers will also be shown.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dismayed By

'Unmagnificent' Article

Letter to the Editor

As President of the Chamber of Commerce, I was dismayed at Frieda Aron's article entitled "Gateway To Niles Is 'Unmagnificent Mile' ". Let me state that I do not blame Frieda Aron for this as it is obvious that she has been grossly misinformed and lacks the true facts. It is the function of the Editor to correct such inaccuracies. In the future, it would be well to consult the Chamber for facts before such an article is released.

It was unfortunate that the article was written in such a manner as to suggest certain individuals and firms, most of whom have been here longer than any of us and are not only highly reputable and responsible people but have given of their time and money to every community effort, Taverns and eating places have a place in our community, and if the population figures are checked, we do not have an abundance of taverns.

The Chamber is cognizant of the fact that certain areas in Niles are in need of renovating and the area from Devon to Touby on Milwaukee Avenue is not the only area. Many other areas as well as Milwaukee Avenue need improvement. This is precisely why the Chamber formed a "Milwaukee Avenue-Development Committee". This Committee will be in action soon, and many surveys and proposals are being considered, one of which has been the transformation of the so-called "Unmagnificent Mile" into an Old Town atmosphere. This would attract additional business and new enterprises.

I would suggest that the business men who do not belong to the Chamber in this area join now to help us coordinate plans to develop this area.

Mr. Editor, perhaps you could, in the future, use your talents to produce articles that would stimulate rather than criticize the business men to that they would take pride in the appearance of their properties and, in turn, beautify the village and create an attractive and orderly business area which would be of benefit to all.

Al Green, President

On behalf of Maine Township High School South, I wish to thank the Niles Bugle for the excellent publicity given to our high school.

During the past year, we have conducted 133 tours through our building, and over 92,000 people have visited our facilities. We have made every attempt to tell the Maine South story, but without the assistance of your fine newspaper our efforts would have been futile.

Thank you again.

Niles Park District Softball League

This weeks battles in the Niles Park Districts softball league were sparked with plenty of action and the lead changed hands in both divisions.

In the Sr. Division, the Angels bumped the Jets from a tie for first place and stayed undefeated by romping over the Jets by the score of 18 to 9. The Angels were lead in hitting by Firm who scored three runs and hit two homers in five times at bat. He was given fine support by the rest of the team as all men hit safely at least once. Olsen aided in the victory by slamming two doubles in two trips to the plate.

Schmidt of the Jets hit two home runs, but it was not enough to get his team back to their usual fine game. Bartholomew gave him some support by going three for three at the plate, but it was not enough to overcome the fine all around play of the Angels.

In the other games of the week, Esquire Barber Shop defeated the House of Pancakes 14 to 11 in a well played and even fought battle. Esquire came from behind in the fifth to score 4 runs and wrap up the game.

Courtland Park squeaked past the House of Pancakes by the score of 13 to 12 to wrap up their place in the league. Courtland's victory was due in great part to their fine fielding and the hitting of Fuller who was 3 for 4 including two triples and a double, and Olson who went 3 for 4 at the plate. The House of Pancakes staged a late rally and looked like they were going to pull the game out of the fire, but were unable to score the last inning and as a result went down in defeat.

In the Junior League DiMaria Builders won over LoVerde Construction on a forfeit, and A-1 Lins defeated Niles Boys by the score of 12 to 5. A-1 Lins fielding meant the difference in this game. Only two extra base hits were hit in the game. Noegar of Niles Boys connected for a home run, and Hoher of A-1 Lins for a triple.

Another Morning 'nother Yawn.

by Frieda Aron - 966-9669

by Frieda Aron 966-9669

Every season produces its own series of tragic happenings. Wintertime has the hazards of fires, from overheated stoves and burners, the danger of frostbite and fatalities from snowstorms and freezing due to lack of proper clothing and heating facilities. Summer brings on its very special traumatic incidents and tragedies. Drownings, boating accidents, utility line failures, and lawn mowings, etc., and the bulk of 1,000,000 cases of food poisoning which occur every year.

Because investigation and reporting is grossly inadequate, the estimate of 1 million cases of food poisoning per year is considered too low. Most outbreaks are caused by bacteria or bacterial products and summer heat facilitates this growth, by providing excellent media for its rapid development. There are a number of different types of food poisoning one should know about and take precaution to prevent. 1—Bacillism—spoiled foods, 2—Marine animal poisonings—shellfish, clams, 3—Plant poisoning—mushrooms, rhubarb greens, and 4—Chemical poisoning—which is comparatively rare enough not to cause anxiety and may be disregarded.

The most potentially hazardous foods are eggs, fish, poultry products, custard-filled bakery products, ham and tongue. These must always be kept refrigerated at temperatures of 45 degrees F. or less. Some accepted theories about food poisonings are most erroneous to wit:

1—spoiled meat is a frequent cause of food poisoning.

2—wrong—preservation does not necessarily produce toxic substances.

3—one can always spot spoiled food by its taste or the way it looks.

4—wrong—food poisoning may be caused by food that is normal in appearance, odor, and taste.

5—bottulism is caused only by bacterial fermented foods.

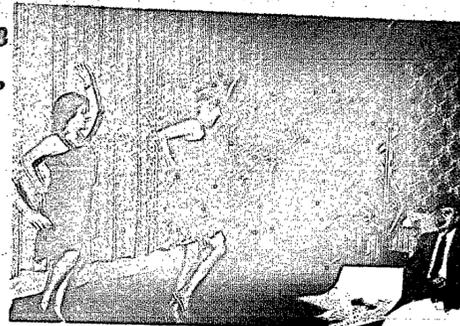

6—wrong—bottulism is more often caused by home-preserved foods than by the commercially processed food.

7—frozen foods cannot be contaminated.

8—wrong—frozen foods have been found to provide excellent media for the growth of certain bacteria which produce toxins in the intestinal tract.

Summer heat is particularly conducive to bacterial growth in foods mixed with mayonnaise, and chickens or hams left unrefrigerated for an unbelievably short span of time. The safest bet during summertime picnicking is to avoid taking along chicken salads, tuna salads, potato salads, ham salads, etc., and custard or cream filled cakes. Neither is it wise to leave this same type of food standing on the kitchen table more than a few minutes without refrigeration. Also, avoid those same types of foods when eating in restaurants—during the heat waves.

A word of warning should make your family picnics more fun, with less possibility of coming home with a stomach ache or worse!

Entertain Vets

The smiles on the faces of 25 wounded Viet Nam vets from the Great Lakes Naval Training Hospital helped make the 20th Anniversary celebration of the Niles VFW Post 7712 one of the most fraternal affairs in the group's history.

The soldiers, sailors and marines, recuperating from wounds suffered during the conflict were honored guests for dining, dancing and merrymaking. About 250 people watched the members of the Post, and the Ladies Auxiliary, present a revue of entertainment history from the turn of the century to the present.

The acts, which brought tears of laughter to the cheeks of the men as well as the women, were of the memories of the Roaring Twenties era, Dimpled Shirley Temple, the great songs of World War I and 2, the Andrew Sisters and an all-male strip tease and Hawaii Hula.

The night was also dedicated to all past Post Commanders and past Presidents of the Ladies Auxiliary. Evidence of the popularity of gala affair was the difficulty of the chief petty officer, in charge of the 25-man contingent from Great Lakes, had in getting his men back on the bus for the return trip. Everyone agreed that the pain and suffering undergone by these men was forgotten at least for one night.

Library 'Friends' At Radio, T.V. Booth

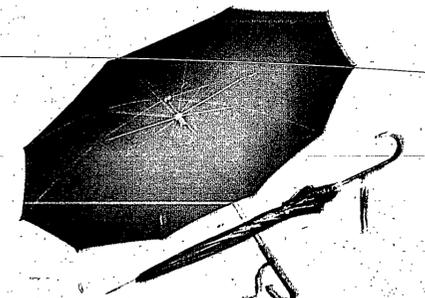

Come one, come all, you young of heart of Niles and our surrounding villages. The Friends of the Library of the Village of Niles have been assigned to handle the Radio and Television booth at the Niles Golden Nugger Days July 20 through July 24th at the Lawrencewood Shopping Center, Oakton and Waukegan Avenues. The cost to participate is small, the opportunity to take home a much needed replacement of a radio or television set is great. This year the Friends of the Library have been promised a generous amount for their efforts from the Niles Days' Committee to go toward the furnishing of a large room for your comfort and enjoyment in your new library soon to open. Be a supporter with your contributions to our booth. Remember the opportunity is here to take home a useful decorative prize, take it.

Mr. Allen, Niles Public Library administrator, has promised the Friends of the Library that the BOOKMOBILE will again be in operation in the village within the next few short weeks. The BOOKMOBILE is presently being refurbished with electrical lighting and outlets so utilization can be made in more locations throughout the village. The Friends of the Library wish to thank both Mr. Jerry Sullivan, park commissioner, and Mr. Hode of the Coalfield Park area for their efforts to get this program moving again.

Remember, we will be looking for our friends on July 20-24th at the Golden Nugger Days, especially at the Radio and TV booth. Step up and say hello.

Three Roman Catholic clergy were elected officers of the History Teachers' Club of the University of Notre Dame this weekend at the club's 21st annual meeting.

The officers who will serve two-year terms, are Sister Mary Amata, H.H.M., of Magnific High School, Cleveland, President; Rev. Joseph C. Strook, C.S.C., of Notre Dame High School, Niles, Ill., Vice President, and Sister Mary Ricardo, O.P., of Sacred Heart Convent, Racine, Wis., Secretary-Treasurer.

Sister Amata had been an officer of the club from 1964-1966, and Father Strook has been a board member for the past three years. Sister Ricardo is new to the club.

The club meeting began last Friday and closed Sunday. The election of officers took place Saturday. The club, whose moderator is Rev. Thomas T. McAvoy, C.S.C., Notre Dame archivist and professor of history, publishes a bi-monthly bulletin under the editorship of Dr. Philip Gleason, assistant professor of history at Notre Dame.

The History Teachers' Club of Notre Dame was organized nearly 25 years ago for Notre Dame graduates teaching history in high schools, but now is open to history teachers whether or not they attended Notre Dame.

Nasos Karros began his artistic career at the early age of eight and received his formal education in Athens, Greece. He has held exhibitions in various major cities in Greece and throughout the world. His international talent brought him to the United States with his collection of approximately 100 pictures. Critics have described his artistry towards the esthetic and sentimental world of man and satisfaction with the simplicity and truthfulness of his themes. He has been rated with a Par Excellence of a superb painter. He is consumed with a deep love for his works and seems to give expression and a breath of life in whatever he creates. Some of his works, "The Complete Design" is reflected in such compositions as "The Harvest", "The Fisherman", etc. Mr. Karros is exhibiting a representative group of his paintings all over America this summer and his itinerary will be publicized at a later date.

Free Chest X-Rays For Niles Aug. 1-5

The number of new, active tuberculosis cases have declined in Chicago between the years of 1960 and 1965.

"However," said John E. Egdorf, executive director of the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County, "Chicago is not making up to the ten year goal set toward the elimination of tuberculosis."

Egdorf referred to a nationwide goal and standard set in 1959 by the special Arden House Conference, which recommended that the annual rate of decline in active TB cases should be 10 per cent per year.

The percentage decline for the case rate in Chicago between 1960 and 1965 is about four per cent per year.

In 1960, there were 2,815 new active cases in Chicago, a case rate of 79, and 2,179 in 1965, a case rate of 61, according to the Chicago Board of Health.

The Conference set the 10 per cent decline in order to achieve a national case rate of 10 new active TB cases per 100,000 population by 1970.

In Illinois, the case rate figure does not fare much better in light of the Conference's recommendations.

The average drop per year in Illinois was only 5.5 per cent between 1960 and 1964, according to latest National Tuberculosis Association statistics.

Only Iowa, North Dakota and Wyoming recorded average annual declines of more than 10 per cent between 1960 and 1964.

The national average annual decline in the case rate between 1960 and 1964 measured less than four per cent, according to the NTA. The rate was 31 in 1960 and 26 in 1964.

Only one-third of the states will achieve a rate of 10 new TB cases per 100,000 people by 1970, estimates an NTA projection of the 1964 case rate.

In addition, 13 states had increases in new, active cases between 1960 and 1964.

Increased reporting of primary TB cases due to recommended case reporting changes in 1961 may have been responsible for this, said Egdorf.

Egdorf also noted that intensive case-finding activities may account for the increase.

He cited the Institute's location of mobile chest X-ray units in high TB incidence areas of Chicago as an example of this intensive case-finding activity.

The Institute, the Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium and the Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium District are sponsors of the free chest X-ray programs now underway in city and county.

One week of free chest X-rays will be offered in Niles from August 1 through 5, Monday through Friday.

The mobile X-ray bus will be at the Golf Mill Shopping Plaza at the corner of Milwaukee and Golf Road through Wednesday, and at the National Tea on the corner of Mariem and Dempster on Thursday and Friday.

X-ray hours are scheduled from 2 to 9 p.m. on Monday, from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesday, and from 1 to 8 p.m. on Thursday and Friday. Volunteers will be assisting at the unit during the survey, and are under the chairmanship of Mrs. Angelo A. Troiani. The Niles Lions Club is the local sponsoring organization for the free health service.

New Earlier Hours For E. Maine Schools Starting In September

Junior high school regular school hours in East Maine District 63 will be changing starting in September to 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., or for from 8 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. on Thursdays, the administration announced today.

Officials said, to accommodate the new in-service training program for teachers throughout the district under which they will study modern teaching techniques and programs under the guidance of four prominent educators.

At the board's regular July 12 meeting, action was taken on the appointment of several teachers, a science consultant and a school nurse. Other action was taken to accept the resignation of several members of the teaching staff.

Other schools in the district will maintain the same school hours as followed in the past. Officials said letters will be sent to parents of junior high

THE SUPERINTENDENT of schools reported that 83 pupils are currently participating in the Summer Music Program. During the regular school year instrumental program, he reported, allowance would be made for lessons for advanced as well as beginning pupils.

The business manager delivered a report on the construction progress of the Shelley Nathanson school and the board was assured the school will open on time in September.

Weeks Against Maine Annexation Study

Allen D. Schwartz, East Maine attorney and civic leader, reported recently that he plans to meet July 19 with a number of the faculty of Northwestern university, an expert in community planning, to discuss the possibility of surveying the unincorporated area surrounding the details of possible annexation to one or more adjacent municipalities.

Schwartz said he believes such an expert can be extremely helpful in determining such questions as which unincorporated sections should be expected to apply for annexation to which municipalities.

Dinner Meeting for Scouts

More than 300 scouters are expected to attend the dinner meeting of the 1966 sustaining membership enrollment program of the Northwest Suburban Council, Boy Scouts of America, held at the Teletype Corporation, 5555 W. Touhy Ave., Skokie, starting at 7 p.m.

Entertainment will be provided by Bob Atcher, nationally known singer and recording star, along with actor Christopher Cross as master of ceremonies.

Council enrollment Chairman Charles K. Estler, Oakdene Rd., Arlington, called the dinner meeting a combination "thank you to those who have worked hard for the benefit of our boys either in Scouting or looking forward to it," and a chance for everyone in the program to clean up any loose ends in reporting the sale of memberships to friends of Scouting in the Northwest Suburban Council area.

He emphasized that it is essential for success of the scout program in the entire council that the annual operating budget be met by funds raised through sale of such adult memberships.

"The number of boys growing up in our local communities isn't just increasing—it's multiplying," he said.

Panthers Opening Game August 27

A dynamic gal and a seasoned old pro have joined forces to bring the semipro Panthers football team its first Central States League championship.

Marty O'Connor, guiding light of the Niles, Ill., based club and probably the only woman general manager in professional football, and Joe Osmanski, former Chicago Bears backfield great, can be found every Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening on the Maine East high school gridiron readying a 60-man squad for the rigors of a 10-game schedule, home opener Aug. 27, against the Manitowoc Chiefs.

All home games - five - will be played under the Notre Dame of Niles high school lights, Saturday 8 P.M., kickoff.

Osmanski, 46, this year succeeds Harry "Chick" Jagade, another old Bears player, as Panthers head coach. The latter, a Glenview resident, stepped down to devote full time to a booming engineering business.

Osmanski's squad of former high school, college and service players, some of whom have had shots at NFL and AFL berths, is not thinking of past Panthers teams, just optimistically working towards this year's one goal - a title.

Fact is, little is left that has been the Panthers of the past - coaches and players. "Talent appears in abundance," the younger brother of another Bears great, Bill Osmanski, said in returning to the head coach ranks after an eight year absence. "We've got plenty of beef, good height, speed and more speed. But we're not certain who's who yet. In other words, berths on this Panthers team are wide open."

Helping the man who brought Gordon Tech high school to power in the Chicago area's rough Catholic League in four years starting in 1955 are former West Point quarterback star Arnold Galiffan high school coach Frank Mariani, former Pittsburgh Steeler Bob Tucker, George Steerian and Randall Raybourn.

Osmanski said, "It's good to be back in coaching. I'm really looking forward to an interesting and profitable season for the Panthers. We'll give the other teams and fans a look at a real pro offense, and we think a rough defense. We don't just want to move up in this league; we want to win it all.
