Peck Lone Opposition Winner; Wagner Wins Big; Beusse Park Winner

BLASE JUGGERNAUT WINS IN LANDSLIDE

By David Besser

The sweet smell of victory for Nick Blase Tuesday night had an aromatic pleasure seldom achieved in the political ring. He won big against one of his most loyal supporters, and devastated the one person he was "out to get", village clerk Marge Lieske, who Blase accused of forming a ticket against him, which in the political jungle must be considered an act of treason.

In addition to Blase winning 4,754 to 3,039 over Ang Marcheschi, in the Mayor's race, Blase's running mates, Frank Wagner, Dick Gruenwald and Pete Pesole won seats in Tuesday's election. Only incumbent Keith Peck won his trustee seat again. Peck's running mate Jack Leske lost in a cliff hanger by 45 votes to Pete Pesole for one of the other trustee seats. Leske had a small lead while candidates waited for the last precinct at the Senior Citizens Home to be tallied. When it belatedly came in Pesole won the 3rd trustee post.

As surprising as the Blase juggernaut victory was, the ease in which Frank Wagner defeated incumbent Marge Lieske, 5,077 to 3,906 votes, was the most startling event of the evening. Mrs. Lieske has been village clerk for 7 years and the defeat left most observers in awe of the Blase machine win. Wagner had run a tough campaign promising a part-time village clerk if he gained the office, which he claimed would be a $7,000 annual savings to the taxpayers. Wagner's hard-hitting campaign, emphasizing the savings, was partly responsible for the victory.

All issues considered, it was still a well-oiled political machine, which has the know-how and makes the effort months before a campaign which was most responsible for the victory. Blase's blitz at the north end of the village determined the election. Overwhelming win totals at the Park Lane Community Center, at the Nelson school, at Norbert's Nursery, on 8600 National and at the Senior Citizens Home, sealed the victory for Blase and Wagner, who carried into office Gruenwald and Pesole, the least known candidates of those victorious.

It was all cheers and smiles at Blase's Lawrencewood headquarters from the beginning. At Bunker Hill the death pall hung over the hall from the beginning. Perhaps the best spirited candidate was Ang Marcheschi, who alone with his family, went to Blase's celebration to congratulate the winners. Ironically, Keith Peck, the lone winner from the Marcheschi group, gave the most heart-rendering speech at the end of the evening. Very simply he said "I just feel bad" in expressing his sadness that his group didn't do better. Marge Lieske, who was likely the most stunned candidate of the evening, smiled bravely and acted very light-hearted when the final tabulations were coming in. But Marge is a bad actor. She was acting too bravely and too light-heartedly. Her defeat was the most heart-rendering to her many friends and we imagined they would have preferred she showed her obvious disappointment, rather than displaying such a brave front. It was a bitter and personal fight between the incumbent candidates. Blase may forgive and forget since the sweet scent of victory gives much room for bigness. But the scars of Niles Battle of '69 may take a long time in healing, and the former friends may have a hard time renewing past kinships.

A few afterthoughts

by Naomi Krone

There are 2 words all "good theatre" lovers must add to their vocabularies — RENIE RIANO.

No, it's not a Serbian Souffle or an Italian Ice. It's the name of a most enchanting and remarkable woman who is performing nightly (until the end of this month) in the Carl Stohn, Jr. production of "Blithe Spirit" at the Mill Run Playhouse.

I must first mention the name of Zsa Zsa Gabor as the star of the delightful comedy authored by Noel Coward. But I must also say it is Renie Riano who walks away with all the marbles.

Miss Riano, who portrays "Madame Arcati," the medium in "Blithe Spirit," is at present marking her 60th year in show business. This in itself is remarkable, but it is Miss Riano's movements, her way of expressing thoughts and words with just a facial expression, a movement of her hands, head, feet, legs and I'll even throw in the torso of this dear person, that makes her performance such a delight.

After she has been on stage for a while you become completely convinced she is a "medium" and will most certainly be able to invoke not only the spirit of "Elvira" (played by beautiful Zsa Zsa) but possibly a few she and the audience hadn't planned on seeing.

While Miss Riano has the distinction of having played four command performances before the late Queen Mother Mary of England, she is also, at present, enjoying the distinction of being one of the most enchanting and enjoyable stars to bring living theatre back to life in this area. Don't miss her performance!

Why Black Studies?

Dear Editor,
Black studies and Black Cultural Centers - Why?

There are encouraging signs that emphasis on black studies and black culture will break the traditional social hostility, in white America, against black equality. The black student is moving in the direction which will be more useful to him, in a society that exploits him and his kind. Because the emphasis is now on black studies, black cultural centers and return to pride of African cultural roots; opposition rears its ugly head. One might conclude that because the black student is so close to realizing the great advantages of his heritage, the opposition fights against him.

It is evident that this same society approved segregated dorms, Newman Clubs, fraternities, Hillel Clubs, etc., for the sake of democracy; it can, in fact also "allow" the study of relevant black objectives in education.

The black student has initiated the first attempt to change the Afro-American's state of mind in order that he might learn to dignify his own existence. He had dared further to reject the academic forms of white history in order to establish newer forms and presentations eliminating myths, which have for so long shackled the spirits and minds of nearly all black people here in America. Before this attempt and even now the Afro-American was given ideas and lessons that were employed to deprive him of real human existence, by imprisoning and confusing his attempts to discover his own identity as a person.

In rejecting the white curriculum's philosophical and historical forms of value, while recording his black experiences, the black student removed himself from the double

Easter Goodies

Saturday, April 5, was an exciting day for about 500 of Niles' youngsters. They participated in the Niles Park District Easter Egg Hunt and Party, held at Grennan Heights Field, 8255 Oketo.

The main attraction of the party was the arrival of the Easter Bunny, portrayed so fantastically well by Gregory Olsen, 8212 N. Oketo, that even the adults were held spellbound. The smiles and cheers of the youngsters prompted the Easter Bunny to distribute chocolate facsimiles of himself to the little folk, so that he would be remembered year around.

The exuberance of the youngsters continued throughout the party. The 3 to 6 year old boys and girls were faced with a challenge that seemed, at the time insurmountable.

The little girls searched through a sand pile, with hopes of finding little Easter eggs. Six year old Jackie Jarik was much surprised when she learned that she had gathered the most green eggs, thus warranting her to receive a giant chocolate bunny as a prize. So too was the surprise and prize of 6 year old Diane Reeve who gathered the most hidden eggs in the sand pile.

The little boys, had somewhat of a different challenge. They looked through a pile of straw in search of the Easter eggs. Two prizes, duplicates of those given to the girls were awarded to 2 little boys, who still remain nameless.

The 7 to 12 year old boys and girls went on a hunt for eggs that were hidden around the field house. Six eggs were specially marked, and were found by Martin Lunke, 12 yrs. old; Patricia Young, 7 yrs. old, and 2 nameless girls. The games awarded these youngsters were well received.

Other activities as "Pin the Egg in the Bunny's Baskets" and "The Egg and Bottle Stunt" were participated in by over 200 youngsters and adults. Seasonal goodies were the prizes for excelling in the activity.

To qualify, a young lady must be a resident of Niles Township six months prior to pageant night, must be between the ages of 18 and 28 by Sept. 1, 1969, must never have been married, and must be a high school graduate by Sept. 1, 1969. life and times of New York's "Little Flower," will be presented at Notre Dame High school, Niles on April 18, 19 and 20.

The show, which ran for 23 months on Broadway in 1960, begins with a flashback to the days when Fiorello was an energetic young Greenwich Village lawyer who seeks his district's nomination for Congress in the face of Tammany Hall power and corruption. LaGuardia helps organize the girls of a garment worker's union and uses this along with his multi-lingual campaign to appeal to the national groups of the district and to win.

The production under the direction of Rev. Milton Adamson, C.S.C., with Rev. Thomas Markos, C.S.C. as producer, goes on to highlight Fiorello's fight for the draft, his enlistment, his farewell party, his war record and his marriage to garment worker, Thea.

An unsuccessful campaign for mayor against Jimmy Walker ends with the death of his wife.

Four years later Fiorello, played by John Fugiel, runs again on the Fusion ticket and wins after he marries his long-time secretary and secret admirer, Marie played by Marcy Anthony.

Well known songs by Jerry Bock, of "Fiddler on the Roof" fame, from the show include "When Did I Fall in Love," "Politics and Poker," "I Love a Cop," "Little Tin Box," "Marry the Very Next Man" and "Till Tomorrow."

Other lead rolls in the show are played by Diane Zini as Thea, Paul Newell as Floyd, the cop, Patty Weiner as girl friend and striker Dora and Larry Kreyche as politico Ben Marino. Charles Plank and Peter Zopp play Fiorello's office helpers, Morris and Neil. Patti Finnegan leads the chorus line in the "Gentleman Jimmy" Charleston.

Assisting in the production also are Sue Gauger, choreographer, Bruce Longland and the Rev. John Mulcahy, C.S.C., scenic design and sets, Mrs. Virginia Bachman, costumes and the Rev. George Wiskirchen, C.S.C., Musical director.

Musicals at Notre Dame have gained a reputation for their sparkle, drive and the production polish of the chorus and dance numbers. "Fiorello" will continue this tradition. Tickets may be purchased by mail, from the school, or at the door on the show nights. Curtain is at 8:15 p.m.

Niles Public Library Tells Schedule For Celebration

On April 20 of this year Niles Public Library will light the annual candle of remembrance honoring the librarians of this country and join in the celebration of National Library Week. This is the occasion to point up and print out the book and its household.

Niles method of jogging the memory will be served fold - A Business Men's Luncheon (sponsored by the Friends of the Library), free movies for the young fry ("And Now Miguel") to be presented Tuesday, April 22 from 4 to 5 p.m., an Open House celebration for the new Gerstenslager Bookmobile, and a daily Literary Lottery.

Mr. Allen, administrator of Niles Public Library points out:

"Man left a legacy from one generation to another and each generation has added to this legacy - the gift of the written and spoken word. As William Faulkner once put it, man has been blessed by a soul, a spirit capable of compassion, and sacrifice and endurance - and has added to it what no other human animal has - an inexhaustible voice, store housing and keeping guard and disseminating this voice has been the job of the librarians of this country and the rest of the world."

"The word, explosion, is a very popular one these days due to its combination with the word, population, and to Population Explosion has been added (by a kind of chain reaction) the information Explosion.

"The short-lived paper has become the longer-lived microfilm. The short-lived record has become the longer-lived tape, and now librarians have had to become not merely guardians of the word but sages of the future, pace keepers of methods that will ensure keeping the increased gifts of the past with room for those of the future. Dedication to this and support for it must come from the citizens of this country - always - or the voice will become muted."

If you have any books you would like to dispose of, take them to the library "Barrel of Books," April 20 to 26 is Library Week and at that time the Friends of the Library will conduct their sale of books at a very nominal price. All good used readable books, including paperbacks, will be greatly appreciated. Drop them off at the library at your convenience.

The sale of books will be held on Saturday of Library Week. All proceeds from the sale of books will go toward the purchase of more records and tapes for the library.

Niles has made amazing progress in relatively short life as a library and with the continued cooperation and good foresight of the three elements that inspired this growth: citizen support, cooperating agencies such as the Friends and the news media and the administration represented by Mr. Allen and the Library Board. New and additional facets of service will be added as they become practicable. You could say that, having banked the accomplishments of yesterday, Niles looks forward to the deeds of tomorrow. Then truly will Niles (National Library Week) mean not only what it stands for but, also, Niles Leads the Way.

Co-ordinator, Mr. Miszewski, of the Library Staff adds, "In this dawning of the Age of Aquarius, to Flower Power we add Education Power. To the young of our citizenship of the past to use as they will see fit; to add and pass on to those who will follow them.

Friends of the Library will be having their card party May 2 at Notre Dame High school. Tickets may be purchased at the library for $1.25.

Future Niles Plans To Be Scheel Topic At C. OF C. Meet

Businessmen and women and their guests will learn about confirmed future plans for Niles from Village Manager Kenneth Scheel on Tuesday, April 22. Scheel will be guest speaker at the Niles Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday at the Lane Tree Inn, 7710 Milwaukee ave., Niles.

A social half-hour will precede the luncheon which is expected to be served promptly at 12:15 p.m. A general business meeting, plus questions based on Scheel's comments, will be included in the program.

Former SS Pueblo crewman Richard Rogala has been invited as a special guest by acting Chamber president, Robert Wordel. Rogala, 21-year old Niles resident, was held captive along with 82 other men for almost a year in Korea.

Scheel was appointed acting village manager and finance officer of the village in October, 1967. He served in the U.S. Marine Corps during World War

Kenneth Scheel

II from 1942 to 1945 and in the Corps during the Korean conflict from 1950 to 1952. He and his wife, Minna, moved to Niles in 1952 and live at 7026 Keeney with their two children, Karl, 14 and Amy Jo, 8.

Scheel was appointed as a member of the zoning board of Niles in 1959, on which he served for two years; and was elected a member of the village board

"We Hope To See You Here Soon"

"God's Country" is what Joseph Petracca, the 70-year-old father of Mrs. Wayne Keats 8457 Madison dr., Niles, calls the village and its surrounding area.

Mr. Petracca, a native New Yorker, loved what he saw when he first came to stay with his daughter, a resident of Greenwood Estates, 9 years ago. He bragged so much about the little community he fell in love with that his fellow workers would tell him to go live there if it was so great, and he would answer that's exactly what he intended to do on his retirement from 47 years of furniture refinishing. But age caught up with Mr. Petracca and last year he came down with a kidney ailment that left him in critical condition for 41 days. Unable to return to his beloved adopted village, his daughter sends him the Niles newspapers so that, as he puts it, "I can picture myself walking down the various streets mentioned in the articles."

If all goes well, Mr. Petracca, who is now regaining some weight after coming home from the hospital at 93 pounds, hopes to make a trip for the occasion of his granddaughter's communion April 27.

Nilehi News, Notes

Nilehi parents this week are receiving a special bulletin outlining details of the summer school program, announced Mrs. Gladys Shute of the school system's central office.

Important for parents to note is the registration procedure for the summer session, scheduled to begin Wednesday, June 18, and to end on Thursday, July 31.

Getting the bulletin this week in the mail, Mrs. Shute explained should give both students and parents sufficient time to study and discuss plans before registration begins.

Registration for summer school programs can be made any regular school day between May 5 and June 16 in the district summer school office on the Niles West campus, excepting those days when the staff will be registering students at Niles East, Niles West, and Niles North.

Registration opportunities will be available at the Niles East school on May 19-21, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in room 122.

The same opportunities will be available at Niles North on May 12-14, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the textbook room; and at Niles West in the Oakton street lobby, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on May 1-2 and May 5-6.

Students attending parochial schools and eighth grade graduates will have the opportunity to register on Wednesday, May 7, between 7:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. in the student cafeteria at Niles West.

Most summer school classes this year will be conducted in the Niles North high school, which is air-conditioned. The bulletin indicates whether a class will meet in one of the other two township high schools.

Tuition for summer classes is $24 for each semester credit, reminded Mrs. Shute.

Other important information for parents to read in the special summer bulletin includes transportation, textbook procedures, student behavior, and grading and reporting.

Mrs. Shute also reminded that July 4 and July 7 are scheduled holidays for students in the summer school program.

Summer School Registration Open

Any students of high school age who wish to take summer school courses may now register at Maine Township High School East, Dempster and Potter, according to an announcement by L. W. Rozdalovsky, director.

Registration will be held week-days from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the Guidance Center with full or partial tuition being paid at the time of registration. Most one credit courses will cost $45 per credit or $27.50 for one-half credit.

Tuition for Typing I is $32.50 and for Personal Typing, $27.50. For those who need help with reading, East's summer school will provide a Reading Development course, lasting four weeks, at a cost of $32.50.

Data Processing, which has proven to be a popular course, will be offered for one credit. Also offered are courses in Summer Art and Photography, both one-half credit courses. A one credit Biology course with field trips, and a one-half credit Clothing course are also scheduled. A new course which should interest many is the Drama Workshop which will be held evenings from about 6 to 9 p.m. and will carry one-half credit.

Summer school starts June 16, with classes running from 8 a.m. until 12:10 p.m., and continues for six weeks ending July 25. Lab courses will continue until Aug. 1. ...DON'T GAMBLE...

Occasionally a customer brings in a half empty bottle labeled "Vitamins" and asks "are these any good?" The question should have been asked before the purchase! On inquiring as to where they come from it invariably turns out that they were purchased from a door to door peddler who sells vitamins as a side line to his mops and brooms. The interest to the peddler is in a quick sale, not in your health. He does not know anything about the queer brands he sells nor could he care less. Obviously he is far from qualified to prescribe for you in matters of health.

Health is your most precious gift...rely on the community health team for advice when you buy vitamins just as you do in time of illness.

Only your doctor has the knowledge to prescribe. If he recommends that you take vitamins come see us at BIRCHWAY DRUGS. We carry only the products of reputable manufacturers. Together with your doctor we will see to it that you get the best...and...the best is always the cheapest. Drop in anytime, we're at 7503 Milwaukee Ave... Phone 647-8337.
