Junior High Teens to Parade Against Pollution

The EMJHYPCAP is marching Saturday, April 11, to arouse the communities here to take action against pollution.

Barnholtz, who is a student in Mr. Brown's science class, said he had been seeing a great amount of films on pollution in school. "I started to think about pollution," he commented, and contacted the 2 girls who together began inquiring what they could do to fight the pollution problem.

According to Carla Friedman, she said she was motivated by the idea she wanted people to know "we care", in their concern for pollution, "I don't want my children wearing gas masks."

er member of this chartered troika said, "People aren't thinking. Maybe companies don't realize what they are doing in dumping and making the air and water dirty. WE, the people, have to do something about it."

In the abbreviated press conference, the youngsters said they contacted Chicago newspapers and TV stations and one station will televise their parade and another station may invite them on a talk show to discuss pollution.

By Bud Besser

One of the better guys in this world died Saturday morning, 48 year old Bob Owen, better known to his friends as the "Night Pastor."

A resident in the unincorporated area west of Potter, Owen created a pastorate in the Rush Street area, to minister the needs of the night people who patrol the near north side.

His church was a small walk-up office above Rush Street. Several years ago, he created the idea the night people were in need of help from one who understood their problems. Despite being turned down by his church when he first sought funds, he started his walking church on contributions. A group of businessmen formed a committee to aid Owen and after many months, the Episcopal Church recognized his efforts and helped support his pastorate.

His work was unique. He would nightly tour the area seeking those who needed help. Because the near north side is a watering spot for many of the displaced young people who come to the big city, who often are lost or quickly get lost there, Owen was always available to help them. More often than not many of them sought only a huck or two to tide them over, but Owen gave generously, despite operating on a very limited budget.

We had him to our house last year for a youth meeting in which he told the teens about his ministry. Afterwards he played the piano showing his versatility as a jazz pianist.

He was a very happy guy who had Sunday afternoon sessions out at his house. Filled with loads of kids (including 7 of his own) and adults, the music and the talk, discussions, yelling and laughter, all from a mixed bag of people, were the best testimonial of the type of man Owen was. It has been said too few times in the past, "He left this world a better place by his being here." Contributions to aid his 7 children can be made to the Father Owen's Fund, Exchange National Bank, Chicago.

Notre Dame's undefeated basketball season came to an end Friday night when neighboring Maine South won an overtime game by scoring the winning basket as the buzzer sounded. Like all state tourney games, it was a tough one to lose, doubly so because the Dons were leading thruout the game. Unfortunately, their leading offensive weapon, forward Eaton got in foul trouble early in the second half, and Notre Dame's offense was never the same. Still, they led till the final seconds of the regulation time when Maine tied the game at the end of the regulation time and then popped in the winning basket, the ball still in flight after the final buzzer sounded. The stunning turn of events turned the Palatine gym up for grabs on the Maine South side of the court, while Notre Dame's partisans stared in silence at the unbelievable turn-around.

It was truly a great basketball game. Both teams showed they were well-coached and in the modern vernacular, both teams kept their cool under pressure. Coach Brady, in the waning seconds of the overtime, had Maine South call time out, with the score

Niles Merchants "Friendly"

The following is a letter received by The Bugle concerning a Niles merchant.

Dear Editor:

Although we live in Park Ridge we often prefer to do much of our shopping in Niles. My Parents tell me its something about a "different attitude". They find more of a desire to help and to please among the Niles merchants.

I'm only 15, but I have just learned by experience what they mean.

NO UPSETS IN PRIMARY RACES

Tuesday's local primary returns saw the well-entrenched organizations win all offices in Maine and Niles Townships.

In the only other closely contested committeeman race Niles Township Republican Committeeman John Nimrod successfully turned back Robert Fritzsche by an unofficial vote of 4,081 to 2,100.

In the lone closely contested state representative race newcomer Nilesite Roy Bergquist lost by less than 700 votes to Skokie incumbent Art Simmons and front-runner Robert Juckett won decisively. Juckett garnered unofficially 18,548 votes of which 14,507 votes were in his home-area of Maine Township. Simmons reversed this trend receiving 11,843 votes of which 6,289 came from his home-base in Niles Township. Bergquist received 11,161 votes receiving 6,594 in Maine Township where he lives.

In the state central committeeman Democratic race Blase lost to James Moran by about 1,000 votes in the congressional district, though Blase led in Maine Township's vote by about a 2,500 to 900 margin. Total vote was about 16,000 votes.

Loyalty Day Parade May 3

One of the largest and most colorful Loyalty Day Parades in local history is coming to Niles next May 3, and Mayor Nicholas B. Blase, by special proclamation has urged everyone to participate.

In his proclamation, signed recently, Mayor Blase urged "all individuals, schools, churches, organizations, business establishments and homes within my official jurisdiction, display proudly the flag of the United States of America and do participate in patriotic LOYALTY DAY activities..."

Niles Post 7712 was chosen recently to host the parade for the Fourth District, Veterans of Foreign Wars, which consists of 36 local area posts with over 10,000 members.

The Loyalty Day celebration was originally conceived by the VFW to counteract the influence of the communist dominated May Day celebrations. This patriotic gesture in combating communism was so successful that Congress, in a joint resolution in 1958, designated the 1st day of May each year as a day to reaffirm each American's loyalty to their country.

According to Angelo Marcheschi, Post 7712's Loyalty Day chairman, more than 3,000 marchers are expected to join the parade this year.

Maine Foreign Exchange Students Honored

At the annual American Field Service (AFS) assembly held last week at Maine Township High School East, foreign exchange students were honored and were given the opportunity to express their reactions to school and to American living. Also honored, by the Maine East Mothers' Club were 45 seniors who placed in the top five percent of the class scholastically.

Shahin Alizadeh, East's AFS student from Iran, expressed his approval of Maine East high school and of his host family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Hiller and son David from Park Ridge. He urged students to "share-the-fare," a fund raising program currently in progress at the school, the proceeds of which will be used to bring foreign students to Maine East and to send Maine East students abroad.

East's AFS summer abroad student who spent last summer in Moss, Norway, Joanne presently resides in Nashville, Tennessee but flew to Park Ridge especially for the AFS assembly. East's International Foreign Exchange student from Chile, Julio Montero, discussed his country and his pleasure at becoming a member of the Maine student body. Senior Tom Davies (Park Ridge), whose family hosted AFS student Ricardo Salles last year, explained what it was like having a foreign student become a part of his family life. He concluded by recommending the wonderful experience to everyone. Junior Mitch Orpett (Morton Grove), chairman of AFS Committee, ended the program with an explanation of the functions and opportunities the American Field Service offers to participating students and families.

After winter has come and gone, your hands remain as a memorial, rough, red and scratchy. Here are a few suggestions on post-winter hand care: (1) Use your favorite hand cream or lotion each time your hands are exposed to water or weather (2) Each time you wash your hands push the cuticles back with the towel (3) Use a good cuticle cream nightly (4) For baby soft hands, apply a heavy layer of hand cream, then put on rubber gloves and do the dishes with the hottest water you can stand. The heat will cause the cream to be absorbed quickly. Remember, your hands should show you're a woman who cares about her looks! Let them speak for you!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The following letters were received by The Bugle before the official announcement of the cancellation of the March 28 referendum.

Dist. 63 Children "Very Fortunate"

Dear Editor:

We have a happy child, he likes to go to school. This may sound strange, but up until September when we moved into School District #63, our child hated school. He would have been a 3rd grade dropout if he had half a chance. You see he has a perceptual learning disability, and the Chicago Public Schools are rather behind in placing these children in the proper classrooms where they can learn. Knowing this, and after investigating several other school districts, we decided this was the place for him. We are not in the least bit sorry we took such a big step and moved into the suburbs. The child after a short time at the Nathanson school is now in a special education class at the Washington

An Answer For Mr. Gurolnick

Dear Sir:

I am writing this letter in reply to the somewhat scurrilous attack on my person and my profession by Mr. Gurolnick, who as president of the board of education of School District #63 evidently reflects the opinion of the Board. The tactics he uses in his so-called explanation are NOT UNIQUE for anyone who has something to hide; in fact they are quite common. If he were a little boy, I might give him a spanking, but as he is not, I believe this letter will suffice.

school. Now he can learn like he should, and he looks forward to school every morning. It is the greatest experience in the world for him, and we as parents are much relieved. However, we are extremely dismayed to learn about the financial crisis taking place within the district, and the lack of interest on the part of some of the parents. DON'T YOU REALIZE HOW FORTUNATE YOUR CHILDREN ARE? ARE YOU NOT INTERESTED IN MAINTAINING THE MARVELOUS SCHOOL SYSTEM YOU HAVE HERE? If you are not aware of what the tax referendum is all about check into it, find out what's going on, but heavens sake VOTE! VOTE! on March 28th, VOTE YES! so your children can continue receiving the type of education they have become accustomed to. Your schools need the revenue, and ALL the children will suffer if this referendum is defeated. Show your children you CARE! PLEASE PLEASE A Very Worried Parent Mrs. Daniel Sheer

Dean's List

Cadet Steven Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Carlson, 9216 Sayre ave., Morton Grove, was recently named to the Dean's List for the first semester at the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, New York.

He then goes on to suggest that I read Section 24-9 of the School Code which states that the teachers' duty free lunch period must be equal to the regular school lunch period and not less than 30 minutes. This is exactly what I said, except that he fails to mention that the regular school lunch period in this case refers to the teachers' lunch period, not students'. I might also add here that if the students live so far away that they require one hour and fifteen minutes for travel and lunch, they should be able to eat lunch in school.

He then states that the use of volunteers in the lunch program did not succeed. Informed members of the community know that volunteers are helping right now although some of them have been asked by board of education personnel to leave.

He then skirts around my statement of the State Law requiring mandatory lunch programs by stating that this applies to destitute families. Mr. Gurolnick seems to spend most of his time dancing around issues. I suggest that he spend more time reading, in this case the State Law which says needy, not destitute, and the dictionary which defines needy as "an urgent requirement of something essential or desirable that is lacking." All suburban areas that are sensitive to community needs do not even question the need for supervised lunch periods.

I am happy to hear that the teachers will be on recess duty. A board member has admitted that there were rumors, very likely circulated by some personnel. That is all I referred to them as, and tried to dispel them with facts, something the board of education should have done, not a parent.

He goes on to slant my remarks about teachers. I am sure we have many dedicated teachers, all districts do. My own daughter's teacher is excellent. He knows very well that it is board policy to which I was referring.

He then goes on to say they have in excess of 800 applicants for teaching positions. This does not mean too much. New York and Chicago which ordinarily have problems of teacher recruitment, are expecting far more applicants than they will need by September, 1970. Often a district with very liberal personnel policies, possibly detrimental to the children's welfare, attracts hoards of undedicated applicants. With some of your policies, you should have 8,000 applicants, not 800, and then be in a position to select only the very best teachers.

Mr. Gurolnick now wishes to learn something about experimental team teaching. Team teaching alone as practiced in District #63 is experimental and wasteful. Leading authorities in educational supervision and administration have invariably stated that a self-contained classroom with flexible grouping can provide all elements necessary for a totally child-centered program. When some free time is also provided to teachers through duty free lunch periods, gym and library programs, etc., the self-contained classroom has also been identified as the most satisfactory and satisfying to both teachers and pupils. In school buildings which were built for self-contained classrooms, costly rehabilitation costs could be saved by leaving the walls standing.

That lesson being over, Mr. Gurolnick wishes to learn something about the non-graded primary as he calls the Primary Continuous Development Program in Chicago. As it happens, I pioneered with this program in 1960, and it is hardly an unproved, costly program. It is based on the sound educational concept that we allow the child to develop at his own readiness level. It involves homogeneous and ability grouping, and flexible movement through levels. I might add here that the Chicago Board of Education subsequently adopted this program as common practice throughout the system. No walls need to be knocked down and there is no additional cost to the taxpayer.

Mr. Gurolnick now reaches up to a new low by raising implications about my administrative ability. He now purports to know as much about my position and the school I administer as he does about his own district, which is rather frightening when you consider the shape this district is in. However, to answer his snide remark about reading levels, I am not afraid to publish the reading levels of my school, Mr. Gurolnick. Can you say the same for District #63.

My school is an inner city school, the most transient in the nation (according to a National TV Network which con-

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dist. 63 Secretary Presents "Positive Side"

Dear Sir:

As a resident of this community who has been employed as a secretary in School District #63 for several years, let me tell you about a few very positive items that evidently are not known by the lady who so scathingly wrote in your newspaper about the "Unique" District #63.

Especially, as an educator, she must certainly be aware of the many hours of planning that go into a school day, the papers to be graded, the endless records to be kept up to date on each child, and the armful of work which I personally have seen teachers take from school to work on at home.

I can only speak as an observer. However, it is a fact that our teachers do report to school a good deal prior to the time the children arrive, do have recess duty (often twice a week for each teacher), and do have door duty. The children are never on the playgrounds without adult supervision. The teachers are not paid for all these extra duties.

They have no free lunch period on Tuesdays and, in fact, usually are in the building until 4:00 p.m. or longer for an in-service program, for which they do not receive extra pay!

Do the parents fully appreciate or care about the time and worry the teacher experiences because of particular children with problems? I personally have seen many instances when the teacher is really concerned and has even taken these problems home with her. Her so-called "free" periods and "coffee breaks" are far from free! The majority of our teachers spend this time preparing lessons, grading papers and other "unique" things like worrying about your children and mine. Of course, all the children do not have these problems, but it surely is a great feeling to know that the teacher does take a truly sincere interest in your child's education and welfare.

Our teachers are required to return to school a day before the children do in the fall at no extra pay. They are required to attend two institutes per year at no extra pay.

I must add here that I was undecided as to whether or not to answer this very personal attack on me by Mr. Gurolnick. My feelings as a woman told me that I should only be sorry for a person who demeans himself and the position he holds by such tactics. However, as a mother, as well as an educator, I decided it was necessary for the welfare of every child in this district to expose the half truths and innuendo that are his explanation of the facts I presented in my letter of February 26, 1970; and further, if this is the way the Caucus candidates for the office of member of the Board of District #63 answer a concerned parent, it should be pretty obvious to everyone why we need three new independent candidates for this office.

You are probably saying now, "Sure she works at the school! she must be biased." Well your're darn tootin' I am. I'm certainly in a better position to view what goes on in the school by the very virtue of my being in the school.

I'm sick of all the untruths, innuendos, name-calling, and downright sarcasm.

Your vote in the tax referendum is your duty as a citizen. Vote as your conscience guides, but please, please, don't close your ears and your minds to the actual facts. Listen, with a broad mind, to the positive side too.

ducted a nationwide poll and subsequently featured us on a coast-to-coast TV special). As a result, we were cited for solving problems of special magnitude in an exceptional manner. Approximately 35% of our student body is comprised of Spanish speaking students, many of whom recently arrived not knowing one word of English and not one of whom leaves without a basic speaking knowledge of it. About 75% of the students enrolled in my school come with I.Q.'s in the below-normal range, and 5% of my total enrollment are Educable Mentally Handicapped students, school consultants, and P.T.A. regional directors have cited the particular intermediate program of my school as being one of the best. Mr. Gurolnick might also be interested in knowing that it is a training ground for large groups of prospective teachers and for pre-practice and practice teachers from various universities. It was also one of three inner city schools chosen to test a nationally known teaching machine last year. This at a cost only to the manufacturer. This school has been featured in the press and has been cited by the community and P.T.A. organizations for its excellent and pertinent programs of education developed through the mutual efforts of staff and administration at no additional cost to the taxpayer.

Inner city communities are generally known for their state of unrest, and yet, when mine learned I would be taking a maternity leave very shortly, my P.T.A. and every community organization wrote a letter to my superintendent and requested that the vacancy be held open until I return. I take that as a supreme compliment for my efforts. Mr. Gurolnick, how does your district feel about your efforts?

I am sorry if I sound prideful, but I am proud of the accomplishments of my school and its staff and its record of helping, rather than hindering, sometimes against great odds.

Mr. Gurolnick, I do not have to attend panel discussions on "The Management of Controversy in the School Community" as you and another board member did. You do not have to know how to manage controversy in the community if you don't provoke it. All you have to do is teach the child to the best of HIS ability and manage your school in an efficient manner with the interests of the child at heart. Or is that asking too much?

The balance of Mr. Gurolnick's so-called "response to the unique letter of Mrs. Johns" is about as factual as that which I have just answered, and I will not burden the reader further with it except to say that as a parent and taxpayer I have a right to expect sound educational practice and efficient management from this school district, and I should not have to interview the whole board of education and all of its administrators every time something is wrong. No one has that much time.

Finally, in closing, Mr. Gurolnick claims I have attempted to indict the school board. Mr. Gurolnick, I would never do that, at least without a good long look at your books. I quite clearly stated that this board has wasted money, has experimented with unproved programs at extreme cost to the taxpayer, and has been totally unresponsive to the community.

I must add here that I was undecided as to whether or not to answer this very personal attack on me by Mr. Gurolnick. My feelings as a woman told me that I should only be sorry for a person who demeans himself and the position he holds by such tactics. However, as a mother, as well as an educator, I decided it was necessary for the welfare of every child in this district to expose the half truths and innuendo that are his explanation of the facts I presented in my letter of February 26, 1970; and further, if this is the way the Caucus candidates for the office of member of the Board of District #63 answer a concerned parent, it should be pretty obvious to everyone why we need three new independent candidates for this office.

Very truly yours,

MNLL Seeks Help From Senior Citizens

Maine - Northfield Little League, this year, is inviting the area's retired or semi-retired senior citizens to enjoy the sun, fun and fresh air at the ball games and, at the same time, earn $1.50 to act as official scorer for each game.

The games are played at 6 p.m. on weekdays at the league's fields on Glenview rd. near Milwaukee ave., and at Rugen Park in Glenview. Saturday and Sunday there are games going on all day in from two to four fields. Saturday's schedule starts at 10 a.m. and Sunday's at 12:15.

The idea to call upon the senior citizens to fill the positions came from MNLL president Ed Karlins who said, "We felt this type of involvement would be especially interesting to these people because it requires no real physical exertion, it's a responsible position, it's healthful and it does involve being part of a game that seems to appeal to all ages in this country. The $1.50 per game, of course, is a token payment."

Interested persons who would like to apply for the scorer positions, or who want more information, are invited to call Bob Hoffmann at 724-1750.

In other MNLL news, the anticipated league expansion will not be necessary so that the new season, which gets under way Saturday, May 2, will see more and better uniformed teams and many new pieces of equipment. Tentative plans are being formed to get the fields into condition as soon as weather permits and the 1970 schedules are nearing readiness.

Karlins said he believed those senior citizens who were familiar with baseball and scoring would be better qualified, although anyone interested is invited to make inquiries as there will be instructional ses-

ted. He told his players to get the ball into their big man, Schmelzer, with 6 seconds still showing on the clock. But the best laid plans of basketball and basketball players some time go awry, and the one player on the Park Ridge team who shoots poorly, let fly with a 20 foot shot from behind the circle, while the timer buzzed the end of the game. The shot was true, and Notre Dame's great team lost its most important game, just four shy of the state championship game.

While the sudden turn of events shocked most of the Notre Dame partisans, assistant coach Meyer sat huddled on the bench, staring vacantly at the floor down by his feet. Ten minutes later he was still sitting there, still looking down, momentarily shattered by the turn of events.

While the Maine partisans whooped and hollered a few Notre Dame guys began singing bravely the Notre Dame victory song. More and more guys joined in, many bravely singing with tears in their eyes. When the singing and the cheering died down Notre Dammers' began menacingly cheering "We want you, you, you", pointing to the Maine side of the floor. But when the fans emptied into the halls guys with ND and M letters passed each other walking in opposite directions, and graciously grasped each others hands, telling their counterparts what a great game their team had played.

Out in the parking lot it was mostly peaceful. One swarm of kids rushed over to one area, and immediately dozens of kids ran in the general direction of the flurry. But a priest quickly jumped atop a car there and the high-tension moment quickly subsided and the crowd disbanded.

Back at Booby's in Niles a group of Maine South kids were sitting in the rear of the restaurant while Notre Dame guys poured into the shop. But while a few guys eyed the Maine South students with an evil eye, all was placated and the kids good naturedly ended an emotion-packed evening in high spirits, but with good camaraderie.

Niles Merchants...

I have taken my bike to several shops in Park Ridge for repairs over the years. Too often I had to wait for too long for the work to be done, and sometimes it was never done at all.

When a tire went flat recently, I took it to the Spoke & Pedal Cycle Shop on Oakton in Niles. The owner said it would be ready two days later. When I went to pick it up, I found not only had he fixed the tire, but he had screwed the chain guard back on, fixed the front light, and replaced three spokes. And he only charged me for fixing the tire.

I will continue to go to this shop from now on. My parents were right. I thought you might like to know this.

Sincerely,
Glenn B. Smith

Gurolnick, McNair Speak on School Finances

The press conference had been called to announce cancellation of a tax referendum, due to an unexpected increase in assessed valuation, but the comments of William Gurolnick and Mrs. Sylvia McNair, board members of East Maine School District 63, bespoke continuing concern for the problems of financing faced by schools in this state.

Mrs. McNair pointed out the many ways in which the board of education of Dist. 63 has sought "all possible avenues of revenue" to give the children of the district a superior educational program at a reasonable cost to the taxpayers.

find themselves in today - - begging for additional funds to meet increasing operational costs. Costs due increasingly to inflationary pressures, competition for qualified personnel, increases in utility and building costs and a rapid growth in student enrollment."

"No other governmental operation or business enterprise must follow this procedure," he said. "Most other taxes are extracted from the taxpayer without consent of referendum and all businesses raise prices to maintain profits or even to stay in operation."

He pointed out that District 63 had experienced a jump in enrollment of over 800 per cent since 1954 - from 883 students in 1954 to 7,345 in 1968. In that time, the district has built 9 new schools and 17 additions purchased 14 relocatable classrooms and is currently constructing a new junior high school.

"During this period, the quality of the educational program has grown to state, national and international recognition."

he said. But yet the per pupil cost of the program is less than 80% of the surrounding school districts, and the teacher's average salary is only $100 above the lowest average in the state for districts of comparable size.

"School programs are planned," he said, "with such unknowns as, will the voters approve a tax increase? What will next year's enrollment be? Will there be an increase in state aid? Will our assessed valuation increase?"

"It is important that we continue to focus our attention on Springfield," Mr. Gurolnick concluded. "This is the only place where relief for the property owner can come from."

Starring Golf Mill 1 and 2

Heralding the 70's, is Chicagoland's newest modern showcase, GOLF MILL 1 and 2 Twin Stadium Theatres. A new concept in twin theatre development is the new stadium type Golf Mill 2 which premiered on Christmas day, at the beautiful Golf Mill Shopping Center, Milwaukee Avenue and Golf Road, Niles. Built next to the original Golf Mill 1, the combination of these two theatres utilizing certain common facilities marks the first time a twin stadium theatre complex has been accomplished. Closing out a decade, Golf Mill 2 was the last new theatre completed in the Chicago area in 1969. The original Golf Mill 1 opened 9 years ago, December 28, 1961.

The new Golf Mill 2, owner Mort Fink's brainchild, was planned and engineered by the Minneapolis architectural firm of Liebenberg, Kaplan, Glotter and Associates. The building design with its unique curved front wall of impressive glass blends perfectly with the original Golf Mill 1. The new showcase - one, modern, dynamic building, housing two twin stadium theatres.

Golf Mill's common lobby invites you in to the theatre of your choice; one seating (#1) 1500 people and the other (#2) 1000 people. An island-type concession area, divides the two theatres. The two-in-one theatres offers moviegoers a selection without driving all over town.

Always providing a choice of two motion pictures at one location.

The new Golf Mill 2 lobby features a unique wall treatment of gold wallpaper on the east side and a wall of glass accented by gold and white draperies on the west. The red and black carpet tiles contribute substantially to the beautiful richness of the overall decor. The two-story acoustical lobby ceiling descends gracefully to the auditorium.

Inside, the 48x22 foot wide dimension screen is enhanced by curved waterfall-type, gold draperies, providing wall to wall, floor to ceiling depth in the spacious auditorium. A multi-channel Century-Altec Stereophonic sound system adds to the realism and enjoyment of the film presentation.

Interest and relaxation centers in the sunken Color TV Lounge and Art Gallery where complimentary coffee is served while waiting for a change of program. The modern, colorful and tastefully decorated rest rooms, are situated here also.

It was love at first sight for Golf Mill patrons. Acceptance and attendance at the new twin stadium showplace has been fantastic. "Something we should have done nine years ago," says owner Mort Fink.

Junior High Students Tour Pollution Mobile Lab

The mounting concern of young people about air pollution is being recognized and supported by the Cook County Department of Building, Zoning and Air Pollution's new mobile laboratory educational program, announced Cook County Board President George W. Dunne.

The unit visits schools and community groups throughout the County for the exhibition of air pollution monitoring devices and for brief lectures about this environmental problem. Approximately 135 eighth graders at East Maine Junior High, 9855 Greenwood ave., Niles, participated in the program March 18 at 10 a.m.

The mobile unit education program began quietly early this year in response to the many requests for information received by the department. Because of its demand, the mobile unit program is now developing into a full-time project.

The mobile unit features different air pollution monitoring equipment which can determine the amount of sulfur dioxide and carbon monoxide in the air, as well as the wind direction and velocity. This information is then correlated and the amount of air pollution present is then determined.

The tour through the mobile unit was followed by a 30-minute film and brief talk on air pollution given by one of the department's chemists. Literature on the subject was also made available.

Drama Classes At Mill Run

The Mill Run playhouse Children's Theatre has supplemented its regular schedule of performances with a weekly program of children's dramatics classes, which are held every Saturday at the playhouse, located at 600 Golf rd., in Niles.

The classes, under the direction of Michelle Vacca, offering children a means to explore theatre in relationship to themselves and to become stimulated toward a more creative imagination, includes a varied program in theatre skills. "One of our primary aims," says Miss Vacca, "is to create an understanding of self control, for there can be no creativity without discipline."

Pantomime, improvisation, stage movement and story telling are investigated by the class. The students learn to work together and share the spotlight. The final project, at the end of the three month course, is the presentation of an improvisational play. No scripts are used and the performance is spontaneous.

The 10 week course is offered at a cost of $50. The next course will begin on April 18. Miss Vacca is teaching classes this term as part of her independent graduate study at Northwestern University and is under the supervision and guidance of the Childrens Theatre and Creative Dramatics department.

Currently, Miss Vacca is part of the resident professional acting company at Mill Run playhouse and has appeared in their productions since the theatre re-opened in October. She is now appearing as the Columbine in the current production of "Pinocchio."

More information on the classes may be obtained by calling 298-2170.

A recent blood drive sponsored by the Morton Grove Post #134 of the American Legion at St. Francis hospital in Evanston resulted in a total of 30 pints of blood.

The Post continually "banks" blood to be used by their members and individuals of the community when the need arises. Dinner is served at the Legion home following the donors' visit to the hospital. WILL NILES ANNEX EAST MAINE?

At a Tuesday press conference Mayor Nick Blase mapped out future proposals which may be considered for annexing property in the East Maine unincorporated area, and even possibly across Central Road into Northfield Township.

Standing before a map of the northwest area Blase showed how Niles could feed city water into the unincorporated area which the new Maine North High School might use, as well as the new Apollo Junior High school, built in the East Maine area.

Drama Classes At Mill Run

The Mill Run playhouse Children's Theatre has supplemented its regular schedule of performances with a weekly program of children's dramatics classes, which are held every Saturday at the playhouse, located at 600 Golf rd., in Niles.

The classes, under the direction of Michelle Vacca, offering children a means to explore theatre in relationship to themselves and to become stimulated toward a more creative imagination, includes a varied program in theatre skills. "One of our primary aims," says Miss Vacca, "is to create an understanding of self control, for there can be no creativity without discipline."

Pantomime, improvisation, stage movement and story telling are investigated by the class. The students learn to work together and share the spotlight. The final project, at the end of the three month course, is the presentation of an improvisational play. No scripts are used and the performance is spontaneous.

The 10 week course is offered at a cost of $50. The next course will begin on April 18. Miss Vacca is teaching classes this term as part of her independent graduate study at Northwestern university and is under the supervision and guidance of the Children's Theatre and Creative Dramatics department.

Currently, Miss Vacca is part of the resident professional acting company at Mill Run playhouse and has appeared in their productions since the theatre re-opened in October. She is now appearing as the Columbine in the current production of "Pinocchio."

More information on the classes may be obtained by calling 298-2170.

Troop 175 Plans River Beautification Program

Last Thursday, March 6, Ralph Kozeny, Troop Leader of Niles Troop 175, B.S.A., attended a planning meeting to formulate the course of action to clean and beautify the North Branch of the Chicago River which goes thru Niles.

The meeting was organized by George Sawicki of Niles and sponsored by the Glenview Chapter of the Izaak Walton League. Guest speakers were: Ralph Freese, "Mr. Canoeist," authority on rivers and streams in the State of Illinois, also a member of the Des Plaines Chapter of the Izaak Walton League. Mr. Freese showed films of the local rivers showing pollution and debris in the water. Also Donald Matschke, Dr. of Biochemistry and Chairman of the Cook County Clean Streams Committee, Mr. Matschke is familiar with the legal aspects of cleaning the river and the water quality.

Mr. Sawicki briefed the meeting of about 50 interested people as to the projected plans; these include the cleaning of the stream by the Scouts and high school students as well as the beautification by plantings, which will be assisted by the Garden clubs and Scouts. More advanced plans were also discussed.

All communities bordering the river will be able to assume this as their contribution to water pollution abatement as well as the improvement of the water ecology for much needed recreation. One of the bordering villages has already pledged its help by the use of its trucks for hauling.

Another meeting will be held in Niles to schedule the proposed plans on March 19. All interested parties please contact Mr. Sawicki at 965-7452 for further information.
