Flynn: Oakton's $80,000 Real Estate Tax Bill Unfair

Thomas Flynn, recently elected OCC Board of Trustees member, has brought to the attention of local residents and State Legislators a serious problem that is costing the District taxpayers over $80,000 per year.

The Oakton Community college is presently located in temporary leased facilities. The land and buildings are leased from private business interests that are subject to local property taxes. The legal rationale is that the land and buildings are actually owned by business interests with a profit motive. It is immaterial to the Law that the use of the facilities is for higher education. The Law being narrowly construed is that ownership determines the issue of taxation and not the use.

Thus, because of the college's lease arrangement, Oakton Community college must pay over $80,000 each year in real estate taxes. The discrimination is obvious when one considers that no other elementary, secondary or other Community College District in Cook County pays local property taxes. Mr. Flynn points out that the Oakton Community college tax problem has far reaching implications to the taxpayers of Illinois. The Illinois Junior College Board will be shortly conducting a number of referendums throughout the state that may create a large number of new Community College Districts. These new Districts will also be forced to pay local property taxes

if they lease facilities until such time as they build their own campus. Flynn said it was unfair for Niles and Maine Townships' residents to pay local property taxes for their college when other Districts did not have the same obligation. According to Trustee Flynn, there is a simple solution to the problem. Continued on Page 26

On my first day back at work I had lunch at the Niles Chamber of Commerce meeting where Niles Fire Department was being honored for its first place award for fire prevention. Niles answer to Dick Daley, Mayor Blaise, announced my presence by stating Niles had contacted the Kremlin in hopes I would remain there. But, Blaise, said, you have to "work" in Russia before they allow you to stay, which was the reason for my departure. It's nice to be back home again.

Niles West's state championship baseball team was derailed Friday in one of the most unbelievable baseball games of the year. They were 4 runs ahead and one strike away from going to this weekend's final when the bottom fell out. In the last inning with 2 outs and 2 strikes on a Willowbrook batter, he scratched a single off the pitching mound pushing in the second run. A walk loaded the bases and then with 2 strikes on the next batter he powered a home run on the next pitch ending Niles West's hopes for a second straight championship.

The previous week we watched Niles West eke out a 2 to 1 win over Niles East at West's field. After the game Coach Jim Phipps reviewed the game with his players and the rapport he had with this team was impressive. Phipps is a real class guy and his handling of the boys made you realize this is the ideal man to work with boys. I'm sure his many "boys" who've come in contact with the coach are the better for it and will all always carry a little bit of Jim Phipps with them as they travel thru the years.

The announcement of Niles recently elected trustee Jerry Skaja's resignation from the village board caught everyone in town off balance. Even Jerry's mother said she knew nothing about it until he told her he was going back to Marmon in Aurora to become a teacher.

We received a phone call from one Nilesite who criticized Jerry's action since Skaja had applied for the appointment long before the election.

As the critic points out, once more this gives Nick Blaise another appointment to the village board. It was the critic's contention the electorate has the right to choose its trustees, and Skaja should never have run for office if he had any doubts about serving his full term.

$1,258,113. That's the magic figure, the Niles Park District Budget for the fiscal year 1973-74, which the Niles Park Board approved Tuesday night.

Last year's figure was $1,263,000. While the figures are about the same, last year $85,000 was set aside for land acquisition (Jonquil Terrace) while only $44,000 is in this year's budget for land. Last year $250,000 was for revenue bonds while this year it is $200,000. Helmut Dressler, Park Director told The Bugle the increased revenue will be used for capital improvements and maintenance, which has been the primary need for the past three years.

Over one-half of the budget is financed by tax revenues of $626,809. Facilities revenues provided $332,000, sale of revenue bonds, $200,000.

Unwilling of the budget had been delayed in order to further discuss salary increases for park employees. The Board finally decided to approve a cost of living adjustment in the amount of 5% for all full time and part time personnel exceeding 600 hours annually.

St. John's Greek church picnic

It is billed as the twelfth annual picnic, but St. John's Greek Orthodox church is really conducting a 3-day festival on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, June 22, 23 and 24.

The festivities will be held on the church grounds on Dempster st. just East of the Tri-State Tollway.

There will be refreshments of all kinds, the most outstanding being traditional Greek food. There will be delicious Shish-kebab, charcoal broiled by the church members. And of course there will be Loukoumades, those luscious pastry puffs dipped in honey and sprinkled with cinnamon.

On the entertainment side there will be bouzouki music and dancing as well as games and rides for adults and children. There will be many prizes including a Cadillac Calais Coupe, a Pontiac Ventura Coupe, a 23" Motorola Color TV, a Motorola Hi-Fi Stereo and one Motorola 12" portable TV.

Hours of the picnic will be 5 to 11 p.m. on Friday, 3 p.m. to 12 p.m. Saturday, June 22 and June 23, and 12 noon to 11 p.m. on Sunday, June 24.

Everything will be under one big tent, so the weather cannot interfere with the festivities. Bring the family.

For further information, phone the church office 827-5519.

Teacher feature

By Michele Harris
This is the first year Mrs. Gretchen Denny has been teaching, but already the Michigan State graduate has made her Psychology for Living classes at Maine East more than just Freud and hang-ups.

There is a mutual respect between her and the students. It's easy to tell how she does it from her genuine enjoyment of teaching and interacting with students.

Mrs. Denny believes in having students participating in the various class activities rather than she getting up behind the podium and "telling."

There have been many participant activities this year. It started off with a guest hypnotist explaining hypnotism and breaking down some old myths about it.

A field trip to Lambs Farm, run entirely by the mentally handicapped, was a learning experience on understanding and accepting the retarded and realizing their achievements. It proved better than any textbook that they could also be contributing members of society.

Both Mrs. Denny and her students agree that the most unusual and exciting learning experience was when the Doolittle's came. The Doolittle's are transactional analysts who came up with several very positive games to play. One game used a method called stroking. Those students who wanted to get in a circle and sat comfortably. Then one person moved to the middle of the circle and asked each for a "stroke." A stroke consists of a touch, a reassuring statement, or a compliment. Imagine yourself being given a sincere, meaningful compliment from each of your classmates! If you can, then you can also imagine the positive, emotional high given by this game.

As in all of us, there is a bit of the creative genius in Mrs. Denny. She designs prize-winning bulletin boards and dots the room with a feel wheel (a device used to describe your feelings about another person), a poster, and a genuine Matisse print.

Most would think that a person this busy wouldn't have time for anything else. However, Mrs. Denny has future plans that include writing a very basic psychology book for slow readers and, of course, her very special dream of owning a gourmet French restaurant.

A bowlers dream

The minute I woke up this morning I knew it was going to be a great day. My friend, Tom Timko and I arrived at Classic Bowl at 9 a.m. We went in and were the first ones there. We took lane #11. We each took one practice frame and then started.
 The first game was o.k.; the second game was better, the third better and so on. This went on and on. In the ninth game I broke 200 by scoring a 203; in the tenth game a 207 and in the eleventh a 222 and twelfth game a 227. Before I started the next game I wondered if I could bowl a 300 the way I was going. I put my mind to it, and this is what happened. In game 13 I rolled 12 strikes in a row. I (Tony Tamburo) had done it. I bowled a perfect 300 game.
 Today turned out to be a great and memorable day in my life, my bowling dream came true. Also on that special day, my friend Tom Timko rolled 266, 256 and 248 for a total series of 770.
 Tony Tamburo, 1., is an 8th grade student at Gemini school - (team) Alpha.

A one-sided Dist. 207 board meeting

Dear Mr. Besser:
 Recently I had occasion to attend a District #207 School Board meeting at the Maine East High school. Not being a regular at these functions, I was quite surprised and appalled as to what transpired during the evening.
 The meeting room was rather crowded with predominantly concerned Maine North parents, and an equally large number of teachers from the district. A Mr. Nidetz, representing the parents' view of Maine North students, was the first to address the Board, and did an admirable job. He spoke mainly of the physical shortages of the new school and the broken promises to rectify these shortages. Mr. Nidetz received tremendous support from the audience at-large through his entire speech. The School Board then made their comments regarding the problems at Maine North and the criticism of the Board.

Board to let the teachers have their say. If there are differences, let's resolve them at the conference table. Our most important raw material is at stake - the Youth of America.
 A most concerned parent,
 Kurt J. Wagner
 9268 Twin Oaks In.
 Des Plaines

The meeting slowly continued, and after the Board's report on the negotiations between the teachers and the Board, someone in the audience (who I later learned is the president of the Teachers' Association) asked if he could address the Board. The Board seemed to be completely unanimous in refusing this request in a most abrupt manner. This, to me, was shameful and appalling. As a concerned parent, I am also interested in hearing the problems of the teachers as well as the problems of the students and parents. What better place could there be than an open Board meeting for an airing of some of these problems?

Maine Township schools enjoy a tremendous reputation across the nation for their scholastic ratings and I certainly hope and pray they will continue to enjoy this reputation. However, if we close our ears to those who have made this well-earned reputation possible, we and our children will suffer.
 I am well acquainted with some of the teachers at Maine East and know of their dedication. As a concerned parent, I encourage the

 Again, our thanks, it has been a pleasure to work with you.

THE CORNERS By Ed Hanson

Of all the fascinating characters I've known, Larry Zale was perhaps the most exciting.

Not only exciting but likable and colorful. For Larry Zale (which wasn't his name) was a rogue-but an honest one, both financially and intellectually.

He was the best salesman I'd ever known. And I've known some great ones including Michael Goldbogen, later known as Mike Todd.

Larry, like the fictional Scaramouche, was born with a gift of laughter and a sense that the world was mad. And like Scaramouche, that was all his patrimony. His paternity was obscured in the fog of time but he once told me that he thought he was the illegitimate son of an educated river boat gambler.

I first met Larry at college, from which he was expelled a few months later for running an escort service so that his less fortunate, but rich college chums (for a fee) could secure dates with the school's most charming co-eds. These same co-eds all being devoted members of the large stable of fillies of flamboyant Larry Zale.

Several colleges and escort services later (about two years) I again came across Larry at the dice table of the old Harlem Stables, a Capone joint, that flourished briefly in the late 20's. After he finished a "hot" hand that netted him a tidy sum, we had dinner together at the Lone Tree Inn whose chief claim to fame in those old days was that the brother of the notorious Roger Touhy was "rubbed" out there gangster style by Capone gunnels.

With the initial profits of the escort service, Larry had managed to parlay his bankroll into a sizable sum, thru various promotional schemes.

"Listen, Ed," Larry said to me after we got a table at the Lone Tree, "how'd you like to come in with me on a brand new business adventure in which there's lots of moola."

"You mean venture, Ed, life, love, business—the whole ball of wax is an adventure to me."

"I mean Adventure, don't you Larry?"

As Captain of the college fencing team and a superb tennis player, Larry was a 17th century dashing D'Artigan, a swash-busker, a swordsman who was miscast in the 20th century.

"I don't have any money, Larry—what type of business is it?"

"I have enough to get it started and you told me you're presently working for a small advertising agency—do they have recognition?"

"Certainly. We're placing space in the Tribune & American. And some national magazines."

"Perfect, keep your agency job, handle my account and go in one side with me."

"What business is it," I again asked.

"Selling false teeth by mail," Larry leaned back and regarded me with a whimsical gleam in his luminous large coal-black eyes.

"You're mad, absolutely mad, Larry—it can't be done!"

"It is being done, Ed, There's two firms doing it now, Dr. Heiminger and the Alger Dental Lab."

"Mail order choppers—now I've heard everything."

"These two companies—and they are the only two in the U.S. who sell false teeth by mail, gross about a half million each yearly and it's a 90% profit business, Ed."

"What do you know about making false teeth, Larry?"

"Nothing—what's to know. I have the lab technician from Alger ready to go in with me. He knows everything there's to know. Half of knowledge, Ed, is knowing where to find it."

"Is it legit, Larry?"

"As legit as any other business in this country, Ed. This laboratory technician, Jim Kulerski—is his name, like most everyone has larceny in his heart and wants to make lots more money. I sold him that he could and we've set up a corporation, called the United States Dental Laboratory."

"Who buys these false teeth?"

"Farmers, Ed. You know how many farmers there are in this country?"

"No, but by mail how do you fit the teeth?"

"Let me give you the whole picture in a few well chosen words." He signalled the waiter in the Lone Tree and ordered another round of drinks. He continued, "One, the first mouth impression must be made by a licensed dentist. That's the law in the State of Illinois. So I've already hired a licensed dentist, just to make impressions."

"And then what," I asked.

"We run small, one and two inch ads in farm papers, Publications like Rural Progress, biggest in their field, 800,000 circulation—hell, they get $7.50 an inch. Then we run these small ads in scads of other farm papers, and the Kansas Star. The ad reads, 'Need False Teeth? Save money . . . uppers and lowers for as low as $7.50 per plate. Money back guarantee. Write for free catalogue'."

"After you receive the leads, then what, Larry?"

"We send 'em a corball sales letter and this, Ed." Larry handed me an 8 by 11 inch folder which he withdrew from his pocket plus a piece of soft red impression wax and directions.

It was a rather poorly printed folder showing different sets of false teeth, with different names and prices. It contained the Alger company's printed guarantee money refunded in full if not satisfied and a small order blank which was filled out by the customer. I said, "These colored illustrations of the various models of false teeth are lousy, Larry—even the color registration is off."

"Those were printed with rubber plates. My catalogue will be printed in four color process plates with 130 screen halftones on 70 lb. enamel stock. Ed. Only the cheap plate for $7.50 will look bad—because notice Ed, that we jump the price to $12.75 for the next set and on and on up to the Ambassador set that sells for $39.50 per plate."

"And the farmers send in their money with their orders plus the first impression of their mouth, Larry. If they're dissatisfied will you refund their money?"

"Absolutely, Ed. But its rare that we'll ever get a beef, according to my lab man whose been with Alger for four years."

"You're sure of that, Larry?"

"Dead sure, Ed. Because here's the gimmick that clinches the sale. When the false teeth are ready after the final plaster of Paris impression—and our total material cost and labor is only a couple of bucks; we then send a chart back with these teeth that shows a drawing of both sets of false teeth. There are X's marked at various points and we say, 'If it hurts here or here or there take these teeth to your local dentist and he will grind them and refit them for you.' In other words, Ed, in many cases, the farmers had these false teeth refitted by some local dentists for a buck or two."

"Amazing, what people will do to make a buck."

"I'll have my sales circulars in a few days. I'll call you and we'll write up some ads that you can place thru your agency."

Larry noticed my expression and added, "Don't worry, Ed about credit—I'll pay cash for the advertising at least 'til we get under way."

A year later from an original advertising budget of $250 the first month, we were placing more than $6,000 per month in space and were looking into radio spots.

I received 5% of that amount from the agency or $300 a month plus my salary. And that was big money in those practically tax free, depression days of the late 20's and early 30's.

10 months later, the federal government put the United States Dental Lab out of business, due to the pressure from the American Dental Association. We were then the only teeth-by-mail company in the U.S., having long since put our competition out of business. The funny thing was, as a prelude to the government's action they made a spot check of our customer files and sent out thousands of letters asking our customers if they were satisfied with the false teeth they purchased from us.

The government received, in addition to many irate letters from farmers telling the government to mind their own damn business, a 98.6 percentage of customer satisfaction from those who replied.

Larry Zale cleaned up a quarter of a million on the false-teeth-by-mail gimmick. He lost it in the stock market a year later. It was said that he twice sold the Brooklyn Bridge to raise a stake and refunded the money later. What's so great about a con-artist selling the Brooklyn Bridge—it's been sold lots of times. Yeah, I know. But Larry (the legend) Zale sold it twice—to-the-same-guy. He promoted and made a fast big buck on the Hula hoop and the Yo-Yo. He lost that on oil stocks. He made another fortune buying up old movies and re-selling them to TV. He lost that fortune by buying an island in the south seas, establishing his own government and country, and attempting to receive foreign aid from the U.S. Back home in the electronic field he manipulated and got control of an electronic tube plant. He bought surplus JAN-approved electronic (thyatron) tubes from the U.S. Navy and promptly sold them back to the U.S. Army for 5 times the price. He promptly lost this pile in the commodity market. He once hocked his watch and diamond ring in Las Vegas, went into the Sands and won $40,000 at the crap table. That same night he lost $55,000 in a high stakes poker game in the Thunderbird and had to give his "marker" for the 15 g's. The guy he gave his "marker" to was rich, so Larry promptly promoted the rich guy into a mini-movie theatre idea for shopping centers. This idea bombed and both Larry and the rich guy wound up paupers. It didn't bother Larry because he'd been around the block many times but the rich guy couldn't take it and finished out his days in a rubber room.

Larry, last I heard is doing well again. Seems he got into the biggest business in the world—religion. He established his own and now has a string of religious establishments throughout the country. He wants recognition for his, which he claims is, "the 8th basic religion in the world."

We've always kept in touch and I phoned him the other day. When he answered his phone he said, "Reverend Larry Zale speaking . . . how can I help you?"

Note: References in the above factual story about the Lone Tree Inn happened many years ago, in the late 20's and early 30's. They have nothing to do with the Lone Tree of today. Its owners for the past 5 years, Lorraine and Joe Stroka are very fine people. Their food and beverage is of the highest quality and they run the kind of place that is a credit to their community.

But I did go to the Lone Tree, occasionally in the late 20's and early 30's and some of the characters and things which happened then are part of American history. For it is true that in 1927 John Touhy was shot to death. For it is true in the Lone Tree Inn, and front page stories in the Trib and other newspapers attest to this event which is now a part of Americana. (E.H.)

Lieutenant William Beckwith of the Morton Grove Fire Department demonstrates the operation of the Department's new HLR 50-90 Mechanical Resuscitator. In the event of a heart attack the unit can quickly be placed under the victim and its operation started to mechanically keep the victim's heart pumping life-giving blood to all parts of the body, especially the brain while the mask interposes 100% oxygen into the victim's lungs with each fifth heart beat. The unit replaces the old method of Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation relieving the Department's Paramedics to administer medications and, if necessary, electro-shock therapy to correct the problem or at least stabilize the patient for transportation to the Coronary Care Section of Skokie Valley Community or Lutheran General Hospitals. The unit valued at approximately $1,400 was recently donated to the Fire Department by Baxter Laboratories.

Calling all Viet Nam veterans

Thomas Flynn, Niles 4th of July parade Chairman, asked all

Viet Nam veterans from Niles to please register their name with Village Clerk Frank Wagner. The Niles Public Works Department is planning to erect reviewing stands at the St. John Brebeuf parking lot for the veterans to watch their parade pass in review. The Niles parade is in honor of all local Viet Nam veterans. The veterans may register by calling Mr. Wagner at 647-8433 or by writing or stopping in and seeing him at the Niles Police Building which is located at Touhy ave. and Waukegan ave.

The veterans will not be alone on the reviewing stands as President Nixon has assigned Colonel Gust Masticola as his representative. Mayors Nicholas Blase and Jules Bode from Morton Grove will also review the parade along with former State Senator John Carroll.

Parade floats have been entered by the Italian-American club, Jefferson Theatrical Group, Niles Youth Commission, St. John Brebeuf Knights of Columbus, Niles Rotary, Niles Lions, Democratic Organizations of Niles and Maine Townships and several other organizations.

The Maine Township East High school Band will lead the parade followed by units from the Great Lakes Naval Training Center, the US Air Force 928 Tactical Air Command, Morton Grove Police and Fire Departments, Niles Boy and Girl Scouts, Niles Trustees, Niles Brownies and Cub Scouts, Secretary of State's Police, Cook County Sheriff's Office, Bargain Town's Giant Garaffe and Booby's Portable Kitchen. The Niles Township High School Concert Band will play "Americana" next to the reviewing stands during the entire parade in honor of the veterans.

Mr. Flynn is also planning a memorial ceremony in the St. John Brebeuf parking lot at 10:45 a.m. in honor of the 51,000 dead Americans who did not return from Viet Nam. Taps will be played and a military unit will fire a rifle salute in their honor. Local residents from villages and cities adjacent to Niles are encouraged to attend the parade and then the memorial ceremony at St. John Brebeuf.

Special parade monitors will distribute several thousand small American flags to children along the parade route. The streets along the line of parade march will be decorated in red, white and blue banners. The parade is expected to last about one hour and the memorial ceremony 30 minutes. Mr. Flynn reminded the citizens of Niles that this is their day to show their pride and gratitude to the Viet Nam veterans who did not come home to bands, parades and speeches but rather to indifference and solitude.

The Niles Parade Committee reminded local organizations that it is not too late to participate in the 4th of July parade. Any interested organizations need only call Village Clerk Frank Wagner at 647-8433 and register their name. Full particulars will be mailed out in 2 weeks.

problem. The solution is for the Illinois Legislature to amend the Illinois Tax Code to exclude from local property taxes those lands and facilities owned by private interests that are leased by educational institutions. Mr. Flynn has requested State Representative Robert Juckett and State Senator John Nimrod to introduce amendatory legislation to the Illinois Tax Code that would correct this discrimination against county taxpayers in Oakton Community College District 535. The tax savings over the remaining life of the lease at Oakton will amount to over $500,000. Flynn, Juckett and Nimrod agree that this $500,000 would be better spent on improving the present facilities such as additions to the Library, Science, and Vocational Trainings programs. Flynn also mentioned that the savings may lead to a slight tax reduction for the District.

A report in a Des Plaines newspaper Maine board member Mike Bartos resigned in protest bears a bit more reporting. Mike is moving outside the district to Dundee in the coming months which would have resulted in a later resignation. But Bartos was reported resigning in protest because a second board member, Gregory, resigned right after the election, not unlike Niles trustee Jerry Skaja. Gregory said he resigned when he received a new job in another area, but it was Bartos' contention he resigned AFTER the election so the Board could appoint Makela. In the event he did not win his re-election bid in April, Roy did win so such a theory could not be substantiated. But Bartos felt the electorate should have the right to fill the seat, and thus Gregory should have resigned months ago, when he applied for the new job. Bartos was reminded he also resigned after the election, even though he knew in January he was in the process of selling his home. Bartos answered he expected to find another home in the district which was his rationale for his actions.

Morton Grove officials waited until after the election to give themselves a boost in pay from $25 a meeting to $2,500 a year. Village President Bode will receive $3,000.

I wonder if the day will ever come when public officials at all levels of government will ever play it straight with the electorate. Can you imagine officials giving themselves a raise before an election, stating they're entitled to it, and noting there's no reason to try to camouflage this effort until after the votes are in?

It's always been our opinion public officials at all levels of local government make a great effort and should be entitled to fair compensation. We've always believed park and school board members also should be paid for the many hours they labor on behalf of all of us.

Residents reported about 300 persons attended a recent Maine board meeting to protest the incomplete facilities at Maine North. It's obvious these residents feel they're being short-changed. It's their opinion they're paying the same tax rate as the rest of Maine Township residents and are entitled to equal facilities for their ward/kingd.

District 63 residents on the Board, Roy Makela and Leonard Grazian, carried the ball at the meeting, announcing plans were being made for the coming year.

Makela told The Bugle he expects a referendum will be held this fall to seek the added improvements for the new school. He said the district was committed to the new facility and was hopeful voters would support this effort. He said a referendum was not held previously because the recent history of referendums has proven negative.

Roy said the population increase in the district has been less than the anticipated figures projected in 1967. Presently, the new school has a population of about 1,400-1,500. Next year capacity will be about 1,700. Presently, Maine West has 3,300 students while South and East have around 3,500. It was anticipated the 4 schools would eventually have 3,500 each but now it is expected the maximum by 1975-76 will be 12,500 to 13,000. Looking at the elementary school figures of today it can be assumed the anticipated 14,400 four school figure will now be around 12,000 in the 1980's. With this in mind Makela said he's discussed eventually leveling all schools at 3,000.

Presently, Maine North does not have a swimming pool nor an auditorium and is in need of music rooms which are insulated from the rest of the school.

In answer to our question Roy said the fourth school was certainly needed and feels the 3,000 population schools will eventually exist at all 4 schools.

mitted by Park Director Helmut Dressler, will still have to undergo some minor adjustments under capital improvements for golf course and the ice rink.

In other budget-related matters, the Board approved continuing its bus service through the summer based on an allocation of $4,000. The uncertainty of the take-over of the service by the village necessitated this action.

The Board also approved extending the sun deck at the Ballard Pool by adding a concrete surface in the concession area east of the pool. Vending machines will be placed there in the hopes of easing the congestion in this area and containing people near the pool instead of going inside.

The Board voted to install all playground equipment presently in the possession of the District in the parks specified in the budget. The Board also instructed Dressler to order all new equipment proposed in the budget. This would include Courtland Park whose Homeowner's Association help guided the Board in this decision.

Commissioner Bill Keener reported the re-surfacing of the tennis courts at Courtland and Nico Parks has been completed. He emphasized the public should obey the rules which state courts should be entered only when wearing tennis shoes. We have spent much money resurfacing and it would be a shame to find people disregarding this rule, Keener said.

With Jack Leske being elected Board President on May 15, the Board has undergone some structural changes. Bill Keener has been elected as vice-president, Helmut Dressler was re-elected as Secretary-Treasurer.

Former president Walt Beusse now heads the facilities committee. Gerry Sullivan will chair the policy committee and the operations committee. Keener's main duties will be with the parks and newly elected commissioner Millie Jones is now the finance committee chairman.

District 63 board meeting

Several actions were taken by the East Maine School District 63 Board of Education at its regularly scheduled meeting held April 17 at Ballard school in Niles.

Assistant Superintendent for Personnel Donald C. Statina reported on the status of Title II ESEA funds. The Board approved the obligation of funds to cover purchases under Title II. The full amount approved was $10,650.86. All of this money will be reimbursed to the District by the federal government. Mr. Statina indicated that St. Isaac Jogues school orders materials through District 63 for their students on a prorated basis, and thus shares in the funds received from the federal government. St. Isaac Jogues receives $1,041.22 of the total Title II funds.

Continued concern was expressed about the safety of children walking and riding bicycles to and from Apollo school and Maine North High school along Central rd. between Milwaukee ave. and Dee rd. Board Secretary James Bowen was authorized to write a letter to the Regional Transportation Engineer, State Department of Transportation, indicating the Board's concern and asking the State what plans it had for meeting this problem. The situation is expected to become even more serious in light of the planned multi-million dollar development at the northwest corner of Central rd. and Milwaukee ave.

Board member Larry Reiss asked that the Board give its approval for a summer basketball and wrestling program to be held at Gemini school. Larry Gold, physical education teacher at Gemini, explained that the program would charge a tuition fee and be self-supporting, with no additional District money required. He estimated that 200 students would sign up for the summer program. Gold had checked with the various park districts and was assured that the planned summer program would not duplicate any of their summer programs. The Board approved the summer program.

Dr. G. Allan Gogo, Superintendent of Schools, reported on a proposed early-admittance program kindergarten for children who are younger than the present age requirements for admittance. He emphasized that the program would be for a very small number of children who would be selected after careful screening. The children selected would enter the regular kindergarten program. The Board authorized the concept of early admittance. The administration and staff will now develop guidelines for the selection and screening process.

Tomlin, President and founder of the Pop Warner Little Scholars Inc., the nation's oldest and largest "Safety-and-Scholarship-first" youth football program, announced that the High Ridge "Chargers" of the Northern Illinois Pop Warner League have won the National Pop Warner Jr. Bantam Championship for the 1972-73 school year. The Chargers were chosen because of their team academic scores by test, their fine season record of 9-0-1, and their superb showing against the Texas State Yellow Jackets in the Dallas Lone Star Bowl this past Thanksgiving. The director of the local Pop Warner Niles twp. Falcons, Nick DiNapoli stated that "On behalf of all the teams in our league we extend congratulations to the Chargers and their fine coach Ralph Northwell. This is also an honor for our entire league and the dedicated men who make it all possible." The Niles twp. team lost only 2 games last year, one to the Chargers and the other to the league co-champion, N. W. Boys club. This was an encouraging season for the Falcons. "Finishing third behind two teams that tied each other, one becoming National Champs, shows how far our teams have come in the 3 brief years we've been together. This is a fine tribute to the dedicated coaches and the boys who have the tremendous desire to play the toughest and most physically demanding sport available to them! With an organization like this, it won't be long till the Falcons can field a National Championship team, maybe this year!" The Falcons will begin their season on Aug. 11, with registration at the Niles Recreation Center.

The Raiders wound up with an 8-6 Skyway Conference record and 18-11 overall. Oakton dropped the championship 4-3 to Lake County in a game that included a disputed call at home as the Raiders attempt to tie the game failed. With the bases loaded and one out in the Raider seventh, Jim Buchholz singled to left as Bill Rank raced home with the hope of tying run. But he was cut down at home in a close play. Jeff Heist tried to advance to third on the play, but was nailed at third to end the game. The Oakton bench emptied to dispute the call at home but it came to no end and Lake County took their own tournament with the 4-3 win. In the first game of the tourney Oakton dropped to Harper 4-3 last Saturday afternoon as Larry Gawaluch took the loss in route. Then Oakton defeated Kennedy-King 6-2 with Rich Miller going all the way Sunday morning. The Raiders took their second in a row by edging Harper 8-7 behind Larry Teschner to enter into the championship game
