Junior high essay winners sit in for Board of Trustees

Niles youth take over village

by Alice M. Bobala

Top winners of the 12th Annual Junior High Essay contest sponsored by the Niles Youth Commission assumed the duties of village officials during a special Board meeting held Tuesday, Nov. 22.

A "Recipe for Youth" essay which combined leadership, friendliness, happiness, peace and other like ingredients won first place and the opportunity of being the Mayor of Niles for Carolyn Duffy of 8108 N. Oketo, a student at St. John Brebeuf. She also received a $50 U.S. Savings Bond and a trophy for her essay-recipe on the Importance of Youth in Our Society.

A $25 bond and trophy were awarded to each of the next 19 contest winners and all 20 youngsters toured Niles as "Officials for the Day" Nov. 17, visiting municipal buildings in the morning. Following a luncheon in their honor at the Bunker Hill Country Club, essay winners were given the opportunity to observe in specific official capacities during the afternoon.

Contestants read their winning essays to proud parents and village officials Tuesday night in comparison with previous years when reports were made of "on-the-job" experiences in official duties for the day.

"Village Clerk" Jim Pullen of 8326 N. Knight observed "you get wiser with age" and "the best thing parents can do is keep youth busy."

Advise closing of District 63 schools

by David Besser Editor & Publisher

Our job the past 20 years has centered around Milwaukee ave. We've probably been up and down that street between Devon ave. and Golf rd. as many times as most bus drivers who daily traverse the avenue.

It's an old ugly street, but we have looked fondly upon it. When we've worn our newshat, most of the action was somewhere around Milwaukee ave. And when we put on our advertising cap, much of the business came from that same street.

But there's one sad trip up and down the street we've taken too many times — stopping off at a funeral home, moving north or south to a church, and often back to Milwaukee ave. to one of its 3 cemeteries. Tuesday was another one of those days, this time attending Henry Ford's funeral. Any fondness we had for the street is erased by being a part of too many corteges on Milwaukee ave.

We first met Henry 17 years ago when Niles Savings moved from the unincorporated area north to around the 8100 block on Milwaukee. While we saw him often, we never knew him well. He was a warm, friendly man but he was also a very private man. Whenever we stopped in his office, he'd always ask us about Niles politics. When we got on our soap box, he'd listen quietly, give a knowing Irish smile, and then give a short grunt of a laugh which told us he was well aware of local shenanigans.

Our impression of Henry was from a distance. But if you ask around enough, you get bits and pieces about a man which adds up to a rather sizeable hunk. The bits and pieces are about a very "nice guy".

Nancy Halloran, Hank's sister, told us he was the youngest of 7 children, who grew up at Maryville during his grammar school days. He went to St. Pat's High School before serving in the Marines overseas during World War II. After the war

Mikva seen flip-flopping to echo "Markus" Johnson

"Markus" Johnson reacted to The Chicago Daily News account of Congressman Mikva's official entry into the race by saying, "Mikva's remark that the voters 'are not looking for easy answers' echoes my own material where I have said 'there are no easy solutions'. And Mikva's remark contradicts what he said earlier this year about the need to find new solutions to old problems."

Mikva's remarks about the need for new solutions were made June 10 to the National Association of Manufacturers at the O'Hare Ramada Inn and were reported in The Lerner-Life papers on June 16.

Johnson continued: "If Mikva is stealing my material, that must mean I'm smarter than he is. Imitation is the sweetest form of flattery. At best, Mikva should be able to logically explain why some national problems have solutions while others do not, as well as why some old solutions have failed while others were successful. And if not, why does such a reputedly gifted man from such an educated congressional district abhor logic? If Mikva is man enough to logically structure his approach to the issues, the voters and the nation can observe a Johnson-Mikva, Republican-Democrat debate of historic proportions."

Maine Democrats elect new officers

The Maine Township Regular Democratic Organization recently held their election of officers and the organization proudly presents the Board of Directors for the coming year, 1978. Pictured standing are: Lawrence Wagner of Park Ridge, Dr. Thomas Kogos of Niles, Kenneth Lindquist of Des Plaines and Arthur Thonander of Des Plaines. Seated are: Patton Feichter of Des Plaines, Veda Kauffman, Committeewoman of Niles, and Nicholas B. Blase, Committeeman of Niles. The officers of Maine Township Regular Democratic Organization have pledged their support for the re-election of Committeeman Nicholas B. Blase, who has done an outstanding job of bringing out the Democratic vote in Maine Township. He has innovated the Senior Citizen Bingo parties that are free and attended by more than 600 to 700 people at a time. We will be having our Children's Christmas Party on Dec. 10 at the Golf Mill Theater. It is free to the children of Maine Township and everyone is invited. Tickets may be had by contacting your precinct captain or coming into Democratic headquarters at 8070 Milwaukee ave., Niles.

Foot screening for Niles Senior Citizens

A second mini foot screening and survey of Niles Senior Citizen residents will occur on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 14, at the Trident Center on West Oakton st. in Niles, per Miss Mary Kay Morrissey, Director of the Center. This survey is being held under the joint sponsorship of the Niles-Morton Grove Rotary Club, the Village of Niles Senior Citizens Center (Trident Center) and the Illinois Podiatry Society. According to Dr. Leonard Pock, a Niles Podiatrist, "Our village is dedicated to the principle of doing all that is possible to upgrade and maintain the health and welfare of our community." Dr. Pock conducts these surveys for the purpose of documenting the foot ills of our citizens. Dr. Pock has conducted several such surveys in the past, including the Head Start Program of the inner city, pre-school foot examinations in Chicago and suburban communities, as well as foot surveys of the primary grades, where many deformities, skin problems, bunions and other bone abnormalities and benign tumors are often first seen and recognized.

Due to time and scheduling reasons, many fine citizens were turned away from the first survey, which was held this summer. They were reassured that another would be scheduled before year end.

Orchard Center receives grants from Cook County

On Monday, Nov. 7 the Cook County Board of Commissioners approved a grant of $48,145 to the Orchard Mental Health Center of Niles Township under Title VI of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act. The grant will enable the Center to add four paraprofessional members to its staff for a period of one year. According to the CETA guidelines, the funds cannot be used to replace clinical personnel lost during the Center's recent retrenchment resulting from reduction in financial support. The people who are hired must be residents of the Village of Skokie and must meet CETA eligibility requirements, including unemployment for 15 of the last 20 weeks. The four available positions call for a minimum of a bachelor's degree in one of the social sciences. Interested persons are encouraged to call Mr. Joseph Manak at 967-7300.

The new project will involve a collaborative effort between Orchard Center and K.I.N. Inc., a community agency which provides emergency foster care and other services for youth.

Orchard Mental Health Center provides a range of Mental health services and receives its principal support from the Niles Township Administration, the Illinois Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities, the National Council of Jewish Women, and the Skokie Valley United Crusade.

During the past weeks, the Maine East varsity volleyball record was two wins and two losses and the over-all record was 6-8.

On Oct. 25 the Demons traveled to Glenbrook North. The squad rallied with a strong offense and soundly defeated the Spartans 20-12 and 20-13.

Then on Nov. 5 at Hoffman Estates, after a very close first game in which the Demons edged out the Hawks 20-18, Maine finished up the match with a 20-10 win.

Losses during the week were to Wheeling and Niles West.

The junior varsity squad, despite their 2-12 record, has shown improvement in their skills throughout the season as well as strong potential for future games. Losses went to Glenbrook North, Wheeling, Niles West, and in a fine match played against Hoffman Estates in which the scores were 15-12 and an exciting 19-17 in over-time.

'Kids In Need' need you! IFWC meeting

Will you consider opening your home to Kids In Need? KIN, INC. of Niles Township is having its first annual drive to recruit families to provide local temporary housing for children of families in crisis.

As the holiday season approaches, KIN, INC. is seeking additional homes to provide short-term (up to maximally 30 days) housing for children of families in crisis. The holidays are a time for families to be together but for some families this is not possible.

KIN serves children between the ages of 1 and 18 in the villages of Skokie, Lincolnwood, Niles, Morton Grove and Golf. Reasons for referral range from a death or illness in the family that requires temporary absence from the home to problems where a short absence from the home to family problems where a short separation can allow a "cooling-off" period for everyone involved. During that time, problems can be identified and the family can begin to work on them so their child can return home.

Their goal is to prevent the disintegration of a family in crisis and to allow children who do need temporary placement to stay in our area. If you are interested in opening your home and your heart to a child in need or just want to know more about KIN, INC., contact the office, 9301 Gross Point rd., Skokie, Ill. at 679-6410, Monday thru Friday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Niles Family Service Thought for the Week

(By Larry Renetzky)

'Thankful Relationships'

What are you the most thankful for at this time of Thanksgiving? This is a question that you have probably asked someone or someone has asked you at some time in your life. If you were asked that question today - what would be your reply? I'm wondering how many people would respond with "Thankful Relationships"? Did you? Did this "Thankful Relationship" include your spouse, children, friend, employer, teacher or God? Often we get caught up in day by day living which we often refer to as a rat race. If we just take a few minutes and reflect on what really makes our life more meaningful and fulfilling, we probably in most instances would speak of some significant relationship in our life. Hopefully as you think about this right now, you will be able to come up with one or more relationships that you are thankful for. Express it to God and/or to that person. I can be meaningful to you and to them.

Perhaps the following thought on "Love Is", a basic ingredient of any "Thankful Relationship," can help to focus on what can help to make more "Thankful Relationships" for you.

Love Is

Doing something for others even when you don't have the time.

Love is making others happy when you would rather be alone. Not being irritable when others get in your way or interrupt you, it is kind and patient regardless of the circumstances.

Looking for ways to make others happy no matter who they are, love is honest and just, but also tender, understanding, and compassionate.

More than a paper valentine or sentimental love note, it is operative all the time - and lasts for a life time.

Not getting upset or angry on the spur of the moment, it chooses to be consistent through hard experiences, and finds its joy in God - not circumstances

Counselor Publications

May you have a very happy Thanksgiving with many "Thankful Relationships".

If you have individual, marital or family problems, or want to enhance your personal, marital or family growth, call Niles Family Service, 692-3396, or come in to 8060 Oakton Street, Niles.

OCC returning adults

A discussion on the Learning Resource Center will be featured at the December daytime meeting of the Adults Returning to School organization at Oakton Community College on Thursday, December 8, from 12:30 - 2 p.m.

Susan Maltese, associate professor of learning resources, will answer such questions as: What can the OCC library offer an adult who is accustomed to using the public library? What does it hold for someone who is not library oriented? And what is all the modern mechanical equipment in today's library?

The meeting will be held in Building 5, Room 525, on the OCC Interim Campus, Oakton and Nagle, Morton Grove. Admission is free of charge and the public is invited to attend.

Oakton's Adults Returning to School organization meets twice monthly to present a variety of speakers and programs designed to inform adults of educational and career opportunities. At each meeting, participants are invited to share ideas, give support, and become better acquainted.

Flynn announces candidacy for Cook County Commissioner

Thomas Flynn, a Niles attorney-at-law, has announced his candidacy for Suburban Cook County Commissioner. Mr. Flynn is a former Public Defender, Professional Urban Planner and College Instructor of Business and Law. He holds Bachelor and Masters degrees in Business from Southern and Northern Illinois Universities. He earned his Juris Doctor degree at IIT-Chicago Kent College of Law. Mr. Flynn is married and he and his wife Judy have four children.

Mr. Flynn said in his announcement, "We cannot deny that the problems of suburban Cook County are monumental. Unfortunately, the six Republican Board members have ignored our problems. They are, in fact the invisible six. I doubt if anyone can name these six individuals. I want to change this all too sad state of political life in the suburbs. I pledge my candidacy to that of discussing issues, bringing problems out into the open, and proposing solutions. Primarily, I want to involve the average citizen in the operations and direction of the Cook County Board. To that affect, I will establish citizen advisory boards throughout suburban Cook County to bring their problems to the attention of the entire Board of Commissioners."

Mr. Flynn said that as the Cook County Project Coordinator he worked on suburban problems on a daily basis for over five years. He said that he knew what the problems are and that he has concrete proposals to make to solve them over the coming four years. Mr. Flynn wrote or reviewed most Federal and State grant applications for all the county elective offices from 1970 to 1975. He is an expert on the operations of Cook County government.

Mr. Flynn went on to say, "The most important problem in suburban Cook County is unemployment and especially in the City of Chicago. Without a strong Chicago there can only be a weak suburban area. The Chicago Daily News in their recent month-long series on problems of our area was correct in saying that we must rebuild Chicago into an industrial and commercial giant. Unemployed young people account for the majority of crime that results in ever increasing taxes to support the courtsystem, the County Sheriff and the jail complex. Almost 50% of our tax dollars is spent on law enforcement. Full employment will greatly reduce crime and thus free up taxes for more important priorities such as education, mass transportation, housing, and improving the life of our senior citizens. It is a fact that if we can reduce crime we will be able to reduce taxes and that is my primary goal as your Suburban Cook County Commissioner."

Mr. Flynn ended his announcement by asking for the interest and concern of the suburban voters in the suburban Cook County Commissioner election. He said that voters must not allow this election to be downgraded by more glamorous contests. He urged everyone to register to vote, now and be fully prepared to make an intelligent decision in November of 1978.

A rider's guide to using NORTRAN

If you are going to the Loop, the Jefferson Park CTA station, Golf Mill, Maine East High School, Oakton Community College, Lutheran General Hospital, or nearby suburbs, you can save wear and tear on your car - and save money - by riding NORTRAN (North Suburban Mass Transit System).

Residents of Niles, using the village-supported free bus system can connect with key NORTRAN routes to reach any of these places. And purchasing the RTA universal transfer for a dime from a NORTRAN bus driver, allows a rider to go from one system to any other in the six-county RTA region.

Bart Murphy, former NORTRAN chairman and trustee from Niles, believes that many more people would use public transportation if they knew how to ride it.

"A person who knows where the bus goes and where he can get on, is several times more likely to use public transportation than one who doesn't know those two basic facts," Murphy said.

"And once he rides, there is a very good chance that he will become an occasional or frequent user of the system."

If you think you might like to try your transit riding skill, here's a rundown on the major NORTRAN routes through Niles, and where they go.

One of the most popular routes in the NORTRAN system is #270 (Milwaukee Ave.) which runs at 20 minute intervals during rush hours, and half hour-intervals during the mid-day and evening periods and on Saturdays and Sundays. It's the way to reach the Jefferson Park CTA station where the universal transfer will permit connection with the CTA "El" or other CTA bus lines, including CTA #40, O'HAREXRESS.

It's a bargain, too. With purchase of the transfer, a ride to the Loop via # 270 and the El costs only 60 cents (30 cents for senior citizens with RTA cards). Another way to reach the Loop during rush hour is NORTRAN #262 which also runs along Milwaukee Ave. and into the North Michigan Ave. shopping area. Route #226 (Oakton St.) is the bus to take if you are bound for Oakton Community College, the Niles Senior Citizens Center, Skokie or Jefferson Park.

If Des Plaines or Evanston is your destination, then take #250 which runs along Dempster. This route is also the one to use if you work at or are a visitor to Lutheran General Hospital, as well as to reach Maine East High School.

NORTRAN route #290-91 connects Niles with Touhy Ave. and the industries along Touhy ave. It terminates at the Howard CTA station at the Evanston-Chicago border. Many Maine East High School students find #291 a convenient way to travel to and from school.

NORTRAN provides service

seven days a week on many routes, including #290, # 250, # 270 and # 208. Many riders are able to eliminate the second or third family car by substituting this comprehensive NORTRAN service.

"Studies have shown that the elimination of the second car can save over $500 a year," Murphy pointed out.

He added that as ridership builds on a route, "we are usually able to improve service with the additional revenues generate". As an example, Murphy pointed to the Milwaukee Ave. route (#270) where service was improved from 35 minute to 20 minute intervals and where ridership has increased 77 per cent in the last year.

For travel information, call NORTRAN's toll free number 800-972-7000. For charter information, call 297-0135.

NORTRAN is a public municipality operating under and part of the umbrella of the Regional Transportation Authority system. One of the largest suburban transit systems in the country, NORTRAN serves 23 communities in the north and northwest suburbs.

Skokie employees exceed Crusade goal

Skokie Public Employees have raised 105% of their goal for the Skokie Valley United Crusade according to Bernard H. Arends, chairman of the Public Employees Division. Dan Ryan, Skokie chairman; and his "Crusaders" raised $4,595, surpassing the goal of $4,350 for this division. Lincolnwood has 91% of their goal and Niles has 90% of their goal. The entire division has raised 87% of their goal of $7,000.

The Clubs and Organizations Division has raised 71% of their goal of $1,000. Jack S. Prouty, Morton Grove is chairman.

The Residential Division has raised 68% of their goal of $24,000. The village mayors serve as chairmen for the campaign in their villages. Residents in Lincolnwood, Morton Grove, Niles and Skokie will receive a second appeal through the mail from the village mayor in their respective village, urging those who have not already contributed to mail their contribution to the Skokie Valley United Crusade, 4017 Church St. Skokie 60076. If you are new in the area, or if for some reason you do not receive this letter, we hope you will respond just the same.

The 1977 Skokie Valley United Crusade has raised 58% of its $100,000 goal.

At a meeting of the Crusade's Board of Directors last Friday, General Campaign Chairman William C. Yale, (Skokie Trust & Savings Bank) said that he expects the goal to be attained. Yale said that the Campaign Committee and a large group of "Crusaders", are making every effort to reach the goal.

New paramedic vehicle

The Niles Fire Department recently received delivery of a new paramedic vehicle, bringing to two to the number of 1977 Mobile Intensive Care vehicles now in service for the citizens of the village.

The vehicles were built by the Midwest Ambulance Sales, Inc., Wilmette, and feature the latest and most modern tools known in the emergency in the medical field today. The apparatus, built on Ford chassis, cost a total of $45,000 each, including the cost of medical equipment, according to Fire Chief Albert L. Hoelbl.

Niles has always been the forerunner in the Chicago area in emergency ambulance care, starting its service in 1946, when the department responded to only several hundred calls. In 1976, the paramedics, of which there are now 10 in the department, answered 1542 calls for medical aid alone. The units also respond to all fire calls because the paramedics are also firefighters. According to Chief Hoelbl, the new vehicle replaces a 1973 Dodge MICU unit, which logged 39,538 miles during its use.

Among the equipment carried by each unit are portable EKG machine, a radio unit which links us with area hospitals from which the paramedics receive medical instructions for treatment at the scene, anti-shock trousers, and a defibrillating device to counter-shock a faltering heartbeat.

Property tax article

by Irving Doemar,
Chairman of the Board of Niles Savings and Loans

Property taxes are complex ... and generally unpopular. Probably, we cannot make you enjoy paying taxes; but we at Niles Savings have prepared a series of articles concerning property taxes in hopes of helping you understand why and how these taxes are what they are.

Last week, the first article explained how county, state and local governing bodies all contribute to your property tax bill. In this week's article, we will talk about what you can do if, after understanding your tax bill, you still think it is unfair. Basically, you have two alternatives: appealing the assessment and protesting the tax bill. Here is how to go about both of these.

Appealing the Assessment

Every year, there are several opportunities for you to challenge your assessment.

1. Assessor's office

The first is before it takes place. If you feel that your assessment does not accurately reflect the value of your property, you may file a complaint prior to publication of next year's assessment.

To file a complaint with the county assessor, first find out the complaint time scheduled for your township. Then, obtain the necessary forms and rules from the Assessor's Department of Homeowner's Assistance.

Your appeal will be reviewed, and a decision will be made by the assessor.

The second time you may appeal is after your assessment takes place. Whenever you receive a notice that your assessment has changed for the upcoming year, or after a routine re-assessment of your property, you have 15 days to appeal. All the necessary material for filing this type of appeal is contained on the Notice of Assessed Valuation you receive.

2. Cook County Board of Appeals

The third time for appeal would be after the first two options have been exhausted. At this point, you may file with the state Board of Appeals, which has the legal authority to change any assessment. The information you need to take this course of action is available at the Board in room 601 of the County Building, 118 N. Clark St., Chicago, IL 60602.

3. Cook County Circuit Court

If after all this, you are still dissatisfied, you may take your case to the Cook County Circuit Court. But, remember three things if you are considering filing a suit. First, you must pay your taxes (under protest) before going to court. Secondly, you cannot file in the courts unless you have previously filed a complaint with the Board of Appeals.

- a copy of your sales contract, if you have purchased the property within the last two years.

- an appraisal of your property by a reputable and qualified appraiser.

- an indication of sale prices for comparable properties in your neighborhood.

Finally, there is one last thing homeowners who are upset about property tax bills should remember. That is that your assessment is only one factor in the taxing process. If you are considering an appeal, consider that your township's tax rate, not the assessment may be the culprit.

What about tax relief? Do any groups receive help on their property tax bills? The answer is yes; and in the next article of our series, we will explain exactly who these are.

Considine to head Porter for Congress Committee

Frank W. Considine, president and chief executive officer of National Can Corporation, has been named General Chairman of the Porter for Congress Committee. State Representative John Edward Porter (R-1st, Evanston) is running for Congress from Illinois' 10th District.

In accepting this appointment, Considine said, "Without question John Porter is the strongest, most qualified and experienced candidate in the Republican Party to unseat the present Democratic incumbent from the 10th District."

"Representative Porter has served our district well in his three terms in Springfield," Considine said. "His outstanding record and total dedication deserve our support."

He said that Porter will wage an aggressive, hard-hitting campaign based on issues of vital importance to the residents of the 10th District.

Considine, who in addition to this post at National Can, also serves on the Board of Directors of several other companies. He is on the Board of Trustees of Loyola University of Chicago, the Board of Directors of the Lyric Opera of Chicago and the Evanston Hospital.

At Addison Trail on Oct. 13, despite strong serving, Maine East lost 20-11 and 20-13. After losing the first game 15-5, the junior varsity rallied to win 15-9 but lost 15-9 in an exciting third game.

Residents protest aircraft noise

Mrs. Pat Galla of Des Plaines presents Congressman Abner J. Mikva with 21,600 letters from suburban residents protesting the high level of aircraft noise from O'Hare Airport. More than 4,300 people signed the letters. Each person signed five copies and one each is being sent to President Carter, Transportation Secretary Brock Adams, Federal Aviation Administration Administrator Langhorne Bond, Environmental Protection Agency Administrator Douglas Costle and one copy is for Mikva. The Congressman, who supports the anti-noise campaign, will see that the letters are delivered to the Washington, D.C. offices of these federal officials.

Mrs. Pat Galla said the letter-writing campaign is continuing in all the noise-impacted suburbs.

The letter stresses the health hazard caused by the high-pitched and continual noise from aircraft, and particularly the detrimental effect the noise has on children. The letter also objects to the proposal that the Concorde supersonic aircraft be allowed to land at O'Hare.

Students' model homes displayed at North West Federal Architectural drawing students at Maine Township High School spent more than 200 hours of research, design and construction time on four model homes which will be on exhibit during November at the Des Plaines office of North West Federal Savings, 2454 Dempster Street.

The project was a joint effort by the Maine Township students and the McLennan Company of Park Ridge which contributed architectural drawing tools and materials for the five-month project which is a part of the school's Diamond Jubilee program.

The students selected their project styles from home designs in the 1902-1977 time period and they added an innovative futuristic design of their own. One of the groups chose a model representing the unique design of Frank Lloyd Wright who became world famous as the creator of "organic architecture," his phrase indicating buildings that harmonize with the environment. Like Wright's prototype low profile homes, the students' model utilizes large overhangs, continuous window bands that turn corners defying conventional boxy structures, and revolutionary floating cantilever construction.

Two other groups selected rambling contemporary styles with multiple levels, geometric shapes and rectangular forms, including A-frame construction and extensive utilization of glass throughout.

A fourth model reflects a futuristic design and includes two major features that represent a revolutionary departure from past or present home design. Their futuristic model is pyramid-shaped and is designed to utilize solar energy to conserve heat in cold weather. It also includes an area of living space sunk low in the earth to keep rooms cool in hot weather.

The students conducted extensive research of the various styles and made some of their own modifications; then they drew floor and elevation plans before beginning the actual construction, according to Stan Bentall, instructor and chairman of the industrial education department at the school.

The exhibit will be on display at North West Federal from October 31 thru November 26.

Mikva announces candidacy; outlines campaign theme

Congressman Abner J. Mikva announced Monday that he will seek reelection to Congress from the Tenth District and he promised a campaign that will highlight his views on the nation's most pressing problems.

Describing political campaigns, at their best, as effective vehicles for educating the public on national issues and offering voters a choice of national policies, Mikva said:

"In this Congressional district, more than in most, the national issues are local concerns -- from the cost of higher education, to the role of the U.S. in the Middle East, to the problems of health care, energy and handgun control."

"The people of the Tenth District deserve a campaign in which the candidates draw on their experience and knowledge of national issues and allow the voters to decide on the merits which candidate has a better understanding and a vision of where the country ought to be headed," the Congressman added.

Mikva, 51, announced his candidacy at a news conference in the Holiday Inn of Evanston, 1501 Sherman. He is completing his fourth term in Congress, where he is a member of the powerful Ways and Means Committee and its Social Security and Trade Subcommittees. The Congressman is also chairman of the Democratic Study Group, which concentrates on effecting House reforms.

"Each campaign and each election represent new challenges and new opportunities," Mikva noted. "One of the challenges of this campaign is to take on the difficult and important issues for which there are no easy solutions."

"I think the people of this Congressional district would expect no less and will not be looking for easy answers during the campaign. Rather, they will want to hear which candidate has the best understanding of this broad range of issues -- the understanding that is a prerequisite for finding realistic solutions," the Congressman continued.

He concluded by stating his hope that next November "this

Open meeting on new LGH Ambulatory Care Center

If you're interested in learning more about Lutheran General Hospital's new Ambulatory Care Center plan to attend a community meeting at 8 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 1, in Lutheran General's chapel-auditorium, 1775 Dempster, Park Ridge. The Ambulatory Care Center recently opened at 1775 Ballard Road, Park Ridge.

Jerome Hahn, M.D., medical director of the Ambulatory Care Center and other members of the Center's staff will explain the medical programs and services offered at the Center. They will talk about the "team approach" used to provide care and the role of the Ambulatory Care Center in training health care professionals. A question-and-answer session will follow their presentations.

At the Ambulatory Care Center, families and individuals of all ages may register in one of three medical care programs -- Family Practice, Internal Medicine and Pediatrics. A "health care team" consisting of an attending physician, resident physician and a nurse clinician work together to provide continuing care for the patient. Social workers, pastoral counselors and nutritionists are also available at the Ambulatory Care Center to provide services as needed.

Lutheran General's Developmental Abilities Services (DAS) is also located at the Center. DAS evaluates and treats children and adolescents who exhibit developmental, learning or behavioral problems.

According to Dr. Hahn, "The Ambulatory Care Center is a new approach to help meet the health care needs of the community." Physicians are accepting patients and there is usually a one or two day wait for an appointment.

The meeting is free and is sponsored by Lutheran General's Men's Association. The Men's Association has more than 400 members and sponsors other education meetings throughout the year on topics of vital interest and concern to the public. Membership is open to all men.

Restaurant robbed of $2,447

A gun-wielding masked robber held up Poppin' Fresh Pies, a restaurant at 8484 W. Dempster st., during the early morning hours of Nov. 7 and got away with $2,447 in cash.

Police said the Wilmette manager came to the restaurant around 1:45 a.m. Monday for a meeting and breakfast out with the Niles manager.

As he knocked on the door of the pie house a man in his early 20's wearing a nylon sock over his head walked up to him and placed a blue steel automatic to the employee's head.

When the Niles manager came to the door the gunman told him to "open up or I'll blow his head off."

Once inside the gunman demanded the office safe be opened. The Niles employee said he made a move for the gun but the robber backed off.

Both managers were told to lie down on the floor and were handcuffed together while the thief took money and checks from the safe.

After forcing the Niles man to open the back door of the restaurant the gunman taped the employee's feet together and fled thru the rear exit.

On Tax Deferred Savings

Depending on your tax bracket, you can save $300 - $500 - $700, or even more on this year's income taxes ... You can draw interest on money you would have paid in taxes - But you have to act now - during 1977 - to cut your income tax bill for 1977.

Here's how it works:

You deposit up to 15% of your annual salary or $1,500 annually, whichever is the smaller, into a FNBOS I.R.A. (Independent Retirement Account) or up to $7,500 in a FNBOS Keogh Plan if you are self employed, and then, take the amount you deposited right off the top of your income for tax purposes.

If you are in the 20% tax bracket, you pay $300 less income tax this year on the I.R.A. plan - If your wife works, she can have one, too! If she doesn't you can deposit even more. All you need to qualify is to have a salary, and not be already covered by a tax deferred pension plan.

Come on in, let us show you how it can work for you - but hurry - the 31st of December is the last day you can start if you want to save on this year's taxes.

FNBOS showcases $250,000 primitive art exhibit

In the first exhibit of this type outside of a museum, First National Bank of Skokie has brought a rare collection of works of art, from as far back as 500 B.C., to the public. The sculptures, carvings and artifact, from the private collections of over 25 members of the Primitive Art Society of Chicago, are on display in the bank lobby until November 28th.

Mr. Nick Poolos, a Skokie resident and member of the primitive art society, who was instrumental in getting the display for the bank, stated that the dates shown for the various pieces origin has been established by experts in the field. Mr. Poolos made it clear the these pieces, being shown in the FNBO lobby, are the personal property of the various members of the society who brought their collections to the bank and set up the display themselves to share the pleasure they can bring with the public.

The members, who are not full time dealers in antiquities, but everyday people - just like you and me - electricians, teachers, stock brokers, engineers, advertising executives, sign painters and others from all walks of life, have a common interest in the primitive, ancient art from all over the world. The Primitive Art Society of Chicago, which has over 100 members, meets the first Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the Field Museum to hear lectures on primitive art and to show their collectibles.

Niles North High School is doing its part this month to help the less fortunate through its annual charity drive for the Forgotten Children's Fund.

Sponsored by the school's Student Congress, the drive began Nov. 14 and will continue through mid-December. Proceeds are donated to the Forgotten Children's Fund, which is used to provide necessities for mentally retarded children and adults at the Lincoln-Dixon state school in Dixon, Illinois.

For many years, the collection of the fund has been the project of Chicago Tribune columnist Jack Mabley and the WIND radio's (560 am) Phil Nolan. Niles North first became involved with the drive five or six years ago when a student who was friendly with Mabley got the Congress interested in the project. North has been the single largest contributor to the fund every year since.

The goal of this year's drive is to raise $2,500.

The Forgotten Children's Fund Auction, and annual event at the school, will be held Dec. 7. Teachers, students and local merchants will all donate goods and services to be auctioned off during the school day. The Congress also plans to solicit funds through canning during student homerooms.

Student chairmen for the Forgotten Children's Fund Drive are Marc Kasman, 7055 Carol, Niles and Grant Michaelson, 8841 Kilpatrick, Skokie. These students, along with several of their committee members, will travel in mid-December to the WIND studios in Chicago to present Mabley and Nolan with a check for the amount of money raised by the drive. The presentation is usually carried live on WIND.

This theme will be incorporated into a crafts mural project in which each family will contribute a small piece of a larger mural.

A culminating celebration will take place in the Zollie and Elaine Frank Theatre where there will be Hanukkah singing and music, a Tween Drama presentation and lighting of the Menorah.

Refreshments will be available for sale. The celebration is open to the entire community.

Winter holiday carnival

A Winter Holiday Carnival will be held for children in grades K thru 4 on Wednesday, Jan. 4 from 1 to 3 p.m. at Laramie Recreation Center, 5251 Sherwin ave. The carnival will offer indoor fun including booths and games, prizes and refreshments for 50 children.

Social Science guest speakers

Gerald Feldman and Lee Heytow will speak for and against the proposed incorporation of the area bounded on the south by Dempster st., the east by Milwaukee ave., the north by Central rd., and the west by the Tri-State Tollway.

Feldman is chairman of the committee proposing incorporation of the area into the Village of Parkwood. Heytow is a local resident working against the incorporation. They will speak to senior students at 9:15 a.m. on the 29th and 30th respectively.

Pittsburgh State student

Law enforcement coordinator at OCC

James P. O'Shea, a former special agent for the Criminal Investigation Division of the Illinois Department of Revenue, has been named assistant professor and coordinator of the Law Enforcement program at Oakton Community College.

O'Shea, a resident of Oak Park, spent seven years with the Illinois Department of Revenue while at the same time teaching part-time in the Law Enforcement Program at Wright College, one of the Chicago City College.

After receiving a bachelor's degree in education from Northern Illinois University, O'Shea attended Roosevelt University where he earned his master of art degree in 1976.

Oakton's Law Enforcement program, offering either a two-year associate of applied science degree or a one-year certificate, prepares men and women for employment by police departments, sheriff's departments, state highway patrols, federal and state agencies, retail and industrial security, and private investigative agencies.

The curriculum also offers those already working in law enforcement positions the opportunity to upgrade their skills.

For information about the Oakton Law Enforcement curriculum, contact O'Shea at 967-5120, ext. 299.

Oakton seeks state funding

State Representative Alan Greiman (D-15th District) conferred with the president at Oakton Community College, Dr. William A. Koehnline, recently in Springfield. Major topic of conversation was the urgent need for state funding for Phase II of the college permanent campus.

Maine East special senior leaders

Gym is far from routine for 41 seniors enrolled in the special education senior leader program. The leaders work with the handicapped students and help them participate in various activities as swimming, softball, volleyball, basketball, bowling, weight lifting or track.

For wheelchair students the activities generally include throwing a frisbee or football, a little kickball, checkers or chess.

The special education program is also involved in the Northwest Suburban Athletic Association, with students participating in sports such as basketball and track.

The basketball season starts in November and goes through March.

The nine game schedule includes games against Laremont, Molloy, Samuel Kirk, and the Stratford Center.

The basketball team came in eighth place in the state last year and fourth twice in the last six years.

There is one big track meet in May, and individual awards are given to all participants. Each special education leader had to take a junior leader course their junior year to be eligible for the special education program.

The junior leader then had a choice between special education or regular senior leader.

Third period leaders are Adam Clayman, Bob Etchingham, John Fiorio, Tim Gavlin, Tony Palcheck, Alden Stiefel, Rick Topp, Dawn Anderson, Kathy Dunn, Laurie Gullberg, Adrienne Racanelli, and Patty Usack.

Eighth period has Tom Bastian, Joe Nessler, Cliff Sorensen, Sue Engel, Jamie Klein, Diane Kokinis, Sue Polan, Cathy Gaza, and Donna Musolf.

He went to law school for 2 years and then married Frances Tasson and had three lovely daughters.

Those are the particulars. But the guy behind the particulars ... that's what we were looking for.

Tom Ferraro, a Niles cop, first told us about Henry being a "self-made" man. He told us of Henry's growing up in the orphanage, and rising to executive vice president in a top financial institution, quite an accomplishment in a highly competitive field.

Don Cannon, of Lincoln Square Savings, said Henry was a "good guy". That's as good an accolade as most of us will ever get. Don said Henry was his first boss at Fairfield Savings more than 20 years ago. "Hank was very thoughtful. He never hurt anybody."

Another close friend, Ed Beaulieu, a Niles developer, said Henry was always helping the little guy. Ed, developer of Oak Mill Shopping Center, said it was Henry who gave him his start: "Without Henry I might never have made it." Ed said he would often use Hank as his sounding board before undertaking a business deal.

Ed reminded us of Henry's YMCA activities: "Over there a hundred guys love him." Hank was a 5-mile-a-day jogger ten years ago. He was a fine handball player, who had been in the front line raising money for the "Y" in the early 60's, which enabled it to be built then. Ed said Henry was a "quality guy."

Irv Deemar, his boss at Niles Savings, said he was more than an employee: "Henry was my good friend." Irv said Henry was a very compassionate guy. He was patient, unassuming, and was extremely well-qualified for his job. Irv noted he was quite religious. Henry had told Irv he had once contemplated being a monk.

Jerry Podgers, his personal friend as well as his doctor, was blinking hard to hold back the tears as he reminisced about his friend. He said he never met a man like him: "Henry never said a bad word about anyone. Matter of fact, I never heard him curse (outside the handball court)."

We happened to have been over at the "Y" in a late afternoon in September when Hank got word he had heart problems. He was asking his doctor how it was possible. No one was more physically fit than Henry. He was frustrated by that unknowing query so many of us ask, "Why?"

Hank was at Lutheran General Hospital for 2 months. During this time he was operated on 8 times. His sister, Nancy, said Henry was very strong and never complained. The last time she spoke to him, he smiled up at her and told her to "remember the good times."

Area residents are reminded that through participating with the High School Recycling Center, large amounts of energy can be conserved. It should also be noted that early participation in the program, before the colder weather sets in, will help off set possible critical shortages of energy and resources.

In light of the severe winter of last year, many studies have concluded that large amounts of energy can be conserved through recycling. Glass makes for an excellent example. Not only does glass recycling conserve energy and resources when recycled, but glass industry officials have noted that furnace temperatures can be reduced 1,000 degrees when using large amounts of recycled glass. This is especially important since the glass industry furnaces operate on natural gas. By reducing their furnace thermostat by 1,000 degrees, large amounts of natural gas, a resource now in critically short supply, are conserved.

Other waste materials that may be recycled are paper products; newspapers, magazines, catalogs, and cardboards. These are all accepted at the High School Reclamation Center. Paper products are now in short supply, as most of the paper is recycled into packing for home insulation. As the demand for insulation increases, as it has in the past few months, there will be a continued need for recycled paper products.

The Recycling Center is a sub-program of the Niles Township High School District 219, and is operated by student volunteers who are responsible for inspecting materials for contamination, and making sure that materials are properly sorted. They also promote the recycling cause throughout the community. For further information on location or material preparation, please call 966-3800, ext. 415.

Safety Hints

Drinking drivers are involved in approximately half of the fatal accidents on Illinois highways. The Implied Consent Act was passed to help curb this serious problem.

If a driver is arrested for driving while intoxicated, a police officer will request a breath test. Two tests will be taken not less than 15 minutes apart. The accused driver blows a sample of breath into a disposable tube, which is connected to the breathing device.

The device measures and registers the percentage of alcohol in the blood. The results may be used as evidence in court to support the charge. A driver may refuse to take the breath test or he may consult an attorney or any other person by phone before making a decision to take the test.

If an arrested driver decides against taking the test, his arrest will still be valid. He will also be notified in writing by the Clerk of the Court that his license will be suspended for three months (first offense), unless a request for a hearing is received by that clerk within 28 days. When the hearing is completed, the Secretary of State will be notified of the Court's decision to suspend or not suspend.

(A copy of the newly revised Rules of the Road booklet will be sent to you upon request. Write to Alan J. Dixon, Secretary of State, Springfield, Ill. 62756.)

Niles youths...

In the opinion of "Assistant Village Manager Cindy Gaertner of 6959 Niles Terrace, "Everything we are doing now has something to do with our future ... today's youth will have to deal with responsibilities in the future ... the future is in our hands and I am sure we will find a way to deal with it."

"Village Manager" Martin Hedrich of 6910 Howard noted the youth are free-er in this day's economy ... they express themselves more fully ...

Last year's top winner and this year's "Village Attorney" Bill Daehler of 6826 Lexington Lane wrote of possible new inventions which would deal with pollution and aid in "protection for the people" as well as stop "increasing costs" of food and supplies.

As "trustees" were John Bradley, 7756 N. Nora, who was "concerned with future-peace in other countries as well as our own;" Eric Cutro, 6918 W. Seward; Sharon Klobber, 7603 Nora; Rick Composito, 8565 N. Chester; Adrianna Alcalde of 7054 W. Kedzie and Terry Loeding, 9036 Grace ave.

Police Chief was Jeff Sheldon of 7983 Nordica; Fire Chief Ross Tarlow, 7780 Nordica; as Housing Director Sara Mirza of 8560 Betty Terrace noted "the future of the human race depends on the youth in our society;" Rocella Smith of 7780 Nordica was the Public Works Director; Director of Building and Zoning Steven Jablonski of 7339 W. Greenleaf.

Also, as Senior Citizens Director Maureen Leane of 8201 Oriole asked for high standards, to "set good examples to younger children;" Public Services Director Connie Cousineau of 8332 Octavia; Matt Argetsinger of 8553 Oriole as Health and License Officer noted "the youth of today will be the leaders of tomorrow;" and Family Service Director Mark Oberman, 6713 Forestview Lane.

Approximately 350 essays were submitted this year from 7th and 8th graders of St. John Brebeuf School, Our Lady of Ransom, Niles Elementary North, St. Matthew Lutheran School, Gemini and Apollo Junior High Schools.

Prior to presentation of awards Youth Co-ordinator Carol Chaconas spoke briefly on the Helping Hand for Teens, a job program which assists youth in finding after-school jobs, and of a newly formed Youth Advisory Board of 10 teens for community ideas.

During the village board meeting Tuesday night, trustees granted Special Use zoning for outside storage of trucks and trailers by U-Haul Company of Chicago at 7644 Milwaukee ave. predicated on required stipulations and a cost-sharing of alley improvement and maintenance.

Approved by a 5 to 1 vote, subdivision of 8 acres of land at Howard and Caldwell setting aside 3.75 acres for construction of a single-story-warehouse and a single story office building by petitioner Beckert Steel, located in the Tam industrial park.

Trustee Peter Pesole strongly negated approval of the subdivision subject to Board review of the planned construction. Calling attention to the pleasing facades of the nearby Tennis Club and Victoria Station, Pesole said "we should view plans for construction despite the fact the area already has proper zoning. We have an obligation to see what is being planned for this (Howard and Caldwell) corner."

Referred to Administration, 8 bids on a two yard front loader from Patten Industries of Elmhurst, $76,599; Northside Tractor

Amended the ordinance referring to Peddlers, Solicitors and Canvassers, requiring all who make distributions of any kind to register with the village clerk. Action was initiated, according to Village Clerk Frank Wagner, due to resident complaints of hand-bills thrown on lawns.

Passed a resolution asking for revision of the Metropolitan Sanitary District Combined Sewer area map to indicate Foster Lane-Washington-Ballard rd. and Milwaukee ave. for combined storm and sanitary sewers instead of separate installations as presently shown.

Hearing impaired welcome at Chicago Savings

To the majority of us who have normal hearing, the difficulties encountered by a deaf person in handling even the simplest financial transaction cannot be fully appreciated. For example, ask a question about how savings interest is calculated, and unless a teller is willing to take time to write out what could be a somewhat complicated formula, you'll never know. Visit the average financial institution to seek a mortgage loan, and chances are the loan officer will become completely frustrated as he tries to communicate the details of closing costs, points, insurance, etc.

Not so at the Main Office of Chicago Savings and Loan Association, 6245 S. Western, Chicago.

Here a full-qualified, sign language expert - Paulette Klepac - is on hand to act as a skilled interpreter for any hearing impaired visitor or customer. And, her skills are put to good use on numerous occasions.

According to Philomena D. Pakel, Chicago Savings' President, "Paulette joined our organization in 1976, and her talents with sign language, or dactylogology as it is properly called, became immediately apparent. Today she works as a Loan Closing Officer, but all of our staff members know they can call on her whenever a communications problem arises with hard of hearing customers, and they frequently do so.

It has always been our policy to make it as easy as possible for anyone to transact business with us, and Paulette is just one of the ways in which we strive toward that goal. When we say "we're a lot like you," we mean all of you," Mrs. Pakel concluded.

NAIA player of the week

Northeastern Illinois University senior tailback, Bob Falk, 8512 Keystone, Skokie, has been named National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) offensive player of the week. He shares honors with Texas A & I quarterback Martin Stroman.

Falk set a school and conference record of 313 yards gained rushing during a 20-point scoring spree last Saturday against Lakeland College of Sheboygan, Wis., at the Northeastern Golden Eagles' home field, Luther North Stadium. The Golden Eagles won the game, 28-0, to bring the season record to 3-2 for head coach, Dan Lanno.

A member of the Illini-Badger Intercollegiate Football Conference, the Golden Eagles are 2-0 in conference games. This coming Saturday they meet Eureka College in conference play at Eureka, Ill.

Athlete of Week

In addition to competing on the Maine East golf team, senior Paul Papierski of Niles belongs to Sigma Chi Sigma, the National Honor Society, and Jazz Band at Maine East. He also enjoys skiing and playing the guitar during his spare time.

Paul is currently enrolled in Math IV, English IV, Chemistry II, and Debate, but next fall he plans to attend the University of Illinois to pursue an engineering career.

When asked how he thinks high school sports will change within the next ten years, Paul said that more sports may be introduced interscholastically and possibly the participation and enthusiasm of spectators at meets will increase.

District 63...

William Gurolnick, chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee on Faculty and Property Utilization, gave a brief review of the submitted report. He said the committee was against the closing of the junior high schools and having elementary schools from kindergarten through eighth grade.

Gurolnick also mentioned an "importance factor", a formula listing the criteria for the closing of schools which is included in the report. He said this is an analytical tool which may be considered for determining which schools should be closed.

In his brief report Gurolnick said a 5 year plan should be undertaken by the district to deal with its expected future financial burdens. Since the projected school deficit in the district may be as high as $10,000,000 by 1982, he said the closing of schools is only a small part of dealing with the deficit. While figures have been loosely estimated, the closing of a school would be a savings to the district of from $200,000 to $300,000 annually.

Board president Larry Reiss said guidelines would have to be set-up in dealing with these recommendations. Target dates and public meetings would have to be scheduled prior to any serious decisions pertaining to the closing of schools are undertaken.

A second committee report from a citizens finance committee will be forthcoming at the January 15 board meeting.

In other business Tuesday night, PTA presidents said they will cooperate in organizing a pre-school census in the district. The Maine-Northfield baseball league's request to use Apollo School fields for their games will be studied.

Mike De Bartolo and Ray Deblin, Oak Street residents, requested the school board retain control of the land alongside their homes in the Gemini School area. De Bartolo said recent teen drinking and dope use in the area could not be handled by Niles Park District nor the Niles police. He said residents were forced to form a type of vigilante group to police the area, often using their fists to quell the problems in the area.

De Bartolo said residents preferred the area remain open rather than be organized by the park district. He said many games now are being played there simultaneously which are preferred to organized activities replacing these more spontaneous activities.

De Bartolo also said during the past 15 years a lot of park land has been wasted. He said the water retention basin there and the ice rink were two examples.

Deblin criticized the park district's ice rink which he said is strictly a money-maker, primarily used for the expensive game of hockey. He said the rink is only open 3 hours a week for the public and called it "a hoax".

While the board president said the park district would only have a co-operative program with the school district, board members seemed sympathetic to the residents' concerns. A decision will be made after a Friday night meeting with the Niles Park Board members.

Demon mascot

If you see a blue Demon running around Maine East with a pitchfork in her hand, she's not doing it on a dare; she's the Maine East mascot, Nancy Goldberg of Niles.

What is the purpose of the Demon mascot? As Nancy sees it, the Demon represents the hopes and aspirations of the team while also serving as a good luck symbol. Even when the team is behind, the Demon mascot keeps up the spirit and cheers the team on with her encouragement.

Off the field Nancy, a junior, keeps busy by sewing some of her own clothes, including her own Demon uniform: a blue jumpsuit and a white pitchfork, which took her about four weeks to complete. Besides sewing she is also an avid cook and a dancer in Senior Orchesis, vice-president of Math Club, and a member of Russian Club.

Demon tryouts consisted of preparing several cheers for a committee supported by the Student Council sportsmanship committee and made up of both teachers and students. Nancy will be appearing at all football, soccer, and basketball games this year, and with her help Maine East should be on its way to another winning season.
