

"AUF WIEDERSEHEN"

('TIL WE MEET AGAIN)

Say Betty and Eddie Schuett

Parting is always such sweet sorrow. After all, 12 years is a sizeable amount of time in anyone's lifetime.

Our early struggles, the trials and tribulations, the ultimate success, the many experiences to find our niche in life, will always be long remembered.

But most of all, it is the many, many friends we acquired along the way that is the best part of our 12 years as EDIE'S PLACE in the Village of Niles.

For people are the best things in life. And the people of this area, from its political leaders, its fraternal organizations, our suppliers, and its people from all walks of life have been very, very kind to us and ours.

As we grow older and wiser it is these nostalgic "people" memories that shall become more precious with each passing year.

To all of you wonderful people both Betty and I say thank you - and AUF WIEDERSEHEN ... 'til we meet again.

Eddie Schuett

B'Eddies is Eddie's NEW PLACE

Our NEW PLACE, is spacious and gracious, consisting of a fine bar, cocktail lounge and a gourmet restaurant. It is located in Harvard, Illinois where the air is sweet and clean, in a rural setting.

It's easy to reach by car, relatively a short pleasant drive, from where you are now located.

You'll find it a wonderful place to escape to. Relaxing, informal, with excellent reasonably priced foods that would delight the most discriminating gourmet.

And YOU know that our hospitality and service, based upon our past experience will be the finest.

So, for a pleasureable and memorable day in the "country" - you all come now ...

Betty and Eddie, your hosts

Park District residents voice concern

by Alice M. Bobula

Niles Park District Commissioners, during a special committee session Tuesday, Sept. 5, attempted to resolve concerns voiced thru letters from and on behalf of Niles residents who border various parks.

Park issues involved baseball playing, property damage, removal of dead trees, non-resident tennis play, noise generated by loudspeakers and lighting of a basketball court.

Commissioners evidenced faith in the apparently successful pilot program this year of Ranger patrol of Niles parks subsidized under a Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) grant by requesting "stepped-up patrolling of the parks" for next year.

According to Park Director William Hughes, proposed application for 1979 CETA funding provides for a doubled shift (with approximate cost set at $20,000) of this year's 3 park rangers who circuit the parks from 4 p.m. to midnight daily on a 9-month basis.

Increased ranger patrol as proposed by Comr. Dan Kosiba is expected to resolve complaints of property damage at NICO and Courtland Parks where, according to residents, ball-playing has resulted in trampled shrubbery and overrun yards at NICO and damage to nearby buildings and broken windows at Courtland Park.

Homeowners said complaints to police resulted in suggestions to contact park district officials.

Requests for a higher fence, noted commissioners, project an $1,800 cost for a twelve foot fence which, according to Park President Jeffrey Arnold, might prove to be an "ultimate eyesore".

Solicitude over numerous dead trees at Jozwiak Park said Hughes would result in their disposal of any of the Maine Township High School property."

Dr. Richard R. Short, Superintendent, Maine Township High School District 207, hopes the rumor that Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge wants to take over Maine East for its own use can be buried.

To that end, he advised district teachers and administrators attending Institute Day, April 28, at Maine West: "Lutheran General Hospital is not interested in acquiring Maine Township High School East and the District 207 Board of Education is not interested in considering the acquisition of the hospital's facilities.

"The truth of the matter is Lutheran General Hospital has all the property it wants, needs and can manage," he said.

The superintendent also reminded the 700 staff members attending

Golf Mill Police Patrol Unit

The Village of Niles Police Dept. recently established a Golf Mill Patrol unit to patrol the parking lot area in the Golf Mill Shopping Center. This patrol wagon, manned by Niles police reserves, will operate full time at the shopping center. This is the first service of its kind in any major shopping center in the Cook County metropolitan area.

Most shopping centers provide private internal security, but do not provide full time patrol to protect customers' automobiles, possessions in automobiles, and security in the parking area.

Niles is proud of another first in promoting safety and security in the Golf Mill Shopping Center.

Recycling aluminum means extra $

Students returning to school this fall will find it simple to pick up a little extra money needed for school supplies and other incidentals by recycling all-aluminum cans and other clean household aluminum, S. B. Thompson, district recycling manager for Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company, reminds.

"Reynolds pays 17 cents per pound for these materials," Mr. Thompson reported. "The recycling of the light-weight metal is running at record levels," he noted. Mr. Thompson said, "The company collected a record breaking 70 million pounds of aluminum through its consumer recycling program in the first half of 1978."

Reynolds pays 17 cents per pound for aluminum beverage cans and other clean household aluminum items such as pie plates, foil, frozen food and dinner trays and dip, pudding and meat containers. Certain other items including aluminum siding, gutters, storm door and window frames, and lawn furniture tubing are also worth 17 cents a pound if properly prepared. This aluminum must be free of all foreign materials, cut to lengths not exceeding three feet and should not be mixed with cans.

Location of the nearest Reynolds recycling point is in Niles-Lawrencewood Plaza, Oakton and Waukegan rds., from 1 to 4 p.m. every Saturday, Sept. 2, 9, 16, 23, 30.

In 1953 Harper published his "Treasury of the Christian World." In 1976 this became available in a paper-back edition. He has been heard over C.B.S. national broadcasts.

The Nasbys were married New Year's Day, 1938. They have four children and six grandchildren. Connie has been a supportive wife accompanying her husband on his calls to the hospital and the bereaved...a gentle, concerned and sympathetic person who is loved by all...a beautiful lady!

Urge passage of tuition tax credit

Dear Editor:

My wife and I are both former public school teachers who have supported every Maine Township Public School tax incentive since 1962. We will continue our support of our public schools. However, we strongly object to the opposition to tuition tax credit for parents of private school children centering around Catholic Parish Schools.

We urge Congressman Mikva to vote in support of tuition tax credit.

Services held for ND's Brother Boniface

The entire Notre Dame High School community suffered a great loss with the recent death of Brother Boniface Landenberger, C.S.C. Brother had served as Sacristan at the high school for 15 years. In addition, he had been moderator of the Alumni Mothers' Club and also a member of the German-American Friendship Club. Prior to this, Brother Boniface had worked for 39 years at Notre Dame University in South Bend, Ind.

Brother was born in a town just outside of Stuttgart, Germany on Nov. 5, 1899. He joined the Holy Cross Community in the early 1920's, providing over 50 years of outstanding service. Brother had been able to return to Germany this past summer to visit his family and was given an extended chance to spend some time in his homeland. Yet he also left a "family" here. As Fr. Markos, the school principal, said, "Brother Boniface led a simple life, but touched all that he met." This friendly, enthusiastic man will be missed by everyone at Notre Dame.

Cracow and to Poland's capital city of Warsaw.

The Jagiellonian University was founded in 1364, and counts among its alumni Nicholas Copernicus. Today, it has a regular student body of 10,000 in all disciplines. The city of Cracow was the capital of Poland until the 17th century, and thus boasts a rich architectural and artistic heritage. Having emerged unscathed from the Second World War, it is today perhaps Poland's most picturesque and stately city.

The summer study programs in Cracow are part of the Summer Sessions in Poland sponsored annually by The Kosciuszko Foundation of New York City, a non-profit institution which promotes educational and cultural exchanges between the United States and Poland. Other summer studies are offered in folk arts, folk dance, economy and foreign trade, theatre and film, and other areas.

John J. Clouser, Maine East principal announces plan to retire

John J. Clouser, Principal, Maine East High School, Park Ridge, has announced plans to retire at the end of the 1978-79 school year, just a year prior to what would have been his silver anniversary with Maine Township High School District 207.

Mr. Clouser, who has been Principal of Maine East since 1966, has spent his entire career as an educator and administrator in District 207. Even before officially joining the district in 1955 as a teacher of social studies and English at Maine East, he completed his student requirement at Maine East.

In 1957 he was made a Dean at Maine East. Two years later, in 1959, when Maine West opened, he was appointed West's Director of Student Personnel. Later he became Dean of Students.

In 1963 it was back to Maine East for Mr. Clouser. The following January he became Assistant Principal and two years later he replaced Milo Johnston as Principal.

In commenting on Mr. Clouser's retirement, Dr. Richard R. Short, Superintendent of Schools, pointed out that he and Mr. Clouser had shared decision making during a time in which many changes occurred in the district.

"Mr. Clouser's appointment as Principal of Maine East was one of the first appointments I participated in after being named district superintendent," Dr. Short said. He added the appointment came just after students had begun to be assigned to Maine South.

Dr. Short stated he has always had a great deal of confidence in Mr. Clouser's ability as an administrator. He recalled that Mr. Clouser shared in the decision making regarding Maine East "during the troubled period in the '60s when high school students had a lot of anxieties about their high school."

"Mr. Clouser will be very difficult to replace," Dr. Short stated.

If you ask Mr. Clouser why he chose to remain in one school district throughout his career, his answer comes quickly. "Because I have been very happy with the schools and the community."

He agrees with Dr. Short that the two of them have worked together during very exciting years for the school district, when the community was growing rapidly and the number of high school buildings was expanding to four buildings.

"At the same time there was curriculum expansion," Mr. Clouser noted, "especially in Special Education."

Speaking on a subject obviously very dear to him, Mr. Clouser said: "I saw through Special Education the district being able to provide a high school education to students who earlier would have had to drop out of school because the educational program then couldn't have dealt with the physical, emotional or educational problems these special students experience."

Solomon is managing partner at the Chicago office of Lavelin and Horwath.

He is also a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants-Special Committee on Corporate Conduct Policy Statements, and Ethics Division Technical Standards Committee. He is vice-president of the Young Men's Jewish Council.

Concern for the individual student and his or her needs is really why we are here," Mr. Clouser affirmed. "If people aren't really interested in kids, they have no business being in the school business."

Clouser, who lives at 901

Cleveland, Des Plaines, plans to do things during retirement he never had the chance to do before. He and his wife, Helen, will spend summers at their cabin in North Michigan and winters in a home they plan to build in Crystal River, Florida.

With her husband joining her in early retirement, she said, they hope to accomplish all their traveling while they are young enough to enjoy it.

Mr. Clouser was born in West Milton, Pennsylvania. He earned his Bachelor's Degree in Social Studies from Illinois College in Jacksonville and obtained a Master's Degree in Secondary Education from Northwestern University.

He has also taken advanced graduate study in administration at Northern Illinois University and the University of Chicago.

A showing of twenty charcoal drawings by Chicago artist Deirre Luzwick will be presented at the Spiesberger Gallery of the Mayer Kaplan JCC, 5050 W. Church st., Skokie, starting Sunday, Sept. 10. The show will continue for three weeks.

The drawings were used to illustrate Luzwick's book, "The Surrealist's Bible," which contains stories from almost every book of the Old Testament.

"I wanted to show the Bible as a real, living, breathing book about real people, not paper dolls. It is humorous, frightening, disquieting, faith-shaking," explains the artist.

"I bit the caterpillar in half!"
(A Love Story)

and assigned Thomas Jefferson to write the Declaration of Independence."

"Are you quite finished, Edward?", Miss Goldwald queried, finally finding her voice.

"Except for this, teacher - pamper me. When I took the matter up with Mr. Plant, your principal, he agreed with me." I recall I grinned before concluding: "After I showed him my reference notes from Gordy's history and several other accredited and noted American historians." I paused, "Oh, yes, teacher. I'm also helping Mr. Plant, your principal, with his address to the graduating class this June..."

"YOU - stay after school!!!", Miss Goldwald bellowed, I recall, with considerable heat.

"Certainly, my dear Miss Goldwald - but the 'you' in your sentence was unnecessary. In an imperative (or command) sentence that denotes strong feeling, the subject 'you' is understood," I replied, politely, with an enigmatic grin.

Epilogue
And it came to pass that Miss Goldwald began to bring me an apple everyday.

The rest of those mean little "kids" back in the class of '26 hung the label on me of teacher's pet.

Being the best reader in class, Miss Goldwald, who loved poetry, soon had me reading aloud to her many fascinating poems from the Arabian Nights and ancient Turkish classics, long after the "giggling girls" and "snickering lads" had left.

I learned a great deal from my 6th grade teacher, Miss Goldwald, for she was an excellent teacher.

I often wonder whatever happened to her?

Bogart films planned at OCC

Humphrey Bogart is the star of two films scheduled by the Oakton Community College Film Society for Friday, Sept. 8.

"The Big Sleep" (1946) and "The Barefoot Contessa" (1954) will be shown in Building 6 on the OCC Interim Campus, Oakton and Nagle, Morton Grove, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

"The Big Sleep," a Raymond Chandler detective story also starring Lauren Bacall, remains popular for its excellent performances and racy dialogue.

Moreover, I was pretty. Possessing a thick shock of wavy auburn hair, an angelic face, vivid blue eyes, a peaches and cream complexion, dimples, and an enigmatic grin - well, do I gotta draw you a picture? (I wonder where it all went?)

My simple declarative sentence was, "I BIT THE CATERPILLAR IN HALF."

And my short story was about this insect - the Lepidoptera - which I researched in the public library. In a nutshell, the story line was that I fell in love with a fury, inch and a half long caterpillar (a female of the Lepidoptera insecta species, and she, after shedding her body, turned into a beautiful butterfly - a female butterfly, let's keep the record straight on that) and ultimately flew away - just as "The Sweet Bird of Youth" does.

Anywho, Miss Goldwald was not amused. "Whatever possessed you, Edward, to write such a disgusting sentence as, 'I BIT THE CATERPILLAR IN HALF!'

"And your even more disgusting story with such sick descriptions of comparing the "yellowish goo that oozed out of the caterpillar's belly, being likened to biting into a chocolate Eclair!"

"Actually, teacher," I replied, "I accidentally bit the caterpillar while eating a salad a year ago. It didn't taste bad - and nobody ever died from it. Although, botulism can be caused by spoiled custard."

Miss Goldwald stared at me, I recall, in stony silence while the rest of the class "giggled" and "snickered".

"My sentence, teacher," I continued, "is grammatically correct. 'I' is the subject. Bit is the verb. The rest is a prepositional phrase, preceded by the definite article, 'The'. If spoken matter-of-factly, it's a declarative sentence. If spoken with strong feeling, as you just did, it can also be an imperative sentence. My story is true. I'd be happy to explain it to you, after school, some time."

Miss Goldwald's mouth fell open, I remember. She appeared to be now stunned into silence, even oblivious to the "giggles" and "snickers" of the class.

I continued, I recall, taking advantage of the sudden silence that stole over the room. "I had the same problem with Mrs. Stinson, my 3rd grade teacher. You know, the one who isn't here anymore." (This was in those bygone days when there was no teacher's union and they were overworked and underpaid.) Mrs. Stinson used the ploy of a trick question on those 3rd graders by writing upon the blackboard, "Who was the first executive of the United States?"

I gave Miss Goldwald my best enigmatic smile as she reached for a glass of water, then stated, "She questioned my answer that John Hanson was the first executive of the United States, rather than George Washington. John Hanson, incidentally, teacher was a distant relative of mine and it was he who served as the first executive, because he was elected under the Articles of Confederation long before 1776. And it was he who appointed George Washington Commander and Chief of the Continental Armies,

Northwest Symphony seeks players

The Northwest Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Perry Crafton who is a resident of Park Ridge and a violinist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, invites players, especially strings, to attend the first rehearsal of the 1978-79 season at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 13 in room E203, Maine Township West High School, 1755 Wolf rd, Des Plaines.

The orchestra is in its 27th year of bringing live symphonic music to the northwest suburban area. "It provides an excellent means of expression for musicians who wish to continue their musical growth and develop skills by playing fine music regularly," says Tom Daniels of Glenview, newly appointed concert master of the orchestra and teacher of violin in the Northwest area. Guest artists appear with the orchestra during the season and an opportunity is provided for young musicians to prepare for professional positions later. The members are auditioned before being selected and the orchestra strongly encourages and favors high school students to participate.

The orchestra will present four regular concerts this season featuring violin, piano and cello soloists and the Northwestern University Opera Workshop performing "La Traviata" accompanied by the Northwest Symphony. The fifth concert will be a special concert for youth and will feature a contest winner from the northwest area. All concerts, presented at Maine North, are performed in cooperation with MONACEP, Mr. Alex Kruzel, Director.

If it is impossible to attend the first rehearsal, please attend any subsequent rehearsal held regularly on Wednesdays at Maine North. For further information about audition or rehearsals call Mr. Michael Jao at 391-9594 during the day or 392-3781 evenings and weekends.

Relaxation training

Tense or relaxed - the choice is yours. "Relaxation Training" starts at Mayer Kaplan JCC, 5050 Church, Skokie on Wednesday, Sept. 20 from 1-2 p.m.

Offered by Lyn Tinsley in 6 sessions, the course offers an opportunity to learn to relax and give tools for restoring balance to stressed body and mind.

Specific techniques for relaxing will be taught.

Fees are full family and individual members $15, limited members $20, non-members $25. Call 675-2200, ext. 202 for information.

"Camelot" opens DPTG's 33rd season

Rehearsing for the opening of "Camelot" at Guild Playhouse in Des Plaines are Raoul Johnson (King Arthur), Harold LeBoyer of Des Plaines (center), who plays Sir Sagramore, and Marty Goss (Sir Dinadan). Performances are Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays from Sept. 8 thru Oct. 1, and tickets for this Lerner and Loewe musical and the rest of the 1978-79 season may be reserved by calling 296-1211, or writing Des Plaines Theatre Guild, Inc., P.O. Box 84, Des Plaines, 60017.

The wondrous delights and romantic adventures of King Arthur and his knights is the subject of the opening production of Des Plaines Theatre Guild's 33rd consecutive season. The musical hit, "Camelot," by Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe, will open Friday, September 8, at Guild Playhouse, 620 Lee st., Des Plaines. Performances continue Saturday and Sunday, September 9 and 10, and every weekend through the month, ending with a matinee on Sunday, October 1.

Season subscriptions may now be purchased, which allow playgoers to enjoy this musical and another ("Naughty Marietta") next May, the powerful adult drama, "Equus" in November, George Bernard Shaw's delightful "Pygmalion" in January, and "Thurber Carnival," which was the basis for "Carnival," in March. This varied menu of live theatre in a comfortable suburban atmosphere is available for only $13.50 for Friday or Sunday series, or $15 for Saturday series, and represents a savings of 25% over the single admission donation for the five shows.

The cast for DPTG's "Camelot" includes Raoul Johnson of Schaumburg as King Arthur, Jackie Shadering of Park Ridge as his sprightly and beautiful queen, Guenevere, and Thomas Hoeg of Mount Prospect as the dashing Sir Lancelot, who turns King Arthur's Round Table into a disastrous triangle.

Others who are donning armor for the Guild Playhouse production of '78-'79 include Tom Ryan of Mount Prospect as Pellinore, a fumbling dragon-hunter, Jerry Haseman of Algonquin as Mordred, the evil knight who sows the seeds of Arthur's downfall, John Schille of Arlington Heights as Sir

Amidst the brown boxes, the 2 teens and the little Mother and Father, an endless stream of Betty Coeds began squeezing into the room, laughing, griping about the food, shaking hands, squealing and just being friendly. They were from Edgewater and Bensenville and "she worked at Lytton's" and "I remember you from orientation" and "boy, was the food bad ... I was sick for 3 days with the flu ... and I'm sure it was from the food." It was an endless stream of people, all young and full of talk.

"It was suppertime and the number 1 daughter had very little for lunch so Little Mother said we'd take her out for a bite ... but naturally, she wasn't hungry, and I gave Little Mother the "Let's get out of here and leave her alone" look.

She kissed us goodbye and Mother remembered she needed a few dollars cash. She kissed us again and I even counted a 3rd time, which was some sort of a record. It must have been that good clean corn-bearing DeKalb air.

As we left I borrowed an old standard bromide from a friend by telling the girls, "Have a good time and be good girls ... but not necessarily in that order." They all laughed and then they all told me what their old Dads said and I realized all old Dads are much the same ... pretty corny.

As we started the drive home we mulled over whether the school was too large. "Maybe we should've considered a smaller school." Little Mother worried because She missed supper and She wouldn't have anything to eat. "The least I could have done was left her some fruit," she worried and soon Mother was dozing as we headed for the tollway.

Exiting at Dempster st. I told Little Mother, "Look at it this way ... you didn't lose a daughter, you gained a car." I thought it was kind of funny but she ignored the little morale booster.

When we arrived home the younger brigade peremptorily asked us 2 or 3 questions about "her school" and then reviewed the sparkling fight they'd had, and lapsed into a finger-pointing battle over who did what to whom.

There's now one less finger-pointer at home ... and we're going to miss her. But I realized as we sat down to dinner, it's only a matter of minutes before someone spills something. And I was right ... and suddenly had a lump in my throat.

Ladies of the Court include Peggy Gire of Schaumburg, Barbara Shytle of Des Plaines, Lisa Collignon of Mount Prospect, Lee Ann Kardon of Rolling Meadows, Sheila McCormick of Morton Grove, Judi Kasper of Des Plaines and Alice McGivern of Chicago.

Sandy Yurko of River Grove and Michael Taylor of Des Plaines portray Guenevere and Lancelot in a dream sequence, and Taylor has also choreographed the other dancers in the cast.

"Camelot's" production staff includes Jim Bedda of Buffalo Grove, director, assisted by Ceille Kushner of Lincolnwood. Marv Unell of Glenview is producer, with Paula, his wife, as associate, and Debbie Morroniello of Mount Prospect, assistant. Paula Unell is also co-costume designer and choreographer. Renee Reade of Morton Grove is the other half of the costume designing team.

Stage manager is Frank Getz of Schaumburg, assisted by his "Poetry in Motion" team, George Wajda, Mount Prospect, and Lee Gouwens, Prospect Heights.

For ticket information and reservations, call the Guild Playhouse box office, 296-1211, between 12 noon and 8 p.m. daily. "Camelot" curtain times are 8:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays, 7:30 p.m. Sundays, Sept. 10 and 17, and 2:30 p.m. Sept. 24 and October 1.

Commissioners requested more research into a request from Ballard Park Estates Townhouse Association for lighting of basketball courts in Golf Mill Park.

Hughes indicated that $4,600 cost for 2 poles with 2 lights per pole plus maintenance could be subsidized thru contingency funds set aside by Save Our Space (SOS) Committee funds.

"There is the changing family, more divorces, more children living with one parent, more working mothers," he said. "The upheaval and frustration youngsters experience in their lives out of school may result in violence, use of drugs, other problems not necessarily created in school, but wind-up as a problem of the schools," he added.

Dr. Short said the natural reaction of educators to all this criticism may be for any of us to become defensive. "That would not be my approach," he said.

He suggested rather that educators begin to look carefully ding the Institute that the Maine Board of Education has clearly stated its intent to maintain the operation of four high schools through 1982-83.

No decisions have been made beyond that five-year period, he said. The district is studying the impact of declining student enrollment on its instructional program.

Dr. Short noted the projected decline in school enrollment in the Maine Township High Schools continues pretty much in accord with predictions, roughly 500 students per year, down from a peak of 11,884 students in 1975-76 to a projected enrollment in 1982-83 of just over 8,000 students.

He said that 10,700 students were expected in the four high schools on Aug. 29, the first day of school.

The theme of the first Institute of the 1978-79 school year was "Improving Education through Evaluation". The topic was timely since the district's teaching staff is planning for self-evaluation prior to the 1979 evaluation of the district by the North Central Association.

In his address, Dr. Short expanded on the theme by commenting on the setting of education in America today, the perception others seem to have of education and the future of education both at Maine and at Maine.
