by David (Bud) Besser

The movie, Animal House, was a story about a rotten bunch of college kids, who should have been cut down at the pass. Spoiled, still a bit wet behind the ears, they indulged in a bit of anarchy, under the guise of having fun on the old college campus. It was a funny movie. We would have liked to have had those fun-lovers in our army unit for 30 days.

Here in District 63 at the north end of School District 63, we have our own Animal House. The same rotten bunch of kids, 10 or 15 years older than their movie counterparts, are out to put the screws to District 63.

Since the district was forced to close schools, a new breed of dissenters emerged from their homes unlike any we'd ever seen before. At endless meetings the same people yelled and shouted and screamed and interrupted meetings in an endless display of poor manners, poorer judgment and a John Belushi-type of crudity which demeaned their more sincere advocates.

In our many years of meeting-going we've seen much anger. But never has it gotten out of hand as it has at these

Extend filing date for Homeowner's Exemption

Robert P. Hanrahan, Assessor of Niles Township, would like to advise Niles Township residents that the filing date for the Hynes Homeowner's Exemption has been extended by Cook County Assessor Thomas C. Hynes. If you have not received a homeowner's verification form in the mail, contact the Niles Township Assessor's Office at 5255 Main Street, Skokie for assistance locally. This form simply requires an affirmation of residence and a signature. It is to be mailed back to the Cook County Assessor's Office or before May 15, 1981.

The Homeowner's Exemption can mean a savings of as much as $300 in property taxes for owners.

These alternatives will supposedly help the financially ailing district whose voters recently rejected a referendum.

All working cash funds will be transferred at the close of the fiscal year to the Education fund with final action to be taken in June.

Easter bake sale

The Women's Auxiliary of the Niles Police Department will hold their Easter bake sale at the First National Bank of Niles, 7100 W. Oakton Saturday, April 18, from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Members are baking their own specialties to make this sale a huge success.

Buck appointed to Niles Library Board

Josephine C. Buck, 8049 N. Oconto, Niles, was appointed to the Board of Trustees of the Niles Library to fill the vacancy created by the recent resignation of former trustee Judith Czyzewicz. Buck was officially seated on the board at last Wednesday's regular monthly Niles library board meeting. She will be up for election to the board in April 1982.

Buck has been a Niles resident for 22 years and has been involved in various activities in the Niles Park District, the Girl Scouts of America and the Cub Scouts. In addition she has been secretary of her area homeowners' association and has served as an election judge for Main Township.

Mrs. Buck is currently assistant to the Chairman of the Board of Dempster Plaza State Bank in Niles. She was formerly assistant to the President and Chairman of the Board at the First National Bank of Niles for 8 years. Previous to that time, she was employed for 15 years at Illinois Bell Telephone Company.

NFS money management workshop

Niles Family Service is pleased to sponsor another workshop designed to give practical information about your money matters. The Money Management Workshop will start April 23 and run for three consecutive Thursdays (April 23, 30, and May 7) at 7:30 p.m. at the Niles Trident Center, 8060 Oakton Street. This is the same workshop that over 75 people have attended and found very profitable. We are again sponsoring this workshop for those who may have missed it, or now are beginning to feel the money pinch. In these times of double digit inflation, we are all concerned about our money and making it stretch. This workshop can't give you more money - but it can help you make your money go much farther through careful budgeting, shopping and planning.

We are pleased to have Jean Bischman, financial counselor for United Charities, and noted authority on money management, lead the workshop again. Jean has led many of these workshops and she has a real talent for explaining the "how-to's" in simple, clear and practical language. As a matter of fact, you won't get any discussion of the monetary system or the Federal Reserve Bank's function. You will hear specific suggestions about saving at the grocery, saving on insurance, and finding the best bargains. She will also talk about how to make your money work for you (after all, you work hard for your money). Regardless of how much you know, you can pick up some helpful hints and some new ideas. We urge you to take advantage of this opportunity. It will be time well spent! For further information or to register, please call Dr. James Cisek at Niles Family Service, 692-3396. The workshop is free!

Fond uncle of many. Visitation and Mass were held at St. Benedict's home on Saturday, April 11. Interment was in Mount Carmel cemetery, U.S. Veteran of WWII.

Flea market shoppers, this affair represents an excellent chance to browse through dozens of displays for that hidden treasure, household goods or trinket, arts and crafts items, home furnishing need, or antique; all at greatly reduced cost.

For those wishing to earn extra cash while doing their spring cleaning, the Flea Market will display areas available at the top 10% of classroom children. In addition he noted the steps necessary to bring other children to that level.

The American Optometric Association also awarded Dr. Nowak the Recognition Optometric Award for 1981. His participation in this program indicates his effort to better service the local citizenry.

Legion fish fry on Good Friday

Bethany Methodist hosts Passover Seder

For those desiring to have dinner out on Good Friday, April 17 the Morton Grove American Legion Post #134 has announced they will be serving their usual Friday fare that evening. The weekly fish fries take place from 6-8 p.m. at the Legion Memorial Home, 6140 Dempster.

In addition to shrimp, perch and a combination fish entree, for those not desiring a meatless meal, a chicken entree is also featured.

Meals with a nominal price range, include potato, cole slaw, roll and butter and beverage.

There are cocktails available from the well stocked bar, and plenty of free parking adjacent to the Legion's building in their own lot.

The evening is always one of cordiality and sociability with casualness stressed, and a spot where many localities congregate to visit with their friends in an informal atmosphere.

Mr. Charles Lilenfeld, President of the Resident Council (a group elected by the Terrace residents to voice their opinions about their care facilities and programs), explained that, "The significance of this event is not the Seder service itself, but the fact that it is being conducted by a Methodist institution and illustrates the broad religious view which should be a good example for everyone." He also pointed out that, "The service will be conducted as a demonstration of what a Seder is like, what it consists of, and what it actually means."

To Mr. Lilenfeld, the Seder is another verification of Bethany Terrace's way of extending humanity, kindness, sympathy and understanding to the residents as well as the community.

Many Hearing Problems Can Be Helped

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who have trouble hearing has been announced by Beltone. A tiny modern hearing aid often can help. A non-operating model of one of the smallest Beltone aids of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

Send for this non-operating model, put it on and wear it in the privacy of your own home. It is not a real hearing aid, but will show you how tiny hearing help can be, and it's yours to keep free. The actual aid weighs less than a fourth of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 9219, Beltone Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria St., Chicago, Ill. 60646.

Scholarship campaign

Pioneer Women-Suburban Chicago Council is launching a Special Scholarship Campaign to benefit the Timon network of vocational/technical high schools in Israel. The minimum $250 contribution will provide for one semester's tuition at one of the six schools in the program.

Timon schools provide alternative educational programs for 1,300 adolescent girls who have known only failure in school, in society and in family relationships. Through small classes, with specially trained teachers and counselors, they are brought back into an educational framework and helped to succeed in school and to establish goals for the future.

Niles West runs to perfect winning record

The Niles West Boys Varsity Track & Field Team opened the 1981 Outdoor season with a convincing victory over both Elmwood Park and Luther North High Schools. The Indians scored 146½ points to easily outdistance the combined scores of both competing teams. The Indians won twelve of seventeen events. Victor Wu won three events: the triple jump, the long jump, and the high hurdles, while both Steve Rosenblum and Scott Margolin each won two events.

The Niles West Indians continued their winning streak as they defeated the varsity teams from St. Ignatius, Notre Dame, Taft, Morton East, and Kennedy. West scored 182 points to easily outdistance second place finisher Notre Dame who scored 104½ points. The Indians were again led by double winner Victor Wu who won both the Long Jump and Triple Jump. Scott Margolin again won the 100 Meters and Norb Rock again won the Shot Put. Mike Lippe was the winner in the Low Hurdles.

The Niles West Varsity is now 7 and 0 in dual meets. Coach Savage is quite pleased with the performances of his runners. They are all working very hard and trying to improve on the Indoor Record of 7 and 1. Co-Captains Art Gunther and Mike Lippe are really doing a good job of motivating the team.

According to the Professional Remodelers Association, an exhibitor at the upcoming exposition, special attention should be given by home owners to the most feasible, beneficial home improvements. Some remodeling projects will return an investment at resale time, while others are most certain to be washouts. Among the improvements considered to be financially beneficial are additions, giving a family more living space; renovation and updating of the kitchen and bathroom areas; installation of fireplaces and wood stoves and central air conditioning.

The Fair is a "living catalog" of products and methods to beautify and improve private dwellings. It is a one-stop shopping "mall" with something for everyone who is seeking solutions to today's energy and home-related problems.

Service displays will include building contractors, garage builders, energy auditors, electrical contractors, foam insulation contractors, plumbing contractors, basement water-proofers, heating contractors, landscape architects; kitchen cabinet specialists, architects, solar energy consultants, chimney sweeps, financial advisors and others.

Among the extensive variety of products on exhibit will be such items as energy-savings appliances, ceiling fans, sauna, kitchen cabinets, garage doors, storm windows and doors, wall coverings, air conditioners, fireplaces, woodburning stoves, home furnishings, roofing and siding, water purification systems, awnings, water heaters, closet organization systems, swimming pools, solar cookers, food dehydrators, woodworking equipment, gutters, skylights, clock kits and movements, insulation and portable heaters.

To complement the extensive array of energy, home improvement and maintenance products and services, many of the exhibits at the Fair will feature informative do-it-yourself demonstrations and public service displays representing such organizations as the Better Business Bureau, Illinois Solar Energy Association, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Chicago District Council of Carpenters, Cook County Assessor's Office, U.S. Dept. of Energy, W.R. Harper College and University of Illinois-Circle Campus Energy Resources Center.

Admission to the Fair is $3 with discount coupons (regular adult admission is $4) available from leading retail and financial institutions such as: Walgreen Drug Stores, Dominick's Finer Foods, True Value Hardware Stores, participating Chicagoland Chrysler/Plymouth Dodge dealers, Hines' Lumber, LaSalle National Bank, First Federal of Chicago, Talman Home Federal Savings, North West Federal Savings, and Upton Federal, as well as other leading banks and savings and loan associations. Admission for children ages 6 to 12 is $1; children under 6 will be admitted free.

"Over-The-Hill" Roof Needs Replacement

Though "neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night" reportedly deters postmen from "the swift completion of their appointed rounds," such weather will—in time—bring about the swift completion of your roof's demise.

A roof is continually exposed to rain, wind, hail and sun. Over the years, this exposure takes its toll on your roof by wearing it down; a condition that can be cured only by installing a new roof.

If your roof looks a little weatherbeaten, or if it is of standard shingles and more than 15 years old, the Asphalt Roofing Manufacturers Association suggests that you take some time this spring to check your roof inside and out.

First, grab a flashlight and head for the attic. Look for signs of leaks such as moist areas on the underside of the deck.

Then, check the roof itself for cracked, curled or missing shingles. Avoid walking on your roof; it can be dangerous to you and damaging to the roof. Instead, walk around the house and use binoculars to determine the condition of the roof.

More information on roofing is available for 35 cents from ARMA, P.O. Box 3248, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10163.

Good driving skills can conserve energy

By improving fuel conservation driving skills, the average California driver could save approximately 150 gallons of gasoline per year, which would amount to a dollar savings of well over $200 per year for the average driver.

Drivers are invited to measure their own ability to conserve gasoline by taking Union Oil Company of California's unique computer-programmed Fuel Economy Driver's Test at the Energy & Home Improvement Fair to be held at the Arlington Park Race Track Exposition Hall Wednesday, April 22 through Sunday, April 26.

Union estimates that on the basis of 6.1 million licensed passenger cars in Illinois, the amount of gallons which could be saved by driver conservation amount to $15 million per year.

Fuel Economy Driver's Test will be one of more than 500 displays featured at the April 22-26 Energy & Home Improvement Fair.

Are you an energy-saver?

The energy crisis has made us all more aware of how much we depend on energy. To find out how conscious you are of how you use or lose the energy that heats your home, experts have developed some questions to help you discover if you are an energy-saver.

Do you have your heating equipment serviced by a reputable heating specialist before the start of each heating season? It could reduce your heating bill as much as 10 percent and save the discomfort and expense of a winter breakdown.

Do you inspect heating ducts annually for leaks? Repairing them with a quality duct tape will help heat where you want it.

If your home has zone heating, are your thermostats set for the activity of the area? Use higher temperatures in bathrooms, study and living areas, lower temperatures in the kitchen, sleeping and less active areas.

Do you reset your thermostat higher than needed? Don't. Your furnace will not produce heat any faster, and you may forget to turn it down.

Do you check furnace filters every two months during the heating season? Cleaning or replacing them as needed helps keep your furnace running efficiently.

Do you keep the area around the furnace housing free of dust, lint and litter? This is another way to keep the furnace efficient.

"OUR PERSONAL BANKER IS HELPING US BEAT NEXT WINTER'S HIGH COST OF HEATING."

"For years, heat has been draining out of our poorly insulated home — draining our pocketbooks, too. Fortunately, our personal banker, after looking at our finances, is working everything out for us with a home improvement loan. We're insulating our attic and installing new storm windows right now, so that this winter we'll beat the high cost of heating bills! Why don't you see a First Personal Banker and save money this winter, too?"

Their heating bill problems are being solved. And yours can be, too. That's why your personal banker is here — to help you. And it's so much easier when one person handles everything, especially when that person is a bank officer with broad banking experience.

So, bring your home improvement plans to us. Just tell your personal banker what you'll need for your energy-saving project. You'll get fast service and a payment plan to suit your budget.

To make things even easier, we can arrange for automatic payments from your First checking account. And don't forget, your energy-saving home improvements may qualify for special tax exemptions.

For any type of home improvement loan, turn to your personal banker.

Getting The Most Out of Your Abode: Solar room addition at energy fair

Thinking of enclosing a deck or patio? Planning to add onto an existing home to gain needed space?

An energy-collecting solar room addition can be the ideal, low-cost solution to your space problems while serving as a source for additional free energy. Visitors attending the 1981 Energy & Home Improvement Fair at the Arlington Park Race Track Exposition Hall April 22-26 will be able to view and walk through a glass-enclosed solar room addition.

Exhibitor Burt Klein, president of Airoom, Inc., Lincolnwood, Ill., noted that solar rooms utilize "passive solar collection." The principle allows for the room to capture and utilize the sun's energy. According to the Solar Energy Research Institute, attached solar rooms or greenhouses represent one of the most cost-effective solar applications available today.

The energy captured by the solar room can assist a household heating system as well as save money. Solar produced heated air can be vented to the rest of the home through open windows and doors or by the use of a simply thermostatically controlled fan.

The many practical applications of the solar room addition include: a greenhouse, sunroom, family room, year-round deck addition, sunroom, new home addition, greenroom, and a spa or hot tub enclosure. The energy-collecting solar room addition will be one of the more than 500 displays featured in the April 22-26 Energy & Home Improvement Fair at Arlington Park Race Track Exposition Hall. Visitors at the fair will be able to walk through an actual solar room constructed by Airoom, Inc., Lincolnwood.

DESCRIPTION

These spark ignition gas furnaces are designed for reliable, efficient and quiet operation, as well as easy installation and application versatility. Upflow, counterflow and horizontal models are available. All are A.G.A. design certified for natural gas; upflow models are also C.G.A. approved.

A spark-to-pilot ignition system replaces the conventional standing pilot, thermocouple and safety shut-off unit. The pilot is ignited directly by a high-voltage spark. A redundant type gas valve is supplied for main burner control and is used on all models. The system is controlled from a low-voltage, thermostat and incorporates a flame sensor that safeguards against loss of pilot flame for any reason.

The entire line is equipped for air conditioning. Blowers and drives have been sized to easily handle the listed cooling capacities.

High-grade carbon steel heat exchangers are used in all furnaces. Steel burners are specially protected to resist corrosion and provide quiet, efficient operation. The flame is readily visible to simplify quality adjustment.

The cabinets have foil-faced fiberglass insulation to reduce jacket loss to a minimum and further provide quiet, economical operation.

What's Happening on The Home Front

Unity Savings announces innovative marketing plan

A unique program to sell housing in the Chicago area by offering substantially below-market interest rates in a media blitz was announced by Unity Savings.

Unity's President, Howard I. Bass, at a news conference at the Knickerbocker Hotel, detailed the plan.

"Unity Savings," he said, "is convinced that there is a solid market for home purchases in the metropolitan Chicago area. What must be done first is to get people to come out to look at the available homes. At the same time, the potential home buyer must have counseling as to what is in his or her best interest as far as cost, value and timing are concerned. And, most importantly, the interest rate has to be a low one."

"We feel," Bass said, "that we will be meeting all of these home buyer needs in this campaign and that we can begin to turn-around the Chicago area housing market."

Beginning tomorrow (Friday, April 3), Unity will start a combination television-newspaper-radio campaign to convey the message "You can afford a home in 1981." The ads will feature television personality Ed McMahon advising Chicago area residents that they can obtain a special informational kit from Unity which will show them the locations of 120 homes in 12 subdivisions in an arc extending from Waukegan on the north through western Cook County to Chicago Heights on the south. In the subdivisions are new homes, condominiums and townhouses "that have mortgages available at rates much lower than the current market rate...much lower," according to Bass.

The kit also includes a home buying guide called "What you don't know about buying a home can cost you money," plus a coupon for a valuable free gift. The kits may be obtained by telephoning, writing, or visiting any Unity Savings office.

Bass said the mortgage interest rate will be 11.5 per cent fixed for a 29 year term. The minimum down-payment will be 10 per cent.

He added that "this is the first time, as far as we know, that any Chicago area financial institution has attempted to assist consumers in the search for a home. Normally this is left up to developers and realtors."

Bass explained that Unity Savings believes there is a substantial market of potential buyers who are ready to purchase new homes "if the interest rates are right and the inducement to visit home-sites convincing." Bass added that he is confident the Unity campaign will stimulate housing sales throughout the metropolitan area and serve as a blueprint for other financial institutions.

Bass said there are three features that make Unity's program unique: 1) an intensified campaign to inform potential buyers about the availability of housing; 2) an 11.5 per cent interest rate to stimulate home purchases; and 3) the fact that it's a financial institution that is taking the initiative to turn around the metropolitan Chicago housing market.

The survey shows that the average prospective home buyer expects a 14.3 per cent interest rate. Those actively looking for homes and ready to buy expect a 13.6 per cent interest rate. Those who have withdrawn from the housing market expect the rate to be 16 per cent.

"More often than any other reason," the survey states, "interest rates are named as causing the hesitation about buying."

"We are confident," Bass said, "that with interest rates as low as 11.25 per cent we can be a total success in this campaign."

The Shapiro study states that three basic needs have to be served among potential home buyers:

"Buyers have to be helped in their shopping so they can find the home they want."

"The buyer has to be helped in deciding when is the right time to buy; and

"There has to be financial counseling to help the home buyer determine if he can afford to buy a house and how to manage the purchase."

"The conclusions that prospective home buyers reach about interest rates will vitally affect the timing of their purchases and the vigor of their search for a home," according to the survey.

Bass said that Unity's intensive advertising campaign is designed to get prospective buyers to come out to the home-sites." Once they are there," he said, "we are confident that the combination of a substantially lower interest rate with the home-buying guide and wise counseling will result in the sale of the 120 homes."

Also included among these residences are a few choice condominiums in one of Chicago's most prestigious buildings, Newberry Plaza, 1050 N. State.

The favorable interest rates also will apply to these condominiums.

A detailed map showing the specific location is included in each of the Unity Savings kits.

For additional information please call Ira Nathanson, Senior Vice-President, Marketing, Unity Savings Association, 456-0400.

The 120 homes are in Arlington Heights, Addison, Westchester, Downers Grove, Waukegan, Niles, Unity Savings is located at 6361 W. Golf rd.

Save energy dollars in your bathroom

U-dot Products, 8012 N Milwaukee ave., Niles, has specialized for 30 years in the designing of bathrooms.

In this era of saving energy, we are extremely conscious of furnishing energy-efficient plumbing, which includes showerheads, faucets, bathtubs, and toilet bowls.

Accents in this room, in decorator colors are our easy-clean ceramic tile. Saving of time, energy and money are certainly prime considerations.

Accents in this room, in decorator colors are our easy-retaining air conditioning in the summer months.

(Savings vary. Find out why in the seller's fact sheet on R-values. Higher R-values mean greater insulating power.)

To be sure, the added efficiency that comes from a well-insulated home is a major source of savings, but it is hardly the only source. The tax credit that is available for the installation of energy-conserving materials is a significant feature of the federal income tax code which, in effect, partially subsidizes the investment in home insulation.

If your home was substantially built prior to April 20, 1977 and you have since installed insulation in your attic, floor or walls, you are eligible for a tax credit of 15 percent of the expenditure on materials and labor, up to a maximum credit of $300.

Between the savings that you will realize through lower energy bills and the tax credit subsidy, the cost of adding home insulation yourself or having it done by a professional should be recouped in a very few years. After that, the lower fuel bills are all gravy.

All in all, it makes great economic sense to bring your home up to the recommended levels of insulation for the area in which you live. If you don't know how much insulation you should have, you can write to the CertainTeed Home Institute for their free booklet entitled "Insulation Facts Add Up To Energy Savings." The address is P.O. THESE GUYS CAN MAKE YOU LOOK LIKE A GENIUS.

There are builders and there are builders. The builders in this ad are the crème de la crème. They're the ones who can make you look like the smartest guy on the block because they can put you in the smartest house on the block. The energy-smart house.

The energy-smart house has double-glazed windows. The layer of air trapped between them will help you keep comfortable when cold winds blow or sidewalks sizzle.

The ceilings and walls are packed with insulation to help you stay warm when you should be warm and cool when you should be cool.

There's caulking and weather-stripping around every door and window so you won't waste money heating and cooling the great outdoors. Instead of an air conditioner and internationally known St. Charles Kitchens.

European looks, traditional and star, white kitchens have the latest ideas for easy cooking and cleaning.

Most spectacular is the corridor kitchen line with gleaming black Formica cabinets, relieved of starkness by a vertical pin stripe.

Peter Cameron, manager of design for the firm, said the black kitchen is one of those inspired by the "European look," the latest fashion in kitchens.

The European look is characterized by strong horizontal or strong vertical lines, Cameron said.

Another distinctive European touch are the large, rectangular brushed aluminum T-pulls on the cabinets. Concealed hinges add to the sleek effect.

This stunning kitchen is a bit impractical, Cameron said, because the gleaming surface of the cabinets shows fingerprints a trifle more than other surfaces, such as wood, wood-grained Formica, or steel.

Equally beautiful, and more practical, is the more conventional kitchen with white steel cabinets which, Cameron said, still outsell any other kind.

Then there is the kitchen featuring real wood, both inside and out, and another made with wood-grained Formica cabinet fronts and sparkling white Formica removable interior shelves.

The wood-grain: Formica looks so much like the real thing it is impossible to tell the difference, at least for a non-wood expert.

There is more to goggle at than wood finishes and construction.

The cook and homemaker who has wished for an old-fashioned pantry, or a place to put brooms and dust mops and all the other cleaning equipment, can have them both in a St. Charles Kitchen.

A clever tall cabinet with dual system of shelves, stores odds and ends of can goods. Another tall cabinet with hooks and a shelf holds cleaning equipment and supplies.

There is even an "appliance garage" available!

In the display kitchen, it fits under the upper corner cabinet, has a folding door, and room for several items such as a toaster, blender or mixer.

Cameron was asked how he planned a kitchen.

All St. Charles Kitchens are customized. A designer visits the customer's home and has a conference with the whole family, if possible, said.

The purpose is to determine who is to use the kitchen, how much time will be spent there, whether entertaining takes place in the kitchen, and whether the customer wants a planning center with a desk, file drawers and telephones.

Using a detailed, scale drawing of the space available, the designer sets to work.

There is, however, a basic idea behind every kitchen design, Cameron said. It's called "traffic flow."

Fortunately, most home plans are basically sound, and often a coat of paint inside and out can work wonders in chasing "I wish we could move" blues.

Sometimes rejuvenating a single room that has become dingy and dreary can change the owner's entire outlook on the old homestead.

Another principle in designing a kitchen is to keep the traffic flow through the room out of the way of the person preparing food and cleaning up after meals.

Using these basic principles, the final plan can have almost infinite variety. One customer may want a kitchen planning area, another does not.

For small families who don't use a kitchen as much, a smaller layout is usually more appropriate for a large family which cooks, eats, and entertains in the kitchen.

The designer begins on the theory that food comes into the kitchen and must first be stored, then prepared, and then served. Therefore, the usual pattern in a kitchen is to have the refrigerator near the entrance, then the sink, and then the stove, with counter space interspersed at appropriate places.

Another principle in designing a kitchen is to keep the traffic flow through the room out of the way of the person preparing food and cleaning up after meals.

Using these basic principles, the final plan can have almost infinite variety. One customer may want a kitchen planning area, another does not.

Revitalizing a kitchen can sometimes be accomplished with just a few dollars and a lot of elbow grease, reports Jean Mattingly, home modernization manager for Hotpoint appliances. Among the simplest ways to put new life in your kitchen, she says, is to re-accessorize.

The cost of a customer built kitchen varies enormously.

A lot depends on the kind of major appliances which are installed.

Cameron said the low end of the scale would be in the $3,000 to $4,000 range, while a kitchen he recently designed ran to $20,000.

Beauty and practicality are available at both ends of the price scale, however.

No information changes will be accepted after that date, in order for the 1981 Des Plaines/Park Ridge directory to be printed and distributed on schedule.

Residential customers may include dual listings in the upcoming directory. A customer can add the first name of an additional person to his or her listing if the person has the same last name, address and telephone number as the presently listed 1.

An example of a dual listing is as follows: Doe, John-Mary.

When requesting a dual listing, the customer determines the order in which the names will appear. The listing then will be alphabetized in the directory according to the first name listed.

There is no additional monthly charge for a dual directory listing. However, Centel requires a one-time $3 charge to change a listing or create a dual listing.

Customers who wish to change or add to their directory listings should call their Centel service representative at 299-6651 by May 1.

Skokie resident named chief of WLS-TV's news bureau

John Oxman of Skokie has been named bureau chief for WLS-TV/Ch. 7's Northwest Suburban News Bureau. It was announced recently by news director Tom Kuehl. The bureau is expected to begin operation by late April at 998 W. Bryn Mawr, Rosemont.

A veteran newsman who has been Eyewitness News business manager since 1969, Oxman first joined WLS-TV in 1967 as newswriter and later became film crew supervisor. His 30-year career in broadcasting includes 13 years as writer/producer with WBBM-TV News and a stint with NBC News in Chicago.

In addition to bureau chief Oxman, Ch. 7's new Northwest Suburban News Bureau will be staffed by a permanent reporter and crew. The bureau will be the first of its kind in the Chicago area.

As head of the Industrial solicitation among industry in the five villages served by the S.V.U.W.-Golf, Lincolnwood, Morton Grove, Niles, Skokie. His goal is $41,000, an increase of approximately 22 percent over the 1980 drive. Twelve agencies receive support through the annual drive which is slated to kick off Sept. 16.

A couple of weeks back one of the Animal Housers told us School District 63 should disband and join neighboring school districts. After these many years of working for more and better programs, and increasing and building schools from two to eleven, one of these Johnny-Come-Latelies suggests we close down the school district, and all because their neighborhood school was closed down.

The administration at Maine East was shouting "Yellow journalism" at The Bugle 3 weeks ago when we inquired whether the fire there may have been instigated by arsonists. By the time our reporter returned to the office, the school was already putting out a call for help in finding the person who started the fire. While the guy at Maine East was denying there was any arson involved, the superintendent acknowledged that indeed there had been arson.

In addition to the bush league act by the Maine East people, Park Ridge's Fire Department refused to talk to the press.

A sidebar to the Maine East fire story is also noteworthy. The school district announced a $500 reward would be given to the person who gave information leading to the arrest of the arsonist. A Maine East gym teacher fed information which led to the apprehension of a 16 year old youth. But because he is a member of the faculty, the school district is now coppering out. No $500 bonus for the teacher.

We read where Oakton College is beginning to study its Phase II plans for future building plans. While feathers seem to get ruffled quicker there than any public group we've encountered, nevertheless we hope they will seriously consider utilizing shuttered schools in their area before considering any future building plans. It would be criminal for the college district to even consider constructing another building without seriously investigating the utilization of Maine North and Apollo Junior High Schools.

A we received a small fire broke out above the stage at Mill Run Theatre 2 weeks ago. Our reporter and letter-writer said she could see the panic on the people's faces as they waited in line to exit from the building. She calls for an investigation of the building which she contends is a potential fire trap, with its poor exit aisle. Eighteen hundred people inside the Mill Run during a fire could cause havoc. It demands an investigation by local fire officials.

Since the subject is "Schools," school district 64 residents are fighting the all-Park Ridge school board in an attempt to keep Jefferson School open in Niles. Len Szymanski called our attention to the battle to keep 27 year old Jefferson open, as opposed to having students move to Field or Roosevelt School in Park Ridge, which are about 3 years older. Jefferson supporters favor a single story school which they contend has greater safety features than two-story schools. They also estimate Jefferson repairs will be $46,000 for the next 5 years as opposed to $157,000 for Field and $32,000 for Roosevelt. Interested district 64 residents should turn out at the April 22 school board meeting at Washington School, 1500 Stewart, in Park Ridge.

Lastly, Superintendent William Stout will be honored at a reception May 31 at Golf Junior High School. The district 67 head will be retiring June 30. And we'd like to extend our best to an old friend, Father Flanagan, who celebrated his 50th year in the priesthood at St. John Brebeuf last Sunday. And a similar congratulations to Mike Provenzano and his wife, who also celebrated 50 years together at a High Mass last Sunday at Brebeuf.

Like hot-heads in all dilemmas their arguments don't hold water. They contend the District 63 education process isn't good enough for their children. We can't cite statistics but 3 years ago the President and Vice President of the National Honor Society at Maine East High School were alumni of Melzer school. Considering students came from three different elementary districts, we thought the achievement was noteworthy and spoke well for the East Maine district.

If we can venture a guess we think the disannexation action is motivated by vexation and a bit of snobbery. The unincorporated residents in that area are sort of people without a country. And the Nilesites at the north end are a bit too uppity for my favorite town. They don't seem to want much to do with Niles and Glenview rings very suburban-like. Saying you're a part of the Glenview school district gives these classless people a touch of class.

While the Animal House gang is having their fun, it is really a very serious matter. It concerns 500 kids and $30,000 in assessed valuation.
