Jenner and Block law firm to assist MG in handgun battle

by Bob Besser

The nationally renowned Jenner and Block law firm has volunteered to work with Morton

Grove in upcoming court battles to uphold its newly adopted handgun ordinances. Morton Grove Village Attorney, Martin Ashman, said he was contacted by the Chicago-based Jenner and Block which offered to handle all legal proceedings all the way to the United States Supreme Court. On a greatly reduced fee basis," said Ashman. Also Ashman disclosed that former U.S. Attorney for Northern Illinois, Thomas Sullivan, now a member of Jenner and

Block, has been assigned to handle the legal work on behalf of Morton Grove. Ashman said he would be

Niles turns down condo conversion

Niles trustees unanimously turned down a request to convert a 24-apartment rental building at 8441-83 Dempster St. into condominium units Tuesday night. Trustee Bart Murphy objected to the conversion, contending young people would be inhibited from coming into Niles if rental units were taken off the Niles market. Murphy, who heads a committee seeking ways to attract young people moving into Niles, implied the high cost of owning a home in Niles could best be overcome by the alternate use of rental units. Attorney Fornelli, representing the condo converter, Solid Investment Corporation, told of the improvements to the building, contending it was more feasible to attract people to a condominium building than a rental building.

The board first indicated its opposition to the conversion when it cited the limited parking. There are 28 parking spaces for 24 apartments. Fornelli, aware Niles now has a 2-car parking area per unit law, noted the building is 23 years old, built before the law was created and noted the Greenlake area apartments only had 1.45 parking spaces per unit when they were converted.

Village president Nick Blase said Fornelli's comparison was

State legislators are trying to knock-out Morton Grove's handgun ordinances. Monday, House members tacked on an amendment to a zoning bill which passed, 88 to 75, which prevents local governments from enacting restrictive legislation pertinent to banning guns or gun sales. The full bill must still pass the House, then pass the Senate and then must receive the governor's signature. Some legislators believe because it overrides local home rule powers it may require 107 passing votes which is 65% of the House vote.

Interestingly, two of our local representatives were on opposite sides of the issue. Skokie resident and State Representative Aaron Jaffe contended the amendment is an infringement of police powers. Park Ridge's Penny Pullen, also our representative, contended, "There are lots of things that can be handled well at the local level. This is not one of them."

Morton Grove, like its neighbors, has been under home rule government. Ironically, only communities which have 25,000 population were originally eligible for home rule. Because M.G.'s population has dipped to around 22,000, special legislation will have to be passed downstate for Morton Grove to continue to have home rule government.

In our many years at this stand we have never seen any issue arouse residents from all over the country as this one has. The Bugle has received telephone calls from as far away as Florida and the state of Washington from persons in favor of retaining guns. They were so enraged at Morton Grove's action they were considering running ads "to the people of Morton Grove" expressing their displeasure with the gun bans.

The village of Morton Grove reported letters favoring the gun bans have been more than 2 to 1 favoring their action. But the minority gun-supporters are much better organized and are much more vocal. And this is always the problem. Well-organized minority opinions and actions often gain the upper hand because the majority are less active than their opponents. At the crucial village board meeting in Morton Grove 2 weeks ago the National Rifle Association and several other gun groups had campaigned vigorously on their point of view. Those speaking in favor of retaining handguns were about 33 to 7 over those speaking against handguns. Yet, in letters to the MG village hall, more than 200 letters favoring their actions more than doubled those opposing it.

Trident offers oil painting and drawing instruction

The Niles Senior Center, 8060 Oakton in Niles is offering a drop in oil painting and basic drawing class on Tuesday mornings at 9:30 a.m. The cost of the classes would be $1.25 each.

The instructor is Helen Van Tempura, an Oakton Community College instructor. Ms. Van Tempura believes that this is a good opportunity for any Niles seniors who have an interest in learning to paint or draw to pursue that interest. Because it is anticipated that this class will be a small one, new students can be assured of much individual attention from the instructor. Additionally, because this is run on a per class basis, students can participate at their own discretion, a luxury not afforded by the usual slate of 10 week courses.

For more information on this class, please call 967-6100 ext. 76.

Legion holds last fish fry of season

When the end of June arrives, it signals the conclusion of the year's weekly fish fries at the Morton Grove American Legion Post #134, 6140 Dempster. Representatives of the Corporation, who conduct these Friday meals, issue the announcement that the last such weekly repast will be held from 6-8 p.m. Friday, June 25 this year.

Traditionally the Legion Post "takes the months of July and August off" since so many residents of the community are on vacation; and also the cooks, waitresses, bar tenders, bus boys and other personnel involved in presenting the meal are volunteer Legion people and their families who also take summer hiatus away from the area.

The fish fries resume again in September after Labor Day. Corporation Legion officials thank those supporters of the weekly fish and chicken dinners and look forward to seeing these and friends once again in the fall, adding they wish one and all a happy, safe and healthy summer.

Be prepared when filing for social security

If you are approaching age 62 or 65 you can help speed the processing of your social security retirement claim by observing a few basic points, according to Marilyn Robertson, manager of the Des Plaines social security office.

Robertson emphasized that you should allow 2-3 months for processing of your claim. For instance, if you plan to retire effective September, you should file in June or July. Even if you do not intend to retire, you should contact social security 2-3 months before age 65 to ensure you receive medicare protection beginning the month you turn 65.

Robertson added that you can help speed the processing of your claim if you have certain information and documents ready. You should have your social security card handy, also. Do not trust your number to memory. Being wrong by just one digit can delay your claim as much as 30 days.

Next, you need proof of your age. Social security prefers an official record of birth or baptism recorded early in life. If a birth or baptismal certificate is not available, submit the closest evidence you have showing your age or date of birth. Examples of other evidence of age include family Bibles, military discharge papers, insurance policies, marriage licenses, and children's birth certificates.

You should also submit your W-2 forms (wage and tax statement) or self-employment tax returns for the past 2 years. These are needed so all of your earnings can be considered in figuring your benefits.

The car wash is scheduled for Saturday, June 27, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Mobil station located on the corner of Crawford and Lincoln in Lincolnwood. The students will charge $2 per car or van.

Joseph C. Miller Nilesites take pride in their community

When I was first asked to contribute a column in the Niles Bugle I was extremely flattered to be considered for such select company. Then, as reality set in, I seriously pondered over what would be the nature of my subject matter that would prove interesting to the reader's of "Besser's Bugle".

As if in response to my quandry, the current reported plight of the Niles Real Estate Operator's complaint of lack of housing sales in Niles came to my attention including the Village Board's offer to help the operator's cope with the situation, presents an interesting news item.

The real estate article left me with the impression there is an untold story here and I asked myself two questions: 1. What does this article tell me about the caliber of the people of Niles? 2. How will the unpredictable real estate/interest market effect the Niles residents in the short and long term?

After further consideration of the subject I have concluded that if nothing else the majority of the residents of Niles are very concerned about the character of their community and to retain this created community atmosphere have expended diligent efforts and hard work to maintain their high community standards. The final result, in my opinion, is that the Village of Niles has now achieved what I call "Community Stability", a rare accomplishment for any community in our country today.

An expression...an opinion...
a point of view...

Guest Columnist

For a community to attain this highly desirable status reflects on the positive attitudes and determinations of the residents' conservative thinking based on a lifetime of living experience.

I believe Niles is very fortunate to have so many capable and altruistic people living within its boundaries who actually are concerned about their family, neighborhood, betterment of the Village and exceptional upkeep of their house and property. These foregoing traits, when of a positive nature as they are in Niles, are the genuine building blocks of a solid community.

In addition I find the self-determination and disciplined mental attitude of these many Niles individuals also produces other pluses for the community as evidenced by their support for the church or synagogue of their choice and sponsorship of desirable community type projects. This provides moral goals for the community by setting adult examples of conduct and cooperation with the local schools to insure that adequate education and facilities are provided for the children of the community. These traits I consider the cornerstones of an ideal solid community.

I must conclude after discussing conditions in general in Niles with many friends who are residents, the majority are very satisfied with the general living conditions in Niles and wish to have the situation remain "Status Quo".

As to the Real Estate sales question, I view the situation as a problem that will be with us and the rest of the country for the next several years. Neither can I foresee in the near future any large influx of young families moving into the Village of Niles. It would appear the real estate question will present a serious problem for both the buyer and seller in future markets.

In conclusion, I for one, am generally proud of the accomplishments of the people in our Village and hope our young Niles adults appreciate the excellent examples of community living they have been privileged to witness from their parents, friends and neighbors.

Reporters, Letters Flood Village Hall

Nationwide Reaction to Morton Grove gun ban

by Bob Besser

The response to Morton Grove's June 8 adoption of its controversial handgun ordinance has included newspaper, television and radio coverage from throughout the United States, Canada, Europe and even Australia, as well as letters and phone calls from citizens around the country. As of Saturday Morton Grove had even received six checks from people around the country offering to assist in legal fees, as well as letters of support by an elementary school class in California.

Following the June 8 adoption of ordinances outlawing the possession, as well as sale of handguns, Morton Grove became the focal point of international attention. "We knew the issue was of national importance but I didn't anticipate this kind of reaction," said Morton Grove Administrative Assistant Jim Sloan.

During the three days following the June 8 meeting the "phones didn't stop ringing," said Sloan, as news organizations, particularly radio stations, clamored for interviews. Fielding phone queries were Morton Grove Mayor Richard Flickinger, Village Administrator Fred Huber and Sloan.

Even as the phones rang, print and broadcast reporters were also at the Morton Grove Village Hall requesting interviews. Television's three major networks aired reports on Morton Grove's actions as well as affiliated television stations throughout the country.

(Following the June 8 Morton Grove meeting the Bugle Newspapers received calls from television viewers in California, Florida, Washington state and downstate Illinois commenting on Morton Grove's controversial ordinances.)

Reviewing the press coverage received by Morton Grove, Sloan said it was his opinion a CBS News story aired Sunday morning, June 14, was "the best one I've seen." Sloan, "in three and a half minutes they distilled the history of the events leading up to passing the (handgun) ordinances. It was the essence of objective journalism."

The story was also carried by the nation's three major wire services and picked up by newspapers around the country. Inserted in many letters received by Morton Grove officials were Niles inspectors made 385 housing inspections during May, according to Todd Bavaro, Niles Director of Housing. Violations inspectors were looking for included faulty electrical outlets, leaking roofs and general maintenance infractions. Bavaro noted that most homes inspected are rental units and townhouses. Inspectors also check to make sure no more than three unrelated people are living in a single unit...as dictated by village ordinance. Bavaro also said five Dempster St. restaurants have recently rebuilt damaged fences behind their buildings at the urging of the village. Also Bavaro said his inspectors are checking commercial parking lots around town and, when necessary, requiring local businesses to repair pot holes and paint new parking stripes.

East Maine School District 63 has informed area newspapers that due to the February price hike for electricity the district has been billed $38,000 more for electricity than last year. Last year District 63 paid $183,500 for electricity and this year's bill was $243,700. Additionally, District 63 says if Commonwealth Edison's proposed rate hike is approved it will increase their electric bill by up to $59,000 annually. The elementary school district notes this figure would equal the amount they budget each year for textbooks and workbooks. The Illinois Association of School Boards, which District 63 is a member of, is working to prevent the proposed Commonwealth Edison electricity rate increase.

letters to the editor

The right to bear arms

Dear Editor:
Recently the issue of gun control, with particular emphasis on handguns, has been a major topic in the media. Unfortunately, the large majority of media sources omit what should be widely considered the primary point—the right to keep and bear arms is precisely that. A right. It can no more be overturned by simple government decree than our precious rights of free speech, press, or religion.
The Second Amendment, as adopted during the Constitution's ratification debates, clearly provided for the right of the individual to keep and bear arms. George Mason stated that the militia consists of the whole people, not an organized military body.
For those who still feel that the Second Amendment refers only to the militia and the militia has evolved into the National Guard, inspection of federal statutory law clarifies the point. Under USC 1970 Title 10, militia is defined as "all able-bodied males at least 17 years of age and under 45 years of age."
Now, in its infinite wisdom, the City Council of Morton Grove, Illinois, with the one notable exception of Joan Dechert, has devised their own interpretation of not only federal law, but the Constitution of the United States as well.

On June 8, twin ordinances were passed banning both the sale and possession of handguns. Morton Grove residents have 90 days to surrender their guns with no restitution. That's right, no compensation for their weapons despite the Fifth Amendment's guarantee that private property shall not be taken "without just compensation."
Congratulations to five of the six members of the Morton Grove City Council. With just one simple vote, they managed to contravene federal statutory law and the Second and Fifth Amendments to the United States Constitution.

Can we afford to allow such a blatantly unlawful act to stand?

Thanks from M.G. official

Dear Mr. Besser:

Please accept a very personal thank-you for your front page editorial in the June 18th Eagle. I, as well as others in the Morton Grove Village Hall, was disappointed at the Life Newspapers' failure to respond to its historical responsibility to the people of the community it serves.

As of June 18, we have received 210 letters from all over the country and they are two-to-one supporting the action of the Board of Trustees. Knowing that people rarely write to commend anyone, be they elected officials or grocery store clerks, and that letters are most often critical, this response is very supportive and gratifying.

Again, thank you for your June 18th editorial, and June 11th's column.

With best regards,
James B. Sloan

Constitution does not protect handguns

Dear Editor:

The time has come for American citizens to stand up for their rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. On June 8, a landmark decision was reached in which four of the members of our board of trustees decided that it was time to do something about the rapid spread of handguns in our society.

The handgun controversy has become a constitutional issue, and since it will ultimately be decided in the United States Supreme Court, all of the other arguments, such as its use for protective purposes, will be of little or no importance.

The issue hinges upon the second amendment of the Constitution, which states, "A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed." This was not intended to mean that the right to bear arms for security purposes allows citizens to arm themselves with handguns, for they weren't around in 1791. It was intended to mean that in a revolutionary state a citizen is allowed to arm himself in order to protect his or her family. However, since we are not in a revolutionary state and

Wants recall procedure adopted

Dear Editor:

Since it's apparent Morton Grove will now have one political party domination for the next few years, with no chance for diversity of opinion or challenge to policies, I believe we need to safeguard homeowners against the potential evils of this massive power in other ways, especially in light of events in the last year or so.

Specifically, I believe we should institute a special recall election procedure, similar to what Arlington Heights, Wheeling, & other Illinois communities have adopted, to protect themselves against power abuse.

The idea behind recall is that any village official can be challenged by the voters if he or she abuses the power of office and a public vote taken to determine whether that person shall remain in office.

I believe this is a tremendous safeguard to the people of Morton Grove to protect them against potential power abuse, especially when there is TOTAL one-party control of the entire village government structure.
I shall work toward that end. Care to join me??

Messiah PTO holds picnic

The year-end picnic of the Messiah Lutheran Child Care Center was sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Organization and held on Monday, June 15, at Messiah Park. Parents and teachers brought the fare in potluck fashion and games were played by all.

The summer program at the center has begun, featuring crafts, music and storytime, team games, and water play. Classes are open to 5 1/2 to 8 year olds under Terri Trestrail, school year Kindergarten teacher; and for 3 to 5 year olds under Karen Clark, director, and assisting fully qualified teachers. Schedules can be arranged 2, 3 or 5 days per week for 2 1/2, 4 1/2 or 9 hours per day. The Center is located at 1606 Vernon Ave. Call 825-3767 for more information.

Heads new Holy Family section

Renee B. Lamaka, R.N., has been appointed to Holy Family Hospital's newly created position of Director, Ambulatory Care, announced Sister Patricia Ann, President.
Formerly an assistant director in charge of Holy Family's Ambulatory Care Center now under construction in Wheeling. In addition, she will assume responsibility for the hospital's Employee Health Service and Early Disease Detection Program, as well as continue her supervision of the Emergency and Outpatient departments.

The Ambulatory Care Center, located at Milwaukee and Strong aves., is expected to open in the fall. It is designed to handle illnesses and injuries that are not immediate crisis-situations on a "walk-in" basis. Persons with crisis-situations—such as heart attacks and multiple injuries will be brought by paramedics to Holy Family or the nearest hospital.

"People want to be taken care of quickly; they don't want to drive a long way and they don't want to wait. This facility will give Northwest Suburban residents quality medical care that is as accessible and convenient as possible," says Mrs. Lamaka.

Mrs. Lamaka first joined the Holy Family staff in 1972 as patient care coordinator, in charge of the emergency and outpatient departments. In the past nine years, her responsibilities have grown along with the expansion of the hospital's emergency and outpatient services.

Among the new programs Mrs. Lamaka helped bring to fruition at Holy Family are a gastroenterology department, a telemetry system that links the hospital with area paramedics and the Officer Ugg Poison Patrol, a poison prevention program for area residents.

The 50th wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. W. Henry Shillington was celebrated with an open house at their home in Evanston June 20.

Dr. Shillington is the Executive Director of the United Way of Skokie Valley. About 100 guests were present at the celebration including their three children and nine grandchildren from California, New Jersey, Ohio, and Wisconsin.

The Shillingtons are both graduates of Boston University class of 1929. They were married in the Newtonville United Methodist Church, Newton, Mass., June 16, 1931. Dr. Shillington received graduate degrees of STB and M.Div. from Boston University School of Theology and a D.D. from Ohio Northern in 1954.

In 1972 Shillington became the Executive Director of the United Way of Skokie Valley, a position he still holds.

During his ten years in that office the amount of contributions to the United Way has more than doubled.

"We have lived during one of the most fascinating periods in history," said Dr. Shillington, "a period that has changed the world, but the needs of people remain about the same."

We thank God that people are willing to help people through the United Way and as a result of their efforts many are being helped."

Porter: All students should qualify for loans

Congressman John Porter (R-10th) has proposed that all college students be eligible for educational loans guaranteed by the government, with the interest cost varied on the basis of need. Speaking before a group of students and young people at a forum Saturday at the Oakton Community College, Porter outlined student loan programs and expressed his belief that loan assistance should be broadly based.

"I strongly support the President's Economic Recovery Program," Porter explained. "We must get control of spending in this area as in all others. But we must be creative within the spending limit to assist qualified young people to obtain a higher education. My proposal meets these essential criteria."

Presently, any college student can borrow up to $2500 each year at 9 percent interest beginning to run after college is completed. President Reagan has proposed to make 9 percent loans available only to poorer students who meet a "remaining need" test. The President also wants the 9 percent interest to begin accruing when the loan is drawn.

Porter's proposal would provide all students a government guaranteed loan and require the needs test only to qualify for the lower interest rate. Students who couldn't meet the needs requirement would pay interest on their loan at the market rate, and the interest would begin accruing when the loan is taken out. "Let's face it," Porter said, "college is extremely expensive and there are many middle income people struggling to put their children through school. Many of these families couldn't meet the costs unless these loans are available. For example," Porter continued, "without my proposal a family of five with an annual income of $29,000 and one student in a state university and one in a private college, would only be able to get a loan for one of the students, and that wouldn't be for the full $2500."

Porter explained, "Guaranteed loans are made to students by private banks and repayment is guaranteed to the banks by the federal government. If all loans are repaid with interest, there is no ultimate government cost, except administrative overhead. The estimated additional cost of this proposal is $100 million and this can be further reduced by vigorous collection efforts, which I favor strongly," Porter said. "More strict administrative controls over the collection process can save substantial amounts. In the past, many students failed to pay back these loans. That not only hurt taxpayers, it hurt future students who were denied loans. More stringent penalties are now being imposed for not repaying the loans, and the government has tightened its collection procedures to make sure the money it loans is properly repaid."

"The President has estimated savings in the $2.5 billion Guaranteed Student Loan program of $741 million in fiscal 1982, and I believe that these savings can be realized with my proposal included."

Credit Union offers alternatives

There is a special business at 7600 Milwaukee Avenue in Niles. It is Northwest Parishes Credit Union. What is so special about a credit union? First of all, it's the people. The people who work in the credit union office are special people who belong to the credit union themselves and treat everyone who comes into the office as a friend. However, the most important people are the members—people who have their savings deposited in the credit union are members, not merely customers. These members actually own the credit union and share in its profits in the form of high-as-possible dividends on savings and low-as-possible interest rates on loans.

The members are also invited to participate at an annual meeting of members in the spring of each year, and elect a board of directors to administer the credit union.

Northwest Parishes Credit Union also offers special gifts to savers and special services like reduced prices on Great America tickets, free Visa Travelers Checks, a newsletter and pamphlet rack in the office offering items of interest to members, free coffee and free bill-paying for members. Stop in the office and speak with Marie Plume, Manager, or any of the staff to have your questions answered regarding the credit union. (The Niles Free Bus stops on our corner.)

Estimating your Social Security retirement check

If you plan to retire in the near future you naturally are concerned about your post-retirement income once you are no longer employed, Marilyn Robertson, social security manager in Des Plaines, said recently.

The Social Security Administration has a leaflet for you. It can provide an approximate answer to the amount you can expect to receive from social security, Robertson said.

You and your spouse can get full monthly payments if you wait until you are 65 to start receiving benefits. The length of time you must work in social security covered employment to qualify for benefits varies with your age, Robertson said. No one ever needs more than 10 years of covered employment, however. If you turn 62 between 1979 and 1983 your retirement benefits are computed in two different ways. The benefit payable is the higher of the two amounts. Under a new method, the actual earnings of prior years are adjusted to reflect changes in average wages since 1951. These adjusted earnings are averaged and will serve as the basis for computing the benefit rate, Robertson said. If you reach age 62 during the 1979 to 1983 and would like to estimate your social security retirement benefits, you should call the special teletext number, 823-0815, Robertson said. Ask for a free copy of a leaflet that will take you through a step-by-step calculation.

Expectations for the Economy and Capital Markets in 1981

By James W. Haugh
Partner
Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co.
Chicago, Illinois

Through our Investment Supervision Consulting practice, Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. maintains contact with economists and investment managers who hold varying views on the economic and capital market environments. With the policy initiatives announced by the new Administration, I thought it would be interesting to summarize these views for this column, given the directors' job of monitoring their banks' asset and liability management decisions as well as their trust departments' investment decisions.

The economists who participated on our December 1980 survey displayed varying degrees of confidence in the evolution of economic policy and monetary restraint under the new Administration. However, a broad consensus was evident: The combination of proposed tax and spending cuts, coupled with Federal Reserve control of the money supply, should bring a modest economic recovery beginning in the third quarter of 1981.

ARANGE OF VIEWS

Bank of America: John Oliver Wilson, Director of Economics and Policy Research (and professor, University of California at Berkeley), expected 1981 to be a year of moderate growth.

A Look Ahead at the Economic Prospects Through 1982

Further Moderation in Inflation

Inflationary pressures tend to be influenced strongly by money creation over an extended time period. The growth in money (M1-B) over a two-year period has proved to be a good guide to forecasting inflationary pressures in the year ahead. In spite of many sharp swings in the money supply, the two-year growth in M1-B peaked in August, 1979 at 8% per year. Last year, two year monetary growth slowed to the 7%-8% vicinity and, even with the recent increases in money it remains at 7% per year (M1-B adjusted for NOW accounts). This pattern suggests that the greatest inflationary pressures should have occurred between the summer of 1979 and the summer of 1980. Also, inflation should have moderated over the past year and should ease further in the year ahead.

While different measures of inflation often diverge, there is growing evidence that the consumer and wholesale price indices peaked between the spring of 1979 and the spring of 1980 while the GNP price deflator peaked between late 1979 and late 1980. The moderation in two-year money growth implies an inflation rate of close to 8%-9% for 1981. In the first four months of the year the consumer price index has average 8% at an an-

The first half should see slow growth, with the economy picking up in the third quarter. He did not expect the roller-coaster volatility experienced last year; both the economy as a whole and the capital markets should benefit from increased stability. Inflation should decline, perhaps to 10% by the end of 1981. The Federal Reserve should be better able to control the money supply with aid from fiscal policy.

Bankers Trust Company: Arnold Shindler, senior economist, expressed concern over the outlook for 1981. Continuing high interest rates are expected to prevent any near-term acceleration in consumer spending, inventory buildup or capital investment. Inflation will probably not abate and should remain at or above 10%. Energy costs and food prices also will continue to rise. Overall, the economic outlook for 1981 remains grim, unless the Administration is successful in its economic and fiscal initiatives.

Chase Manhattan Bank: Dina Needleman, vice president and economist, predicted dampened economic growth in the first quarter due to continued inflation and tighter money supply controls. Consumer purchasing power will be eroded by temporarily higher payroll taxes and chronically rising energy prices. Promised tax cuts—$25 billion in personal income taxes and $15 billion in corporate income taxes—will be stimulative. These cuts, plus a decline in real government spending, should contribute to recovery beginning in the third quarter. Real growth in the final two quarters should be 3 to 4%, with inflation at 9 to 10%.

FMR Investment Management Service: Frederick Reynolds, vice president, noted that the sharp increase in interest rates since October has delayed the beginning of economic recovery from the recession and expected the first half of 1981 to be relatively flat. He also expected 1981 to be a year of modest economic recovery, with somewhat lower inflation and interest rates in the second half, and viewed these prospects as favorable for the financial markets.

IDS Advisory: Eugene Sit, president, believes that Ronald Reagan's election augurs well for the nation's economic climate. He expected: 1) Continuing "stagflation" in the first half of the year, including low rates of real GNP growth accompanied by inflation in the 11 to 12% range; 2) significant tax cuts, providing a basis for the beginning of a solid recovery in the second half; and 3) reasonably tight Federal Reserve policy. The economic weakness in the first half of 1981 should be accompanied by further declines in both short-term and long-term rates (with Aa Industrials declining below 12% by spring).

Schroeder Capital Management, Inc.: Aubrey Zafuto, vice president, expected the private sector to be confronted again in 1981 with the last year's high level of inflation and volatile interest rate behavior. She nevertheless anticipated an economic expansion due to the continued ingenuity of American business. She hoped that projected tax cuts would fall on business rather than individuals, balanced with selective Federal budgetary reductions. She added that the pace of deregulation of domestic energy supplies should be quickened.

THE OUTLOOK

The consensus of survey participants suggests a gradual improvement in the key economic and financial indicators. It also reflects the perception that inflation will remain a dominant force in the business and financial environment, but at levels that can be accommodated.

Specifically, inflation will continue at the double-digit level but might begin to abate during the third and fourth quarters of this year. Over the next five years the increase in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) will average 8.6% annually, and for 1990 to 2000, 6.8%. Personal income is expected to grow 10.2% in 1981, remain at this approximate level through the intermediate term, and then drop slightly to an average of 9.2% for 1990 to 2000. In tandem with this reasonably optimistic viewpoint, the economists expect after-tax corporate profits to recover from a 1981 level of 7.2% to a stronger 11.2% level in the intermediate term.

These expectations of lessened inflationary pressure also are reflected in Treasury bill yields, which will average 10.4% for this year but drop to 8.7% for 1982 to 1987 and subsequently ease even more. While dividend yields and price/earnings ratios will remain reasonably stable, the total return on stocks, as measured by the S&P 500 Stock Index, is projected to rise from 12.6% in 1981 to 17.7% over the intermediate term. Alternately, corporate bonds will demonstrate diminishing returns, from 17.4% in 1981 to 11.3% for 1982 to 1987. In the future, stocks are expected to regain their attractive equity risk premium position.

During the first annual shareholders' meeting of the First Des Plaines Corporation, parent company of the First National Bank of Des Plaines, officials characterized 1980 as "one of the most difficult and turbulent in (financial) history". As an example, Jack Heddens, Jr., newly elected president of the bank, cited its prime lending rate of interest, which changed 41 times during the year. It started off at 15 3/4%, rose to 20% in April, dropped to 11% in July, and then soared to 21 1/2% in December.

Despite the "rather chaotic environment", Mr. Heddens said significant highlights in the bank's 1980 activities were recorded. Total assets reached a record level of $253,317,000 at year end, 1980. Net income after gains and losses from the sale of investment securities declined 3.3%, from 1979's record earnings, to $2,256,000, or $4.06 per share compared with $4.19 per share in 1979. However, the book value of a share of First National Bank of Des Plaines stock increased 7.7% from $23.84 in 1979 to $25.16 as of April 9, 1981. The annual cash dividend paid in 1980 increased to $1.75 per share from $1.65 paid in 1979.

The Bank's capital passed the 17 million dollar mark in 1980, reaching $17,873,000 at year end, an increase of $1,283,000 during the year. Mr. Heddens informed the shareholders that the bank's capital determines the legal maximum loan that can be made to a single borrower. That loan limit is now in excess of $1,800,000 which enables the bank to better meet the borrowing needs of the larger business customer, he said.

The bank's lending approach during the past year was described by Mr. Heddens as cautious and selective, stressing quality rather than quantity. Net loans declined 6 1/2% to a level of $106,805,000 in 1980.

Arthur R. Weiss, the newly elected Chairman of the Board of the Bank and President of the First Des Plaines Corporation, reported on the results of the first quarter of 1981 and the prospects for the rest of the year.

Tentative earnings for the first quarter of 1981 were $483 thousand, or 87¢ per share. Last year the comparable figures were $643 thousand and $1.16 per share. While this is a decline of 25%, officials look for an improvement in earnings for the balance of the year.

Mr. Weiss told the shareholders that the bank expects the continuing volatile interest rates on balance to trend downward for most of the year.

To improve its return on capital, and in turn, dividends to stockholders, the First National Bank of Des Plaines is pursuing several courses of action. Among them are extended business hours of its commercial and real estate loan departments to a six-day week and expansion of its Personal Banker Service. A program to closely scrutinize its internal operating efficiencies for the purpose of increasing productivity is also being implemented.

Commenting on the liquidation of The Des Plaines Bank, Mr. Weiss said that in response to the thousands of that bank's former depositors, who suddenly had to re-establish a bank relationship in the community, the First National Bank of Des Plaines fully mobilized its efforts. To accommodate the new depositors, business hours were extended for nine straight days, including being open all day on one Sunday. Mr. Weiss said that according to FDIC officials in charge of the liquidation procedures, the First National Bank of Des Plaines received 36% of all the dollars paid out thus far to the former Des Plaines Bank depositors, for a total of $11 million and 4,500 new accounts.

In other business conducted during the shareholders' meeting, members of the Board of Directors were re-elected: They included: Walter C. Cornett III, John C. Felten, Edward K. Hardy III, John W. Heddens, Jr., Jack D. Hughes, Wesley H. Loomis III, William J. McDermott, Ralph H. Martin, Donald P. Rand, Richard W. Sievert, Louis C. Spiegler, Philip J. Weber, Frederick F. Webster, Jr., George A. Webster, Arthur R. Weiss and J. Frank Wyatt.

No savings institution will ever ask you to withdraw money for the purpose of an investigation says the president of a local savings association.

Skokie Federal Savings president, John R. O'Connell is reacting to the recent outbursts of con games in the area in which thousands of people are swindled out of their life savings by con men pretending to be investigating bank employees. According to O'Connell, "The best defense against these con artists is common sense. But knowing the different 'con' techniques can also help."

A full-color 16 minute film illustrating the most common con games is available free from Skokie Federal to area non-profit groups. Entitled "The Bunko Boys and How to Beat Them", the 16mm sound movie dramatizes several situations in which an individual is being set-up for a con. As noted in the film, a con may start out with a telephone caller claiming to be a bank examiner and asking for assistance in helping to prove the dishonesty of a particular bank employee.

You will be asked to remove money from a savings account and turn it over to the "examiner" as evidence until the investigation is completed. Once this is done, the victim soon discovers that the examiner has disappeared with the cash.

O'Connell warns, "If you are ever approached to withdraw savings, call the police immediately. Other common techniques are the pigeon drop and the lost traveler scheme."

The pigeon drop is often a team effort with one member of the team striking up a conversation with a chosen victim. The other member interrupts the conversation to see if either person has lost any money. A discussion ensues regarding the found money and how everyone could benefit.

One of the con team suggests that they each put up a sum of cash equal to what their share would be, that way if after a determined period of time, someone claims the money it can be returned. The cons convince the victim to give them cash and place it in an envelope. A sleight-of-hand usually takes place and the victim is left with an envelope full of paper.

O'Hare Banks name marketing exec

The Board of Directors of O'Hare International Bank has announced the appointment of Jack D. Hubbard as Vice President of Marketing. Hubbard, a lifetime suburban Chicago resident, began his banking career at Union National Bank of Elgin, holding positions in both Installment Loan and Marketing.

In 1979 he assumed the duties of Marketing Officer at Merchants National Bank of Aurora, developing the first formalized marketing effort in that bank's history.

Hubbard earned a B.A. degree in 1973 from Northern Illinois University in DeKalb and received a graduate certificate from the Illinois Bankers School in 1978. He has also taken and instructed several courses through the American Institute of Banking.

His appointment will expand an already growing marketing effort and his duties will include coordination of advertising, business development, research, public relations and others.

Hubbard resides in the area with his wife, Kathleen, and two children.

Student loans now at O'Hare Bank

Customers of O'Hare Bank can now obtain Student Loan Financing. Although applicants must be residents of Illinois, they need not attend a school in this state. O'Hare Bank's program includes loans for trade and career schools as well as graduate and post-graduate courses.

"At the present time we are limiting this service to our customers and their immediate families," said Mr. Gene Lies, Vice President, Installment Loan Department. The student should apply for the loan in person. "Since this may be the student's first financial responsibility, we like to council each student individually to be sure the financing, loan rate(s) and repayment schedule are understood," according to Mr. Lies.

Anyone wishing to apply for a Student Loan can contact an officer in the Installment Loan Department, O'Hare Bank, 8501 West Higgins Road.

Supplemental security income payments can be made

People in the Des Plaines area who do not have much income or do not have many assets may be eligible for monthly payments under the supplemental security income (SSI) program, according to Marilyn Robertson, manager of the Des Plaines social security office.

SSI payments can be made to people in financial need who are 65 or older, or blind, or disabled. Even children can receive these payments if eligibility conditions are met, Robertson said.

The basic monthly Federal SSI payment is $238 for an eligible individual and $357 for an eligible couple. All payments are made from Federal general revenue and not from social security taxes.

Not every eligible person receives this amount every month in his or her check. Some get less because they already have some other income. Others have their check reduced because of their living arrangements.

A single person can have assets, things he or she owns, worth up to $1,500 and still be eligible for SSI. The limit for a couple is $2,250. Assets include savings accounts, stocks, bonds, jewelry, and other valuables. Not everything counts. A home doesn't count. Household goods, insurance policies, or a car may not count either, depending on their value.

People can have some money coming in and still be eligible for SSI. The first $20 a month general does not count, apart from earnings. Income above $20 generally reduces the SSI check.

People who work while getting SSI can earn $65 in a month without reducing their payment. The check is reduced $1 for each $2 in earnings above $65.

An eligible person living in someone else's home may have his or her check reduced, also.

For more information about SSI payments, get in touch with social security by calling the special teleservice number 823-0815.

Robert P. Reuss, chairman and chief executive officer of Central Telephone & Utilities, Inc. (Centel), has been named outstanding chief executive officer in the telecommunications industry by the Wall Street Transcript. The Transcript is a weekly newspaper for the financial community and corporate executives.

In awarding Reuss the honor, the Transcript noted that he was a pioneer in diversifying from government-regulated activities into non-regulated businesses and that he has carried out this continuing program with an "excellent long-range planning strategy aimed at making Centel a broadly based telecommunications organization."

Reuss said that the decision to expand Centel's operations in non-regulated communications activities has "principally involved acquisitions of cable television, both through direct purchase or merger, and through acquiring new franchises."

Centel's most recent acquisitions include Cable Communications Operations, Inc., serving approximately 21,000 cable TV customers in the Lima, Ohio area, and OVC Telecommunications, Inc., serving more than 28,000 customers in Indiana and Kentucky.

Entertainment Guide

Illinois Weekend book offers travelers attractions

Illinois has more for visitors to enjoy this summer—the world's largest wooden roller coaster, half-price, day-of-performance tickets to cultural events in Chicago, and a new, expanded edition of the "Weekend Book: A Guide to Small Adventures in Illinois."

The 76-page full color brochure, published by the Illinois Office of Tourism, Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, is still the most comprehensive guide available to outdoor recreation with sections on hiking, biking, camping, canoeing, hunting and fishing. But now it features more information on museums, history, getaways, festivals, Chicago and places to take kids. In addition, the Weekend Book highlights three brand new sections: Theater and Culture, Getting Around, and Hotels and Weekend Packages.

The new accommodations section offers travelers hundreds of overnight suggestions in every part of the state.

With the new book, Illinois vacationers will find out where to take a hot-air balloon ride, enter a cow chip throwing contest, eat in a windmill or enjoy an evening of music or drama under the stars. Parents will learn about zoos, theaters, amusement parks, and museums where kids are number one.

And if it's special events you're interested in, over 60 of Illinois' most popular festivals are listed—everything from sweet corn fests and county fairs to turn-of-the-century celebrations and pioneer revivals.

Big city goers will find the section on Chicago brimming with restaurants, shopping areas, nightclubs, sports events, and architectural attractions, as well as transportation tips.

Winter fans are not forgotten in the Weekend Book, either. There's plenty of information on where to downhill and cross country ski, tube, toboggan, snowmobile or just snuggle up in front of a roaring fireplace in a Victorian mansion. The Weekend Book will even let you in on the winter hideouts of the bald eagle.

The library will be distributing Skokie Public Library book bags in which customers can carry home their purchases of fresh fruits and vegetables from the market which is held in the village-owned parking lot, 4830 Oakton.

Other planned summer activities include water sliding on Bangs Lake, with water slides over 400 feet long; trips to the Wisconsin State Fair and the Indiana Dunes, and a New Games family picnic in Busse Woods.

Saint Francis Hospital begins new construction

Saint Francis Hospital of Evanston has begun construction of its two story east addition which will house a new atrium lobby, information desk, gift shop, waiting area, and an extensive office area, all of which will connect directly with the new parking facility.

Work has progressed to the point where it is necessary to close off the main entrance on the east side of the hospital, beginning Monday, June 15 and continuing through mid-October, 1981.

This change will effectively route all automobile traffic to the south entrance of the hospital. For public conveniences, the hospital has added a temporary information desk at the new entrance. From here the staff will direct all patients and visitors to the main lobby where such services as patient admitting, outpatient services and patient visiting information remain located.

To drop-off or pick-up a patient, enter the hospital as usual from the Austin Street entrance, east of Ridge Avenue. Follow the hospital drive behind the parking garage and to the new south entrance.

For pedestrian and public transportation users, the hospital's Ridge Avenue entrance will remain open.

An additional force of security guards and volunteers are available to provide directions. Additional signs have also been posted.

A motion by Trustee Joan Dechert to have a ready tally of those expenses available to the public was accepted.

In other business before the June 22 Morton Grove village board, Gilbert Weidy, assistant superintendent of Niles Township High Schools District 219, read a statement from his Task Force on Student Drug Abuse. This group, composed of teachers, parents, and community residents, has targeted the Magical Mystery Tour Ltd. store, 6010 Dempster, as a detriment to the area.

"To have a place-of-business openly and legally selling paraphernalia, euphemistically called smoking accessories, seems to us to be a gross violation of what most every right-thinking citizen of this community would want. There is a state legislation pending that may help us. We are here to ask the officials of this village to do something about the Magical Mystery Tour Ltd. which to our knowledge is the only drug paraphernalia outlet presently operating in the Niles Township area."

Mr. Raymond Dreifuss, owner of the shop, has refused to comply with the group's request or meet with the group.

Morton Grove Mayor Richard Flickinger reacted with irritation to any inference his board had not been trying to deal with the problem. And village attorney Ashman explained the board has been acting on it for some time, but must now wait for definitive legislation.

He said they enacted an ordinance banning the sale of smoking paraphernalia, but it was immediately challenged and similar laws have not been sustained by the courts. The U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to put the test case of the village of Hoffman Estates on its agenda.

Also, in reaction to the Magical Mystery Tour shop, Trustee Gregg Youstra, who described the shop as a congregating area for youths because of pin ball machines, proposed an ordinance to ban the display of obscene materials in an area that young people frequent. The ordinance passed.

Also at the village board meeting:

• Morton Grove trustees agreed to lend NORTAN the $20,000 it requested from the village if surrounding communities support the system with loans. The village will charge 14% interest, which is what they are currently paying.

• An ordinance regulating the sale and rental of X-Rated motion pictures and video tapes was passed. Obscene materials can not be openly displayed, advertised, viewed or shown. Minors are prohibited from working in the business, and no materials may be sold or rented to minors.

• Northwestern Stables has received a July 27 deadline for satisfying village requests, on the recommendation of the building commissioner and police department. Stable owner Frank Jayne Jr., who has been cited for alleged violations of village building requirements, retained last week former state legislator Eugene Schlickman as his counsel. Schlickman has been meeting with village officials on the matter.

• Those behind the Dempster Street Corridor and Commercial Strip Analysis project will hold a workshop open to the public on Monday, June 22 at 7 p.m. in the council chambers. The citizens will present their recommendations at this meeting.

People with special interests have always had an upper hand in America. The lobbyists in Washington and Springfield have long represented very small segments of our population. The business lobbyists represent infinitesimal minorities in the United States. Yet, they are able to get legislation passed through their concentrated efforts.

We're sure many of you reading this column also support banning handguns. Yet, we're also sure few people have made any conscientious effort to do anything about it. How easy it would be to spend 10 minutes dropping a note to the Morton Grove trustees with your point of view. And if that effort is too much how simple it would be to phone the MG village hall with a comment from you.

Morton Grove trustees did something very special at their meeting two weeks ago. But it requires strong support from the apathetic majority.

The special interest forces at work in our local communities, as well as at the state level and in Washington, represent a very few people. But their disproportionate power is excessive because the apathetic majority prefers to remain apathetic. Until they arouse themselves and take an active role in this very difficult fight the road to banning handguns will continue to be obstructed by small well-organized power groups.

Quite bluntly, when you get "your lead out", blood-letting in America will be substantially reduced by restricting the "use of lead".

Condo conversion ...

like comparing apples to oranges. He cited the many-hundred units of Greenlake quite different from the 24 unit Demster st. building. Blase emphasized Niles insists village workers reside within Niles. Since many can't afford home the apartment rentals are essential. He said while the court has not dealt with balance of rental units to condos in a community, Niles is most concerned about the matter. "What we think about the community is essential," said the Mayor. Attorney Porelli did not disagree with Blase's contention. Trustee Orville Otten then introduced the motion to deny the conversion request "at this time" contending he felt it would be a mistake to approve the condos. Otton's motion was unanimously supported by the remaining sitting 4 trustees (Selman was absent).

In other actions Tuesday night trustees turned down a request to lower the $150 license fee for a resale shop at 8555 Milwaukee Avenue. The petitioner, identifying herself as the Mother of a Mrs. Chafin, owner of the shop, contended the fee was excessive. She said since she bought the shop, and since selling it to her daughter, the business has been run well. "We're selling 'straight' goods", she said, and thought it unfair the fee was so high. She said they did not sell any valuables (gold, silver, jewelry) in the store. She thought her daughter was being punished for past indiscretions. The previous owner had problems with the village regarding the sale of stolen goods. But Blase said the new owner was running a clean business. Since the new ownership took over no problems with the police have arisen. While the re-sale store owner's Mother implied the store was having a hard time making ends meet license officer George Nowak noted they had briefly opened a second store in Lawrencewood Shopping Center, leaving the impression opening a second store in a high rental area means times are not as dire as she noted. While Blase emphasized she was running a clean business he said "funny things" go on in that

Furthermore Ashman said that Jenner and Block agreed to a maximum fee of $15,000 regardless of the length of the upcoming legal battle or the amount of work involved.

Ashman said that the National Coalition to Ban Handguns, located in Washington D.C., has offered to pay Jenner and Block's $15,000 fee. Ashman indicated that Morton Grove officials had accepted the organization's offer. Jenner and Block will be charging Morton Grove $50 per hour for work done by the firm's partners and $35 an hour for work done by associates. There will be no charge for work done by paralegals.

Ashman said that besides Jenner and Block two Washington D.C. law firms had also volunteered to handle the expected legal battle. However, Morton Grove officials chose Jenner and Block, said Ashman, because, "we know Jenner and Block... and it is a lot easier to consult with a Chicago based firm."

As to why Jenner and Block offered their services Ashman said, "They favor the concept of handgun control and believe we are correct."

Morton Grove trustees passed the nation's strictest handgun controls on June 8. Included in the ordinances was the outlawing of the possession of handguns by most residents. Also it was made illegal to sell handguns in Morton Grove. Ashman said it could take up to a year in various courts before the Morton Grove case reaches the U.S. Supreme Court.

The first legal challenge to the Morton Grove handgun ordinances came shortly after their passage on June 8 when a Morton Grove resident filed a suit challenging their validity.

Tr. Ang Marcheschi noted Niles was willing to place additional buses on the street if the RTA discontinued operations. He said it would cost the village about $1,000 per week, the same cost as the loan would be for. The loan was limited to 2 months at the insistence of Blase and Otton. Request for alley vacation in area bordered by Jarvis, Chase, Harlem and Nora was approved. A letter will go out to interested neighbors.

Leila Selen, 7942 Odell, noted the closing of schools in Niles should make officials consider the alternative of Niles having its own school from kindergarten thru the 12th year. She said the state enabling acts allows the creation of such unit districts.

Blase agreed with her and said the problem would be checked out.

Tr. Carol Panek reported the cable TV franchise agreement would be finished by the end of the week and would report to the committee.

The Meal on Wheels program served 1565 meals to seniors in their homes between May, 1980 and April, 1981 with 22 drivers delivering 833 routes. A regular report will be delivered to all trustees in the future.

Besides reporting the handgun story newspapers also lent editorial support to Morton Grove's actions. The nation's most influential newspaper, the New York Times, in a June 13 editorial, strongly praised Morton Grove for taking the initiative in combating a problem Washington D.C. lawmakers have been avoiding for years.

Also, the Chicago Tribune editorially praised Morton Grove in a June 12 editorial. Predicting the abuse Morton Grove Trustees will have to be exposed to by the anti-gun control lobby the Tribune urged gun control advocates to actively counter this expected harassment.

The Chicago Sun-Times also came to Morton Grove's defense in a June 11 editorial. Comparing Morton Grove's efforts of leading the way in gun control to America's pioneers the Sun-Times took note of Morton Grove's "brave spirit".

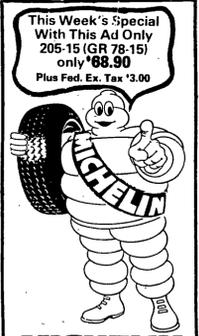

Morton Grove officials also report having received letters, at the rate of 20 to 30 per day, from people throughout the country commenting on the Morton Grove decision. Sloan said as of Saturday the Morton Grove Village Hall had received 251 letters of which 174 supported the handgun controls and 77 were opposed to the ordinances.

"Anybody who sent us a letter will get a response thanking them for their interest..." in the new ordinances, said Sloan. Sloan also said he had received nearly 40 requests for copies of the new ordinances. Sloan said the requests were made by state and local legislators from around the country, as well as gun groups and individuals.
