District 63 delays sale of Harrison property

by David 'Bud' Besser

East-Maine District 63's school board pushed back to February further discussion concerning the selling of property in the 3200 block on Harrison near Glenview. Tuesday night the board rescinded an October 27 resolution to seek bids for the 3,075 acres of unimproved land. Because of a law change November 3, it forced the board to invalidate the October resolution. The new law requires a "reasonable minimum selling price" be included in any resolution. In the event of no sale at an open bid auction, the property would be given to a dealer who must publicly give notice of the "reasonable minimum selling price". In the event the offers for the property fall below this minimum, then it

Bergner store to cater to 'upper middle income' shoppers

Slate new department store for Golf Mill

by Bob Besser

P. A. Bergner Co. of Rockford will build a $15 million department store in Golf Mill Shopping Center. The store, described as a "Carson Pirie Scott-type" department store, will cater to "upper middle income" shoppers bringing a new level of merchandise to the 21 year old shopping center. The announcement of the new store was made during Tuesday night's Niles Village Board meeting. In a presentation before the

We thought Mill Run Theatre people looked bad during an incident we experienced last week. We plunked down 29 big ones for the Sarah Vaughan-Lou Rawls show Tuesday night. We arrived at 8:30 p.m. just before showtime. Running to our seats we were immediately informed over the loud speaker Sarah was ill and would not be there. Since we came to see Sarah we marched back downstairs and received our money back. We told the guy at the box office he was wasting my time as well as his. He should have told us at 8:30 p.m. Sarah was a no-show. But the box office man said he didn't know about her absence 5 minutes before it was announced. Perhaps he was right. But certainly someone at Mill Run knew long before the announcement. We received the impression the game is to "grab the money" and hope once the ticket-buyer is in his seat, he won't bother to ask for his money back. It's an old game we've seen played over and over through the years. How often have you been in the theatre when they announced a replacement would perform that night? Never do they post it at the box office the first night of any absence.

We attended our first Niles zoning board meeting in several years. We were much impressed with the way the board meetings are conducted. Jack Frick runs a very open meeting giving the

Niles seeks slogan to replace 'All America City'

The winner of a contest to find a new slogan for the Village of Niles will win a $100 U.S. Savings Bond - and an official, made-to-order Niles street sign, bearing the name of the street where the winner lives.

The two runners-up will also get custom street signs, according to Village Clerk Frank Wagner, who said that the development of a new slogan is tied to the Village's ongoing campaign to attract young families with children as homebuyers to the Village. Open only to residents, the details of the contest are carried in the Village newsletter to be mailed shortly to Niles homes. The signs should be great for recreation room decoration and college rooms," Wagner said.

Other runner-up prizes will include Village flags, just like the one which flies over the Village Hall. In fact, each of the contest flags will be flown briefly over the municipal building before going to winners.

SJB essay contest winners

Judges of the Niles Youth Service Jr. High School Essay Contest selected Karyn Wirkus, an eighth grader at St. John/Brebeuf School as first place winner. The subject of the essay, which was only for students in 7th and 8th grade, was: "If You Had the Power to Eliminate One Harmful Thing in the Environment, What Would it be and Why?" Karyn chose to write about hand guns and the misery and destruction they cause.

Karyn has won a $100 savings bond and a trophy and was proclaimed Mayor of the Village on November 10 at the Board of Trustees' meeting in Niles Council Chambers.

Five of the runners up are seventh graders from St. John Brebeuf School also. Pictured with Karyn, they are: Bill Fahey, Amy DeLorenzo, Karyn Wirkus (1st place), Frank Cienkiwa, Robert Pinkowski and Dan Tomaszewicz. They also received bonds and trophies and assumed village positions on Nov. 10.

Veterans reflect on Veterans Day

World War II

David Besser

Back in the 1930's we grammar school kids always observed November 11th by standing at attention for one minute at 11 a.m. Some 17 years before, World War II ended on the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month in 1918, and we always observed the occasion by solemnly standing silently for one minute.

As a 10 year old, looking back 17 years was like looking back 150 years. World War I was ancient history.

"The flame of remembrance remains mostly with those who lived through an era."

Today, lest we forget, World War II ended 36 years ago, more than twice the time we remember World War I's ending in the mid-30's. We doubt if many of us stood for one minute yesterday morning. And regrettably, we doubt many of us took the time during the course of the day to remember things past.

Since the average age of Americans is about 30 years old, less than half of our present population was living during the 1941-45 era. They know little reason for pausing to remember.

A couple of years ago I stopped off at Hyde Park High School on Stony Island Avenue. I hadn't been back since I'd graduated and I wanted to view the names of the boys who served in World War II. Specifically, I wanted to see if one long-time-ago friend was killed in that war. When I saw the huge plaque was no longer on the assembly hall room wall I went to the administrator's office and asked what became of the plaque. Rather sheepishly I was told it had "just been taken down" and would be placed back on the wall after the wall was re-painted. I went down to the custodian's room, and there in a dingy corner of a basement closet lay the dusty plaque, resting against a wall warmed by the furnace which stood on the other side of the wall.

Fingering my way down the names I saw my old friend's name. He had been killed during World War II.

Many months later I found out the plaque had been taken off the wall because the kids in the school grab anything that's on the walls. For safekeeping the plaque was withdrawn and delivered to the custodian's room in the downstairs basement room.

Students learn about America's past wars from their history books, which often are strewn with make-believe, half truths and worst of all, from pertinent facts being left off the printed pages.

The flame of remembrance remains mostly with those who lived through an era. And unless the pain was very close, the anodyne caused by the passing years lessened the pain for most. Because we're caught up in today, tomorrow and yesterday, we have little time to pause to remember 36 years ago.

Kenneth R. Scheel

Part of Andrew Jackson's State of the Union message to the American people stated, "You have the highest of human trusts committed to your care. Providence has showered on this favored land blessings without number, and has chosen you as the guardians of freedom, to preserve it for the benefit of the human race."

This is what the men and women throughout our country's history have done. It is, therefore, right and necessary that we have set aside at least one day a year to remember and honor these people who have carried on the trusts Andrew Jackson stated.

The human mind has a great capacity of not recalling the unpleasant things of life and certainly wars are not the nicest things to recall. No matter how Hollywood depicts them, people still get wounded and killed. There is nothing pleasant for the mind to remember.

"These people paid the full price for our freedom."

As I am writing my thoughts about Veterans Day, my mind has released a flood of memories of the events and people who crossed my path during both World War II and the Korean conflict. Incidents that were both funny and horrible. Events that only a veteran could understand and appreciate.

I also see in my mind's eye the men and women who are living and scattered all over the world whom I met strictly because of my being in service - of the men who were wounded either mentally or physically or both. They do not need a special day to remind them of war. Lastly, the men whom I knew that were never as lucky as I was to return to their loved ones. These people paid the full price for our freedom. I am sure their families do not need a special day for remembering.

Let us on this 1981 Veterans Day, pray to God that we may never have to send our young men and women into battle to defend our freedom. If it be necessary, may God give us the dedicated people who will continue to be the guardians of that freedom.

Let us also remember in our prayers, not just on November 11th each year, but each day, each and every veteran and the price they paid for the blessings that have been showered on this land by Holy Providence.

Viet Nam

Charles N. Giovannelli

I would like to extend my appreciation to the Bugle Newspaper for this opportunity to express my perspective of Veterans Day. I consider myself extremely fortunate to be chosen to represent the Viet Nam veterans on such an important and honorable occasion. Being raised during the post World War II era, I was exposed to the advent of T.V. and modern day movies including numerous war movies and patriotic-type films. As the result, my brother Ray and I were nurtured on loyalty and patriotism to this country.

In 1965, the ominous clouds of war were developing in southeast Asia. Eventually, 2,500,000 young men and women would serve their country in Viet Nam. On November 11 of any year, many seem to forget the true meaning of Veterans Day. This seems especially obvious since the fall of Saigon. As the result of the cultural shocks of the 60's and 70's - especially the generation gap and the political and social turmoil - the Viet Nam veteran returned home overlooked. The stigma that has been affixed to Veterans Day of the Viet Nam experience has been unfortunate and demeaning.

It must be illustrated that veterans of other wars had the total support and admiration of their country. They came marching home to a united and welcoming society. Consequently, Veterans Days of the past were held in high esteem. In sharp contrast, the Viet Nam vet came home to social unrest and wasn't accorded the same accolades; subsequently, this experience had a derogatory effect on recent Veterans Days.

"The Viet Nam veteran returned home overlooked."

Recently, I've perceived a change in the values of this holiday. Perhaps it's because people are just once again becoming patriotic and realizing what a great country we live in. Or, maybe, it's the Viet Nam vet once again displaying the inherent talents they used to survive an unpopular war and now are applying these talents to improve society and its standard of living.

It's my opinion the Veterans Day holiday is even more revered in the hearts of the thousands of Viet Nam vets, though it may not be obvious, because of the unusual circumstances in which they served. It is my hope that this trend continues because it is tantamount to the American tradition. Moreover, this trend will help heal the ugly scars of a dark period for all veterans.

What must never be overlooked for future generations is that we celebrate this sacred holiday to honor all veterans of all wars. But we must never forget our 55,000 comrades who gave their lives in little known rice paddies throughout southeast Asia. I know they would be honored to be able to celebrate Veterans Day with us.

Charles N. Giovannelli is a sergeant on the Niles Police force and served with the United States forces in Viet Nam in 1966 and 1967.

Niles vs. Nursing Homes

Anatomy of a controversy

During past weeks The Bugle has published a series of articles pertaining to the on-going problems with Niles' nursing homes. The problems were created when the State of Illinois re-defined what a nursing home is thus allowing these homes to accept, among others, patients who had been confined in state hospitals. Many of these patients were admittedly suffering from various neurosis and psychosis. Others had been treated for alcoholism and some suffer from debilitating disabilities.

The reason the state decided to turn these patients over to private nursing homes was that it found it cheaper to pay the nursing homes for caring for these patients than trying to care for these people in state hospitals. This in itself is a telling and sad commentary on the condition of the state hospital bureaucracy and the administrators who oversee this agency.

Niles nursing homes, which were created for and received zoning as extended care facilities for the elderly, suddenly became, in no uncertain terms, half-way houses providing food and a roof to sleep under for hundreds of mentally ill state wards. Niles village officials complain that Illinois "dumped" these patients on the village without discussing with Niles the problems these patients would create for the village.

The resulting problems have included scores of walk-aways; patients who leave the homes and do not return. Some of these people are found wandering in Niles, others have taken buses and been found many miles away in Chicago. Niles Police have been called on numerous times to ferry these patients back to their nursing homes.

In some cases the homes, fearing the legal ramifications of one of their charges being unaccounted for, have contacted the Niles Police. In at least an equal number of cases, according to police officials, these walk-aways are not reported to police.

Additionally, numerous Niles' businesses, including Sears Roebuck and Co., J.C. Penney, First Federal Savings and Loan of Chicago, Wendy's Old Fashioned Hamburgers and Golden Bear Restaurant, report problems with these mentally ill nursing home residents coming into their businesses. Many just wander aimlessly in the stores and restaurants, often for hours at a time. Others often bother customers by asking for money. And, on occasion, when these nursing home patients have become abusive or violent, area businessmen have had to call the Niles Police to assist in removing these people.

The public has been continuously endangered as nursing home patients have repeatedly been found wandering in intersections such as Milwaukee Ave. and Golf Rd., trying to stop traffic. Also, nursing home patients can be constantly seen crossing Golf Rd., Greenwood Ave. and Milwaukee Ave., without supervision. Many of them are confused, usually crossing in the middle of the street as cars swerve to avoid hitting them.

And, to no one's surprise, a 49 year old nursing home resident was struck and killed by a car on July 17 as he crossed Golf Rd. in front of the Mill View Nursing Home. The patient, who nursing home officials described as 'slightly mentally retarded' was not the only casualty of that unnecessary accident. The 21 year old Morton Grove woman who was driving the car that unavoidably hit him will have to live forever with the horrors of that tragedy.

Editor's Note:
This story is based upon a Friday, November 6 interview with Golf Mill Director Patrick O'Shea. At the time of the interview, O'Shea indicated no new department store had been chosen to be built in Golf Mill. As the announcement of the selection of the new department store was made four days following the interview, The Bugle regrets some of the information in this story has become dated.

Niles' Golf Mill Shopping Center is planning a major renovation of the mall which will include the addition of a third department store and, probably, the enclosure of the entire mall to allow customers to shop from store to store without having to walk outside, according to Patrick O'Shea, Director of Real Estate for the Milwaukee-Golf Development Corporation.

The Milwaukee-Golf Development Corporation has been looking into the possibility of the expansion and renovation of the shopping center," said O'Shea. "Part of that has included discussions with potential new department stores. To date no definite agreements have been reached with any department stores and Milwaukee-Golf Corporation."

The 21 year old center is owned by the Chicago-based Milwaukee-Golf Corporation which, according to O'Shea, is made up of "several stock holders."

O'Shea added he did not know how long it would take until the Golf Mill renovation is completed.

Social Security earnings test elimination delayed

In 1977 Congress amended the Social Security Act and included a provision which lowered from 72 to 70 the age at which the Social Security annual earnings test no longer applied. This change was scheduled to become effective with January of 1982, but has now been delayed until 1983.

According to Marilyn J. Robertson, manager of the Des Plaines Social Security office, this change was part of the 1981 Amendments to the Act and was included as a part of the effort to stabilize the financing of the Social Security program.

As a general rule, a person can receive all the Social Security checks they are due for any year if the earnings do not exceed certain specific amounts. For 1981 those amounts are $5,500 for people over age 65 and $4,080 for anyone under age 65. After age 72 this limit on earnings no longer applies. The age 72 provision will remain in effect through 1982 and will not be lowered to age 70 until January of 1983.

You can learn more about how work and earnings might affect your Social Security benefits by calling the special teleservice number, 823-0615. Free literature is available.

HEPATITIS: A DISEASE OF THE LIVER

Hepatitis is an inflammation of the liver. Some types of hepatitis - such as alcoholic hepatitis, toxic hepatitis and drug hepatitis - are induced by non-viral irritations. Other types are caused by several different viruses and are classified as viral hepatitis.

Within the classification of viral hepatitis, physicians distinguished between three types but primarily between hepatitis A and hepatitis B. The symptoms and treatment for A and B are alike, and the specific type is identified by laboratory tests. Although the acute symptoms of the B type may subside and the patient may appear to be recovered, the virus can remain in the person's system for years or even a lifetime.

Hepatitis B has been called serum hepatitis because it was thought to be transmitted only through body fluids and blood transfusions or through skin pierced by contaminated instruments, such as hypodermic needles or instruments used for ear piercing, tattooing or acupuncture. Now all blood programs routinely screen all donors and refuse blood from anyone known to have had hepatitis.

The initial symptoms for all forms of hepatitis are similar: fatigue, nausea, loss of appetite, and achiness. Dark urine and jaundice may appear as symptoms later.

The best way to prevent infection by any type of viral hepatitis is to practice good personal hygiene. Wash hands thoroughly with soap and water after using a toilet. Never share an item that can puncture the skin, such as nail clippers, razor blades or needles. Never share an item that could be contaminated with body fluids, such as a toothbrush, handkerchief, or nasal spray. Avoid close contact with an infected person. Once jaundice develops, the period of high contagion is probably past.

KEEPING WARM IN WINTER

- In extremely cold weather, inhale through your nose and exhale through your mouth. Inhaled air is warmed in the nasal passages before it reaches your lungs.
- Always wear a hat, as the head is the most vulnerable to heat loss. Dress in layers and cover your legs.
- Be sure to use enough bed covering. Body heat production falls off during sleep and you may wake up cold and shivering.
- It is wise to avoid smoking since nicotine decreases the blood supply to far reaches of the body and interferes with warming the arms, hands, legs, and feet.
- Sweaters, vests, extra foot covering are all needed even when indoors to avoid chilling.
- Use a scarf or air-warming mask to protect your lungs.

Task Force meets on Auto Theft prevention

Prevention of vehicle theft will be a high priority in the administration of Jim Edgar, Secretary of State, he told the Midwest Task Force on Auto Theft Prevention Wednesday. Edgar spoke before 60 law enforcement officers, motor vehicle law administrators, insurance executives and other auto theft prevention experts at the task force meeting in the Springfield Hilton hotel.

"Vehicle theft is a growing area of crime," he said. "To put it down, we must work not only with local police but with each other. It is an interstate problem." "We want to work with other states as we now work with Indiana in a bi-state unit that has made many arrests and recovered a half million dollars' worth of stolen cars and parts."

The Illinois-Indiana unit, organized in September, 1980, as a result of Task Force effort, arrested 36 major organized crime figures in auto theft rings during its first year of operation. The unit consists of 11 men - three from the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation, two from Indiana state police, four from Illinois state police and two from Secretary Edgar's police.

Charles Doerr, commander of the unit, told how a ring of thieves was caught stealing cars from the O'Hare airport parking garage and "relagged" in Gary, Indiana, with the identity of junk cars bought cheaply as salvage. The cars from O'Hare were taken first to clandestine garages in Indiana, hidden for weeks, then moved to an auto rebuilder. The rebuilder took whole-bodies off their frames and transferred them to salvage frames.

By 24-hour surveillance for six weeks, the Bi-State Auto Theft Unit investigators were able to obtain search warrants and arrest the suspects in the process of completing a "salvage switch."

New laws on drunk driving

The present "DUI" (driving while intoxicated) law will be changed as of the first of the year to the "DWI" (driving under the influence) law. The new law will cover driving or in physical control of any vehicle within the state of Illinois, while under the influence of alcohol or any other drug or combination thereof. Once arrested for "DWI" the violator will be requested to take a breath test to determine the amount of alcohol in his blood, after being warned that refusal to take the test will result in suspension of his or her driver's license for six months on the first offense, and 12 months for the second and each subsequent such arrest and refusal within 5 years. The 90 minute waiting period for the violator to decide whether or not they would take the test has been dropped and only one breath test will be given instead of the two presently employed.

A blood or urine test may also be requested if the breath test leads to the presumption that the violator is under the influence of drugs or a combination of drugs and alcohol.

In other motor vehicle related laws passed by the Illinois legislative session this year, free passenger car license plates will be provided for former prisoners of war residing in the state of Illinois. The Secretary of State may suspend, for 30 days, the drivers license of anyone arrested for the approaching, overtaking and passing of a stopped school bus while the signals are flashing.

House Bill 1117 prohibits any person from driving a motor vehicle for the purpose of providing transportation for the elderly in connection with the activities of any organization unless such person meets certain requirements pertaining to driving ability and past driving record. Fees for original drivers license will be raised from $10.00 to $20.00 with $16.00 of the $20.00 fee being placed in the State Drivers Education Fund, effective Jan. 1, 1982.

The Illinois State Police will now have the power to "Red Line" or put out of service any carrier driver, or vehicle in violation of the "Federal Motor Carrier Safety Act." This will be applicable to vehicles registered for a gross weight of 12,001 pounds or more. Captain Hugh S. McKinley, commander of District 15, Illinois State Police stated, "some of these new laws are not too well publicized but the motoring public will be responsible to obey them after the first of the year."

Falcon Jr. Midgets clinch 1st place

The N.S.Y.A. Falcon Jr. Midgets defeated the Memorial Park Spartans 32 to 18 in their most exciting game of the season. The Falcon won assured the Jr. division. In the sea-saw game, backs Craig Cotton, Louis Karellas, Joe Passanante and David Biede did an excellent job behind a strong offensive line made up of Doug Baum, Scott McClaughey, Danny Mueller, Michael Lubbefeld, Eric Wilcox, David Hancock and Dan Thomas. Craig Cotton scored first for the Falcons on a great 57 yd. run. Louis Karellas' 45 yd. run into the end-zone topped the score 6 more. Craig Cotton went over for an extra point. Quarterback Jimmy DeMeo hooked up with John Rozinsky for a 20 yard T.D. pass. The extra point was made by David Biede. A long drive by Joe Passanante, Louis Karellas, David Biede and Craig Cotton brought the ball down to the 1 yd. line where Karellas drove it over for another 6. The Falcons final touchdown was made by Craig Cotton.

The fired-up Spartans kept pace with the Falcons until the fourth quarter. Their 18 points scored against the Falcons matched the total number of points scored against the Falcon's all season. All three of the Spartans touch-downs were made off punt returns and kick-offs. The tough Falcons defense spearheaded by Dan Thomas, Gary Koren, Scott Hammond, Scott McClaughey, Jim Olen, Craig Cotton and David Biede closed down the Spartans ground game. Scott McClaughey dumped the Spartans Quarterback Robert Ferrara put pressure on the Spartans along with David Biede and Jim Olen. Gary Koren made a solo tackle to stop a Spartan extra point. While Scott Hammond broke up an end-zone pass, Jimmy DeMeo forced a fumble that Falcon Gary Koren recovered. Craig Cotton snagged the only interception of the game.

The Falcon Junior Pewees captured second place in their division by swallowing up the River Park Orange Crush 19-0. In their best offensive game this year they mixed great running and passing to control the game. Quarterback Marty Murray opened the scoring on the first drive with a sweep to the left side behind great blocks by Jimmy Daehler, Tony Ferario, Benny Panke, Jason Chupich and Chris Kono. This made the score 6-0. They failed to make the extra point. After the kick off, the defense held and got the ball back with a great pass interception by Tommy Olen, who ran the ball back 25 yards. This set up the second score in which Murray on a play action pass threw over the middle to tight end Jimmy Daehler who out raced the corner back to the end zone. This made the score 12-0. Running back Benny Panke behind great blocking by Jason Chupich and Gary Hoehl took it in for the extra point. The score was 13-0 at half-time.

In the second half the Orange Crush tried to get back in the game by passing against the Falcon defense. With a great effort by the front line; Danny Breedwell, Nate Bryant, Tony Ferario, Jimmy Daehler, Tommy Lynch, and great stunt work by defensive end Gary Hoehl and outside linebacker Mike Mooshey, this put pressure on the quarterback and Tony Ferario made his first interception of the year. With the ball back in the Falcon's hands, Murray put the ice on the game with another bomb to Daehler, who again raced into the end zone to make the score 19-0. On the next kick off, Hoehl recovered a fumble and the Falcons played ball control with good line blocking by Nate Bryant, Patrick Riggio, and Patrick Murray to run out the clock.

OCC runner wins race

Steven Rosenblum, Oakton Community College freshman, won the division race for 19 year olds and under at the Annual Chicago Area Runners' Association Cross Country Championships, recently held at Riis Park on Chicago's North-west side. Rosenblum's time of 25:27 for the five-mile race broke the OCC record of 25:43, which was set in 1980 by Jukka Kallio, a feat particularly noteworthy because Rosenblum tripped during the race's last half mile only to pick himself up and run all the harder to the finish line.

The race was held on a hilly course under cloudy skies with temperatures in the low 40's. Rosenblum will compete in a special 20 kilometer invitational sponsored by the Chicago Area Runner's Association on November 29 at Caldwell Woods.

"Barefoot in the Park"

Described by Life Magazine as "One of the funniest comedies ever," Neil Simon's "Barefoot in the Park" will be the holiday offering by the Ensemble Theatre Company. Now a comedy classic, "Barefoot in the Park" is the hilarious saga of a pair of newlyweds who set up housekeeping in a rickety Greenwich Village loft apartment, with complications provided by the bride's mother and an overly friendly, oddball neighbor from the attic above. Alan Cargola of Schaumburg portrays the mother who comes to visit her daughter (Emily Ellsworth, Whelan) and new son-in-law (Bob Jares, Des Plaines) on the sixth day of their marriage. She is almost immediately caught up in several wild and exotic adventures propagated by the young couple's charming, deadbeat, upstairs neighbor (Ron Vernon, Niles) who is, incidentally, the local connoisseur of practically everything. Ken Croot of Evanston and George Willis of Mt. Prospect complete the cast, under the direction of Jack Cohen, Wheeling. "Barefoot in the Park" will be presented at the Old Orchard Country Club, 700 W. Rand rd., Mt. Prospect, from November 20 through January 2, 1982. For reservations call 870-0660.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK NOVEMBER 22-28

Maine East Singers

The voices of 20 talented Maine East students make the 1981-82 Maine East Singers a popular entertainment group. Not only did the Singers perform for Dr. Richard Short's retirement dinner, they'll be featured in the November 12-14 variety show at Maine East.

"Now we're going to have to live up to our reputation," said Mr. Jack Olander, Maine East's choral director. Whose reputation? That of this year's Maine East Singers. After their exceptional premier at former Superintendent Short's recent retirement party, the Singers have their work cut out for them.

This select group of performers was chosen out of approximately 50 students who tried out. Twenty became the magic number (as opposed to last year's 16) mostly because this year there are more guys interested in swing choir.

Though the Singers started off with a bang, much of the credit goes to, as well as Mr. Olander, Miss Sheri Porter, the choral student teacher. She worked with the swing choir on music and choreography, and Mr. Olander thinks very highly of her.

The group is aiming to build up a repertoire of a variety of music, such as show and modern harmonies, some jazz, and that indescribable category of "upbeat things" as Mr. Olander puts it.

The Singers aren't booked for the year yet, but as of now, they will be appearing in V-Show and attending various workshop clinics.

The tenor section is comprised of Dan Cwik (Niles), Duane Fountain (Des Plaines), and Terry Young (Des Plaines). Included as basses are Alan Breitbart (Morton Grove), Brad Fine (Morton Grove), and Doug Walls (Des Plaines).

and they have made tentative plans to participate in the Oak Lawn Jazz Festival and the swing choir clinic at White Plains. The group will also perform during the holidays for various events.

Though Mr. Olander adds a change to the music department, he certainly isn't new to Maine East or the concept of swing choirs. He directed the Demonaires at East from 1966 to 1970 and had been choral director at North since 1970.

The swing choir members are: sopranos Diane Cotton (Des Plaines), Jessica Insey (Niles), Marcy Lemler (Morton Grove), Heidi Fablich (Niles), and Kim Sorman (Niles). The altos include Susan Cartland (Des Plaines), Chris Fong (Niles), Dana Henshell (Park Ridge), Susan McFeggan (Niles), and Cara Williams (Park Ridge).

Over 200 students have gotten their heads together to make this year's Maine East V-Show the best yet. Led by Mr. David Jeffers, Mr. O. D. Premo, and student director, Kristin Pavkovic, the show is sure to be a success.

The show opens with a full cast number led by emcee Doug Walls. This year's opening is something new and includes featured acts by Sue McFeggan and Nancy Tolske in a duet, Cara Lechner with a solo, Marianne Janus and Tammy Kyriazakos together in "Good Ship Lollypop," Stacy Rosen and Annie Engerman performing a tap number, and Gloria Torbati leading a kickline, followed by Rina Lorezzana dancing a solo.

'A Christmas Carol' at Centre East

The national road company of a musical adaptation of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" comes to Skokie on Sunday, November 29.

The five musical extravaganza, adapted for the stage by Charles Jones of the Omaha Playhouse, will be performed at 8 p.m. at Centre East, 7701 Lincoln, Skokie.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $6 for children 12 years of age or younger. Any adult purchasing four children's tickets will be given free admission. Tickets can be purchased at Centre East or by phone, using Visa or MasterCard. For more information, call 673-0500.

Complete with a full company of 35 actors, singers and musicians, the show features a full array of traditional Christmas carols as an addition to the story of Scrooge and his Christmas' past, present and future.

Skokie Fine Arts Director pointed out that this is the same show that came to Skokie in 1979. "The audience loved it then, and many people told us it was the best professional version of "A Christmas Carol" that plays in the Chicago area. We know that ticket prices for this show are much more reasonable than any other professional production of this play in Chicago."

The performance is sponsored by the Village of Skokie (through its Fine Arts Commission) and Centre East.

This year's Maine East V-Show is something you won't want to miss. Tickets for the November 12, 13, and 14 performances are on sale for $8 and may be purchased from cast and crew members.

The Maine East Singers perform "Side By Side" while Mike Aaknes, Pete Szoke, Pete Varco, Mike Coglianesi, Mike Overbeck, Jeff Witmus, and Ray Pisarcyk take a swim in "Swan Lake."

If, by this time, you're not in a good mood, you'll "Get Happy" with the full cast finale, led by Dan Cwik.

Giannone pupils perform in recital

The stars shone bright o'er the footlights of the auditorium stage at the Thomas Jefferson School on Park Ridge, Sunday October 25 at 2 p.m.

The stars, big and small were the pupils of the Richard Giannone Studio of Musical Arts located in Morton Grove. The talents, were diverse and the results most gratifying, both instrumentally and vocally. All levels of composition were heard. Mary Grasso did a superb job vocally in her debut performance, after only 3 months of hard study. Sherry Baker on piano, with a fine rendition of the favorite Moonlight Sonata by Beethoven. Lynda Trauner equally fine in her playing Schumann's Traumerie on the beautiful organ which was so generously loaned by the Roselle Music Company in Roselle, for this concert. Guitar soloists Janice Stuckman and Glenn Swanson were both excellent, as were all the other fine stars, number 34 in all.

Namely, the pianists were Eynar and Ayyad Sheinfeld; George and Ronna Olney; Monica, Mary and John Chi; Jenny and Johnny Wendell; Sheree Swanson; Dina Pier Dominici; Ingrid and Veronica Lema; Heidi Lee; Michelle Gall; Sahag Kelekian; Mark Nelson and Joseph Iacoviello.

The guitarists were Paul Grandinetti; Heidi Korbel; Bette Remke and Jeanie Wolms; Richard Sherman and Barbara Izzo. The organists were Johnny Ferraro and Robert Palfy.

The finale of the program was a rendition of Mozart's Sonata in D Major for two pianos, which was so meticulously performed by Todd Swanson and Mr. Giannone and was received with such enthusiastic acclaim by the proud parents of all the stars, big and small.

This will be the last performance at the Thomas Jefferson School because of its schedule closing at the end of this coming semester. In closing, kudos are forthcoming to the wonderful Board of Education staff of Ms. Julie Blom and Art Kochan, who were so unflinchingly and cheerfully cooperative in their every effort in assuring a perfectly conducted performance.

Central Telephone promotions

Dale L. Cross

Dale L. Cross has been promoted to the position of general customer services manager for Central Telephone Company of Illinois, replacing James J. Kropid, who has advanced to assistant vice president-revenue requirements at the Central System's corporate headquarters in Chicago. Both promotions were effective Nov. 1.

Cross, who is a resident of Wheaton, previously had served as staff manager and then general staff manager-rate planning, after joining Centel in mid-1978 at the parent corporation's headquarters in Chicago. Kropid, who is a resident of Des Plaines, had served as general customer services manager for the company's Illinois telephone operations since December 1977.

In his new position at the company's Illinois headquarters on Miner St. in Des Plaines, Cross reports to Wayne K. Norris, vice president of Centel - Illinois. His responsibilities include a wide range of customer-related activities, from the installation and repair of telephones to the operation of business offices and operator services.

In his previous position with the parent company, Central Telephone & Utilities Corporation, Cross was responsible for research and analysis of potential and existing inner-city telephone services, as well as for the coordination of task force assignments.

Cross earned a master's degree in business administration (business and commerce) at Rochester Institute of Technology in Up-State New York, and a bachelor of science degree in mathematics at the U.S. Military Academy in West Point, N.Y.

Before joining Centel, Cross held several management positions at Rochester Telephone Corporation over a five-year period, including regulatory manager, and marketing manager for network services.

Earlier, after serving in the U.S. Army for five years, he was public and petitioner every shot at presenting their cases. Ginger Troiani is an outstanding board member, well prepared and well-grounded in the workings of building and zoning codes. And Director of Building and Zoning, Joe Salerno, does great work in supplementing the board's efforts.

There are 2 board members who seem to have received homestead rights to their board seats without any particular qualifications. They sit there. They never prepare for meetings. We're told they seldom go out and inspect property under discussion. And they take up space without making any substantial contributions.

The new Courtland Avenue exit at Milwaukee Avenue is a great improvement. Traffic which previously had difficulty moving on to Milwaukee Avenue can now move with minimum effort. Formerly, the street intersected Milwaukee Avenue at about a 30 degree angle. You were blindsided from fully viewing traffic when you previously moved into the lanes heading south from Courtland.

The accident rate at the corner outside The Bugle office at Sherman and Dempster has always been abnormally high. On Dempster St. traffic heading west has a left turn signal for cars heading into Sherman rd. But east-bound traffic does not have such a signal. Our guard-house opinion believes this inconsistency with traffic turn signals has been a major contributor to the many accidents there.

During the first 9 months of this year Morton Grove registered 13 accidents on its side of Dempster while Niles recorded 9 auto mishaps. While 9 accidents in 9 months at a major Niles intersection is not unusual the total might cause officials to consider a traffic turn signal improvement for the entire intersection.

An old friend, Ralph Emilio, dropped by Tuesday to inquire about the new state driver's license renewal center in the Golf Glen Shopping Center. He was concerned about the traffic which would be created if the license bureau included driving lanes for driving tests. We assured him it was only a driver's license renewal center. A news release we received mentioned 80% of driver's renewals at these centers do not require any driver testing in the driving lanes. In the Golf Glen area there will not be any outside driving testing activities.

Ralph's concern stemmed from correspondence he had with State Farm Insurance Company back in 1977. He inquired why Niles auto insurance rates were higher than other communities. State Farm answered by stating, "The premium you pay is your share of the total loss that policyholders like yourself will have during a policy period in a defined area. The territories are drawn according to statistical records for a given area. Those statistics are gathered in our Actuarial Department. Because of the statistics, all policyholders in your area require a higher premium than those living in an adjacent territory. The premiums paid from those areas pay the claims of those who have losses, set up reserves for potential future losses, defray business expense and provide a reasonable underwriting profit. We are constantly reviewing our underwriting and loss experience in all areas. When that review shows that our experience improves, the premium will be adjusted."

Everything is above board. Attorney Gabe Berrafato represented the bank interests who were seeking re-zoning for the defunct racquet club on Caldwell ave. Previously, two members of the Niles park board sought to purchase the building for public use. Representing Niles park interests was this same Mr. Berrafato. Tuesday, we spoke to park president Dan Kosiba. He said a long time after Niles park board showed no interest in the building, Berrafato sought the park board's permission to represent the bank people. Since the park board no longer had any interest they gave Gabe the green light.

requires a re-bidding for the property. Board member Ann Sostrin sought to get the resolution on its new track by proposing the go-ahead for a possible sale with a minimum bid of $180,000 for the property. Board member Dick Smith said because of the inflation and poor real estate market, it was "throwing good money after bad" to pay for the preparations for the selling of the land at this time. He said the cost would be at least $1,000 for such preparations.

Tuesday night was also the meeting for the "changing of the guard" on the school board. Six and a half year veteran Phil Deckowitz departed from the board to be replaced by Alan Hanhart, who was elected November 3 to a 4 year term. Incumbent Joan Futterman was also re-elected in an uncontested election. Deckowitz refrained from running for a third term.

The seating of the new board also resulted in Larry Solomon being elected the new president of the school board succeeding Dick Smith who remains a sitting board member. In departing from the board Deckowitz noted his 6 1/2 years on the board was a period which had 3 superintendents shuttle in and out of the district and saw tremendous reduction of classes and schools caused by decreasing enrollment. Deckowitz said he hoped the future years would be easier for board members.

Outgoing board president Dick Smith noted Deckowitz was the best prepared member of the school board, had intentions which were above reproach, had lofty ideals, taught me (Smith) what a responsible board member is all about, had a great penchant for detail and was indeed a friend.

In other actions the old board, and particularly Deckowitz, were dismayed at the last school election. Sostrin noted the cost of the election was exorbitant. And board members were angry the official results of the election didn't "gibe" with the unofficial count. Deckowitz said the counting of write-ins were ignored by the judges and information given by judges was inaccurate. Business manager Jim Bowen said it was well at this first consolidated election it was uncontested because of the miscounts and inaccuracies concerning the count of the ballots. It was also reported a tape was missing from one of the precincts. The official count of the elected candidates is 426 votes for Futterman and 399 votes for Hanhart.

Golf Mill...

Continued from Page 3 shoppers a greater selection." Also O'Shea said a new department store will help to encourage more stores to locate in Golf Mill because the "thing that brings smaller tenants to a center are larger department stores."

Of the approximately 16 major shopping centers in the Chicago area, O'Shea said Golf Mill is the "seventh or eighth" most profitable center. "Financially this center is extremely healthy...having shown increases (in profits) each year since opening," said O'Shea.

In still other actions the board will purchase negative prints of blueprints for 8 school buildings and additions not to exceed $1,500. The old blueprint file no longer exists or is in very poor condition. It dates back to pre-1965 days.

Three bids quoted for health insurance will be reviewed before a decision to change the district's group health program is determined. The agenda published for the meeting noted Allstate Insurance Company would receive health and life insurance for the district effective December 1.

Presently, the district's policies are with Washington Insurance Company. The board resolved to change the current maximum kindergarten pupil-teacher ratio from 29 to 1 to 28 to 1 effective immediately.

Six coordinators for Gemini school's programs, with an added stipend of $1,500 for each teacher, was discussed. The board wants the coordinator's language in the resolution to read "within the district" rather than just "at Gemini school. It is possible the added stipend may be abandoned.

Dempster...

Cont'd from Skokie-L'wood P.1 has 70% funding from the federal government and 15% from state and local government, was delayed some eight weeks due to a strike of heavy machinery operators. Schoeffmann said that work on the project since resumption of work in late September has been "very quick," accounting for early completion of the pavement work.

The entire project was scheduled for completion by November 30, and was ahead of schedule before the strike.

MG Legion...

However, following the meal, participants have the opportunity to win a turkey for their Thanksgiving dinner.

In addition, for a donation of $1, a special grand prize drawing will take place. Only 250 tickets sold for each series, the winner of each of these series has their choice of a $100 savings bond or a portable television. For those not able to join the Squad for dinner, past post commander Frank Hilbert invites residents to stop in later in the evening. Complimentary turkey and cheese sandwiches will be available and the turkey portion will continue for those still arriving having the opportunity to take home a bird. Other prizes will also be offered.

A cash bar is available for cocktails and there is free ample parking adjacent to the Post Home.

New department store.

village board, Jerry Bender, Chairman of the Board of the Bergner-Weise Group which currently owns 24 similar stores around the country, told the board the Golf Mill store will occupy 150,000 square feet on two levels. Bender expects the department store to cost up to $15 million to construct.

Additionally, Bender said the earliest the department store will open is 1984 and that, said Bender, "is if everything goes well...and it never does."
Patrick O'Shea, Director of Real Estate for the Milwaukee Golf Corporation, the owner of Golf Mill Shopping Center, told the village board the likely site of the new department store will be in the west parking lot between Sears Roebuck and Co. and J.C. Penney.

The store will carry lines of adult and children's clothing as well as "soft homewares." However, Bender said the store will not handle furniture, floor coverings, bedding and appliances.

Bender said Bergner stores have been constructed in Joliet, Quincy, Aurora and Rockford. Also a Bergner department store was opened in Springhill Mall in Dundee last February.

Bender said the store would eventually employ 400 people though he did say the number of employees will fluctuate and is "somewhat seasonal."

Bender added he expects the Golf Mill Bergner's to be doing a $20 million volume annually within two to three years after opening.

Adding the Bergner department store as part of a renovation program for Golf Mill Shopping Center, O'Shea noted the center plans on enclosing the south mall between Sears and J.C. Penney.

In addition to announcing the intention to build the new department store Bender requested the village board consider approving an industrial revenue bond for Bergners. A similar request was made by O'Shea on behalf of Golf Mill to aid in the renovation.

The industrial revenue bond approval involves Niles lending its name to a request by a private party to secure a loan from a lending institution. However, there is no financial or legal responsibility on the part of the village. For Niles to support such a request the village Finance Committee must first see various business records to determine that a company making such a request is financially sound and upfront in its business dealings.

Both Bender's and O'Shea's requests were referred to the Finance Committee for consideration.

In other business the village board honored, prior to Veterans Day, Niles resident Louis Lechman, a World War II veteran and a survivor of the infamous Bataan death march. Of the 1,500 American POW's who were part of the Bataan march, only 300 survived. Today there are only 150 survivors still alive.

The village board also approved an ordinance outlawing parking on the north side of Maynard St. from Greenwood and continuing west 250 feet. The vote was 5 to 0. Trustee Abe Selman was not present at the Tuesday night meeting.

Niles also honored this year's Niles youths who were winners of the annual Niles Essay Contest. As usual, the village board recessed allowing the essay winners to appear before the packed council chambers and read their prize-winning essays.

favorite subjects for original oil paintings and contemporary lithographs will be displayed.

Pieces by Walt Disney and LeRoy Nieman are included in the Niles selection.
The Chamber Holiday Art Fair will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily during the eight week event.

Chamber Vice President-Commerce Phyllis Galanter of Debbie Temps, Inc. said, "We are excited at this opportunity to bring quality art at affordable prices to the people of Niles."
The oil paintings come in hand-drawn handcarved wood frames; the lithographs are framed in smart contemporary aluminum, wired and ready to hang.

All sales will be made at the Village Hall, and will benefit Niles Chamber activities. Interested residents can obtain additional information by calling the Niles Chamber office, 966-1805.

Slogan contest...

The other prizes include: used stop signs and Village street signs, an ancient adding machine once used to keep Village accounts straight, one of the first dispatch mobile radios used by the Public Works Department, an older Adler typewriter used by the Village for more than 20 years, a Thermofax machine which can't keep up with the Village's present need for copies, and an oldtime ballot box, used in many past Village elections along with classroom chairs once used at the police station.

The slogan will replace Niles All-American City, a title conferred on the Village some years ago by a national magazine, according to Wagner.

Nursing Homes Commentary...

Other deaths have occurred as former state hospital patients have committed suicide inside Niles nursing homes. Niles Police have also had to be called in by the homes when some patients have become uncontrollably violent.

Reacting to these problems the Niles Village Board, some months ago, passed a series of ordinances outlawing the nursing homes from taking in virtually any patient unless they are suffering from a geriatric-related disorder. However, this ordinance only applied to admitting new patients, leaving the village with hundreds of mentally ill state wards living in the homes.

Niles nursing home officials say they are caught in a legal bind, for while they are legally responsible for these patients, state law demands these people be allowed to come and go as they please.

However, Niles' Manager Ken Scheel argues the homes are hiding behind such legal technicalities, using them as an excuse for not properly supervising their residents. Niles Mayor Nicholas Blase uses more colorful adjectives in response to such nursing home claims.

Using police and fire department records of the nursing homes it is possible to sort out the charges and counter-charges made by the nursing homes and village officials. And what becomes crystal clear is that the nursing homes are first, last and always profit making businesses which, quite simply, have found a new way of making a buck by taking in state hospital patients.

What seems to be the advantage of taking in these state patients, as opposed to caring for the elderly, is that they do not demand the same immediate and constant attention as the senior citizens. Subsequently, the nursing homes do not need to hire either the same numbers or the same quality of staff as when they are taking care of senior citizens.

Nursing home officials claim they cannot supervise these state hospital residents because Illinois law insists they have the right to come and go as they please. Such legal niceties become quickly obscured by the dozens of police reports and remarks by area businessmen that there are scores of nursing home patients wandering around Niles who are so confused they often do not know where they are or where they live.

It is appalling, indeed disgusting, for these nursing home businesses to claim they are only living up to the law by letting the patients wander around Niles for hours at a time. Letting these often helpless people out on the streets is simply a convenient way to avoid having to provide day-long activities and therapy for these people who the nursing homes are paid with tax dollars to care for.

Again, in the nursing home business providing less care means more profits.

The most damning evidence that the nursing homes are first concerned with their ledger books and somewhere down the line comes their patients is obvious by the staff they hire. Police and fire officials, as well as anyone who has visited these homes, report that the overwhelming number of nursing support staff and janitorial staff are people who speak little or no English. And while nursing home officials say these employees have passed language certification examinations, the fact remains that patients and families (as well as policemen and firemen) cannot communicate with many of these nursing home staff members.

And, of course, the reason so many non-English speaking staff work at these homes is because the pay is so low that the only people who will work at these nursing homes are those foreign-born immigrants desperate for work. This tells more about the nursing homes' lack of concern about their patients than all the self righteous platitudes we've grown accustomed to hearing from nursing home officials.

In taking in hundreds of state hospital patients Niles nursing homes showed complete disregard for the senior citizens already living in their homes. And by literally imposing these patients' problems on the Niles Police and Fire Departments as well as on local businesses and an untold number of citizens it appears the nursing home officials have only contempt for the community as a whole.

And, since we keep talking about the bottom line, in this case it is that the nursing home owners are to be counted among those in the age-old practice of making money, and now big money, off of the misery of others.

And such business practices mock the hard work and sincere intentions which are the cornerstones of All-America Niles.

- Bob Besser

Book reviewer at Skokie Library

Book dramatist Greta Wiley (Chicago), known internationally for her lively and absorbing reviews of current literature, will be in the Skokie Public Library at 11 a.m. on Tuesday, November 17 to review Balancing Acts, the new novel by Lynn Sharon Schwartz. Miss Wiley will bring to life the characters and events in Balancing Acts, a story about the life force as seen from the perspectives of a thirteen year-old girl and her hero, a seventy-six year-old retired circus performer. This opportunity to have Greta Wiley speak in the Library is sponsored by the Uptowners Club of Uptown Federal Savings and the Skokie Public Library. For more information call 673-7774.

Des Plaines Valley Geological Society

The next general meeting of the Des Plaines Valley Geological Society will be held on Thursday, Nov. 19 at 8 p.m. at the West Park Field House, 651 Wolf Rd., Des Plaines, Illinois.
Our speaker for the evening will be Dr. Gene Carr, Associate Professor of Geology at Oakton College who will speak on "Plate Tectonics". Dr. Carr will discuss and show slides on the widely accepted theory that our earth's surface is divided into a mosaic of rigid, shifting plates. As they move apart, slide past each other and converge, new crust is generated, continental drift occurs, mountains are formed and earthquakes are recorded.

If I would pause I would remember George Gay, who told me he had enough of the war, that it would last 10 years more, and he intended shooting a bullet through his foot rather than endure 10 more years of war. He was killed the second day he was in France. And I would remember Bill Pass who told me he volunteered for front line action after our friend Phil Kriloff was killed. He spent 10 days at the front, said he couldn't endure it, and was removed from combat. I also remember Herb Darmstadter, who now lives in Skokie. He became a proud Marine, was hit in the water before his first beach landing, which ended his tour as a Marine. And I remember Paul Schneider who ended his military career after stepping on a landmine. I remember a brainy guy who had little in common with most of us guys in our outfit, who just gave out one day and wound up in a Section 8 Ward, completely disabled. I remember a Pratscher and a Feldman and a Fogel and a Creevey, and a guy who ran our P.X. After volunteering for front line duty during the Battle Of The Bulge, he committed suicide. I remember and you remember and the names become blurred through the years.

Just as with former family members who have passed on, our family of friends from World War II can only be remembered by the remaining family.

It is for us to keep the family members alive in our remembrances. And it must be our job to keep the memories alive of those who died in past wars by not forgetting.
