Board approves personnel salaries

Bond to head District 63 for 3rd year

by Eileen Hirschfeld

Dr. Donald Bond was named for a third year as superintendent of East Maine School District 63 at a regular board meeting June 29 in Apollo School, Des Plaines. Board members approved a salary of $33,452 for Bond.

During the meeting Bond said, "I enjoyed working with the board."

Salaries for twelve other administrators, both certified and classified personnel were approved with the lowest salary being almost $30,000 and the highest being almost $51,000 (not including Bond's salary).

Salaries for principals of six district schools, Washington, Gemini, Nelson, Stevenson, Melzer, and Twain, ranged from almost $36,000 to about $42,000.

Board members also approved salaries for 25 secretaries, 27 custodians and other personnel. In other action, board members appointed Raymond Kuper

Niles police department's championship softball team may become self-sponsors if it can't come up with a supporter interested in backing the team with a $1,000 check. The team, which has won championships the past two years, could not get the village to sponsor the team this year. Reports the tight economy has forced the village to tighten up its pursestrings is resulting in "Niles finest" going elsewhere in search of backers.

Based on the past two years league standings, suburban police teams might chip in 1,000 bucks to the Niles team in exchange for the Niles team's not entering the league this year. The Niles team zapped its competition so unmercifully the past 2 years it was really playing outside its league.

That old friend of ours, Nick Blase, is still up to his old tricks. Despite tight budgets and economy moves he's hired "one of his boys", Sam Bruno, to work directly under him checking Niles taverns and liquor dealers. Sam, who recently retired, will be answering only to Blase, who is liquor commissioner for the village. Sam's stipend will be a modest fee, somewhere in the $5,000 neighborhood for the part-time work. But Nick added on one more Party worker, one more precinct captain, a guy who knocks on doors in his home area to bring in the votes for Blase and his friends.

Bugle Digest Local News Briefs

Director of Public Services Keith Peck said complete reconstruction and some curb work will begin on the following streets during the month of July. Madison from Cumberland to Greenwood; Ozanam from Dempster to Park and Oak from Cumberland to Grace. Work is currently being completed on Maryland from Ballard to Church where a new street, curbs and sewers were installed.

The southwest corner of Milwaukee and Harlem aves. is taking on a new look as Niles Public Works employees complete the landscaping of the corner. The lot which is Chicago property, but is leased to Niles for $1 a year, according to Village Manager Ken Scheel, has been an eyesore for many years. The facelift program is being funded through the use of Federal Revenue Sharing Funds and is certainly an asset to the continuing Milwaukee Avenue Beautification Program.

Niles Trustee Ang Marcheschi announced during the June 22 Niles Village Board meeting that Cablevision of Chicago, which has been granted the Niles franchise, was nominated for five awards during the recent Emmy Awards presentations.

A decision is expected by September on whether the Leaning Tower YMCA will build an addition on the north side of its building. The planned addition, which was to include a gymnasium and running track, was to be financed in large part by bonds sold to area residents. However, Director Marvin Lotz said high interest rates may prevent the bonds from being sold, thereby cancelling the project.

Phyllis Gaianter, President of the Niles Chamber of Commerce, recently announced that the Chamber offices are being relocated from 8101 Milwaukee Ave. to the Golf Mill Professional Building. Effective August 2 Niles Chamber's new address will be Suite 328 in the Golf Mill Professional Building.

Safety hints for the 4th of July

Fireworks and fun will be a big part of this 4th of July weekend, as the entire nation celebrates our independence.

No one would deliberately blind a child, yet many children will be exposed to the risk of blindness on the Fourth of July by parents, relatives and friends who use illegal fireworks to celebrate Independence Day, Edgar T. Britton, executive director of the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness said.

"We cannot stress enough the dangers people expose themselves to when they use fireworks. All fireworks have the potential to damage or even destroy the eye. Even sparklers are dangerous because they are capable of reaching temperatures of up to 2,000 degrees," Mr. Britton said.

Unfortunately, a record number of eye injuries were reported to the Illinois Society last year; 45 percent of those injured were children.

"Most of the injuries did not cause permanent damage, but one boy needed a corneal transplant to save his eyesight," Mr. Britton said. "It is very discouraging when children and adults actually risk eye damage for a few thrills with illegal fireworks."

With increased traffic on the roads, motorists exceeding the speed limit will present an even greater danger than under normal conditions. While it may not be the primary cause, excessive speed combined with other violations, mechanical failures or errors, causes many accidents.

Maximum speed limits are posted in all areas, with minimum limits posted in some instances. Where minimum signs are not posted, drivers cannot drive so slowly they interfere with normal traffic patterns.

One thing to keep in mind is that you may drive at the maximum speed limits only when conditions are safe. Illinois law does not permit speeds which are greater than are reasonable and proper with regard to traffic conditions and the use of the highway, or which endanger the safety of any person or property.

As you are traveling on the highway to your holiday destination, please remember the maximum speed limit is 55 miles-per-hour. Obeying the speed limit will not only save lives, but conserve gas.

Above all, have a safe and happy 4th of July weekend.

Schools receive 10 commendations for high quality

District 67 scores high on State evaluation

Looking Back in The Bugle

13 Years Ago (July)

Mike Lavin and Ted Shapiro endorsed as Con Con candidates (delegates to the Illinois Constitutional Convention) representing the Maine and Niles Township Democratic parties...$1 million dollar plus deficit in educational fund in '69-'70 budget in School District 63...Barbara Ellen Penczek wins United Airlines wings...Ray Krier resigns Niles Twp. Demo committeeman post...Aaron Jaffe assumes Krier job...Marlene Quinn, Niles Jr. Miss...Maria Renaldi-Joe Knski wed...Bud Hansen, Bernadette Reid selected Mr. and Mrs. Niles...15-year-old boy dies of stab wounds in local motel...Henry Alexander, Don Steina appointed assistant superintendents in School District 63...Lease 2 mobile units for Wilson school...Tom Biondi honored by All State Insurance for winning sales contest...Bob Wordel elected Chamber president...Park District receives $369,500 approval for open land federal grant.

School District 67 was visited by members of the State Public School Approval Team during the last few days of May for a school evaluation visit. The schools received 10 commendations for high quality components of its educational program.

Among the commendations cited by the state evaluators were: well equipped and operated Media Centers (libraries), specialized instruction in art, music and physical education, excellent health records, daily P.E. instruction, a high percentage of staff members with advanced degrees, an efficient and productive English as a Second Language Program, particularly in the primary grades exceptionally good curriculum articulation between Jr. High and high school grades, special instruction in non-mandated areas such as French, Spanish, typing and home economics in Jr. High grades, exceptionally clean and well maintained building facilities, and an attempt to meet the needs of all students by providing remedial, special education and gifted programs.

In addition to the above, the Golf Jr. High School was recognized for the easy going and congenial learning atmosphere. The evaluation team also pointed out some areas which needed attention. One was the need for revisions of the School Board Policy Book. A second item dealt with a needed correction in keeping student records.

At its June 17 meeting, the District 67 Board of Education was quite proud of the educational program being offered to District 67 elementary students. The board recognized the importance of periodic state evaluations which kept teachers and administrators alerted to School Code requirements, changes, and the need for constant appraisal and improvement.

Village Holiday Hours

The Village of Niles Administration Offices will be closed Saturday, July 3, Sunday July 4 and Monday, July 5 in observance of the Independence Day holiday. The Administration Building will not be open on Saturdays during the summer months. Saturday hours will resume the first Saturday after Labor Day.

Village Purchase Award

Mayor Nicholas Blase receives the picture that won the Village Purchase Award at the recent Niles Art Guild Fair. Artist Claudia Anderson of Crystal Lake stands in the center, and representing the Niles Art Guild is Marge Berles. Anderson is primarily self-taught; she studied at Dakota County College, Minnesota, and the National School of Dress Design. For a number of years she worked as a government illustrator, during which time she served as the publicity director for the employees' association, designing all newsletters and posters. Anderson began oil painting about 17 years ago and in 1979 she became interested in watercolor painting. Her work has been exhibited in many art shows in the area and at several galleries. The Village Purchase Award picture will hang in one of the municipal buildings in Niles.

Clowning around at Niles Days

Posing for the camera are two pint-sized clowns who mingled with the crowd during the recent carnival that was hosted by the Niles Events Committee. The clowns (l) Billy Walters, 11 and Frankie Wagner, 10 (r) walked the grounds of the carnival to shake hands and clown around with the surprised crowd attending the affair.

The two young jesters took it upon themselves to get dressed in clown makeup and attire and attend the fun-filled carnival with the intention of bringing smiles and laughter to the small children. The boys were not disappointed for soon after they started mixing with the crowd, both the youngsters and oldsters started giving them their smiles of approval. For awhile it was hard telling who was having more fun—the crowd or the clowns!

HANDICAPS FOR THE HANDICAPPED
A woman in Arlington, Virginia in her 80's suffered a stroke in 1978 but was able to continue to live at home because of federal funding that subsidized a live-in companion. This was allowed because the woman was classified as a "handicapped" by the government. Now, "handicapped" cases are no longer permitted, and the woman, who cannot speak to communicate her needs, is being placed in a nursing home. Her companion has lost her home as well and will join the ranks of the unemployed.

Situations like this are occurring all over the country. In the face of such cutbacks, people are developing alternative strategies and creative ways of coping. If you are experiencing similar problems with federal cutbacks we would like to know about them. Please describe your past and present situations and send it to the National Council on Aging, c/o Lin Wagener, 600 Maryland ave. S.W., Washington, D.C. 20024.

Bible School programs at Edison Park Lutheran

"The hand is quicker than the eye," says magician Dave Mayer. "That's why there are so many black eyes!" and he will test the speed of his magical hands against the wits of the children at the Edison Park Lutheran Church Daily Vacation Bible School, Avondale and Oliphant aves., Chicago, on Tuesday, July 6. Anything might happen and usually does as Dave causes a live bird to appear in a popped balloon and disappear again. Flowers often appear from the air and "out of the hat" comes his famous hare, "Rabbit E. Lee". Mayer is not only a performing professional magician, but has opened schools on the magician's art of sleight of hand for business men and almost anyone who wants to see a mean little sister disappear. Dave also uses the medium of magic to present the "Good News" of the Bible that real faith, unlike magic, is not an illusion.

Parent/Adolescent Concerns

by Larry Renetsky, ACSW/AAMFT
Executive Director, Niles Family Service and
James Cisek, Ed.D./AAMFT
Director of Community Outreach

One of our major concerns that has been expressed in previous columns is that our adolescents need to learn better ways of thinking for themselves. Many parents appear to encourage their children to come to them for advice and answers to their problems. While that is fine for a young child, continuing to go to a parent for answers and advice may lead to a dependency on others as they grow up. We are convinced that this is one of the major reasons for "peer pressure". That dependency is shifted from the parents to his or her peers. Their thoughts about right and wrong, what to do and how to act are subject to the approval of others - first their parents and later on to their friends. Children who are not taught to think for themselves are more likely to be caught up in peer pressure - and having other people do their thinking.

There are many ways a parent can reduce this possibility. As a general rule: avoid doing any of the thinking for a child that he or she can do for himself or herself. Not only will that give the child an opportunity to practice their thinking skills but it will provide the child with another very valuable benefit - self confidence. We see children and adolescents who really don't have any "self confidence" in their actions and in their ability to deal with life's frustrations and problems. Some have very little faith in their ability to do anything about the conditions in their life which upset them. They too often just view themselves as victims - unable to promote the slightest change in their lives.

This lack of confidence is at the core of why so many of our children are overwhelmed by life. An important way to eliminate this lack of confidence is through success - success which breeds confidence and more success. It becomes a chicken or egg controversy. The confidence comes from success and success comes to those who are confident in their ability to succeed. But children who are too sheltered and who are too protected from life may not get an opportunity to feel success and build confidence. Too often their confidence is dependent upon their parents or other people. Their success is due to the interventions of others. Either way, they don't feel responsible for what happens to them. Other people will take the credit - or be given the blame if life doesn't turn out right.

It is important, consequently, for adults to instill this sense of confidence in their children. They need to demonstrate to their children that they believe the children can handle life and make good decisions. "I know you can do it" is much more helpful in the long run than "let me help you". (Or worse - "come to me when you have to make a decision.") To be sure, it is hard for parents not to get so involved in their children's lives and spare them even the possibility of a bad consequence because of a bad decision. Children need to learn the consequences and they need to learn how to make decisions. It is already a well known fact that they will have to make the most important decisions in their life without your help; certainly you won't be there when they are forced to make decisions about drugs, alcohol, delinquent behavior or sex. The best gift you can give your children is a confidence that they handled small problems or decisions, and they can handle the big ones, too. Because you can't make the most important decisions for your children you shouldn't make the insignificant ones, either. It doesn't mean a lack of caring or interest - quite the opposite. It is a recognition of faith and confidence in your children's own ability. But you first have to teach them. How to do that will be the subject of the next article.

When the manager and doorman asked the man to leave, he began shouting obscenities and threatening the employees. When police arrived, the Lockport man left in his auto, however, he quickly returned. Spotting the man returning, the Niles Police flagged down four county policemen who, after seeing the man again create a disturbance, arrested him. While arresting the man, he allegedly shoved a Niles Policeman. At the Niles Police Department the man was charged with assault and resisting arrest. After being assigned a July court date, the man was released on $100 bond.

New Illinois organ donor law

Sec. of State Jim Edgar Thursday alerted Illinois drivers to a new law that goes into effect July 1 that makes it easier to help save lives and sight through organ donation. The new law, sponsored by Rep. Harold Katz, requires that an "anatomical gift card" be printed on the back of drivers licenses beginning July 1 and that the Secretary of State's Office inform drivers of the new law. "The more persons who sign the anatomical gift card on the back of their licenses beginning July 1, the better the chances are for saving lives and sight. Beginning July 1, Edgar's office will also send a pamphlet explaining basic facts about organ donation with drivers license renewal notices. The new law requires the Secretary of State's Office to provide drivers with information about the new law.

Skokie Federal launches assumption program

Skokie Federal Savings revealed a mortgage assumption program that officials say could help stimulate local house sales.

Under the program, existing Skokie Federal mortgage holders wishing to sell their property can offer the potential buyer financing as low as 10.9% for three years, or 11.9% for five years.

According to John R. O'Connell, association president, the program is helpful to both property owners and Skokie Federal because the buyers get an interest rate well below current market rates, and the Institution gets a higher yield for its funds.

"A loan customer, for example, having an existing loan balance of $70,000 at 8% can offer that amount to the new buyer at 10.9%. This incentive could clinch the deal," said O'Connell.

If a buyer needs additional mortgage funds the extra money up to 95% of value is available at current market rates. Loan fees are 2% on existing mortgage balances and 3% on additional loan amounts.

Skokie Federal is a $530 million savings association serving the north and northwest Chicago suburban areas.

First Des Plaines declares dividend

First Des Plaines Corporation, parent company of the First National Bank of Des Plaines, has declared a second quarter dividend of 35 cents per share, payable on June 18 to all shareholders of record on June 14.

The dividend is the 185th paid to First Des Plaines Corporation shareholders.

The announcement of the dividend was made by Frederick F. Webster, Jr., Chairman of the Board, First Des Plaines Corporation, following the June Board of Directors meeting.

In his report to the Directors, Webster said the recently opened Oakton Street Office, at Lee and

Oakton Streets in Des Plaines, "shows every indication of becoming a very successful operation for the Bank."

According to Webster, more than 2,200 people came to the Oakton Street Office on the opening day, May 22.

"And during the first three weeks, nearly 26,000 customer transactions were handled," he said.

Below market home loans offered by Cragin

Ten million dollars is being set aside by Cragin Federal Savings and Loan Association for below-market rate mortgage loans for rates as low as 15 1/4%.

The 15 1/4% rate is available on single family detached homes and townhomes where 80% of the purchase price or appraised value, whichever is less, is financed. Service fees are 3% of the amount borrowed plus a $200 application fee. For home buyers needing 90% financing, Cragin is offering a 16% rate, plus 3% service fee, plus $200 application fee. Mortgage insurance is also required.

Both types of loans carry 4 year balloon requirements, with payments based on a 30 year amortization schedule. Five year balloon loans are also available. A balloon loan requires the borrower to pay off and/or refinance the loan after a prescribed number of years, either at Cragin Federal or through another lending source.

"With conventional mortgage rates throughout Chicago and hovering around 17 and 17 1/2%, this program will hopefully help area families better afford their home purchases this summer," according to Adam A. Jahns, president and chairman of the board of Cragin Federal.

Jahns said Cragin is in a position to lower its mortgage rates because of good savings receipts for the first five months of 1982 and because of the association's high liquidity position. Applications for loans under this program will be processed on a first-come basis.

Reduced rate mortgages are also available on owner occupied condominium financing. Four year balloon loans are 16%, with five year balloons at 16 and three eighths. Both loans are 80% financing, with 3% service fee, a $200 application fee and mortgage insurance is required for such loans over 70% financing.

Cragin's program also includes lower rates for two to four unit apartments.

Interested home buyers are encouraged to apply for these funds at any of Cragin's 21 Chicagoland offices. Cragin home office is at 5200 W. Fullerton ave. in Chicago.

GreatAmerican Federal starts construction for new facility

A 20-foot sugar maple tree was planted in Oak Park on Friday, June 4th, to symbolize the start of construction of the second Oak Park office for Great American Federal Savings and Loan Association.

The groundbreaking ceremony took place at the corner of Madison Street and Oak Park Avenue, which will be the site of GreatAmerican Federal's 16th office in the Chicago area. Construction will start immediately on a 1,825-square foot building featuring Frank Lloyd Wright style architecture. When completed this fall, the new office will include four drive-up teller stations with room for future expansion. To make way for the new office, a building which previously housed an auto dealership was demolished.

John L. Domeier, president of GreatAmerican Federal, said the need for a second Oak Park office was due, in part, to the tremendous number of interest bearing checking accounts opened by the Association in the past 18 months. "When we open this October, the extended hours of the drive-in facility will enable us to better serve the Oak Park area and surrounding communities," Domeier said.

Participating in the ceremony with Domeier were Sarah Bode, Oak Park president; Dennis Korcheck, Oak Park trustee; Peter Smith, president of the Oak Park-River Forest Chamber of Commerce; Arthur Replogle, president of the Oak Park Development Corporation; Anthony Fraioli, president of the Madison Street Business Association; Paul Belek, Sr. vice-president of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board of Chicago; and James Holmes, executive vice-president of the Chicago Area Council of Savings Associations.

The new office was designed by Mayes-Williams & Partners. In addition to its home office in Oak Park, GreatAmerican Federal has 14 other locations in: Arlington Heights, Bellwood, Deerfield, Downers Grove, Elmhurst, Elmwood Park, Franklin Park, Naperville, Niles, Oak Brook, Park Ridge, and St. Charles.

Ten score and six years ago on the Fourth of July thirteen rag taggle colonies with little more than a dream of liberty and self government, tweaked the tail of the British to declare themselves an independent nation.

It wasn't easy then, it was a decision that could easily have cost all concerned their very lives. It hasn't been easy since to maintain that liberty and independence through seven wars and several police actions.

But, it is still an American dream to maintain our individual freedom... and once a year on the Fourth of July we do wave the flag, shoot off fireworks and celebrate our independence on our own, unique American Holiday.
