Kustra charges Chicago Democrats bought Lou Black

by Bob Besser

"The Chicago Democrats put a down payment on a State Senator they can control. They bought Lou Black lock, stock and barrel." With those words, State Rep. Bob Kustra (R-Glenview) fired the opening shot in the 28th District State Senatorial campaign which was brought to the boiling point on Monday by the decision of an all-Democratic Cook County Board of Election Commissioners to keep maverick State Senator John Nimrod on the ballot. (Responding to Kustra's charges Black said late Tuesday, "That's another blatant Kustra lie and smear tactic...nobody can buy Lou Black...It just won't work. Let him come up in the clean air and discuss the issues.") Nimrod, a ten year veteran of the State Senate, lost his sponsorship by area Republicans when

Faculty discontent over Board's failure to approve contract

No signed contract for OCC teachers

by Susan Glowienke

Discontentment among Oakton Community College faculty as they return to classrooms on Wednesday, August 25 is high, reported Phillip Jaffe, Chairman of Faculty Senate at the Oakton College Board meeting on August 17 because of the OCC Board's failure to approve a faculty contract.

The faculty had reached agreement with the OCC Board in February, 1982 to approve a faculty contract that allowed a 9.7% salary increase for the 1982-

83 school year. A meeting scheduled for June 29 between the faculty, Board lawyers and negotiators to "iron-out" the precise language of the formal agreement was vetoed by the Board, leaving faculty members upset and frustrated.

Therefore, the Board hurriedly issued a press-release on August 17, reaffirming the Board of Trustees' acceptance of the principles of the contract retroactive to the 1981 school year with no "Balloon levying" is the practice by which local governments request tax increases to take full advantage of rising property values, regardless of their actual revenue needs.

That paragraph explains why you got zonked when your tax bills showed such tremendous increases this year.

Maine Township residents should know their high school board has almost $5 million dollars more than last year to spend, even though they closed one-fourth of their high schools, Maine North. And Elementary Districts 63 and 64 both upped their money intake from 22%-25% which, in dollar figures, adds more than $1 million dollars to spend, resulting from their levying practices.

All the gobbledygook you've been reading about the multiplier causing the problems is political gibberish. The Democrats began beating the drums to hang the tax increase on the Governor by pointing to the multiplier as the culprit which caused the huge tax hikes. But ironically, it was Democrat Nick Blase who first warned us about the huge tax increases when he read many months ago about the huge school board requests for money which came from the local levels.

As a former school board president told us last week, the entire system of budgeting is backwards. Without knowing

Park tax levy down 4% for '82-'83

At Tuesday night's park board meeting it was reported the May, 1982 thru April, 1983 tax levy increased by 4.9% over the past year's levy increasing from $820,040 to $860,621. However, as the result of the final payment of 1968 general obligation bonds in January, the Bond and Interest fund will decrease this year by 12.2%, which will lower the total tax levy by .4% for the '82-'83 year.

A breakdown of funds showed the Corporate fund increased 6.7% from $375,000 to $400,000 for the coming year. The Recreation Fund moved up from $291,250 to $300,000, a similar 6.7% increase. The Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund decreased from $56,927 to $56,009 for a 1.6% decrease. The General Liability Fund went down from $48,384 to $41,040 for a 15.2% decrease from '81-'82. The Auditor Fund increased 18.6% from $7,560 to $8,964. The Handicapped Fund went up 7.2% from $50,919 to $54,608.

The sub-total of all these funds is $820,040 for the past year and $860,621 this year for a 4.9% increase.

The Bond and Interest account went down from $366,660 to $321,921 for a 12.2% decrease. The total of all funds including the Bond and Interest Fund show totals of $1,186,700 last year compared to this coming year's figure of $1,182,542, thus a .4% decrease.

S.I.J. 55 Plus Club
Our Lunau on Aug. 8 was a great success. The Decorating Committee did a beautiful job of making the hall look like Hawaii. Thank you to Mike Provenzano, our 2nd Vice President for getting the Hawaiian dancers who really were out of this World. The members, ladies and gents looked just grand. The colorful shirts the men wore and the beautiful and colorful MuMus of the ladies were breath taking. Mike Provenzano, Mario Paoletti and Charles Palkoner, after their Hawaiian Hula lessons, can take their places with the best of them. The winners of the best Hawaiian outfits were 1st prize Helen and John Terry, 2nd prize Gertrude and John Pollack, 3rd prize Louis and Chris Seaglione. The food was delicious, BarBeque Chicken, potato salad, cole slaw, beans, corn-on-the cob dipped in butter, Italian bread, cookies, jello-watermelon, coffee, punch, pop, beer. Then, of course, after the show, we had dancing to the music of Marios' Society Orchestra. But all too soon we had to say Aloha... President Charles Palkoner, Wanda and all the of icers want to thank everyone for coming and making this party a big success.

Decision pending on Mill Run's format

A decision is expected within 45 days regarding the future of Mill Run Theatre, according to Patrick O'Shea, Executive Director of Golf Mill Shopping Center. And while the format of the theatre could change, area residents should expect performances at the 20-year-old theatre-in-the-round during the fall season. "We're having conversations with several potential users," said O'Shea on Tuesday. "We hope we'll be able to consummate (a lease)... within 30 to 45 days." While the theatre is owned by Golf Mill, it has been leased during past years to the Chicago-based Tiffany Productions owned by Jerry Kaufman. Kaufman has had a stormy relationship with Niles officials during the years he has leased the theatre. Fire code violations have been a continuing problem at the theatre with Kaufman ignoring Niles Fire Department demands to follow local codes. Following an incident over a year ago when a stage light began smoking, Kaufman was ordered to install an outdoor fire escape to help evacuate patrons sitting in the upper tiers of the theatre. After agreeing to begin construction, Kaufman has repeatedly stalled Niles officials using excuses such as his construction company could not acquire the building materials they needed or they were busy on other projects. Niles officials said on Tuesday that Kaufman has proposed scheduling performances for the fall, if, by reducing the seating capacity of the theatre, he could avoid installing the outdoor fire escape. Niles officials said they doubted Kaufman would be able to avoid constructing the fire escape.

Sheldon Marcus joins District 219 Board

Morton Grove resident Sheldon Marcus was appointed by the District 219 Board of Education to fill the vacancy on the board created by the resignation of Terry Liston, who is moving away from the Chicago area. Marcus' appointment is effective August 30, and he will be officially seated at the Board's September 13 meeting. "I am pleased that the board members have shown confidence in my experience and ability by selecting me from a field of nine candidates," said Marcus following his August 11 selection. "I hope to make use of whatever administrative skills I have acquired to help the board members with the challenges facing them in the eighties," he added. Marcus believes that the credibility of the educational system in any community is tied directly to the general success of that community. "I hope to maintain and augment the good education desired by Niles Township residents," he stressed. No stranger to community service, Marcus brings over seven years of school board service as a member of the District 67 School Board to his new position, as well as two years of presiding over the Niles Township Council of School Boards, and active participation in the Niles Township Legislative Coalition. A busy president of his own company, Marcus is also a board member of the Northwest Suburban Jewish Congregation, and a contributing member of both the Morton Grove Chamber of Commerce and the Executive Club of Chicago. Marcus has resided in the District 219 community for 14 years, is married and has two children.

Cop drops charges against MG police chief

Following one year of controversy over the alleged department violations committed by Morton Grove Police Chief Larry Schey, the Morton Grove Police and Fire Commission cleared Schey of all charges on Thursday, August 12. Morton Grove Police Officer James Schroeder had charged Schey with providing a $200 bond to a friend arrested in Morton Grove for drunk driving in 1981, of filing a stolen vehicle report for his son's truck when the truck had been repossessed and that Schey had attempted to have the village pay for repairs to the personal car of a police department radio dispatcher in 1979. Schroeder withdrew his charges during the August 12 meeting stating he had received "misinformation" regarding the alleged violations. Schroeder had earlier taken his allegations to a Cook County Grand Jury which did not find sufficient evidence to hand down an indictment. Speaking to the Police and Fire Commission following its decision, Morton Grove Mayor Richard Flickinger said Schey's integrity "has never been compromised and remains completely unblemished."

Following Monday's decision by the all-Democratic Cook County Board of Election Commissioners to allow State Senator John Nimrod (R-Glenview) to remain on the November ballot as an Independent candidate, supporters of Republican Senatorial candidate State Rep. Bob Kustra (R-Glenview) said they will go to court to try and block the Nimrod challenge. Chicago attorney Frank Lunding said on Tuesday that the objection will be filed this week and the case should be completed by early September at the latest. Kustra supporter and Morton Grove resident Sheldon Marcus had filed an objection to the Nimrod petition. Marcus' objection stated that among the 5,200 signatures on Nimrod's petitions, many were from people who were not registered voters in the 28th Senatorial District. Additionally, Marcus charged that contrary to the law, many of the people who circulated the petitions were not registered voters in the 28th District, which automatically invalidated their petitions. Nimrod, a 10 year member of the Illinois State Senate, lost in his primary bid in March to Kustra. Following a bitter campaign Nimrod announced he would run to retain his seat as an independent candidate. Area

OCC 10 KM Run set for Sunday

It is not too late to sign up for Oakton Community College's "Bypass the Bypass" 10 km run to be held Sunday, August 22 at OCC's Des Plaines campus, 1600 East Golf Rd.

Tom Jorndt, OCC athletic director, encourages people of all ages to participate. "The idea of the race," says Jorndt, "is to get people involved in physical fitness and running seems an easy and direct way for people to start."

Maurice Weitauf, associate professor of chemistry and organizer of the race, says running is an excellent activity to keep the heart healthy. "If your cardiovascular is maintained in good condition, the likelihood of a necessary bypass operation is less apt to occur," Weitauf notes. Thus, the reason for the race's name: "Bypass the Bypass."

Jorndt expects between 200 and 250 runners for the race. So far the oldest participant is 67 and the youngest is 13, while approximately a third of the entries are women.

In addition to physical fitness, adds Jorndt, "the race is a good way to give people in the community and outside the district a chance to see Oakton's campus just before the fall semester begins."

The race will wind around the wooded campus and forest preserve with aid stations at the start, at 1 1/2, 3, and 5 1/2 mile marks, and at the finish line. Time splits will also be called out every mile and final times will be printed-out at the finish line for all runners.

The top three finishers in six age groups, both men and women divisions, will be awarded Olympic size medallions. Every entry will receive a sharp red and white nylon mesh singlet running shirt. Runners can sign up from now until the morning of the race which begins at 8:30 a.m. sharp. (Check-in between 7:30 and 8:15 a.m.) The entry fee is $7 and entry forms can be picked up at the OCC/Des Plaines Athletic Office, Room 1162, Monday through Thursday, 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. or call 635-1754.

Pomost urges U.S. to continue sanctions

Pomost, an organization of Polish and other Americans, has urged President Reagan to remain steadfast in his sanctions against the Soviet Union for its complicity in the Polish martial law crackdown.

Leaders of Pomost (the Polish word for "bridge") have said that they view the recent release of some prisoners and the lifting of some martial law restrictions as purely cosmetic.

The organization has further said it wants all political prisoners released and the democratic reforms won by Solidarity restored.

"We are especially disturbed by the decisions of France and Great Britain to oppose President Reagan's ban on the use of U.S. technology to help build the Soviet natural gas pipeline.

"The response to the ban from the West German business community and many within the West German government, itself, has also surprised and angered us. "We also find it especially ironic that the British government is so quick to defend the cause of freedom and self-determination in the Falkland Islands, but can't bring itself to extend a 'helping hand' to such aspirations in Poland, a country which was allied with Great Britain before World War II," according to Christopher Rac, a member of Pomost's Executive Committee.

In expressing its frustration with the French and British decisions and the West German objections, Pomost has staged demonstrations during the past several days in front of these governments' consulates in Chicago.

In addition to its other activities, Pomost, which has members throughout the U.S. and abroad, publishes a quarterly in Polish; a newsletter in English; and sponsors a Polish language program, four evenings a week, over station WOPA in Oak Park.

Niles Midshipman trains Naval Academy newcomers

The challenging routine of the United States Naval Academy came as no surprise for Midshipman Gary Schmidt of Niles. He comes from a family which has produced quite a few academy students - two of his brothers have graduated from service academies, and a third attends West Point.

Formerly the senior class president and a varsity soccer player at Maine East High School, Schmidt followed in one of his older brother's footsteps and entered the Naval Academy in 1979.

Now a senior, Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Schmidt of Niles, has been selected to help train the incoming plebe (freshman) class of 1986.

Training the plebes involves intense drills in military chain of command, courtesies, proper wearing of uniform, and marching. Schmidt is responsible for a squad of 12 plebes.

Recalling his plebe summer, a quick grin lights up his face. "I remember (Induction) Day. I got my haircut, signed papers, and was sworn in later that afternoon. I was amazed at how fast everything happened."

Insuring that plebes (freshmen) look sharp and conform with Navy regulations is the job of Midshipman Gary Schmidt of Niles. He conducts frequent squad inspections to check on their progress.

For many of the incoming midshipmen, the transition from civilian to military life is difficult. The guidance and concern Schmidt offers will help make the changes easier. "It wasn't easy for me to make the adjustment, and it's even harder on the kids who have never been exposed to the military before," he explains.

"I want to make that transition as fast as possible for them so they can settle down into a normal routine before the academic year starts," he adds. "Some plebes will think the academy is not for them," Schmidt says. "I didn't at first, but then I took a look around and realized that I was receiving an excellent education at one of the most prestigious schools in the country. It takes time to adjust to the discipline - militarily and academically," he emphasizes.

The plebe summer training process is a two-fold experience for Midshipman Schmidt. He not only teaches the plebes, he learns from them as well. Both will help him with leadership abilities he'll apply to his service in the Fleet. "I'm learning to deal with people. It's a good experience," he says earnestly. "I'm directly responsible for these 12 midshipmen, and anything they do - whether it's good or bad - reflects my leadership abilities. It is important for me to determine goals for them and to convey those objectives in a way they will understand," he adds.

Earlier this summer, as part of his training, Schmidt spent a month aboard a destroyer tender in the Pacific. He served as assistant division officer, standing watches and attending captain's masts (judiciary proceedings). It was his first experience being at sea with women. "They were great," he says. "Women were given the same responsibilities as the men, and they performed just as well in some cases, better."

A political science major, Schmidt is undecided about his career choice in the service, but is leaning toward marine aviation. "This is the sort of education where you start at zero," he remarks. "You are taught responsibility and discipline, step by step. You learn to budget your time and handle your money. I've really grown up," he concludes.

As Schmidt marches by with his squad of plebes, calling cadence and keeping them in step, you get the feeling he's made their adjustment to military life a little easier.

Self-defense class at Park Ridge YMCA

Serious crimes are on the rise. Everyday, news of another rape, purse snatching, beating, or even murder crowd the headlines. Why is this trend continuing to rise at such an alarming rate?

The answer is simple. Most people are thought to be weak, scared creatures, totally unable to defend themselves against any kind of attack. As a result, these attacks happen more frequently.

What can be done to stop this spiraling trend?

Contrary to popular belief, we are all quite capable of defending ourselves effectively without needing the size and strength of a large person.

Park Ridge YMCA is now offering classes in SELF-DEFENSE. The course is specifically designed to teach you how to use your body size and weight to the best advantage in defending yourself against any attacker, whether it be a man or woman.

Classes are now forming with the program beginning in September. For further information call the "Y" at 825-2171 or stop in at 1515 W. Touhy, Park Ridge.

during six weeks in the Fall and six weeks in Lent. Each six week period has its own theme. Cam and Carol von Wahlde lead a team planning ways to stress this theme in Sunday liturgies.

The first of the themes is "The Lord's Call": we are people in need; the Lord seeks to answer our need. On Sat., Sept. 11 and Sun., Sept. 12, St. Juliana parishioners will be "called" to sign up for small group discussions on Christ and the place He has in our life. This effort is being coordinated by Howard and Helen Konieczka. They will encourage people to sign up for discussion groups during the Renew period.

Nancy Gilhooly and Claire Marzullo head the Telephone committee. They and their workers will be called on Sept. 13, 15 and 19. They will contact parishioners who did not sign up, to inform them of the program and invite them to participate.

Cook County Jail reinspection

"better than ever"

Sheriff Richard J. Elrod announces that the Commission of Accreditation of the American Correctional Association has found the Cook County Department of Corrections (County Jail) has made significant improvements in the last six months. The Department was accredited by the Commission on Jan. 22, and was reinspected in July. During the Commission's monitoring visit the auditor noted "major improvements in the facility since the original visit."

The Commission's report singled out for praise renovations in Divisions I and II to improve lighting and reduce the inmate population, overall food service and medical programs.

Sheriff Elrod noted that the Cook County Department of Corrections is one of only six county jails in the nation, out of a total of more than 33,000, to receive accreditation by the Commission. The Sheriff said that the department's daily inmate population of nearly 5,000 makes it the largest criminal detention facility of any type in the United States to be accredited. The next largest county jail to receive the award has an average population of only about 400. During the initial two year monitoring period the Department of Corrections was tested on 382 standards and met well over 90%.

Motorcycle safety is also responsibility of auto driver

It is estimated that nearly half of all motorcycle-automobile accidents are the fault of the automobile driver," stated Captain W.P. Burt, Commander of the northern Cook County State Police District. "I think this emphasizes the fact that motorcycle safety is not only the responsibility of the cyclist but also of the automobile driver."

Cyclists are advised to wear helmets, wear protective and highly visible clothing, wear eye protection, comply with all traffic laws and take safety. Unfortunately that is not enough. Motorists must treat the motorcycle rider as a fellow user of the road and look out for him/her. Travel on a motorcycle is four times as dangerous as car travel. A motorcycle does not offer the same protection to its rider as a car does to its driver. A cycle is a vulnerable vehicle.

For these reasons, automobile drivers must learn to live with the cyclist. The Illinois State Police provide these pointers:

- *When following a motorcycle allow an extra second or two of following distance.
- *Always give a motorcycle a full lane in which to ride in;
- *Rear view mirrors are not enough to spot a cyclist in your blind spot. Check over your shoulder too;
- *Be alert for the cyclist before turning right or left;
- *Be especially cautious if the cycle you are following jerks, wobbles or hesitates. These are indicators of a beginning cyclist-give him/her plenty of room;
- *Be careful on loose gravel, dirt roads or wet pavement when near a motorcycle.

Remember: that extra bit of driving courtesy may save a life, avoid and injury or an accident.

Dismayed over Pullen's refusal to debate

I was shocked and dismayed when I received Miss Pullen's refusal of my offer to debate for the benefit of our constituency. The dates were arbitrarily chosen as a matter of efficacy and I would be perfectly willing to change them to other available dates.

My opponent considers debate to be an extraordinary device by which to inform our constituency, an idea to which I cannot concede. This device has been part of the heritage of our country; the drafting of the United States Constitution was finally achieved as a result of long hours of debate among our Founding Fathers. Abraham Lincoln, the founder of the Republican Party and one of our greatest presidents, used this mean extensively in the Lincoln-Stephens debates in order to bring the clear-cut differences in the philosophies of the two candidates to the people.

Why would my opponent refuse to let the voters see these differences? Each of us stands for what we believe and should not be hesitant in any way in allowing the voters to know our positions.

I truly hope that she will reconsider. Diana Burgess Sheffer Candidate for 56th District House

A gathering of the clan

Last summer we had a grand gathering of the Tribe, O Dochartaigh, in Attica, Michigan. It was the first International Reunion for this group. Members attending, for the most part, were not related, and in fact, did not know each other, prior to the reunion. Various spellings of the Irish surname were represented. The most common of which are: Docherty, Dockerty, Doherty, Dority, Daugherty, Daugherty, Daugherty and Dougherty. The spelling matters not! All originated from the same area in Ireland: Donegal, Derry and the Inishowen Peninsula.

We were privileged to have Paddy Doherty, of Derry, Ireland, as our guest speaker. Acting as the Emmissary of Mayor Joseph Fegin, Paddy extended an invitation to our group to hold our 1985 Reunion in Derry and Donegal.

In June of this year, three of our Association members journeyed to Derry and Donegal to take part in the initial planning sessions with Irish Committee Members for the 1985 Reunion. Plans are underway with the rebuilding of the Fort O Doherty in Derry. Our President, Patrick F. Dougherty, assisted the new Mayor of Derry, William O Connell with the laying of the Cornerstone to the Fort. The Mayor and Patrick's name are inscribed in that Cornerstone.

It is our sincere desire to contact all members of our tribe, to ensure the success of this historic event. 1985 will truly be the Year of the O.Dochartaigh and we have the capability of taking park in the largest family gathering of the century. We ask your assistance in reaching our fellow tribesmen and women in your area. The women who have given up their name in marriage, we

Get ready for another shock, taxpayers

Get ready for another shock, Morton Grove taxpayers!!! The village board will vote later this month on the Tax Levy for this fiscal year and that determines the tax RATE you will see on your bill next summer.

According to James Sloan, assistant administrator, recently quoted in a local paper, "the village collected $4.1 million in property taxes last year. This year the village might have to levy $5 million."

Folks, that's a 22% increase in your tax rate next year. Totally uncalled for in these tough economic times. Even a 10% increase is unjustifiable today.

Who says we have to go on spending so much more each year than surrounding villages? Are our services any better than 5 years ago, really? No. Are our streets in any better condition than 5 years ago? Certainly not. Is our water any better today than last year? No, just costs more than any other neighboring village.

Why do we have so many high paid personnel on the payroll, compared to private industry? You answer that one. Ah, but everyone in village hall got their automatic raise like clockwork. Did you in the private industry? How many additional patronage people now on the payroll than 5 years ago? PLENTY!! The count is staggering, if the truth were known, but they cover this subject up very neatly.

Who's kidding who? Haven't we had enough of this incompetence...at our expense? It's time for a change!! Why not attend the August 23 board meeting and see what they're doing with YOUR money!!

Sincerely, John Hickey, M.G. Tax Limitation Committee

Help students re-enter school at summer's end

Even kids who are bored with their lack of activity in the summer may dread returning to school because of problems and fears, say the doctors at the Therapeutic Alliance in Skokie.

Dr. Linda A. Pollack, chief psychiatrist at the Alliance, notes that parents can alleviate some of this trauma by encouraging the child to talk about his or her fears. If they're entering a new school, these fears can revolve around non-acceptance by their peers and teachers; competing with the group; leaving the old school (both fear and anger are factors here); peer pressure such as smoking, sex, drinking, drugs and gangs; performance anxieties; new authority figures and even the fear of being naked in the shower. Depending upon how structured the school is, students may also have worries about too many or too few options, academically and socially. At the same time, parents should talk among themselves or with a professional about their own fears, so they don't wind up transferring to the kids their own anxieties.

It's also a good idea, Dr. Pollack suggests, for the parents to contact the PTA before the school year or shortly after its beginning, to find out if the school has a problem with drugs, drinking, sex, smoking or gangs, not to mention dress codes.

Then they can contact appropriate agencies to get some realistic advice on how to prepare their kids for these problems. Dr. John L. Schuler, another Alliance therapist, advises freshmen to make friends fast with a senior, because freshmen get harassed the most. Dr. Schuler also encourages

Local girls shine at Regina Basketball Camp

Regina high school varsity basketball coach, Mike Small, announced that many area grade school girls won special achievement awards at the basketball camp he conducts annually each summer at Regina. About 70 girls were enrolled in two sessions. Half of these girls were 4-6 graders. They attended the morning session. The other half, comprised of 7-8 graders, attended the afternoon session. The camp emphasized basketball fundamentals. When asked why girls as young as fourth graders attended his basketball camp, he related, "When girls learn the basic skills early - and they can, they develop very rapidly. They become the very successful stars of their future 8th grade and high school teams. There are very many 5-6 grade girls' basketball teams in the area coached by grade schools, Park Districts, and YMCA's. The interest in girls' basketball is very high."

The most valuable player trophy at 4-6 grade level went to Kelly Bourke of St. Mary of the Woods. The best ballhandler trophy at the 6th grade level went to Joan Marusek of St. John Brebeuf. The 5th grade award in this same category went to Christine Mazik also of S.J.B. The "Hot Shot" winner went to Liz Fraterrigo of St. Mary of the Woods and the Miss Hustle award went to Catherine Wolf also of St. Mary of the Woods.

The most valuable player at the 7-8 grade level was Kirstin Hack, a 7th grader from St. John Brebeuf. The best ballhandler trophy went to Julie Quinlan of St. Athanasius. Julie also captured the "Hot Shot" trophy at this level. The Miss Hustle award went to Colleen Thomas of Queen of All Saints.

Mike Small made the following comments about the girls: Kelly Bourke has the ability to make good inside post moves and is only going into 6th grade. She has great potential. Kirstin Hack has the size, coordination, and all the tools that will someday make her a top high school player. Both Christine Mazik and Joan Marusek are a reflection of the outstanding girls' basketball program at St. John Brebeuf. Chris and Joan are very aggressive intense and have excellent skills for their level. Caroline Wolf and Liz Fraterrigo spend much time at improving their skills and they will be major contributors to St. Mary's programs. Julie and Jennie Quinlan are above average shooters who will star at St. A's. Colleen Timmons comes from an athletic family and is well rounded in all areas of basketball. Other schools such as Our Lady of Perpetual Help, St. Martha's, St. John of Arc, and Queen of All Saints had players who participated in the camp.

Capparelli leads baseball outing

Nearly 150 friends and supporters of State Rep. Ralph C. Capparelli boarded buses in front of his district office, 6702 Northwest Hwy., for the trek to Wrigley Field to see the Cubs play the Atlanta Braves. During the seventh inning stretch, Capparelli (center) helped three friends unfurl a banner that expressed their admiration for the Cubs, while others looked on. Earlier during the game, the scoreboard flashed Ralph Capparelli Day and a roaring cheer was heard from the third base side of reserved grandstand seats. Sandwiches and refreshments were available on the buses to and from the park.

Legislator earns perfect conservative marks

Rep. Penny Pullen (R-4th) has earned a perfect 100% record for the first half of the 82nd Illinois General Assembly according to ratings released recently by the Illinois Conservative Union. The ratings were announced by ICU President John Curry, who said the ICU ratings were based on nine votes in the General Assembly "dealing with a wide range of issues of interest to conservatives, including fiscal management, taxation, law and order, social policy and individual rights."

Among the rated bills Miss Pullen supported are SB-819, to create enterprise zones for jobs creation; HB-278, to correct abuses and check waste in the unemployment insurance system; HB-831, to guarantee the right of an employee to hold a job without having to join a union; and HB-371, to repeal the costly prevailing wage law. She also voted against a bill to prohibit state universities and community colleges from denying hiring and promotion of known homosexuals in employment by these taxpayer-owned institution.

Other legislators earning perfect scores in the House are Emil Boucek (R-Western Springs), James Kelley (R-Rockford), Roland Meyer (R-Rolling Meadows), and Clarence Neff (R-Stronghurst).

In addition to the legislators who earned perfect scores, 15 members of the Senate and 26 members of the House of Representatives had scores above 75%, which indicates "a reliable commitment to the conservative principles and philosophy for which ICU stands," Curry said.

Rueckert declines to seek IVI endorsement

56th District Republican State Representative candidate, Tom Rueckert; this week declined to seek the endorsement of the Independent Voters of Illinois (IVI), claiming that the group embraced positions that are out of touch with the people of our North Suburban area.

In a letter to IVI chairman, Leland Rayson, Rueckert said that he made his decision after consulting with several area elected state officials and party leaders who recommended that given IVI's policy positions on a number of issues, he should decline to attend their screening session, scheduled to be held at a home in his opponent's Skokie neighborhood this past week.

In particular, Rueckert cited his objections to several "Statements of Standing Policy" put out by the IVI in June of this year. Rueckert said that he disagreed with the following IVI positions:

- The IVI opposition to a constitutional limit of taxes
- The IVI advocacy of decriminalization of prostitution, gambling and use of narcotics
- The IVI support for "affirmative action" quota system for the hiring of minorities, a program that Rueckert said was ardently opposed by groups such as the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith
- The IVI support for continuing government and taxpayer supported assistance to illegal aliens and the IVI opposition to stricter documentation requirements for illegal aliens.
- If my opponent chooses to accept the IVI endorsement as he has six times in the past, I think the people of our community would be very interested in hearing his views on these and a number of the other positions," Rueckert said.

Porter sponsors GOP Candidate charges Sanitary District plays on emotions

Congressman John E. Porter (R-Winneka) is cosponsoring legislation designed to aid home purchasing by making additional money available for mortgage lending.

The bill, known as the No-Cost, No-Subsidy Housing Bill, would permit the trustees and managers of the nation's private pension funds - who control a pool of more than $300 billion of investment capital - to make investments in housing and mortgage-backed securities. At the present time, Labor Department regulations discourage pension fund managers from considering adding mortgage securities to their portfolios.

"Housing starts declined again in June to an annual level of 911,000 units. This is a full 13 percent below June of 1981, which was the worst year for housing starts since World War II," Porter said. "Clearly, the depressed real estate industry needs a strong boost to regain sound footing in the economy. It makes good sense to remove excessive government restrictions on private pension fund managers to allow them to make residential mortgage loans and help this vital industry recover."

"Once private pension fund managers are given the greenlight to consider investing in housing securities, the market place will take care of the rest. The government won't be required to spend a penny, pension fund portfolios will be broadened with the addition of housing investment dollars to begin moving toward a full-scale recovery. Most importantly, potential home buyers will benefit from the substantial expansion of lendable mortgage funds which will bring some downward pressure on mortgage interest rates," Congressman Porter said.

Bertini praised by governor at fund raiser

Delaware Governor Pierre S. DuPont IV spoke on behalf of Cathy Bertini's candidacy for Congress from the new Ninth District of Illinois on Saturday, July 10.

Addressing her supporters, who gathered for a fund-raising picnic at Walden Farm, Libertyville, Illinois, DuPont praised Bertini's political experience and her concern for issues important to the District and nation.

"He was critical of her opponent's 'lack of independence' and 'failure to support funding essential to the existence of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.'"

DuPont, a member of the U.S. House of Representatives, 1971-77, recalled Bertini's Washington service as Youth Director for the Republican National Committee, saying, "She creatively served to enlist young people in the political process."

DuPont served in Congress with Bertini's opponent, Rep. Sidney Yates, and observed that "Yates votes almost 100 percent in accordance with the wishes of Mannie H. Tucker, the Republican candidate for Commission of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Great Chicago, today charged that: "The trauma of flooding in the suburbs from last week's storms are again being used by the Democratic politicians seeking re-election to the Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) to advance their own candidacy and perpetuate the myth that Deep Tunnel is the cure-all for flooded basements and streets."

Tucker said he based his charges on the Sanitary District's actions and statements concerning last week's storms. "With more than $2 billion spent on completing the main stream tunnel, how much water actually went into the tunnel?" Tucker said. "What good did the tunnel do for Skokie and Winnetka, communities immediately adjacent to the work already completed, let alone the communities miles away from the tunnel?"

Deep Tunnel, officially known as the Tunnel and Reservoir Plan (TARF), is a system of 131 miles of tunnels 150 to 300 feet below street level and three reservoirs. The system is intended to intercept the flow of 5,000 miles of county sewers. The system is being built in two phases, Phase I the 131 miles of tunnels and Phase II the three reservoirs. The project was divided into two phases for funding purposes. Phase I, considered pollution control, qualified for 75% funding by federal EPA. Phase II, considered flood control, does not qualify for any federal funding. To date 47 miles of tunnel have been drilled at a cost of more than $2 billion.

Why keep calling it flood control? asked Tucker. "No money was ever available for Phase II. To continue Deep Tunnel without federal money means that Cook County taxpayers will have to pay the bill of $10 billion or more. The tax burden would be staggering, probably six times what it is now. Just imagine what this would do, not only to the homeowner, but people who rent apartments. They indirectly pay real estate taxes too. Chicago would become tent city."

Tucker, a 25-year resident of Skokie who has experienced many basement floods in his home, is a registered pharmacist, former executive of a nationwide retail drug/grocery chain and owner of two successful businesses.

GOP Legislators support elimination of tax multiplier

State Representative J. Robert Barr (11th District), chairman of the Republican Central Committee of Cook County, and a group of Republican legislators, today held a news conference at Republican headquarters, 127 N. Dearborn, to voice their strong support for Gov. Thompson's action eliminating the state property tax multiplier. The news conference was scheduled for the same day Cook County real estate tax payments were due.

"This is not a happy day—especially for those who were reassessed this year and saw their taxes soar. The people deserve some tax relief, and we intend to see that they get it," affirmed Barr, 46, who was joined by State Reps. Roger McAuliffe (16th District), Art Telser (12th District), Bernie Epton (24th District), Elmer Conti (18th District), Phil Collins (30th District), Roy Sandquist (13th District), and

Phil Bianco, Jr. (25th District). "We call upon all our fellow Republican legislators as well as the Democrats to approve the Governor's action at the next legislative session in November."

Barr and the other legislators had harsh criticism for the Democrats who oppose the Governor's plan.

The Governor's proposal to change the multiplier was made Sunday (Aug. 1) at a news conference when he announced he had used his amendatory veto power to rewrite legislation dealing with the multiplier. His proposal will eliminate use of the multiplier to increase property assessments and therefore would reduce the amount of revenue raised by real estate taxes.

If approved, the Governor's plan would first be effective for 1982 taxes payable in 1983, and would take full effect in 1984, and year taxes for 1983 are collected.

The new Ninth Congressional District of Illinois created after the 1980 census runs from Division st., Chicago, north through Evanston to Winnetka, west through Skokie to Morton Grove and north again through Glenview and Northbrook to Technyrd.

Niles Parks

In other actions Tuesday night Commissioner Jim Pierski reported the girls' softball program was a huge success and the 13-15 year old girls finished in first place in a Skokie tourney and in a North Suburban division league. He said it is a very good program, the girls have a tremendous attitude for high school girls and it should encourage more girls to participate next year.

...Park President Walter Beusse reported Bill 1178 for beverages and hard liquor to be dispensed on park property will come before the legislature August 23. Beusse also reported letters received commended the "wonderful camp program", the "great swimming, recreation and day center programs". Laudatory letters came from Mrs. and Mrs. Lukes, Slotnik and Jochim. He said parents were so pleased with the camp counselors they gave them gifts the last day of their programs.

...Beusse said a yellow flag will be hoisted from the TAM golf course flagpole to denote the course is closed, including after hours and during inclement weather.

...Ice rink opening day is September 8.

...No drinking and no golf signs will be posted in parks. Golfing at the Golf Mill Park in particular is hazardous because of the handicapped children playing alongside the area.

...Comm. Elaine Heinen, returning from computer training, believes park district should look towards the future by considering the eventual purchase of a computer. Comm. Kosiba disagreed with Heinen contending use for payroll was not necessary. Accountant Callero reimbursed park district $200 for using his computer for payroll for one month. Kosiba believed park personnel could be freed for other work if they didn't have to work with a payroll but disagreement over future payroll work was left in the air.

...Heinen reported 65 babies participated in first Diaper Derby for babies 3 months and older. She commended Debbie Nelson and her staff for doing "great work" at the Derby.

...Comm. Kosiba reported all parks are looking "super", particularly NICO Park. Dan commended Danny Vargas and his staff for the new asphalt paths at TAM golf course and contended the employees there are "great". At the ice rink tile is being placed on the asphalt there preventing it from sinking.

...Finance chairman Heinen reported business manager Pat Swanson is doing a "great job" in area of work. She said he watches park district investments and most are receiving 13.2% interest.

...Heinen reported the park district projected $119,073 more revenue from taxes than they received from the County for '81-'82 year. County Collector Rosewell wrote to Park board stating their projection is in error and park director Hughes will review Rosewell's letter.

...Heinen recommended payroll checks be double-fold checks to allow employees to have better records of wages.

...Heinen reported water ballet program was "very nice" and the senior citizens luncheon July 23 had 50 participants.

...Kosiba reported soccer program had approximately 100 participants last year and very enthusiastically Dan hoped for a larger turnout this year. There will be a free soccer clinic for any students attending Niles schools. Registration and promotion takes place September 7 and 13 and the first games begin September 18 and league play continues from 8-10 weeks on Saturday afternoons.

...Kosiba said the soccer program will be a "fun program". He cited soccer as being a cheap sport to participate in and the $10 fee for soccer players will be the payment of the soccer instructor and for a shirt. Comm. Marusek added girls have an equal chance in participating. Because the game requires quickness they are equal with boys in the sport thru the 5th or 6th grade level.

...Kosiba complained the park district is not getting support from local legislators, after Marusek reported no local legislator turned out for the golf outing recently in a northwest suburb. He said they had no respect for park district legislation and cited one legislator (Penny Pullen) who he said also "bit their heads off" when she was contacted for support for previous park legislation.

...Commissioners are seeking reduced mail rates, contending library and college districts both receive favorable rates for mailings which park districts don't receive.

...Comm. Pierski reported Park Ranger patrol and Niles police lieutenant Ray Giovanelli met to discuss arrest, detention, and communication aid which the Protection Group Ltd. patrol could share with Niles police.

...Horseshoe tournament for seniors takes place August 23 at Niles Senior Center with a $1 registration fee. Golf Tournament takes place August 25

Seek runners for Golf Mill benefit race

On Sunday, September 12 at 9 a.m. runners will be participating in a 10K (6.2) Miles or 1 Mile Fun Run, starting at Golf Mill Shopping Center and winding through the village. The race will finish at Golf-Mill with awards and prizes galore. A finish line party will be held with free tickets to all runners for beer, pop, juice and food.

This year's race will benefit Niles own World Class Speed Skater and Olympic prospect, Patrick Moore. Pat, 20 years old, is a talented young speed skater who is predicted to be the successor of Eric Heiden, the Olympic Gold Medal winner.

Athletes are not subsidized by this country and must compete against European and Russian Athletes who are government sponsored. In order to reach Olympic caliber, speed skaters must train six hours a day, 11 months out of the year at a cost of over $10,000 per year. Obviously, these athletes face considerable obstacles in their climb to the top without help from businesses and other organizations.

Now is everyone's chance to show true sportsmanship by supporting this race. Everyone who participates in the run will have pride in knowing they were a part of Pat Moore's success. To register call 296-8794.

Niles student working on Satellite project

Steven R. Majewski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Majewski, Niles, is doing research this summer at the Naval Research Laboratories (NRL) in Washington, D.C. for the SPARTAN (Shuttle Pointed Autonomous Research Tool for Astronomy) x-ray satellite scheduled for launch on the Space Shuttle in August of 1984. The satellite is to be placed into orbit where it will collect and record x-ray emission from clusters of galaxies, supernova remnants, and the center of the Milky Way Galaxy. Steven's work involves the development of image reconstruction techniques for making x-ray maps of these objects from the SPARTAN data.

Suburban GOP denounces "Sour Grapes" candidates

In a move aimed at closing ranks behind its candidates, suburban Republicans today called on voters to support only those candidates who legitimately won nomination in the March primary elections. The action came in response to the filing by at least two primary losers as "independent" candidates, State Representative Donald Deuster.

"The Suburban Republican Organization of Cook County, in a resolution unanimously approved by its executive committee, called on all suburban Republican voters to support only primary election nominees in primary election contests," Carl R. Hansen, chairman of the group, said today. "Loss in a primary battle is a bitter pill. All of us understand this. But such a loss in no way justifies what assessments will be, the school boards levy at the very maximum to make sure they have as much money as possible to operate, no matter what the assessments are. Thus, when the quadrennial assessment increases are announced, as they did in Maine Township this year, the increase shoots the taxes way up because local government boards sought the maximum allowed by law.

District 63's business manager Jim Bowen told us last week while the District 63 increase is 22%, it is only about 3% for the next 3 years averaging less than an 8% increase per year during the 4 year period prior to the next quadrennial assessment change.

If the tax levy is over 5%, the government body must publish a notice about the increase and hold a public meeting prior to approving the hike. Cook County Clerk Stanley Kuser wants to limit property tax increases to no more than 4%. But Arlington Heights superintendent James Fry contends such a limit is "tailor-made for making votes for politicians", but would cause a wage freeze and cause wholesale cut-backs in education programs.

The whole system is out of whack. And while we don't have any cure-alls, we know if you were down at the board meetings watching the stars, your public officials would be much more cautious in seeking your money.

That is the greatest cure-all. Sit on top of the people who are willing to tax the maximum rate.

Republicans have branded Nimrod a "spoiler" as the possibility looms that he will split the Republican vote in November allowing Democrat Lou Black, Niles Township Clerk, to win the election.

Lunding said he was prepared to present evidence to the Cook County Board of Election Commissioners on Monday showing that up to 2,500 signatures on the Nimrod petitions were not valid. Additionally, Lunding had subpoenaed five Park Ridge residents who were prepared to testify under oath that they had signed Cont'd from Skokie-L'wood P.1 that had been verified by a C.P.A. Ms. Handzel noted, "Yes, the report revealed that we were in the red." She added, "Someday soon the membership will learn when they are in the black." She concluded by urging the membership to attend the annual dinner to hear Cook County candidate Bernard Carey, and to use the dinner program booklet as a method of raising funds.

he was defeated during the March primary to Kustra.

Recently throwing his hat back into the race as an independent, Nimrod had been labeled a "spoiler" as the possibility looms that he could split the Republican vote and propel Democrat Lou Black into the State Senate.

On Monday the Cook County Board of Elections voted unanimously to allow Nimrod's name to appear as an independent on the November Ballot. Nimrod's petitions had been challenged by a Kustra supporter claiming there were numerous irregularities within the petitions.

Following the ruling by the Cook County Board of Election Commissioners, Kustra said the ruling will be appealed in court.

With Nimrod on the ballot acting as a "spoiler", Kustra said, "I think I can still win the election. Particularly if suburbanites renege the Chicago Teachers' strike machine engineered by the Board of Election vote on Monday."

Noting that "with Nimrod on the ballot, (the election campaign)...becomes more difficult for me..." Kustra said he will continue to work with the coalition which helped him beat Nimrod. "In the primary I depended on Democrats and independents who knew the Democratic candidate Black and felt I was the better candidate."

Referring to his popularity among area voters, Kustra said, "I've been supported consistently by people who appreciated my support of problems in the community such as our schools. (These voters)...understand the need of having a more independent legislator than you would have from someone beholden to the Cook County Democratic Party."

Commenting on the irregularities in the Nimrod petitions, Kustra said, "I was sure no one, regardless of party affiliation, would be able to overlook the irregularities."

As for the court appeal expected to be filed this week challenging the ruling of the election board which will be heard by a Democratic judge, Kustra said, "When a Republican candidate to Democratic judge I could never be confident that the merits of the case will be reviewed. (However,) I understand Judge (Joseph) Schneider (who will hear the case) is about as fair-minded a judge as you can get for a Democrat."

Lastly, Kustra gave notice that he will probably ignore Nimrod throughout the campaign. Speaking of the upcoming campaign, he said, "My race is against Lou Black."

petitions claiming to be the petitions circulating when, in fact, they did not circulate the petitions.

However, the three-man election board did not allow Lunding to present his evidence. Instead they ruled that the Marcus objection was not specific enough and ruled in favor of Nimrod.

The all-Democratic election board is made up of Cook County States Attorney Richard Daley, Cook County Circuit Court Clerk Stanley Kuser and Democratic Judge Eugene L. Wachowski.

and counter-drive for the move. Parents advocating the detachment claimed more community identity with the Glenview school district.

Board members also approved approximately $33,000 for the awarding of contracts for landscaping three district schools, improving a volleyball court, installation of a two-way intercom communications system at Gemini school, installation of a swing set at Twin school, lamps and audio-visual equipment.

Notification that the State may not reimburse the District for June and September lunch-room costs caused the board to increase lunchroom prices from $1.05 to $1.10. Prices may decrease if the funds are provided later.

date set to draw up a formal agreement.

Jaffe asked that the 9.7% salary increase be deposited into a bank account to accumulate interest if it is not to be issued in the first paychecks, so that "the teachers do not lose interest on money that is rightfully theirs".

"Oakton Community College is the only school without a faculty contract and is the laughing stock of the state", Jaffe told Board members.

In other business, the Board of Trustees of OCC happily accepted a $44,000 grant from the International Studies Program of the United States Department of Education for the first year of two years of funding.

The board approved payment for $18,000 of matching funds in the amount of $4,592. The purpose of the grant is to increase interest of student participation in International Studies courses at Oakton and offer study-abroad programs.

The board approved payment of $15,000 to the Ohio College Library Center to provide an automatic cataloging system of library and inter-library loan materials. This computerized cataloging system will reduce the cost of cataloging from $5 to $1.80 per book. This system also enables the library to draw upon collection resources from other libraries.

Audio-visual equipment and tapes were purchased from Advanced Video Communications for $2,000 to improve Oakton Community College's television facilities.

Fifteen dictaphones were also purchased from Dictaphone Corporation in the amount of $7,341. The Board purchased the dictaphones under the Illinois Joint Purchasing Agreement thus saving 8% for a total savings of $3,064.

OCC's Heating and Air Conditioning Vocational Program will receive $12,883 worth of new equipment. The equipment will be purchased from the following businesses: $11,200 from Aidx Corp., Downers Grove; $881 from Carney Fleming & Co., Villa Park; $601 from Harry Alter, Chicago; and $200 from Honeywell Corp., Lincolnwood.

The board adjusted payments to summer personnel in the amount of $3,691 for full-time faculty, and $411 for part-time faculty. This resulted in a revised total of summer full time payments of $591,848 and summer part-time payments of $331,495.

Electronics equipment necessary to furnish a second laboratory will be bought from Joseph Electronics for $5,777.

The board also accepted a grant from the Illinois Department of Adult, Vocational and Technical Education, High Impact Training Services in the amount of $100,000 to provide in-plant training for students at Infotek Corporation, a designer, producer and marketer of data collection and communications systems based in Northbrook.

A gift of marketing and business books valued at $1,466 was accepted by the board from Bernard V. Katz, a recently retired Professor of Business at Oakton.

weekend hours. Huber explained the park district alternates each year which pool will close early.

He said this situation is necessary because 70% of the lifeguard staff will be leaving early for school. Since most of the staff carry not only Senior Life Saving certification, but WSI (Water Safety Instructor) cards for which 17 years of age is a prerequisite, the majority of the guards are college age.

The park board meeting once again focused on its internal problems, when Morton Grove resident Mrs. Lenore Page, who tried unsuccessfully to win a park trustee seat in the last election, was critical of recent attitudes and actions of the board. She voiced concern with the time and effort being spent on the problem of park image. She referred to the ongoing battle between Park Board President Ronald Piper and the other trustees versus board member Nick Bozmos.

"What exactly is the image problem you're so concerned with? I have a great deal of respect for someone who can stand up for an unpopular issue. I think the community respects this too," said Mrs. Kite. Piper responded there was no image problem. "All I want is a vote. We vote aye, nay, or abstain."

Mrs. Kite was also unhappy with a park district camp and swimming programs, which she characterized as not teaching skills, often unsupervised, and tending toward "babysitting". She was also concerned with park liability, referring to the recent incident in which a child attending a park district camp left the area and was struck by an automobile.

Mrs. Kite said that in her own daughter's case, a note had been sent home that the children would be home one hour late one afternoon after Camp Mor Gro, but instead they returned that day at the usual time. She was fearful that parents would not have been home when their children returned.

Huber's response to this charge was that the note had been sent by unauthorized staff and that disciplinary action was being taken. He personally apologized for the incident.

In Title I money which will almost completely subsidize an ongoing program in the district.

Joe Iripino, Director of Buildings and Grounds, reported on the numerous accomplishments to upgrade the schools and grounds during the summer.

In routine business, resignations, appointments and salaries were approved. Also matters pertaining to the inservice program and a change of teacher's institute day. Approved repairs to be conducted on the drainage system of Nelson and air-conditioning in Gemini.
