District 63 studies redistricting

by Eileen Hirschfeld

Changing enrollment and better facility utilization were among factors reflected in eight options for redistricting of East Maine School District 63 in a study presented to the public and board members Jan. 11 in Apollo school, Des Plaines. Options ranged from redistricting of the entire District to redistricting of only two schools, Nelson and Melzer. Nelson school has about 550 students and Melzer about 200 students. Other schools and approximate populations are Twain, 560; Stevenson, 450; and Washington, 390. Youngsters in fifth grade would be able to change to a redistricted school in sixth grade or remain in their present school.

Board members asked for more information, especially a student projection for 1985-86, to be presented at the next meeting when action may be taken. After discussion, board members indicated only two options seemed desirable, one of the two being given another slant by board member Richard Smith.

No decision made to appeal

Court ok's District 63 detachment petition

by Eileen Hirschfeld

Victory may follow a lengthy battle for parents who petitioned to detach their youngsters from East Maine School District 63 after a 4-2 ruling in favor of the petition was granted County Board of School Trustees.

Citing a need for a stronger sense of community, the parents requested annexation into School District 34, Glenview. Some Niles students also attend Washington school.

Dr. Donald Bond, superintendent of District 63, reported on the outcome of the duel at a regular board meeting Jan. 11 in Apollo school. He said no decision has been made at this time to appeal the decision.

Washington school, 2710 Golf rd., is the District's only elementary school open north of Golf rd. As long ago as last January, the District held a public forum to discuss possible consequences of detachment. At that time, board members said petitioners could probably not receive enough signatures to have the detachment considered. Also at that meeting, a parents' group opposing detachment cited the fine educations received by pupils in District 63.

Chicago man killed while eluding police

A 20-year-old Chicago man was killed during an auto accident when his car crashed into a light pole while attempting to elude Niles police on Wednesday, Jan. 5.

Pronounced dead at Lutheran General Hospital was Robert A. Mayer, 20, of 6310 N. Lakewood in Chicago.

Niles police report first observing Mayer driving north on Milwaukee ave. A radio computer check showed that the car Mayer was driving was reported stolen in Chicago on December 28.

The Niles policeman on the scene immediately curbed Mayer's car. However, when the policeman got out of his car and began walking toward the stolen vehicle, Mayer reportedly threw the car in reverse and attempted to run over the policeman.

Mayer then sped north on Milwaukee ave. with the Niles police in pursuit. Turning east on Ballard rd. Mayer drove into the parking lot at McDade's and Co., 8901 Milwaukee ave.

Police reported that once inside the lot, Mayer was driving over 50 miles per hour and his car was moving erratically.

After hitting a curb the car

Since you're the guys and gals who pay the bills we think you should know:

...Last year Niles' indoor ice rink at the Ballard Sports Complex showed a loss of $30,000 for the year. Park director Bill Hughes told us Tuesday he expects this year's figure to have a shortfall of about $25,000. Presently, the red ink is up to $68,000 for the period from May 1 to December 31 but $15,000 of fees, presently outstanding, are expected to be paid. This would leave a deficit of $53,000, about the same as last year. Hughes mentioned the January-February period is the most used period at the rink and he expects revenue during the two-month period to substantially lessen the deficit.

...Niles Park District will be listening to proposals to review their current bookkeeping systems. A computer company will provide cost effective reports to determine if the installation of computers by the district are necessary. The park district's accountants, Callero and Callero, have their own computers which are available. Because of the costs of writing programs Callero would like a 3-year commitment if the park district should choose to use their computer service.

The village of Niles has perhaps the most extensive and sophisticated computer installation in the area. It would be another hands-across the district-

Oh God...give us back the good ol' days

by Diane Miller

We all reminisce about the good ol' days and while it used to be considered a sign of age, that's not true anymore. We recently heard a 28-year-old remembering when he could buy a gallon of gas for 30¢. Most of our young adults are very aware of the drastic changes brought about by inflation in recent years.

Inflation has also raised the cost of utilities to a point where we are all shaking our heads. Increases in utility rates are big news and jumps of 12%, 15%, and 18% are common news. What we really wonder is how efficient are these services? Their commercials on TV and their newspaper ads have always been very descriptive using the words "service and efficiency" many times. But just how efficient are they? Read on and you be the judge.

Some time ago it was necessary to have a telephone in our office moved from a south wall across the room approximately 25 feet to a north wall. We placed a call to the Service Department of "Ma Bell" where a very polite service rep told us it would be taken care of the next day.

Early the following morning a "Ma Bell" car pulled up in front of the office and a very neat appearing gentleman attired in a suit, shirt and tie announced he was here to check on our request for service. He looked at the phone we had, walked across the room and asked precisely where we wanted it installed. When we showed him, he proceeded to take a piece of chalk from his pocket and make a precise "X" on the wall. He then left telling us a repairman would be in shortly to move the phone. We assumed his job title with "Ma Bell" was that of an "X-pert."

Service and Efficiency . . . The magic words used by 'Ma Bell'

Later that afternoon, a truck bearing the bell-in-the-circle logo pulled up and a workman came in carrying a ladder and a box of wire. We commenced to show him where the phone was to be moved and he informed us he "didn't" do telephones, he only delivered equipment. "Your repairman will be coming in shortly," he added.

The next morning another "Ma Bell" truck arrived and our long-awaited repairman arrived and in a matter of an hour, completed the job. As he proceeded to leave the office, we called to him reminding him that he had forgotten to take his ladder and the remainder of the telephone wire he hadn't used for the job. "Oh," he replied, "I don't handle equipment, I only do telephones." Two days later another truck arrived and the driver picked up the ladder and wire. Five different people were needed to move a phone across a room.

What happened to the good ol' telephone repairman who used to check out the job, carry in his own equipment, do the job and leave with his ladder and wire. This is efficiency?

In a more recent incident, we had a problem with an extension phone located in the basement of our home. The phone would not ring and while you could talk on it when someone called in, you could not dial out on it. So we placed a call for "service" - the magic word with the utility companies.

When we explained our problem to the service rep, he asked if our wall phone was one which was directly wired into the wall or one which slides off a back plate. We explained it was wired directly to the wall, was a touch tone and when he wanted to know what color it was, it was difficult for us to figure out what difference it made if it had to be repaired. Maybe, we thought, they repair certain colors on certain days. In that case we hope 'beige' was on Thursday since that is our day off.

He then proceeded with, "I'll tell you what I'm going to do. We will send you out an instruction sheet telling you how to remove the phone from the wall." Then take it to your nearest Phone Center store and they will replace it for you with one that will have a back plate and slide off the wall. They will also give you instructions on how to hook it up."

Crown of Life to Commission Bible Translator

On Sunday, Jan. 16, Barbara Runkel will be commissioned as a Lutheran Bible Translator at the 10:15 a.m. service at Crown of Life. Crown of Life is an independent Lutheran Church which meets weekly in the Niles Recreation Center, 7877 Milwaukee ave.

Ms. Runkel, a Chicago native, holds a masters degree in linguistics from the University of Texas, Arlington, Texas. She plans to leave in February to work as part of a team that will translate the Old Testament into one of the tribal languages of Sierra Leone, Africa.

Crown of Life is one of many Chicago area congregations which have pledged financial and prayer support to Ms. Runkel for the three years she will be working in Africa. Lutheran Bible Translator (L.B.T.) missionaries must raise for themselves full financial underwriting for their work before leaving for the mission field. Ms.

Runkel was feted at a kitchen shower in December by the women's ministry of Crown of Life.

The Rev. Linn Hartz, Herculeum, Missouri, will be the guest speaker for Ms. Runkel's commissioning. Rev. Hartz, a former L.B.T. missionary to Africa, authored the book Jujū Gods about his stay there in the 1960's. Hartz now heads the Bible and Literacy League which helps train native pastors in India, Columbia, and East Africa.

The Rev. Hal Neuberger, pastor of Crown of Life, will be the commissioning pastor. Mrs. Mabel Warnke, Des Plaines, the local L.B.T. representative will also participate in the service.

During the month of January, Ms. Runkel is available to talk to church and youth groups about Bible translating. She can be contacted at 774-3974.

Seniors find help through Information Center

When the phone rings at the senior citizen information and referral (I&R) center, Des Plaines, I&R specialist Susan Segal knows she'll be speaking with someone who needs help with a problem. Often the seniors who call are unaware of what resources are available that can help them solve their problems.

The I&R center is part of Parkside Human Services' Older Adult Services Program, affiliated with Lutheran General Hospital. Older Adult Services provides a selection of services and health-care alternatives to seniors in Northwest Cook County.

"I&R basically puts people in touch with whatever community services will most effectively help their situations," says Ms. Segal, who knows more than just what services are available. She also is skilled at determining whether a person's reason for calling I&R represents his major concern. "A person might call to find out about filing a Medicare claim," she says. "After I talk to them, I might discover that they were just discharged from the hospital and could really use chore housekeeping services or home delivered meals until they get back on their feet."

When seniors call the I&R center, they're tapping into a resource of information about services for senior citizens throughout Northwest Chicago and the suburbs. The center maintains up-to-date information about adult day care, counseling services, nursing homes, and home delivered meals. Seniors can learn about programs that make it easier for them to remain independent, such as emergency response systems or shared senior housing. The center also answers questions concerning the variety of government entitlements that seniors can take advantage of including Circuit Breaker and Low Income Energy Assistance.

After the I&R center answers a question or connects a senior with the service he needs, they follow up to ensure that each person is satisfied. This "case management" function is crucial. "This way we know that we have really helped the person solve the problem," Ms. Segal says.

One woman who called I&R was having trouble working out the payment of her overdue bills with the utility company. The more she talked to the company, the more upset she became. I&R stepped in as an advocate for the woman and made payment arrangements that were agreeable to both parties.

There is never a charge for the services of the I&R specialist. The office functions under a mandate of the Older Americans Act of 1965 which states that an older adult should be able to phone one place which can refer him to whatever services are available.

You can call the I&R center from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. It is located in the Life Fulfillment Center, 9376 Church st., Des Plaines 60016. For more information, or for help with a problem, phone the I&R center at 696-7770.

St. Mary's begins Centennial Year with "100 Yesteryears"

Final preparations are underway for St. Mary's "100 Yesteryears" to be presented at Des Plaines St. Mary's Parish School, Feb. 4 and 5.

The theme of the gala entertainment event was selected precisely because St. Mary's has served the Des Plaines community for one hundred years, beginning as a mission in 1883. "100 Yesteryears" recreates this century of service. The parish school is divided into four separate eras of St. Mary's, and U.S. history, each covering one-quarter of the one hundred year period.

Visitors will literally experience a walk through a century of progress beginning with the Gay Nineties right on through the Roaring Twenties, the World War II years, and on to the Space Age. Tickets are available at $7 per person (16 and older) from the church rectory, 824-8144 or from Lombardo's Shoes, 1486 1/2 Miner Street in downtown Des Plaines.

LETTERS to EDITOR

A gift of love to the aged

Dear Editor:

I realize that many people share their love, their material goods, and themselves with others at Christmas time, but I feel that the case I am about to describe deserves publication.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meinke, of the Meinke Garden Center, 5003 Touhy ave., Niles, delivered for Christmas many beautiful poinsettia plants to St. Benedict Home. Each resident was the happy receiver of a poinsettia plant, and the balance of the Christmas flowers were used in the Chapel. It was lovely! It was beautiful!

Some of our residents are the last survivors of their families and their close friends have also preceded them in death. The Meinke's gift brought great pleasure to their aging hearts.

May you and your staff and ALL of us have a peaceful and a love-filled New Year of 1983!

Sincerely,
Sister Irene Sebo, OSB
Administrator: St. Benedict Home

Res Gymnastics Team hosts Welcome Night

Resurrection's Gymnastics Team is hosting the Second Annual Welcome Night at 5 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 14 at the school, 7500 W. Talcott ave. All parents, incoming freshmen, students, friends and the public are invited to see the gymnasts in action against Tat/Lane and Marillac. With a 6-0 record, Resurrection's team is ranked 11th in the state. The placement came after a score of 129.95 against Tat High School. Tammy Hener, a freshman, is ranked 1st in the state in floor exercise with a 9.5. Magan McMahon, with a 9.0 in floor exercise, is ranked 13th in the state. With strong individuals and real team effort, the gymnasts will be a strong competition throughout the remainder of the season.

Youth Hockey League continues progress

Bantam hockey coach Rich Burke is sleeping well these days, the bantams added two wins to their records defeating the Hornets of Park Ridge in a home to home duel. The Niles Park District team came on top 6-1 in the opener and battled 4-3 in the exchange. Scoring for the bantams was Tony Schmidt with a goal and an assist with single goals scored by Dan Mueller, Steve Schullo, Louie Dodaro, Jim Burke, and Don Dibartolo. Marco Neri added two assists while Jim Kobylski added another. Pee Wee coach Tom Dolan, on the other hand, probably is having nightmares. The Pee Wee's came very close two times, but were unable to win. The Warriors of Northbrook merely outlasted Niles to squeak by 6-5 while the All-Stars of Glenview put together a strong third period to break a very even game 6-2. Scoring for the Pee Wee's was Jon Schap, two goals and two assists along with Harold Blau who equaled the totals. Scot Harris scored two while Rory Taradash adds 1 goal and 1 assist. Glen Hirsch and John Godley each contributing 1 assist. High School coach Cliff Perault is catching up on his sleep. The Niles team is getting closer and better each game. After dropping a 5-0 game at Northbrook, where goalie Mike Reif suffered a minor injury, and demonstrated enough courage for the whole team by returning to hold the same team a week later to a 3-2 decision. Scoring for the Niles team was Frank Avino with a goal and an assist, Rob Guizch also with a goal and assist with Lee Lenderman adding another assist. Squirt coach Paul Bersoni might be sleeping, but coaching is testing his patience. The squirts dropped two games by a 4-2 and a 4-3 decision to the Glenview All-Stars. Both nail biters that went down to the wire. Scoring for the squirts was Vince Zambuto with 2 goals while Marc Kowachek 2 goals and 1 assist and Bob Clausen, Mike Jesse, and Brett Sukenick each contributing 1 assist.

Oakton Relay, Rosenblum in Goodwill Games

OCC's Steve Rosenblum and the mile relay team have been invited to the prestigious Goodwill Allstate Life Indoor Games at the Rosemont Horizon on Jan. 15. Rosenblum, a three-time All-American distance runner, will face some of the nation's better milers in the second annual meet. "This will be a big step for Steve", said Oakton track coach Pat Savage. "It will be the first time he has run in a meet of this caliber. It will be the first time he has run on boards which is completely different from hard surface tracks." Savage has yet to determine his line-up for the 1600 meter relay in the Horizon meet. However, he will probably lead off with his fastest quarter-miler Peter Vasques, followed by Dan Bolger. The final two positions will be chosen by time-trial from among a number of runners, including Rosenblum. For the 1500 meters, Rosenblum's strategy will depend on who he is pitted against in his heat. "Steve is more flexible than most runners," said Savage. "He can either go out fast or come on at the end of the race. But since this will be his first time on a board track, and other runners are more experienced, he probably will be very cautious. He will stay behind the leaders making sure he keeps contact, but let others set the pace."

Chicago Black Hawks visit Niles

Star of the Game was Krista Eshoo who scored a career high 24 points. Janet Rzeplia contributed 9 points and leads the team in blocked shots with 9. Cathy Bratek scored 4, Eileen McAuley and Stacie Jakobi 2 each. Cathy Bratek was the leading rebounder with 12, and Kathy Lake had 3. In the championship game, SJB met Divine Infant from Westchester. DI went ahead to win 39-38. SJB recorded only 9 turnovers in the game. It was the first loss of the season for SJB and leaves their record at 20 and 1. This team had never lost to a team at their same age level. Krista Eshoo scored 16 points. Cathy Bratek 8, Janet Rzeplia 8, Eileen McAuley 4, and Kathy Lake, 2. Stacie Jakobi had 2 rebounds. The fans on both sides will remember this game as one of the most exciting games ever played at the 8th grade girls level. It was a game that neither side deserved to lose.

ED HANSON

Pro Football Expert?

WHODAT?
ME - WHO ELSE?
Out of my last 20 professional football picks (some underdogs) I WON 18.
That's a WIN percentage of 90%.
AND, more important to me, I backed it up with fairly sizeable cash wagers. In some cases, laying the money line, (no points) in others, taking the money line odds (no points.)
The ONLY two games I blew, the team should have won. Both of my losses came from the same team. But - and this is an important BUT - both of these same teams gave me two WINS at odds. This more than offset my losses on those same two teams.
WHO WERE THE SAME TWO TEAMS? The Chicago Bears!
The Chicago Bears, I figured, had finally put it all together. But when they got on the gridiron, somehow, they just couldn't find it. (Had they used a certain rookie in both of these games, which Dika must be keeping under wraps for next year, and used some of the brand new plays I charted for them, I'm sure they would have won both these games and been in the playoffs today.)

I'm writing this early, long before the SUPER BOWL game happens, so some of you smart-alecks can't say I picked the SUPER BOWL winner after the game. So, I suggest that you paste this column where it covers the point on your head - namely, your hat! (The date line of this column is Jan. 13.)

NOW, forget ALL but three teams, these three teams: The Los Angeles Raiders, The Washington Redskins, and The Dallas Cowboys. (The rest of the teams will wind up in that well-known creek without a paddle.)

This means, now that I've narrowed it down for you to three teams, that two (Dallas and Washington are in the National Conference) and the Los Angeles Raiders is in the American Conference, will play in the SUPER BOWL.

Thus, I'm selecting the LOS ANGELES RAIDERS to WIN SUPER BOWL XVII!

The odds right now are 4-1 on Los Angeles to win the Super Bowl, Dallas 5-1 and Washington 6-1.
So, I will place a small bet, say a hundred bucks, at 4-1 odds on Los Angeles to win the Super Bowl right now. Then, I'll place 50 bucks each on Dallas at 5-1 and Washington at 6-1. If any one of these three teams wins the Super Bowl, I will win 2 hundred bucks if Los Angeles wins, 50 bucks if Dallas wins, and one hundred bucks if Washington wins.

As the Los Angeles Raiders are my KEY (I've selected them to win the Super Bowl) I'll lay the money line, regardless of the odds, on Los Angeles to win over Cleveland in the playoffs. If Los Angeles gets beaten (which I doubt) then if either Dallas or Washington comes through I go with Dallas (my number 2 pick, or Washington, my number 3 pick.) Betting enough money (again taking the money line (no points) to pick up my loss and show a profit.)

If some dark horse team like Miami, San Diego, or Pittsburgh, etc. should WIN Super Bowl XVII, I have the solution to that also.

I'll just blow my brains out!

P.S. This column was written Thursday, Jan. 6, prior to the playoffs. These odds were set by Vegas and all wagers had to be made prior to the playoffs. Mine were.

Did you hear about John Roveto, the ex-Bear kicker shooting himself yesterday? He missed - it was wide and to the left. (Ha, ha.)

The Spaatz Award is the highest honor attainable in the Civil Air Patrol's comprehensive cadet program.

Civil Air Patrol Cadet John R. Abuja, a Niles resident, has been awarded the General Carl A. Spaatz Award, the highest honor attainable in CAP's comprehensive cadet program. The award was presented to Cadet Abuja by Representative John E. Porter at a recent ceremony in the congressman's Northbrook office.

Cadet Abuja is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Abuja, 7305 W. Breen st., Niles.

In winning the Spaatz Award, which is always presented by an Air Force or Civil Air Patrol general officer, an elected state or federal official, or cabinet-level official, Cadet Abuja has completed the Civil Air Patrol's most difficult and demanding program. Since its inception in 1965, only 622 cadets throughout the nation have earned the award. The rigorous final examination is passed by only 20 percent of examinees. Cadet Abuja is the 34th Illinoisan to win the award and only the fourth since 1979.

A high school senior who hopes to receive an appointment to the Air Force Academy, Cadet Abuja is cadet commander of the Northbrook Cadet Squadron and vice chairman, Illinois Wing Advisory Council. Edison brochure summarizes utility's programs "RESPONSE", a new brochure designed to summarize what Commonwealth Edison is doing to meet the special and varied needs of northern Illinois electricity customers, is now available.

The handy, 12-page brochure explains the many services and programs offered by the company to meet the special needs of its customers, including the hearing and speech impaired, those with serious illnesses and those who depend on electrically operated medical equipment. It also describes various bill payment options, such as the budget and deferred payment programs as well as preferred payment due dates. In addition, it explains how to read your electric meter and interpret your bill. The brochure also outlines miscellaneous services the company provides, including light bulbs, translators, energy conservation material, speakers bureau and film library.

To obtain a free copy of "RESPONSE", call or stop by your local Edison office or write "RESPONSE", Advertising Department, Commonwealth Edison, P.O. Box 767, Chicago, Illinois 60690.

Edison announces fuel cost credit

Commonwealth Edison has announced that its customers will see a fuel adjustment credit on their electric bills for the month of January, reflecting fuel cost reductions. The typical residential customer using 500 kilowatt-hours per month will save $1.18 in Chicago and $1.13 outside Chicago.

This is the fourth time in as many months that Edison customers will have a fuel adjustment credit. According to the company, the credit reflects reduced fuel costs of September, October and November and has been made possible by Edison's continuing commitment to low-cost nuclear fuel. Coal, which is the company's next most economical fuel, is four to five times as expensive as nuclear fuel, and oil is about 10 times as expensive.

The Road to Financial Security

Randall J. Venerich
President
The First National Bank of Morton Grove

The only possible benefit of a depressed economy is that people who are still working become more attentive to their financial affairs and many have resumed thrift habits which may lead to financial security.

Financial security, of course, means different things to different people. For some, it is putting away money to cover emergency needs - a nest egg. For others, it means achieving total financial independence.

Whatever the financial goal, achieving it, for most people, requires a regular pattern of savings and operating on a budget. Patience and self-control are the surest and safest courses to saving money.

The new money market funds offered by our bank and other financial institutions are ideal savings and investment vehicles for people of average means. Interest rates are substantially higher than pass book savings, you have withdrawal privileges and the accounts are insured up to $100,000.

Determining how much you save each month requires a budget. The best way to set up a budget is to keep a record of all of the money you spend during an average month. Carry a notebook and record each purchase. You may be surprised at how much money is "dropping through the cracks."

After recording your expenses for a month or more, examine them and determine which have priorities in your life style. Eliminate those which are not truly important to you and resolve to save the money each month.

As reserve or retirement funds grow, or as your income increases, you may decide to begin an investment program. A good rule to remember in uncertain economic times is that the return on principal is not nearly as important as the return of the principal.

Federal excise tax increase on telephone service

The federal excise tax on telephone service increased to three percent from the current one percent on Jan. 1, Central Telephone Company of Illinois announced today.

The increase is the result of legislation passed by Congress in August. Most telephone services, including local and long-distance calls, are subject to the tax.

The federal legislation which levies this tax increase states that it will be collected for three years—1983, 1984, and 1985. The tax then is scheduled to be eliminated entirely in 1986.

An excise tax on telephone service was first imposed by Congress during World War I as a "temporary" measure, the U.S. Independent Telephone Association reports.

Although repealed briefly after the war, the tax was reinstated during the Depression. Rates have ranged as high as 25 percent on long-distance calls and 15 percent on local service.

The tax stood at 10 percent for almost 20 years, but recently it had been declining one percent annually.

USITA points out that although the nation's telephone companies collect these taxes, all of the revenue is forwarded to the federal government.

New Illinois Bell Service Center

Illinois Bell began serving its Residence customers a new way after Jan. 1, 1983. The company opened a new Service Center at 8707 Skokie Blvd., Skokie.

"At the Service Center we offer Customer Convenience Services that were previously available at PhoneCenter Stores," said Karen Williams, the company's local manager. "It is much more than a change of name, however."

Under a Federal Communications Commission (FCC) ruling issued in October, 1981, Illinois Bell and other Bell operating companies nationwide will be responsible for providing basic "regulated" telecommunications services only.

Since Jan. 1 customers seeking to install newly purchased telephone equipment are able to get that equipment from American Bell, Inc., a newly formed Bell System subsidiary. All American Bell equipment is offered for sale only. Customers also have the option of acquiring telephone equipment from non-Bell suppliers.

Customer convenience services at Illinois Bell Service Centers include: Pick up of leased telephone sets (after placing an order by phone with a service representative serving your Residence account); Pick up free telephone directories; Drop off leased telephones you no longer need for a billing credit; Exchange of leased telephones for sets of same type in different color; Replacement of non-working leased telephones; Repair of Design Line telephones purchased from Illinois Bell; Purchase of Customer Convenience Products you choose to install yourself on inside telephone wiring only.

Federal regulations prohibits Illinois Bell from selling new telephone installations to the public after Jan. 1, 1983. Since the current inventory of Design Line telephones (existing Illinois Bell may continue to offer them for sale through Service Centers.

If the park district could work out an agreement with the village to utilize its computers. Since most taxpayers in the park district are also village taxpayers, it would make good "cents" for the village's computers to be put to use by the park district. But don't bet on it.

What have Bernard Skaja, Dan Cincinnati, Steve Chamerki, Walt Beusse, Stan Niski, Val Engelman, Joyce Schoos, Ray Glon, Elaine Heinen and a name not released have in common? The not-so-common commoners have all picked up petitions for park commissioner. The two openings on the April ballot for four year terms are for the seats presently occupied by Beusse and Heinen. Among the pickers-uppers, it was reported in another newspaper, Mr. Cincinnati's picking up a petition was not motivated by serious intent. He was quoted as saying he picked up his petition for a lark.

If you live in the Centel Telephone area you should know the company will be seeking a rate increase. Monday, an old Oakton Manor friend, Howard Gaede, dropped in to the office and asked us to find out when the ICC hearing would be taking place. In conversation with a telephone company spokesman, he expected the hearing to be around the end of the first quarter of the year.

In this week's Bugle Diane Miller has written a column concerning Illinois Bell Telephone Company.

In light of the ever-increasing charges of the utility companies, we are considering a regular column in The Bugle spotlighting the activities of the companies in our areas. They are very sensitive to public reaction. We would like your thoughts and opinions to be included in the column.

District 63...

Both administration and board members seemed to favor revised boundaries for almost the whole district with eastern boundaries of Twain and Stevenson moved to the nearest school, either Washington, Melzer or Twain. Bond said all options were drawn up keeping in mind attempts to hold neighborhoods together, provide two sections per grade level and attempts to hold the traffic flow together.

In addressing board members, parents commented on whether or not moves were in the best interests of the children, preference of schools and benefits of redistribution. Board members expressed concern toward children in special education programs, crossing of main streets, busing and former moves because of school closings among other items.

Business manager James Bowen said it was necessary for the board to identify major problems before coming to a decision. He identified those problems as low enrollments at Washington and Melzer schools and a high enrollment at Stevenson school.

Joan Futterman, newly appointed representative to the Maine Township Special Education Program (MTSEP), reported the program's administering district, High School District 207, disagreed with approved salaries for MTSEP administrators and attempted to delay payment. Legal opinion found the high school district wrong and it has indicated an unwillingness to remain administrator.

Possibilities could include withdrawing from the special education cooperative or remaining as a member without administering responsibilities. In the latter case, one of the feeder districts would have to administer the program.

Discussion was raised on a report by Lenore Page concerning summer school possibilities.

Board members approved funds for extra security measures probably resulting from alarm after a recent vandalism of four computers from a District school.

schools' excellent inter-scholastic, performing arts and club program; the good rapport among all those connected with the District; and, finally, the general satisfaction and good behavior of the students.

In addition, the team recommended that the District continue its efforts to ensure faculty job security; increase its efforts to revitalize the staff through inservice; further define the role of the directors; review procedures for determining course content within established district objectives; and maintain the buildings in top condition.

Niles North's and West's preparation for the 1982 NCE actually began in October, 1981. Under the direction of Niles West language teacher Roger Stein and assistant superintendent Dr. Gilbert Weldy, staff committees were established to evaluate their own programs. A steering committee compiled the information received from faculty members in every department to reach consensus of the strengths and weaknesses in each subject area. The self-study in final form was prepared by Stein and Weldy during the summer and awaited the evaluation team when it arrived in October. "Some of the area's strongest educators confirmed through this report what we have long believed about the job that our high schools are doing. No high school can afford to rest on its past accomplishments."

"Why", I asked in an astonished tone of voice, "am I paying a 40¢ a month service repair charge if you don't come out and repair phones?"

"That charge is for repairing phone lines, not the telephones themselves," he answered. Again my inquiring mind bounced back. "How do you know my problem is not in the lines instead of the telephone?"

"Well, you call us when you replace the phone, Mrs. Miller and if it still doesn't work properly, then the problem must be in the lines and we come out to repair it."

"I don't believe this," I repeated to myself over and over. This is service? So next week if you notice a name missing from the flag on Page 3 of The Bugle and there is a glowing editorial in the Left Hand column on the demise of the managing editor, you'll know we didn't pay careful attention to the third paragraph of the instructions entitled, "How to avoid an electrical shock." Oh God, give us back the good ol' days....

ce, according to village officials, is that it prevents political appointments from running the day to day village business.

Also the Village Board was asked to mediate a dispute between the Water Department and a Morton Grove businessman.

Ken Kotas, owner of Dempster-Waukegan Mobil, 6933 Dempster st., told the board he had been billed for 463,000 gallons of water from the period of March 1982 thru June 1982. However, his normal three month bill has only been for 64,000 gallons used. This increase represented a $600 boost in his bill.

Kotas explained the Water Department sent out an employee who installed a new water meter to check to see if there was a problem and checked the old meter and found his water system in good order.

However, Kotas still insists there must have been a problem with the meter. Trustee Richard Hols, who was familiar with Kotas' problem, asked Kotas to meet with him and other village officials in an attempt to solve the problem.

Morton Grove Village Attorney Martin Ashman told the Village Board that following the recent decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals upholding the constitutionality of the Morton Grove handgun ban, the case was also argued before the Illinois Appellate Court. Ashman said it was unknown when a decision from the state court would be announced.
