Niles trustee vetoes Cablevision's participation in LWV meeting

by Bud Besser

Niles cable T.V. chairman Ang Marcheschi had Cablevision cancel its participation in a public access program Tuesday night sponsored by the Morton Grove-Niles League of Women Voters.

League president Pat Horn was as mad as a bee in a hornet's nest since the cancellation required neighboring Continental Cable T.V. to fill in at the last moment at a meeting that seemed too innocuous to have any controversy surrounding it. Horn told The Bugle Cablevision's Tony Naughton cancelled at the request of Niles. Continued on Page 22

Realty firm hired to sell Maine North

The Maine Township High School District 207 Board agreed Monday evening, Sept. 12 to hire Midwest Realty and Exchange Inc. Chicago to find a buyer for Maine North high school. The building, located in Des Plaines, was closed in 1981 due to declining enrollment. A portion of the school has since been rented to various groups. An attempt to auction the school recently resulted in a "no show" of bidders. District 207 is asking $10 million for the 13-year-old building and 48-acre campus. At Monday night's board meeting, the board agreed to Continued on Page 22

Parkside bids for Nathanson school

Details delay final sale of Wilson school

by Eileen Hirschfeld

Final approval for sale of Wilson school, Niles, is being delayed due to possible renegotiation of contract terms between the successful bidder, Eden Mission Education Center, and East Maine School District 63. Toward a June purchase of the school, the church group deposited $50,000 with the District.

During a regular board meeting on Tuesday, September 13, Dr. Donald Bond, Superintendent, asked that final approval of the sale contract be removed from the agenda. Dr. Bond said the bidder did not produce papers with language for board approval. Attorney for the District said the church group is "committed" to the purchase but Continued on Page 22

Niles Events plans another big auction

by Bud Besser

More than 2,000 signatures have been received on petitions to name the Niles Administration building after Ken Scheel.

Before the effort was made we asked Nick Blase about holding off naming the Public Works garage after Scheel. Blase told us he would. He thought the best way to consider any re-naming was to get petitions signed with supporters for the project. They will be presented to Niles village board at the September 27 meeting.

At the funeral of Jules Pandera I mentioned to Bill Cornelius a fitting memorial might be a scholarship fund for youngsters. Jules worked with young people in the Niles Park District for many years as well as at St. Mary of the Woods school in Edgbrook. What would be more fitting than to remember Jules by continuing to support young people who need help?

We also thought naming one of Niles parks after Jules might be fitting. He served as Niles park director and park commissioner in the 60's. He was involved in CYO sports activities and had a hand in several championships which involved St. John Brebeuf athletes.

The meeting will be held at National Park fieldhouse from 3 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

In addition to the auction, there will be a boutique table, a silent auction and door prizes. Bring your friends and neighbors and enjoy the evening with other bargain hunters.

Time will be allowed for questions and answers. Pamphlets and other information will be available for your home reference.

Extended Coverage

By Stephen Falter

Moving? Opt for the van company's "full-value insurance" plan, even if it costs a little more. It's the most complete coverage. Check inventory before you sign the receipt for delivery.

Some insurance companies will double medical benefits for policy holders wearing seat belts.

Buy a car carefully: a reputable dealer is best. If you buy a stolen car, you could lose the car—and your money. Auto insurance does not cover this loss.

Some home builders offer insurance protection that will make mortgage payments if the buyer loses his or her job.

Free booklet: "Ten Questions Consumers Most Frequently Ask About Auto and Home Insurance"—is available from Insurance Information Institute, 110 William Street, New York, NY 10038. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Jewish Film Festival debuts October 1

The Jewish Film Festival/Chicago '83, an unprecedented, six-day cinematic event featuring 17 films, begins Saturday, Oct. 1 at the Varsity Theatre in Evanston.

While the primary focus is on the many challenging perspectives of Jewish life - from life in a turn-of-the-century Russian shtetl to the Holocaust to a unique socialist commune in upper New York State - collectively, this remarkable assemblage of film directs attention to important questions that ultimately affect us all - Jew and non-Jew alike.

This unique film festival, a first for the Midwest, is co-sponsored by the Jewish Community Centers of Chicago's Centre for Jewish Arts and Letters and The Jewish P.O.C.E.T. (Production Organization for Cultural Events and Theatre). It will include special screenings at the Film Center in the Art Institute of Chicago as well as children's and senior citizens' matinees.

Several of the scheduled films deal with the conscience-stirring events of the Holocaust. The question of French-Nazi collaboration is examined in "Black Thursday," a gripping drama about the one-day roundup of 13,000 French Jews in 1942.

Morton Grove Womens Club celebrates 30 years

On Oct. 20 the Morton Grove Womens Club will celebrate 30 years of service to the community with a special luncheon and fashion show at the Chateau Road in Des Plaines. The party will be a remembrance of years past, with the committee wearing costumes dating back as far as 1962, the year the theme parties originated.

Public Welfare Chairman Carol Orahman and her group have been working all summer, gathering prizes, making elegant appointments for the tables...all the nice touches the club is noted for. Prizes include $300 cash, a tour of 12 restaurants beginning with Chez Paul on Rush St. Dover Straights, Jamies, Meson de Lago and Colletti's, a silver racoon hat valued at $250 and three magnificent handmade afghans. The profits from this luncheon are used solely for the club's charities and scholarships for local students. Several families in town receive help from this fund...twice a year some 40 gifts are remembered with gifts just to let them know that people care...

Tickets for the luncheon and the professional fashion show to be presented by Charles Stevens, can be obtained by calling 729-4275. Each table will accommodate 10 guests, and you may reserve all or part of a table.

Parent/Adolescent Series

Director of Community Outreach

One of the more frequently asked questions we hear at the agency is "can you tell me if my teenager is adjusting well to life?" Unfortunately, that question is difficult to answer. It is even difficult to define what "well-adjusted" means. Teenagers do not have the same definition as their parents - as well as they disagree with parents about whether they are "well-adjusted". However your teenager's life style and behavior can give you some clues to how well they are adjusting. There are some interesting differences between successful teenagers and teenagers who are overwhelmed by life. Some of these are:

1. Successful teenagers tend to have a hobby (creative, constructive and educational) which he pursues without nagging or pushing.
2. Successful teenagers pursue excellence in school - doing the best they can without parental pressure.
3. Successful teenagers participate more in organized team sports, music (band/chorus) or art.
4. Successful teenagers become more involved in some adult supervised clubs or organizations. (Clubs at school, scouting, 4H, etc.)
5. Successful teenagers seem to be taking steps to learn about a career or know what direction they want to take.
6. Successful teenagers usually have a schedule of responsibilities around the house that they carry out willingly and well.
7. Successful teenagers can better handle adult instructions and limits.
8. Successful teenagers attempt to be more respectful and appreciative towards their parents in particular, and adult in general.
9. Successful teenagers can easily say they're sorry when they have done something wrong and/or make amends on their own.
10. Successful teenagers can tell you about something they have done wrong before other adults. They appear to value honesty and responsibility for their behavior more.
11. Successful teenagers are more open about their feelings and are able to talk to their parents about sensitive matters like sex.
12. Successful teenagers usually show more respect for their siblings and the property of others.
13. Successful teenagers seem to be more active members of their peer group, not isolated.
14. Successful teenagers enjoy the stable, close friendship of more than one person (who meets the approval of their parents).
15. Successful teenagers have learned to better handle disappointment and are able to delay gratification.
16. Successful teenagers value reliability (being on time) and follow through on what they start.
17. Successful teenagers tolerate losing better when playing in an organized game or sport.
18. Successful teenagers take more pride in their appearance.
19. Successful teenagers read independently.
20. Successful teenagers usually spend less than 7 hours a week watching T.V.
21. Successful teenagers take better care of their property and possessions.

Remember the above are clues, not absolutes. While no guidelines is completely accurate, you can rate your teenager according to these characteristics of successful teenagers. These characteristics can be rough clues for identifying what characteristics you would like to see your teenager develop more. If you have any additional questions or behavioral factors you would place on the list, please give Jim Cisek or Larry Renetzky a call at Niles Family Service, 692-3396. If you have any doubts about how well adjusted your teenager is or will be, please call for an appointment to see if we can help your teenager be more successful in life.

Maine Township 'jumping the gun' on tax levy increase

Dear Editor:
I noticed that Maine Township officials are contemplating raising their tax levy by 35% because they feel that Federal Revenue Sharing will not be enhanced this coming year.

All of the communities in this general area are affected by revenue sharing, but if we all acted in the same irresponsible way by raising our tax levies prior to the decisions actually being made on revenue sharing, we would be forcing our tax levies up and then maybe, just maybe, reducing them by abatement at a future date. None of the communities in this area have raised their levies because of fears regarding revenue sharing.

It seems ludicrous therefore that the Township is the only governmental body that is doing this at this time. The chances of Federal Revenue Sharing being extended are at least 95% at this particular time. The Township knows this and therefore should not be talking about raising taxes at a time when many of our residents are generally hurting.

Nilesite questions bocci ball courts

Dear Editor:
Recently wrote you about the Niles Public Works building a bocci court for Mayor Blase and the Village Fathers. The question of whether the property belongs to the residents of Niles or do we just pay for them to use it has never been answered.

Now the workers maintain the bocci court between the hours of 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. How much does that cost Niles taxpayers?

Name withheld by request
P.S. I overheard one of the workers laugh and say that the voters "would forget before the next election." But we won't!

Niles "Nuggets" semi-pro baseball team

The Nuggets are in need of community support! Bennigan's has sponsored the team for the past two years and we thank them; however, the management has decided to put more effort into employee relations in 1984 and therefore cannot sponsor the team any longer. We have had a good relationship the past two years, one that has benefited both Bennigan's and the Nuggets.

The Nuggets have placed in the top 3 of the Greater Illinois League in 1982 and 1983. Our home field is Notre Dame and the men playing on the team are 18 and older. We are hoping a business or several businesses in the area have followed the team's progress in the weekly articles published by The Bugle and will desire to be associated with the team in the form of sponsorship. The team conducts themselves with dignity and honor, always displaying good sportsmanship and talent. Wouldn't you like to be a part of our winning program and catch some of that Nugget Fever? If you would like to be a sponsor or have any questions, please call Stan Breitman at 696-2844.

Res volleyball team off to a good start

Resurrection High School's volleyball team began its season against Ridgewood, clean sweeping them in the Varsity, Junior Varsity and Freshmen games on Aug. 31.

In the Varsity game, Res beat Ridgewood 15-6 and 15-8. According to Coach Jeanette Pancratz:

For the first game, our offense was very good. We have a powerful hitting team this year. In the game, one of our strong points was the good passing."

Res has seven seniors on the team. Mary Loeschler is outstanding. Amy Gauthier, Colleen Mergens and Kristi DePaola had good defensive passing in the game. Peggy Hayes, Sheila Cerny and Sue Corso are the other seniors. Two juniors, Mary Ward and Carolyn Myszka and two sophomores, Danine Juszynski and Julie Guzzo, and one freshman complete the team. Freshman Sue Simmons is a good all-around player and she is the first freshman Pancratz has ever put on the team.

Res' Junior Varsity beat Ridgewood 15-10 and 15-8. Coach Debbie Krzywicki is very excited about the team with good offensive and defensive play at the beginning of the season. The Junior Varsity team consists of: Gina Lennon, Diane Port, Monica Paluch, Sue Sokolowski, Joan Balistreri, Lisa Farrell, Sherri Spachner, Sue Gibbons, Sharon Marzullo, Laura Hayes, Lisa Gilfoy, Deneen Barker, Cheryl Klish, Lisa Balagot, Karl Greenwald and Tina Sudendorf. keeps on growing but we have room for many more members. This truly is a great opportunity to be counted, permanently, as a supporter of the retention and preservation of "Blue Boy" in the museum, jointly sponsored by the Niles Lions and the Niles Fire Dept.

We say permanently, because your name and honorary rank will be emblazoned forever on a bronze plaque to be displayed in the "Blue Boy Museum". To be remembered on this lifetime plaque is very simple. First choose the rank you would like to hold, for example take the rank of chief, then make the required contribution to the Niles Lions Club. That's all it takes.

Here is a listing of the ranks available and the donations to acquire them. For the coveted Chief's title, all that is needed is a contribution of $25. To become a Captain, just a donation of $15 is requested. The Lieutenant rank can be yours, by giving a gift of $10. Under the heading of the ranks of Engineer, Firefighter and Paramedic, your name can be listed by contributing only $5. The time-honored rank of Volunteer may be yours for a donation of $3.

The Niles Lions will be available to record your choice of rank in the squad and your contribution by calling Lion Ang Marcheschi at 966-2040 or by sending your desired commission and contribution to P.O. Box 48028, Niles, Illinois 60648 in care of the Niles Lion Club.

You may also secure your membership at either of the Niles Fire Stations, 8830 Dempster st., or station #1 on Jarvis St.

Remember, the extended cut-off date is December 31, 1983. Don't miss this great opportunity to be a part of Niles history. Please help your Niles Lions in this project for the "Heritage of Niles", your own "Blue Boy Museum" and the "Blue Boy Squad".

Discrimination...

know that failure to rent to a family simply because they have children (age discrimination) is discriminatory as is the refusal to rent, lease or sell property on the basis of race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, or sex. Anyone who believes they have been a victim of this type of discrimination should file a complaint with the Skokie Human Relations Commission.

Rental ads or signs that prohibit families with children should be brought to the attention of the Commission. "Such practices go against the overriding desire to this community to attract young families...not to discourage them," remarked Commission Chairperson Pat Handzel.

Maine Township Democrats

Maine Township Regular Democrats would like to invite anyone who lives in the 6th, 9th or 11th Congressional Districts and would like to become a delegate to the Democratic National Convention for 1984 to call 692-3388 and ask for Nicholas B. Blase or Veda.

We are compiling a candidates' list now. There will be further information available soon, including a Congressional District meeting in each Congressional District.

Stress...

October 12 at 7:30 p.m. This session will cover marriage, children and the significant people in your life. You can learn (and laugh at) the signs of stress in your home. You will identify some other signs. Stress is overwhelming you by what you say. For example, a common sign of stress is telling another adult, "I really love my kids, but sometimes they make me so..."

Dr. Martin and Tom Jauck will identify some other signs. They will help you understand the unique stressors in your marriage and your family.

The third session, October 19, will cover the topic of nutrition and your health. The role of biochemistry is receiving more information from researchers. They have found out the surprising importance of what you put in your body and what your body does with it. This session will help you understand the common myths of nutrition and vitamins.

The fourth session will be held October 26 and will summarize the strategies for positive coping and set you on the path to optimum health.

Since this is a four part series, you are encouraged to participate in all four sessions. The fee for Niles residents is $3 for the entire series, or $1 a session. For non-Niles residents, the fees are $5 for the entire series or $2 per session. For further information or if the fee is an obstacle, please call Dr. James Cisek at 692-3396.

Why Tony LaRussa Should Be Fired...N-O-W!

Once upon a time, not too long ago, Tony LaRussa, The Chicago White Sox manager, came within a hair's breath of being fired. This was when the '83 Sox lost 8 in-a-row, and the spectators, like those in ancient Rome, wanted LaRussa thrown to the lions.

The vast crowd in Roman days wanted blood. In modern times, Sox fans wanted Tony LaRussa's blood. So, they became articulate in calls and letters that LaRussa must go!

In their and our ignorance we innately crave a "whipping boy" or someone on whom we can fasten the blame. This is because we humans are all born with the inherent fear that our own judgement can be wrong.

Suppose, just assume, the head man of the White Sox management called Tony LaRussa into his sanctum and said, "Tony, I know this will come as something of a shock to you, but we're letting you go as of NOW!"

Tony, with a dazed look etching itself upon his rather handsome face, would cry in disbelief, "But why, God man, we're 14 1/2 games in front this late in the season?"

"True Tony", the Daddy Bigbucks of the Sox management would agree, but what did you personally contribute to their success?"

What'dya mean, man?"

"Did you personally make a single hit, from a single to a home run? Did you field a single ball? Score a single run? Assist in a single double play? Make a super field play in the infield or outfield?"

"Well, no sir...I'm the manager."

"You were also the manager when we were losing...and the fans wanted your blood. Wanted me to fire you." Remember?

"Yeah, I remember - but..."

"Tony, most managers in baseball, are like you. Years ago, we had team baseball captains who I believe contributed more than the managers. Team captains in baseball are like the drop kick in football and the 3rd down surprise punt in football. Perhaps forgotten yet highly effective."

"I don't follow, boss."

"That's exactly the point, Tony. I don't want men who follow, rather I want men who lead. And, more important, lead by example. In other words, another forgotten man in baseball is the playing manager."

"Gee, I just don't understand, boss."

"Let me put it this way. If the recently fired manager of the Cubs, Lee Elia, managed today's Sox, I believe we'd be in the same spot we are today—14 1/2 games in front."

Tony made no comment as the Daddy Big Bucks of the Sox continued: "It's like a sales manager in any business. It's the working sales manager who can sell and more important can close business for the salesman. He's a creative salesman a leader, who can create business where none existed before. He is not, in other words, and order taker. Business that comes thru the transom, by letter or phone, is already pre-sold. The customer is buying the product or service, you are not selling it. And, therein is the difference between the order taker and a creatively great salesman."

"Gee, I just don't follow boss."

"What I want is a playing manager. Not just a guy that makes up the player's list for the umps and mostly acts as a sort of secretary. What I wanted is to have a playing manager and, Tony that's why I'm letting you go."

"And, whose to take my place, Boss?"

"Carlton Fisk. Effective immediately."

"What can I say, boss." Tony LaRussa dejectedly shrugged his thickest shoulders.

"Don't feel bad, Tony...right now there's any number of major league teams that will snap you up for more money than I'm paying you and, criticize me to boot. Suppose, just suppose, you lose the playoffs or the big one—The World Series. You'll be a bum again as far as the fans are concerned. But right now you'll be a hero. It's because I like you that I'm doing this Tony, and we'll always be friends, remember that."

PS: At the beginning of the baseball season I wrote in my Bugle column that the Sox, who finished 3rd last year, had a good shot to WIN it all. The Cubs I said, "Were the over-the-hill gang that would finish last or close to it."

"An Evening of La Traviata Highlights" Country Concert

Principal singers for these performances will be Beth Garlik, Soprano, Francois Materano, Tenor, and Tom Orf, Baritone.

Dance Company at Centre East

Centre East presents the highly acclaimed Bella Lewitzky Dance Company as its 1983-84 season opener, also the first of its Dance Series, on October 1 at 8 p.m. Tickets are $14 and $12. Centre East is located at 7701 Lincoln Ave. in Skokie.

Bella Lewitzky Dance Company's Centre East engagement includes the Chicago premieres of Song of the Woman and Continuum, as well as the Midwestern premiere of Sextet. Set to piano miniatures by Erik Satie, Suite Satie is marked by a sensuous solo, startling movement and a gesture characteristic of the Lewitzky style—a suddenly crumbling arabesque. Founded in 1966, the Bella Lewitzky Dance Company is a twelve member modern dance ensemble, under the artistic direction of Bella Lewitzky. The company has received international recognition for its distinctive, innovative and creative choreography, as well as the technical perfection of its members, and annually tours both the United States and Europe. The company is supported by the not-for-profit corporation, the Lewitzky Dance Foundation, designed to support and promote the growth of concert dance nationwide.

Because Ken Scheel and Jules Pandera were fine athletes and had a life-long interest in sports, we thought forming a sports club in memory of both men might also be considered. Bringing fathers and sons together at a bi-monthly sports night might be another way of keeping the flame alive. Having guest sports figures at the affairs could be fun for all in attendance and it might be another way of creating a scholarship fund.

Occasionally we report what is going on in the newspaper business. The up and down operations of even the biggest papers manifest the constant state of flux our industry is in. This past week The Chicago Tribune announced they would discontinue two issues of its suburban Trib newspaper. We assume the inability of the newspaper to turn a profit was the reason for the retrenchment. The Trib didn't have the means for covering all the suburbs in Chicagoland and did a poor job of news coverage in any one community. Likewise, its low circulation in each community did not make it a viable advertising medium for advertisers seeking local consumers. The reason for the existence of local community newspapers is to serve the needs of the communities. If the metropolitan papers could deliver the advertising message and the news to the local communities, there would be no need for the suburban weeklies.

Two weeks ago the National Pride Car Wash advertised in many newspapers in and around their new facility west of Harlem on Dempster St. Our ad rep, Judie Stein, told us the car wash people said half of all the people who came in off the initial ads mentioned they read the ad in The Bugle.

We deliver more of the news. And we deliver more newspapers in our area than any other newspapers, metropolitan as well as suburban papers. We consistently outpace all other papers because we deliver...several times more than any other papers.

Festival...

Library Board of Trustees, will welcome everyone to the festival and explain that the festival theme is based on a children's book, The Magic Bagpipe.

The book, first published in 1964, was written and illustrated by Gerry and George Armstrong, of Wilmette, who will attend the festival.

Following the opening ceremonies, Pipe Major Norman, in full Victorian Highland Military dress, will lead the people into the library auditorium for the remainder of the musical program.

There will be a reception on the second floor of the library following the musical program.

A special highlight of the festival, of particular interest to persons of Scottish heritage, will be a spectacular display of tartans representing the clans of Scotland. The tartans are on permanent display at The Scottish House in North Riverside but were loaned to the library for the festival.

requests additional factors such as Board financing for the purchase and reduction of interest rates from 12 per cent to 10 per cent.

Board members agreed to forestall action until papers submitted by Eden Mission can be evaluated.

Sale of another District school, Shelley B. Nathanson, was requested by its present tenant, Parkside Human Services Corp. District 63 leases space to tenants within school buildings closed because of a dwindling student population.

In a brief presentation, Richard Gustafson of Parkside, explained the community work being done at Nathanson and offered the District $720,000 for the building.

Gustafson said funds were now available to purchase Nathanson and continue serving the community in services such as day care for the elderly and children, nutrition center, and some classes.

Although impressed with the work being done for the community, board members refused to submit the school to a bid agreeing that any large increase in student population would most likely be in the Nathanson area.

In other matters, board members approved a final collective bargaining agreement with the East Maine Education Assn. Board members also approved an increase in teachers' salaries reflecting results of negotiation.

District custodians negotiated contracts in July but final approval could not be given by the board until some contract items are adjusted. A raise in salary for custodians was tentatively approved subject to ratification of the contract.

In a report to board members, the administration asked for approval of approximately $18,000 to renovate and refurbish the art room in Gemini junior high school. Business manager James Bowen suggested speedy approval if the work was to be completed during winter vacation.

Board members approved, tentatively, a contract for the Nelson School parking lot at a cost of almost $60,000. The motion will be final pending evaluation of contract terms especially in regard to warranty, contractor's sworn statement, insurance and time of payment. Dr. Bond had asked for a possible rebid of the work in Spring when more contractors may be available.

1975. He served as Illinois Lt. Gov. from 1969-73. He was in the Illinois Senate from 1962-69 and in the Illinois House from 1954-62.

He was a Professor of Public Affairs at Sangamon State University in 1973 and 1974. Prior to his career as an elected official he was Editor and publisher of the Troy (IL) Tribune. He has also authored eight books.

Simon has said that he is seeking the Senate seat not only to oust incumbent U.S. Sen. Charles Percy (R-Ill.), who he disagrees with on many issues, but because the Senate provides a forum with an impact that the House does not afford. In the Senate, he believes, you can make a difference. The public is invited to attend the Sept. 15 meeting.

officials because the Nilesites were not invited to participate in the program. Naughton said last Thursday he had a meeting or conversation with Niles trustee Marcheschi and Niles village president Nick Blase. Because the officials were not invited to participate in the meeting, Naughton said he was told not to be a part of the program. Naughton said he would be a poor businessman if he did not comply with the Niles officials' request. He said his first obligation is to the village which regulates the franchise.

Marcheschi said the League should have cleared the program with the village. The village received no official notice of the meeting. He felt they were "jumping the gun" by not clearing with Niles. He said Cablevision has a contract with the village and he can't have them running around without the village overseeing their actions".

Marcheschi said there have been no ground rules set up for the use of public access channels and no formula for the public making use of the public access channels. He said he felt misinformation should not be given to the community before the rules are set.

Niles village president Blase said he didn't even know about any meeting until Tuesday afternoon. He stated he wasn't involved in the scheduled meeting and answered, "Hell, No", when asked if he had anything to do with the cancellation.

Continental T.V. which serves Morton Grove, added extra personnel and cable equipment for the last minute adjustments Tuesday night.

The crux of the meeting was the public would have to initiate getting involved in public T.V. channels which are available to residents in the cable T.V. area. Chicago Tribune T.V. columnist Marilyn Preston said cable T.V. "will be as responsive as they need to be". She added because the cable companies want subscribers, they will react to pressure which Preston said it is so important in gaining access to the public producing its own shows.

Continental's Kim Frumkin explained local access programming is complete participation by local residents producing, directing and editing its own shows. It is in contrast to origination programming which is created by the cable company.

Frumkin said 120 Morton Grove residents took part in a free six week teleproduction course and that was when people couldn't even find Maine Township High School because the area was so rural. Maine East was the only thing around here, then," said Reese. "We started having college nights long before educational pressures demanded such programs. But even back then, Maine had a high proportion of students who attended college when compared to other districts."

In the 1960's when Reese came to District 207, the district conducted two college nights. "That was back in the days when people believed that if you didn't go to college, you were doomed to failure. That thinking has changed now. Most experts agree that people need post-high school training. But not everybody needs a four-year college degree," said Reese.

For those who decide that college is right for them, however, College Night on September 28 can help make that choice easier.

An exciting part of the program is the computer portion which will be held at the Lincolnwood Schools. Also, Nick "Mr. Communication" Carter, from Lincolnwood's Nightingale-Conant Corporation, will present a program on "Total Performance". This topic includes time management, goal setting and personal communications.

course and 10 of the graduates pursued the use of public access programming.

League representatives from Evanston and Arlington Heights joined the general discussion which was informational in scope.

Considering the controversy, the subject matter was quite general. The village officials certainly could have been invited to participate since the audience was apart of the open discussion. The village of Niles needn't have been so defensive and protective since specifics and particulars were not important at the general information meeting. And had feelings and anger could have been alleviated if one village official had contacted the League and discussed the matter. The controversy was innocuous. The meeting was informational. And Ms. Horn's anger and the subsequent hornet's nest could have been avoided with one phone call.

College Night...

is current and accurate," said Kenneth Reese, career counselor at Maine South, who is in charge of this year's program. "College Night offers students the latest information from institutions in which they are interested. But it also gives them the opportunity to explore others which they may not have previously considered."

"Students have a wide range of goals that must be considered when choosing colleges," said Reese. "And every student is different." According to Reese, one student might be looking for a particular program that is not offered at most schools. Another student might be looking for a change of environment or climate.

"We want students to choose a college based on their needs, regardless of whether it is public or private, near or distant," said Reese. "College Night gives students and their parents a chance to explore some alternatives."

According to Reese, college nights have been helping students in Maine Township choose the right place to go to school for about 25 years. "No records were kept on the origins of college nights. They just happened in response to a need that the staff saw in their students. But according to Ralph Frost (who served as assistant superintendent for 34 years until his retirement in 1973), they started in about 1948," said Reese.

"Remember that was when people couldn't even find Maine Township High School because the area was so rural. Maine East was the only thing around here, then," said Reese. "We started having college nights long before educational pressures demanded such programs. But even back then, Maine had a high proportion of students who attended college when compared to other districts."

In the 1960's when Reese came to District 207, the district conducted two college nights. "That was back in the days when people believed that if you didn't go to college, you were doomed to failure. That thinking has changed now. Most experts agree that people need post-high school training. But not everybody needs a four-year college degree," said Reese.

For those who decide that college is right for them, however, College Night on September 28 can help make that choice easier.

Notre Dame-Marillac Joint College Night

The "First Step" on the road to selecting the right college or university will be provided to area high school juniors and seniors and their parents during Marillac High School for Girls' "College Night" in Northfield, Wed., Sept. 21 at 7 p.m.

The information night, a joint venture with Notre Dame High School for Boys, Niles, includes presentations by such institutions as Dartmouth, Carleton, Georgetown, Harvard and MIT among the 150 schools expected, the largest number since "College Night" began 12 years ago.

"These additional schools have been among those with stiff admission policies and competitive applications numbers," says Agnes Quinn, Marillac's College Counselor, "and our students have been asking for them to be added to this night to broaden their contacts. 'College Night' is a convenient means to better understand the qualifications and requirements for admission to these schools."

"One of the problems," added Quinn, "is that families often disqualify themselves unnecessarily from financial aid. The half-hour Financial Aid Seminar that opens the evening at 7 p.m. will provide information on federal and state calculations, types of loans, grants and scholarships and student employment. School representatives will give continuous presentations throughout the evening to accommodate late arrivals.

"It's an opportunity to get acquainted, ask questions about programs and the type of academic facilities each college or university has to offer," said Fr. William Brinker, C.S.C., College Counselor at Notre Dame for Boys where 86% of the graduates continue their education.

Marillac juniors and seniors were given a preliminary Personal Preference Assessment form to facilitate the interviews and a list of reminder questions. Ninety percent of Marillac girls attend an institution of higher learning.

Notre Dame's junior and senior students number 567 and Marillac has 300 juniors and seniors enrolled.

Leader Dog for Nilesite

The Niles Lions, just doing what comes naturally; have again had the pleasure to help one of Niles' visually handicapped residents, Douglas Matthews, in obtaining a Leader Dog. Interestingly enough, the dog's name is "Link" and indeed, he will be a true link for Doug to the sighted world.

As just one of the many services the Lions of Niles perform for the blind, we feel this type of aid is what Lionism is all about. So many people just can't imagine life without a link to the sighted world.

Well, Douglas Matthews now has his "Link", and what a wonderful dog Link is, thanks to Leader Dog and the Niles Lions. We couldn't be prouder to see the fruits of our labor used in such a constructive way. If you know of anyone who needs help of this type to aid in overcoming a sight or hearing impairment, give us a call. We will be proud to help. After all, that's what Lionism is all about...your "link" to the sighted and hearing world.

IBT advises customers on Fall move requests

Chicago area residents getting ready for the fall moving season may have a problem contacting their Illinois Bell service representatives as a result of the recent strike. This temporary condition is easing and customers are advised to keep trying - the situation is improving.

Business office lines were jammed during the strike when only about 40 percent of the answering positions were covered. As a result, many calls to the company didn't get through. All offices now are fully staffed, but due to the backlog, some customers may still get busy signals. Other calls may be answered by a recording until they can be funneled to a service representative.

To help ease the flow during the recovery period, Illinois Bell is asking that only those customers with early September moves contact their service representatives at this time. Those with October 1 move dates are asked to wait to call in their requests until after September 15, when business office activity is expected to be closer to normal.

The company expects to receive over one million calls in the period running from early September through mid-October. This reflects both pent-up demand from the strike period and the usual heavy change-of-address traffic tied to the start of school and September and October lease expirations. Some 60,000 change-of-address orders are expected to be completed during this season, most within two to four days of the customer's request.

Customers can place orders by calling their business office number listed on the front of their

New instrument simplifies foot surgery

New microsurgical instruments are making procedures in foot surgery less complicated, permitting patients to walk immediately afterward. Dr. Lawrence M. Rubin, a Morton Grove podiatrist, and representative of the podiatry section of the non-profit Community Health Information Council, performs microsurgery in his office to correct common foot problems such as bunions, hammer toes, corns and callouses.

The new instrument that makes this possible is a small rotary bone cutting burr, inserted in a drill that is similar to one used by dentists. Unlike conventional surgical procedures the incision is very small, resulting in less pain and discomfort for the patient.

Another important advantage of using this microsurgical technique is that it avoids costly hospitalization and loss of work for the patient. Insurance companies and government agencies look favorably on office surgery and are urging doctors to perform it in order to keep costs down.

For more information on microsurgery call 965-6323.
