by Bud Besser

We decided to go into semi-retirement on October 29th, our 34th wedding anniversary. It lasted 22 days. On November 20th we ended our retirement. During the period we visited France and Italy.

It was 38 years since I'd been in Belgium. The last time was on April 12th, 1945. We G.I.'s were being trucked back from Germany. Franklin Roosevelt had died and the Luxembourg and Belgian flags were waving at half-mast in memoriam.

Thirty-eight years later my first look at Brussels was outside Brussels' Nord train station. On an outside wall, written in English, was the graffiti, "Keep Your F...ing Bombs". The magic words greeted us again and again as we travelled throughout France and Italy.

We had been in Paris many times during World War II. Amidst the city-wide bonfires we celebrated V-E Day there. Thirty-eight years later it looked better.

Everywhere, but everywhere, the uninhibited young people kiss. They hug and they kiss on street corners, in the subway stations,

House passes Credit Card Protection Act

The House of Representatives today passed legislation to protect customers from credit card fraud by significantly strengthening Federal Law. "This legislation is strong medicine for the credit card fraud epidemic that is sweeping the nation," said Chairman Frank Annunzio (D-Ill.) of the House Consumer Affairs and Coinage Subcommittee.

Every year an estimated 73 million of the 580 million credit cards in circulation in this country are reported lost or stolen. Of that total, some 20,000 cards are fraudulently used every day. In 1982 financial institutions lost an estimated $128 million from bank card fraud alone, an increase of more than 95 percent over 1981. About $40 million of the 1982 figure came from the use of counterfeit credit cards, and counterfeit card losses are expected to grow to nearly $100 million in 1983. Fraud losses to the credit card industry as a whole approached $1 billion in 1982.

"These losses are borne by consumers as surely as if the thief took the money from them at gunpoint. The losses suffered by financial institutions and credit card issuers are passed onto consumers in the form of higher fees and interest rates. Unfortunately, most credit card criminals have operated with little fear of being caught. The Credit Card Protection Act changes the rules of the game for the criminal," said Annunzio. "The Credit Card Protection Act cracks down on credit card crime in four ways. First, it makes it illegal to distribute credit card numbers expect on a very limited basis, and only to those who have a legitimate need for the number. Numbers are the keys that unlock consumers' accounts. The numbers are used by criminals to make counterfeit credit cards, by dishonest merchants to bill consumers for merchandise they did not order and did not want, and in a variety of other sophisticated white collar crimes to defraud consumers, merchants, and banks of hundreds of millions of dollars annually."

"Secondly, it makes possession of five or more illegally obtained credit cards and numbers a Federal offense. This provision is directed toward rings of organized criminals who systematically collect, and fraudulently use, credit cards and numbers. Thirdly, it makes it a crime to fraudulently use a credit card number as well as a card itself. This reverses a Federal court decision which held that a card number alone was not a Federal offense. Extended Coverage

By Eileen Benner C.I.C.

What if you received only $61 in insurance payments for every $100 it cost you to rebuild your home in case of fire? What if you got only $40 for every $100 it cost you to replace the contents of your home?

At one time, you could insure your belongings only for "actual cash value".

Today, most insurance companies will insure to value, covering policy-holders for full replacement costs.

Of course, premiums are higher for this coverage, but it is so worthwhile that agents all over the country urge their clients to take advantage of it. So do we.

Whatever is worth insuring is worth insurance to value. We'll show you why.

LIFE EXPECTANCY AND LIFE SPAN

Life expectancy is the term given to represent the number of years an individual will live. At the turn of the century the average life expectancy for both men and women was 47 years. Today, that age is 76, 71 for men and 78 for women.

Life span is the age at which, all things being perfect, the maximum number of years an individual could survive. Life span for both men and women has been variously estimated to be between 100 and 150 years.

An individual's life span is diminished by insults from the environment such as radiation, chemicals, poor health habits, and diseases that damage cells, gradually destroying the immune system. Medical technology has increased life expectancy since 1900, but not to the point of maximum life span.

Women, although deemed the weaker sex, actually have a much stronger immune system and this is the reason for their greater life expectancy.

Early delivery of Social Security checks

Monthly Social Security checks which are normally delivered on the third of December, will be delivered on December 2 instead, according to Marilyn J. Robertson, manager of the Des Plaines Social Security office.

"Benefit checks are mailed early when the usual delivery date falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday," Robertson said. "In these instances, the checks are dated and delivered on the first day before the third of the month that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday."

Robertson stated that this procedure helps reduce the problems that people have when they receive their checks and their banks are closed. These situations occur several times during the year, and Robertson advised that SSA would provide similar information about future early check delivery dates as they occur.

Letters to the editor

Chemical People town meetings productive

Dear Editor:

We, at the Cook County Sheriff's Youth Services Department, would like to thank you for your support of the Chemical People Project. Your newspaper demonstrated its concern with youthful substance abuse and its support of a unique community-based project that combined television and social action.

The November 2 and 9 Chemical People town meetings have led to the formation of a number of community task forces, composed of young people and adults who will study and deal with local substance abuse with teenagers. We are hopeful that you will be hearing about their work and progress and that you will be reporting on their efforts to decrease substance abuse in the communities your newspaper serves.

Sincerely,
Marguerite Adelman
Communications Coordinator

Marcus expresses thanks

Dear Editor,

May I take this opportunity to thank all my neighbors, relatives, friends, and residents of Niles Township who helped distribute literature, made phone calls and in general were instrumental in my election last week to the Niles Township Board of Education, District 219. Their confidence in me is greatly appreciated and I will make every effort to provide them with the leadership and dedication that they deserve.

I have always felt that our community's strength is directly related to the quality of our educational system. I look forward to working with the other members of the Board in not only supporting that statement, but enhancing it.

To the Board members who have recently left, Mary Helen Archibald, Eric Moch, Lowell Ruffer and Florence Sutker. Their commitment and dedication to our community many times went unheralded, but they, as many other school board members, are a special breed of citizen who deserve the highest praise one can give. It was a pleasure to have worked with them but more important, to count them as friends.

Sincerely,
Shel Marcus

Establish minimum drinking age on national level

Dear Editor:

Drunk driving amongst young people continues to be a monumental problem. What exacerbates the problem in this state is the disparity between legal drinking ages in Illinois and Wisconsin.

Nineteen-year-olds here in Illinois will drive great distances where, just across the border in Wisconsin, wine and beer become legally accessible to them. The return trip, however, becomes hazardous and potentially disastrous when a drunk youth is behind the wheel. National statistics show that 8000 kids will die this year due to drunk driving.

It therefore makes sense for Congress to pass legislation establishing a minimum drinking age on a national level. Continuity among the states will neither eliminate the problem of young people drinking nor driving under the influence, but it will at least eliminate the motivation behind traveling so far in order to imbibe.

Sincerely,
Aaron Jaffe

YBA Youth Basketball

YBA Basketball, the game that attracted over 100,000 youngsters nationwide last year will again be offered at Learning Tower YMCA, announced Paty Monaco, Assistant Program Director.

Sign-ups are beginning now at the Y for 5th and 6th grade girls and boys. The concept of a "fair play" basketball program in which every boy or girl plays was developed jointly by the National YMCA and the NBA Players Association.

YBA teams are composed of 9 players and every member must play at least half the game. Players wear jerseys with the official YBA insignia.

"Our recent years of YBA Basketball at Learning Tower YMCA has proven that kids are attracted to a quality program that puts emphasis on participation, not on the win-at-any-cost aspect. It was a great experience for the kids, for parents and other adults involved," said Monaco. Registration will be limited to 54 boys and/or girls.

"In addition to players, we will provide opportunities for coaches, managers, referees and other volunteers," he said. YBA players will receive their player handbooks written by the NBA stars, team shirts, patches and certificates.

Parents and the adults in the program will have special programs to help them understand the concept of YBA basketball and its values orientation.

For further information on YBA Basketball, stop in at the Learning Tower YMCA, 6300 W. Touhy ave., Niles or call 647-8222.

Can the Demon wrestling team improve upon last year's 17-1 over-all and 5-0 conference records? Coach Don Presern thinks the team will do well this season, especially with returning letterman Ralph Millto, Jim Katris, John Loos, and Won Kim.

In addition to a 5-0 conference record and firsts in the conference, regionals, and sectionals, Millto at 132 lbs, Jose Gomez at 155 lbs, and Dave Sherman at 112 lbs. all qualified for state competition.

The team opened the 1983-1984 season by hosting Hershey on Wednesday, Nov. 23. The varsity then competes in the 16 team Conant Invitational on Nov. 25-26. Coach Presern remarked that "the tournament is the toughest in the state."

Glenview Chamber

The Glenview Chamber of Commerce keeps the home fires burning again this year at the third annual Bear Bonfire on Saturday, Nov. 26 from 6 p.m. at Roosevelt Park.

The bonfire is the Chamber's way of giving a warm hug to the people of Glenview as part of the year around "Hug the Bear" program to remind everyone to support their town.

At the fire, broadcast live this year by Glenview radio station WMWA, FM 98, will be Santa arriving on a firetruck, free hot-dipped caramel apples and drawings for juggable stuffed bears provided for the occasion by Klipper's Toys.

Carols will be sung around the fire by some 50 members of the local chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singers in America, The New Tradition Chorus.

The warmth of the bonfire extends through Christmas as Chamber members offer free apples from apple "bear-rels" located in their stores and offices.

"Oliver Twist"

This special Thanksgiving holiday program is a 1968 color film running 153 minutes. The musical (and the novel) depicts the miserable existence of the poor, particularly children, in 19th Century London slums. The winner of six Academy Awards stars Ron Moody, Oliver Reed, Mark Lester, Shani Wallis and Jack Wild.

The program is free. For further information phone 677-5277.

Members of garden clubs located throughout the northern suburbs have been assembling

Exercise Identification Tags

The Morton Grove Police Department in conjunction with Lutheran General Hospital is initiating a new program to provide an individual's personal and medical information in the event of an emergency while exercising.

Many persons do not carry identification when they jog, bike ride, or exercise at a health facility or elsewhere. These tags are available at the Morton Grove Police Department and are free of charge.

The I.D. tag is a small flat plastic case that contains a card which would have a person's name, medical information, and phone number of someone to contact in case of emergency. It is equally important to note if a person is in perfect health and has no known diseases or allergies. The I.D. tag is then tied onto the gymshoe lace. These tags could be invaluable to an emergency physician or paramedic in assessing or treating a person. "Tie one on," it may save your life.

Maine East canned food drive

Maine East's annual canned food drive, one of National Honor Society's major service projects, will be held Nov. 28 through Dec. 14.

The canned food will go to the Little Brothers of the Poor, a group that helps elderly people who have no family. The service committee of N.H.S., including committee chairman Anna Toton of Park Ridge, Larry Fruscione of Niles, Bob Herting of Park Ridge, Karen Ideno of Park Ridge, Christine Kwon of Morton Grove, and Siegfried Schmalz of Niles, is in charge of the drive.

"Last year we collected nearly 2,000 cans," said Anna Toton. "We would like as much participation this year." In order to increase participation, though,

N.H.S. is sponsoring a contest to see which Maine East homeroom can bring in the most cans. The winning homeroom gets $50, double the amount of last year's prize.

The cans will be collected each morning, and the leading homerooms will be announced each morning. There will also be a sign in the student cafeteria showing how much each grade has collected.

N.H.S. sponsors are English teachers Richard LeFort and Phillip Loveall. Officers are president Sunny Kim of Park Ridge, vice-president Karen Ideno of Park Ridge, secretary Terri Knutel of Park Ridge, and treasurer Siegfried Schmalz of Niles.

Essay winners from Golf Jr. High

Each year the Niles Youth Commission sponsors an essay contest for the many students who are residents of Niles. The essay topic for this year was "How Can I, a Teen, Improve Niles." We are proud to announce that three of Golf Junior High's students were among the nineteen winners: Marni Gitter, Nikki Markowitz, and Todd Saranacki. These students submitted persuasive and praiseworthy essays. They were honored by the Village of Niles at a banquet. Each of the nineteen winners spent a day following in the footsteps of a specific town government official. These three students from Golf Junior High have not only won a $50 savings bond and a trophy; they have won the esteem of self, family, school and community.

Banner month for Center of Concern

The Employment for Seniors program at the Center of Concern had the best month in its 2-year history in October, with a total of 33 jobs filled. Although the majority of such jobs are in-home help for the elderly and handicapped, there were seven full-time placements during this banner month. Twenty of those placed were over age 50.

Ruth Gails, Coordinator of the program, attributes the growing success to the higher visibility of the program, as more employers become aware of the pool of talent available to them through the Center of Concern. Another plus has been the addition of Joy Nance to the staff. People calling the Center with a need find a dedicated helper in Joy, who takes a personal interest in matching the right applicant to the right job.

Among the current needs are for live-in housekeepers and companions for the elderly living alone. These are excellent positions, providing room and board, as well as a respectable wage. Requirements vary with each position, some requiring little or no medical attention or nursing care. All do require a loving heart and the ability to relate to the special problems of the elderly.

Students sitting in other public officials' seats included Keith Skaja, 7812 Milwaukee, village attorney; Joan Sosnowski, 7841 Neva, chief of police; Gerald Leeding, 9036 Grace, fire chief; Marri Giller, 8601A National, housing director; Elise Tugander, 8899 Grand, director of code enforcement; Lori Salm, 7059 Monroe, director of family services; Tony Osasz, 8222 Sunset, director of public services; Sandy Watson, 7233 Greenleaf, director of senior citizens and Robert Fostenstein, 8847C Washington, assistant manager for finance.
The honored officials were finalists in the annual essay contest under the auspices of Niles Youth Service. There were 300 entries in the contest answering, "How can you, a teen, help make Niles a better place to live?"
After conducting a 30 minute meeting, in which each of these finalists read their essays, they received trophies and will receive bonds for their effort.
At the regular board meeting which followed, Trustee Ang

Marcheschi reported at the beginning of the new year, a cable TV ordinance will define rules for public access to Cablevision's Niles service and included rules governing local origination. Marcheschi also reported the entire village should be wired for cable by the first of the year.
...At Tr. Pesole's recommendation, approved "No Parking" signs for both sides of Mulford between Lehigh and Merrimac.
...Approved "No Parking" signs on Harlem between Oakton and Howard between 7 a.m. and 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. and 6 p.m.
...Supported the zoning board approval for three 2 flats at 8124 Dempster St. The attorney for petitioners Mr. and Mrs. Abner Carberry sought four apartments on the vacant property. Because of the size of the property, even with maximum variances, only three buildings could be approved.
...Approved ordinances for $12 a vehicle charge for using village weight scales; Storm sewer plat of easement for the Bradford Exchange, 9301 Milwaukee; Expansion of B-2 special use zoning to include a fenced-in playground at 8361 1/2 Golf Rd. with Trustee Carol Panek opposing ordinance; Rezoned 9180 Golf Road for construction of 6 theatres with ap proximately 1,900 seats for the owners of the Golf Mill Theatre.

...Introduced new Niles library director, Duncan McKenzie. He formerly worked in Hammond, Indiana, where he had extensive background in working in cable television. He volunteered to help Niles in working out its cable TV problems.
...Mayor Blase announced officials hoped the public works department would begin to move into the new Touhy Avenue building next week. He said a public dedication would take place after the move-in. He also reported the addition to the police station is getting along well.
...Unanimously approved resolutions authorizing Niles to join in an appeal with Lake Bluff to prevent rejecting a municipality's right to object to zoning up to 1 1/2 miles outside its incorporated limits; approved Cablevision's interconnecting access channels and/or origination channels of its CATV System with all other CATV systems in adjacent areas.
...Unanimously approved a plat of easement ordinance at 8715-21 Stolling at Greenwood Avenue.
...Approved establishing an Alarm Board of Appeals of two village board members and the village manager to hear complaints concerning excess charges for residents whose alarm systems are wired into the police station.

tin, "The Happy Owls," and "That Mouse."
The branch library began as a demonstration library in 1973 with special "Project Plus" funds and was housed in the Golf Mill State Bank building. One year later it was moved to 9010 Milwaukee Ave. where until 1975 "Project Plus" funds continued to help meet the cost of operation. Since 1980 the branch library has been housed in the Ballard School building, 8320 Ballard Rd.
The library will be assisted in its celebration activities with generous donations and contributions from McDonalds and the Golf Mill State Bank. With the assistance of these local businesses, the library will offer coupons for cheeseburgers to children, coupons for beverages to senior citizens, drawings for free dinners, orange drink throughout the week, and bookmarks.
The library's trustees and staff invite everyone to stop by the branch library during this very special week of celebration.

on the trains and in the center aisles of the restaurants. It's a national pastime and it's lovely.
Our first night in Paris we joined the endless parade of people who walk leisurely down the mile and a half Champs Elysees boulevard. Along the boulevard a young black man is giving an impromptu dance backed by his radio's music. Two-hundred people encircle the dancer.

With the backdrop of these elegant shops, beggars ask for money. A woman sits against the wall of a shop with a baby in her arms and silently seeks francs. Passing by are some of the most stylishly-dressed people we've ever seen.

The crowds walk the mile and a half in an endless parade. The high-styled stores are people-filled. The average restaurants have long lines of people waiting to enter. Next to the fine stores is a Mercedes dealership. Next to it is fast-food Burger King.

The French seem to defend the right of beggars to beg wherever they choose. It's their part of their charge for egalitarianism and freedom. In the subway trains they also have an affection for drunks. They tolerate them with benignness.

No one covets their history like the French. No one commemorates the passing of their former warriors as much. We were standing at the Arc De Triomphe the night of November 1st when a parade marched up the Champs onto the Arc memorial. It was November 1st and fallen veterans from World War I and II were remembered. A wreath was laid at the Unknown Soldier's tomb. Along with French veterans my daughter and I signed a book in memory of those who had fallen at the Marne and at Omaha and Utah beaches.

The next day we toured the Invalides, where Napoleon's tomb is located. That same morning a memorial for the French soldiers who were recently killed in Beirut was taking place. They memorialize Victor Hugo, Voltaire, Zola and Rousseau in crypts underneath the Pantheon which houses their famous generals and politicians. Resistance leader Jean Moulin, allegedly tortured by the infamous Barbie of Lyon, lies alongside the more famous.

The reverence for the past contrasts with the upbeat of the present. Aboard the Metro (subway) train a lady hand puppeteer pulls a curtain in the middle of the train-car and performs for the riders. Saxophone players are jamming with guitar players on the train subway station platforms. They come onto the train playing a Brazil '66 melody.

Jazz has become an American export which is alive and well everywhere. After a modest priced ($12) dinner in a charming restaurant, we discovered a jazz quartet in a four-star hotel next door. Downstairs, a Bar Mitzvah celebration is taking place. A bongo drummer is leading a pop band playing for the dancers. There's a second orchestra which plays Oriental music for the celebration. The Bar Mitzvah family is from Tunis and they want both types of music played.

In the room next to the Bar Mitzvah party is a dinner-dance for Indians. Many Indian embassy people are there celebrating DiWalle Day (an Indian Holiday). Outside the hotel two soldiers with sub-machine guns are patrolling the front entrance. At a previous Indian affair terrorists attacked the party-goers.

Kids are kids. At the Bar Mitzvah party the "Tunisian-French" kids grabbed the ice cream parade desserts and were feigning fencing moves with each other, momentarily running amok. Next door, three Indian boys were wrestling in the cloakroom. They were the same age as the Bar Mitzvah boys.

We marched to the tune of all Paris tourists. We went up the Eiffel Tower, walked the Luxembourg Gardens, toured the Louvre Museum, inspected the Left Bank bookstalls, filtered in with the university students in St. Michel, viewed the Opera House (Madame Butterfly at $45 a ticket) and sat at the bar at the Lido and in the balcony of the Folies Bergere.

One column cannot relay the flavor of Paris or the spirit of the Parisians. Our first morning we met a man in the Metro who spent 20 minutes escorting us to a ticket booth and then took us through the labyrinth of connecting tunnels making sure we headed in the right direction on our first Metro subway ride.

The Metro transportation system is superb. It took 10 minutes to go across town. The stations were immaculate. All graffiti was covered with cardboard. At the museum subway station replicas of sculpture and paintings were enclosed in lighted dioramas. It was the classiest train stop we'd ever seen.

In the Jewish quarter we visited Joe Goldenberg's Restaurant where several diners were gunned down by invading terrorists last year. A plaque and a window with a bullet hole memorialize the event. Around the corner another plaque reminds you 160 children were taken from the Jewish school and destroyed in the concentration camps.

Behind the Gothic Notre Dame church was stark memorial with small Italian-like Christmas lights. Down a circular stairway overlooking the Seine River you enter thru a narrow shaft into a memorial room between stark white stones. Behind bars are memorial flowers. The names of the concentration camps were inscribed in the stone commemorating the 200,000 Frenchmen who died in the concentration camps while an eternal flame flickers. The inscription above the exit on the stone frame of the doorway had the engraving: "Forgive, but never forget".

Golf Mill welcomes Santa in style

Golf Mill Shopping Center welcomed Santa Claus and Christmas with a Milwaukee Avenue parade and reception on Saturday, November 19.
Celebrities leading the parade included WMAQ radio personality Pat Cassidy and Chicago White Sox star Tom Paciorek.
Also marching in the parade were the Imperial Drum and Bugle Corps, Scottish Military

"I am honored by the Board's confidence in me and look forward to this challenge," Dr. Vye said of her selection. "One major emphasis for the Board in 1984 will be to address the issue of quality education at Oakton and in particular to examine the educational programs at our current off-campus facilities."
Dr. Vye originally was elected to a one-year term on the Board of Trustees in April, 1980. She successfully ran for re-election in November, 1981 and has served as chairman of the Board's Educational Program and Personnel Committees. Dr. Vye holds a Ph.D. in educational administration with an emphasis in community colleges from Northwestern University. Her Board term expires in November 1987.
Goren was elected to the Board in 1980, while Ms. Juckett was elected in 1977. Both are serving Board terms that expire in November, 1985.
At the same meeting, Diana Loveland of Glenview was seated on the Board, replacing Bruce M. Friedman of Lincolnwood, who chose not to seek re-election after more than seven years of service.
Ms. Loveland was one of three winners in the November 8 Board of Trustees election, along with incumbents Raymond Hartstein and Bill Spaulding. Hartstein is a former OCC Board member and Spaulding served the past year as Chairman of the Board.

Niles Historical & Art Society meeting

The Niles Historical & Art Society will hold its next meeting on Monday, November 28, at the Trident Center, 8060 Oakton St., in Niles.

Professor Wolin, past President of the Chicago Rocks & Minerals Society and past President of the Midwest Federation of Geological Societies, grew up in Skokie...a graduate of the Morton Grove Elementary School and Niles East.

decision that held that the fraudulent use of a credit card number only, without using a credit card itself, was not a crime under current law.
"Fourth, it makes it a crime to illegally use a series of credit cards to obtain more than $1,000 in goods and services. Under current law, it is only a Federal offense to use a single credit card for thefts of $1,000 or more, and criminals have avoided Federal prosecution by never using a single card for more than the $1,000 limit. Like the other provisions, this is aimed at the professional criminal, not the small-time purse snatcher or petty hoodlum."
