School districts unite for fair funding from state

In the state of Illinois, school districts are facing a significant challenge in meeting the needs of their students. Despite recent efforts to increase funding, many districts are still struggling to provide adequate resources for their students.

In response to this challenge, school districts throughout the state have come together to advocate for fair funding from the state. By working together, these districts hope to ensure that all students have access to the resources they need to succeed.

District 63 joins in state suit

District 63 is one of the many school districts that have joined a state-wide suit to demand fair funding from the state. The suit was filed in late 2013 and seeks to ensure that all students have access to quality education.

The suit argues that the current funding formula is outdated and fails to meet the needs of modern students. By joining the suit, District 63 is supporting the state's effort to provide a fair and equitable education for all students.
