TIP candidates lose, but show well

Incumbent Republicans maintained control over the Maine Township government during Tuesday's election.

However, the Democratic Township Improvement Party (TIP) did surprisingly well in all of the township races and even elected one of its trustee candidates.

With 140 of 158 Maine Township precincts reporting, incumbent Supervisor Paul Halverson defeated challenger James Mahoney 9,357 to 7,631.

Republican Township Clerk Stephan Stolton received 8,888 votes to Democrat Thomas Czubak's 8,512.

Niles Park incumbents retain board seats

Niles Park District incumbents were returned to office Tuesday with the only surprise of the evening being the high vote total for newcomer Bernard Skaja.

Park Board President Mary Marusek received the highest vote total among the candidates with 2,859 votes.

Incumbents Jim Pierski received 2,400 and Dan Kosiba had 2,389.

Skaja showed a very strong 1,715 votes and first-time candidate Tom Orloff received 678 votes.

Commenting on the low voter turn-out, Marusek said, "I'm

Panek garners 2,080 votes;
Turney collects 809 votes

Blase's PEP ticket wins board seats

by Bob Besser

Unofficial election totals showed independent Niles trustee candidate Carol Panek garnered 2,080 votes, however, that was 449 votes too few to retain her seat on the Niles Village Board.

Other than Panek's unusual independent candidacy, there were no surprises in the Niles trustee election.

Unofficial results showed incumbent trustee Pete Pesole being the high vote getter among the trustee candidates with 3,241.

Newcomer Louella Preston received 3,004 and incumbent Abe Selman collected 2,831 votes.

With Panek running only 449 votes behind Selman it is unknown what impact the candidacy of Bernice Turney, asked by the Maine Township Democrats to run to counter Panek's candidacy, had.

While Turney collected 938

The anatomy of a news story...

A lady came into the office on election morning and said an election judge at the Ballard Road precinct was also running for village trustee in Niles. She asked if it was "kosher". While it seemed to be illegal we checked downtown with a Lou Brown, a legal assistant in the County Clerk's office. He concluded it definitely was illegal and said his office would send someone to the poll and the judge and candidate, Bernice Turney, would be removed.

We next dropped over to the Ballard School and asked Ms. Turney about the conflict. She said she thought it might be illegal but she said, Veda Kauffman, Nick Blase's assistant, appointed her.

When we told Ms. Turney she would be removed, she shrugged and said there wasn't enough people to act as Democratic judges in this precinct, and that was why she was serving. She added, "These people don't know how to run it", referring to the other judges.

The Democratic judge-village candidate then added

Officials of the Cook County Medical Examiner's office speculated the resident had died on March 20, based on the last report of her being seen. Also, her mail had not been picked up since that date.

St. John Brebeuf invitation

As an activity for Black History Month, the staff and students at St. John Brebeuf School invited some students from St. Malachy's School to spend a day at St. John's. About fifty students did come on March 5 and each classroom has two or three guests for the day. During the sharing times, the students from both schools found out how many likeness they had, and also some differences.

The students from St. Malachy's were entertained by the annual Talent Show sponsored by the S.J.B. Student Council. They in turn entertained the St. John students by performing three acts-two dances and a skit.

Several of the objectives of getting the two schools together are to break down prejudice, and given the students the experience of sharing first hand the culture of another race.

Show above are kindergarten students Michael Ugel, Amanda Erickson and Amanda Erickson who are playing in the store with their new found friends.

For example, Niles Public Library has received letters from Ann Landers, Leo Buscaglia, and Governor Thompson. Their letters and many others will be on display at the Niles Public Library, 6960 Oakton Street, Niles during National Library Week, April 14-20.

Village portion of tax amounted to $650,000

Niles retail sales up 20% in December

Orchard Village expands Tag Day

On Saturday, April 13, from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. volunteers are needed to help with the Orchard Village Annual Tag Day. This annual fund-raising event helps to continue the service provided by Orchard Village, a private, non-profit residential and vocational training facility for mentally retarded adults.

For more than ten years, Orchard Village has served both the Niles Township and Chicago area communities, providing alternative home residences for mildly and moderately retarded citizens. Through a strong emphasis on vocational training and integrating these special citizens into the community, approximately 97% of the present residents now have competitive jobs in the community.

If you can give two or more hours to help solicit contributions in Skokie, Morton Grove, Niles or Lincolnwood to assist these special citizens, please call Jack Dohr at 967-1800.

Retail sales in Niles were up a whopping 20% in December, 1984 over the similar period in 1983. This was the finding of a preliminary report received by Village Finance Director Jeffrey Bell from the Illinois Department of Revenue.

Niles portion of the December retail sales tax collections amounted to $650,000.

In a report just issued by the Niles Chamber of Commerce and Industry, Niles sales tax receipts declined for the three month period covering July, August and September, 1984.

Niles dropped from 14th position in state sales tax collections for the preceding quarter to 18th place in the new rankings.

The Village received $1,294,405 for the quarter ending in September, down $58,466 from the previous quarter.

However, sales tax income was up $72,648 over the corresponding quarter in 1983.

"The current quarterly drop should not be viewed as significant," said Charles D. Wolfe, chairman of the Niles Chamber Board of Directors.

"Almost all of the top 25 sales tax leaders showed some drop in sales compared to the previous quarter. The fact we are ahead of the same period in 1983 is very encouraging," Wolfe said.

"Niles strong showing in December is more indicative of the increasing consumer interest in our local retail outlets," he concluded.

Other significant findings in the Chamber report show Naperville joining the top 25 communities for the first time. They now rank 22nd.

Naperville's move up forced Orland Park out of the top sales list.

Bloomington moved up to 16th position, having ranked 19th in the previous quarter.

Moline dropped from 21st to 24th spot.

DENTAL DIGEST

BY GARY M. LAMANTIA, D.D.S.

Orthodontic treatment (braces) is not just for children anymore. Esthetics and an awareness of the importance of proper tooth alignment has led many adults to seek this dental treatment.

Fortunately, advancements in orthodontics have led to the elimination of the "unsat teeth" appearance. For example, the new bonding materials have enabled dentists to use smaller, less obtrusive brackets to hold the orthodontic wires in place. The use of clear plastic braces in certain cases makes it possible to barely see the appliance in the mouth.

The major drawback in adult orthodontics is that treatment generally takes longer for adults than for children. Even so, having teeth properly positioned is important for appearance and oral health.

DIAMONDS AND RAINBOWS
An arc of color appearing in heaven opposite the sun, caused by refraction and reflection of water droplets, are like gems - rainbow colors, red, orange, green, blue & violet can be found in rubies, citrin quartz, emeralds, sapphires, amethysts and many other precious gems. A rainbow of colors can compliment a diamond in a fashionable ring, bracelet or necklace if made by a skilled designer and handcrafter to compliment your fashions and wardrobe.

In recent years the rebirth and affection by my customers for the love of colors of so many gem stones have influenced the re-designing of the most unusual and beautiful forms of jewelry to compliment the newest colorful fashions in ladies clothing.

Gentlemen's jewelry, bold colors in cabochon cut gems like star sapphire, ruby, onyx and many other gems can be set into beautiful masculine rings and bracelets highlighted with polished gold and paved with diamonds.

Colors like aqua, purple, green and bright red, found in newest fashions, are designed into the newest jewelry along with diamonds, to blend into your fashions to get maximum enjoyment out of your favored gems. The new diamond and rainbow look in jewelry knows no seasons. It can be enjoyed year round.

DEAR EDITOR:

To board members of Morton Grove Park District:
As I prepared to leave Morton Grove, I felt that I wanted to make a final statement to the board and to the community. My interest in park district affairs has been well known for a number of years. I have attended many board meetings, was a participant on the citizen's advisory board to the district and have served on committees that have been instrumental in initiating new recreational programs for our children. This involvement has given me some insight into the interworking of this board and previous boards. Although we have not always agreed on all issues, the importance of being able to debate positions at public meetings cannot be diminished. It is important for the community to take an interest in the decision making of the board. With a budget well in excess of one million dollars, we need to know that both board and administration are capable of budgeting in a prudent and fiscal manner. As we continue to face difficult financial times, it becomes necessary for the board to look at ways in which moneys can be put to productive use; as taxpayers, we need to know how our money is being spent. For example, the taxpayers should be made aware that the park district owns the home that is currently occupied by the director. With the exception of Glenview, the surrounding communities do not provide such a residence for their directors. We don't provide a home for our mayor, our chief of police or our fire chief and we hear about the staggering pool repair and maintenance expenses, as well as other escalating costs, we need to look carefully at all the ways in which revenue can be generated. While the home is certainly a capital "perk" for the director, the capital generated from its sale could be as high as $90,000. Board members need to remember their responsibility to the community who elected them. We expect them to have a clear understanding of the operations of the park district, to take information given to them concerning the operation of the park system, evaluate it and make responsible, independent decision. We do not expect the board to "rubber stamp" the decisions of the director. One of the things that has impressed me over the years is the growth and commitment of senior citizens to park district activities. The park board itself has senior representation. What is missing, however, is representation from community members with school age children. It is this group that uses more of the facilities and programs than any other, yet it does not want to assume leadership positions and is content to remain in the background of park board government. It is this group that can bring new dimensions to the board and give it some balance. I hope that the board will continue to work in a cooperative and professional manner. Thank you, Leo Kite MG Park Board Commissioner

National Organ Donor Awareness Week

Sen. Walter W. Dudycz, R-Chicago, said today he is backing National Organ Donor Awareness Week by signing on for the donor program himself. "When I renewed my driver's license on March 11, I signed the back of the new license and had it witnessed to indicate that in the event of my death, any needed organ could be used," Sen. Dudycz said. The third week in April has been designated Organ Donor Awareness Week by President Ronald Reagan and the Congress. "I heartily support this program," Sen. Dudycz said. "There are too many people waiting for transplant surgery and just clinging to life simply because others have not thought about the gift of life that can be made." He said he will be encouraging others to participate in the donor program. "It only takes a minute to sign the back of your license and have two people witness it, but this could make the difference between life and death for someone else," he emphasized.

Senator Walter W. Dudycz, R-Chicago signs his new driver's license to show his support for the organ donor program. Witnessing are his Administrative Assistant, Shirley Duling on the right, and Dorothy Hiltmeier of the State Senate staff on the left.

A Tenebrae Service is planned at St. John Lutheran Church (Missouri Synod) on Good Friday, April 5, to begin at seven-thirty in the evening. This Service is presented as a ceremony that progresses from light to darkness. The word "tenebrae" is a Latin term meaning "shadows". The Tenebrae Service with meditations on the Seven Words of Christ on the cross will draw people to experience for themselves the attitudes, feelings, and agony of Jesus' last hours. Blended with these readings will be congregational singing and several selections by The Adult Choir of St. John under the direction of Mrs. Karen Gallagher, Organist and Director of Music.

Special times have been chosen for the Easter Services differing from regular Sunday morning worship hours. An Easter Sunrise Service will begin at 6:30 a.m. The reverend Thomas K. Stoebig, Pastor of the Church, will deliver the Easter sermon on the theme, "The Master's Voice".

Loyola teacher named NASA semi-finalist

Mrs. Margaret M. Kelly (Maggie), science and biology teacher at Loyola Academy in Wilmette, was named as one of ten Illinois semi-finalists in "NASA's Teacher In Space Project" on March 20. What this means for Mrs. Kelly, who would like to become the first U.S. private citizen to travel in space, is that she has made the first cut and will advance to the next step in the selection process, where two of the ten semi-finalists will be chosen on April 30, as the nominees from the State of Illinois.

After April 30, there will be 120 nationwide nominees. All of them will attend a national workshop in June of 1985, and ten of them will be chosen by a national review panel as semi-finalists. NASA officials will then evaluate the ten semi-finalists and choose five finalists in August, 1985. In September, one teacher and one back-up will be chosen for the Space Shuttle Mission.

Mrs. Kelly has been a teacher for 14 years. The last 5 years she has taught at Loyola Academy, and it's a profession she "loves". Presently she is working on her second Masters Degree in biology.

Students and faculty at Loyola Academy are hoping that when the NASA Space Shuttle "blasts off" in 1986, they will have a special interest in watching. When NASA Control announces, "two minutes and counting," they'd like Maggie Kelly to be the first teacher on board.

- 2 tablespoons corn oil
- 1 (4 lb.) bottom round roast
- 8 small white onions, peeled
- 1 1/2 cups beef bouillon or broth
- 1 can (8 oz.) tomatoes, undrained
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 bay leaf
- 8 small potatoes, peeled
- 4 carrots, peeled, cut in 2-inch pieces
- 2 medium white turnips, peeled, cut in 1-inch cubes
- 3 tablespoons Arjo corn starch
- 1/3 cup water

In dutch oven, heat corn oil over medium heat. Add roast; brown on all sides. Remove. Add onions; cook until lightly browned. Remove. Pour off excess fat. Add bouillon or broth, tomatoes, salt, pepper and bay leaf. Return roast to dutch oven. Bring to boil over high heat. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 1 1/2 hours or until roast is almost tender. Add potatoes, carrots, turnips and browned onions. Cover; cook 20 to 30 minutes or until roast is tender and vegetables are cooked as desired. Remove roast and vegetables to serving platter; keep warm. In small bowl stir together corn starch and water until smooth. Stir into liquid in dutch oven. SALMON STEAKS FLORENTINE

- 2 pounds fresh spinach
- 4 salmon steaks (chinook or atlantic), each about 1 inch thick
- 6 ounces unsalted butter
- Juice of 1/2 lemon
- 4 lemon slices
- Salt and white pepper
- Cayenne pepper
- 1/4 cup heavy cream

Remove stems from spinach and discard any damaged leaves. Wash spinach thoroughly in several waters, and drain well. Pack it in a large saucepan with only the water that clings to the leaves and cover. Cook over high heat until spinach starts to sizzle. Turn it over with a wooden spoon and continue cooking for 8 to 10 minutes, turning as needed. Spinach should be cooked but not discolored. Turn spinach into a colander and press to extract moisture. Chop in the colander to small pieces and leave to drain further.

Preheat broiler to medium. Dot salmon steaks with 2 ounces of butter and broil for 6 to 8 minutes. Use a wide spatula to turn steaks over and broil for 6 minutes longer, basting with pan juices now and then.

Melt remaining butter in a saucepan and add lemon juice and seasoning to taste. Keep butter sauce warm. Return chopped spinach to the saucepan, pour in the cream, and heat to very hot. Spoon spinach on a deep serving dish and arrange the salmon steaks on top. Pour butter sauce over the salmon; decorate with lemon twists and serve at once.

Christmas in Spring is not unusual for the American Red Cross Holiday Knit Shop. This month, in order to prepare for the sale next December, the committee is in search of volunteers who may be interested in knitting special items to be sold to raise funds for the various services the American Red Cross provides.

"Knitters/crocheters can either donate items they wish to make by using their own yarn, or they can knit from patterns and yarn provided by the American Red Cross," she continued. "We want to get our knitters/crocheters started early enough so that we can have a good supply of stock to sell. We especially are in need of sweaters, afghans, mittens, scarves, baby items, and holiday decorations. Interested knitters can call 440-2213 for further information.

Headsets can cause accidents

by Secretary of State Jim Edgar

Listening to music while jogging is fun, but wearing a stereo headset can cause an accident by hindering the jogger's hearing and distracting attention away from surrounding traffic.

Illinois law prohibits motor vehicle operators from wearing headset receivers while driving. However, physical fitness buffs who walk, jog or ride bicycles for exercise often break the monotony by wearing a headset. This does not create a serious problem when walkers, joggers and bicyclists use sidewalks or bike paths. But many of them ultimately end up on busy streets or roadways.

Wearing a headset in traffic is dangerous because it may prevent a jogger from hearing traffic sounds that could prevent an accident. A stereo headset can drown out the sound of a police, fire or ambulance siren, screeching tires or the honking horns of an approaching vehicle.

Walkers, joggers and bicyclists who wear headsets should take them off when using busy streets for exercise. Staying alert to surrounding traffic is just as important for pedestrians as it is for drivers.

Rainy day driving caution

by Secretary of State Jim Edgar

The Illinois rainy season began earlier than usual this year. On stormy days, motorists should drive at a speed slow enough to avoid hydroplaning, which greatly increases the possibility of an accident.

Hydroplaning, which can cause skidding on wet pavement, occurs at about 35 mph when tires begin to lose contact with the road surface.

At speeds up to 35 mph, most tires "wipe" the road like a windshield wiper. As the speed increases, however, tires ride up on a film of water like a set of water skis.

Partial hydroplaning begins on most automobiles at about 35 mph and increases with speed to about 55 mph when the tires may be completely up on water.

In a severe rainstorm, tires lose all contact with the road at 55 mph. As a result, no friction is available to brake, accelerate or corner, and a gust of wind, curve in the road or slight turn can throw your vehicle into an uncontrollable skid.

If you start to skid at speeds less than 55 mph, you should be able to regain control by taking your foot off the accelerator and letting the car slow down. Steer in the direction you want the front of the car to go.

In addition to slowing down, you can help to prevent hydroplaning by replacing tires when tread wear indicators are visible or when tread depth is less than 1/16th of an inch.

What's the best way to finance your home?

Fixed rate mortgages... adjustable rate mortgages... what is the best deal for you? Here are some guidelines to help make your dream home a reality for your family.

If you like knowing that your monthly payments will not increase over the years, consider a fixed rate loan. You'll pay a higher rate than with an adjustable rate mortgage, but you will know ahead of time how much you will pay over the entire life of your mortgage. Many people automatically think first of a 30-year fixed rate mortgage. But you can usually get a lower rate on a 15-year mortgage, and there are other advantages.

For monthly payments that are only a little larger than with a 30-year mortgage, you own your home free and clear 15 years sooner, and you may be surprised to see how very much money you can save. It's substantial.

If you want to start out with a lower interest rate, with lower, more affordable initial monthly payments, then consider an adjustable rate mortgage. It can be a big help to younger families who expect their incomes to increase as their payments increase.

If you expect interest rates to go up a lot, you are probably better off with a fixed rate mortgage. However, if interest rates go down or stay the same, an adjustable rate mortgage is probably better for you.

This depends, of course, on whether your income actually increases as your adjustable mortgage rate increases, and on the kind of adjustable rate mortgage you choose.

You will find many kinds of adjustable rate mortgages on the market. These are some points to consider.

Is the adjustable rate mortgage convertible? Can you switch to a fixed rate, if interest goes up?

Is it assumable? It will be easier for you to sell your home later on, if the buyer can simply assume the mortgage. This can be important if you are transferred or outgrow your home.

What index will be the basis for increases in your rate and monthly payments? An index that is especially advantageous to you is the Federal Home Loan Bank's cost-of-funds index. It moves in gentle curves, without the more pronounced ups and downs of many other indexes that are used to determine rate changes.

Is there a cap on the short-term increase of your rate and monthly payments? A ceiling on the maximum interest rate that can be charged over the entire life of the loan? This can protect you from very sudden, steep increases in interest rates.

What is the highest rate you might have to pay, under the worst circumstances?

What is the actual cost of the adjustable rate mortgage? Often, you can get low rates by paying a number of points. This means you should compare the actual dollars required for upfront payments.

If you are considering one mortgage that requires four points and has better terms than a mortgage that calls for one point, you should understand that you are paying quite a bit for those better terms.

How does this cost compare to a fixed rate mortgage? The interest rate should be at least 1% less expensive if you are getting a really good deal.

We present this information to help you in your decision-making, and we add this good news.

Opening Day in a Cub fan's life

By Bob Cunningham

I feel the winds are blowing out as I sit up in the stands. Me, just one of the many Loyal, die-hard fans. We get our scorecards ready for the lineup in the game. It's a beautiful day for baseball with no chance of rain. The Cubs take the field to start another season. I'm not here just for a win. I'm here for many reasons. The bleachers and the ivy walls. The view is oh so fine and nothing feels better when the sun comes out to shine. If the Cubs can win a pennant, my dreams would be for real. But, if they don't, I'll still come back to beautiful Wrigley Field.

A new approach to diabetes treatment

Diabetes education can change the lives of many of the nation's 12 million diabetics. It has for Max Bornstein.

Bornstein, 69, of Des Plaines, has been using insulin for 30 years. Since January, however, Max has learned to control his illness. This self-control has made it possible for him to be taken off insulin, trim his weight and lower blood sugar levels to lead a more normal life.

Bornstein enrolled in a diabetes education program offered by the Chicago Northside Diabetes Center at Howard St. and Western Ave. The center teaches diabetics about new medical breakthroughs and technology they can incorporate into a daily self-management regime.

Dr. Charles H. Schikman, Director of the Center, says this education enables diabetics to avoid complications of the disease, the nation's number three killer, and lead healthier and longer lives. Some of the disorders that good blood sugar control can prevent include blindness, kidney failure and heart disease.

"There used to be no constant means to control diabetes," Schikman said. "Diabetics could only get a blood sugar reading at a doctor's office. But with new, chemically treated strips, which react to blood, diabetics can measure their blood sugar on their own, almost anywhere, anytime," said Schikman. "The test results tell diabetics how to gauge their diet, exercise and medication to keep glucose levels within a normal range. Also, new insulins are on the market. These techniques and discoveries allow diabetics a better life—if they know how to use them," Schikman said.

The staff of the Northside Diabetes Center teaches diabetics how to use these tools of diabetes management, and works out a program that patients can follow for a lifetime of good diabetes control. According to Schikman, a formal diabetes education program requires three to five days of intensive education and training, depending on whether the diabetic is insulin or non-insulin-dependent. Some of these programs, such as those offered at the Northside Diabetes Center, are developed by an entire staff consisting of nurse specialists, pharmacists, exercise therapists, social workers, registered dietitians and endocrinologists.

This formal education also provides incentives for patients to continue following a self-management program on a long-term basis, Schikman said.

"We document our patient's chart, blood sugar and food intake daily. Then this data is reviewed and discussed periodically with the patient and members of the Diabetes Center. Also, the camaraderie of those in the program works as a group support system toward achieving their goal of controlling the disease. All these factors help motivate diabetics to stick to their plan."

And it is vital, said Schikman, that diabetics control their disease throughout their life. "The patient must realize a contract is involved. The price of the diabetic contract—adjusting one's lifestyle to fit a self-management program, is a small price to pay for a longer life."

Discussion on diabetes

"Weight, Diet and the Diabetic" will be the subject of a panel discussion at the Chicago Northside Diabetes Center, 2451 W. Howard St., Chicago, at 7 p.m. on Thursday, April 11.

The panel will consist of Charles H. Schikman, M.D., Director of the Chicago Northside Diabetes Center, the Center's Medical Coordinator Satish Vij, M.D. and its Registered Dietitian, Katie Weber.

To register for this free program, call 943-3935.

Further information about the diabetic retinopathy support group can be obtained by calling the group leader, Miriam Goldberg, between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. at 965-8583.

Home and Energy Show opens 5-day run

The largest-ever Spring Home and Energy Show opens Wednesday, April 10, at the Arlington Park Exposition Center in Arlington Heights, offering thousands of products and ideas on home building, maintenance, remodeling and energy conservation during its five-day run through Saturday, April 14. Show hours are 9 to 10 p.m., Wednesday, Thursday and Friday; 11 a.m. to 10 p.m., Saturday; and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., Sunday. Adult admission is $5; children six to 12 years, $1; children under six admitted free.

More than 500 displays will fill the exhibit area. Radio and TV celebrities will greet show visitors daily.

A broad range of products and services for the home and lawn/garden areas will be showcased to help home or condo owners and apartment dwellers improve their lifestyles. Many exhibitors will offer special discounts available only during the show, and scores of drawings for valuable merchandise, materials or services also will be conducted throughout the display areas.

Among the show's ongoing events is a Commonwealth Edison Company energy conservation program aimed at children. Visitors with specific questions on remodeling or rehabbing will find answers presented by Norm Abram, master carpenter from PBS/TV's Emmy Award-winning "This Old House" series.

Another equally popular TV personality, Bob Thomson, star of the PBS "Victory Garden" program, will offer a slide presentation on lawn care, gardening and landscaping on Sunday, April 14 at 1 p.m. and 4 p.m.

Repeating a much-praised feature, the Independent Contractors Association (ICA) will present assistance in two major areas: "Answerman" tables and contractor referrals. Both services are available without obligation, ICA stresses.

Lawn care, gardening and patios receive greatly expanded attention at this year's home show. An extravagantly detailed, two-story authentic medieval European flower market structure will be erected in the exhibit area, complete with flower carts, old country floral displays, table decorations—and expert help. Included in the entire outdoor display area of 20,000 sq. ft. are lush tropical plantings, rock gardens, orchids and hanging gardens...plus a vegetable and herb plot designed and manned by horticulturists from the University of Illinois.

Also at the show, visitors will see two full-size swimming pools, one "above-ground," and the other "in-ground." Both pools are landscaped completely in different motifs.

Entry to the Spring Home and Energy Show at the Arlington Park Race Track is through Gate 5 on Euclid ave. west of Wilke rd. in suburban Arlington Heights. One of the best bargains in the area, parking in the huge lot is only $1!

For further information, telephone 462-5360.

European flower market

Visitors to the 7th annual Spring Home and Energy Show might imagine themselves walking down a street in a quaint European village, as they come upon an authentically reproduced, two-story flower market square.

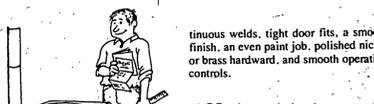

The medieval market is but one of over 500 displays of home and energy improvement products and services at the show, held April 10-14, at the Arlington Park Race Track Exposition Center in suburban Arlington Heights.

Faithful to Old World tradition, the structure has blossom-laden carts, floral table settings and a rainbow of colors from hanging planters, shelf displays and other flower decorations created by the faculty and students at nearby Triton College.

Discount admission tickets to the show are available from Sears home improvement departments, Dominick's Finer Foods, True-Value and Color Tile stores.

Further details are available by telephoning 462-5360.

Buying A Woodstove? Don't Get Burned!

Wood is a pleasant, economical and renewable source of heat energy, and many Americans have switched to wood for all or part of the home heating needs.

If you are thinking of buying a woodstove this year, check the "Do's and Don'ts" suggested by the Wood Heating Alliance, the trade association representing the residential solid fuel heating industry.

DO go to a reputable dealer with your heating requirements and room measurements.

DO look for quality workmanship. A well-made stove will have smooth, continuous welds, tight door fits, a smooth finish, an even paint job, polished nickel or brass hardware, and smooth operating controls.

DO ask your dealer about a warranty. DO buy only stoves that have been safety-tested by a recognized laboratory authority.

DON'T use antique or garage sale stoves without having them thoroughly checked by a professional for safe operation and installation.

DON'T plan on installing the stove yourself unless you are an experienced craftsman and know the latest installation codes and techniques.

DON'T buy a stove that does not have an owner's manual and installation guide.

For more information about wood-burning and stove selection, write for the Wood Heating Alliance's free booklet "Wood—Nature's Housewarming Gift." Send a self-addressed stamped envelope to The Wood Heating Alliance, Dept. WB, Suite 700, 1101 Connecticut Ave., NW, Washington, DC 20036.

Insulation With Ventilation Is Important In Your Home

With energy costs expected to soar unabated for the next 10 years, wise homeowners across the country are busily tightening up their homes by plugging leaks, adding storm windows and doors and installing increased amounts of insulation. In their efforts to save money and keep their dwellings cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter, however, many homeowners are concerned about creating overly "air-tight" homes. By sealing a home too tightly, water vapor from such everyday activities as cooking, cleaning, bathing, and laundry might not be able to disperse to the outside. Instead, it could collect in the attic or walls, soak the insulation and decrease its effectiveness. Water vapor can also soak into the internal structure of a home and create musty smells, stained ceilings, crumbling plaster and peeling paint.

Energy conservation experts at the CertainTeed Home Institute say the remedy is simple. Sufficient ventilation and proper installation of vapor barriers will prevent the collection of too much water vapor. Vapor barriers retard the flow of moisture from the inside air through walls. They can be purchased already attached to the insulation as in the case of CertainTeed's foil or kraft-faced fiber glass insulation, or can be bought separately as in the case of polyethylene sheeting.

The use of insulation with a vapor barrier (facing) is vital in a new home's attic or in an attic with no previous insulation. It should be installed with the "facing" side toward the interior of the home. When adding to existing insulation, always use unfaced fiber glass insulation.

When adding fiber glass insulation to your attic, an easy and cost effective way to fight rising cooling and heating bills, remember not to cover existing ventilation openings. Your attic should have, according to the CertainTeed Home Institute, a minimum of a one square foot into and a one square foot outlet for each 300 square feet of attic area. Proper ventilation lessens heat build-up in the summer and facilitates moisture escape in the summer and winter.

Time Is Running Out, Take Advantage Of Insulation Tax Credit Now

If you're thinking of adding additional insulation to your home, the CertainTeed Home Institute recommends that you do it now so you can still take advantage of the insulation tax credit. The credit, which equals 15 percent of the first $2,000 invested, up to a maximum of $300, expires December 31, 1985. The credit applies to fiber glass insulation as well as other types of attic or sidewall insulation; caulking, weatherstripping, storm windows and doors; modified fluorescent openings; automatic furnace ignition systems; clock thermostats; and other energy conservation products.

To qualify, products must have been purchased and installed in a principal place of residence built prior to April 20, 1977. The residence may be a single family home, condominium or cooperative.

Renters (as well as owners) are eligible for the tax credit as long as they pay for the insulation themselves. Vacation homes are excluded.

The 15 percent of the first $2,000 invested refers to materials and labor costs of a contractor. The credit is subtracted from the final amount of a residence's Federal tax liability. It is not a deduction, but a credit off the bottom line.

For more information, consult your local Internal Revenue Service office, or write to the CertainTeed Home Institute, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, PA 19482, for a free brochure which explains the tax credit in more detail.

Automating Garage Door

Safety and security are important factors, but ask anyone with an automatic garage door opener and they will tell you that convenience is the MOST important.

"In fact," says Bob Cahill, president of Allister Door Control Systems, Exton, PA and a member of the Board of Directors of the Door Operator and Remote Controls Manufacturers' Association, "once you have an automatic opener it's almost impossible to live without one."

R. Cahill

Considering the use most Americans make of their garages, the idea of not having to get in and out of the car each time to open or close the heavy door is most appealing. When bad weather and the personal security factor are entered into the equation, an auto door opener becomes one of the better home appliance values.

Today's units are rugged and dependable. Generally, when properly installed, a quality, brand-name unit will last almost forever. Most manufacturers adapt the technology they use in making industrial and commercial units which may cycle a hundred-thousand times per year. Home applications are hardly a challenge. A good unit will have built-in safety features which will stop upward or downward movement when the door is obstructed. It may also have a time-delay which keeps the lights on until you get out of the car and into the house.

Some manufacturers make units for do-it-yourself installation, while others sell only to garage door dealers for professional installation. Cahill recommends getting advice from a garage door dealer, particularly if the opener is to be fitted into an older house. Often the condition of the springs, rollers and hinges is important to proper operation of an automatic opener, and the professional installer is qualified to check them out.

Radio controls, which enable you to remotely operate your door have become very sophisticated and relatively inexpensive due to the electronics revolution. Most are available with thousands of user-changeable codes for security purposes, and there are dual and tri-channel systems that need only one receiver for up to three separate doors. If you automate your door, radio control is almost a must.

But, electronic marvels or not, the installation of an automatic garage door opener is something you should treat yourself, or a loved one, to. Looking for an unusual gift for Christmas, Valentine's Day, Mother's or Father's Day? What could be a nicer surprise than something which will remind them of you everytime they get in the car. And you'll know you've contributed to their well-being. Besides, pushing that button as you cruise up the street and watching, as if by magic, as the door opens, is really a gas. Who cares what you may have saved in back operations, garage door openers are just plain fun.

Garage Door Safe

Next, some tips from experts about getting along with your garage door.

For safety's sake, garage door remote controls should never be handled by children; only by responsible adults.

Proper installation of a garage door usually requires a professional. You can find one by looking in the Yellow Pages. You can look for members of the Far Western Garage Door Association or the Door and Operator Dealers of America, according to Frank S. Fitzgerald, He's president of the Garage Door Council.

For the life of your garage door and the safety of your family, especially if the door is an older one, professional maintenance and periodic lubrication is very important.

Try A Do-It-Yourself Project This Spring

Gazebos and greenhouses are not as common as decks, but many people opt for them because they blend better with the design of their home. A gazebo can add a look of enchantment to your backyard and provide shade for hot summer days. If you do have a sunny backyard, you might take advantage of the sunlight and build a greenhouse. Spring is a perfect time to stock the greenhouse with plants. The weather is milder and plants are entering their most fertile growing season. Start a healthy crop now, and you will have plants to transplant in your yard next spring.

Patios or decks are the latest rage in home add-ons and not without good reasons. If you have put off building a deck or adding a patio because of tight economic times, now may be an appropriate time to make the investment. Families are enjoying time outdoors, and with help from a hardware or lumber sales person, even a beginning Do-It-Yourselfer can add on to their family's recreational area.

Usually, all building materials and supplies can be purchased from the same retail store. Many retailers offer kits, complete with blueprints, pre-cut wood and supplies. This package deal eliminates planning, returning to the store for additional materials and leftover supplies.

Once all new additions to your yard have been made, it's time to clean up the mess and do any final repair work. Make sure the roof is in good shape after the winter weather if you live in a cold or windy climate. Clean the gutters and drainpipes of debris. Patch any concrete that is broken. Repair all screens.

If you have a frame house or one with extensive wood trim, you can add a fresh coat of paint to enhance the new look. If you own a brick home, repair any faulty spots to project a well-kept image.

For final touches, you may plant additional shrubbery, prune your trees, plant flowers or build a rock garden. Shrubbery and bedding plants can be found at hardware stores and home centers, while colored rock or wood chips are usually found at hardware stores or lumber/building material centers.

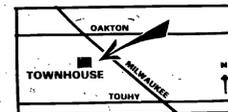

If you have questions when beginning or in the middle of a Do-It-Yourself project, go to your local Do-It-Yourself hardware, home center or lumber and building material stores. Most have valuable knowledge, and can offer practical recommendations for proper procedures, equipment needed or specific product performance. In addition to personal advice, there are how-to books and brochures to take home as a reference aid while completing the project.

New, High Efficiency Gas Heating Systems

New, high efficiency natural gas heating systems are now available, according to the American Gas Association (A.G.A.).

Consumers faced with selecting a replacement furnace or with purchasing a new home should be certain they buy a product with energy and cost-saving features.

New gas heating equipment has efficiencies as high as 97 percent, A.G.A. reports.

Heating equipment has changed significantly in the past several years. Improved pulse combustion, recuperative cells, induced draft, heat exchanger design, power venting, and pilotless ignition are just a few of the energy saving features available with natural gas heating systems, the A.G.A. says.

When shopping for home-heating or air cooling systems, check for the federally required Energy Guide or fact sheet available from your appliance dealer. This information provides energy efficiency ratings and allows consumers to compare estimated annual operating costs.

Gas Range Efficiency Is Better

Consumers who select new natural gas ranges for higher efficiency cooking are choosing the cleanest, most dependable, and efficient means of preparing food, according to the American Gas Association.

Consumers can save the most money by comparing ranges and purchasing one with the features and operating costs which meet their requirements.

The most efficient gas ranges feature pilotless ignition systems. Surface, oven, and broiler burners are lighted with electronic igniters instead of standing pilot lights.

There are two types of pilotless ignition systems available on new gas ranges.

The spark ignition system makes a clicking sound when the burner is turned on and the spark ignites the gas that flows to the burner.

The other system uses a glow bar or glow-coil ignition. When the control dial is turned on, a flow of electric current causes the igniter to heat and light the burner.

Thirty percent of the natural gas normally consumed for cooking is saved by eliminating the standing gas pilot light, the A.G.A. says, adding that kitchens are cooler without the continuous light, and pilotless ignition eliminates pilot outage caused by drafts.

New gas ranges vary in style, size, and features, but all are similar in construction and operation. One of the most efficient is the free-standing convection-oven gas range. Hot air is forced into the oven by a high-speed fan. No oven pre-heating is necessary and heated air goes directly to the food, starting the cooking process immediately.

Efficient Appliances Save Gas

Home appliances using natural gas continue to be the best choice for consumers because they use less energy, according to the American Gas Association.

New, more efficient gas appliances can save a consumer as much as 50 percent in lifetime operating costs compared with a few years ago. Even considering the rising cost of energy, natural gas costs are below oil and electricity.

A recent A.G.A. study shows that through 1990, gas is expected to be only 60% as high as fuel oil, about 50% as high as the electric heat pump, and a third of the cost of resistance electric heat.

Pulse combustion gas furnaces and boilers now on the market are a new breed of gas heating equipment. The pulse combustion furnace is up to 97 percent fuel efficient and does not require a chimney.

Energy guide label ratings of the Department of Energy show that efficient gas water heaters can save a consumer up to $203 per year to operate over the cost of operating an electric water heater. The new, efficient gas water heaters are as much as 85 percent energy efficient.

Gas dryers will dry approximately four loads of clothes for the same price it takes electricity to do one load. Gas dryers can save as much as 65 percent of fuel costs over electric dryers, according to the A.G.A.

Efficient Gas Water Heaters

The natural gas industry has developed high efficiency gas water heaters, according to the American Gas Association.

New gas water heaters have improved insulation around the tank, more efficient burner systems, refined flue baffles, and more efficient heat transfer.

Very little upkeep is necessary to extend the life and increase the efficiency of a gas water heater.

The pilot area should be kept clean and free of drafts. Combustibles should not be stored in the area.

The drain valve on the heater should be opened once every three months until the water runs clear. This rids the unit of lime deposits and sediment which cause the natural gas burner to work harder, using more fuel and shortening the heaters life.

Some tips on how to use less hot water follow:

- Dishwashers should be fully loaded before using.
- Washing machine settings should be correctly selected, taking into consideration the correct cycle for the fabric, the correct water level, and the lowest water temperature.
- Pipes between the water heater and point of use should be insulated to reduce heat loss.

in unused rooms and insulate ducts and pipes in unheated spaces.

Keep direct sunlight out of living spaces in summer, but let it in during winter; it helps warm the room.

Fully load clothes dryers and dish washers to save energy. Turn off unnecessary lights and appliances.

A water heater is a major energy user. Try a lower thermostat setting. Install water flow restrictors in showers and faucets—they cut hot water use without affecting family comfort. And when replacing a water heater, choose an energy-efficient model.

Attics and their doors should be insulated to the recommended level. Find out what the level is at a store that sells insulation. Check under floors, around basements, crawl spaces and foundation walls for adequate insulation, too. And exterior walls may need insulation. Consider purchasing storm windows, doors or double-paneled glass to keep in heat and air conditioning.

ENERGY SAVING TIPS

Use a thermometer or timer to eliminate over or under cooking.

At home, set the furnace thermostat at 65 degrees in winter and at least five degrees lower when sleeping or away. Higher heating temperatures are recommended for places with the sick, elderly or with infants. In summer, set the air conditioner thermostat at 78 degrees.

Don't Take Your Chimney for Granted!

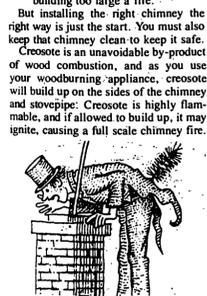

Everyone loves the warmth generated by a cozy fireplace or woodstove, but to keep the fire "friendly," it's important to maintain both your woodburning appliance and your chimney.

Studies from the Consumer Product Safety Commission show that home fires related to woodburning most often originate around the chimney or stove pipe. You can avoid the threat of such fires by following a few guidelines:

1. Use only the chimney and stovepipe specified in the installation instructions. Factory-built fireplaces always come with a chimney designed for use as an integrated part of the fireplace system, and stove manufacturers will specify the kind of chimney to be used with their stove. Be sure that the chimney you choose is approved by local code officials.

2. If you are using a metal chimney, make sure it's not installed too close to combustibles. If you've added insulation in your home, check your attic to see that the insulation is not resting up against the chimney.
3. If you are using a masonry chimney, check on the condition of the liner, and also watch for other signs of deterioration.
4. Keep the chimney at least three feet higher than the place where it exits the roof and two feet higher than any roof within 10 feet. (That is a minimum, and it could be increased.)
5. Don't overload your chimney by building too large a fire.

But installing the right chimney the right way is just the start. You must also keep that chimney clean to keep it safe. Creosote is an unavoidable by-product of wood combustion, and as you use your woodburning appliance, creosote will build up on the sides of the chimney and stovepipe. Creosote is highly flammable, and if allowed to build up, it may ignite, causing a full scale chimney fire.

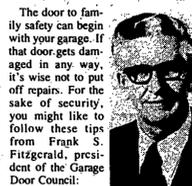

Inspect Your Fireplace and Chimney

During your spring clean-up activities, don't neglect your fireplace and chimney. The end of the heating season is a good time to check the condition of any woodburning appliances and chimneys that you use.

The Wood Heating Alliance, a non-profit organization that promotes the safe use of wood and coal energy, offers the following fireplace safety advice for homeowners:

- Inspect the roof in the area of the chimney and remove any obstructions or foreign material.
- Inspect the chimney top housing, remove any obstructions, and clean the bird guard screen. (If you don't have a screen, now is the time to install one.)
- Inspect the flue for obstructions and creosote build-up. Also look for damage to bricks or tile liners. If you suspect any of these problems, call a professional chimney sweep or inspector.

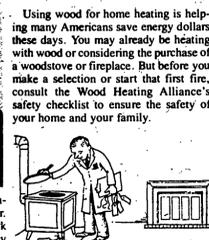

Tips YOU Can Use From The Garage Door Council

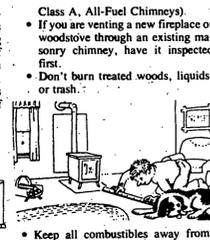

The door to family safety can begin with your garage. If that door gets damaged in any way, it's wise not to put off repairs. For the sake of security, you might like to follow these tips from Frank S. Fitzgerald, president of the Garage Door Council:

- Do not add an electric opener to an existing door without proper counter-balancing of the door. An automatic door that doesn't work properly has a reduced life expectancy and can be dangerous.
- Keep the tracks and other moving parts properly lubricated. This type of maintenance can be done by most handy do-it-yourselfers.
- For other garage repairs, look for qualified people to do the work. Check the Yellow Pages under "Doors" for a nearby garage door dealer. Look for those dealers who display the emblem of the Far Western Garage Door Association or the Door and Operator Dealers of America.

Woodburning Safety Checklist

- Choose an appliance that has been safety-tested by a recognized, listed authority
- Check fire and building codes for recommended installation procedures and clearance standards
- Follow all manufacturer's instructions and clearance requirements exactly.
- Use the correct materials to vent your appliance. (Woodstoves and factory-built fireplaces require

- Class A, All-Fuel Chimneys)
- If you are venting a new fireplace or woodstove through an existing masonry chimney, have it inspected first.
- Don't burn treated woods, liquids, or trash.
- Keep all combustibles away from your heating appliances.
- Have your chimney cleaned and inspected regularly, and burn small, hot fires to reduce creosote build-up.
- The Wood Heating Alliance has a free booklet for woodburners called "Wood-Nature's Housewarming Gift." For your copy, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to WHA, Dept. WB, Suite 700, 1101 Connecticut Ave., NW, Washington, DC 20036.

It's Home Improvement TIME

Buyer—Seller Gain With Efficient Energy Home

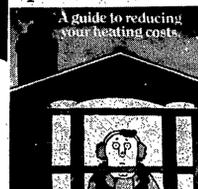

Buying a home is the biggest investment most people will ever make. Obviously, many factors will influence a home buying decision. Size, location, proximity to work, and public transportation are all important factors, but a home's energy consumption is more and more important. In a recent National Homebuying Survey conducted by the National Association of Realtors, 72% of the respondents said an energy-efficient home—one that consumes energy wisely—was important to their purchasing decision. In fact, many respondents were more concerned that the home be energy efficient—proper insulation, storm windows, energy-saving appliances, efficient heating and cooling—than how close the home was to shopping and transportation.

Buyers of energy-efficient homes are receiving better breaks from lending institutions who are willing to relax income standards. The rationale is that owners of efficient homes will spend less on heating and cooling; therefore, will have more income available to make house payments; thus, buyers can borrow more money.

The easing of income guidelines follows recent actions by the Federal National Mortgage Association and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp. in two big purchases of home mortgages. Under Fannie Mae's revised guidelines, for example, a buyer of an energy-efficient home can spend as much as 30% of a month's income on a house payment.

This means that a family with $52,700 annual income can qualify for a $95,000 mortgage at a 13.5% interest

Check Boiler's Operation

"A guide to reducing heating costs," write to: Weil-McLain, Dept. HT, Blaine St., Michigan City, Ind. 46360.

As much as 40 percent of the money you spend to heat your home could be going right up your chimney because of an inefficient hot water or steam boiler. Efficiency, the measure of how well your boiler converts fuel into useful heat, plays one of the most important parts in determining your home heating cost. An inefficient boiler may require 25 or 30 percent more fuel to provide the same level of comfort as a modern, high-efficiency unit.

Before you run out to replace your present heating system, however, Weil-McLain, a leading manufacturer of home heating boilers, recommends that you investigate all your alternatives.

First, have a qualified heating contractor, fuel oil dealer or utility audit your heating system to determine how efficient it really is. Older boilers simply weren't designed for maximum efficiency.

Your boiler might just need cleaning and adjusting. Built-up soot reduces the amount of useful heat produced. Then make sure your boiler is the right size. An oversized boiler actually produces heat less efficiently.

If your boiler is more than 10 years old, your best choice may be replacing it with a new, high-efficiency boiler.

Ask your heating contractor to show you not only how much a new boiler will cost, but also how much money it would have saved compared to your last year's fuel bill. In many cases, you'll find that a new high-efficiency boiler can pay for itself in as little as three or four years.

Insulation Can Lower Air Conditioning Bills

With residential energy prices rapidly rising over the past eleven years and expected to continue through the 1990's, many homeowners are looking more and more to savings methods. This summer there are several ways a homeowner can cut air-conditioning costs. The most common way to save money is by setting the thermostat at the highest comfortable temperature. A few degrees can make a big difference.

Another method which lowers the cost of staying cool is installation of additional fiber glass insulation. Many homeowners are not aware that fiber glass insulation is a year-round worker, not only sealing warm air in and cold air out in the winter, but keeping cold air in and hot air out during the air-conditioning season.

The Time is Right
Remember last summer's record heat wave? Those hot and tuggy days will be back again, and homeowners should investigate the benefits of insulation now, according to George Hoffman, Vice President of Marketing, CertainTeed Corporation.

Just as winter heating bills continue making ever larger dents in budgets, so will summer cooling costs. Proper insulation will make your home more comfortable in the summer and help reduce the energy you use to air condition your home whether you have central air or just a few window units," he said.

Exact savings will vary depending upon where you live in the country and the thermal condition of your home," he explained, "but an insulated home provides savings for the homeowner year in and year out—year round."

Spring Do-It-Yourself Projects

Tennison expressed that in spring a person's fancy turns to thoughts of love. But he didn't mention that your thoughts may have turned to Do-It-Yourself projects around your family's home.

There is repair work, clean up, planting and building projects, to name a few. Or, perhaps this spring is set aside for building a new deck or greenhouse in your backyard.

Some spring home improvement projects can be started inside while winter lingers or during the rainy season. Bird feeders and flower planters are easy to build, often come in kits and can add a new look to your spring yard. They are perfect examples of indoor projects appropriate for your Do-It-Yourself work area.

If you haven't cleaned out your workshop all winter, spring is an opportune time to get rid of the build-up of scraps and waste. It's also important to clean and condition tools regularly. For hand tools, a rust-inhibiting product should be applied to protect blades.

Once the weather has warmed, you may be tempted to get outside for family fun. In addition to the regular activities, turn ordinary work into an event. If you have smaller children, you might create a game out of picking up the yard, or challenge other family members by encouraging them to repair the doghouse and give it a fresh coat of paint. If play equipment, such as a swing or sandbox is installed, cleaned or repaired first, you should have little problem keeping youngsters out of the way so you can concentrate on larger undertakings.

New additions can help turn an ordinary yard into a modern garden. Build a deck off the back or the side of your house, for example. Or build a gazebo or greenhouse. It's often most helpful to start projects before cleaning the yard and doing repair work. You will save yourself from cleaning up twice.

produce the greatest dollar saving in energy conservation.

Possible Tax Credit
Homeowners may be eligible for an energy tax credit of up to $300, whether the insulation is done by a do-it-yourselfer or an insulation contractor. This is not a deduction, but a credit off the bottom line of your Federal Income tax. It applies to material and labor costs of the insulation contractor.

Important Answers To Questions About Home Insulation, Vapor Barriers

It's become increasingly clear over the past several years that the days of cheap energy are gone. More and more homeowners each day, however, are fighting back. They're adding insulation to their attics, garages, crawlspaces, floors and walls to keep summer cooling costs and winter heating bills in check. A perennial subject for many is home insulation vapor barriers: what are they, what do they do, when is it necessary to install them, how, where do they go? The experts at CertainTeed Home Institute provide the following answers to commonly asked questions about vapor barriers.

What is a vapor barrier?
A vapor barrier is a material that retards the flow of moisture. Insulation can be purchased with a vapor barrier already attached, as in the case of foil or kraft-faced fiber glass insulation, or can be bought separately. Polyethylene sheeting is the most common.

What does a vapor barrier do?
Human beings, appliances, and plumbing equipment generate moisture that is carried in the air as a vapor. As moisture vapor moves from a warm interior through the walls of a home, to a cooler surface, the moisture may condense as water and cause damage to the home. It is for this reason that vapor barriers, which retard the flow of moisture through a home's walls, are installed. By installing vapor barriers as close as possible to the interior side of the home, the moisture vapor flow is restricted before it has a chance to condense to water.

How do you install a vapor barrier?
Vapor barriers should always be installed toward the living area. Thus when installing them in an attic floor that has no insulation, lay the vapor barrier face down.

When is a vapor barrier required?
Where there is no previously installed insulation, lay in a vapor barrier before installing insulation, or install insulation with kraft facing. When adding additional insulation to older homes, you should use unfaced insulation.

Are there any tips to follow when installing vapor barriers or foil/krafted insulations?
Many vapor barriers are made of flammable materials. Because of this, special care should be taken when working close to an open flame. Vapor barriers should also never be left exposed as they are easily damaged and should be covered with dry wall. Rips or tears should be patched by covering the damaged area with duct or polyvinyl tape.

When applying layers of insulation, a vapor barrier or faced insulation should only be installed on the bottom layer. Additional layers should be unfaced. Care should be taken not to staple into electrical wiring when installing faced insulation or separate vapor barriers. For more information, write for the free brochure: "Insulation Facts," CertainTeed Home Institute, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, PA 19482.

Gas Dryers Save Cash

New natural gas clothes dryers use less energy than older models and save consumers money, according to the American Gas Association (A.G.A.).

New gas clothes dryers light automatically without a continuously burning pilot light. They also cost less to operate than electric clothes dryers and last approximately 13 years with reasonable maintenance, the A.G.A. says.

Today's clothes dryers offer a variety of temperature controls. Some models have only one heat setting plus a no-heat selection. Others have three or four heat settings for specific fabrics.

Helpful consumer information on installation, use and care, safety, and service is also included.

Consumers should read warranties before buying. They should compare initial purchase prices and operating and maintenance costs over the lifetime of the equipment, the A.G.A. says.

Gas Grill Cooking Tips

The natural gas grill provides dependable outdoor cooking with a convenient fuel supply. The American Gas Association recommends these energy saving tips when using a gas grill:

- Limit preheating time.
- Use only one burner on dual burner grills, unless both burners are needed.
- Use the lowest flame setting possible.
- Cook with the grill cover closed for more smoked flavor and shorter cooking times.
- Cook slow cooking foods on grill to keep heat out of the kitchen and save on air conditioning.
- Cook several foods or entire meals at one time on the grill.
- Cook a full grill of steaks or burgers. Reheat extras later.
- Thaw frozen foods before grilling unless otherwise directed.

Garage Door Safe:

It could be time for a check-up for an important member of your household—the garage door.

Your garage door needs regular lubrication and servicing. If your door is slow, creaky and hard to lift, there's no point in installing an electric opener without correcting the underlying problem, according to Frank S. Fitzgerald, Garage Door Council President.

Don't do the work yourself, say the safety experts at the Garage Door Council. Always get a professional to do the job. Today's openers and doors are safe when properly installed and serviced. Most accidents are attributable to amateur installation and repair work.

Garage door electric openers should be examined periodically to insure a proper operation of the safety reverse mechanism. Another tip: Never let children play with the door or control button. Tell them to stay clear when the door is operated. If you have other questions, write to Garage Door Council, 39-50 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, Illinois 60613.

More savings
Besides cutting your costly fuel and energy bills year after year, installing an Energy Manager thermostat can save in other ways. Users can qualify for deducting the 15% Energy Tax Credit on federal income tax returns, as well as various state and local rebates and tax credits.

Energy Manager thermostats have a tiny microprocessor that brings the advantages of digital speed and electronic accuracy to energy savings with comfort.

Pushbutton controls allow for quickly setting as many as two economy periods on heating and two on cooling each day. A digital display window shows you the temperature setting and hours of economy. Backup battery stores your program for three days in case of power outages.

Installing an Energy Manager thermostat is an easy project for do-it-yourselfers. There are simple, step-by-step illustrated instructions and wiring is color coded. The baseplate covers any old mounting location, and no additional wiring or leveling is needed.

Budget Saving Ideas

- Consumers can use less energy and save money by taking a close look at how they use energy at home. By following a few energy saving tips consumers can save money.
- Set the furnace thermostat at home to about 65 degrees in the winter and at least five degrees lower when sleeping or away. Higher heating temperatures are recommended where the sick, elderly, or infants live. In summer, set the air conditioner thermostat at 78 degrees.
- A water heater is a major energy user, according to the American Gas Association. Try a lower thermostat setting. Install water flow restrictors in shower heads and faucets—they cut hot water use without affecting family comfort. When replacing a water heater, choose an energy-efficient model.
- Consumers on a low or fixed income can apply for federal money to assist in paying gas bills. Don't ignore payments if you are late—call the gas company. It may have a budget plan to help.
- Clean or replace filters as needed in heating and cooling systems. Close vents in unused rooms and insulate ducts and pipes in unheated spaces. Keep direct sunlight out of living spaces in summer, but let it in during winter, it helps warm the room.
- Attics and their doors should be insulated to the recommended level. Find out what the level is at a store that sells insulation. Check under floors, around basements, crawl spaces and foundation walls for adequate insulation, too. Exterior walls may also need insulation.

this precinct had previously been a Republican precinct (more Republican votes) but last election the Democrats had won the precinct.

Each precinct has an equal number of Republican and Democratic-selected judges.

We next went to the Maine Township Democratic headquarters and asked Veda Kauffman, Blase's assistant who selected the judges, about the conflict. Veda said she couldn't get judges for the precinct. She said Ms. Turney was a friend of hers and thus chose her as one of the Democratic judges. Her husband, Mr. Turney, was the other Democratic judge.

Ms. Kauffman said she can't find enough judges in the Des Plaine and Park Ridge areas which resulted in her choosing Turney.

We told her we were responsible for blowing the whistle regarding the conflict. She got quite exasperated and said she was tired of "this nit-picking and someday this would all come to pass". She alluded to Ms. Turney and her husband, who she said is a stroke victim, and walked away from us in utter disgust.

One of the reasons we'll never be selected as "the most popular guy in town" is we ask the guys to play by the book. This matter was a gross violation of the election code.

While Ms. Kauffman, who is down in the trenches at each election, obviously does not have an envious job in helping to run elections, we're sure her troops would be screaming the loudest if the Republicans selected one of their candidates to be an election judge.

When we walked out of the Blase office we didn't feel too excited about our role in this matter. But a few hours later we got the hook in the story all reporters are looking for: That old miscreant, "Tricky Nicky" Blase, was showing Niles a bit of his own "dirty tricks" he's long been suspected of.

Last month Ms. Turney was interviewed by another reporter and she admitted she was asked to run for trustee on behalf of the mayor's reelection committee. Old "dirty tricks" Blase was out to stop independent candidate Carol Panek and he might have succeeded. Turney got about 800 votes and Panek lost by about 500 votes. It is possible Turney took away Panek's winning margin.

"Tricky Nicky" may have thrown a curve at Nilesites. Turney had been secretary of Blase's Maine Township Democrats from 1971-1975. She said she was asked to run by Blase's own committee. It was a hurried-up last-minute campaign in which Turney made little effort.

The lady who came into our office and asked for a ruling got the correct answer. And "the old nitpicker", whose "day may come to pass" thinks there may be more to this story than has been revealed.

Fish Fry on Good Friday

A representative of the Morton Grove American Legion Post #134 has advised that there will be a fish fry as usual on Good Friday, this year, April 5.

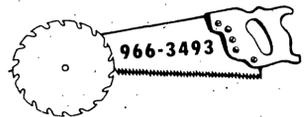

There has been some confusion in the public's mind as to whether the Legion group will sponsor their 6-8 p.m. weekly repast on this particular night at their Memorial Home, 6140 Dempster.

Those not desiring to eat fish because of their religious affiliation will find the usual chicken as an entree.

The fish dinners are either perch, shrimp or a combination of the two.

All meals are served with potato, cole slaw, roll and butter and a beverage. Prices are nominal.

didates Roger Nolte with 1,838 votes, Randall Ochonicki with 1,697 votes and Craig Karas who received 1,755 votes. Village Leadership Party Clerk candidate David Selzer lost with 1,852 votes.

Commenting on his victory Flickinger attributed his party's success to "good organization." "The people of Morton Grove have voted to continue progress for another four years," said Flickinger.

A victorious Don Schneider noted ACT ON officials had "made great strides in eight years," including bringing "integrity" to office as well as "bringing Morton Grove into the modern age" with sophisticated management techniques and new facilities.

ACT ON candidates had run on their record stressing the smooth day to day operation and continuing modernization of Morton Grove.

Also, ACT ON candidates stressed the low property taxes paid by Morton Grove residents.

Dechert, long-time political foe of Flickinger, assembled a ticket under the Village Leadership Party banner.

Dechert's party was highly critical of ACT ON leadership for tackling issues such as gun control.

Dechert had said her party would take care of day to day village management and leave national issues for the residents to decide by referendum.

TIP candidates...

In the Township Assessor's race, in which incumbent Republican Roy Bergquist ran as an independent after not being slated by local Republicans, the slated Republican won.

Long-time Republican Thomas Rueckert received 7,381 votes to Democrat Louis Capozzoli's 6,538 votes.

Bergquist, who ran a strong campaign, collected 3,303 votes.

Township Collector Robert Williams retained his post receiving 9,289 votes. Democratic challenger Robert Ettingham received 7,501 votes.

Township Highway Commissioner Bill Fraser also beat Democratic challenger Howard Nerius by a vote of 9,665 to 6,881.

The surprise among the Township Trustee candidates came when Democrat, Donna Fitzpatrick, won a seat on the board.

Unofficial vote totals showed Fitzpatrick receiving 8,213 votes apparently denying Republican Harvey Frindt, who chalked up 7,850 votes, from retaining his seat.

Otherwise, there were no surprises as incumbent Republicans again won the election.

Dee Conroy received 9,048 votes, Mark Thompson had 9,039 votes and Anita Rifkind had 8,969 votes assuring all three incumbents another term on the board.

Democratic challengers John Prellberg lost with 7,431 votes, Helen Daniel lost with 7,879 votes, and Jerald Kantrovich was defeated with 7,313 votes.

Blase ticket...

Cont'd from Niles-E. Maine P.1 votes it is not known how many of those would have gone to Panek.

Nicholas Blase was elected to his seventh term as mayor. Running unopposed his vote tally came in at 4,232.

Long-time Village Clerk Frank Wagner was, as usual, the high vote getter on the ticket with 4,415 votes.

Commenting on the impact of "Turney's candidacy Panek said, "She wasn't a true candidate... She never really campaigned."

Regarding Turney's 800 votes, "the purpose of her being there was fulfilled."

Regarding the very low voter turnout Panek noted, "The people just didn't come out to vote. I don't know if people care that much. I really don't."

Niles Park...

Cont'd from Niles-E. Maine P.1 disappointed so few people voted. How much closer to home can you get than these elections?"

Continuing, Marusek said, "I'm very, very proud of the record of the Park Board. It is reassuring that we were retained. It means the community approves of the job we did."

Kosiba said, following the victory, "I'm glad for Mary and Jim mostly. They're very concerned people and deserve to win."

Looking towards the next four years Kosiba said, "We do what is best for the park and we're going to improve it as best we can and still keep taxes low."

Noting that he was "glad the election is over and delighted by the results," a victorious Jim Pierski said the park board "will pretty much function as we have...we'd like to continue the progress we've made in the past years."

Village Blood Drive

This month members of the Morton Grove American Legion Post #134 will turn out en masse to participate in the April village blood drive. To be held at the village chambers Thursday, April 4, blood drive chairman for the Post, past commander Tad Kimura stated this is one of the semi-yearly times the Legion puts forth extra effort to turn out in a large group.

The Legion locally was the forerunner in the blood drives to aid the Morton Grove community and their own members, long before the village itself instituted such a program. Kimura was the spearhead then, and has continued since.

For further information regarding the Legion donor portion of the semi-yearly drive, phone Kimura, 965-4730.

Library construction enters second phase

With construction complete on the new addition to the library, work has now begun on renovation of the original structure. At this time, workmen are installing new footings and structural supports for a second floor in the adult reading room. This additional floor will bridge the mezzanine and house the adult circulating collection. The ground floor of the adult reading room will be for the business and general reference collection.

With the additional floor, the library will be able to add needed study tables and chairs as well as additional shelving. To assist the library in its expansion and development of the collection, the library's Board of Trustees has appropriated $50,000 to be used for retrospective collection development at the Main and Branch libraries. This additional appropriation will allow the library to purchase many titles which the professional staff has identified as desirable to meet the needs of the community.

In making the money available, Board President Harry Pestine said, "It is our desire and intention to become a library that is rated Class A under the guidelines established by the Illinois Library Association and Illinois State Library. This appropriation will assist the staff in obtaining that goal." The Board also issued a challenge to the community to let the library staff know which titles or subjects they would like to see further developed in the collection to meet their needs.

Other renovation of the original structure includes changing the former staff workroom into a public access microcomputer room designed for 13 work stations; adding a small kitchenette in the projection booth for groups using the public meeting room; developing a new book display area; and changing a former office into a public typing room.

All construction is expected to be completed in sixty days.

Restaurant explosion blows out windows

According to police, an explosive device detonated at 9:05 p.m. outside an atrium holding area at the northwest side of the building.

The device, which may have been a blasting cap, was placed underneath a tree five feet from the building. The force of the explosion left a crater one-half foot in diameter.

Three five foot by five foot windows were broken.

The holding area was unoccupied, however, police officials said had the explosion occurred on a busy weekend night, people may have been cut by flying glass.

Police said three men were ejected from the restaurant shortly before the blast.

Maine Township Road District budget hearing

The budget hearing for the Maine Township Road District was held immediately prior to the town board meeting on Tuesday, March 26.

The budget for the upcoming fiscal year was set at $843,000 - $30,000 lower than last year's budget which was $873,000.

Highway commissioner, Bill Fraser, commented that the new budget was lower because he did not anticipate any expenditures for new equipment in the upcoming fiscal year.

The Road District budget sets the ceiling on what the district can spend on the 32 miles of road in the district.
