The East Maine District 63 General Caucus at a recent meeting endorsed incumbent Howard Blassman for the District 207 School Board and recommended incumbents James Friedleib, Joan Futterman and Norman Padnos for the District 63 board. Elections will be held November 5.

The East Maine 63 General School Caucus, which consists of representatives of community organizations, recommends candidates (when vacancies occur) for election to the District 63 board and endorses candidates for the District 207 board. This year, eight community organizations sent delegates to the organization. Before the representatives meet to make their recommendations and endorsements, the caucus seeks to encourage qualified individuals to seek seats on the school district boards. A Search and Nominating Committee prepares a questionnaire. Continued on Page 39

Levy reflects 9 percent increase

Park district okays tax levy for 1985

Niles Park District Commissioners have tentatively approved a 1985 tax levy of $899,412 over last year's $825,329 or a 9 percent increase. According to Bill Hughes, director of parks and recreation, the increase is attributed to operational costs and park improvements. "It is a minimal increase and does not necessarily mean a tax increase to park district residents. It depends on the new tax rate, that is based on assessed valuation of property which will be revealed by the Cook County Assessor's office next year," Hughes said at Tuesday night's meeting. The 1984 tax rate was .379 per $100 of equalized assessed valuation. The tax levy figure was based on a total assessed valuation of $3.6 million in 1984. The average homeowner paid approximately $45 on the park district portion of the tax bill. The 1985 figure must be sent to Cook County Clerk Stanley Kasper's office prior to Sept. 18, board attorney Gabriel Berrafato said. Final approval of the levy will wait until after an Aug. 29 public hearing, scheduled for 7 p.m. at the district's administration office, 7877 Milwaukee Ave. According to Hughes, the public hearing is essential because the total increase in levy over the 1984 figure is more than 5 percent. In other business, the board formally presented a trophy to the park district's swim team Continued on Page 38

by Bud Besser
America is just a different kind of country. We're so big and broad and bursting it defies translating the mores of this country to the rest of the world.
We spent a four-day weekend in Atlanta this past week and it was an eye opener.
On every expressway high-rise office buildings are sprouting alongside the roadways. The tentacles of the tall cranes are everywhere. Hotels, restaurants, motels are burgeoning, changing the face of the city each week.
The northern cities, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and Philadelphia have grown old. But down in Atlanta and southwest in Dallas and Houston and San Antonio the young adults of this country are adding a new dynamic to America.
If you look through the prism of a 60 year old you get reflections of a country in transition.
We've often bemoaned the inefficiency which seems to surround us. It takes three service calls before the typesetting machine spells correctly. When my car comes back from being serviced the windshield spritzer doesn't have any water for spritzing. In June, it took three service calls before the air conditioner worked correctly. And the or- Continued on Page 38

Park board proceeds with new maintenance facility

Park district officials have narrowed a field of seven architects to three for the construction of a new maintenance building proposed for Tam golf course. The board at Tuesday's meeting plan to visit buildings constructed by the individual architects before making a final selection. "I think an inspection of these buildings will influence our decision on which architect will be hired for the project," said Commissioner Jim Pierski.

SSI changes must be reported

People who receive Supplemental Security Income (SSI) are responsible for reporting any event that could affect their right to payments or the payment amount, Thomas A. Curin, Social Security district manager, said recently.

SSI payments are made to people 65 or older or blind or disabled who have little income and who do not own much property.

It is important that any change in a person's situation be reported promptly, Curin said. This way the payment rate can be adjusted quickly so that the person is not inconvenienced.

People getting SSI can make their report in person, by mail, or by telephone. But no matter how they report, they should include the person's Social Security number under which payment is made, the change being reported, the date it happened, and if the report is in writing, the person's signature and address. Everyone getting SSI payments should report the following: 1) Any move or change of address, even if checks are deposited directly into an account at a bank or other financial organization. 2) If there is any change in the household; whether anyone moves into or out of the home; whether there are any changes in the amounts of money people contribute to expenses. 3) If a person enters or leaves an institution. 4) If a person marries or marriage ends. 5) If a person marries or marriage ends. 6) Any change in income of any person in the household. 7) Any change in resources, what the person owns, including real estate, car, or other personal property, additions to savings account, or other investment. 8) If a student stops or starts attending school regularly. 9) Blind or disabled people should report any improvement in conditions, taking any job, and any change in earnings.

Someone should report for the person getting SSI payments if: 1) A drug addict or alcoholic stops treatment. 2) A person becomes unable to manage his or her own funds. 3) A person dies. More information about these reports can be obtained at your local Social Security office. The telephone number is 823-0815. The people there will be glad to answer any questions.

Maine Beat

by Sylvia Dalrymple

ON THE BEAT...the controversial 33-story building proposed on the site of Fisherman's Dude Ranch in unincorporated Maine Township will come under consideration this week by the Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals. The board usually makes its recommendation based on testimony and rhetoric from so-called experts. Although mayors from nearby towns, including Niles, have filed objections to the plan...the North Maine Fire Protection District has gone on record to support the project. The carrot dangling in front of the you-know-what is the $140,000 in tax revenue the fire department expects to receive if the twin-tower is approved. "Whitey" Daniel, chairman of North Maine's board of trustees, told newspapers about the potential tax bonanza...and on second thought...said it was not the "main consideration." At the zoning board hearing, a fire official testified that water would be supplied by a local water company...and that water pressure (aided by booster pumps), as well as fire protection measures would provide adequate protection to the twin 33-story towers. Act two in the scenario was a recent complaint to the Bugle Newspapers from Norma Danial regarding low water pressure despite booster pumps in the six-story Landings condo complex...where the Danials live. The big question is...will county officials take NMPD's assurances on adequate water supply for what it is worth?

The first board has had its share of adverse publicity in the past...adding to the credibility gap. Joe taxpayers last year took umbrage when the newly elected trustees purchased helmets and badges for themselves as a kind of status symbol. And "Whitey" Danial is currently in the news because of being paid a broker's commission for setting up life and health insurance for the district's 20 firemen early this year. The matter is being investigated by the State's Attorney's office to determine a possible violation of statute.

When election time rolls around, one hopes that the "unpolitical" Citizen's Action Committee is not around to again call the shots in running candidates for various local offices in the unincorporated areas. The last time around...the rhetoric turned out to be drummer's tune that apparently did not serve the best interests of residents.

THE "BARNEY FIFE" AWARD...Congratulations to Bill Terpinas and Bill Reid who are celebrating 25 years with the Niles Police Department. The two police officers have contributed their big share in helping to make the department one of the best-known law and order agencies in the Chicago area.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY...Marie Escareno, sales rep for the Bugle Newspapers, had a few bad moments after purchasing the "Newborn" baby doll...an uncanny look-alike for the real thing...from Gigi's Doll and Teddy Bear shop at Oak Mill Mall. Marie was putting the doll into the trunk of her car when a police officer emerged from a squad car and demanded to know why she was putting "a baby" in the trunk. After ID'ing the culprit, the embarrassed officer rode away into the sunset.

MAYOR'S ROW...portraits of Niles mayors...from first to last...who helped shape the viable village of to-day are exhibited on a wall in the Kenneth Scheel Administration Building on Milwaukee Av. Take a look-see at the pictorial history of top officials from John Huntington (1899 to 1902) in an informal pose...to the current Mayor Nicholas Blase.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT...Mike Coglianesse of Niles...former football GREAT at Maine East High School...is keeping up that reputation as quarterback on the North Park College football team. Now going into his junior year, Mike last year completed 122 of 292 passes for 1199 yards and five touchdowns. Way to go...Another Niles upcoming athlete is Nancy Kozanecki, 16, who swam her way to a gold, three silver and six bronze medals in the recent 1985 Junior Olympic Games held at the University of Iowa. She won a gold for the 400 meter freestyle, and the silver and bronze medals in other swim categories. In 1984, Nancy won her first gold medal in Jacksonville, Florida in the 100 meter Butterfly. The National AAU/USA Junior Olympics...an annual event...is chiefly sponsored by Sears Roebuck and Co. and attracts about 4500 young athletes from all over the country.

Social Security at fifty

Social Security reached a major milestone on August 14, marking the 50th anniversary that the Social Security Act was signed into law. It set into motion a major institution that is just as much a part of America for people who have grown up since the depression as public education or the post office. Just about everyone is affected by Social Security. Over 9 out of 10 workers pay into the program. Well over 36 million people - more than one in seven persons receive monthly disability, survivors or retirement benefits.

About $1.54 trillion in retirement and survivors payments were made from 1940 through 1985, and about $191 billion in disability benefits were paid from 1957 through June. The current value of just the survivor protection under Social Security is worth nearly as much as the face value of all private life insurance in the U.S.

Under a pay-as-you-go system, the Social Security taxes from today's workers pay for the benefits of current beneficiaries. Using Social Security as a mechanism, it's a way for one generation to care for another. The impact of Social Security on the lives of our citizens has been nothing short of revolutionary. Benefits provide a modest base of income for most retirees who are able to live more independent lives. Millions of children can count on benefits should a parent die or start getting retirement or disability benefits and can get payments if they are unable to work for at least 12 months.

This trip is an annual event. In years past, N.W.S.R.A. has taken mentally handicapped adult groups on vacations to the Wisconsin Dells, St. Louis, and Cincinnati to name just a few. The trips are planned and coordinated by the N.W.S.R.A. staff.

7-Eleven managers raise funds for M.D.A.

Five members of the 7-Eleven convenience store management team will embark on a three-state bicycle trip to raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association Aug. 29-Sept. 1.

The four-day, 400-mile ride will begin at 7-Eleven's Great Lakes Division office in Rolling Meadows and conclude in Columbus, Ohio.

The cyclist's path will carry them through Illinois, Indiana and Ohio where they will make brief stops at local M.D.A. (WKEF-TV/NBC, Ch. 22) and Columbus (WTVN-TV/ABC, Ch. 6) to drop off an expected $7,000 in donations.

Niles Family Service workshop

Niles Family Service announces Dr. James Cisek will personally conduct a workshop on "The Development of the Successful Kid" at the agency, 8000 Oakton at 7:30 p.m. on September 18.

Cisek will discuss his techniques for assisting kids to be what they can be, rather than what they are. Although every parent wants his or her child to succeed - and not just "cope" with life, many parents are confused about how to do so. Dr. Cisek will discuss how parents can motivate their children to success - at home, in school and in life.

There are too many kids who suffer from the "Popeye Syndrome". That is, they truly believe that statement "I am who I am". And as a result of that excuse, they never change, or improve or reach their potential. Dr. Cisek will show you how to change that attitude and replace it with "I am whatever I choose to be". That is the belief of winners, not the losers. With the start of school, this is a very timely discussion of a very confusing topic - how to motivate your kids.

One of the first rules which will be explained is that your child's success will be a result not of what you force him to do, or what you do for him, but what he does for himself. Dr. Cisek will give you very practical and specific suggestions for handling the homework battles which start with "Did you do your homework yet?" Without the yelling and threats. Dr. Cisek will give you tips how to encourage your child to do better, and why he/she should.

Consumer Coalition against insurance companies

Recently, members of the Coalition For Political Honesty proposed the formation of a Consumers Insurance Board (CIB) to represent the interests of Illinois families who purchase life, health, auto, and homeowners insurance.

Illinois citizens today spend more than 10¢ out of every dollar for insurance. After food, housing, and taxes, it is the largest household expenditure. Despite the importance of insurance to virtually every family, consumers have never had an effective voice in the regulation of insurance.

During the last session of the General Assembly, the insurance industry fielded 61 highly paid lobbyists. Consumers did not even have one. With these odds, it is not surprising that nearly every important reform proposal was defeated.

The Consumer Insurance Board would even up the odds for Illinois consumers. CIB will hire full-time actuaries and accountants to challenge the insurance industry and prepare shopper guides to help consumers find the best insurance policies at the lowest prices.

No tax money will be spent on the Consumer Insurance Board which will be funded entirely by voluntary contributions. Any consumer can join CIB for $5 a year. CIB membership applications would be inserted in drivers' license and license plate letters from the Secretary of State as well as in insurance bills.

To no one's surprise, the insurance industry already has pledged to fight the formation of CIB. One prominent lobbyist was quoted as saying that "I don't know of any problems that are not currently being resolved by the companies and their agents." This response flies in the face of reality and demonstrates just how insensitive the insurance industry is to the thousands of complaints registered by consumers each year.

Every year, Illinois consumers pay more than $5 billion in insurance premiums. In return, insurance companies offer excessive rates, incomprehensive policies, and outrageous delays in paying claims.

CIB will be the first and only organization in Illinois that will have the expertise and muscle to fight these abuses. With consumers working together, we can assure that insurance companies finally serve the interests of the people who pay the premiums.

Persons who are interested in receiving more information about the Consumers Insurance Board should write me at P.O. Box 428, Oak Park, IL 60463. I also hope that people who have experienced problems with an insurance company will send me the details.

Sincerely,
Patrick Quinn

"A SPARKLING IDEA"

The Rough Stones of Jewelry

Some rough stones have distinctive crystals and some do not. Tourmaline, natural Sapphires and Aquamarines are hexagonal and occur in prismatic crystals, while Diamonds and Garnets are isometric and occur in symmetrical crystals. Obsidian which is natural glass, does not form a crystal. It is amorphous, natural Ruby, which is normally hexagonal and has sharp crystals. Garnet is a rather common mineral. The dark red variety is valued as a precious stone. Many garnets gather in a rock cavity and often look like a ripe pomegranate. Garnet comes in other colors ranging from brown and purple TSAVORITE which is sometimes called the Ural Emerald.

Topaz is a typical yellow stone. Some people think that Topaz is always yellow, however, it is not always the case. The Topaz on sale today is frequently none other than yellow Quartz.

Rock Crystal is in abundance all over the world and therefore is a quite familiar gem. Since Rock Crystal is a typical crystalline quartz, the chief variety of rock forming minerals, it may be expected wherever rocks containing quartz are found.

The many colored Opal is extremely popular. Opals consist of silicone dioxide hardened in a rock cavity like Agate. The chief producers are Australia and Mexico.

LJC Torah Scroll to be written

Standing around Sofer Yochanan Nathan are (l-r): Mr. & Mrs. Morry Kaufman, Pres. William Klipern, Rabbi Joel Lehrfield and Dudley Drediger, Worship Chairman.

Rabbi Joel Lehrfield and the Board of Directors of the Lincolnwood Jewish Congregation at 7117 N. Crawford have commissioned the writing of a Torah Scroll to help commemorate the Synagogue's anniversaries, past, present and future.

The Torah is Judaism's most precious possession. It is the record of G-d's involvement with His creatures and His covenant with Jewry's patriarchs Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. The Torah tells of the bondage in Egypt and the redemption therefrom. It records the wandering in Sinai and the giving of the Ten Commandments.

But the Torah is more than a record. It is also Judaism's constitution. It contains the 613 commandments that prescribe Jewish lives degrading the nature of the relationship that Jews are to have to G-d, to each other and to their fellow human beings. For Jews the Torah's lessons are eternal and apply at all times.

Writing a Torah is a very difficult and expensive process. It is the task of the Sofer or Scribe to insure the correctness of each word written in the Torah. There are few Soferim who spend their time writing entire Torahs and those who take up the task are dedicated men. They have learned the difficult craft of painstakingly copying the Torah by hand and devote themselves to it with will and patience expending an unbelievable number of hours in the production of but one Torah.

Since few have the ability to write a Torah Scroll, and few can make an outright purchase the members of the Lincolnwood Jewish Congregation in joint effort are becoming participants in this holy task. Mr. and Mrs. Maury Kaufman have provided the seed money for this project.

Troubled teens need your support

Temporary emergency foster homes for teens are needed in north and northwest Chicago communities and near western suburbs. Lutheran Social Services of Illinois (LSSI), under contract with the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, works with troubled teens through the Illinois Status Offenders Service (ISOS).

"When children run away from home, it's usually their way of saying that something has to change in what they consider an intolerable situation within the family," says Susan Marino, director of ISOS at LSSI. "Or sometimes it's the parents who feel they have lost control."

LSSI counselors are on call 24 hours a day. When they receive a call about a troubled teen, they meet the youths and their parents at the police station. After initial counseling, sometimes the children return home.

At other times, the counselor needs to place the child in a temporary foster home until the family is stabilized. While the child is in foster care, the counselor is always available for that family and for the foster family.

Emergency foster care lasts from one day to three weeks, and is reimbursable at the rate of $13.17 a day. Medical expenses are covered either by the child's natural parents or by the state. An adult needs to be in the home at all times during the day during the child's stay.

For further information, leave your name and telephone number for Susan Marino at 282-7800.

Lutheran General church nurse program

Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, is sponsoring a unique program with the First United Methodist Church, Park Ridge, which allows a health-care professional from Lutheran General to closely work with the congregation in promoting preventive medicine.

The Church Nurse Program, developed by Lutheran General Hospital, reminds people that the church is interested in the whole person—mind, body, and spirit. Lutheran General's philosophy of Human Ecology, "the understanding and care of the whole human being in light of their relationship to God, themselves, and the society in which they live," is compatible with the purpose of this program.

Selected as First United's church nurse, Laura Reichert, Des Plaines, is responsible for personal health counseling. PEANUTS A SOUTHERN TRADITION

From country kitchens in the heart of the South come foods that are the trademarks of Southern hospitality. The rich soil and warm climate of the Southeastern United States that give life to a specialty in Southern cuisine, the peanut. Few other foods rank as high as the peanut in a wide range of nutritive qualities necessary to maintain health—food energy, protein, fats, phosphorus, niacin and thiamine.

Pollo Alle Nocciolo is Italian for Chicken with Peanuts. The lightly fried chicken breast gets an extra boost of flavor and texture from a saute of roasted peanuts.

Law regarding funeral processions

by Sec. of State Jim Edgar Traditionally, other motorists yield the right-of-way to a funeral procession. However, there is also a law requiring motorists to yield.

Illinois law gives funeral processions the right to travel through intersections without stopping as long as due caution is exercised after the lead vehicle has complied with any traffic control devices.

Be alert when a funeral procession is approaching, as the lead vehicle may not always stop at a stop sign or traffic light. If the procession starts to cross in front of you, stop and wait until all vehicles have cleared the intersection before proceeding. If the lead vehicle is coming toward you, do not turn in front of it or cross the path of the procession.

Vehicles in a funeral procession are identified by a funeral pennant, flag or windshield sticker on each vehicle. They also must have their headlights on.

If you are following a funeral procession, you can pass the vehicles if you do not interfere with the procession.

Vehicles not in a funeral procession are not allowed to join

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Only enough, although no Notre Dame player has won the Heisman Trophy as college football's best player since 1954. Steve Dennis still has more Heisman votes than any other school. . . . Notre Dame has had 6 Heisman winners. Quarterback Angelo Bertoni in 1953. . . . Quarterback Johnny Luptak in 1957. . . . End Leon Hart in 1958. . . . Halfback Johnny Lattner in 1963. . . . Quarterback Paul Hornung in 1956. . . . And Quarterback John Harris in 1954.

Can you imagine a big league baseball team making 24 errors in one game. . . . It happened in the National League's first season when the Braves made 24 errors in a 9-inning game that ended in a tie with the Cubs.

One of the most incredible games any better ever had in professional baseball was by Jay Clarke. . . . Playing for Corsicana in the Texas League in 1902, Clarke accidentally hit 8 home runs in ONE GAME. . . . No other player in pro ball has ever come close to that feat. . . . Oddly enough, when Clarke got to the majors, he hit only 6 homers in 9 YEARS!

Resurrection Health Care Corporation, Chicago, has acquired an Immediate Care Center at 9201 Waukegan rd., Morton Grove.

The facility previously known as Doctors-Plus will now be named Resurrection Immediate Care Center. It becomes the third such satellite facility affiliated with Resurrection Hospital.

Sister Bonaventure, C.R., president of the corporation and the hospital's chief executive, stated that several other centers similar to this newly acquired center are expected to be developed in the metropolitan area of Chicago.

"This excellently staffed and equipped facility in Morton Grove will continue to offer quality care at a reasonable cost. Its location at Church st. and Waukegan rd. provides convenient access to the center for residents in the nearby communities of Niles, Glenview, Northfield, Northbrook and east Park Ridge," Sister Bonaventure said.

In addition to making it easy for community residents to see a physician without an appointment, Resurrection Immediate Care centers are serving an increasing number of area business and industry for pre-employment physicals and on-the-job injuries.

The center is open Monday through Saturday from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. and on Sundays from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Free blood pressure tests will continue to be given for those who drop in.

Centel Speakers' Bureau programs

Lively audio-visual programs covering a range of timely topics are offered by Centel's Speakers' Bureau as a public service to keep community groups aware of the changes in telecommunications.

Centel's Local Network: the Gateway to Service Innovation explains how Centel is applying modern computer technology to the local network to improve customer service. The program focuses on how Centel is enhancing the local network with two versatile technologies - digital switching and fiber optics, a transmission system relaying information in the form of light pulses over hair-thin glass strands.

'Plugging Into Today's Technology' discusses the new cellular mobile telephones now available to put telephoning convenience at the driver's fingertips.

A newly developed Speakers' Bureau program describes ways to save on telephone bills and the new services available from Centel along with facts on deregulation.

Designed to meet any group's agenda, the informative talks are presented by Centel managers who are constantly updated on the rapidly developing trends and technologies of the telecommunications industry.

For more information about available speakers and details on the various topics offered, contact Carol Snyder, Speakers' Bureau Coordinator at 391-6903.

Bill Habinyak of Bill's Original Barbershop and Else Habinyak of Else's Beauty Shop, 9208-9208 1/2 Waukegan rd., Morton Grove, are celebrating 30 years in business.

They opened their first businesses in 1955 at 9212

Bell offers new service

Illinois Bell is now offering a new service to help customers avoid repair visit charges of about $30 or more.

Called Line-Backer, the service is being offered because most of the repair visits Illinois Bell customers request are for trouble in the telephone set, a problem the company is legally forbidden to repair.

When customers have problems with their telephone service, they typically call Illinois Bell. The company then tests the line from its office to try to see if the problem is in the telephone set or the telephone line. If the problem can't be determined, customers then often ask Illinois Bell to come out and investigate the trouble.

Because Illinois Bell has been prohibited by law from maintaining telephone since the breakup of the Bell system, Illinois Bell's technicians cannot repair the telephone set. However, the company still must assess a charge for the time the technician takes to establish the cause of the trouble.

Customers now can pay a monthly charge of $2 for the new Line-Backer service to avoid the repair visit charge and help resolve the problem, said Larry Renfro, Illinois Bell's product manager for Line-Backer service.

Customers can also get an additional feature of the service, called Line-Backer Plus. For $1 more a month, customers can borrow a phone while they are having their phones fixed or buying new ones. The company has contracted with an outside firm to lend telephone sets to customers.

LGH opens new Radiology Center

The Division of Radiology at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, recently opened a new Ultrasound and Mammography Center. Utilizing the most advanced imaging equipment available in ultrasound and mammography, the center is designed to assist health-care professionals with quick and precise diagnoses of disease conditions and fetal well-being, and to help with mammography preventive health screening.

"The procedures we can now perform with the center's new equipment reduce risks to the patient because they are quick, non-invasive, and can be performed on an inpatient or outpatient basis," explains Sam Mulopoulos, M.D., chairman, Division of Radiology.

The center maintains the only Acuson-128 Computed Sonography System in the north-west suburban area. The system is a recent technological refinement of ultrasound, a process whereby an image is created on a television screen by sending high-frequency sound waves into the body to map internal body structures such as sonar maps the ocean floor. The Acuson-128 provides images two to four times clearer than previously was available, thus assisting radiologists in making more accurate diagnoses. Approximately 10,000 ultrasounds are performed each year at the hospital.

The center also has acquired new state-of-the-art mammography equipment. The new technology utilizes a low-dose, high-speed film method to improve imaging and reduce patient's x-ray exposures. Mammography is x-ray imaging that can detect cancer in the breast at an early stage even before it can be felt. The hospital performs some 3,000 mammographies each year.

For more information about the Center call 696-5030.

Child abduction, a growing national and local concern, will be the topic presented Saturday, Sept. 7, 1:30 p.m., at the Morton Grove Library in the upstairs meeting room.

The program is being presented by the Morton Grove-Niles League of Women Voters, the Morton Grove Crime Prevention Department of the Morton Grove Police Department, and the Community Service Office of the Niles Police Department.

Sgt. John Katsoulas, Community Service Officer, Niles Police Department, and Officer Borucki, Morton Grove Crime Prevention Department, will present important tips on how to help prevent the abduction of our children from areas and neighborhoods which have formerly been thought of as "safe." Katsoulas and Borucki have been collaborating on the I-SEARCH Program of Morton Grove-Niles. The program is free and open to the public. For further information, contact Officer Borucki, 966-7800.

The kindergarten program, bus schedules, class schedules, and pupil insurance, available if desired, will be explained in detail. Bring all pre-registration materials, a birth certificate, and $12 for book and workbook fees. Completed health forms are also to be brought in at this time.

Parents new to the district or parents who have not registered their child for kindergarten are urged to do so any day Monday through Friday between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. This will help us in planning bus schedules and having proper furniture, equipment, and supplies

Goldberg promoted at JCC

Jean Goldberg has been named director of the Early Childhood Center at B'nai Jehoshua Beth Elohim (BJBE), 901 N. Milwaukee ave., Glenview, according to an announcement by Jill Randell, executive director of the North Suburban Jewish Community Center (JCC). She previously served as BJBE nursery school supervisor.

Goldberg said her plans include efforts to revitalize the Early Childhood Center with an expanded program and approach to learning, as well as a substantial investment in new equipment and toys.

The new director said that the BJBE program is designed not only with the child in mind, but with the child's input. Of utmost concern is the intrinsic learning environment.

The center is physically designed to encourage the child to touch and explore because, "preschoolers need a relaxed, accepting and challenging play environment in order to integrate their life experience. Kindergarten readiness happens when children learn and plan at their own pace with sensitive professionals guiding their cognitive, emotional, social and physical growth," the director explained.

In addition to her 12 years of experience as the BJBE's nursery school supervisor, Goldberg is a leading early childhood educator and has a bachelor of science degree in elementary education, early childhood certification and a master's of science degree in adult education, specializing in in-service training. Registration for the North Suburban JCC Early Childhood program at BJBE is now in progress. For a fall catalogue or further information, call the North Suburban JCC, 433-6424.

Wisdom Bridge stages Irish drama

As the first production of its 1985-86 subscription season, Wisdom Bridge Theatre presents the Chicago premiere of Ron Hutchinson's gripping Irish drama, "Rat in the Skull," opening Thursday, Sept. 12 for a seven-week run through October 27 at Wisdom Bridge Theatre, 1559 W. Howard St., Chicago.

Set amidst the continuing strife of Northern Ireland, "Rat in the Skull" is the riveting story of a young IRA militant arrested in London and the Protestant policeman from Ulster brought in to interrogate him. The soul-searching exploration of these two blood brothers underscores the tragic futility of the fighting between Belfast Protestants and Catholics and the seemingly unbreachable gulf between the Irish and the British.

Recently produced by London's Royal Court Theatre and presented by Joseph Papp at the Public Theatre in New York, the play garnered widespread attention and critical acclaim for its taut and powerful writing and its honest and graphic depiction of the Irish "troubles."

Karl Sullivan is the resident stage manager at Wisdom Bridge Theatre.

Previews for "Rat in the Skull" are Wednesday, Sept. 4 through Wednesday, Sept. 11. All preview tickets are $12.

Regular performance times are Wednesdays through Fridays at 8 p.m., Saturdays at 5 p.m. and 8:30 p.m., and Sundays at 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Ticket prices are $15 on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Sundays; $17 on Fridays and Saturdays.

Subscriptions and single tickets may be purchased at the Wisdom Bridge box office, 1559 W. Howard St., Chicago, or by phoning 743-6442. Group discounts are also available. Visa, MasterCard and American Express are welcome.

For ticket information, or further information, call 743-6442.

Arlington ticket information for "Miracle Million" Day

Joseph F. Joyce, President and Chief Executive Officer, of Arlington Park Racetrack today announced information for ticket exchange and sales procedures for Budweiser-Arlington Million Day - the "Miracle Million" - to be run on August 25 at Arlington Park.

Post Time for the eight-race program will be 1:30 p.m., and gates will open at 10 a.m. The $100,000 added Newmarket Stakes will be run as the fifth race at a distance of one mile and one-sixteenth on the inner turf course with post time at 3:45 p.m. The Million, a guaranteed purse of $1 million, will be contested at one mile and one-quarter on the main turf course with a 4:35 p.m. post time and will be the sixth race on the card.

Joyce emphasized that all tickets previously sold must be exchanged for new seats because of the restructuring of all areas as a result of the July 31 fire that destroyed the Post And Paddock and the entire Grandstand areas of the racetrack.

For the purposes of exchange as well as sales, booths will be in operation beginning this Thursday, Aug. 15 at two locations, LaSalle National Bank and the Arlington Park Hilton, and starting Friday at a third location, Hawthorne Race Course.

The LaSalle National Bank Booth, teller numbers 27 and 28, at 135 S. LaSalle St., will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday during normal banking hours. Call 263-4398 for LaSalle National Bank location and sale of Million tickets can be made at Hawthorne Race Course, 3501 S. Laramie, from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the admissions office and the box seat ticket office on the Terrace level daily except Thursdays. Call 652-9400 for Hawthorne location ticket information.

Similar exchanges and refunds also can be made at the Arlington Park Hilton lobby, Euclid and Rohlwing rds. in Arlington Heights, between 9 a.m. and 10 p.m. daily. Call 255-1960 for Arlington Park Hilton location information. Out of state ticket holders should call 255-1960 for ticket exchange and sales information.

Joyce said that any claim for refunds must be presented no later than the close of business at each location on Monday, Aug. 19. Exchanges can be made until the close of business at each location on Friday, Aug. 23.

In making his announcement, Joyce indicated all Classic Club and Clubhouse reserved seats have been sold. He said a limited number of box seats are available and seats are also available in the upper and lower Grandstand reserved areas along with general admission standing room apron and general admission infield area, which will be open on Million Day to accommodate fans.

Ticket prices are: $40 for box seats, $17 lower grandstand, $10 upper grandstand, $5 apron general admission and $3 infield general admission.

Joyce said the Classic Club has a limited number of dining seats for those who already have tickets. Persons who don't get dining facilities can exchange their Classic Club seats for box seats with a partial refund or return the tickets for a full refund.

Dudycz bill requires auto liability insurance

Senator Walter W. Dudycz, R-Chicago, has been added as a sponsor to a bill which would require Illinois motorists to carry auto liability insurance.

House Bill 800, which passed out of that chamber Wednesday, has arrived in the Senate and will be assigned to committee for further study, Sen. Dudycz said.

If enacted, motorists would have to carry liability insurance for personal injury, death, and property damage as of July 1, 1986. Further legislative action would be required for the law to remain in effect after July 1, 1990.

"This legislation would protect responsible motorists from uninsured drivers," Senator Dudycz said. "Illinois lags behind more than half the other states who have some form of a mandatory auto insurance law."

"Driving is a privilege, not a right," the 7th District Senator said. "If individuals are responsible enough to own an automobile, they should be responsible enough to maintain auto insurance."

Motorists would have to submit the name of their insurance company to the Secretary of State's office when registering their vehicles and would be required to have "proof-of-insurance" cards with them while driving, Sen. Dudycz explained.

Random checks could be conducted by the Secretary of State's office to verify motorists' claims of coverage. Drivers stopped by police would also have to show proof of insurance, if asked.

Pet owners warned on violations

With the vacation season drawing to a close, the Animal Welfare League is asking all pet owners at resorts, summer homes and lake cottages not to leave their pets behind when they return to their city homes. Many vacationers have befriended dogs and cats that have wandered to their doors and have kept them as summer pets for the children. If these animals are left behind they will soon starve or suffer untold hardships until they die. It is not fair to wish these unwanted pets onto farmers as most of them already have all the dogs and cats they can properly care for. Abandoning any animal is a violation of the Illinois humane laws and is punishable by a fine up to $500.

Any unwanted or lost dogs, cats or other pets can be brought to either of the League's shelters, located at 6224 S. Wabash in Chicago, and 10101 S. Ridgeland ave., in Chicago Ridge, where they will be cared for in a humane manner. Animals are received any time of the day or night.

Animal Welfare League vehicles make pickups in Chicago and nearby communities. Call 667-0088 for information regarding pickup. Those living outside of the area served by the League should contact the local police, sheriff's department, or the animal control officer of their county for advice on facilities available for the care of unwanted and lost animals.

Penalties for non-compliance would be a three-month suspension of their driver's licenses and a $250 fine for first-time offenders. Subsequent offenses within five years' time would carry a penalty of a six-month license suspension and a minimum fine of $500.

Vehicles exempt from the law would be those regulated by the Illinois Commerce Commission, covered by a certificate of self-insurance; owned by the United States, State of Illinois or any political subdivision, municipality or local mass transit district; and farm implements.

The legislation was introduced in the House by Representative William Laurino, D-Chicago. Other Senate sponsors are Prescott E. Bloom, R-Peoria; Greg Zito, D-Melrose Park; and William Marovitz, D-Chicago.

Swedish Covenant in Interferon study

The Urologic Oncology Service at Swedish Covenant Hospital in Chicago, under the direction of Claude E. Merrin, M.D. will participate in a multi-center study using interferon for the treatment of advanced cancer of the kidney.

The drug will be given free of charge as part of a national investigation program.

Interferon are a family of proteins naturally produced in response to viral and non-viral stimulation. Interferon can inhibit the growth of both normal and tumor cells and modify the immune response in a beneficial way.

Anti-tumor activity of interferon has been demonstrated in lymphomas, melanoma, breast carcinoma, some leukemia, multiple myelomas, osteogenic sarcoma and cancer of the kidney.

Patients who want to participate in the study should call Dr. Merrin at 989-3803. This study is open to any patient who has advanced cancer of the kidney.

der for aluminum plates, scheduled for the 15th arrived 10 days late, requiring us to scurry elsewhere to fill the order. We decry these faults, contending the country is falling apart.

But then our faith is renewed. At O'Hare airport we had 45 minutes to catch our plane. After dropping off the baggage we drove back to remote parking and expected it would be a challenge to get back through the traffic in time to board our plane. But American efficiency was at its best. Five minutes after leaving our baggage, we parked, boarded a parking lot bus, and the driver wended her way through traffic, getting us to American Airlines 30 minutes before take-off time. The driver was a modicum of efficiency. And she was incredibly polite. Our faith in America was renewed.

At the Ramada Inn in Atlanta it was standard motel fare. It was clean and pleasant and agreeable. But the shower burst forth intermittent cold and hot flashes which made each day's washing down an adventure. Recovering from the shock waves of hot and cold we settled down to a sumptuous southern breakfast. The grits were a treat but the bacon, sausage and patties tasted like they were cooked in cod liver oil. The waitress apologized, said the cook was new, and "was not a very cook".

Staying at the hotel was a group of people attending a convention. They were motorcyclists who had cycled from Carolina and Virginia and Chicago. They were as mean and as intimidating-looking group of people as you might see on the late, late night B movie. Some of the guys were huge. Their biceps were as large as my thighs. Yet, despite what I've heard, they were polite, soft-spoken and caused no problems during the three days we were there. Many of them had their families with them.

The cyclists were another part of the American scene. They got away for the weekend, parked Saturday night, and several of them told us they would be driving back to Chicago on Sunday, arriving home 11 or 12 hours later. One of the women told us it was a mean bit of sitting wedged in the back seat of the motorcycle for 11 hours.

As we noted, America is just a different kind of country. We seem to do a lot of screwing up. But underneath the surface there is still great energy. We're building and we're moving about and we are a dynamic society. Underneath the American body is an energizing spirit which is moving this country. It has the same vitality which developed this country. It may be changing its face. And we might not always like it. But there is movement and there is a drive which sets this country apart from most of the world.

about an odor they say comes from the firm Wells explained a process is used called shell molding that produces a rather distinctive odor. Shell molding is basically an improved version of sand casting, a technique metalworkers have used for centuries, he said. Fine sand mixed with a resin is packed around a pattern that is to be duplicated in cast metal. Then everything is subjected to heat so that the resin melts and bonds the grains of sand together.

"The sand thus retains the desired shape, and we can pour molten metal into it to create a casting."

"Each mold can be used only once, so we make many of them. The heat used in making them, as well as the heat from the molten metal poured into them, releases the characteristic odor of the resin."

An article appeared recently in one of the area newspapers, with an Environmental Protection Agency spokesperson saying that the resin used in phenol formaldehyde. It raises a question whether formaldehyde was toxic.

Wells explained that in very large amounts, it could be. "The resin we use, however, contains no free formaldehyde. Now, when any organic material burns, a tiny amount of formaldehyde forms and escapes into the air. This is true of lighted cigarettes, gasoline burning in cars and the steak on your outdoor grill, as well as our resin. Formaldehyde is also a common component of furniture and building materials.

People are exposed to more formaldehyde from their everyday activities than they are to the infinitesimal amount that may be released from our shell molding operations."

In answer to concerns whether there is anything dangerous in the gases released from Wells'

Skokie plant into the air, Wells said: "Not as far as we, our suppliers, research chemists and the E.P.A. have been able to determine."

Although workers who make the shell molds are constantly exposed to whatever causes the odor, Wells said their health record is good. "We have used shell molding since 1953, and no unusual patterns of illness have developed among the people who have worked with it."

"The firm has taken measures to eliminate noxious by-products and keep them out of the air. "We have been concerned about air pollution long before the existence of an Environmental Protection Agency. (The Environmental Protection Act was passed December 2, 1970.) Whenever a technology appears that could help us reduce emissions, we employed it."

He admitted the company had been taken to court over environmental pollution. The Illinois Attorney General filed suit in 1972, "just one month before we had finished installing our new melting equipment," he said.

The case was argued up to the Illinois Supreme Court. The Supreme Court held that Wells was in compliance with all applicable E.P.A. rules and regulations. Wells has always received the necessary permits from the Illinois E.P.A. and the Cook County Department of Environmental Control. Both of these agencies inspect our plant regularly. "If we were out of compliance in any respect, I am sure that these agencies would let us know immediately."

Wells said "if it were possible," the firm would filter out odors. He explained the company has investigated several techniques claimed to filter out most odors, but so far "there is no evidence that any technology currently available is very effective. We are continuing the search for a method that will work."

Well said that the manufacturing company benefits the surrounding communities. "We provide 575 jobs in this plant. Then, our employees bring their business to Skokie and Morton Grove retail businesses. And, of course, we contribute a large amount to Skokie in the form of real estate taxes paid to the village."

"On a larger scale, we are the sole supplier of certain critical parts used in the American automobile industry and a major supplier of other parts. We make cutting rings for kitchen garbage disposals, parts for air conditioners, furrow tips for plows, among other things. Consumers everywhere use Wells' products daily, although they are probably not aware of it."

payroll - $39,403 - to cover participating employees for 1986. Employees would contribute 4.5 percent of their total earnings. Contribution rates for future years would be actuarially computed and could vary from year to year.

which won second place at a Conference meet in Elk Grove Village. The trophy will go on exhibit at the Recreation Center, according to Commissioner Elaine Heinen.

Heinen said that winning second place was a great honor. "We feel there are potential junior Olympic swimmers among you. You worked hard under the direction of Maine East High School coaches, and have achieved success," Heinen said. "Credit should also go to your parents, who gave you a lot of support."

In a board report, Hughes said the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers completed cleaning a portion of the north branch of the Chicago River where it cuts through Tam Golf Course. He added that bids are being let out for dredging and building up of the river banks adjacent to the golf course. "The work is expected to begin by Nov. 1," he said.

Work crews have begun enclosure of the atrium at Grennan Heights, according to Commissioner Mary Marusek.

R.J. Haeck Builders was the low bidder for the atrium enclosure project, which will include construction of a roof, redesigning of space and replacing the glass in the atrium with wood paneling. The original atrium was built in 1969, according to Marusek.

Marusek also reported that residents near Courtland Park and the Golf Mill Homeowners Assn. did their annual clean-up chores at the park. "They take pride in the park and keep it clean. The park district rewarded them with a trip to Great America," she said.

In other board reports, Heinen said a study will be made for a baby sitting service. "Young mothers have requested the service when they participate in park district programs or have some kind of appointment where they will be gone for one or two hours."

She said a survey flyer would be given to mothers who participate in exercise programs. The cost would be the program fee plus the baby sitting service at nominal cost, she said.

Heinen said a similar service... "Stay and Play" program will start in September, which will be conducted from 9 a.m. to noon on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Children must be two to five years of age and "potty-trained," she said. The charge is $2 an hour or $3 for five hours. "The children can be dropped off at the Recreation Center, and at teacher will conduct a reading class, play activities and entertainment."

Commissioner Jim Pierski reported that revenue increased at Tam golf course. "We don't have the figures at this point, but as of July 1 100 more rounds of golf were played over last year." As of July 31, 1984, 28,176 rounds were played. Kosiba attributed part of the increase to lowering the rental of golf carts to seniors.

and participate in the decision."

Immediately following the special Town Meeting, the township board will hold its regularly scheduled meeting. On the agenda will be consideration and adoption of the township tax levy for 1985-86. Last year's levy for all three township funds totaled $1,598,000. Halverson said this year's proposed levy will call for less than a 5 percent increase.

reviews the responses of those seeking caucus support, and interviews those who wish to be recommended or endorsed by the caucus. The committee reports to the delegates, which hears a five-minute presentation from each person and a ten-minute question and answer period.

This year there are four seats up for election in District 63. The committee found five potential candidates and recommended three. They are James Friedlieb, Joan Futterman, and Norman Pados, all incumbents.

The Caucus does not "endorse" candidates for the District 63 board, but rather "recommends" those candidates which it finds qualified for election to the school board. Thus, as happens this year, the number of candidates "recommended" can be less than the number of seats available.

For the District 207 board, the Caucus endorsed incumbent Board President Howard Blassman.

Under a gentlemen's agreement with caucuses from District 62 and District 64, the District 63 caucus also supports the candidates for District 207 seats who were endorsed by those caucuses. Each caucus endorses candidates for two of the seven seats on the District 207 Board. The seventh "swing" seat belongs to District 64. In addition, Board member John Baudek, from District 64, resigned earlier this year and his seat (for the balance of his term) is to be filled at the general election in November. Hence, District 64 Caucus has endorsed three candidates for the District 207 Board. They are Charlotte Storer (incumbent), from District 62, and Bob Cornelison (incumbent), Betty Blowers, and Fred Flener, from District 64.

Officers of Caucus this year were Benjamin H. Cohen, Niles, chairperson and Michael Tatz, Glenview, vice chairperson.

District 63 Caucus also elected its officers for the 1987 Caucus. They are Phyllis Burg, Niles, chairperson, Alice Scifo, Des Plaines, vice chairperson and Benjamin H. Cohen, Niles, secretary.

Hughes added that since 1975, the park district has almost doubled in size requiring more equipment and personnel. "Overcrowded conditions have posed a big problem," he said. Hughes noted park officials prefer the Tam site for the garage. Plans are to tear down the existing sheds and move some of the equipment from Grennan Heights to the golf course site.

According to commissioners, the architects' under consideration have presented a preliminary site plan and cost estimates for the new facility. —by Sylvia Dalrymple

What's the best way to pay for a college education?

Perhaps you are looking forward to going to college, going back to school, or maybe you are planning ahead for a child's education.

If you are shaking your head over the cost of a college education, here are some suggestions that may help you face the bill.

How much will it cost? If you're going to college this fall or next, you probably already have a realistic idea.

If you're planning ahead for a child's education, many economists figure that a four-year degree at a private college will average $73,000 in 10 years, and $116,000 in 18 years.

At a public university, a degree will average some $25,000 in 10 years and $40,700 in 18 years. Still a bill to shake your head over.

How can you pay the bill? Don't despair, costs like these can still be manageable.

If you start a college savings fund right away, your net worth will have time to grow in investments such as savings bonds, treasuries and high-yield certificates.

One relatively tax-free way to help a college fund grow and compound is through a custodial account under the Gift to Minors act.

Simpler than it sounds, this account lets you start small or give a child up to $10,000 a year, without paying federal gift taxes.

You save on income taxes, too, because the income from your gift is charged to the child's Social Security number, not yours.

You can easily arrange this account at a financial institution. Then, acting as custodian, you may use the money for the child's college education. When he comes of age, he may continue to use it.

What if you can't save up enough money... or if you'll very soon be going to college? Fortunately, financial aid is available.

It's not too soon to start asking about it now for next semester or next year, and putting in your application. It may be too late, however, to hope for much help for this fall.

What kind of aid can you get? You may be eligible for a guaranteed student loan from a savings institution or bank.

This is true, even if your family income is $30,000 or more.

After that, your college financial aid office is the best source of information about available loans, grants and jobs.

They can give you details on the National Direct Student Loan, the Parent Loan for Undergraduate Students, and on loans from the college itself.

State loans are also available. Or, your parents may work for a company that has a college loan program for its employees.

What about grants? Many schools offer them to attract desirable students. Scholarships also are often available from churches, unions and civic clubs.

Your financial aid counselor can help you find out more.

What about part-time jobs?

Your college student employment office, career counselors may help you find one. Employment agencies are another good source of part-time jobs. Or, you may be able to arrange a paid internship through the department in which you major.

Can you cut costs and at the same time help to build a career? If you're majoring in business administration, the hard sciences, computer sciences or engineering, you might look into cooperative education programs at your school.

Co-op education goes beyond the usual work-study programs in which you work for the college in a part-time job on campus.

Instead, you become a trainee at a job in your field or take another type of responsible job off-campus for a semester. The next semester you take your regular courses.

Your earnings, less income taxes, provide financial aid that cuts down your need for a grant or loan.

You have your own individual plans and financial resources. We simply present this information so you can see some of the options that are available to you to assist in your decision-making. Norwood is near when you need us, always ready to help you take the mystery out of money.
