Hospital recalls 19 employees after 162 employee lay-off

Cutbacks in Federal $$$ affect LGH

by Sylvia Dalrymple

Lutheran General Hospital has recalled 19 employees after reducing its workforce by 162 employees last month in cost-savings measures. According to Cathy Barry, director of public relations at the hospital, the 19 employees will be placed within Lutheran General's health care system.

The layoffs affected management, service and clinical employees including nurses. All these employees are eligible for recall, either at the hospital or affiliated health care groups as vacancies occur, according to a recent statement by Roger Hunt, president of health care system. Post Election Potpourri...
The voters were sending out lots of messages last Tuesday. We wonder how many of the decision makers were paying attention.

In Niles and Morton Grove two local referenda were soundly defeated. In Niles, the library district tax increase was defeated by 1,500 votes. In Morton Grove, the guys in the trenches defeated the referendum by a 2 to 1 vote.

The message was loud and louder--"Enough". Enough tax increases. And enough foolishness from the guys and gals running the taxing bodies.

In Niles, The Bugle was running pre-election stories about the library board president billing the library district for a $300 pizza bill. He was quoted as not having time to eat lunch so he "ordered in" during evening library board meetings while he was watching over the public's welfare. This same guy handed in bills for about $600 for expenses at a downtown hotel which he used while attending a library convention last year. He handed in the bills many months after the convention.

Niles to purchase radon gas detectors

Niles officials are planning to purchase 50 radon detectors to check various neighborhoods in the village with the cooperation of the Illinois Department of Nuclear Safety (IDNS), according to Todd Bavaro, Niles housing director.

"We would follow IDNS guidelines on which neighborhoods should be tested," he said. "However, we are pretty sure the village does not have that kind of problem."

The Village recently dropped plans to buy the detectors with other villages of the Northwest Municipal Conference (NWMC) to cut costs. "We learned that buying in quantity was not feasible as far as cost savings go.

About 10,000 would have to be purchased, with membership communities needing about 4,000," Bavaro said. He added that Mayor Nicholas Continued on Page 39

Motel resident robbed by intruders

A resident of a motel in the 8900 block of Milwaukee reported Oct. 30 that he was sleeping at about 1 a.m. when he was awakened by loud knocking at the door. When he asked who it was, the reply was "Niles police."

The victim opened the door and saw two men, one holding an automatic pistol pointed at him. The offender and a companion pushed their way into the room, put handcuffs on the right wrist of the victim and escorted him to the bathroom. He then fastened the other side of the handcuff to a towel bar.

Taken was $175 in cash; a gold rope chain, a gold lion's head Continued on Page 47

Specialized group of Niles police in training

Members of the Special Operations Group (SOG) of the Niles Police Department will go on their first field exercise sometime in November, according to Lt. Marty Stankowicz, who heads the special tactical unit formed late last year.
 Stankowicz emphasized the group is not a SWAT team (Special Weapons and Tactics Team) seen on a former television series. "We're not into heavy weapons. SOG members use rifles and are trained to anticipate crisis situations in the event they should occur. The intent is not to shoot up buildings, but to save lives," he said.
 Stankowicz declined to give the date of the field exercise, except that an old building would be used (in Niles) for the tactical maneuvers. "We will write a scenario on a hypothetical robbery taking place, or a hostage situation using portable radios for communication," he said.

Niles Fire Dept. calls
 The Niles Fire Department answered 32 fire alarms and 30 ambulance calls in November ending Nov. 8.
 On Saturday, Nov. 1 at 1:30 a.m., Niles and Chicago firemen responded to an outside storage fire at Vollmar Clay Products, 5835 Touhy in Chicago. The fire was contained to a pile of construction equipment. There was no damage estimate.
 At 4 p.m. on Nov. 5, firemen responded to a report of paint cans burning at Tam Golf course. The small fire was quickly extinguished.
 A smell of smoke was reported at 4:30 p.m. on Nov. 4 at Golf Mill Dinette, 9505 Milwaukee. The cause was traced to an overheated furnace which subsequently shut down. Firemen used a ladder to the roof to check for heat extension from the furnace on the main floor, but found nothing. Occupant will call for repairs to the furnace.
 Firefighters responded to a fire alarm at 9501 Hamlin at 3:30 p.m. on Nov. 4. A small pile of wood was burning in an open field near Mark Twain School and was extinguished by a hand pump.

There's an old proverb that says "Good things come to those who wait." And even though the heavy early autumn rains that drenched northern Illinois caused some unexpected construction crew delays, good things are in store for Golf Mill's rescheduled kick-off opening, Wednesday, Nov. 19.
 In fact, the delayed opening will be an even more exciting event. New York-style fashion shows and Santa Claus arriving with the help of Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck have been added to the already impressive schedule of events.
 The debut ceremony on Wednesday, Nov. 19, will herald the rebirth of the completely enclosed, expanded and renovated center. National and local celebrities and dignitaries will be on stage at 9:30 a.m. for the center court ceremony which will feature a group of heraldic trumpets and over $5,000 in prizes to be awarded to attending shoppers. The anticipated capacity crowd of eager shoppers will participate in the ceremony with hundreds of party horns and lots of balloons.
 Wednesday celebrity appearances feature stars from the popular ABC-TV daytime drama, "General Hospital." The actors who portray Dr. Patrick O'Connor and Terri O'Connor will attend the debut ceremony at 9:30 a.m. and will be meeting shoppers and answering their questions at 1 p.m.

The excitement continues on Thursday, Nov. 20, when Gary Fencik and Dennis McKinnon of the defending World Champion Chicago Bears will meet fans and sign autographs from 6-8 p.m.
 Then on Friday, Nov. 21, Disney comes to Golf Mill as Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck delight shoppers young and old with a 2 p.m. appearance. And to create a really special memory for children, these two popular Disney characters will be back at 7 p.m. to help Santa arrive at Golf Mill for the holiday season.
 One of the most popular theatrical modeling troupes in the country, The Big Apple Menagerie from New York City, will stage flashy fashion shows in The Mill Garden, Golf Mill's new food court, from Friday through Sunday, Nov. 21-23. The shows are co-sponsored by JCPenney Styling Salons and Helene Curtis and will feature merchandise from Golf Mill stores.
 Throughout this five day gala event shoppers will find clowns and mimes strolling the mall, delighting shoppers with their antics. Beautiful new Christmas decorations will add to the festive spirit. Live entertainment will be featured in The Mill Garden and shoppers will receive an attractive canvas tote bag at any mall welcome station by presenting receipts from Golf Mill stores totaling $30 or more. # St. Johns begins flood damage restoration

The massive rains that fell upon Northwestern Suburbs recently caused the Des Plaines River to rise several feet, thus flooding the various low levels surrounding it. The damage was extensive as hundreds of homes, as well as commercial and industrial buildings were flooded.

St. John the Baptist Greek Orthodox Church located near the Des Plaines River at Dempster and the Tri-State Tollway, was also totally flooded, as shown in the aerial photograph.

The water level in the main church came to within inches of the altar, and ruined most of the carpeted floor, pews and kneelers. In the attached cultural complex, housing the gymnasium, chapels, kitchen, facilities and general offices, the level rose to about three feet.

Preliminary estimates of the extent of the damages to the entire complex is at about $150,000, according to Mr. Gus Poulos, Parish Council President. This is a conservative figure which includes the cleaning, sanitizing and necessary restoration costs.

Arrangements were immediately made to resume the parish activities. Church services were held at the Franklin Elementary School auditorium in Park Ridge. The Pythagoras Greek School, with over 100 students, conducted regularly scheduled Tuesday and Thursday afternoon classes at Maine East High School.

Arrangements were also made with nearby sister Greek Orthodox parishes, Sts. Peter and Paul, St. Nectarios and St. Haralambos, to perform scheduled sacraments, such as weddings and baptisms. The administrative offices were temporarily relocated to an office complex in the area and became operational within a few days. The phone number of the temporary office is 699-4125.

His Grace, Bishop Iakovos of the Greek Orthodox Diocese of Chicago, visited the St. John site to personally observe the damage and to offer his assistance.

A Restoration Committee headed by Mr. Nick Anton has been organized to oversee the massive job of cleaning and to manage all the restoration requirements, as well as to investigate ways to prevent or minimize any future flood damage of this magnitude.

A Financial Restoration Committee, headed by Mr. Louis Elliott and Mr. Tasos Costianis, has also been appointed to raise the necessary funds for cleaning and restoration. In addition, this committee will also raise funds to assist flood victims in the parish.

With the above arrangements, the St. John parish is well on its way to recovery from the devastating damages of the flood. Rev. Emmanuel M. Lionakis, Rev. Dean Hondalakis, and Mr. Gus Poulos wish to extend the gratitude of the entire parish to all of the friends and supporters of their concern, their prayers and their help during this very trying and difficult period.

Deadline for Circuit Breaker rebates

Sen. Bob Kustra (R-28) is cautioning senior citizens and disabled persons that if they wish to receive their Circuit Breaker rebates for property taxes before year's end, they must file their applications by Nov. 15.

Kustra said those who apply later (up to Dec. 31) can still receive the rebates on 1985 property taxes paid this year, but their checks will be delayed until mid-spring. "This is a good time for possible qualifiers to check their financial situation to see if they may be eligible for Circuit Breaker assistance," Kustra said. "The help is available to those with household incomes of less than $14,000, if they are 65 or older or at least 16 and permanently disabled."

Tax rebates may be for as much as $700, and many applicants also can qualify for annual $80 additional grants. If they need heart, diabetes or arthritis medicines they can obtain them free of charge by electing Pharmaceutical Assistance instead of the $80 additional grants.

Applications are available at most senior citizens centers, from any Illinois Department of Revenue office, the Department on Aging and the Lt. Governor's Senior Action Centers. They can also be obtained by calling the Department of Revenue at 1-800-732-8860, the Senior Action Center, 1-800-252-6565, or the Disabled Individuals Assistance Line (DIAL) 1-800-233-3425.

HERE'S TO YOU

This is the time of year we reflect on the things we are thankful for, on people who have made a difference to us. Every day people come into the store and give us the chance to share in one of the important moments in their lives. Thank you for choosing us to be your family jeweler.

In 1934, a group of jewelers recognized the need to form a professional organization dedicated to protecting the jewelry consumer. That group named itself the American Gem Society, and I'm proud to say that our store has been right in there with your best interests in mind. Because our relationship with you matters, I continue to join forces with other jewelers in AGS to give you as much information as I can, to keep my store up-to-date to meet your needs, and to keep my staff well-trained to help you with your jewelry selection.

You, though, are the reason that we continue to be the successful store we are. Because you value the kind of service we provide, because you keep coming back, because you give us the chance to help you decide on just the right jewelry selection, we keep on. We take pride in the quality of our customers. So, here's to you.

Flood-damaged properties can receive lower assessments

Cook County Assessor Thomas C. Hynes said Cook County properties which have been severely damaged by the recent floods may qualify for reduced property assessments.

"We sympathize with the people of Cook County who have suffered heavy damage to their homes and businesses," said Hynes. "We are ready to assist them now at our offices. In addition, we are arranging special information and service sessions in those areas hit by the floods."

Hynes said the locations will be announced in the near future. Properties are eligible for assessment reductions if the damage was substantial enough to affect the market value of the property. The type of damage that would affect the overall value would include, for example, structural damage to the walls, the flooring in the living area, or central heating and air conditioning units.

Assessment relief is not available for damage to personal property such as carpeting or furniture (these items are not taxed in Illinois) or for normal weather damage such as basement seepage, roof leaks, or loss of gutters.

Information and complaint forms and guidelines are available by calling Hynes' Taxpayer Assistance Department at 443-7550 or at any of his offices: in downtown Chicago at 116 N. Clark (Room 301); in Skokie at 5600 Old Orchard rd. (Room 149); in Maywood at 1500 Maybrook Square (Room 204); or in Markham at 16501 S. Kedzie (Room 237).

Drive safely in fog

Rapidly changing temperatures in Illinois this time of year can cause heavy fog, reducing visibility and creating hazardous driving conditions.

It is always best to avoid driving in fog if possible. If you must drive, the following safety precautions may help you avoid an accident.

Always dim your headlights when driving in fog. Low beams direct light onto the road ahead and help you see more clearly. Light from high beams hits the fog and is reflected off it. Never drive with parking lights only.

Sharply reduce your driving speed. Reduce speed even more if you see headlights or taillights. Headlights may be on a vehicle coming down the center of the road. Taillights can indicate a stopped vehicle or one that is barely moving.

Be prepared to stop if conditions worsen. If the fog becomes too dense and you can hardly see, pull off the road cautiously and stop. Do not creep along on a highway at 5 or 10 miles per hour.

Driving safely in fog is difficult at best. Remember to dim your headlights, reduce your speed and be prepared for any emergency.

I Bet You Didn't Know

By Jim Jennings

Ever wonder why football teams each have 11 players on the field instead of some other number? In the early days, teams used 15 or 20 players at a time, but for a key game between Harvard and McGill University in 1874 when many new rules were being tried out, some members of McGill's team became ill and McGill was able to field only 11 players. That game was played with 11 on each side. Everyone liked the change, and 11 was adopted as the new rule for football—but had those McGill players not become sick that day, football might well be played with 15 or 20 men on a side today.

Hard to believe... As successful as Alabama has been in football over the years, Alabama has NEVER in history had a player who won the Heisman Trophy. That's hard to believe, but it's true.

What are the most points ever scored by one player in any National Football League game in history? The record was set by Ernie Nevers when he ran for 8 touchdowns and kicked 4 extra points in one game to score 40 points on Nov. 28, 1929—a record that's never been equaled by any other player in the NFL, before or since.

Interesting Facts From John Jennings

Not counting Alaska, which U.S. state is the farthest north?
Answer: Minnesota.

Hong Kong is NOT the name of a city, as many believe, it's the name of an island whose main city is Victoria.

Fish known as sea horses are unique in the world; they are carried and given birth by the male, and not the female.

The city of Buffalo, N.Y. was not named after the buffalo, but from the mispronunciation of the French word "belle fleuve", meaning "beautiful river".

Some historians feel that Daniel Drawbaugh-and not Alexander Graham Bell-should be credited with inventing the telephone. Drawbaugh lost his claim before the U.S. Supreme Court by 1 vote.

And, here's another interesting fact...

Children's Learning World Tae Kwon Do classes

Most people equate the sound of learning with the sounds of silence. But if you should happen to visit Children's Learning World School on Thursday afternoons, you will hear anything but silence. The yells of 'Yah!' and 'HiYah!' are heard down the halls of the school from 2:30 p.m. on Thursdays. These are the sounds of learning - and the subject is Tae Kwon Do.

Tae Kwon Do is a form of self-defense, the Korean equivalent of Karate. Translated from the Korean, "Tae" literally means to jump, kick or smash with the foot; "Kwon" denotes a fist, chiefly to punch or destroy with the hand or fist; "Do" means art or method.

The class is presented by Master Sang Chel Chung of Chung's Tae Kwon Do and Hap Ki Do Academy. Master Chung, a native of Seoul, South Korea, is a 7th degree black belt in Tae Kwon Do. His 25 year teaching career began in South Korea with the Marine Corps and police force. In the United States, he has taught students of all ages from six to adult. Normally, he does not teach students of five years of age, but in the Children's Learning World class he found the five year old students more receptive to learning the techniques than the average five year old.

You might ask, Tae Kwon Do in a Montessori school? How do these two programs work together? Children's Learning World School is proud of its extra-curricular activities which include swimming, ice skating, aerobics, ballet and Suzuki violin. But why Tae Kwon Do? Principal Janet Boyes explains, "We chose Tae Kwon Do because it develops character. It's based on a good ethical code. It shows the child how to protect himself which is in keeping with our overall safety program."

The most beneficial aspects of Tae Kwon Do training for children, according to Master Chung, is that it helps them develop mentally, become more disciplined, more coordinated and aids spiritual development. The benefit most important to the parents of these children is that they will learn to react automatically to life-threatening situations.

More information about these classes may be obtained by calling Children's Learning World School at 696-0370.

A landmark for area residents since 1956, Harlem Irving Plaza celebrates its 30th Anniversary this week. From an outdoor strip center with 45 stores including Lerners, Woolworths, Wm. A. Lewis, and Fannie May Candies, the Plaza has grown into an enclosed, regional center with over 110 stores. "The seminar focussed on featuring Harlem Irving Plaza's concern for its customers. ## Statewide expansion of directory express planned Businesses throughout Illinois could reduce their directory assistance bills by 20 percent or more with a 24-hour direct link to directory assistance listings proposed today (October 21) by Illinois Bell.

The service, called Directory Express, was introduced in 1985 and currently is available only to customers in the Chicago metropolitan area between 7 a.m. and 11 p.m. daily. Under Illinois Bell's plan filed today with the Illinois Commerce Commission, Directory Express will be available to all Illinois Bell customers throughout the state on a 24-hour basis.

The service enables high-volume directory assistance customers to use their own computers to obtain telephone numbers. Such high-volume users include retail stores, marketing firms, banks and credit companies.

"Instead of contacting us to get the information, customers can now do it themselves and reduce their directory assistance bills by 20 percent or more - depending on how often they use the service," said Mary Foley, Illinois Bell product manager.

According to Foley, customers making at least 500 calls to directory assistance per month could save 30 percent or more with Directory Express. The service is easy to use, requires minimal training and usually needs no additional computer equipment.

To use the service, Directory Express customers must first enter a special code number and password which they are assigned. They then can get directory assistance information by entering a person's name or telephone number.

The desired information can be displayed on a video display terminal. A printed copy of the information can be obtained if a user has a printer.

"If you know the phone number," Foley said, "you can get a customer's name and address. If you know the name, you can find out the address and phone number."

Non-published numbers or numbers outside the customer's home area code are not provided. Directory Express provides quicker access to the most current and complete listing of names, addresses and telephone information within a customer's area code. Foley said listings are updated daily, resulting in a higher rate of listings found.

The services' cost depends on the frequency and manner in which the service is used. The minimum monthly charge is $50, which covers the first five hours of usage. Beyond five hours, each additional minute is charged 14 cents each. Users are also charged five cents per screen each time they complete a search using a telephone number, or eight cents per screen each time they complete a search using a name.

Also, there is a one-time fee of $50 for an identification number, password, operations manual and training classes.

If the ICC approves Illinois Bell's proposal, Directory Express will be expanded effective December 6.

OCC help session for flood victims

The devastating flood may be over but the emotional trauma has just begun for its victims. Oakton Community College will help community residents cope with the problems of floods through a free help session, "Dealing with Loss: The Flood and Its Victims," on Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 7 p.m. in room 1540, 1600 E. Golf rd., Des Plaines.

The session, presented by the Oakton Student Development Faculty/Counselors, will focus on the psychological reactions of the victims, and the stages of loss and recovery. Group discussions will allow participants to share their stories and receive emotional support as well as assistance in coping with stress.

The program is part of a week-long series of free workshops on wellness and stress. For information, call 635-1745.

Camp Fire candy sale

The Camp Fire organization is once again out selling candy on location at various places. Look for the girls and boys in red, white and blue, and help support them by picking up some candy.

This year they have a chocolate bar with roasted almonds, a box of chocolate covered almonds, and also meltaway mints.

The children earn a profit on each box of candy they sell. That money goes into their funds to help them pay for activities they do throughout the year: camping, summer retreats, group activities, or even new uniforms. Candy sales this year are through November 24.

Financial institution offers solution to simpler banking

For most of us, it's difficult to avoid the small but seemingly endless hassles of the day-to-day, month-to-month financial routine. Your checkbook and bank statements tell the story - paychecks, bills, credit card charges, rent or mortgage payments, checks or cash for food and clothes and, if all goes well, money leftover for savings.

But do you ever think about what it takes to keep track of all this? How much time does it take to pay bills, review accounts, and set aside savings? How many account statements do you get? How often do you rearrange your schedule to fit your bank's, just to get cash or ask a simple question?

During the past two years, one financial institution asked 4,000 Chicago-area consumers widespread questions about their banking relationships, including what they thought of the way they bank.

"Generally, we saw a division into two different types of response when we asked people to assess their current banking," said John Ream, president, Citicorp Savings of Illinois. "The response of one group was indifference. But, the second was strong dissatisfaction with current banking methods. These people felt there was too much time, paperwork and hassle associated with everyday banking."

But, while they didn't like the way they banked, no financial institution offered the kind of banking they did want.

This presented an enticing challenge to Citicorp Savings, an institution, according to Ream, committed to responding to customers' needs. "Working from what consumers told us, we felt we had to create a better way to handle everyday banking," explains Ream.

In general, the research revealed consumers wanted banking to be simpler, with greater account access. Consumers called for account information that was clear and timely, and day-to-day banking methods that made sense.

"What consumers said made sense to us so we started to take a look at what changes we'd have to make," states Ream. "Our first step was to improve customer account access. During branch hours we're in good shape because all Citicorp Savings of Illinois branches are fully integrated." This means customers can conduct business at any of its

Outreach program scheduled in north suburbs

North suburban residents with questions on court-ordered child support payments are invited to meet with prosecutors from the office of Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley on November 15.

Staff members from Daley's Child Support Enforcement Unit will be available from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. at the Skokie Courthouse, 5600 Old Orchard rd. The outreach program was developed by Daley to give suburban residents easier access to his office's collection services, which are headquartered in downtown Chicago.

Daley's office is expected to collect more than $50 million in child support payments for Cook County families this year.

Anyone with questions about the November 15 program should contact Daley's office at 580-3237.

Demon Yell Leaders

They're out there screaming and cheering for the Maine East cagers to score. Some people call them crazy, but at Maine East they're called Yell leaders.

The club, with nearly forty members, sits in the crowd at basketball games and tries to raise the spirit and tempo of the game. The club doesn't perform in football games because, as co-president Mike Bender of Morton Grove says, "The football fans are already fired up so we decided to hold off our enthusiasm until the basketball season," with the first home game Friday, Dec. 5, with Waukegan East, followed by the Demons competing at Niles West Saturday, Dec. 6.

Other Yell Leader officers are co-president Dino DiLegge of Niles, vice-president Steve Fletcher of Des Plaines, treasurer Jon Richman of Morton Grove, and secretary Bob Szkwarek of Park Ridge.

Besides working up spirit for the basketball season, eight members have prepared a skit for the Nov. 21-22 V-Show performances.

match, placing second in the conference. The Lady Raiders regained their winning momentum at the Conference Meet on Tuesday, Oct. 28, against Joliet Junior College and Wubonsee College.

On Friday, Oct. 31, the Lady Raiders played at the Sectional Tournament at Daley College, winning the first match against Daley, and losing the second on to Triton College. The second place finish at the Sectionals earned the Lady Raiders a trip to the Regional Tournament in DuPage.

Camp Fire Girls on retreat

The Hutani Region of Camp once again set out on their fall retreat on the weekend of Sept. 27 and 28. Despite the black skies and rain we started on the road Friday afternoon, only to enter camp with a wonderful, warm day and a beautiful weekend! Seven Leaders and sixteen girls attended the weekend at Lowden State Park, in Ogle County north of Oregon Illinois. The park is a memorial to the World War I Governor of Illinois, Frank O. Lowden. The most prominent feature of the park is a gigantic concrete figure of an American Indian, the nearly 50 foot high statue stands on the bank above the Rock River. The entire group hiked along the river on a nature trail, and hiked to view this statue. As usual, for an outdoor camping trip, each group brought a log to be placed on a huge bonfire that we had Saturday night. While sitting around the fire, the different groups take turns singing, or putting on skits.

Enjoying this weekend were: Jim Lorenz, Ted Sigg and 5 of their girls; Kristi Sigg, Dana Lorenz, Lauren Offenlock, Lynne Jackson, and Julie Morell; Lynnee Piro, and her 4 girls; Brandee Abbott, Karin Mitsui, Jessica Pacini, and Melissa Kowalewski; Suzanne Swanson, Chris Lerner and 3 of their girls; Trisha Lerner, Emily Swanson, and Katy Sewicki; and Paula Peaks, Debbie Davis and 6 of their girls; Jamie Peaks, Dawn Davis, Heyanna Gurley, Melissa Isaac, Carolyn Brown, and Addie Holmes. Leader Paula Peaks younger daughter Rebecca also joined in the weekend fun!

The four groups attending were from Edison Park, Park Ridge, Evanston, and Niles.

Elmhurst College campus, 190 Prospect. There are no fees or dues. For further information, call Richard Piagentini at 279-4100.

MICROCURE process: A revolution in treating vein disorders

VEIN CLINICS OF AMERICA announces a significant improvement of the injection technique for the treatment of vein disorders. It's called the MICROCURE process!

The most common vein disorders treated are Varicose Veins and Spider Veins which are found mostly in women. The main causative factor is heredity and the condition is aggravated by hormonal changes associated with pregnancy and occupations involving prolonged standing.

The MICROCURE process is performed in the doctor's office on an out-patient basis with little interruption to the patient's schedule and with no limitations on physical activity. In fact, brisk walks are recommended after each treatment session as part of the accelerated healing process.

Best of all, the MICROCURE process is recognized by most major insurance carriers. Not only are women benefiting from the physiological improvements like improved circulation in the legs, they also realize a psychological uplifting by being able to wear skirts, shorts, swimwear, etc. with confidence. VEIN CLINICS OF AMERICA has three treatment centers in Chicago which is also the site of their corporate headquarters and their research and development facility. This is where the MICROCURE process was developed and is available only at VEIN CLINICS OF AMERICA. The three treatment centers are: (see Page 1) Soon VCA will be expanding their clinic locations to every major market throughout the country with an aggressive expansion effort commencing in 1987.

D. Brian McDonagh, M.D., founder and Medical Director of VEIN CLINICS OF AMERICA has been a keynote speaker at many hospitals, television and radio talk shows, civic groups and organizations. ## Hospice Week in Illinois

Death and dying are not subjects normally thought of as being fit for polite conversation. Indeed, the latter is considered by many Americans to be the ultimate unnatural act.

Helping the terminally ill and their families cope with the realities of death has been the mission of nearly 70 hospice programs in Illinois. They are being recognized Nov. 9-15, Illinois Hospice Week, for their efforts in demonstrating that death, when dealt with openly, is the natural end of life.

"We encourage our families to make the most of every day," says Karen McArdle, president of the Illinois State Hospice Organization, an affiliate society of the Illinois Hospital Association (IHA). "Rather than wasting time pretending everything is going to be all right, we stress making the time meaningful by resolving past differences or saying and doing things that have been put off because tomorrow is another day."

Most hospice services are based upon studies revealing that people who are sick are most comfortable in familiar places surrounded by familiar faces. Consequently, nursing and physician services, pain and symptom control, pastoral counseling, bereavement care and volunteer services can all be provided at home.

"We are experts in controlling pain," McArdle says. "Whether it's physical pain, emotional pain, or spiritual pain. We also emphasize hope. Not hope for a cure, but hope to make it through the year, or the month, or just another day without pain. Hope changes for a dying person."

There are three parts to most hospice programs. The first consists of home care. The second is inpatient care for people who can no longer remain at home. The final part of the program is bereavement. "That is another area that American society doesn't recognize," says McArdle. "What is a grieving person?" Hospice generally follows a family for 18 months after the death of the patient with regular contact and counseling services.

Who is the typical hospice patient? According to McArdle, 90 percent of the patients are cancer victims. However, a growing number of AIDS patients and people with other terminal illnesses are being served by hospice care. More than 25,000 people are expected to die from cancer next year in the state. In addition, approximately 370 will die from AIDS. These staggering figures show the need for hospice services is a growing one.

Physicians Center open Skokie office

Physicians Centers, responsible for helping thousands of patients stop smoking - and stay stopped - has opened a new medical office at 64 Old Orchard Center in Skokie.

With great success at Chicago's 500 N. Michigan Ave. office and the Professional Building at Oakbrook Center, Oak Brook, now Skokie provides another convenient location where help is available to end the cigarette habit forever.

"Nicotine in cigarettes, like other drugs, has both a physiological and psychological phase in its addiction," says Eunice Bailey of Physicians Centers. "That's why our patients are seen by both a licensed medical doctor and a Ph.D., or counselor so all aspects of cigarette smoking are dealt with," said Bailey.

The one and one-half hour treatment takes effect within minutes. Many immediately experience a diminished desire to smoke and the majority do not experience the side effects of nicotine withdrawal as do those who try to quit on their own.

You can leave Physicians Centers a comfortable ex-smoker, who can stay stopped for the rest of your life.

The fee for treatment is tax deductible and many insurance companies reimburse Physicians Centers patients.

Call the Skokie office for more information and to make an appointment to stop smoking for good. Call 679-5300.

Ransom offers diabetes testing

As part of a nationwide campaign to discover the "hidden diabetic", Our Lady of Ransom, 8300 N. Greenwood, Niles, in cooperation with the American Diabetes Association (ADA) will be offering free diabetes detection tests during "National Diabetes Month", (Dates & Times) Sat. Nov. 15, 9 a.m. - 3 p.m.

Diabetes affects one person out of twenty, 11 million nationally. Alarmingly, five million Americans are unaware they have diabetes. This is because many people with Type II (non-insulin dependent) diabetes do not experience recognizable symptoms. Ranked behind heart disease and cancer, diabetes is the third leading cause of death by disease in the United States.

Persons considered "high risk": overweight, over forty years of age, or a blood relative of a diabetic should be tested. Those interested in this free test are asked to pre-register by calling Sally McCarthy, OLR Parish nurse, 696-2216 or the ADA's Detection Hotline at 346-1805. Appointments are necessary since participants must follow special dietary guidelines before the test.

The Regency Nursing Center, 6631 N. Milwaukee, celebrated its 10th anniversary of current ownership.

2 sessions: Tuesday and Thursday, Nov. 18 and 20 North Shore Congregation Israel. Free to NSJCC members; non-members pay $3.50.

Regency Nursing Center observes 10th anniversary

Under the new ownership, Regency has made changes and additions. Currently it is operating under the new name Regency Healthcare Center, and is offering home care as well as nursing home care.

The new philosophy of the center is to be open to the community as much as possible, and try to meet the special medical needs of the elderly. The nursing center facility is being used for community support groups, such as Alzheimer's support group on the last Wednesday evening of each month; Osteo-Arthritis support group on Thursday evenings; and pressure and diabetes testing is offered every Tuesday morning.

The nursing center also offers physical therapy, speech therapy, occupational therapy, a full range of activities and social services, and a family support group.

Regency has also sponsored a Little League baseball team in Norwood Park, and looks forward to some of the residents attending the games.

Precious gifts give Skokie resident a second chance

At first glance, the calendar of Skokie resident Betty Malina reads like most anyone's: weekly choir practice, evening meetings at church, cleaning house, grocery shopping and spending time with three-year old granddaughter, Jessica. But Betty makes a special notation on her calendar which very few others make. On the third Thursday of every month, she attends a support group meeting for people who have had heart transplants at Loyola University Medical Center.

Two years ago, Betty was diagnosed as having cardiomyopathy, a degenerative heart disease of unknown origin. Medication temporarily stabilized her condition, but in June of last year, she began to lose weight and became so breathless, she avoided answering her telephone. At the end of a ten-day hospital stay, Betty was told to stop bike riding, walking even short distances and entertaining at home. Her response was: "What's left? Is this going to be the rest of my life?"

Determined not to give up the activities she loved the most, Betty inquired about an experimental out-patient drug program for cardiomyopathy patients at Loyola University Medical Center. She was interviewed and accepted into the program.

After only four days of drug treatment, however, her heart began to beat irregularly. She was admitted to Loyola on August 6 where tests revealed that her failing heart was not pumping enough blood to her vital organs. The prognosis for long-term survival was poor. Betty took what remained of her future into her own hands. She planned her funeral, down to choosing the casket. She remembers crying a lot as she began to divide her personal possessions.

She was without much hope when she first heard her doctors discussing a heart transplant. "I thought they were talking about someone else," Betty recalls, "because I didn't think I was a candidate." But after passing ten pre-surgical qualification tests, she was put on a waiting list for a donor heart. Her doctors told her to expect a five to six month wait. She began to think about spending Christmas holidays in the hospital. But just two days later, on Sunday evening of the Labor Day weekend, her doctor announced that he thought he had a heart for her. A Labor Day traffic fatality was going to give Betty her second chance at life.

Within a half hour, the donor's heart was confirmed as compatible and Betty was prepared for surgery. "Actually, I was ready for bed," Betty jokingly remembers, "because it was already close to midnight. I remember wishing the doctor good luck and then I thought of the silliest thing: 'My hair isn't done; I can't go to surgery!'"

At 2 a.m. on Labor Day morning, Betty Malina received her new heart and her second chance at life. She was Loyola's fourth woman to receive a heart transplant, and Loyola's 34th.

Betty Malina

An active supporter of the volunteer blood donor program, Betty, with the help of her husband John and other church members, organized the first blood drive at her church, Trinity Slovak Lutheran, in 1975. She served as blood drive coordinator for nine years. Betty was familiar with the need for blood donors during heart surgery, and was expecting to receive blood during her surgery. "That's the ironic part," Betty explains. "All those years I was working to get donors for other people, never thinking that some day I would be the person to need blood."

Although she persistently asked her doctors and nurses to tell her more, Betty knows little about her new heart, other than the hospital it came from and that the donor was a 27-year old accident victim. "It was right of them not to tell me more. Knowing what I do is enough to make me feel like I'm not borrowing someone else's heart. The heart is a part of me now; it's mine. I'm not going to take it or my health for granted. I'm going to live life every day to the fullest."

And live it she has. Even with her full calendar of activities, Betty still makes time to ride her exercise bicycle ten miles a day, recalling that a year ago she was told she could never ride it again. Today, she's more like her 27-year old heart than her 52-year chronological age. A life-time of anti-rejection drugs, regular checkups, and her monthly support group meetings are Betty's only reminders of her transplant.

To increase awareness of the blood need of Skokie residents, the Skokie Community Blood Program will host a community blood drive on Saturday, Oct. 25. The drive will be held at the Skokie Village Hall, 5127 Oakton, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Walk-in donors are welcome.

Donna Mohrlein, chairperson of the drive, explains, "This drive is being held in special recognition of the blood needs of Skokie's hemophiliacs. But there are other Skokie residents, like Betty Malina, who need to receive blood. I urge all Skokie residents to come out and donate." For further information or to schedule an appointment, call Mohrlein at 878-0800, ext. 220.

Swedish Covenant initiates diabetes education program

"After surveying the community, we realized there was a need for an educational program for diabetes - to teach them the skills necessary to live well and maintain an 'active' lifestyle," stated Mana Krismer, RN, diabetic teaching coordinator at Swedish Covenant Hospital, 5145 N. California.

Ms. Krismer, who has been in diabetes education for over five years, we referring to the "Living Well with Diabetes" program recently initiated at the hospital.

"Our program teaches participants about the newest treatment approaches for controlling diabetes, the use of medication, adjusting medication according to blood sugar, nutrition and meal planning and the use of exercise in diabetes control."

"We also get into the more personal issues like how to deal with a chronic disease and how diabetes may affect one on the job or in one's family life," she said.

"Beside myself our staff is comprised of a therapeutic dietitian, a pharmacist and a social worker, so we are well equipped to deal with these questions."

Demonstrations of blood glucose

self monitoring equipment and aids for administering insulin are also a part of the agenda.

"People are referred to the classes either by their physicians, or they find us on their own. Many doctors are happy to have the resource of the 'Living Well with Diabetes' program to assist them in educating their diabetic patients," she said.

When a person joins the program, said Krismer, he is given a questionnaire to assess his particular needs. Then an individualized teaching plan is developed for him.

Results of the course, which consists of four two-hour sessions are sent to each participant's physician. A follow-up survey is done three to six months after the program.

"The dangers of untreated diabetes," said Krismer, "are being particularly highlighted at this time because November is National Diabetes Month. I hope that people are getting the message that diabetes with its complications can cause kidney disease, heart disease and blindness, and that it is the third leading cause of death by disease in the country."

For more information about "Living Well with Diabetes" contact Mana Krismer at 878-8200, X5256 or pager 154. A small fee is charged to cover the cost of take-home teaching materials and equipment. Family members are encouraged to attend.

Edgewater Hospital diabetes detection programs

Edgewater Hospital, 5700 N. Ashland ave., Chicago, in cooperation with the American Diabetes Association, will participate in Diabetes Detection Week, 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., November 10-14.

Some five million Americans have diabetes and are unaware of it. The longer diabetes is undiagnosed and untreated, the greater the risk of complication. Persons who are over age 40, overweight, have a blood relative who is diabetic, or mothers who have babies weighing over 9 pounds at birth are in the high risk group for diabetes.

Early detection and treatment of diabetes may help prevent future heart disease, circulatory problems, kidney disorders and blindness.

To make an appointment and to receive diet instructions for this free blood sugar test, call 878-6000, ext. 3168 for 3495, Monday through Friday, 7 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Forest Hospital celebrates 29th anniversary

Forest Hospital had just cause to celebrate on Tuesday, October 21. Not only did the date mark the facility's 29th anniversary, but as the 160-bed hospital enters its 30th year it's once again back in full operation after the difficulties and temporary shutdown caused by the September flooding.

Located at 555 Wilson Lane in Des Plaines, Forest Hospital includes the original building which started out as a private home, and later served as a sanitarium. The facility was reorganized in 1957 as Forest Hospital, a comprehensive psychiatric treatment center, under the leadership of Morris B. Squire, who continues to serve as president.

Today, Forest is recognized as a national leader in the field, offering treatment for substance abuse and other mental and emotional disorders in children, adolescents and adults.

Same day surgery - a popular alternative

Patients like it, insurance companies like it, and physicians now recommend it frequently. Same day surgery, available for over two hundred procedures, offers substantial savings for everyone concerned.

According to Chester Slonina, RN, operating room supervisor at Bethesda Hospital, 2451 W. Howard in Chicago, and member of the Association of Operating Room Nurses, same day surgery patients usually come to the hospital in the morning, two hours before surgery. Surgery often is completed by noon and patients return home in the evening.

A physician or staff member schedules the date and time for surgery, keeping patient preferences in mind. The patient is contacted a week to three days before surgery and is asked to come in for pre-operative tests and a workup, including x-rays, an EKG and blood work. Since the tests are done on an out-patient basis, costs are significantly lower than they would be if done after hospital admission. Cost savings generally are significant for same day procedures. They usually are in the 20 to 30 percent range, although in some cases, for example in cataract surgery, savings may be as high as 50 percent.

Procedures from tonsillectomies to cataract extractions are routinely done on a same-day basis. Ophthalmologists, podiatrists, internists, family practitioners, general surgeons and others regularly recommend same day surgery to their patients. Anesthesia used for same day procedures may be local or general, depending on the specific operation and individual physician and patient preferences.

After surgery, explains Slonina, patients are advised to go home with a family member or close friend. "We suggest they relax and pamper themselves," he adds. When necessary, patients are readily admitted to the hospital. Overnight stays can be scheduled ahead of time for patients who prefer not to leave on the day of surgery. The fee for overnight stays is nominal.

Slonina points out overall benefits to the patient. "Patients convalesce much better at home," Slonina stresses. "They relax more completely and sleep more soundly in the comfort of their own rooms."

Oakton workshops on wellness and stress

Consider wellness. Consider stress. Consider the Oakton Community College's Wellness and Stress Week on free workshops and programs November 17-21 on both campuses. Programs are designed for students, staff and community members. Some sessions are offered days, others evenings.

To some, stress is an unavoidable aspect of living. To many it is the cause of all visits to family physicians and internists. According to G. Breo in Chicago Magazine, "Stress is a disease of choice."

Wellness is the active process of becoming aware of stress and other factors and making choices toward a less hectic existence.

A special program helping flood victims with emotional and stress factors is planned for Tuesday, Nov. 18 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at Oakton, 1600 E. Golf rd., Des Plaines. "Dealing with Loss: The Flood and Its Victims" will be presented by members of the OCC Student Development Faculty.

The China Chef restaurant, located for almost ten-years at Dempster and Harlem in Morton Grove, will move into a new custom designed building at 5920 W. Lincoln, Morton Grove, in mid-November.

Steppin' Out Caffe Lucci

Excellent Italian Fare in Northern Suburbs

One of the dilemmas a restaurant review faces is sharing new discoveries. Our responsibilities include finding and reporting on "sleepers," those dandy places that haven't quite caught on. Yet, we're reluctant to reveal them in fear they might become overcrowded and undermined.

Sitting quietly at 609 Milwaukee, Glenview, this seductive little spot showed up last year and is on its way toward becoming a premier north suburban stop for upscale Italian dining.

The L-shaped, 85 seat dining room looks more French than Italian. Crisp white tablecloths, fresh flowers, tapestry panels and other neat appointments contribute to the serene, semi-sophisticated setting.

atmosphere, and their efforts thus far deserve high marks.

The part of the operation you don't see is what gives Caffe Lucci most of its character. The kitchen is first-rate, capable of creating the classic cuisine of the Motherland with all its sensuality and spirit.

Though the well-conceived menu offers a concession to standard tastes in the form of prime steaks and seafood specials, the focus is on Italian regional fare. Ingredients are fresh as can be and each dish is prepared to order from scratch.

Five veal items are available, headed by a splendid Franchisee version involving tender medallions sauteed in olive oil and simmering in a smooth lemon-butter sauce.

Morton Grove park board was asking taxpayers for more money, threatening to close down part of its facilities if it didn't get it. Prior to the Tuesday vote, four of the five park board commissioners spent a few days in Anaheim, California attending a national park convention. They were in the town of Mickey and Donald and all their friends at taxpayer's expense.

The guys and gals who trek to the polls pay the bills. And when they see their representatives spending taxpayer's money rather casually, they begin to balk.

"Hotel" and "Pizza" Harry, and the kids in Morton Grove who pulled a real "Mickey Mouse" on their constituents, better go back to square one in thinking about their public roles. Taxpayers are very resistant to any voluntary tax increases. And when they see their representatives foolishly spending taxpayer's money for their private pleasures, they can expect a negative message from the polling booth. And they can also expect their re-election time, voters are going to look with microscopic vision at their past foolishnesses.

We thought newspapers played an important part in last week's elections. In the Chicago Sun-Times, Tom Fitzpatrick played away at Sheriff Elrod for many months. His columns were devastating and certainly contributed to Elrod's loss. Mike Royko also belted Elrod the day before the election adding more negatives for readers from the other newspaper in town.

During the previous two months before the election we were with Elrod at many functions. And while we wouldn't exactly say we were "Dick and Bud" chummy, nevertheless, we exchanged gentle words several times.

The Tuesday before the election Elrod's secretary called and said the Sheriff was on the line. In a brief 30 second call Elrod asked us to endorse him. We told him we couldn't and we wouldn't and that was the end of the conversation.

Elrod and his father have been Democratic powers in Cook County dating back to the thirties. This was probably the first time any Elrod ran in resistance in all their years being dominant forces.

In our 29 years at the same station we have never been blatantly asked to endorse any candidate. When Nick Blase ran for office the first time, he called just before the election and said the electorate should vote for a straight ticket in 1961. It was a rather detoured way of telling the local newspaper it should endorse a straight ticket, since Nick was the least likely to be elected on his ticket. But even Nick wasn't so hungry he came out and asked for an endorsement.

Elrod was in a fight for his political life. He knew he was in trouble and he pulled out all the stops in his effort to win reelection. There wasn't any endorsement which could have overridden the momentum which carried his opponent into office. And newspapermen Fitzpatrick and Royko were the big factors which started this momentum which increased as election time came.

Newspapers also played a key role in defeating three judges for the Circuit Court. While the bar associations gave unfavorable ratings to the judges who were defeated, it was the newspapers which conveyed the recommendations and the stories which defeated the judges.

Newspapers get their share of lumps. But our system in this country works well because the newspapers play an important independent role in the activities of the country.

It is the adversarial role newspapers take which makes this system work. Next time you hear a President or a Sheriff or a lesser official take after newswriters for publishing what is the "public's right to know," think several times before supporting their opposing view.

Newspapers failed when we invaded Cuba. They didn't protest loud enough when they were barred from the Grenada invasion. And they were delinquent today if they allowed the President to dictate the Iranian secret arms negotiations stories.

There's just as many bird-brains working for and publishing newspapers as there are in any other sector of this country. But despite the abuses and incompetence which are printed everyday, the defeat of the corrupt and the reporting of what you have a right to know is central to the well-being of any truly democratic society.

America's heritage comes from Jefferson and Lincoln and others in the political realm. And her heritage comes from Horace Greeley and William Allen White and Seymour Hersh and all the muckrakers through the generations.

Radon Gas...

Blase recently approved the purchase of the Alpha testers at $18 each. At this point, he said, the matter is in the discussion stage between the village and IDNS.

Lutheran. He also stated the reduction in force will not affect the range and type of service provided by the hospital.

Lutheran General's 1986 operating budget was $143.6 million, with $67.8 million going toward salaries. Hunt's written statement explained the layoffs were necessary because of a significant shift over the past several years "to care for patients out of the hospital and in shorter periods of time when they are in the hospital."

Barry said this trend (length of hospital stay and other factors) made it necessary to adjust overall staffing levels at Lutheran General. "The shift in hospital care procedures has posed a financial problem to hospitals in Chicago for a number of years. It is beginning to affect the suburbs," she said.

rehabilitation project R86-11-0-6-7, which is a single family dwelling located at Menard and Warren streets. The request of $16,500 would cover work on the exterior of the building, insulation, electrical work adding a new boiler and balancing the heating system into new zones.

Resolution 86-46 authorized the village president to execute the agreement with Cook County for community development block grants. The grant of $100,000, which has already been approved by the county, will be used for residential rehabilitation.

Resolution 86-47 authorized Schreck to exercise the option to extend the contract duration for the maintenance of street light and traffic control signal units. The contract, which is presently held with H & H Electric Co., will be renewed with the company at the cost of $29,701.92.

Resolution 86-48 gave authorization to execute an engineering consultant contract for design of the south central neighborhood combined sewer relief project to PRC Engineering, Inc., Chicago, Ill.

Schreck explained the project was awarded to PRC Engineering after careful consideration and two interviews. The company's bid of $179,500 will cover the preliminary analysis and the engineering, design and construction specifications in two phases: I) Lincoln and Ferris, and II) Local Streets - Ferris in Austin.

Village Administrator Larry Arft reported on the fire department apparatus refurbishing project. Arft explained that Engine #5, an Emergency (1) brand pumper, needs extensive refurbishing which includes repairing or replacing the cab, modifying the brake system, replacing the rusted boltons and floor boards of the vehicle, and re-wiring and revalving.

Arft stated the cost of the refurbishing would run between $55,000 and $70,000. However, the cost of a new rig would be $150,000. The vehicle would have a 15-year life span after refurbishing.

Arft asked the board to pass a

The loss of state and federal hospital care reimbursement (Medicare patients, for example) also added to what hospital officials feared would be a financial problem. "Cutbacks in Medicare resources are affecting the financial systems," she said.

Tony Esposito of the Illinois Hospital Association said a contributing factor to the financial crunch of hospitals is a change from a cost basis payment to a contract payment (reimbursement to hospitals from insurance companies and Medicare). "If a Medicare patient enters a hospital, the agency says the patient must be released in a certain amount of days," he said. "When a hospital stay is cut, less staffing is required."

He added private insurance companies pay a certain amount of what is not covered by Medicare. "In the case of an indent patient, the unrecovered cost falls on the hospital."

The change in the reimbursement policy by state and federal governments has had an impact on every hospital in the state. "They once paid eligible hospital bills based on how much actual treatment cost. Now they set an ideal contract treatment figure and only pay that much of a patient's bill," he explained. "The Reagan administration is responsible for the policy change which has resulted in cost control efforts by hospitals."

Esposito also cited rising malpractice insurance costs as a financial problem. "It went up 102 percent in the last 12 months ending June 30. That is a tremendous increase," he said, adding that increasing costs have resulted in an increase of hospital layoffs in Illinois.

over eighteen years of age who has resided in Illinois for one year, in Cook County for ninety days and in the Library District for thirty days is eligible for the Trusteeship.

The members of the Board of Trustees are expected to attend Board meetings on the second Wednesday of each month, their decisions on the policies and regulations for library operation are determined for the guidance of the Library Administrator who cares for the day to day administration of the library.

In announcing the upcoming election, Mrs. Costello emphasized that a business background is beneficial in serving as a Trustee. In addition, candidates should be prepared to dedicate a sufficient amount of time to the duties of being a Trustee. In addition to the monthly Board meetings, Trustees serve as members to two or more committees and attend these meetings as held. This can result in two or three meetings a month. A strong desire to serve the community, and the library in particular, is essential.

In order to become a candidate for this office, petitions must be presented signed by at least fifty but not more than two hundred voters who have resided within the District for thirty days, the County for ninety days, and the State for one year. Petitions must be presented at the library office no sooner than the 19th day of January, 1987. The forms for petitions, Statement of Candidacy and Statement of Economic Interest are included in an Election packet, which may be obtained at the library office any time during regular office hours.

All circulators of petitions must be a registered voter and a resident of the Library District. Further information about the Library and about the office of Trustee may be obtained from Irene Costello or the Administrator, Niles Public Library District, at 6960 Oakton St., Niles, IL, 60648, telephone 967-8554.

volunteer police officers, all in the 30-40 age bracket because of the rigorous program. They are involved in intensive training in crisis management operations, negotiations (hostage situations), crowd control and certain specialized skills involving physical training.

"The men attended classes in Deerfield twice this year and recently took a refresher course in a classroom at the Morton Grove Police Department," Stankowicz said.

He explained part of the training consists of finding out how a police officer copes in a stressful situation. For example, fear of heights when trying to gain entry from the roof of a tall building, or problems with claustrophobia if the need arises to put on a gas mask. "These situations are unlikely to happen in Niles, but it's important to know the strength and weakness of a man during the training sessions," he said.

SOG members wear black dungarees and Army-type caps if called upon for unusual situations, such as terrorist acts, or a crisis involving hostages. Other situations include labor strikes or providing back-up security for important dignitaries visiting the village.

"This requires specialized responses and the training gives us expertise to make the proper decision for a course of action in a crisis situation," Stankowicz said.

proves the low responsible bidder and what options they offer," he said.

Michael Manor, Glenview, was charged with gambling, according to Detective John Fryksdale of the Niles Police Department.

Fryksdale said he and Detective Tony Fidanza and a county vice officer conducted surveillance for several hours outside Sullivan's and observed people bringing betting sheets inside the building.

"We were in plain clothes and went into the bar at about 10:30 a.m. and sat at the bar where sports schedules and betting sheets were in plain sight," he said. "When an actual bet was placed, the arrests were made."

Sullivan was released on $150 bond and Palmer on $50 bond pending a Dec. 18 court date on the misdemeanor charge by the village. There will be a Nov. 20 court date on the same charge by the county.

"It was a misdemeanor charge according to village and state laws, Fryksdale explained. "If it was a case of syndicated gambling with thousands of dollars involved, it would have been a felony demanding a higher bond."

He added that Niles police in conjunction with the Sheriff's police had developed information concerning gambling activities at Sullivan's, which had been under surveillance for several months.

After the offenders fled the scene, the victim freed himself by pulling the towel bar from the wall before calling police.

celebration concludes on Nov. 23, the party will be far from over.

To carry Golf Mill through the busy holiday season, an exciting promotion called Great Holiday Hits will be launched following the mall's elaborate debut celebration. Great Holiday Hits will feature the world-famous folk artist Burl Ives, practically a holiday institution himself. In his inimitable style, Mr. Ives will make sure shoppers know that holiday hits with those you care about can be found at the new Golf Mill.

As an added incentive for shoppers to give gifts from Golf Mill, Mr. Ives has recorded his own version of Clement Moore's classic holiday poem, "The Night Before Christmas." These limited edition 45 RPM records in attractive customized jackets will be available to shoppers for free when they present receipts of $25 or more from Golf Mill stores. To make the record even more valuable, the offer will start the day after Thanksgiving, traditionally one of the biggest shopping days of the year, and will end when supplies are depleted.

To support the execution of Great Holiday Hits the mall will brand new interior holiday decorations in every mall concourse. Huge gift boxes and toy soldiers, festive garland and lighted trees will put shoppers in a holiday shopping mood. Youngsters will find Santa Claus waiting for them at the base of a whimsically decorated Christmas tree which will soar almost 30 feet up into the expansive, new center mall skylight.

Area musical groups will be invited to bring the sounds of the holiday season into the mall with regularly scheduled appearances.
