by Linda Zachow

The major topic of discussion at Tuesday night's District 63 School Board meeting centered around the curriculum at Gemini Junior High School.

Dr. Eldon Gleichman, Dist. 63 superintendent, compiled a 48-page handbook outlining the present Gemini instructional program, class size, master schedule, and guidelines for course selections for the 1987-1988 school year. Nine options for change were introduced and included compulsory reading for every student, lengthening the school day, increased instructional time, scheduling electives, and organizing the teaching staff into a true team teaching design.

The complex issues are not expected to be resolved immediately. The report was approved and an administrative recommendation will be forthcoming at the February 1 Board meeting.

Dr. Gleichman stressed the need for extensive study of all the

Dist. 71, union fight over short-term staff benefits

School District 71 is going to court to resolve the issue of maternity leaves for tenured teachers and those hired as temporary replacements during the interim of the leave.

The teachers' union, Niles Council of Teachers (NCT), reacted by going to the Illinois Labor Relations Board to file unfair labor practices against the school district on the question whether a short-term teacher should receive full-time benefits in replacing those on maternity leave.

The bone of contention is based on the hiring of two teachers last year, who worked full-time at the school. Because they were hired on a temporary basis, the teachers did not receive full-time benefits from the district.

The issue went to an arbitrator whose ruling favored the union.

Village eyes purchase of Ballard School

by Sylvia Dalrymple

The purchase of the Ballard School building came into play again, when the Niles Village Board formed a committee to evaluate whether the building will fit village needs, along with the feasibility of taking over the building.

"We want to take a look to find out if there is any functional use compatible for village operations," said Mayor Nicholas Blase.

Heading the committee are Trustees Angelo Marcheschi and Peter Pesole, who plan to meet with School District 63 officials

by Bud Besser

Ole Harry "Pizza" Pestine won't be seeking re-election to Niles library board at the upcoming election. After nine years Harry is hanging up his public service spurs and heading back to the ranch, to a more tranquil life.

"Pizza" has been sort of a one-man board. He dominated board policies and board members during a goodly part of his tenure.

Harry's major contribution to the district is building the addition to the library building. He led the way toward receiving grants for the addition and he did it by accumulating tax moneys which could have been used to improve salaries for library employees and for purchasing more books for the library shelves. Through Harry's years on the board the district lost several excellent employees who went to other districts where they received better pay. During this same period residents seeking books often had to go to neighboring libraries because Harry was holding on to money to be used for the addition rather than to improve the book collection.

In the long run the larger library facility on Oakton Street will prove beneficial to the district's residents. Future users will have an improved facility built with 1980 dollars.

District 207 enrollment figures show slowdown in decline

Enrollment projections for Maine Township High School District 207 now show the number of students leveling off at 5,030 in 1992 rather than declining to 4,700 as previous projections indicated according to Robert V. Jacobsen, director of special education and student personnel services, who has been monitoring declining enrollment for the district since 1972.

Jacobsen, who bases the projections on the number of students enrolled in elementary schools which feed into the District 207 high schools, said that this is the first year that figures show that the same number of students who entered as first graders will leave as eighth graders. "This is a dramatic increase in the elementary survival rate," said Jacobsen.

In District 62 for example, only 82 percent of students who entered first grade in 1972 graduated from eighth grade in 1980. However, 100 percent of the students who entered first grade in 1978 will graduate from eighth grade in 1987. The 1987 rate in District 63 stands at 94 percent up from 74 percent in 1980. The 110 percent rate in District 64 - up from 97 percent in 1980 - shows that more students will actually graduate from eighth grade this year than the number that entered first grade eight years ago.

In his report to the board of education at the December meeting, Jacobsen said that District 207 enrollment is expected to drop to 5,030 in 1992, increasing to 5,200 in 1993, 5,335 in 1994, with a slight drop to 5,270 in 1995. This year enrollment is 6,427 declining from a high of 11,864 reached in 1975. Enrollment for 1986-87 was projected at 6,265. Maine East is expected to

THE LAWRENCEWOOD SAGA...a facelift for the aging Lawrencewood shopping center will probably be suspended in limbo, while the offspring of property owner Robert Krilich is off on a search to obtain necessary financing for redeveloping the site.

Village officials, who have been at odds with the senior Krilich via court fights to force him to correct fire and building code violations...must have been ecstatic to learn the center's owner will be involved in upgrading the 24-year-old shopping center.

When the project will be started is anybody's guess. Although the center is a tax increment financing district (TIF), which provides a developer with about $3.5 million, the young Krilich is looking for other dollars to finance the estimated $22 million for the facelift. Success also depends on whether a leasing program will bring in prospective tenants to fill space. Taking a cue from Shakespeare, "Aye, there's the rub."

Village officials, who reportedly were not happy about the news, inadvertently opened the door to the situation when they created a TIF district. According to a village source, the idea was to attract outside developers to avoid anymore headaches in their quest to transform the so-called white elephant into a viable shopping center.

If the project goes through, it would mean a big tax plum for Niles in the future, but officials are keeping their Excedrin ready...just in case.

LIBRARY ISSUE...the announcement by library board Harry Pestine that he would not seek another term on the board in the April elections surprised many, including the library staff and some board members. During his tenure, Pestine has shrugged off criticism over controversial board decisions resulting from his philosophical "do it my way." However, Pestine's accomplishments cannot be ignored, such as being a leading force in obtaining grants and expansion of the main library.

In a last stand before stepping down from the board, Pestine is attempting to persuade turned-off board members to enter negotiations with School District 63 to house the unsold children's books from the branch library in Mark Twain School. Board members are opposing the concept of another branch, which could mean further involvement by the library district.

IN THE NEWS...Elaine Heinen, park district commissioner, was recently honored with a plaque from the State of Illinois for volunteer work during the M-NASR Special Olympics last year. Har-dworking Elaine is said to have sent ten Niles youngsters to the Olympics for the swimming competition. Veterans of Foreign Wars Commander John H. Kretler of Niles Post 7712 was recently appointed national aide-de-camp for 1986-87. And on the Jerry Vainisi firing...overheard at Riggio's Restaurant: "Remember the Wizard of Oz if I only had a brain? That should be the theme song for McCaskey."

Ice rink attendance soars with mild winter

by Sylvia Dalrymple

The above-30 degree temperatures that have prevailed for most of the winter season have increased attendance at the Sports Complex indoor ice rink, according to Elaine Heinen, Niles park commissioner.

Because people could not skate at outdoor ice rinks, the number of participants increased this year, Heinen noted at a recent board meeting. "Attendance doubled from Dec. 30 to Jan. 4 compared to the same period last year," she said, "It's traditionally busy at the rink when students are on vacation, but it was fantastic this year."

The rink collected $25,000 during the Dec. 20 to Jan. 4 period compared to last year's $10,000 for the same period. Approximately 1,300 came to the rink, with about 900 last year.

Niles Fire Dept. calls

The Niles Fire Department answered 17 fire alarms and 32 ambulance calls between Jan. 17 and Jan. 23.

Firefighters responded to a trouble alarm at Tempel Steel, 5990 Touhy, on Jan. 17. The cause was traced to a temporary power failure, probably due to the snowy weather.

Fireman were called Jan. 18 to the Tam Golf Course Club house on a report of a fire. Bolt cutters were used to gain entry, but there was no evidence of a fire. According to fire reports, there was a heavy mist over the nearby river that looked like smoke that could have been responsible for the fire call.

Firefighters went to Golf Rd. and Milwaukee Ave. on Jan. 19 on a report that a car was on fire. The fire, which started in the carburetor, had already been extinguished when firemen arrived. There was no damage estimate.

Niles is among communities seeking to raise more revenue...not via taxing measures...but through Ma Bell.

More than 450 communities in the state, including the north and northwest suburbs, are in the process of negotiating a new franchise agreement with Illinois Bell Telephone that could increase the amount of revenue they receive from the telephone company from $10 million to between $50 million and $100 million a year, according to the Illinois Municipal League.

Mayor Nicholas Blase and three other mayors in the north-west suburbs are working out a new franchise agreement with Illinois Bell. "We allow them use of our property for rights of way. Those doing business with the company feel we have not been getting the kind of revenue we're entitled to," Blase said.

Franchises are awarded to the telephone company so that municipal rights of way can be used for phone repairs and installations. In addition, municipalities provide service to the phone company by requiring developers to give access to Illinois Bell and other utility companies during housing or commercial developments, he said.

A large portion of Niles is served by Illinois Bell Telephone Company, with Centel Telephone Company serving a section west.

Traffic Safety Hints

Driving at night poses special highway safety problems because of reduced visibility. Here are some tips for safer night driving:

Slow down and drive within the range of your headlights. According to the National Safety Council, overdriving the headlights is the most persistent problem of night driving. Do not drive too fast to stop within the distance lighted by your headlights (about 350 feet). When you look down the road, peer further ahead into the area that is only faintly illuminated. You may be able to pick up the dim glow of a distant headlight or other movement that can alert you to a possible hazard.

Dim your headlights when you are within 500 feet of an approaching vehicle. If you are blinded suddenly by the bright headlights of an oncoming vehicle, shift your eyes down toward the right edge of the road.

Increase your following distance at night. Dim your headlights when you are within 300 feet (the length of a football field) from the vehicle in front of you.

I Bet You Didn't Know

By Jim Jennings

Only one athlete in history ever played in BOTH the Super Bowl AND in major league baseball. . . Any idea who that was? . . . Answer is Tom Brown who played in the first 2 Super Bowls in 1967 and 1968 as a defensive back with Green Bay. . . Brown previously was a first baseman and outfielder in the American League in baseball in 1963.

Surprisingly, although Terry Bradshaw was considered one of the great quarterbacks and is the ONLY passer ever to lead a team to 4 Super Bowl victories, Bradshaw, himself, NEVER led the National Football League in passing statistics in any year, and is ranked only 42nd on the NFL's list of all-time best passers. . . Hard to believe, but true.

Here's an oddity. . . The Cincinnati Reds not only have 2 pitchers named Michael Smith on their 1987 roster, but both men, by amazing coincidence, also have the same middle name—Anthony. It's possible that next summer the Reds will have 2 players named Michael Anthony Smith both pitching in the same game!

. . . If you mention this ad after your deal is consummated (but before delivery) Jennings Chevrolet will deduct $50 from the purchase price of your new or used car. One deduction per customer. One deduction per transaction.

SPORTS NEWS

Maine East gymnasts hit season high

The Maine East Girls' Gymnastics team scored a 129.9 against Waukegan East for their highest score of the season. Demon coach Betty Axelson was extremely pleased with all of the gymnasts' performances, and especially happy with all-arounders Karen Beefink and Capt. Lisa Strazante. Beefink had the best meet of her career, with an 8.4 on Floor Ex, 8.3 on vault, 7.9 on bars, and 7.7 on beam. Capt. Strazante also had the meet of her life, earning an 8.57 all-around average. Coach Axelson attributes these two seniors outstanding routines to their determination to do their "best ever" if their last home meet of the season. The crowd was also really with the team, and this helped build momentum in every event.

Karen Beefink

Jr. Felicia Patt also had an excellent meet, with high scores of 9.3 on bars and 9.2 on floor exercise. The Demons were pleasantly surprised when Jr. Linda Giannakopoulos hit a 9.3 on her new 1/2, 1 1/2 vault. Fr. vaulter Debbie Tingas also scored a 7.7 to help get the vault event total up to 34 points—another season high. Another highlight of the meet was Strazante's beam routine, which she stuck solid and scored an 8.9. Coach Axelson and the team were excited about Lisa hitting her entire beam set since she executed her two new skills flawlessly, along with beautiful dance. Soph. Regina Bacci also contributed to the team score with good routines on beam and floor ex.

The Maine East JV team also posted their first win of the season, with three freshmen competing all-around for the first time. This was their first meet throwing all optional routines, and coach Betty Axelson was very impressed with the team's determination in all events. Amy Burns took 1st with a 6.85 all-around average, with a 7.7 on bars, 7.6 on floor, and 7.5 on vault. Jenny Catania was 2nd in the All-around with a 6.1 average, along with a 7.6 on bars and 6.8 on vault. Allyson Paradise finished 3rd in the all-around, and scored a 6.5 on vault. In addition, at the freshman CSI League Meet, Debbie Tingas took a 6th on Floor Exercise and an 8th on the balance beam.

Breezing through Four Flags

by Carmie James

We were not the only ones "breezing" through FOUR FLAGS this weekend...the Artic wind accompanied us! Sub-freezing temperatures caused patrons to hurry from their cars to the warmth of the stores...there was no window shopping this time!

It's certainly difficult not to notice the huge, modern building at the center of FOUR FLAGS, with the single worded sign: MUSIC. And that is exactly what you will find when you enter. Upbeat music is playing (cashier Paul Stockman tells us that is Whitney Houston)...and this sound sets the pace for an enjoyable sojourn into the world of MUSIC. There are lots of displays to see...colorful racks of albums...a gift section filled with decorated coffee mugs, T-shirts, and plastic dinosaurs?? Signs proclaim "rent movies here" and there is a Disney center with kiddie records and tapes. And in the center...are rows upon rows of records and cassettes, under such headings as "rock", "soul", "classical" and "jazz". Under such headings as "rock", says that the MUSIC SOUND Shift manager Jim Norhus says that the MUSIC SOUND WAREHOUSE is new to the Chicago area...this Dallas based chain sells everything imaginable in the music line. Jim tells of a unique feature - their "classical room", a glass enclosed oasis enjoyed by classical music buffs. Who is really "big" in rock these days? Try the Bengals...a dance band who appeals to...believe it or not...the ten to twenty year old groups. Meet Janine Harrman, who hails from Milwaukee, and says: "Many times, customers will start talking to each other while browsing thru the aisles...due to their common interest in music...and I just walk away and let them enjoy!" The atmosphere is very relaxed...and understandably has become a popular addition to FOUR FLAGS.

You may ask... "Why is WENDY'S so much fun?" One reason is the very friendly, courteous and good-looking managers...like Steve Skaskiewicz. He and his wife, Lill, have two boys named Steve and Tony. And manager Jim Mendrella stood guard nearby... "to be sure that Steve didn't say anything wrong!" Only "The Bed" is evident in evidence between these two guys, as well as with future Glenview manager Ken Groeller (who was celebrating his 34th birthday, and had just been honored by the crew's rendition of "happy birthday"). This trio of genial, hard working, devoted WENDY'S talked about the interesting work at this well-known restaurant chain. Often, this is a young new employee's first job...and lots of them stay right through college. One trainee, called "Tessie" (her real name is Rufina Teresta Calanoc Meer) was born in the Philippines. She has been an Evanston resident for five years...but her family is still overseas. Tessie smilingly tells us how nicely she is treated by her "ever so patient" teachers at WENDY'S. In just six weeks, you will see her and Ken at the newest restaurant in Glenview - but for now, FOUR FLAGS is lucky to have a wonderful, clean restaurant to "warm up and fill up" in...with an overabundance of special people serving us! Have to check out the new "Hot Off the Range" items advertised.

Say hello to Pat Hamilton of the CRAWFORD LINEN OUTLET...which is an exceptionally clean, organized place to find kitchen, bedding and bath items which are priced 20 - 50 % off regular prices. Pat, who has been manager for 2 1/2 years, works very hard...but derives a great deal of satisfaction from her job. She, asst. manager Mike, and five employees share weekend work. One is Delores Mrowczynski of Park Ridge, who says "It is so nice to be back!" after being home for ten weeks after a broken knee (ouch!). She'll help you find wicker items, both accessories, placemats, pillows, sheets, comforters...all around a made-up display bed that looks inviting, until one notices the "Do Not Sit On Place..." sign. This store is not just a "bargain basement" type of place...it is very nice.

Have you seen TRAK AUTO'S T.V. Advertisement - with comedian Pat Harrington dressed as a "handyman" with a leather toolbelt around his waist? He's at this store in posters hanging all around. Here find row upon row of familiar, as well as unique automotive items. Acting store manager Cliff Asbury is an expert on all of them. Exotic, dark-eyed Alpaca checks out customers, who are garrulous and eager to exchange automotive tips.

By the way, has anyone figured out the cryptic sign over JEWEL-OSCO which reads: "Now rent video movies ROBOTICALLY-OSCO'S video vendor?"

HOUSE OF L'IMAGE, INC. as explained by Irene Schrank, owner - is a Sebastian Artistic Center, with a unique philosophy about hair and makeup. Everything is taken into account: the shape of your face, the color of your skin, your lifestyle, and most important...the individual YOU. As personable receptionist Shelly Markson says... "This is a very professional salon...catering to discriminating, busy clients who want to feel special". Shelly is a former newspaper journalist, and dental assistant...who now lives in Morton Grove. She enjoys her job...and agrees that L'IMAGE can make "your look" the difference between o.k. and extraordinary!

Computers...where to get 'em and how to use 'em?? Visit the MIDWEST COMPUTER CENTER, and walk out with an Apple Home System or an IBM Personal Computer System. That's what lots of people seemed to be doing here! You will find all kinds of computers ready to try out. Nine year old Tracy sits down under an "Apple" sign, at a sleek modern unit...and begins following directions from a cute computer "unicorn" who shows how to try out various games. She seems very comfortable with this computer (no doubt thanks to training at St. John Brebeuf School). Many adults seem puzzled as to what to do with these units! There are "A Rainbow of Possibilities" to check out here, complete with a Training Room for new owners. Lots of salespeople scurry about...much too busy for chit-chat. So, let's amble on over to...

Illinois Bell's phone answering course

Illinois Bell is offering a computer program designed to improve telephone answering techniques and message-taking.

The self-instruction program - PhonEtiquette - is an outgrowth of a training program used at Illinois Bell.

"The way phone calls are handled makes a lasting impression on customers and business associates," said Cheryl Pickard, an Illinois Bell assistant manager for training.

"The courtesy and efficiency with which a call is handled can be just as important as the information that is conveyed," she said.

PhonEtiquette breaks down telephone answering techniques to simple rules common to most businesses.

The program highlights the importance of customer calls and questions, while instructing on tone and manner improvement, obtaining information and taking messages.

The lesson takes about an hour to complete.

It starts with simple answering patterns, progressing to techniques for unavailable parties and positive handling of "unusual" situations, such as emergencies or irritated customers.

"PhonEtiquette is on a computer diskette that can be run on any IBM PC, PC-XT or compatible personal computer. An audio cassette reinforces the software training program and a supervisor's discussion guide completes the $49.95 package, plus shipping and handling.

Further information is available by contacting Illinois Bell's PhonEtiquette hotline at (312) 855-3470.

Even the most severe or complex orthopedic cases can be handled at Martha Washington Hospital. Total joint replacements, arthroscopy, chemonucleolysis and the treatment of arthritis and scoliosis take place. Complicated trauma cases, like the one in the following example, are frequently treated.

Tom Waterloo, a truck driver, was driving an over-the-road tanker on Oct. 31, 1985. The trailer lights went out and Waterloo pulled over to the shoulder to see what the trouble was. "I climbed the ladder between the trailer and tractor. One of the handles broke and I fell, landing hands down on the asphalt. I felt sharp pains in my knees and elbows and my neck and back were jarred."

After reporting the incident to his supervisor, Waterloo visited a doctor who told him that, apart from a chipped right knee and chipped elbows, there was nothing wrong with him. Waterloo was feeling some soreness in his neck and back for which the physician prescribed Motrin and advised push-ups and sit-ups.

"I developed shooting pains down my legs and across my shins," says Waterloo. The doctor insisted he was "healthier than most people I see."

Perturbed at what the doctor was telling him to do in contrast to what he was feeling, Waterloo decided to visit another physician, Spiros Stamelos, M.D., an orthopedic surgeon and Director of Physical Therapy at Martha Washington Hospital. Dr. Stamelos and his brother John, also an orthopedic surgeon, perform 30 to 40 back surgeries yearly.

A CAT Scan and myelogram revealed a herniated Disc at L5-S1. Dr. Stamelos diagnosed Waterloo's problem as post-traumatic stenosis, which is a narrowing of the spinal canal. This compresses the nerve root, causing considerable pain. Dr. Stamelos adopted a conservative approach; epidural blocks were administered and Waterloo received physical therapy for his back and neck. He saw a neurosurgeon about his neck.

The pain continued. "This was a severe case of spinal stenosis," says Dr. Stamelos. "Decompression was necessary to relieve the pain." Although Waterloo had problems with both neck and back, it was determined that back surgery be performed first. A decompression laminectomy was performed.

"Waterloo is an intelligent patient, says Dr. Stamelos. "He studied the problem thoroughly and we addressed it in a systematic, deliberate way. The outcome was successful."

"I've no more back pain," says Waterloo. "I plan to have my neck done once my back has healed completely. My experience with Dr. Stamelos and the hospital staff were positive—the people are beautiful. No one is crabby, cranky or irritable."

Filing for Social Security disability?

Applications for disability benefits often take longer to process than do applications for other types of Social Security claims; therefore, you are urged to gather the necessary information before you apply.

Determining disability under the law requires both medical and employment evidence, and the determination may become complicated. The findings must show that the applicant has a severe physical or mental impairment that is expected to prevent him or her from working for at least a year, or is expected to result in death.

There is a 5 month waiting period before benefits may be paid; however, you should apply as soon as you become disabled to make certain that the claim is processed in time for benefits to begin with the sixth full month of disability.

The following information should be available when you apply for disability benefits:

- Your Social Security number
- Date last worked
- Date sickness began or injury occurred
- Nature of illness or injury
- Dates and places of treatment, including names, addresses, and telephone numbers of doctors, hospitals, institutions or clinics.
- Military service serial number and VA claim number if medical care was received in a military service or VA hospital
- The kinds of jobs held the most in the 15 years before disability began
- Social Security numbers and dates of birth of spouse and minor children.

Do not delay applying even if all the information is not immediately available.

Resurrection hospital Cancer Care Center

A centralized Cancer Care Center for outpatients is now open with a special staff coordinating the delivery of a variety of outpatient services at Resurrection Hospital, 7435 W. Talcott Ave., Chicago. The Cancer Care Center is under the coordination of Mary Pryka, R.N. Patients coming to the center will be seen by their physician or an oncologist as necessary, and may receive chemotherapy, blood transfusions and other supportive services essential to their continuity of care.

Ms. Pryka will serve as the principal contact person for those patients receiving treatment who may wish to discuss their therapies, according to Celerina Behrman, assistant vice president of Nursing. A close liaison will be developed with the patients, helping them to better understand and cope with any problems or concerns.

In addition, a direct telephone line - 794-0088 will help provide ready access for making appointments, receiving counseling and reassurance if the patient is experiencing any difficulties. Patients periodically require this type of support, and they may also seek second opinions from physicians.

Support groups such as I Can Cope, Make Today Count, and those for grief, will serve as helpful resources for patients and their families.

The hospital's Social Service department can provide planning assistance for patients and their families. They can also assist with arrangements for home nursing and home equipment as well as provide access to extensive resources available to cancer patients in the metropolitan area of Chicago.

LGH hosts Stress Workshop

Registrations are now being accepted for a four-week Stress Management Workshop to be held at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge. The workshop, which is sponsored by Parkside Human Services, will be held from 6:30 to 8 p.m., on four consecutive Tuesday evenings beginning Feb. 3.

Joseph Barr, Ed.D., psychologist and workshop leader, describes the workshop as a way to explore many of the unfounded myths about stress and to introduce practical approaches for problems of stress.

Dr. Barr, a specialist in the management of stress disorders, identifies eight major myths about stress that handicap an individual's capacity to handle stress effectively.

The Stress Management Workshop will introduce stress management techniques developed by cardiologists, neurologists, psychologists, and other health care professionals to deeply relax the body and enable participants to relearn the ability to recover from stress.

The Stress Management Workshop requires advance registration. For registration and fee information, phone the Out-patient Stress Clinic at 696-5885.

Forest Hospital offers treatment for compulsive overeaters

Thanks to talk shows, news coverage and television movies, eating disorders like anorexia and bulimia have become recognized health problems. A third coalition, compulsive overeating, is less talked about and consequently less well-known, but it remains, nonetheless, a serious concern for many men and women.

The HELP Program at Forest Hospital, developed for those with eating disorders, now offers a Compulsive Overeaters Program on both an inpatient and outpatient basis. The program is multi-disciplinary in approach, utilizing individual and group therapy, behavioral modification, diet and nutrition education and cognitive restructuring to help patients change their attitudes about food, weight and eating.

"Our aim is not to teach people 'how to diet,' but 'how to eat,'" said Catherine M. Cotter, ACSW, a clinical associate for the Compulsive Overeaters Program.

Cotter pointed out that for some, overeating can be a symptom of complex emotional problems on a deeper level. But there are many others, she said, "who are very competent people. They just have trouble in this one area of their life, and they find it's affecting their relationships, their work and their self-esteem."

Cotter has specialized in the area of eating disorders for the past several years, and is a member of the board of directors of ANAD (National Association of Anorexia Nervosa and Associated Disorders), a self-help support group for victims of eating disorders and their families. The Forest Hospital HELP Program is under the direction of John Levitt, Ph.D. For information about the Compulsive Overeaters Program or other aspects of the HELP Program, call 827-7442.

"Assertiveness Training"

Space is limited, so call before January 23 to register. There will be a $5 charge per session per person. Call Marion Staerzl at 823-0453 to register or for more information.

Between The Bugle and Its Friends . . .

We're writing this second column in the Bugle as sort of a "Me to You" column. We just want to sit around your house for a while and idly pass the time with a few small thoughts. No big stuff. Just the little bits of fluff which go with everyday conversation.

A guy named Ed McElroy called this morning and told me about his sister-in-law passing away. He was saddened by the loss, and noted she had just retired with a $1,300 pension, and now a couple of months later she was gone. Ed then added, "Hey Bud, I wonder how many of us will be here 10 years from now?" We told him he should enjoy today and tomorrow and let 10 years from now take care of itself.

We began thinking we're already in to one month into 1987. And we asked ourselves what did we do during the first month of the new year. We did a lot of moving around. And we did a lot of reading. And we did try a few new experiences.

Last week we mentioned we went to the Baseball Writers dinner downtown which was great fun. We've been a sports fan all our years (almost 62) and it was great fun spending a few hours seeing and hearing about baseball, present and past.

Sunday we went to the Morton Grove theatre and saw Crocodile Dundee which is a very funny movie. It only cost a buck. We highly recommend it.

We went to the movie when the first half of the Super Bowl game was on T.V. There were about 75 to 100 people in the theatre. Afterwards, we went to Kappy's where the owner noted business was way down, because of the game. There was no waiting in line on Sunday evening which was unusual. It probably filled-up around 8:30, after the game was over.

Last week we went to the Omnimax theatre at the Science and Industry Museum and saw their new film about the Grand Canyon. The movie screen measures 26 feet wide and is five stories high. The sensations you feel going down the rapids and flying through the canyons are moments you won't forget. Call ticketron or the museum for your reserved tickets for their newest show.

We found a restaurant we've long wanted to try on the southside. There's an enclave of fine Italian restaurants at 25th and Oakley, just north of the Stevenson Express, at the Damen Street exit. We ate dinner at Tuscano's which is one of the better Italian restaurants in Chicago.

Last Sunday we heard Sherman Kaplan speak at a synagogue in Northbrook. Kaplan, the entertainment editor at WBBM-Radio, placed Tuscano's on his highly-recommended restaurants of modest-priced eateries. We concur.

The past two Friday afternoons we spent at Orchestra Hall hearing and seeing Sir George Solti conduct the Chicago Symphony. Solti is one of the world's great conductors and his orchestra is among the finest in the world. It is a glorious way to end the work week attending such events.

Two weeks ago Itzhak Perlman was the featured guest artist. The audience was enraptured by this virtuoso. Last week the orchestra's principal clarinetist, Larry Combs, performed a Concerto for Clarinet by John Corigliano. Being an old jazz fan we asked a musician sitting next to us if Benny Goodman, who performed at Carnegie Hall, could have performed this very complex music. He said Goodman couldn't have possibly have played this music. He added he too was a classical clarinet player.

One Friday evening we went to Pick-Staiger Hall on Northwestern's campus where the university's musical groups performed. There is no charge for the program and we recommend you come and get the schedule for upcoming events. There's jazz and classical. And there's a performance this Sunday by Violinist Yehudi Menuhin. And next month they'll be performing the Barber of Seville.

During this first part of the year we've been reading several classics from Connecticut Yankee to Around the World in 80 Days. We also read Herman Wouk's Inside, Outside which is excellent. We got off to a fairly good start for the new year. We tried some of the new, we listened to music which is not our first love, and we went to a great new restaurant. We've still got three days left this month. We hope to make good use of them. D.B.

"Norsecapades" takes its humorous material from life itself," comments senior cast member Steven Singer. ## Oakton administrator receives recognition

John P. Donohue, vice president for Student Development at Oakton Community College, recently received a Resolution of Appreciation from the Student Services Commission of the Illinois Council of Community College Administrators (ICCCA).

Donohue was recognized at the ICCCA conference in Springfield for his dedication, loyalty, leadership and continuing support for the Commission and the ICCCA.

A Des Plaines resident, Donohue was the leading force in bringing student services program to Oakton. His interest in the program goes back to the 60's when he was convinced that such a movement was vital for student growth and behavior. His opportunity to initiate a program came when he joined Oakton in 1970 as dean of Student Personnel.

In 1972, Donohue became the vice president of Student Development at Oakton.

Under Donohue's leadership, the Student Development Office at Oakton, which started with two faculty members, now has grown into a full-fledged service organization with 30 staff members serving 15,000 students.

John P. Donohue

But Donohue's contributions and services go beyond the college. He was instrumental in bringing recognition to the program within the state and the nation.

As vice president for student development at Oakton, Donohue was instrumental in bringing recognition to the student services program and to Illinois in the book, "The Future of Student Affairs."

Stevenson wins Battle of the Books

The Battle of the Books contests pit one school's student team against others, the competition based on the knowledge of more than 100 books that the children read. Questions are asked about plot, characters, authors, and publishers, teams earning points by responding correctly within a set time limit. The Stevenson School team has been in two contests this year and has won both.

The Battle of the Books team is led by Mrs. Paulette Elsey, librarian, at Stevenson School. The children prepare for these contests by reading at home and drilling during the lunch recess period. Team members for the 1986/87 season include: Neela Ghoshal, Mala Ghoshal, Vinay Vallabhi, Eric Waxman, Arica Cohen, and Jennifer Weinberg.

Weekend College grows in Northwest suburbs

Last spring the Illinois Board of Higher Education approved a request by North Central College to extend its Weekend College program into the northwestern suburbs. In September, operation of that distinctive program for adult students began at the Gould Conference Center in Rolling Meadows. And, when Winter Term classes began on Jan. 3, the rapid growth which North Central officials had expected was starting to become evident.

"Enrollment has almost doubled over Fall Term," said Mary K. Moran, coordinator of Weekend College in Rolling Meadows.

North Central introduced the Weekend College program on its west-suburban Naperville campus in 1981 with 78 students enrolled in one or more courses leading to a bachelor's degree in

Stevenson students learn about TV productions

On Friday, January 9, Mr. Frank Partipilo, parent of a Stevenson student, spent the day lecturing and showing examples of how television commercials and videos are produced. Mr. Partipilo is a cameraman and production assistant with one of the large Chicago area TV production companies. He has been involved in producing commercials for a number of the large retail chain stores in the area in addition to taking part in making music videos.

Mr. Partipilo spent time with students in grades 1, 2, 3, 4, and 6 using the entire day. He brought a number of video tapes that showed how a commercial was developed, outlined the choices a film editor has to make, and demonstrated how two or more cameras are used to give the editor a variety of choices in selecting the final copy.

Students were enthused with this presentation and learned the meaning of such words as gaffer, key grip, best boy, and other technical titles used in the film industry. The children learned how color bars help technicians keep a constant mix of color for final tapes and saw blacking out techniques. They were fascinated to see how a selection of coats was made to appear as if they were alive without any person wearing them.

LETTERS to EDITOR

Lioness Club expresses thanks

Dear Editor: On behalf of the Lioness Club of Morton Grove, we would like to thank those who helped with our recent Diabetes Testing. Our thanks go to those adults and children who participated in the testing. Forty three adults and twenty children were tested with one referral for a high blood sugar count. This testing would not have been possible without the able assistance of three registered nurses: Dee Meyer and Pam Leppert from Lutheran General Hospital and Claire Gangware who assisted us at our last testing. A special thank you goes to John Graham of Parkview School, Karen Uhren of Golf Junior High, and Steve Lake of Hynes School. They each had copies of the consent form made and saw to it that they were distributed at their respective schools. We would also like to thank those who donated some of the supplies needed: McDonald's for the orange syrup, Miles Laboratory for the Dextrostix, and the Gagewood Lions Club for the use of their machines. Our thanks to the Morton Grove Legion Post #134 for the use of their hall. Without their support, our project would not have been possible. A special thanks to the newspapers who helped us by printing articles about the Diabetes Testing. We thank you all for the support and effort you gave in making this community service project a successful one.

District 207 Operation Snowball program

In a continuing effort to make students aware of the dangers of alcohol and drug abuse, Maine Township High School District 207 will offer its annual Operation Snowball program in late February, according to co-directors Harvey Kelber, a counselor at Maine West, and Janet McClellan, a social worker at Maine West. This is the third Operation Snowball for Maine Township students.

Between 30 and 35 students from each of the three District 207 high schools will participate in Operation Snowball. Students who are interested in participating in Operation Snowball should contact their school social worker or school counselor to determine their eligibility to attend a recruitment assembly.

Recruitment assemblies are scheduled in all three schools during the first week of February. Registration is limited and is on a first come, first serve basis, according to Kelber. Interested adults should contact Kelber or McClellan at 827-6176.

The 1987 Operation Snowball is scheduled for Friday, Feb. 27, from 8 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. at the First Congregational Church of Des Plaines.

Toll-Free tax assistance hotline

Did your puppy chew your new state income tax returns instead of your slippers? Did the baby dribble milk on those instruction booklets? Or did you simply misplace that IL-1040 package you got in the mail? Help is a toll-free telephone call away.

A new toll-free telephone number, 1-800-624-2459, has been installed at the Illinois Department of Revenue for anyone who needs copies of any state tax forms or instruction booklets.

The familiar "assistance" toll-free number, 1-800-732-8866, is still available for taxpayers who have questions about their taxes or require assistance in completing their returns.

The Department of Revenue received 450,000 calls on the assistance toll-free line in 1986, almost three times the 1985 total (before the toll-free line) of 156,000 calls.

Sutker pushes for utility relief

Illinois consumers should reap the benefits of a potential $844 million windfall for utility companies according to State Representative Cal Sutker (D-Skokie), who plans to sponsor legislation calling for an immediate reduction in utility rates.

"Under the new federal tax law, Illinois utility companies stand to collect an additional $844.6 million each year. I believe it would be absolutely outrageous if utility ratepayers are not allowed to share in the windfall," Sutker said.

Sutker said he will push for legislation this month calling on the Illinois Commerce Commission to examine the expected windfall along with efforts to bring consumer rates down by an equal share. The ICC would be required to submit its findings and recommendations to the General Assembly by March 1, 1987.

Sprit and Breath

"Spirit and Breath" will be holding its next meeting on Feb. 4, 1987 at the Holy Family Hospital, 100 N. River Rd. Des Plaines, at 1 p.m. in the Des Plaines Room. Admission is free. For more information call the Spirit and Breath office at 673-1384.

said J. Thomas Johnson, Revenue director.

"We have 21 specially trained service representatives who answer those calls, but about 25 percent of their calls were simple requests for extra forms. By creating a new toll-free number and adding five temporary operators to take request for forms, we immediately expanded the capacity of our representatives by 25 percent."

Both toll-free numbers are in operation from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. Hours will be extended as the April 15 filing deadline nears. The average wait on the line for assistance is two to five minutes.

The Department of Revenue received 450,000 calls on the assistance toll-free line in 1986, almost three times the 1985 total (before the toll-free line) of 156,000 calls.

According to the Office of Public Counsel, the state's new utility consumer advocate, the drop in federal corporate taxes during the upcoming fiscal year will result in a $844.6 million savings, with at least $422.3 million expected during the 1987 calendar year.

"Everyone knows that a utility company's tax burden is buried in the rates passed on to consumers. Therefore, if the utility is granted a tax break, consumers should demand that the difference be reflected in their monthly bill," Sutker said. "If it was the other way around and utility taxes were increased, you can bet rates would be rising at a similar level."

Pullen promoted in G.O.P. leadership

State Rep. Penny Pullen (R-56th) was promoted to assistant minority leader when the Illinois House reconvened last week for the new term.

The Park Ridge Republican has served four years as Minority Whip and as the sole Representative from Cook County in the House G.O.P. leadership team. She is joined now by Rep. James Barnes (R-Palos Heights), also of Cook County, one of the Republican Party's two new House Whips.

Rep. Pullen was appointed to her new post by House Minority Leader Lee A. Daniels (R-Elmhurst), who was unanimously re-elected to his post by the House Republican Caucus.

It is likely a later-year addition would cost taxpayers substantially more money.

At the last board meeting he was curt and very short with those asking to retain the branch he was outvoted by all the other board members. Harry was a lonely end on this issue. While he retained a pleasant demeanor he was curt and very short with the board members and the administrator. He walked away from the board members and left them to iron out the details for closing down the branch. He showed a little boy's petulance which didn't reflect well on his leadership role.

Pestine and his former board member partner, Rita Breitbart, represented the west end of the district which favored retaining the branch library near their homes. While the economics no longer warranted the branch, Harry and Rita and their neighbors showed their parochial interest in retaining the facility. They weren't concerned about low salaries in the district and its attendant loss of personnel. And they weren't concerned the entire district was suffering by the excessive costs of a branch facility.

Pestine and Breitbart were elected to the library board in 1978. Both of them were active in their homeowners' association, The Grand-Prospect Townhouse Association. Rita won election with a 272 vote total and Harry was close behind with 268 votes. Obviously, they got together and organized voters in their area which helped get them elected. It was another example of what can happen in a community when residents aren't "watching the store". The lack of interest in the election resulted in two relatively unknown people in the community getting elected to represent 30,000 people.

Getting elected from the Grand-Prospect area, both officials were protective of their neighbors. Thus, when the controversy over the branch library came to the fore, Harry represented his old area rather than the entire district. And since the library district was hurting from lack of funds Harry did not serve the greater number of residents.

While we don't know the man very well we have had fleeting glimpses of him. When the new library addition was dedicated Secretary of State Edgar was in attendance. Harry did a swoon. Harry is a state employee and he acted as if he was in the presence of royalty. He fawned over Edgar as if the guy was a grand potentate. We felt embarrassed for the poor guy.

We tabbed him "Pizza" Pestine after he ran up a $200 bill for pizzas and other goodies served the board. Harry said he didn't eat before coming to the meetings and felt justified in having taxpayers foot the bill for the food. Another time Harry presented the board with a long overdue bill for hotel accommodations and other expenses in downtown Chicago where he attended a convention. The bill came to around $700 which raised a few eyebrows in the community. Harry was only a few miles away from home but preferred the downtown accommodations, compliments of the taxpayers. For this bit of tap dancing we named him "Hotel" Harry.

Such bits of silliness as the pizza and hotel bills were little negatives which would not go well with voters. Even though the guy might have worked very hard for residents, going to meetings after meetings without any compensation, getting these few freebies would likely cause voters to defeat him if he ran again. Harry gave nine years of his time to the community. That is an effort which can't be overlooked. The paying abnormally low salaries while he had money in the kitty gives Harry a big minus. Also, ignoring the book collection that money makes his judgement questionable. But his leading the way to building the addition was his greatest achievement. He should take pride in that effort. His reward of pizza and hotel rooms is slight. His name etched on the cornerstone at the library will give him much satisfaction. We believe that is most important for the guy who got elected with 268 votes.

...Smoke was reported in a building at 8035 Milwaukee Ave. The cause was traced to a recently installed switch causing the furnace to malfunction. The owner was advised to call the company to make corrections. The unit was shut off and smoke ejectors were used to clear the building of smoke.

...Firemen responded to a call Jan. 29 of a water leak in the basement of an apartment building at 8407 Dempster St. on a reported water leak. The cause was traced to a broken water pipe.

...Firefighters were called to Washington Ct. Condominiums at 9500 Washington St. on Jan. 21 on a report of smoke from the second floor of the building. The cause was traced to an empty pot smoking on the stove, but no fire.

There was no damage estimate. ...On Jan. 22, firemen went to a residence at 8323 Waukegan Rd. on a report of a fire, but found it was a false alarm.

...Firemen responded to a lock-out report in the 9000 block of Clifton on Jan. 16. After finding all the windows were locked, they broke a window pane of the rear door to open it and let the owner in.

issues involved. He intends to meet with the Gemini staff on January 28 and will take into account the opinions and concerns of the Board of Education before making his initial recommendations.

Dr. Gleichman believes the present scheduling at Gemini follows an essentially high school format and does not incorporate true team teaching. He indicated he would like to see long range adjustments implemented but emphasized that considerable time and intense study will be necessary to achieve excellence in the final program.

Numerous board members expressed their deep concern that each child should receive the highest instructional levels possible in reading before entering the high school system.

The present curriculum allows students who achieve reading scores at or above grade level to bypass reading and that if a student falls behind, individual programs are related to accommodate these problems.

Three Gemini instructors commended Dr. Gleichman for his insight into the need for improvement. One instructor emphasized that concern should not only hone in on the needs of incoming seventh grade students but that high priority should be placed on eighth grade students' ability to articulate their comprehension in literature-oriented programs at the high school

The school district is now seeking to vacate that ruling in the circuit court, according to Eugene Zaleski, District 71 superintendent.

He noted that temporary positions do not end in permanent jobs. "They are short-term employees and are in an untenured situation. The board feels it can't pay benefits to the teacher on maternity leave and her replacement."

Zaleski explained that a similar problem occurred several years ago, with the matter going to court. "The ruling was in the board's favor," he said.

Although the union argues that a provision in the new Illinois Labor Relations Act now calls for binding arbitration, school district officials are contending the act does not define a short-term employee. "As a result, we feel this issue should not go into arbitration," Zaleski said.

According to a NCT spokesman, the union contends that the new law is applicable to a teacher in a full-time position, who has the same workload as the absent full-time teacher, such as conducting full classes, doing extensive paper work and report cards.

level. The need for change in the Gemini curriculum is apparent to the administrators, school board and the Gemini staff. The pressing questions, however, are how fast, how soon, and what sort of changes should be made.

Other topics under investigation are the best use of computers, class size, and ironing out the problems of overlapping materials in different classes.

It was also announced that the village of Niles voted to appoint a committee to investigate the purchase of the Ballard School property.

The Board approved a motion to retain the firm of Raymond J. Green & Associates to survey the feasibility of window retrofitting at Gemini School for an amount not to exceed $2,000.00 for the December, 1986 budget was approved with gross payroll totaling $803,681.28 and accounts payable totaling $263,007.49.

Senior Diane Smason received the Board's congratulations for being chosen as one of 10 candidates to be further considered as the state's single nominee for the Century III Leaders competition. next week to discuss the matter. "We'll inspect the building and find out the cost involved in making needed repairs, as well as maintenance costs," he said.

Marcheschi went on to say that even if the building is not suitable for village operations, it could be used for other purposes, such as a teen center. "There are many functional uses that could be studied. It's important that Ballard does not remain vacant," he said.

The committee will make its recommendation to the board at the February meeting.

Both the Niles Library District and the park district recently declined to buy the almost 25-year-old building located at the corner of Ballard and Cumberland for the $1 purchase price offered by School District 63 officials.

In other business, the board approved a congregare care facility at Tuesday's meeting, upholding a recommendation of the zoning board.

The plan by Senior Lifestyle Corp. calls for a 10-story building consisting of 282 units and 11,500 square feet of retail space to be located south of Western on Golf Rd. The facility will provide seniors with the option of independent living or use of a common dining room. There are also plans for an indoor pool, recreational and social center, 24-hour security, and a nurse available for emergency situations 24-hours a day.
