Library realizes $6,400 from branch book sale

The Niles Library District received a total of $6,400 from the sale of books and equipment at the branch library, according to Dan Macken, chief of operations for the library district.

Approximately 8,000 to 10,000 paperbacks and hardcover books were sold. "The number is an estimate since we did not keep track of the volumes purchased by residents," he said. Macken noted about 38,000 books were left over from the sale, which were stored in the main library on Oakton st. "The library board will determine

Zoners anticipate future requests for off track parlors

Special use category for betting parlors

by Sylvia Dalrymple

In an effort to regulate off track betting parlors in the village, the Niles zoning board approved placing such facilities in the special use category, along with parking requirements at Tuesday's meeting.

Joe Salerno, director of code enforcement, recommended the move. "This is in anticipation that someone will come in and request a location for this type business. Your recommendation

Niles police sergeant Geoffrey Wilson dropped his suit against officers in the Niles Police Department and the Mayor of Niles after charging he was being harassed for forming a union. He said he was demoted from senior to junior sergeant and was denied being sent to two law enforcement schools because of his alleged union activities.

Niles police captain Bill Terpinas said Wilson received no demotion though he was no longer allowed to be a watch commander because other sergeants were more capable than Wilson.

The case, heard before federal judge Preston Marshall, was dropped after Marshall told Wilson's attorney his client would have to pay for village legal costs in the event he ruled against the police officer.

Wilson told The Bugle, as the result of case law on another court, he expected to lose in Marshall's court. But he believed upon appeal he would receive a favorable

Mobile phone tower approved by Zoners

The relatively new state-of-the-art mobile phone communication came under the preview of the Niles Zoning Board at Tuesday's meeting, and after almost two hours of technical testimony from experts, approval was granted for construction of a 150 foot cellular radio tower at 7720 Lehigh Ave. Gregory Furda, representing Roger's Radio Call, requested special use zoning to allow installation of the structure, which will act as a transmitting station for car telephones.

Plans call for a steel, self-supporting tower with a building at its base housing computer equipment.

MG Library card registration

The Morton Grove Public Library is still registering patrons for new computer library cards. The new cards are necessary for any library transactions despite the status of the previous card. Each patron must apply for his card in person, as signatures are required.

The registration process is very short and is performed at the Circulation Desk. There are also several new cards which have not been picked up by registered patrons and these are being held at the Circulation Desk.

Everyone is urged to register at the library so that they can benefit from the many materials and services offered by the Morton Grove Public Library.

Niles Police Chief Clarence Emrikson, designated Jan. 14, as "Uniform Day" for the entire police department. Every officer in the department, regardless of assignment, reported for duty in uniform. This included all detectives, administrative staff, and dispatchers who also hold reserve officer status.

Inspections of each officer was conducted and reviewed by Division Commanders and the Chief of Police. The purpose for designating this day was to assure that all police personnel have uniforms that fit properly and that accoutrements, such as star, nameplates, gun belts, accessories and weapons, are specifications.

Heart Smart Holiday Party

Marsia and Arnie Wolk, Skokie, pose with Teri Young at Lutheran General Hospital's Heart Smart Holiday Party. The celebrants at the potluck party were all participants in cardiac research at the hospital. One study had tested a new drug for congestive heart failure, and a second looked at the constant effectiveness of nitroglycerin pads to control angina. Volunteers are needed for a new study on Calcium Channel Blockers for Angina patients which will begin in February, and for the continuing study of congestive heart failure. For information call Teri Young, 696-5480.

Loyola schedules seminar on Living Alone

Loyola University Medical Center's department of psychiatry will hold a symposium on "Living Alone: Like it or Not" on Valentine's Day, Sat., Feb. 14, in the lower level auditorium of the medical school. It will be held from 12:15 p.m. until 5:50 p.m. According to Dr. Dorena C. Renshaw, professor of psychiatry and coordinator of the symposium, the purpose is to examine the rapid cultural changes from the traditional extended family homes of the 1940s to today's single dwelling; discuss the price of autonomy, freedom and independence; to raise awareness of the hazards of random coupling and other unhealthy ways of coping with being alone, and to examine voluntary celibacy when obligatory singleness is a life reality. The symposium is open to physicians, nurses, social workers, psychologists, counselors, ministers and community members. Registration closes Feb. 9 and only the first 120 applicants can be accommodated for the session. For information on costs and registration forms call 531-3752.

Floyd Fulle trial witness dies

Area developer Thomas Origer, 53, of Inverness, died Friday, Jan. 23 at Northwest Community Hospital.

Mr. Origer, who headed Origer Builders, Inc., was a major developer in the northwest suburban area in the early 1970's and was responsible for renovating Maryville Academy in Des Plaines. Between 1972 and 1975, he constructed six buildings on the Maryville site.

Mr. Origer's name came into prominence in the news media when he testified against former Maine Township Republican Committeeman Floyd Fulle (of Des Plaines), also a member of the Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals.

Fulle was convicted of extortion and tax evasion in 1975 and served two years at Sandstone Federal Prison in Minnesota. After his release, Fulle moved to Florida.

Mr. Origer is survived by his wife, Susan; five daughters; Michael, James, Thomas, and Joseph; his mother, Grace Origer; two sisters, Patricia Ann Smigel and Barbara Ann (Robert) Reninger.

Funeral services were held at Ahlgren & Sons Funeral Home in Palatine, with mass at St. Theresa Church in Palatine. Father John Smith, administrator of Maryville Academy, officiated at the mass. Interment was in All Saints Cemetery.

Cook County vehicle stickers available

Maine Township Clerk Stephen J. Stolton has announced that Cook County vehicle stickers are now available at his office in the Maine Township Town Hall, 1700 Ballard rd., Park Ridge.

Residents of unincorporated Maine Township are required to purchase the stickers which must be displayed by March 1.

The Clerk's Office is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays.

County vehicle sticker prices are $10 for stickers of 35 horsepower or less and $15 for those exceeding 35 horsepower. Senior citizens, 65 years of age or older, may purchase stickers for $1.

All applicants must bring a title or state license plate registration card. Senior citizens must also bring proof of age.

For further information, call 297-2510.

Maine Township voter registration

Maine Township Clerk Stephen J. Stolton is reminding residents that they can register to vote through Monday, March 9, at his office in the Maine Township Town Hall, 1700 Ballard rd., Park Ridge. Registration will then close until after the April 7 local elections.

The Clerk's Office is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays.

'Night at Races' at Brebeuf

Officers and members of St. John Brebeuf Holy Name Society invites everyone to a "Night at the Races" at 8 p.m. Monday, Feb. 9 in Flanagan Hall, 8301 N. Harlem Ave.

The free event will be an evening of fun. Refreshments will consist of thick six-foot long sandwiches, along with wine, beer and soft drinks.

Bus riders be alert for different NORTRAN routes

Both daily and occasional NORTRAN riders should be alert to the fact that different buses are being used along NORTRAN routes. Since Jan. 9, 1987 when some of NORTRAN's Grumman Flexible 870 buses were pulled from service by Pace, the Regional Transportation Authority's (RTA) suburban bus division, for further study of structural problems, NORTRAN has been using a small number of substitute buses.

These substitutes are smaller, brown, blue, silver and orange 1987 General Motors buses with Pace and/or RTA markings. They are being used for an indefinite period of time, in addition to NORTRAN's usual fleet of blue and silver NORTRAN GM buses, and the predominantly gray and black Grumman. The substitutes, since they are smaller in size, are being used primarily on less heavily travelled routes, such as RT. 211 (Morton Grove - Devon - Caldwell - Western Ave. CTA Station) and RTS. 240-241 (Park Ridge Locals).

All riders should watch carefully for any bus approaching their stop. "We certainly want to minimize any rider confusion," said North Suburban Mass Transit District Chairman Robert L. Benton, "while still operating at full service." He added riders will be kept posted of any changes in the type of buses being used by NORTRAN.

Cable company expects big response from subscribers

Niles Fire Dept. calls

Niles Fire Department answered 14 calls and 30 ambulance calls between Jan. 24 and Jan. 30. On Jan. 24, firemen went to Baker's Square at 854 Dempster St. where they found broken sprinkler pipes causing the wet ceiling tiles to fall to the floor. The cause was traced to the heat being off during the day. There was no damage estimate.

A small of smoke was reported at M & L International, Inc. at 6101 Grosse Pointe Rd. on Jan. 24. Firemen checked the shipping area, roofs and heating units, but could find no cause for the smoke. Firemen responded to Lutheran General Rehabilitation Center at 1700 Luther Lane on Jan. 24. It was found the smoke detector activated without apparent reason.

On Jan. 24, firemen went to 8313 Merrill on a report of smoke in the house. The first floor and basement were checked with negative results. Probable cause for the odor was from fireplaces in the area.

On Jan. 26, firemen extinguished a fire in a dumpster at the rear of the YMCA building at 6300 Touhy Ave.

Firefighters responded to an alarm at Wilson Jones Co. at 6150 Touhy Ave. on Jan. 27. The cause was traced to a power failure while Commonwealth Edison was switching lines.

On Jan. 27, firemen went to 7233 Dempster on a report of sparking power lines. The cause was traced to a fuse blowing out on the transformer. Edison was notified.

A smoke detector was activated in a residence at 9128 Terrace Dr. on Jan. 27. Firemen found the occupant was taking a shower and the steam set off the smoke detector.

Niles College welcomes blood donors

Niles residents are urged to walk in and donate blood at Niles College on Tuesday, Feb. 3. The drive will be held from 2 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. at the college, 7135 N. Harlem, Niles. Ron Hicks, blood drive chairperson, encourages students and parents of students to donate. Jean O'Malley, R.N., the school health official, heartily endorses this blood drive.

Cablevision of Chicago recently opened another door to movie viewing via pay per view cablecasts, a new technology that may put a crimp in the home video market. Cablevision subscribers in Niles can beat the winter blues by selecting a movie of their choice and watching it in the comfort of their living rooms. All it takes is a phone call.

The cable company began the movie option programming in December with service to 30 communities in the Chicagoland area, including Niles. The company requires that pay per view subscribers must also subscribe to at least one movie channel.

"It means that people with basic service are not eligible for this service," said Carl Fox, Cablevision coordinator for the Village of Niles. Basic service cost is $9.95 per month and the premium package is $14.95 plus $9.50 for HBO or other available movie channel. Fox explained that a person only has to call up and order a film offered in a monthly guide sent to subscribers. The pay per view is shown on Channel 24 (in Niles) at either 8 p.m. or 10 p.m. depending on the time selected.

The request goes on a computer and people can enjoy a cablecast of recent Hollywood hits, he said. The charge per movie is $4., which is placed on the subscriber's monthly bill. "I think it has the potential to become a popular movie option for those who are homebound because of inclement weather, or young parents, who can't always afford baby sitters when they want to go to a movie theater," Fox said.

Because pay per view is relatively new in Niles, figures are not available as to how many subscribers have responded to the new service. "It will take some time to learn what percentage of the village is taking advantage of the new movie option," he said. "We also feel this has the potential for attracting new subscribers."

Cablevision of Chicago reached a high of 3,184 subscribers in 1984, with the figure dropping to 2,782 in Dec., 1986. "That is a 28 percent drop which is in the normal range of the national average of 30 percent," Fox explained.

Eligible subscribers can order a movie by calling the Cablevision studio in the Niles, Administration Building at 965-7730, or the company's Oak Park office at 383-9100.

Lutheran General Blood Bank

Richard E. Dohnke, Des Plaines, prepares for his 90th blood donation at the Lutheran General Hospital Blood Bank in January with Linda Synovic, blood bank technologist. January was also National Blood Donor Month. Since 1971, Mr. Dohnke has donated a total of 11 gallons of blood to Lutheran General for which he received a plaque of appreciation from the American Association of Blood Banks. Each single unit of blood helps an estimated four people, so his donation of 88 units was utilized by some 350 patients. Anyone interested in donating blood may call the Blood Bank at Lutheran General, 696-5580.

Village of Skokie

Limited financial resources have led to the growth of self-help groups as either an alternative or a supplement to professional help.

On Wednesday, Feb. 11, the Skokie Office of Human Services will offer a training seminar on Leading Self-Help Groups. This training session for facilitators will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Albert J. Smith Center at Lincoln and Galitz in Skokie.

Self-help groups are small groups whose goal is mutual support in the accomplishment of a specific purpose. They are usually formed by individuals who get together to address a common need or concern, or to bring about desired personal growth or social change.

Both guidelines and limits for facilitators of the support groups will be presented. Methods of encouraging communication, determining the participants' expectations, and coping skills to ameliorate stress will be examined.

There will be no fee for the training, but the number of participants will be limited.

Call Skokie Office of Human Services at 673-0500, ext. 208 to register for the seminar.

INCOME TAX FILING HELP

Expert income tax filing help will be available to Morton Grove senior citizens beginning Monday, Feb. 9. This free assistance is provided by volunteer aides who have been trained by the Internal Revenue Service. For an appointment any Monday, Wednesday, or Friday from Feb. 9 through April 15, call the Senior Hot Line at 470-5223.

BLOOD PRESSURE CLINIC

Excessive cholesterol in the blood can cause a buildup of plaque along the lining of the blood vessels. This causes a narrowing of the vessels decreasing circulation and increasing blood pressure. The body manufactures cholesterol, but it is also found in large amounts in red meats and dairy products. If told by a doctor to decrease the intake of cholesterol, people should eat more chicken and fish as a source of protein rather than red meat and whole milk products. Morton Grove senior citizens who are interested in learning more about their blood pressure can have a free test from 9 to 10 a.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 10 in the Village Hall Senior Center.

ADVISORY COMMISSION ON AGING

Morton Grove's Advisory Commission on Aging, a citizen board of individuals concerned with programs, policies, and issues of importance to the senior center population will hold their February meeting at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, the 13th in the Village Hall Senior Center.

SHOW SHOVELERS

Youth workers are available for senior citizens who will be needing their sidewalks and driveways cleared of snow. For more information about finding a neighborhood worker, call the Morton Grove Village Hall at 965-4100, ext. 254.

FEELING USEFUL/FEELING NEEDED

A discussion on this subject at Oakton Community College will look at how to redefine life's meaning in the later years and how to establish new goals, new dreams and then learn how to make them happen. The program will be held at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 10 in room 112 at Oakton's Skokie campus, 7701 Lincoln ave. There is a cost of $1 for entry.

UNDERSTANDING ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE

The North Shore Senior Center presents an educational series to help families understand Alzheimer's Disease. The four week series includes sessions on legal and financial issues, the family's perspective, and management and caretaking. Expert speakers and panel members will lead the sessions continuing at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 11. Pre-registration is required by calling 446-0537.

Cadet Wing Commander

Guy J. Brilando, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brilando of Niles has been selected for the position of Cadet Wing Commander in the Air Force ROTC program at Embury-Riddle Aeronautical University in Daytona Beach, Florida. The Wing Commander is the highest position obtainable in the AFROTC program.

Cadet Brilando is a senior at Embury-Riddle and a 1981 graduate of Niles West High School. He is majoring in Aeronautical Science. As an AFROTC cadet he is a full time student working on his bachelor's degree. In addition to his regular college curriculum, he takes an Air Force Aerospace Studies course each quarter. The course teaches Air Force history, leadership and management, and national defense policy.

After graduation, Cadet Brilando will be commissioned as a Second Lieutenant and enter active duty as an Air Force officer.

The zoo comes to you at Harlem Irving Plaza

Harlem Irving Plaza presents "See the Zoo" Wednesday thru Sunday, Feb. 11 - 15 at the center located at Harlem Ave., Irving Park, and Forest Preserve Drive.

"Sponsored by Brookfield Zoo and Encyclopedia Britannica, "See the Zoo" is an event that the entire family can learn from and enjoy," commented Kathy Vitello, mall Marketing Director. A Brookfield Zoo keeper from the Children's Zoo will be at the north court of the mall daily to present various North American domestic animals and to educate people on their characteristics and habitat. The animals featured are considered "petable" and parents are encouraged to bring their youngsters to enjoy this educational experience. The animals will be on the mall daily from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Also, during this time, costume characters from the zoo including an elephant and a zebra, as well as Harlem Irving Plaza's mascot, Happy Hippo, will be on the mall to visit with friends. "Brookfield Zoo is dedicated to excellence in our recreation, education, conservation, and research concerning wildlife," remarked Debra Cullen, Special Events and Marketing Manager for the zoo. "We're pleased to have this opportunity to present a bit of the zoo to the shoppers of Harlem Irving Plaza," added Cullen.

Co-sponsoring this educational wildlife promotion is Encyclopedia Britannica. During the five-day event, they will display a portrait exhibit featuring 40 full-color posters of wildlife including interesting facts about each animal. Free handouts and posters, compliments of Brookfield Zoo, will be available.

Sutker supports child abuse prevention fund

State Representative Cal Sutker (D-Skokie) noted this week that the Child Abuse Prevention Fund successfully aided more than 47,600 children in Illinois last year.
"Illinois taxpayers have willingly donated their tax refunds in recent years to assist child abuse prevention efforts. I encourage taxpayers to continue their support this year, as many children still need our help."
"Since the program was initiated, more than 144,000 people have donated more than $1 million to the fund," Sutker said. "Money accumulated through the tax check-offs is used to support parent hot-lines, parent support groups and child awareness programs designed to prevent sexual abuse."
"I'm glad to report the success of this program. Protecting our children is the most important thing our society can do," the lawmaker added. "I urge all taxpayers to remember to contribute to the fund again this year to ensure the continued success of its operations."

Three check-offs will be offered on Illinois tax forms this year including the Child Abuse and Prevention Fund, Non-Game Wildlife Fund and the Alzheimer's Disease Fund.

A SURE HOME-RUN

For that unique man, a diamond is a wonderful Valentine's Day gift. Baseball diamonds are well-suited for play. For the man on your team, a diamond ring catches the spirit of the holiday.

When people grow in their love, they come to count on the other one being there to make sure all the bases are covered. The pitcher pitches, the catcher catches. The pitcher is credited with the win, but they celebrate mutual victory.

A diamond worn by the man in your life lets you celebrate together. The ring has long been a symbol of love. The diamond ring is a symbol of love and quality. Each time he extends his index finger to make a point, the listeners see that sparkling, authoritative gem. And you are the one to put it on his finger.

A diamond tie tack catches the eye, holds the attention like a runner is held on first. While he fields ideas, the diamond flashes the signal that this is a player who has things under control.

Cut, color, clarity, and carat weight are the important line-up for selecting a diamond. Our jewelers are real pros who scout out the diamond that will bring the cheers. A Valentine's Day diamond is a sure home-run.

Oakton professor chosen for program

Thelma Parker, professor of Student Development and coordinator of Instructional Computing at Oakton Community College, has been selected to participate in an international leadership training program for two-year college women professionals.

Thelma S. Parker

Parker was chosen for her interest in advancement in college administration and the quality of her proposed project to develop new skills to benefit the institution.

Parker will join 160 top women in management selected to participate in a six-month project that will aid their institution and help them improve their skills needed to assume major decision-making roles. The project is sponsored by the League for Innovation in Community Colleges (a consortium of community college districts in the U.S.A. and Canada), and the American Association of Women in Community and Junior Colleges.

"I'm honored to be part of the program," said the Burr Ridge resident. "This is an excellent opportunity to develop my leadership skills."

As a professor of Student Development, Parker has initiated and supervised cooperative education experiences for students in the data processing curriculum. In addition, she counseled students and groups concerning vocational, educational, and personal issues. To pursue her growing interest in computers, Parker is currently working on her Masters of Science in Teaching (MST) degree in computer science at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

"Now, I'm increasingly involved in computers and how it can be used in education," Parker said. "The Leaders Project will enable me to broaden the task of building a program to integrate computers in the classroom."

Parker, who holds a masters degree in Counseling and Student Personnel Administration from Northwestern University, serves as the chairperson of Oakton's Academic Computing Committee and is currently the coordinator of Instructional Computing.

Baby-Sitter Classes at St. Francis

The Volunteer Department at St. Francis Hospital of Evanston is offering a free baby-sitter education program for area youngsters. "Super Sitter," a practical baby-sitter orientation program, will be held on consecutive Wednesday evenings in March from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The dates are March 4, 11, 18 and 25. The program is open to all children who are in at least the fifth grade.

The four-part program will cover the topics of child care, discipline, first aid, and safety precautions. Classes will be taught by professionals in each field, including pediatric nursing, emergency nursing, paramedics, and the fire and police departments.

Parents are welcome to participate in any or all of the sessions. Enrollment is limited to 20 children. For more information, or to receive an application form, call the Volunteer Department, 492-2255.

Dad and Daughter Date Night

Dad and Daughter Date Night on Thursday, Feb. 12 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. is the annual occasion when dads take their favorite little lady out for a night on the town. Dick Crouse will serve as the Master of Ceremonies and both will enjoy a night of square dance. Don't be concerned if either or both are unacquainted with the fun of square dancing. It is quick and easy to get into the action and a most enjoyable way to reestablish a fun relationship with your little lady. Usually there are extra little ladies (sisters) so extra grandpas and uncles are welcome to provide dates for all the little ladies. There is a $3 per couple charge, $1 for each additional date. All first through eighth grade daughters are invited to come and bring their dads to the Maine Park Leisure Center, 2701 Sibley. Registration is required. Space is limited and the program does fill so do register soon. For further information call 692-5127.

"Fashion Fare Tour"

Discover Chicago's high fashion industry in a tour sponsored by the Oakton Community College MONNACEP Office in March.

"Fashion Fare Tour" from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Thursday, March 12, will explore the scenes behind Chicago's fashion and design. Participants will tour a small manufacturer and get a close-up view of the process of making high-fashion clothes, from the sketchpad to the final product. While learning the history of fashion through the ages, participants will also experience the changes in the design scene of Chicago today.

The tour will also feature visits to several unique showrooms in Chicago's Apparel Center and to a jewelry designer. The cost of the tour is $33 which includes transportation and lunch.

The bus will depart from the Niles North High School parking lot at 9 a.m. For information, call the MONNACEP Office, 982-9888.

Seeking young Jewish women of Morton Grove

Young Jewish women residing in the Morton Grove area are being invited to participate in the 1987 Ambassador's Ball and Presentation of Young Ladies on behalf of the Chicago area State of Israel Bond campaign.

The Ball, according to Chairpersons Saralee and Manny Price of Highland Park, is set for Tuesday, June 16 at 6 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom of the Chicago Hilton Towers Hotel.

Young ladies of debut age and their escorts are presented to Israel's Ambassador during a special ceremony begun thirty-six years ago when Israel's first Ambassador was posted to the Court of St. James in London. The Ball is the only Jewish debutante Ball in the Chicago area and is a major event in the Chicago area State of Israel Bond campaign.

Proceeds from the sale of Israel Bonds in the United States are used for the purchase of non-military American made goods that Israel needs for economic development.

Young ladies or parents interested should contact the Israel Bond office at 558-9400.

Breastfeeding Hotline

Prentice Women's Hospital and Maternity Center of Northwestern Memorial Hospital has recently developed a Breastfeeding Hotline. The hotline is available for questions and consultation regarding all issues concerning breastfeeding.

The hotline is associated with the Prentice Breastfeeding Center. The Center along with the hotline is staffed by a certified breastfeeding consultant. Expectant mothers and those already breastfeeding may contact the hotline for questions relating to breastfeeding classes, flat/inverted nipples, nursing twins or triplets, engorged/clogged ducts, sore/cracked nipples, insufficient milk supplies and any other concerns related to breastfeeding.

The telephone service is free of charge and those needing assistance can reach the consultant seven days a week by calling 908-7155. If the consultant is not available, leave a message and your call will be returned as soon as possible. If a breastfeeding problem requires further consultation, the mother and baby can be seen at the Center for a fee.

Northwestern Memorial Hospital Prentice Breast Center

Prentice Women's Hospital and Maternity Center of Northwestern Memorial Hospital has recently opened the Prentice Breast Center, which offers personal instruction about breast self-examination, information about breast cancer and other breast diseases, and screening examination of the breasts.

Approximately 90% of breast lumps are found by women themselves through regular self-examination. Regular exams by a physician and screening mammographies lead to the diagnosis of breast cancers that are smaller. Not all breast lumps are cancerous (eight out of ten are not).

The Prentice Breast Center focuses on teaching breast self-examination by a nurse specialist. The nurse specialist shows a videotape on self-examination and the patient practices on a model. The nurse will then do a breast examination and instruct the patient privately on how to perform self-examination. Patients receive written information to assist them once they leave the center.

If a lump is discovered the patient will be examined by a physician who may recommend treatment options at that time. A report will be sent to the patient's physician at her request. The center is open every Wednesday afternoon from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Northwestern Memorial's Prentice Women's Hospital and Maternity Center, 333 E. Superior St. For more information and an appointment call 908-7469.

Child Abuse presentation Catholic Schools Week

Mark Twain PTA conducted its second general PTA meeting on Jan. 12. The short business meeting was followed by a presentation on the general topic of abuse of children.

Mrs. Lois Zykes, a professional counselor, surprised the audience of about thirty when she quoted statistics and studies which indicated the problem of abuse is wide-spread throughout all levels of society. Additional discussion centered on definition of terms and the role of the authorities, agencies and the school in reporting and correcting the problem.

February 6, will be the highlight of a week long series of events to celebrate Catholic Schools Week.

1) 11:30 a.m. in the school cafeteria, K-5rd. grade students will have grandparents come in and eat lunch with them and later attend a special pep assembly. Grandparents will wear buttons with their grandchildren's pictures on them & students will wear buttons with pictures of their grandparents. Buttons will be made by the children.

2) 12:30 p.m. in the chapel, a paralytic with the theme, Why is St. Peter's A Special School? Program will include special spirited cheers. Students expressing through writings, art, poetry, their love for St. Peter School and why it is special. Student council members will be speaking at Mass.

3) Junior High students will be writing to 3 and 4 years olds in the parish telling them why they are proud to be at St. Peter School.

Mumps on the rise for children

Dr. Bernard J. Turnock, Director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, has instituted an emergency rule requiring children to be immunized against mumps disease before they begin the 1987-88 school year.

In directing the emergency action, Dr. Turnock noted there were 2,743 cases of mumps in the state in 1986, an 800 percent increase from the 292 cases reported in 1985. The Illinois total represents 40.3 percent of the 6,807 cases reported nationwide last year.

Although mumps is not considered a serious disease, complications can cause hearing loss, sterility, encephalitis or death. Illinois was one of only 18 states that did not require immunizations of school children.

In addition to mumps, children also must be immunized against diphtheria, pertussis, tetanus, poliomyelitis, measles and rubella before entering school.

Last year, school districts reported that 98 percent of the children were vaccinated against all the required diseases. A district must reach at least 90 percent compliance or face the loss of 10 percent of its state school aid. No school district has ever lost any aid since the program began with the 1980-81 school year.

Dr. Turnock noted that 78 percent of the school age children have been immunized already for mumps and he expects with the new rule the rate will rise to more than 90 percent.

The emergency rule will be in effect for 150 days and after that the Department will adopt a final version that has been reviewed by the public and legislature as part of the rule-making process.

Cashier aids friend in theft

A Glenview man was arrested for retail theft on Jan. 28. According to police reports, the offender was a cashier at a store in the 8500 block of Golf Rd. A friend of the offender came to the cash register with some merchandise, where the offender rang up sales totaling $50 instead of the true value of $190. The accomplice then exited the store. During questioning, the offender said he did not know where his friend lives or his phone number, who was described as 22-23 years of age, 6' 4" weighing about 250 pounds. He was released on $1,000 bond pending a March court date.

Flying carpets

Someone removed an Oriental rug worth $360 from a car parked in a restaurant parking lot in the 8400 block of Golf Rd.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given to the legal residents of the Town of Maine in the County of Cook and State of Illinois that a public hearing to discuss amendments to the budget for the 'Maine Township Road and Bridge District for the fiscal year which began March 1, 1986 and will end February 28, 1987 will be held at the Maine Township Town Hall, 1700 Ballard Road, Park Ridge at 7:00 p.m. on February 24, 1987. Notice is further given that the proposed amendments would result in no increase in the budget totals as previously adopted, proposed amendments will affect interbudgetary line items only. Copies of the proposed amended budget are available for public inspection at the office of the Town Clerk during normal business hours.

Home burglarized

Unknown persons gained entry to a house in the 8300 block of Park by breaking a rear window of the building on Jan. 23. Once inside, the burglar ransacked the house, and removed a fur coat, costume jewelry and a watch worth a total of $120 from a bedroom. Also taken were four CD certificates worth $15,000 each.

The owner notified the bank of the stolen CD's.

Party ends in assault of woman

A 22-year-old Des Plaines woman reported Jan. 28 that she was assaulted by a man, while at the party in a condominium adjacent to the Golf Glen shopping center.

According to police reports, two friends let her off in front of the condominium while they parked the car. She was let in to the apartment by the offender, who was unknown to her. While she was in the bedroom, the offender made sexual advances, but when she resisted was grabbed by her hair and kicked on the side of the head. He then threw her out of the apartment.

The victim requested a follow-up and wishes to sign a complaint.

Price-switcher caught

A security agent on Jan. 26 observed the offender taking a knife valued at $19.94. He also removed a football worth $39.99 and placed it in a shoe box priced at $9.94.

He was released on $1,000 bond and assigned a March court date.

Hit and run drunk driver arrested

A Des Plaines man was arrested for battery, drunk driving, possession of alcohol by a minor and driving with a suspended license on Jan. 27.

Police observed the offender driving west on Church from Greenwood with no lights and heavy front end damage weaving from lane to lane. He ignored a stop sign at Lincoln and church, proceeded westbound on Church and then made a left turn onto southbound Western Ave. traveling at a speed of 50 mph.

Police initiated a stop at a parking lot at Western and Ballard, and during questioning noticed he had a cut on his forehead, which was bleeding. The offender was verbally abusive and at one point, struck an officer in the arm. A check showed an open bottle of liquor on the floor and further investigation revealed the offender had been in a hit and run accident involving several other cars on Golf Rd.

He was released on $3,000 bond and assigned a Feb. court date.

Car damages village property

A resident in the 8500 block of Madison reported Jan. 28 that someone drove over her lawn on Jan. 28.

A check showed the offender also drove over the parkway, knocking over a stop sign and a tree.

Damage is undetermined.

Someone broke the right side window of a car parked on a street in the 8700 block of Oscola. Once inside, the offender removed a radar detector valued at $245.

Car window shot

Someone used a B.B. gun to shatter the rear window of a car parked in front of a house in the 8800 block of Huber Lane. Damage was estimated at $260.

Drunk driver arrested for controlled substance

A Chicago man was arrested for improper lane use, drunk driving and possession of a controlled substance on Jan. 25.

Police observed the offender traveling northwest on Milwaukee from Howard, weaving in and out of the lane and turning onto Oakton speeding and slowing down.

After he was stopped in the 1400 block of Oakton, police asked for his driver's license, with the offender offering a paper napkin. A cursory search revealed a plastic bag containing a brownish-green substance was in his pants pocket.

He was released on $1,000 bond pending a March court date.

Niles woman hit by car

A Niles man was cited after he was involved in an auto accident on Jan. 27.

The offender was driving northbound in the 8300 block of Milwaukee Ave. when he struck a pedestrian crossing Milwaukee in a west to east direction. She was taken to Lutheran General Hospital for treatment.

The offender was assigned a Feb. court date.

Snowman loses head

A resident in the 8400 block of Amelia told police someone took the head off the top of a plastic snowman on Jan. 24.

The snowman was worth about $100.

Tail lights broken

Persons unknown broke the two rear tail lights on a car parked in the driveway of a residence in the 8300 block of Wisner.

Damage was estimated at $75.

Diners eat and run

The owner of a restaurant in Golf Glen shopping center told police Jan. 28 that four men dined at the restaurant and left without paying the bill totaling $38.20.

Shoplifter arrested

An Evanston man was arrested after he was caught taking five cartons of cigarettes in a store at the Dempster Plaza shopping center.

An employee attempted to stop him when he was exiting the store, and during the process, the offender struck her on the neck with his arm.

Because of a prior theft conviction, he was released on $25,000 bond and assigned a Jan. court date.

Shoplifter zeros in on vitamins

The manager of a drug store in the 7900 block of Milwaukee reported Jan. 26 that a man removed a bottle of Vitamin C tablets and put it in his jacket. He exited the store and got in a car driving out of the parking lot.

A check showed the offender had taken about seven bottles of the tablets worth a total of $83.93 within a period of several hours. He was described as about 30 years old, 5' 11" dark hair and wearing a two-tone packet and dark pants.

Purse stolen

A Niles man reported Jan. 27 that someone took a purse from her hands, while she was shopping at a store in the 8400 block of Milwaukee Ave.

The purse was worth $25 and contained $50, credit cards, check book and a diamond ring worth $1,500.

Coat removed from court room

A Glenview woman reported Jan. 27 that someone removed her coat from a chair in the court room of the Niles Police Station on Milwaukee and Touhy.

The coat was valued at $200.

Car vandalized

A Niles resident told police Jan. 26 that someone used a hard object to break the driver's door window parked in the 8000 block of Lyons causing $125 damage.

Attorney General warns Audi 5000 owners

Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan today warned owners of Audi 5000 cars to "not be lulled into a false sense of security" by the announcement that the company is issuing a recall in an effort to prevent "sudden unwanted acceleration."

The company announced yesterday (Jan. 15) that it will install a shift-interlock system which it says will prevent the vehicle from "sudden unwanted acceleration" in which some Audis have gone out of control when shifted from "park" to "drive" or "park" to "reverse."

However, Hartigan pointed out that the Center for Auto Safety, located in Washington D.C., disputes the effectiveness of the so-called "black box".

The Center, which has reported more than 800 incidents of "sudden unwanted acceleration" involving the Audi 5000, has termed the recall a "phony fix". The Center said it has received reports of at least eleven incidents of "sudden unwanted acceleration" involving Audi vehicles even though the cars has been equipped with the so-called black box.

The shift-interlock system requires that the brake pedal be depressed before the vehicle can be shifted from "park" to "drive" or "park" to "reverse."

"It is important that consumers be aware of the problem Audi has had with sudden unwanted acceleration," Hartigan said. "I am encouraged that the company has decided to notify all Audi owners by telephone and letter of the recall."

Previously Audi had refused to publicize the recall, contending that the problem was caused by "driver error" rather than an operational problem.

"But our concern persists that what Audi says is a remedy has not proved to solve the problem and we do not want Audi owners to be lulled into a false sense of security simply because the company has announced a recall.

"I am insisting that the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration continue its examination of this problem until it has convincing proof that this problem is under control."

Hartigan is also insisting that NHTSA also provide a repurchase provision.

The problem with the Audi was brought to public attention last May by Hartigan after a Buffalo Grove woman was struck and killed by a runaway Audi. It was followed by other complaints.

The recall was requested by NHTSA only after Hartigan persisted that the agency had power to order such action because of the clear evidence of a high rate of accidents.

There are an estimated 250,000 Audis subject to the recall. There are an estimated 7,000 Audis titled in Illinois.

I Bet You Didn't Know

By Jim Jennings

Here's an amazing baseball fact that's hard to believe-but it's true. A big league manager once VOLUNTARILY GAVE THE OTHER TEAM A RUN during a game. It happened in 1942 when Giants' manager Mel Ott told his pitcher to walk Bill Nicholson of the Cubs intentionally with the bases loaded- thus giving the Cubs a sure run as a gift. The reason Ott did that was because Nicholson was on a hot home-run-hitting streak, and Ott thought it was better to give up one run than risk a Nicholson homer and 4 runs.

Here's a little-known fact about Pete Rose that shows what a versatile player he's been. Rose is the only man in the history of baseball who's played 500 or more games at 5 different positions in the big leagues. Rose has played 500 or more games at each first base, second base, third base, left field and right field in his career.

One reason why sports are so interesting is this quote by playwright Neil Simon. He said, "Sports are the only entertainment where, no matter how many times you go, you never know the ending."

Niles Baseball League registration

Hard to believe, but the Niles Baseball League season is just around the corner, and now all we need is you! Thanks largely to your efforts in last year's Candy Sale, our fundraiser was a huge success, therefore we have been able to lower our registration fee $5. per family.

Registration will take place on Thursday, Feb. 12, 8 - 10 p.m.; Saturday, Feb. 14 - 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. On Feb. 23 thru March 20, the Park District Office will take registration weekdays between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. at the Niles Recreation Center, 7877 N. Milwaukee Ave., Niles.

Anyone wishing to register after the final registration, will be put on a Waiting List and placed in the League on an as needed basis.

All registrants must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian at the time of registration. All those registering for the first time in the Niles Baseball League, must bring Birth Certificates to verify age. The following is a breakdown of the league age brackets:

Instructional League: 7 & 8 year olds - Born between 8/1/78 - 7/31/80; Little league: 9 & 10 year olds - Born between 8/1/76 -

Jimmy Piersall to speak at Gemini

The students and staff at Gemini Junior High School, 8955 N. Greenwood, Niles - East Maine School District '83 - are eagerly looking forward to Friday, Feb. 6. This is the date that Jimmy Piersall, currently with the Chicago Cubs organization, will visit Gemini to give a presentation regarding mental health.

Mr. Piersall was one of the most colorful players in baseball history. When Jimmy would hit home runs, he'd slide into every base; he had a habit of running the bases backwards, too! When he retired from the game in 1967, he was one of the Major League's outstanding outfielders with a .308 lifetime fielding average - the best in the Majors over the last 25 years.

Mr. Piersall is the author of the book Fear Strikes Out that chronicled the last year in his life - 1952 - when he ended his season in a Massachusetts mental hospital. His recovery being complete, Mr. Piersall is a much sought-after speaker on mental health.

Another special program "Safe Child" deals with teaching parents a children about protection against sexual abuse.

Bradley Braves basketball

Although the Bradley Braves basketball team has only played 17 games, sophomore point guard Anthony Manuel must feel as if he's been through an entire season already. Starting the season as the team's point guard, the 5-11 Chicago (Crane High School) product made no one forget last year's leader Jim Les and was removed from the starting line-up after just two games.

Five games later, he was told after the Braves were involved in an embarrassing loss to Evansville University - by head coach Stan Albeck that he would receive no more playing time unless he lost 10 pounds from his stocky frame. He sat out both games of the Jostens Tournament in Philadelphia, reappeared on the court when the Braves dismantled Detroit on January 3 and finally got a starting nod last week when the Braves visited Illinois State.

After that game, the Redbirds probably wished they'd sneaked cupcakes into BU's locker room.

Norwood Federal announces new name and latest earnings

Norwood Federal Savings Bank is the new name for the financial institution which has been operating since 1927, according to Donald J. Babicz, President.

Headquartered at 5813 N. Milwaukee Ave. in Chicago, Norwood Federal Savings Bank will operate essentially the same as always.

According to Mr. Babicz, "We will continue to offer the traditional line of savings and loan products and services to our neighborhood communities. Our new title, specifically the "bank" portion, more accurately reflects recent financial deregulation which has allowed us to expand into new banking services and functions."

Norwood Federal's continual dedication to the markets it serves can best be illustrated by increased earnings for the first six months of its fiscal year. Earnings for the July 1, 1986 - Dec. 31, 1986 time period were $1.3 million, compared with $1.1 million in the same time period of 1985.

The $246 million Savings Bank also reported new mortgage loans totalling $20.5 million for the same time period, up 5% from $19.5 million originated in the final six-month period of 1985.

St. Paul Federal's record earnings, attributed to six-year loan restructuring effort

Low rates make State Farm homeowners insurance a good buy.

CALL ME

FRANK PARKINSON
7745 MILWAUKEE AVE.
NILES, IL 60548
967-5545

St. Paul Federal Bank for Savings today announced plans to open two new branch offices and develop a new mortgage backed security in 1987.

The new branch sites are in Oak Lawn and Skokie, bringing to 24 St. Paul's total number of branch offices in Metropolitan Chicago. The Oak Lawn office, 9401 S. Cicero Ave., is expected to be operational in Aug. 1987. The Skokie office, under construction at the intersection of Golf and Niles Center roads, is expected to open in Sept., 1987.

The announcements by Joseph C. Scully, St. Paul's president and CEO, follows the January 5 report of the bank's fourth consecutive year of record earnings. Scully attributed St. Paul's $20.1 million income and its positive overall performance in 1986 to a six-year commitment to restructuring of its loan portfolio.

Speaking at St. Paul's annual meeting at Chicago's Westin Hotel, O'Hare, Scully said the six-year restructuring effort was propelled by five basic objectives:

1. The addition of high quality variable rate assets to the balance sheet;
2. The sale of long term fixed rate assets;
3. Control of deposit costs;
4. Controlled growth; and
5. Control of operating expenses.

"1986 proved to be very favorable year for the bank in terms of profitability, consistency and our ability to match assets to liabilities," Scully said. "Our interest rate spread (the difference between return on loans and the cost of deposits) increased to 2.88 percent at year's end, as a result of our commitment to adjustable rate lending that insulates the bank from interest rate fluctuations."

St. Paul's loan portfolio now includes 70 percent adjustable rate - or interest rate sensitive - mortgages which Scully said are not only "the only sound lending practice" for the bank but also loans "in the best interest of the consumer."

"I know of no circumstance in the past five years where a borrower would have been better off with a fixed rate loan than a variable rate loan," he said. "As interest rates have turned down since 1980, the various interest cost to the borrower has dropped steadily. Many fixed rate borrowers could have kept the points in their pocket if they had chosen a variable rate loan in the first place. We need to do a better job of explaining this to the homebuying public."

Scully pointed out, however, that St. Paul will continue to provide fixed rate loans for customers in the communities it serves. During 1986, St. Paul made and sold over $165.5 million in fixed rate loans to the secondary market.

During the period of 1980 through 1986, Scully said, St. Paul met additional restructuring objectives through the sale of approximately $1 million in fixed rate assets, replacing them with variable interest rate loans, and the control of liability on borrowing costs.

"Since we were making adjustable rate loans, we were able to stay short on the maturity of our deposits," Scully said. "Therefore, we avoided locking in high-rate, long-term liability costs when interest rate began shifting downward."

During the same period, Scully said St. Paul intentionally controlled growth. "We adopted a policy of forgoing the growth-for-growth syndrome in the financial community," he said, "and permitted growth only where the funds could be loaned at profitable spreads and comparable maturities."

Finally, the bank controlled operating expenses as part of the restructuring process. "Our operating expenses as a percentage of assets stand at 1.81 percent at the end of 1986," Scully said, "a full 25 basis points under the national average. This fact alone added $5 million in pre-tax income to St. Paul Federal in 1986. We achieved this mark... (while) being a full service financial institution, offering a full line of deposit and loan products to the consumer."

In all, 1986 marked St. Paul's fourth consecutive year of profitability, with net earnings $20.1 million, nearly double 1985 earnings of $11.7 million and four times greater than 1984 earnings of $4.6 million. Scully attributed the results to a significant increase in operating income, increased lending, and the completion of the issuance of $25 million in subordinated debt and new savings deposits of $85 million.

Along with a discussion of 1986 performance, Scully also announced plans for 1987 to develop a new mortgage backed security under the REMIC tax legislation that will permit the bank to sell customers' mortgage loans as investments to depositors.

He also said St. Paul Federal has been authorized by the Federal Home Loan Bank to open two new branch offices in Skokie and Oak Lawn, with both branches expected to be operational in late summer or early fall.

In addition, Scully noted that St. Paul Federal was selected by the FHLB in late 1986 to manage the First Savings of America branches in Orland Park and Bridgeport. St. Paul was appointed manager on December 12, 1986 and, during the first two weeks of January, positive savings flow has been restored.

IIT Development Program tops $100 Million goal

Capping nearly a decade of growth and academic enhancement, Illinois Institute of Technology (IIT) has completed its landmark $100 Million Development Program a year-and-a-half ahead of schedule.

Pre-Business Workshops

Persons interested in going into business should consider attending Pre-Business Workshops conducted by the Small Business Administration and the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE).

Subject matter at these workshops include: how to keep records and accounting procedures; start-up costs and financing; government regulations, business taxes and marketing and promotion - practically everything that needs to be done so that you can hang out your own business shingle and start signing your own paycheck.

Tough questions often arise at these seminars: Do you know how much money you will need to get your business started? Where will you get it? Do you know how much credit you can get from your suppliers? From whom will you get it? Have you figured out what net income per year you expect to get from the business? Do you know the good and bad points about going it alone, having a partner or incorporating your business? Have you tried to find out whether businesses comparable to yours are doing well in your community and in the rest of the nation?

SBA and SCORE can help with answers. Going into business is not an easy matter.

Small Business Forecast Profits and Cash Flow

A one-day workshop, "How to Forecast Profits and Cash Flow in a Small Business," will be given Wed., Feb. 25, for small business owners and managers.

Co-sponsored by SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives) and the U.S. Small Business Administration, the workshop will be conducted in the Dirksen Federal Bldg., 219 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, from 8:45 to 3:30 p.m.

One can learn how to improve profit opportunities in his or her business by the use of easily-mastered techniques of financial analysis, covered in the workshop. Effective step-by-step procedures for applying these methods to the forecasting of profits and cash flow in one's business will be shown by the experienced SCORE retired businessman volunteer conducting the session.

Advanced registration is necessary owing to limited seating capacity. Phone 353-7723, or mail check or money order ($10) to SCORE, % U.S. Small Business Administration, Dirksen Federal Bldg., 219 S. Dearborn St., Room 437, Chicago, IL 60604.

Walter L. Cherry, chairman of the IIT Trustee Development Council, Arch McClure, vice president and secretary to the Board, and Vernon Armour, trustee and descendant of IIT's founders, piloted the $100 Million Development Program from its inception. The results have been apparent across the IIT campus and include:

- 1.) Renovation and re-dedication of the university's Paul V. Galvin Library.
- 2.) Founding of the Pritzker Institute of Medical Engineering.
- 3.) Support for a nationally recognized Minorities in Engineering Program.
- 4.) Creation of the Design Processes Laboratory and the Integrated Information and Telecommunications Systems Center (IIT/ISC).
- 5.) Establishment of an interdisciplinary Industrial Bioprocess Engineering Center.
- 6.) Beautification of the IIT campus and renovation of laboratories, and
- 7.) Rejuvenation of the Alumni Association, accompanied by an award-winning Alumni Fund which has grown from $167,000 to $1,500,000 in seven years.

These enhancements have been overseen by president Thomas L. Martin Jr., IIT's chief executive since 1974. His leadership has been instrumental in positioning the university at the leading edge of advanced technology.

"We attribute the success of this campaign to the tremendous corporate and foundation investment made in the university's programs, and to the confidence and generosity of alumni, trustees, friends, and volunteers," says Cherry.

Martin and Cherry emphasized that while the $100 Million Development Program eclipsed its goal a year-and-a-half ahead of schedule, the momentum built through the campaign will continue to carry the university to even greater heights as IIT's impact on Chicago, the Midwest and the nation can be expected to grow.

"All of our supporters have combined to help create a university which has asserted itself as one of the nation's premier centers of science and technology education and research," says Martin. "The $100 Million Development Program represents an outstanding effort which has strengthened IIT's reputation for academic excellence."

Illinois Institute of Technology is an independent university supporting national goals through education and research.

Tops in Chinese cuisine

Award winner Chef George Wang, who has had 25 years experience with Chinese cuisine, has been placed on the top of the list by lovers of Chinese food.

Wang has worked at The Abacus on Clark St. in Chicago, and on special occasions was called in to cook for former President Jimmy Carter. In November of 1984, he opened Nan Garden in Morton Grove, and just recently opened East Garden in Niles, where his culinary talents shine through and the focus is on good food.

Chef George Wang's restaurant at 8166 Milwaukee, Niles, seems to offer something for everyone in culinary cuisine from Hunan and Szechwan haute hot cooking to a few Shanghai and Cantonese dishes. (It is perhaps too early to zero in on Wang's specialty, subtle improvisational Mandarin offerings requiring lengthy preparation.) Before opening his own restaurant, Wang was the master chef for four years at Phil Shen's Abacus in Chicago. Later he headed the kitchen at the now-closed Dr. Shen's, where he initiated a most interesting method of Chinese cookery called Sing Fah - a Western-style presentation whose time had not yet come. Wang brings two decades of experience to his new restaurant.

Chinese food lovers should bring their friends to sample a variety of dishes...the best way to enjoy this jewel of a restaurant. Call 966-1145.

Between The Bugle and Its Friends...

Theatre in Chicago is alive and well and living outside the downtown area.

Last Saturday night we were at the Jane Adams Center at Belmont and Broadway at a new 150-seat theatre, The Balliwick. We saw an exciting production of "An Execution of Justice", a play about the murder of San Francisco Mayor Mosconi and Supervisor Harvey Milk.

The play took place in a courtroom which determined the fate of former Supervisor Dan White, who admitted shooting the two men.

The conflict centers around the liberals and the conservatives, and the straight and the homosexual communities in Frisco.

White, an All American boy, was the star of his high school football team, a model policeman and fireman who chose to run for Supervisor in San Francisco, believing the values important to him were being cast asunder by the riots and sexual mores of Frisco's recent past.

When he was refused reappointment to the Supervisor's post he came to Mosconi's office and killed the Mayor and Supervisor Milk, a member of the homosexual community.

The conflicts and tensions underlying White's motives make the story a taut two-and-a-half hour play. It is well worth seeing.

Wednesday night we went to the opening of "The Wiz" at Marriott's Lincolnshire Theatre. It's a marvelous show and everyone desiring an evening's entertainment of music, song and dance should hurry down their own yellow brick road to Lincolnshire. Wednesdays and Thursdays you can buy tickets for $14, which is ten bucks less than weekends.

The controversy concerning the lead role being played by a white girl rather than a black one is lost when you see the show. The cast is predominately black and is a sheer joy. Wonderful voices and great staging makes the show glitter.

The lead role of Dorothy was originally cast for a black woman. But the folks at Lincolnshire chose a Puerto Rican woman for the lead whose voice and presence is exciting. She has a marvellous voice and she plays the role with deftness and élan. The show is joyous and you'll be captured by this upbeat performance.

We returned to the Omnimax theatre at the Science and Industry Museum Sunday and saw the Grand Canyon film for the second time. The five story screen is 76 feet in diameter and you view the film lying back in your seat looking up at the screen. You'll fly through the canyons and raft on the Colorado, almost feeling the spray as you head down the river. It cost $4 and reservations should be made in advance by telephone.

After the Grand Canyon experience we celebrated the Chinese New Year in Chinatown on Westworth Avenue (at Ceramk). We discovered a great Cantonese Restaurant, the Seven Treasurers, at 2312 Westworth. Six of us had dinner for $29 which included Won Ton soup, egg rolls, and dishes of beef, pork, chicken and shrimp fried rice. It was an excellent meal at a most modest price. We highly recommend.

Go and do. Don't let Chicago's winter keep you indoors. There's too much going on in Chicagoland.

Treat the city as if you were a visitor. You will be rewarded. D.B.

Exhibit of sculptures at Oakton

The works of sculptor David A. DeCesaris is on display in the Student Center at Oakton Community College, 1600 E. Golf Rd., Des Plaines, through Thursday, Feb. 12.

The exhibit will include sculptures ranging in size from 4' to 6' tall, cast in hydrostone and mounted on concrete bases. DeCesaris, who has a master of Fine Arts degree from Bradley University, has exhibited his collection in Washington D.C., North Carolina, Maryland and Peoria. His sculptural creations reflect his personal interest in figurative imagery and will help the viewers understand the intensities of the human condition that are apparent in the subtle movements of figurative form.

The exhibition is open from 7:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays; 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Fridays; and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. For information, call Oakton, 635-1640.

Azalea Flower Show opens February 14

The Chicago Park District will open its 45th Annual Azalea Flower Show February 14 at Lincoln Park, 2400 N. Stockton Dr. and Garfield Park, 300 N. Central Park Blvd. Conservatories. The show will continue through March 8.

"The Azalea Show gives Chicagoans an opportunity to get away from the cold winds and snowy winter and walk amidst the balmy indoor temperatures and beautiful springtime scenes," said Richard Faillie, Chief Horticulturist for the Park District.

"I live and work by the lake and always see the sky," said Rago of her exhibition inspiration. "In the Midwest, the sky draws the eye because it's so big, while everywhere else is flat. The changes in weather are metaphors for our own state of being and feeling."

The menu is another matter. Greco, who is the chef, learned his way around the kitchen from his father, a native of Naples and says the son, "an excellent amateur cook." Later, he sharpened his skills working in Chicago restaurants owned by the Milano family, of Papa Milano fame.

At Lucci, Greco specializes in dishes of Northern Italy, seasoned with a few from Papa Greco's Southern homeland.

Business looks good. Arriving for dinner one recent weeknight, we found Lucci's diningroom nearly filled. On weekends, management suggests reservations.

What seems to be drawing people is freshly prepared food, friendly service and reasonable prices. Complete dinners, including a choice of soup or salad and dessert, cost from $9.95 to $13.95.

Out Meal Got Off to a promising start. Soon after we sat down, our smiling, motherly waitress delivered a loaf of warm garlic bread. It was addictive.

Moments later, we were grinning, too, as we shared Lucci's

Loyola Fine Arts

Two Loyola University of Chicago Fine Arts faculty members will present an exhibit entitled "Earth, Sky" Feb. 8 - March 13 in the Fine Arts Gallery of the Edward Crown Center for the Humanities on Loyola's Lake Shore Campus, 6525 N. Sheridan Rd. Associate Professor Justine Mantor, M.F.A., and Professor Juliet Rago, M.F.A., will open their display of paintings, drawings and handmade paper with a reception in the Crown Center lobby from 3-5 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 8. The public is invited to attend.

Rago's "Sky" display will feature acrylic on large canvases, supplemented by smaller pastel and water color drawings. "I live and work by the lake and always see the sky," said Rago of her exhibition inspiration. "In the Midwest, the sky draws the eye because it's so big, while everywhere else is flat. The changes in weather are metaphors for our own state of being and feeling."

Caffe Lucci looks like a winner

If you consider the number of Italian restaurants per capita, Glenview seems to be giving Highwood a run for its money. A raft of new restaurants serving pastas, pizzas and veal Parmigiana has moved onto what used to be mostly the turf of meat-and-potatoes.

Caffe Lucci is one of the most recent entries, but it is already right up there with the front runners.

It does not look Italian. In November, Joe Greco and Chick Stella took over a building that was, for a long time, the Alpine Inn and, only briefly, Duesenberg.

The new owners have removed most of the automotive knickknacks and artwork put out by the previous tenants. Otherwise, they have left the Duesenberg decor, all-American serving staff and piped-in music, pretty much intact.

The menu is another matter. Greco, who is the chef, learned his way around the kitchen from his father, a native of Naples and says the son, "an excellent amateur cook." Later, he sharpened his skills working in Chicago restaurants owned by the Milano family, of Papa Milano fame.

Special appetizer. The dish is composed of tender scallops, sliced and served with sauteed fresh mushrooms in a butter and garlic sauce.

A platter of Paglia e Fieno kept us happy. The dish was made of egg and spinach fettuccini, prosciutto, mushrooms and peas tossed in cream sauce. Two of us divided a single order, and still found the serving so large, we could not finish it.

A bowl of Tortellini in Chicken Broth, which we ordered despite what seemed like a pretty 50-cent surcharge, was good enough. So was the chilled, and generous sized, house salad.

We gave high marks to both our antrees. Chicken Marsala, a notably moist and tender boned breast, tasted gently of its namesake wine and sported a field of sauteed mushrooms.

Veal Francaise, another good bet, featured top quality veal medallions, sauteed in olive oil, and a light lemon butter sauce.

Both the chicken and veal came with sauteed fresh zucchini and a side dish of rigatoni in a hearty tomato sauce.

Caffe Lucci has a brief wine list, with surprisingly few Italian selections. With the exception of the omnipresent cake, desserts are more authentic.

Cannoli and spumoni are offered ala carte. After all that had gone before, we stuck to those, and found they made a satisfying ending to the meal.

Caffe Lucci is one of the latest restaurants to enter Glenview's Italian sweepstakes. It might not look like it belongs in the field, but in matters of taste, it has the stuff to go the distance.

Caffe Lucci, 609 Milwaukee Ave., Glenview, is opened for lunch and dinner Mondays through Thursdays from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.; Fridays until 11 p.m.; Saturdays 4 to 10 p.m.; Sundays 4 to 10 p.m. Wheelchair access. Banquet facilities. American Express credit cards and reservations accepted. 729-2288.

Car Care

Tips for more Safety, Economy, Convenience

by Bob Miller

The Bugle is instituting this new Car Care column by Bob Miller which is intended to inform you of general car maintenance. Mr. Miller is fully certified by the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (NIASE). He has also completed all courses at the University Automotive Tech in Des Moines, Iowa for computer command control, electronic fuel system overhauls and fuel injection overhauls. He has been employed by Shawnee Service Center in Wilmette for the past 10 years.

The Battery: The Lifeline of your car

Remember all the talk about electric cars and alternative fuels a few years ago? According to the predictions gas was supposed to be about $3 a gallon by now and we were to be zipping to and from work in electric commuter vehicles. General Motors announced plans it would build an electric car in 1984. Well, here it is 1987 and you hardly ever hear the subject mentioned anymore.

So what has happened to battery technology in the meantime? Some of the more exotic batteries people were talking about as possible replacements for the old style battery remain just that - talk. Before gas prices reversed direction, General Motors made a lot of noise about a new design battery, the "breakthrough" that would make the electric car practical. This battery was smaller in size and half as light in weight as any battery ever produced. The only thing holding it back from going into production was the fact that not only was it expensive, but it had an extremely short life expectancy.

Over the last few years most of the improvements have been refinements in design such as lighter weight plastic cases (some even come with carrying handles), and re-engineered internal plates that allow today's batteries to deliver more power from a smaller box.

A 12-volt battery has six "cells", each of which contains perhaps a dozen or so plates (the greater the number of plates, the greater the storage capacity of the battery). Each cell produces 2.1 volts, so all six cells together actually make 12.6 volts.

One of the biggest problems with car batteries is the accumulation of sulfate over time, which can be due to chronic under-charging (defective voltage regulator, weak alternator, slipping fan belts or insufficient driving time between starts to recharge the battery). This can render a battery useless. Driving with an under-charged battery puts a lot of strain on the alternator, and if it happens often enough the alternator can burn out.

One thing that's probably the most confusing about today's batteries is battery ratings. The number most manufacturers are promoting is Cold Cranking Amps (CCA), or the battery's ability to deliver a sustained output at a specified temperature.

There's a rule of thumb that says a vehicle's battery should have a CCA rating equal to or greater than the engine's size. An example would be a car with a 350 cubic inch engine would require a battery that has a minimum of 350 cold cranking amps. The key word here is "minimum", because if the battery you're thinking about buting has a larger number, it's that much more power in your're favor.

You'll find batteries on the market today with CCA ratings of 650, 750 or even higher. One of the advantages of building a small battery a large CCA rating is that it can be used in a variety of cars.

Another term associated with batteries is "Reserve Capacity". This rating is a measure of how long a fully charged battery can sustain a moderate drain. The longer the reserve capacity rating, the longer the battery can keep the engine and accessories working in case of a charging system failure.

The physical dimensions of the battery itself have nothing to do with its capability to start your car on a cold Chicago morning. As long as the battery physically fits in the car, has the right kind of terminals (post or side mount), has the necessary cold cranking amp ratings to handle the engine and accessories, is compatible with the vehicle's charging system and the driving and maintenance habits you use, it's the "right" battery for your car.

With circulating hot water it can be a simple job to extend your heat into the garage, connecting it to the piping in an adjoining room.

You don't need much—just a short length of baseboard or finned-tube—because you only need 45 Degrees F in there while the rest of the house is 70 Degrees F; the amount of heat in the garage will depend on the length of the installed unit.

It will be a good time to check the weatherstripping around your garage door, to minimize the cold outside air from blowing in.

Chicago Auto Show opens Feb. 7

Luxury in automobiles is not reserved for just the large cars. Every car line has at least one in their line - whether it's a small, medium or large car. You can tell it at first sight - it's the one that catches your eye with its ultimate treatment in comfort and convenience items as well as a few appointments of glamour thrown in.

They will all be at the Chicago Auto Show - a glistening and gleaming - when it opens Saturday, Feb. 7 in McCormick Place. Mostly, these are the top of the line cars. And in most cases, they're a bit plusher, just a little more equipped than the other cars in the line, and, naturally, they probably are priced higher.

But, then, some of the more moderate priced cars can also boast a share of the glamour.

Each car line on display in the two huge halls of the lakefront exposition center, has at least one car considered a luxury model. Not so very long ago, the glamour lineup in the auto world was dominated by such American cars as Cadillac, Chrysler Imperial and Lincoln Continental. But in today's marketplace, the glamour lineup is lengthy and in both body styles and mechanical improvements. Traditional stars of conservative changes would include Mercedes-Benz (Germany) and Rolls Royce and Jaguar (England). The high performers in this category would be Ferrari (Italy) and Porsche (Germany).

And, of course, there are those limited production models with handcrafted styling of their own - and a price tag to match. For special glamour and excitement, be sure to take a look at the neoclassic styling of the Clenet, Excalibur, Gazelle and Tiffany - for the man who has everything.

In almost every car line there will be noted improvements in comfort, convenience and safety. Four-wheel-drive trains, new braking systems and other engineering developments are showing up at this year's show.

The Auto Show runs daily through Sunday, Feb. 15. Admission is $5 for adults and $1 for children 12 and under. Show hours are from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily. Senior Citizens are invited and with proper credentials will be admitted at a reduced rate of $3.

Robert Foley, Chairman of the Auto Show Committee, noted that "auto glamour in the eyes of auto fans today could change from sleek, dynamic prestigious sedans or classy low slung roadsters or even the long and exquisite limousines - whatever your glamour car will be here - among the 800 new vehicles on the show floors."

Foley pointed out that nameplates from overseas typically make gradual and perhaps inconspicuous changes because the valves and their seats are of a much harder material. Gradual elimination of lead from gasoline has been going on for about 20 years. The total elimination of lead became absolutely essential in the 1975 model year when the catalytic converter was installed on most cars to reduce emissions. Lead and the catalyst simply are not compatible. Too many tanks of leaded fuel destroy the converter. Older car owners switching from regular leaded gasoline to unleaded regular fuel may experience an occasional light engine knock. MVMA says that is okay but a persistent heavy knock can cause damage. The knock can be eliminated with a higher octane fuel like premium unleaded.

The 19th Annual Chicagoland RV and Camper Show will open on Friday, Feb. 13 and continue through Sunday, Feb. 22, at the O'Hare Expo Center in Rosemont, Illinois.

This 10-day RV extravaganza, Chicagoland's largest exclusive RV and camper show, will feature more than 125 exhibits colorfully displayed throughout 175,000 feet of floor space. Among these will be vans, foldovers, travel trailers, mini-homes, motor homes and luxury vehicles.

According to show director Bill Kervin, "interest in the RV and camping lifestyle is at an all-time high. We're expecting attendance at the 10-day event to top that of any of our previous 18 shows."

Also on hand will be many travel and campground exhibits for those seeking information on travel destinations and RV accommodations.

John Bronfield, western Movie-TV star, will make daily appearances and outdoors writer John Case will be on hand to present cooking demonstrations. A refreshment area, daily entertainment, and door prizes are additional attractions of the show.

Ticket prices for the 19th Annual Chicagoland RV and Camper Show are $5 for Adults and $2 for Children (under 13). Discount coupons are available at participating RV dealerships. Show hours are as follows: Monday through Friday, 3 p.m. to 10 p.m.; Saturdays, 11 a.m. to 10 p.m.; and Sundays, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

There will be free shuttle bus service from the parkinglot and the River Road Rapid Transit stop to the entrance of the show, and a special HOTLINE number, 777-5777, has been set up specifically for this event.

The O'Hare Expo Center is located at River Road and Bryn Mawr Avenue in Rosemont, Illinois.

Good advice for regular gas users

Here's good advice for some 25 million Americans. They are the owners of cars and trucks with a hearty appetite for lead in their gasoline. All of these vehicles were built prior to 1971 and a substantial number were around before most of us were born.

Lead is going the way of the electric and steam cars and the hand crank. Currently down to a tenth of a gram per gallon of gasoline, the ultimate goal is zero, according to a U.S. Environmental Protection Agency regulation.

Getting rid of lead has been a cause for concern by owners of older cars. Lead is needed in their older products as a lubricant for valves and valve seats. Lead was the least expensive way to boost octane for the high performance cars of an earlier era.

"The owners of the older cars will be able to cope with the problem," advises Fred W. Bowditch, Vice President for Technical Affairs of the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association. "Because of their age, these vehicles have a built-up cushion of lead around the valve seats that should keep the cars running for a long time, as long as their owners refrain from high speeds and heavy loads."

Chemical additives are on the market for engines built for leaded fuel consumption. The modern automobile engine does not require a lead lubricant

Heat Your Car With hot water heating your car can get an early start these cold winter mornings, advises the Better Heating-Cooling Council.

With circulating hot water it can be a simple job to extend your heat into the garage, connecting it to the piping in an adjoining room.

You don't need much—just a short length of baseboard or finned-tube—because you only need 45 Degrees F in there while the rest of the house is 70 Degrees F; the amount of heat in the garage will depend on the length of the installed unit.

It will be a good time to check the weatherstripping around your garage door, to minimize the cold outside air from blowing in.

W.W. Grainger announces branch expansion

W.W. Grainger, Inc. announced today a major branch expansion program in the New York and Detroit metropolitan areas. The program is based on extensive market research of large metropolitan areas. A total of 21 new branches are planned to open in the New York and Detroit areas during the next 12 months. Similar branch expansion in other metropolitan areas is under study. The new Metro branch expansion program is in addition to the Company's existing branch expansion program under which it plans to add up to 15 new branches during 1987.

Market research costs for large metropolitan areas and start-up costs for New York and Detroit are estimated at $8 million through the end of 1987. These expenses have been and will be charged to earnings as incurred.

W.W. Grainger, Inc., is a nationwide distributor of electrical, mechanical, and other products to the industrial and commercial markets. It currently has Regional Distribution Centers in Chicago and Kansas City, and a network of 196 distribution branches in 48 states.

GWG shares are traded on the New York and Midwest Stock Exchanges.

Commission orders company to reduce its rates

Northern Illinois Gas Company announced that on January 27 it received notice that the Illinois Commerce Commission had commenced a proceeding to determine the reasonableness of the Company's rates. The Commission also ordered the Company to reduce its rates on a temporary basis by approximately $7.4 million dollars annually.

A Company spokesman noted that the Commission order reflected the reduction in 1987 Federal income tax rates. NI-Gas is a wholly-owned subsidiary of NICOR Inc.

Golf Mill'ing Around The Mall

by Linda Zachow

Greetings from GOLF MILL where the midwinter blahs will give way to oohs and ahs as a lavish Bridal Extravaganza approaches. There are bargains galore as racks of winter merchandise are emptied and restocked with a dazzling and vivid array of spring apparel and accessories.

We've got to confess that no matter how many fashion magazines we peruse in an attempt to interpret today's styles, we inevitably end up buying something extremely unadventurous. If you are planning additions or corrections to your spring wardrobe, or if you feel "out of it" when it comes to fashion savoir faire, we've done extensive research in the mall to alert you to next season's up and coming trends.

We spoke with Laurie Westberg, assistant manager of WEBSTER'S MENSWEAR, a store which features both casual and formal menswear. Laurie and John Wolf, manager, really know their stuff. This WEBSTER'S outlet is a training store where all district managers and assistants undergo a rigorous 30-60 day training program. WEBSTER'S also provides tailoring. We were quite impressed as we watched Laurie show off her nimble fingerwork and fitting expertise as she adjusted a suit for a customer. WEBSTER'S new spring lines feature a heavy emphasis on earth tones, the khaki safari look which is making a comeback, and the ever popular flashy and vividly colored Hawaiian prints. Laurie sees formal double-breasted men's suits overtaking the Don Johnson look this year. We asked her to describe men's shopping patterns. Her experience shows that men shop about once every six months and really stock up (or their wives nag them in the interim).

Dave Berkowitz of OAK TREE says their spring line features a lot of double-breasted jackets. Pastels, prints, and even gray are expected to be popular. Pinks, peaches and whites are in; sweats, fringes and shiny sharkskin are back. Dave's experience is that men buy as they see the need appears and are not prone to long-range wardrobe planning.

We spoke with Sandra Reid, manager of PADDORS, where formal women's attire is the specialty. They feature After-Five dresses, prom dresses, suits, and high quality women's casual wear. Sandra says there is extensive variety in style and color this year: modern sophisticate, the forties, twenties, and thirties looks and even the Victorian look in formal dresses. Popular colors are peach, pink, blue, and mauve. PADDORS has an exquisite selection of prom gowns and mother-of-the-bride dresses, too. One of the many eye-catching prom styles is a dazzling white, ruffled, satin gown that could almost double for wedding dress (mothers beware)...Their After Five collection includes a stunning, shimmering, metallic number that would stand out in any crowd. PADDORS is one of the participants in the Bridal Extravaganza.

As styles change, it's important to cultivate an entire look where accessories, hair style, shoes, and even eyewear complement each other.

Pam Kohle, manager, and Karen Kenney of the GLEMBY BEAUTY SALON Sears wised us up to the swing back to a cleaner, softer look for spring. Pam and Karen make it a point to keep abreast of styling trends and will be participating in advanced styling classes this month.

Lawrence Prange, and Abby Mandell, assistant, of IPCO OPTICAL told me trends in eyewear parallel those of clothing. Style usually start on the coasts and move inland. It's Deja vu as the 50's look in eyewear is returning, too. Remember the harlequin frames with the sequins and the heavy, dark frames Buddy Holly wore? Still going strong are the Preppie look, rimless, and designer frames.

If you are still confused about style, the general consensus is that it's a "do your own thing" era—if it looks good, wear it!

More about the Bridal Extravaganza Friday through Sunday, February 13-15! GOLF MILL and other area vendors will display and demonstrate bridal-related merchandise and services. Even if you're not a bride or groom-to-be, the program offers a potpourri of entertainment. A tabletop trade show is planned. Friday's feature is "The Engagement Game" with prizes and a diamond workshop geared to educate consumers about diamond buying. Saturday's Bridal Fashion show highlights special themes and ethnic styles, and a honeymoon workshop will be conducted.

Don't be surprised if you bump into a talking robot in the north mall. This robot asks trivia questions and if you answer correctly, you could be the lucky recipient of a valuable prize.

Professional singing models will be roaming the mall showing off new fashions from numerous GOLF MILL stores.

Why put up with cabin fever? Come over to GOLF MILL. Start your spring planning, enjoy the Bridal Extravaganza, and the other delights of the mall.

Regional Sales Manager promotion

Junio Lighting has promoted Dennis Geier to Regional Sales Manager in charge of parts of the Midwest and Southern regions of the United States.

Geier's responsibilities will include supervising independent sales representative agencies and company representatives in the states of Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, Arkansas, Nebraska and Iowa. He also will continue to share account responsibilities in Chicago, where he will be based.

Geier joined Junio in 1981 as a sales representative before being promoted to District Sales Manager.

He is an active member of the Illuminating Engineers Society (IES).

Realty World ranked first in real estate franchise

For the second time in less than a year, Realty World Corporation has been ranked first within its category as a franchise organization.

Venture magazine surveyed and ranked the top 100 franchise of all types nationwide in terms of growth for 1986. Realty World Corporation was ranked 23 overall in the survey. It was also the first real estate franchise listed, above all other real estate networks.

Venture magazine surveyed 600 franchisees in the United States to narrow its field down to the top 100. These top franchisors all experienced growth of 30 or more franchise units per year for the past two years. Realty World Corporation was noted as having added an average of 125 franchise units each year for the past two.

Karol Media opens office in Des Plaines

Karol Media, a nationwide distributor of sponsored and other materials, has opened a Midwest sales office in Des Plaines. Barbara Millage is the account executive in charge.

Karol is involved in the distribution and marketing of films, video-cassettes, printed materials and other media and in cable programming. It recently established a Karol Video division to sell videocassettes, sponsored and otherwise, to the home market through retail outlets.

The company, now in its 11th year, is headquartered in Wayne, N.J., and has distribution centers there, in Des Plaines and in the metropolitan areas of Atlanta, Kansas City and Los Angeles.

The Midwest sales office, like the distribution center, is at 1245 Forest Ave., Des Plaines, IL 60018.

Ms. Millage has worked with corporate communications executives as head of public relations for Scandia Sales, in equipment sales for Motorola and in the sale of fine art. She is a native of Glen Ellyn, Ill., a member of the Greater Northwest Area Chamber of Commerce and Industry and of the PEO Women's Philanthropic Society and was educated at the University of Kansas.

Career workshops scheduled at Oakton

Finding a job does not always come easy but finding the right job sometimes requires professional guidance. The Adult Career Resource Center (ACRC) at Oakton Community College will sponsor job-finding information workshops for adults beginning Saturday, Feb. 21.

Dr. Gale Grossman, career counseling specialist, will offer six workshops from 9 to 11 a.m. at Oakton East, 7701 Lincoln Ave., Skokie. Participants will learn to identify their job skills, write an effective resume, improve their interview skills, and communicate better.

The workshops offered will include: "Where are the Jobs" on Feb. 21, "Assessing Your Skills" on Feb. 28, "Writing a Resume" on March 7, "Creative Interviewing" on March 14 and "Project a Winner Image" on March 28. The cost of each seminar is $3.

A special seminar, "Middle Managers: Where Should We Go?" for people in management with experience but who feel displaced, will be held from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on April 4. This seminar will cover trends in management, assessment of personal needs and lifestyle and career options and how to pursue them. The cost of this seminar is $10.

Advance registration is required to attend the workshops. For registration and information, call Oakton, 635-1413.

North Side Real Estate Board topped $1 billion '86 sales

North Side Real Estate Board sales for 1986 topped $1 billion, highest in the board's history, according to Steve Reveland, NSREB president. Volume in 1985 was $760 million.

A strong close in 1986 jumped the total monthly volume nearly 102 percent from $68,935,815 in Nov. to $138,945,710 in Dec. The increase was 108 percent over the Dec., 1985, $66,684,390 total sales volume.

Dec. residential sales volume climbed 79 percent from $23,830,350 in 1985 to $42,656,450 in 1986. Volume from Nov. to Dec., 1986 increased 49 percent. 1986 total was $28,634,650.

"This is an incredibly good year for real estate on the north side," Reveland said. "Low mortgage rates are the biggest factor in the increase."

Conventional mortgages financed 62.51 percent of sales in 1986, up from 55.08 percent in 1985 and 53.29 percent in 1984.

Average sale price of residential property on the north side increased 11.4 percent in 1986 to a total of $113,381, up from $101,799 a year ago. The increase from Nov. to Dec., 1986 was $924, from $112,457.

The average sale price for single family homes in Dec. 1986 was $115,600; for condominiums, $89,108; for 2 to 4 unit apartment buildings, $114,246, and for buildings of more than 5 units $248,888.

In Dec., 1985, average sales totals were $99,171 for single family homes; $88,049 for condominiums; $94,533 for 2 to 4 unit buildings, and $202,510 for 5 plus unit buildings.

Total Cooperative Listing Service (CLS) member offices (Jan., 1987) is 352 as compared to 319 in 1979. North Side Real Estate Board boundaries extend from the lake on the east to Route 83 on the west and from Madison north to Glenview and Wilmette. Most CLS member offices are in Chicago.

Rames appointed general personnel/public relations manager

Central Telephone Company recently announced the appointment of Brooke S. Rames as general personnel/public relations manager.

In his new position, Rames is responsible for developing and managing programs for safety, training, labor relations, affirmative action and public relations for Centel's Illinois and Ohio telephone operations.

Rames, a native of Denver, Colo., previously served as customer services manager for Central Telephone Company's western Florida service area. A 12-year Centel employee, he received a B.S. degree in business administration from the University of Nebraska in 1970, and a master's degree in business administration from the University of West Florida in 1983.

Rames joined Centel as a commercial assistant in Farmington, Minn., in Oct. 1974. He later worked in Troy, N.C., and at Centel Corporation's headquarters in Chicago before transferring to Fort Walton Beach, Fla., in May 1980 as sales manager. After serving in several capacities in Florida, he was promoted in 1984 to customer services manager.

Gottlieb's 'Get Well Place' plans Open House

Parents and their children are invited to an open house at Gottlieb Memorial Hospital's 'Get Well Place,' its day care center for sick children, from 1-4 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 8.

The Get Well Place is located on the fourth floor of the hospital at 701 W. North Ave. in Melrose Park. Hostesses will greet guests in the hospital lobby.

The afternoon will include tours of the Get Well Place and fingerprinting of children over 3 years of age by Cook County Sheriff's Department personnel. Free Lifesaver identification tags will be given away and refreshments will be served. Open seven days a week from 6:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., the Get Well Place takes children from infancy to 12 years of age. Sick kids are separated by their symptoms: Upset stomachs in the "Funny Tummy Room," non-contagious chicken pox in "Spots and Dots," fevers in the "Fever Fort" and sniffles and sneezes in the "Handy Hanky." There's a large, well-equipped playroom where a therapist helps the time go quickly. Compassionate pediatric nurses keep an eye on those symptoms, checking children frequently to see that they are feeling secure and comfortable.

The Get Well Place opened in spring 1986 to serve the needs of stay home parents who can't always stay home when their children are sick. Parents with appointments to keep, classes to attend and social obligations also use the facility. Charges range from $9 to $25, depending on length of stay and care required.

Parents planning to attend the open house are asked to call 450-5789.

ruling. However, the cost of the suit prohibited Wilson continuing with it.

Wilson said he believed he was being harassed because he joined the Fraternal Order of Police. He was its first member among Niles patrolmen but now Niles believes 25 of the Niles department's 33 patrolmen are members. He insists, while he was the senior member to first join, he had no intention of organizing the department. Matter of fact, he said Niles police chief was a member three years before Wilson joined.

In 1983 Wilson received commendations of valor from the Illinois Police Association, the Chicago Committee of 100, State's Attorney's office and the Niles Police Department after foiling a robbery in progress on Nordica Avenue. While off-duty, Wilson thwarted robbers attempting a burglary at a neighbor's house. In the confrontation he was stabbed in the back.

Wilson contended Police Chief Emrikson promised Wilson would be recommended for the FBI National Academy, a school attended by only three Niles policemen. Wilson also contends he received passing grades for the Lieutenant's test with a 71.33 score with 70 being the passing grade. He was told he flunked the test and passing was 75 after he was told the 70 grade was passing.

Niles Police Chief "Whitey" Emrikson told The Bugle he had "talked" to Wilson about going to the FBI school but had made no promises. He said Wilson and Sergeant Dan Halley had both passed exams for a law course at Northwestern but Emrikson chose Halley to attend the school.

He said the watch commander (lieutenant) determines who fills that post. He also said there are no such grades as "junior" and "senior" sergeants in the department. He said there is no change in pay over the watch commander appointment and the man able to do the better job is chosen. Men are not chosen for the post by time and grade (the amount of time spent in their position).

Wilson sued the police chief, the watch commander, Captain Terpinas and Mayor Blase for $1,000,000 each, contending he was being harassed and discriminated against. Terpinas contended there were better-qualified sergeants in the department for the watch commander's post. Wilson previously had served in this post.

According to Terpinas, about 15 of the 27 patrolmen in the Niles department are now in the Fraternal Order of Police. Wilson said about 25 of 33 Niles policemen are members.

Wilson said the Fraternal Order of Police provides eye glass coverage which gives a substantial discount if you are a member. It has a great police magazine and the FOP provides legal protection if a department's administration files legal action against a policeman.

Both Terpinas and Wilson agreed the FOP is not involved in wage and labor negotiations.

Township plans spirited Constitution celebration

The winter's first blizzard failed to dampen the spirits of 80 community leaders who braved the snowstorm Saturday, Jan. 10, to attend an initial planning session for Maine Township's celebration of the bicentennial of the Constitution this year.

Sept. 17, 1987 marks the 200th anniversary of the Constitution, and Maine Township has been designated as the official sponsor of a local commission to plan events commemorating the occasion.

Commission members are exploring a number of imaginative proposals including a Bicentennial Ball, a Constitution quiz, a colonial fair, a freedom run, costumed lectures, debates and special entertainment.

Maine Township Supervisor Paul K. Halverson said, "We are delighted with the number of capable and creative people who have agreed to serve on this commission. Through their efforts, the commission will be able to plan a number of events that will expand our understanding of the Constitution and make this celebration meaningful to all segments of the community."

Four committees were appointed to plan and implement events. These include the Bicentennial Ball Committee, co-chaired by Ralph Martin of Kunkel Realtors, Des Plaines, and Millie O'Brien, executive director of Park Ridge United Way; the Contest Committee, headed by Eric Edstrom, chairman of the Maine West High School Social Science Department; and Special Events Committee, chaired by Des Plaines Alderman Peggy Wetter; and the Finance Committee, co-chaired by George Schnitzius, of HRI, Inc., Park Ridge, and Don Cameron of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Des Plaines.

manager for Cablevision of Chicago, cited the "convenience factor" regarding pay per view, saying that people like to know they can get a movie when they want it rather than waiting for availability at a video rental store. "The tape you want may be out which can be frustrating," she said. Another disadvantage is that videocassettes are based on overnight rentals, and a late return means paying a penalty.

McPhail noted that Cablevision does not anticipate any problems competing with video stores. "Cablevision has received good response from the 30 communities it services because of showing popular films. We received more than 300 orders for 'Back to School' (Rodney Dangerfield film), which was a hit in the movie theaters," she said.

Request TV provides services to Cablevision, according to McPhail. Past movie offerings have included "Cobra," "Down and Out in Beverly Hills," "Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom"

Giterman was a caddy at Evanston Golf Club and Sprogis at Bryn Mawr Country Club. If renewed for four years, the grant has a value in excess of $10,000.

At Niles West, Sprogis is co-captain of the basketball team and active in student government. A fine athlete and varsity soccer player, Giterman last summer participated in the MacCabe Games.

Young ladies or parents interested should contact the Israel Bond office at 558-9400.

Niles zoners will go to the village board which will pass an ordinance regulating off track betting parlors," he said. Parking requirements are one parking space for every ten feet of floor space. "I believe seating consists of school-type chairs with arms so that people can figure out their tote sheets before placing bets," he said. "If the proposed building is 800 square feet and the front 400 feet is used for seating, it would require 40 parking spaces."

Governor James Thompson signed the off track betting legislation that gave off track betting owners the authority to establish a total of 14 parlors throughout the state. The legislation was included in a bill designed to help finance the reconstruction of Arlington Park Race Track, according to Salerno.

Maine Township has Energy Assistance applications

The energy subsidies are provided through a federal grant administered locally by CEDA Community and Economic Development Association of Cook County). Maine Township is one of several designated application sites in Cook County.

Halverson said, "We would not want to see any resident of our community go without heat during the winter. This is the sixth year Maine Township has participated in the program, and we are one of the few townships selected to serve as intake centers."

"As in the past, we will process the applications immediately and deliver them to CEDA so that applicants can obtain energy assistance as quickly as possible."

ment for tele-communication operations. The structure, designed tripod-style will be supported by 20-foot concrete caissons in the ground to withstand hurricane-force winds, according to Furda.

He explained safety features are built into the tower which will be located near a commonwealth Edison transformer at Mulford and Lehigh. "In the event it did fall because of a devastating hurricane, the tower is designed to fall on itself, with one tripod leg collapsing, followed by the second and so on, to prevent damage to any nearby property," he said, adding the structure is grounded and acts as a lightning rod to prevent problems.

He explained the Federal Communication Commission (FCC) some years ago approved two companies to operate its own tele-communication system, Am-eritec and Radio Call. "Although it is a non-wire computerized system, we pay Illinois Bell for use of their telephone wires for the operation," Furda said.

Radio Call has 36 such towers of "cellular sites" in a six-county area, with more in various stages of construction. Local sites include Des Plaines and Glenview near the Naval Air Station.

"The site locations are part of a grid pattern, with towers of varying heights depending on the terrain. "There will be better coverage of radio frequencies with a tower in Niles to more efficiently serve customers," he said, adding the FCC overlooks location of the sites to ensure frequencies are coordinated.

Open house at Roycemore

Parents and students who are interested in learning more about Roycemore School in Evanston are invited to attend Open House on Sunday, Feb. 8, from 2 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Roycemore, which serves students from Pre-Kinderergarten through Grade 12, is a coeducational, independent, college preparatory school, which was founded in 1915.

Faculty from Pre-Kinderergarten, Lower, Middle, and Upper Schools—as well as Roycemore's College Placement Counselor—will be on hand to discuss Roycemore's programs and curriculum. Current parents and students will also be available to conduct tours of the school and answer questions.

Extended Day Programs, running from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. throughout the entire year, are available for Roycemore's students. Roycemore also offers Door-to-Door Bus Service, a variety of summer activities (including programs for gifted students as well as day camp/day care), and opportunities to be involved in a wide variety of community-oriented activities.

Roycemore maintains a scholarship program for students whose families have financial needs. Arrangements for scholarship testing, which will be held in early March, can be made at the Feb. 8 Open House.

Roycemore is located at 640 Lincoln St., Evanston, adjacent to Northwestern University. Please call 866-6055 for more information.
