$30,000 arson fire at Oak School

No action on Ballard property

by Linda Zachow

The status of the Ballard School property is still in limbo as of Tuesday night's board meeting of School District 63. The Village of Niles and Maine Township are both vying for the property. Presently the Village of Niles has made the only serious offer of $1 for the building and $150,000 for the adjoining parcel of land as opposed to the Township's offer of $1. According to James Bowen, Business Manager, the transaction is still being studied, and the District 63 Board has not discussed or determined anything to date. Other considerations are a possible fresh look at the offer made by the Township at their meeting also held Tuesday evening and the School Board's review of data on the potential uses of the Ballard property by the two parties bid.

by Bud Besser

We made it! The Bugle has finally arrived. After 30 years the Bugle has been accepted by the power structure in Niles. We have been recognized, and we're now "one of the boys."

Just call The Bugle a "friend of Nicholas B. Blase." We've got it in writing. Nicholas B. has asked for our help as only a friend can do.

On March 6, 1987 we received a letter over Mr. Blase's signature asking The Bugle for an ad in the 1987 annual testimonial AD Book which will be published in time for the Mayor Nicholas B. Blase Testimonial dinner dance.

In all the years The Bugle has been around we've never been asked to contribute to any political group. But this year the Blase forces are asking for our help. For only $300 we can have a gold page with our message on it. Or for $250 we can have a silver page. We can even drop a twenty-fiver for a quarter of a page.

We assume all the businesses and industries in Niles got a similar letter. And we assume several of the commercial brethren will drop a few bob, just to stay on

Driver killed in collision with mini-bus

A Northwest Side Chicago woman was killed Tuesday afternoon when her car collided in Niles with a mini-bus carrying three handicapped children and two women.

The driver of the auto, Darlene Compton, 36, died in Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, of her injuries at 4 p.m., an hour after the crash.

The youngsters and the two women in the bus were treated and released from the hospital.

Lt. William Reid, of the Niles Police Department, said the collision occurred at Milwaukee Avenue and Howard Street when Compton, driving southeast on Milwaukee Avenue, apparently missed a traffic signal.

He said the Compton's car was hit in the intersection by the mini-bus driven by Teresa Brooks, 28, of Evanston. Reid identified the other woman in the bus as Kimberly Davis, 20, also of Evanston.

The three children aboard the bus were identified by hospital officials as Michelle Sosin and Colleen Morrissey, both 14, and Esther Routeers, 5, all of Chicago.

Reid said the bus, owned by Northtown Bus Service, was taking the children home from school.

Niles plans Village auction

It's that time again! Auction time that is.

Each year the Village of Niles auctions its vehicles and this year is no exception. With a total of seventeen (17) vehicles, consisting of: 7 Oldsmobile Delta 88's, 2 vans, 2 pick-up trucks, 1 dump truck, 1 Chevrolet automobile, 3 K-cars and 1 Harley Davidson 3 wheeled motorcycle, this year's auction has a little something for almost everyone.

As the village does a little housekeeping, it passes the savings on to residents and also on Supervisor's meetings with fellow employees and making independent on the job decisions. Mayor Blase presented merit certificates at a recent Village of Niles board meeting.

Employees Merit Certificates

Localite attends Legion Pilgrimage

Known as a Pilgrimage, annual ceremonies are held during the February patriotic month by the Department of Illinois, American Legion each year, in Springfield.

Attending this year's such function was Morton Grove American Legion Post #134 past commander Richard Kapelanski of Morton Grove. He was accompanied by his wife Sandre, who is the vice president-membership chairman of the Auxiliary Unit #134. Also in their party was daughter Mary Jane Obermuefmann, a member of the local Unit.

Also from the village of Morton Grove, and the Legion Post here, David Selzer attended the activities. He has long been known for his work with the boy's youth group, SAL of the Post.

From Skokie Post #320, a past Dept. Commander Ed Czaja, and his wife June also travelled to the ceremonies which included laying a wreath at the cemetery, a breakfast and meeting with many state dignitaries.

Also attending campout was another 8th grade group from Lincoln Jr. High. Leaders Sandy Hope and Gail Helma and girls Melissa Brammitt, Amal Dajani, Jenny Heiser, Danielle Helma, Kristen Hope and Kathy Sheehan.

Winter camping is not always outdoors. The Hutani Region of Camp Fire, spent a weekend for their winter camporee, indoors, at the Illinois Beach State Park in Zion. Leaving early on Saturday, Jan. 31, they returned home in the afternoon on Sunday, Feb. 1.

The groups in the region support three camping trips a year, plus the few that individual groups go on their own. This weekend, there were groups from Niles, Park Ridge, and Edison Park. Seventy-nine boys, girls, and leaders attended, along with a few extra moms to help.

The pool was, of course, the most popular attraction of the weekend, but there were other planned activities. Upon arrival, there was a snow sculpturing contest. The snow was light and very hard to pack, but a few groups tried their best! After dinner, everyone bundled up to go out on a night-hike. Returning to the front of the resort along the beach, there was a huge bonfire to keep warm, and we all sang songs. Then everyone went inside for hot chocolate and donuts. The next day after breakfast, all of the groups participated in an inspirational; either by giving a speech, reciting a poem, or singing a song. The camping co-ordinators, Ed Sigg and Jim Lorenz (and the girls from their group) from Park Ridge, gave out moments of the weekend. We all had a wonderful time. Now, we can be prepared for our next trip in the Spring to Rock Out State Park!

MG Legion Auxiliary past presidents meet

On a regular basis the past presidents of the Morton Grove American Legion Auxiliary Unit #134 gather for a luncheon meeting and afternoon of socialability.

Such a recent one was hosted by Mrs. Howard Karsten of the village of Morton Grove. Mrs. Karsten served as president for the 1981 term. A former leader in turn hostesses the afternoon with planning the restaurant, arranging the invitations and prizes and snacks for the social card hour after the luncheon-meeting, etc.

Mrs. Karsten chose the Morton Grove Restaurant in the village for the site of this most recent session.

Julie Karsten's daughter Kris was president in 1979 and is the only known mother-daughter duo to have served this large veterans' Auxiliary group.

Sadly at the session, condolences were voiced and a donation made to her church, upon the demise of Vi Lupp, who served as president in 1943.

Other recent hostesses were Mrs. Connie Mahne, who served twice in rotation for the 1976 and 1977 terms as is the current Unit president Mrs. Judy Mayer doing after her completion of being president the year ended in 1986; and Mrs. Ruth Tegert was another past hostess for the gathering of the former heads. Mrs. Tegert served as president in the 1958 year.

The past presidents remain active, doing all in their power and with talents available, to continue the purposes of both the past presidents parley group as well as the Auxiliary Unit itself.

I Bet You Didn't Know

By Jim Jennings

One of the greatest achievements in sports is for an athlete to be voted first-team All-American in BOTH major-college basketball AND major-college football in his career. Only 5 men in history have done it—Ray Evans of Kansas and Otto Graham of Northwestern in the 1940s, Banks McFadden of Clemson and Wes Fesler of Ohio State in the 1930s, and Bennie Oosterbaan of Michigan in the 1920s.

Here's a quiz for you. Here are 5 famous current pro basketball players—but do you know where they each played their college basketball? Julius Erving, Larry Bird, Maurice Cheeks, Adrian Dantley and Manute Bol. Erving played at Massachusetts. Bird at Indiana State. Cheeks at West Texas State. Dantley at Notre Dame. And, Bol at Bridgeport.

Of all the countries in the world, which ones have won the Olympics the most times? The modern Summer Olympics have been held 21 times since 1896, and the U.S. has won 15. The USSR has won 5, and Germany one.

If you mention this ad after your deal is consummated (but before delivery) Jennings Chevrolet will deduct $50 from the purchase price of your new or used car. One deduction per customer. One deduction per transaction.

Ranger Bantams

The Ranger Bantams bounced back from a very poorly played game in Wilmette by routing the Franklin Park Flames on home ice by a score of 5 to 0. Starting slowly the Rangers led 1 to 0 at the end of one period on a goal by Mark Antol with the extremely unselfish Tim Migon setting up the play.

The Rangers added two more unanswered second period goals and tied it with a fine two goal third period that also featured the outstanding goal tending of the "Rangers" Eric Jesse. Jesse turned back shot after shot to preserve his first Bantam shutout.

The Ranger scoring was led by Tim Migon, up from the Pee Wee team. Migon had 3 goals and 1 assist to lead all scorers while Mark Antol had 1 goal and 1 assist, Peter Wisniewski 1 goal, Dave Bednarek 2 assists while George Panagopoulos and Vince Zambuto collected 1 assist each.

St. Harry's Church of Niles defeated St. Demetrios of Chicago 44-35 in the final regular season game for both teams. The victory gave St. Harry's a 6-1 record and a first place finish in the North section of the Greek Orthodox Basketball League. The loss eliminated St. Demetrios from playoff competition. Trailing 19-18 at the half, St. Harry's outscored St. Demetrios 14-4 in the decisive third quarter. George Dilles led the winners with 21 points, while Pete Demetrios added 11. The rebounding and defense of George Nikolas and Spyro Demetrios also played an important part in the victory.

The Remarkable True Story Of Saint Patrick And The Greenie

Everybody knows that Saint Patrick drove the snakes from Ireland, but what is considerably less well known is how he himself created the very first—and some say the best—example of that delicacy that we have come to know today as the brownie, but which he originally christened "the Greenie."

It is told how one spring day, Saint Patrick received a challenge from the infamous Druid high-priest and baker, Shameless McAroon, to determine who could bake the best dessert in all of Ireland. The two rivals put on their crisp white aprons and stirred toques, rolled up their sleeves and set to work. All eyes were on St. Patrick as he mixed and measured for all to see. First he took the sweetest butter and mixed it with rich, dark chocolate. He added eggs and some salt, some sugar and vanilla, and flour as white as the finest Irish linen. Wanting something green, Saint Patrick took out a small bag filled with a rare delicacy brought back from Arabia by a wandering knight of his acquaintance. Reverently, he added to his mix the mysterious green nut called "Pistachios."

It was then that disaster struck. As Saint Patrick reached for his trusty double action baking powder, his

GREENIES

- 1 cup butter
- 4 squares (4 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
- 1/2 cup Baileys Original Irish Cream
- 5 large eggs
- 2 cups granulated sugar
- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup (6 ounces) chopped, shelled pistachio nuts
- Heat oven to 325°; grease and flour one 9x13-inch pan. Melt butter, chocolate and Baileys Original Irish Cream in small saucepan over low heat until smooth; cool to room temperature. In large bowl, beat eggs on high speed of electric mixer until thick and light yellow; gradually beat in sugar. Reduce mixer to low speed and beat in chocolate mixture. Stir in flour and salt. Reserve 2 tablespoons nuts; fold in remaining nuts; sprinkle with the 2 tablespoons nuts. Bake until crust forms, about 25 to 30 minutes. Cool in pan 10 minutes, then cut into 2 inch squares. Makes 24 Greenies.

You may be able to keep mold out of your bread box if you wash it with a mixture of two tablespoons vinegar to one quart of water.

I Bet You Didn't Know

By Jim Jennings

One of the most incredible records ever set in basketball was by UCLA—and to realize how incredible it was, consider this. . . Today, it's unusual for any college basketball team to win the NCAA tournament even 2 years in a row, but UCLA won it an amazing SEVEN years in a row. . . UCLA won the NCAA tournament every year from 1967 through 1973. . . That's a record that may never be broken.

One of the most unusual oddities in sports happened to John Uelses who became the first man in history to pole-vault over 16 feet, on Feb. 2, 1962—setting an apparent world record. . . But fans, rushing to congratulate him, knocked over the standards that support the bar he vaulted over. . . That prevented officials from carrying the bar height and denied Uelses his world record!

Here's a baseball oddity. . . There was a player named John Miller who played in the majors from 1966 to 1969 and hit only 2 homers in his career—but the oddity is that he hit his first homer on his first at bat in the majors in 1966 and hit his last homer on his last at bat in 1969—and didn't hit any in between!

Sports News Special Olympics basketball games

The Montclair/Elmwood Park Kiwanis Club is playing the Special Olympics teams of Orchard Village and Maine-Niles Association of Special Recreation in a basketball double-header on Mar. 25. The first game will begin at 7 and the second will begin at approximately 8. The games will be played in the gym of the John Mills school at 2624 N. 76th Ave. in Elmwood Park.

Pee Wee Rangers

The Niles Pee Wee Rangers, with the regular season championship already assured, traveled to the Centennial Park Ice Arena to face Wilmette No. 2. The main emphasis on this trip was on tuning up the Rangers for the upcoming playoffs, according to coaches Kurt Sponberg, John Murgess and Tom Troiani. If the outcome of this game is any indicator, the Rangers are as ready as a team can be.

Wilmette was never really in this one as the Rangers took target practice, racking up eight goals to none for the opposition. Tim Migon led the scorers with four goals, two in the first period and two in the third. The other four goals were scored in the middle period, these coming off the sticks of Chris Falkiewicz, Bill Rourke, Steve Bosco and Tim Spillman.

Fans in attendance were treated to the team concept of hockey stressed by the Ranger organization as witnessed by the seven assists credited to seven different Rangers: Brett Sukenik, Steve Bosco, Jim Fitzgerald, Tim Migon, Andy Cholpek, Jim Murray and Alex Zachow.

Equally gratifying to the coaches was the fine defensive play that earned goalie Eric Jesse his fifth shutout of the year and raised the Rangers record to 14-0-1 on the season.

'87 Baseball starts for Demons

Maine East's '87 baseball season begins Saturday, March 21, at home at 10 a.m. with a doubleheader against Lake Zurich.

Besides a very rugged Central Suburban League south division schedule, the Demons will play seven doubleheaders, six of which are against conference champions such as defending state champions Barrington on Saturday, April 25; the Chicago league's powerhouse Lane Tech on Saturday, April 11; and the Catholic league's De LaSalle at home during spring vacation.

Since 1982 the Maine East baseball team has been ranked in the top twenty teams in pre, during, and post season play. Coach Don Olson said, "The team is very young on the mound this year. Although we lost six of our seniors last year, including All-Conference Fred Beyer, Dan Sullivan, and Art Krueger, the team still looks to continue its success and hopes for the best." The coach also mentioned that for the last five years the team's total record is 95 wins and 56 losses, and the team also earned two Central Suburban League championships and a regional championship.

Players to look forward to are three-year veterans Jim Phillos, Rob Sobel, and Brad Lietz; two year veteran Steve Riley; and Steve Degodny, who was injured last year.

Coach Olson also plans to bring up two sophomores, left handed pitchers Dave Askelson and Josh Miller.

Oakton Women Runners win Meet

Edie Garcia

The Women Running Raiders of Oakton Community College ran away with the Illinois State and National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) Region IV Indoor Track and Field Championships last weekend at the College of DuPage. This marks the third time since 1979 that Oakton women have won the State and Region IV Championships.

The Raiders scored 36 points to easily outdistance Parkland College of Champaign. Freshmen Edie Garcia (l) and Brenda O'Connor (r) scored in 10 events to lead the team. Garcia won both the 500 and 800 Meter Runs. O'Connor finished first in the 300 and 400 Meter Dash and the Long Jump.

Coach Pat Savage thought that the women ran very well. "Once they started winning and then realizing that they were going to win the whole thing, they really started going great on the track," Savage said.

Both O'Connor and Garcia were named to the NJCAA All-State Indoor Track and Field Team.

Niles Hockey Mite House League

The Blues became the 1987 Ballard Cup Mite House League champions when they defeated the Hawks 4 to 1 on Saturday, Feb. 28 at the Niles Sports Complex.

The Hawks, the only team to beat the Blues this season were hoping to repeat that success after a 6 to 5 overtime victory over the Capitals had put them into the championship game.

David Christie of the Hawks scored the game winning goal at 6:30 of overtime but was just one of many heroes during the Capitals game. Dale Chang had 3 goals for the Hawks while Christie had 2 goals and 1 assist, Jason Chlopek 1 goal while solo assists were registered by Matt Strong, Shawn Rowe and Mike Panas whose assist came on the game winner. The Capitals received outstanding goaltending from David Zawadzki who kept the Capitals in the game while Jim Lubinski also performed very well with 3 goals and Larry Waxman scored 2 goals and Matt Panish and Bob Grabowski added 1 assist each.

However, in the championship game, the Blues rode the strong goaltending of Ross Hambourger and an equally strong defense led by Russ Duszak, Geno Ori, Kevin Switala, Matt Sterling and Tony Turner. Two first period goals by the Blues gave them a 2 to 0 lead after the first period. An early second period Hawk goal cut the lead in half but the Blues were not to be denied as they answered with one of their own late in the second period and scored the lone goal of the period to ice the victory.

Despite some fine Hawk goaltending by Eric Kruppe the constant Hawk pressure produced just the unassisted goal by Matt Strong in the second period.

The years leading scorers again paced the Blues as Peter Sikaras had 1 goal and 1 assist, Jim Tragas 1 goal and 1 assist and solo goals were notched by John Drivas and Gus Drivas.

Congratulations again to all the Blues and coach Anthony Loverde and a job well done to both the Hawks and coach Roman Panas as well as the Capitals and coach John Murgas.

Denise Lara, 28, has been promoted to assistant trust officer and Paul G. Ponticelli, 34, has been promoted to assistant vice president of Affiliated Bank/North Shore National. It was announced by bank president Lawrence E. Gilford. Lara, who previously served as trust department supervisor, began her career at Affiliated Bank/North Shore National in 1982. She is a graduate of Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, and the Illinois Banker Association's Trust School. Lara resides in Skokie with her husband, Felix.

Prior to being promoted to assistant vice president, Ponticelli was a credit officer for Affiliated Bank/North Shore National. He is a graduate of Columbia College, Chicago, and resides in Evanston with his wife, Leslie.

Golf Mill 'ing Around The Mall

by Linda Zachow

March greetings from GOLF MILL where last weekend's fashion show "Fly Us to Spring" did just that. To the strains of "Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head", attractive models smartly attired in the latest spring rain gear appeared from behind the spray of the mall's gushing fountain, surrounded by greenery. For a short time, we forgot the reality of the cold, bleak weather just outside the door.

You meet the strangest creatures at the mall! And I don't mean humans! Recently we met a robot; this weekend Winnie the Pooh and Tigger made a return visit to SEARS, and now rumor has it the Easter Bunny will be on an extended visit in the mall in the beginning of April.

One very interesting human I've had the privilege of meeting is 23-year-old Lisa Wilder who works for both SERVICE OPTICAL and STRIDE RITE SHOES. She's five feet two, only 110 lbs., eyes of blue and wants to be a homicide detective, too. For several years she's been working toward a degree in Criminal Justice at Oakton College in preparation for her dream of becoming a policewoman. She has taken a lot of razzing because of her petite stature, but on the other hand, she has received heaps of encouragement from friends in police work. She's one very determined woman. Lisa will be applying to the cities of Chicago and Evanston this spring in hopes of being hired by either of their Police Departments.

That small shop with a green exterior just outside of Sears that looks like it has been transported from Charles Dickens' merry old England is called GLORIA JEAN COFFEE BEAN. This is one of 8 locations of this franchise in the Chicago area, specializing in gourmet coffees, teas, and coffee-related supplies.

This franchise is owned by Gall and Chet Komos, both of whom are knowledgeable gourmet coffee connoisseurs. Sometimes cute little three year old Chet Jr. lends a "helping hand". I also chatted with employee, Millie Reiter, a well educated enthusiast of gourmet coffees with three years' previous experience working for another coffee franchise.

Fragrant aromas of 38 different coffee flavors permeate the shop. Among the most popular coffee flavors: Columbian Supremo, Hawaiian Kona, Mocha Java, German Chocolate, Amaretto, and Irish Creme. They also carry 15 types of decaffeinated coffee in various exotic flavors. Gall told us that about 50% of her customers are coffee experts and really appreciate the availability and variety at GLORIA JEANS.

Another store with that old fashioned Dickensian appearance is CUTLERY WORLD, specialists in knives for all uses, managed by Art D'Angelo. CUTLERY WORLD stocks a wide variety of quality pocket knives for hunting, fishing, and household uses. They cater to fussy chefs who look for brand names such as Henckel, Gerber, Wusthof, and Trident for the extra sharp paring and French knives needed in their kitchens.

CUTLERY WORLD also handles fine quality all-purpose shears as well as shears for personal grooming and sewing. They offer sharpening service on the premises.

CUTLERY WORLD may be a place you never thought of before for gift buying. In addition to practical, attractive sets of kitchen knives, unique shaving accessories and a beautiful line of hand carved wooden statuettes made in Italy are featured.

LECHTERS is one of the newer mall stores, having opened only 7 to 8 weeks ago. LECHTERS is a store devoted to housewares and is one of 130 stores nationwide. Welcome to Kerry Iwachnick, manager and Terri Beavenaid, assistant manager. LECHTERS carries everything from the practical to the beautiful, plastic to crystal, country to elegant. LECHTERS is a discount store, carrying brand names at some of the lowest prices found anywhere.

We were really impressed with the Mikasa crystal serving dishes, bowls, and decorative table accessories. One of the most outstanding Mikasa pieces is a crystal basket with glass swirl overlaid on the basket and a woven handle. The Mikasa Sea Shell collection of serving and salad bowls with its glass swirl design really caught our eye, too—great for shower gifts and exquisite tableware for all occasions. LECHTERS also carries the ever popular Pfaltzgraf country patterns in stoneware and the Heirloom and Remembrance patterns. For bath, closet, kitchen or any room in the house. LECHTERS is the place to go to meet your shopping needs.

Patti Pratt, assistant manager of THE GAP, tipped us off to super employee Leslie Roth's 14th wedding anniversary this month. Congratulations to Leslie and hubby and best wishes for many more years together.

For a taste of spring, visit GOLF MILL. Enjoy the bubbling fountain and foliage, the spring merchandise, and the warm people and atmosphere inside the mall as winter weather returns for its last hurrah.

Your Social Security future is now!

Most people think of Social Security as something for the future. For some 37 million people receiving Social Security benefits, the future is now. For others, Social Security provides current protection against the loss of income because of disability and for one's family if the worker should die. This is why we say that Social Security touches everybody in one way or another.

Since this is the time of year when it's customary to make promises about changing future behavior in one's best interest, I am going to make some suggestions to change the way you view your Social Security and insure that you get the most out of the program.

- 1) Check your Social Security number at work. To protect your Social Security earnings record, you should compare the name and number on your Social Security card with the name and number on your pay stubs or the Form W-2 you receive in January. If the name and number are not exactly the same, you should notify your employer.
- 2) Check on your earnings record once every 3 years. A free form can be obtained from any Social Security office for this purpose. The lifetime earnings record is the basis on which benefits are paid. Generally, the higher the average annual earnings, the higher the benefits.
- 3) Learn what you need to know about Social Security. Do you know what benefits Social Security pays besides retirement...how old you have to be to become eligible for disability or survivors benefits...how your benefits will compare with your prior earnings, how other pensions will affect your Social Security benefit? All of these facts are important if you are to use Social Security protection in your financial security planning for a growing family or for retirement. Call your nearest Social Security office and ask for the booklet, Your Social Security, which provides a general explanation on how the program works. If you have further questions, any Social Security office will be glad to help you.

4) Know the five times you should contact Social Security. In general, there are five instances you should get in touch with your Social Security office. These include: when someone in the household (1) retires, (2) becomes disabled, (3) dies, (4) needs a Social Security number, or (5) has a question about Social Security.

5) Start retirement planning NOW. Most experts agree that, with people generally living longer and staying in better health, the earlier you start planning for retirement, the better. Social Security benefits are designed to be a base for retirement, not your total retirement income. You need to start building on that base now, through private insurance, savings and investment, and similar means.

They have two sons and a daughter, Laura, who is a resident of The Lambs.

Of the 312 branch offices operated by Savings of America, less than 30 offices nationwide received a Champions Club Award. The Deerfield branch received the Champions Club Award for superior Customer Service. The entire staff of the Schaumburg branch was honored with a formal dinner at The Drake Oak Brook Hotel. Over 40 guests attended the cocktail reception and dinner held in the ballroom of the hotel. Amlings Flowers & Gifts to franchise

Amlings Flowers & Gifts, the nation's largest retail florist, has begun franchising its successful business operation, it was announced by Paul S. Wentland, Chief Executive Officer and President of Amlings Franchise International Corporation. Amlings will convert existing retail florist businesses in Illinois, then expand its franchise program nationwide. The company also will offer franchises to people who do not own or operate an existing retail florist business by building stores. "Amlings has enjoyed an illustrious 97 years serving the Chicago Market," Wentland said. "Through franchising, we are expanding the fine Amlings tradition and our excellent products and services to more consumers. Franchising is the wave of the future and Amlings is proud to join the growing franchise ranks." The Hinsdale, Illinois-based company, which generated $22 million in sales in 1986, currently

Interesting Facts From John Jennings

You could have a great college named after yourself for relatively little money in the old days. Harvard University chose its name when John Harvard gave them only a few thousand dollars; Yale University just a few thousand dollars and Yale University was named after him; and Nicholas Brown gave $5,000 and had Brown University named for him.

The best-selling song of all time is "White Christmas," written by Irving Berlin in 1942 for the movie "Holiday Inn".

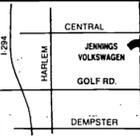

Although the U.S. Capitol Building in Washington was built in 1800, it did not get its famous dome until 63 years later, in 1863.

Oddly enough, members of the immediate family of the King or Queen of England NEVER use a last name.

And, here's another interesting fact...

If you mention this ad after your deal is consummated (but before delivery) Jennings Volkswagen will deduct $50 from the purchase price of your new or used car. One deduction per customer. One deduction per transaction.

AUTO NEWS Catalytic converter

It's been a dozen years since the catalytic converter was installed as standard equipment on the majority of U.S. passenger cars and many light-duty trucks. It is doing its job—reducing exhaust emissions—better than ever, thanks to consumers who realize that tampering with the converter harms both the vehicle and the wallet, reports the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association.

Although incidences of removing the converter are significant on older models—in a recent study, MVMA found that 38.5 percent of older light-duty trucks had missing converters—removal rates drop sharply as the age of the vehicle decreases.

"The key now is educating the public to the necessity of using unleaded gasoline on vehicles with catalytic converters," says Thomas H. Hanna, President of the Association whose members build 98 percent of the nation's cars, trucks and buses. "Unleaded gasoline is a necessary partner to the catalytic converter in its task of cleaning out emissions the engine can't burn away," Hanna says. Forcing leaded gasoline into an automobile manufactured to accept only unleaded is "costly—both in driveability and cash."

Here's why: 1) The catalytic converter will deactivate, preventing harmful emission gases from being neutralized. The car will also require added maintenance. 2) Spark plugs will become fouled and will have to be replaced three times instead of the average single time over 50,000 miles. 3) Resale value will drop. Today's consumer is increasingly sophisticated and chances are the damage caused by misfueling will be quickly spotted.

Furthermore, Hanna points out that four to five tanks of leaded gasoline will permanently damage the catalytic converter. Also, it's estimated that the damage leaded fuel can do represents a cost penalty four times greater than the fuel savings initially gained.

State moped safety rules

by Secretary of State Jim Edgar

Mopeds (motorized pedalicycles) provide inexpensive transportation and good exercise for many people. However, mopeds can reach speeds up to 30 miles per hour and are potentially dangerous if not ridden carefully.

Mopeds can be pedaled like bicycles and are intended for limited use on public roadways. Moped riders must obey all signs, signals and traffic laws, as well as most bicycle laws.

A rider may carry a passenger only when the moped is made for two people. The moped must have a seat, permanent hand-grips and footrests for the passenger. Although helmets are not required for either the rider or the passenger, wearing helmets can prevent serious injuries if the moped is ridden at night, it must have a headlight visible for at least 500 feet. A red reflector on the rear must be visible from 100 to 600 feet when directly in front of the lower beams of another vehicle's headlights.

Since a moped vehicle, both the moped and the rider must be licensed. Mopeds have an annual $30 registration fee and a $3 title fee. Anyone with a valid drivers license can operate a moped.

Tips for more Safety, Economy, Convenience

Self-Serve Check List

Self-serve gas pumps are something we've all come to think of as a wonderful idea to save a few cents per gallon of gas. Unfortunately, our cars may have problems we don't even know exist while we're standing there pumping our tanks full.

We've comprised a check list of items that will help you keep tabs on common maintenance procedures the service attendant used to take care of for you. We suggest this list be put in your glove compartment for periodic checking. Not only will it provide you a safer feeling of driving, but hopefully, it will help you notice a problem area before it becomes a serious problem.

Please keep in mind that these tips are to help you as a self-serve customer, but not to take the place of a trained technician.

1) Check the engine oil every other fill up. Remove the dipstick, wipe it clean, insert it and remove it again. There should be two marks on the dipstick, "ADD" and "FULL". If the oil is at or below the "ADD" line, one quart should be added. If the oil is between the two lines, it is still too soon to add any oil.

Checking the oil is number one on our check list because it is the most important fluid to keep track of, due to the extensive damage low oil can cause.

2) Check the anti-freeze/coolant level every other week: Newer cars have see-through reservoirs with markings of "FULL" and "ADD". The level should always be kept close to the "FULL" line. If the level is low, add a 50/50 solution of anti-freeze/coolant and water to bring it up to the proper level. NEVER REMOVE THE RADIATOR CAP WHEN THE ENGINE IS HOT!

On cars without this extra reservoir, remove the radiator cap only after the engine is completely cooled. First thing in the morning is always the best time. The level should be kept within 1/2 inch from the top opening of the radiator. Add a 50/50 solution to bring it up to the proper level.

3) The tire pressure should be checked every second fill up. Tire air pressure gauges are sold at all auto parts stores and most service stations. Your owner's manual will have a section listing the best pressure to keep the tires at for the best ride and the longest tire life.

Keeping the tires at the correct pressure is not only a safety item, but will actually give you better gas mileage in the long run. This is due to the fact that properly inflated tires roll down the road easier than tires that are low on air.

4) Inspect the fan belts and hoses monthly (with the engine turned off). If there are any signs of the fan belts being worn, glazed or frayed, this should be brought to your mechanic's attention as soon as possible. If any of the heater or radiator hoses appear to be bulging or feel brittle, this could be a problem you've uncovered while still in its early stages. Your mechanic will inform you which hoses should be replaced at this time.

5) Check the battery on a monthly basis. A visual inspection of the battery for any corrosion that is forming is all that is needed.

If you still have a battery that has filler holes in the top of it, the caps should be removed to check the water level.

All batteries produce flammable gases. Never smoke or light a match near a battery.

6) Check the air filter monthly. You should be able to see light through the filter when holding it up to a bright light. A dirty air filter can rob you of gas mileage.

7) Check the windshield washer fluid with every fill up. A gallon of fluid should be kept in your trunk at all times. A dirty, smeared windshield can cause a potentially dangerous situation.

8) Last, but not least, don't forget to wipe off your headlights when you're cleaning the windows. Just a little film of road grime can reduce the brightness of the headlights up to 50%. Also, having your mechanic align the headlights may reduce the eye strain of night driving.

This short check list should remind you that automobiles are not, and never have been, maintenance-free. They need daily care to keep them in good running condition. Your mechanic closely looks over your car when you bring it in to him for tune ups and oil changes. Your job is to take over in between.

Library candidate studies computer

Niles Library Trustee Walter Chmielowski receives a demonstration on the Macintosh Computer from Sany Boscapomi, Executive Secretary of the Niles Public Library. The Niles Library is beginning to acquire an excellent Computer Lab for our children to continue their education. This is one of the goals for Mr. Chmielowski, to aid the children in all phases of their education. Since Books, Reference Materials and Periodicals are very necessary and because Computers are such a large part of the future he sees a need to continue to grow in this area.

Village candidates speak out on property taxes

The Village of Niles Economy and Progress Party believes that property taxes represent the worst of all tax structures. Why? Because property taxes are not based or regulated on one's ability to pay. Property taxes increase regardless of your income. Therefore, people with incomes that do not rise proportionately to the increase in taxes are the ones who suffer the most; retired people on fixed incomes, people employed in an industry that is not showing a profit, etc.

Trustee Bart Murphy stated, "We are well aware of this situation and that is the reason that we have maintained the lowest property tax rate in the entire suburban area." Some of the surrounding communities have the following tax rate per $100 of assessed valuation: Skokie-$1.44, Arlington Heights-$1.18, Park Ridge-$1.17, Mount Prospect-$1.09 and Des Plaines-$1.75. The Village of Niles has the lowest with a $.52 rate.

One major reason for the very low tax rate is due to the promoting of business in our community, as the more business we can generate in the Village of Niles by people shopping in our community, especially those who live outside of the village, brings revenue to Niles. We have promoted a large industrial base in our village which also brings additional revenue. The industrial area at the southern part of our village is considered one of the most desirable in the Cook County area.

On April 7 the Niles Economy and Progress Party; Trustees James A. Mahoney, Angelo Marcheschi and Bart T. Murphy request your support so that they can continue to keep property taxes the lowest in the area. Remember the Niles Economy and Progress Party not only cares about your dollar, they do something about it.

In January, 1987 Elaine Heinen was presented with the "Community Service Award" from the Illinois Therapeutic Recreation Section of the Illinois Parks and Recreation Association. Deborah Weatherbee made the presentation.

Mrs. Heinen's dedication, effort, and support is well documented through her constant input of fresh new ideas to both the Niles Park District Board and the Niles Park District Association for Special Recreation.

Capparelli opposes state tax hike

State Rep. Ralph C. Capparelli said he is opposed to Gov. James Thompson's proposed tax increases in all areas and predicts "rough sledding" for the four-term governor in attaining passage of the legislation.

"I don't think it's needed, and I'll oppose it every step of the way," said Capparelli, who also serves as majority whip in the Illinois House. "The economy in Illinois is not stagnant. It's growing and, along with its natural growth and expansion, will be an increase in revenue for the state. This natural growth is expected to bring in about $50 million in additional state revenue during the current year and that should be enough revenue to fund a widening of existing programs. We have to live within our means."

Capparelli said he believes the governor has become tax happy since his election.

"Before last November, he said the state was in fine fiscal shape. Now he proposes an increase in the state license plate fee and in the tax on gasoline. Now he whoppes everyone in their pocketbook with a tax on many personal services, while trying to make it all more palatable by raising the personal income tax exemption by 50 percent," he said.

Capparelli pointed out that the proposed new tax on personal services will hit hard at senior citizens and people on fixed incomes.

Capparelli is referring to the governor's taxes on dry cleaning, hair cuts, beauty salon treatments, shoe repair, the movies, and bowling, among others, many of which are enjoyed by the elderly, which in the 13th District comprises about 25 percent of the population.

Russian at The Willows

Jill Popolizio teaching Russian at The Willows Academy for Girls, Niles.

The object of a newly formed non-credit Russian language class at the Willows Academy Niles will be "to become acquainted and familiar with the Russian language and culture," states Jill Popolizio, French teacher at the school.

Five seniors and two juniors comprise the class that takes place three times a week during lunch time. "It is a teachers dream," Popolizio continued, "to have seven students come up to me and ask to take Russian because they have an interest in it."

Popolizio studied Russian in France from ninth grade to her M.A. at L'Universite de Aix-Marseille, obtaining her M.A. in the Russian Language.

The highly motivated students opted to study Russian for five months second semester for different reasons: one because of a Russian relative, other for the knowledge of it or because of a need they foresee in their future careers. Ease of delivery in her French class and sincere warmth with her students facilitated asking Popolizio if she would take on the challenge of teaching them Russian.

The class will acquire "a basic foundation" in Russian: learn sound systems, alphabet, everyday expressions and be able to read a simple text by the end of the semester. On the culture side they will listen to Russian music, learn Russian dance and listen to outside speakers discussing the Soviet Union today. The Russian textbook that will be used was originally written by Russian authors and revised by teachers at Middlebury. There will also be a field trip to a north side Russian restaurant at the end of the semester.

Notre Dame alumnus receives award

Manuel Lim, a junior in liberal arts at the University of Detroit, has received a special student service award for his many contributions to campus life.

A 1984 graduate of Notre Dame High School for Boys, Lim's contributions to U of D include recruiting students to become involved in university activities. He has also been involved as a weekend host for Insignis scholars.

Lim's enthusiasm was instrumental in organizing the Michigan Association of Catholic College Students, a state organization affiliated with the National Catholic Students Coalition.

Finally, his involvement as pianist and choir member at Sunday liturgies and special university-wide worship celebrations added greatly to campus religious life.

Sister Beth Ann Finster, SS.J., of the campus ministry office,

Manuel Lim said about Lim: "We recognize and would like to commend Manny for his spirit of caring, and his leadership in diverse areas of university life."

Nelson hosts annual Science Fair

The annual Nelson School Science Fair was held on Thursday, February 25 in the school gym. Students in all grade levels were encouraged to participate by submitting a project to their respective teachers. Grade level teachers then determined whether a project would qualify for entry into the Fair. In all, 226 students (almost one-third of the student population) were represented.

Exhibits and projects covered a wide diversity of topics and ranged in levels of complexity. Tedd Markos (1st grade) showed that air has weight by using two balloons blown-up to different sizes. Elynn Goldberg and Jaelyn Adler (1st grade) used various household articles to demonstrate your "Five Senses" at work. Marianthi Toto (2nd grade) demonstrated principles involved with copperplating using pennies and nails in a vinegar/salt solution. Meena Kim (2nd grade) displayed a green inflatable dinosaur to pique interest in her exhibit. Wendy Burg and Jaime Block (2nd grade) showed how shadows can change in length.

Judging by the crowds just trying to get through the doors into the gym, the Science Fair was obviously well attended and supported by parents and students alike.

Barat College Lecture

Barat College is sponsoring a hands-on discussion and demonstration of "Human Evolution as Reflected in the Fossil Record" at 7:30 p.m. Monday, March 23, in Room 160 of the College's Main Building, Sheridan and Westleigh Roads, Lake Forest.

Presenting the program will be Dr. Jerry Hanson, a Barat College professor of sociology and anthropology. Dr. Hanson, who received his doctorate from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, will present a broad, non-technical survey of human evolution by comparing several reproductions of cranial materials, representing different stages of human ancestry.

According to Dr. Hanson, his lecture will be of interest to people who have always wondered how anthropologists piece together the history of human development from skulls and other bone fragments.

For more information, call Barat's Academic Dean's office, 234-3000 Ext. 303. The lecture is free and open to the public.

Maine East Academic Team formed

A new team has been formed at Maine East—however, members aren't selected for their physical strength, but for their academic strengths. Maine East's newest team is its academic team.

The State of Illinois has set up another type of competition for students, a scholastic bowl, and Dr. Jane Simmons and Mr. Dennis Wyatt are the coaches of Maine East's scholastic team. The faculty has also helped the two prepare questions for a qualifying test and practice questions.

The team will consist of ten of Maine East's brightest students. Five members will compete from the team at a time. They will be the team's strongest members, but, like any competition, if a member misses a question, he or she may get frazzled, and the coaches can put in one of the five replacements.

A team member doesn't have to be up on all topics, which include math, English, science, and history. Additional important topics are fine arts and computers. The team will also need members who are a composite of all these topics. Once students qualify it will be for a year. The students will be able to practice as a group or on their own, and Mr. Wyatt and Dr. Simmons believe that this team will catch on as students talk about their meets. The first meet was with Leyden March 4, and sectionals will then be held the first weekend in May.

The following 26 students qualified for the quarter-final round of testing: Gary Abramson of Glenview, Linda Berent of Des Plaines, Cara Blonz of Morton Grove, John Chi of Morton Grove, John Chin of Des Plaines, Eric Chiu of Park Ridge, Tom Dix of Des Plaines, Arcady Pashishenko of Morton Grove, Matthew Guerrieri of Niles, Woe Hahn of Glenview, Andy

The contest consisted of 3 parts: a written test; an individual round of word problems; and a team test.

Team members were: Carolyn Choi, Sallil Mehta, Trilok Pathak, and Jenny Riccardi.

Mr. Donald G. Huebner, Principal of Gemini, is very proud of these outstanding young people and of their coach, Mrs. L. Shevelenko.

Project BIG career night

Maine Township High School District 207 meets the challenge of preparing young people to make informed decisions about careers through Project BIG, a career night held each year at one of the district high schools. This year, Project BIG is scheduled at Maine West on Thursday, March 26, from 7 to 9 p.m. according to Shirley Aberg, Career Counselor at Maine West who is coordinating the event.

Young people today face a far more complex career choice than any generation that has gone before them. The American job market is changing at a speed that confounds even the experts—let alone a teenager. Young people need to make choices in the face of a future that promises even more sweeping economic and technological changes.

At Project BIG, young people not only from the Maine high schools—but from private, parochial and even junior highs can begin to discover what they want to do as their life's work when they talk with the representatives from 200 trade, technical, business, scientific, medical and professional careers. Students and their parents can get firsthand information about a wide variety of occupations from people who know because they work in them every day.

In-depth information about selected careers can come later after students and parents have had a chance to look at everything that is available. Students find out about the skills they need to be employable in a particular occupation. They also learn what aptitudes, training and education are important to job success. By talking to a person who actually works at a job, students can even find out what they can expect in the way of salary, fringe benefits and advancement.

Because of the scope of Project BIG, students have a chance to evaluate and compare the rewards in any occupations which interest them. Success in a career depends largely on whether a person is suited for it. Project BIG can provide the good information that will result in a good decision.

Poison Prevention Week

Parents and others who provide care for children are being urged to observe Poison Prevention Week (Mar. 15-21) by checking their homes to assure all toxic substances are out of the reach of children.

Dr. Bernard J. Turnock, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, said most cases of childhood poisoning can be prevented if parents and others follow three basic rules:

1. Store all cleaning products, medications (both prescription and over-the-counter) and other toxic substances in places not easily accessible to small children.

2. When purchasing medications and other toxic products, look for child-resistant packaging.

3. Never leave a child alone (even when answering the telephone or doorbell) when a cleaning product, medicine bottle or other hazardous substance is within the child's reach. Carry either the child or the product to the phone or door without you.

"Not only parents, but also grandparents and other relatives and friends where small children visit should take these precautions," Dr. Turnock said.

He also urged all persons who provide care for children to learn what to do if a child eats or drinks a substance that might be poisonous.

"Read the label on the product for advice on what immediate first aid to render. Then call a Poison Control Center or physician immediately," Dr. Turnock said. The telephone number of the nearest Poison Control Center can be found on the inside of the front cover of the telephone directory.

When the Center, physician or other emergency personnel is contacted, the caller should be prepared to give the following information:

•The age of the victim
•The weight of the victim
•The substance involved and how it was ingested (swallowed, inhaled, absorbed through skin contact, splashed in the eyes).

•If the substance is a plant, the type of plant and which part (leaf, stem, root, bulb).
•The type of first aid, if any, which has already been given.
•Whether the victim has vomited.

•Your location and how long it will take you to reach the hospital.

Dr. Turnock noted that since the introduction of child-resistant packaging, poisonous plants have become the leading source of childhood poisoning. Many common yard and garden plants are poisonous if consumed.

"Children should be taught not to put leaves or other parts of plants, flowers or trees into their mouths. Small children should be closely supervised when playing near plants, whether indoors or outdoors," Dr. Turnock said.

March of Dimes alerts pregnant women

Some 20,000 infants are born each year with congenital heart defects in the United States. The defect may be so small that the baby appears healthy for years, or so severe, its life may be in immediate danger.

Congenital heart defects may keep a child from growing and gaining weight normally. The child may tire easily, feel weak or have trouble breathing. Symptoms can show up at any age from birth through adulthood.

Most congenital heart defects can be helped by surgery or medication. Some can be detected and treated while the baby is still in the womb.

The March of Dimes would like to alert women to be under a doctor's care all during pregnancy. Proper pre-natal care and early detection of heart defects, increases the chance of having a healthy baby.

Jazzercising for a good cause

Despite the summerlike temperatures that prompted many people to spend the day outdoors, more than 30 caring Jazzercise enthusiasts attended the fundraiser for Des Plaines resident Mike Schwass.

Mike who is a former athlete himself, but was paralyzed in a hockey accident while a student at Notre Dame High School. He must undergo costly surgery in April, hence the fundraiser.

The event was organized by (Des Plaines Jazzercise instructor) Trudy Metz, of Niles. The DP park district made the leisure center available and Jerry's fruit market donated oranges for participants as refreshments after class. Mike's mom attended Trudy's classes for almost two years. It helps her to maintain the energy her busy life requires of her.

On Mar. 21 all Chicago area instructors will participate in their 4th annual Jazzercise for Leukemia Marathon. The Leukemia Society and instructors are working hard to make this marathon a big success again. Look for posters and sponsor forms at your local Osco.

Social Security provides a variety of services

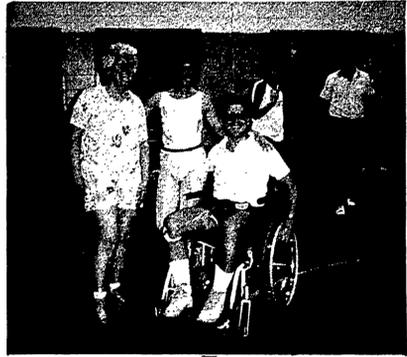

The Social Security Office provides a variety of services. A person can apply there for a Social Security number; check on his or her earnings record; apply for Social Security benefits and black lung benefits, supplemental security income payments, and Medicare hospital insurance protection; enroll for Medicare medical insurance; and learn about his or her rights and responsibilities under the law. All of these services are available to the public without charge.

Social Security staff also visit outlying areas to assist people who live some distance from the office. These visits are made to locations called contact stations. A schedule of such visits is available at the nearest Social Security office.

One additional bit of advice: Social Security offices are most crowded during the first half of the month. If your business can wait, try to visit the office during the last half of the month.

For further information, contact the library at 967-8554.

When asking why she chose to come back to Niles to open her business she replies, "Well, I feel so comfortable here and know so many people. Niles is a great town to grow up in and work in. There are a lot of nice people here and it's fun to be a part of it again. Eve raised her girls here and feels the agency is in a good location and feels Niles is a great community. Eva speaks several languages, among them, Polish, Czech and Russian and encourages people to come and she will help them in their own language.

They are specializing in Europe and Cruises. Coming up for the summer some of their projects are: Hungarian Spa group; Orient Shopping Spree; Four group cruises sailing June, July and August. "Grease" is Loyola's Spring Musical

Slick is another word for Loyola's Spring Musical, Grease, which will be performed in the Little Theater, 1100 N. Laramie, Wilmette, on March 26-29. An energetic cast of 80's kids will play the 50's kids (their parents?), taking on all the trends and twitches of another uncertain, friendly generation of adolescents. The play starts as a class reunion and turns into a mocking, rocking reminiscence of typical high school incidents, re-told with all the sha-nas, yakety-yaks and rock cliches of the period. A romance between Danny Zuko, starring Loyola senior Tony Basich of Lincolnwood and Sandy Dumbrowski played by Kristen Benedict of Regina, provides the main thread of the engaging musical. Fabulous costumes and with-it choreography capture the characteristic styles and gestures of the self-conscious teens of the Eisenhower era. In the Loyola production, the original cast of 19 was expanded to 53 with chorus and dancers and includes 25 girls from Regina and Marillac. Loyola's Adelqui Boue, Bill Coyne, Peter Saigh and Kyle Hermann shine as the "Burger Palace Boys" who are pursued by "Pink Ladies" Julie Busch, Mary Petro and Melissa Royce of Regina and Lisa Harvey of Marillac. Other Loyola cast members are: Brock Merck, John Cashman, Kurt Weinsheimer, Jeremy Naselli, Mike McDonald, Quintin Marx, and Mr. James Dusablon; dancers: Matt Abrams, Peter Berzins, Chris Consideine, Jim Dolne, Rob Leydon and Chris Meenaghan; chorus: Jim Crilly, Tom Cullerton, Greg Curtis, Paul Darling, Dan Langworthy, Larry Mogoven, Mark Moran, Chuck Mordough and Tom Rotunno. Also in the cast are Regina's Annie Martin, Dana Rossini and Michelle Unger.

Getting Grease to jell was a nostalgic task for Loyola's Professional Staff: Kenneth Bartosz, Musical Director; James Kucienki, Director; Carolyn Ladd, Vocal Coach; Sharon Moran, Costume Designer; Lawrence Reuter, SJ, Production Coordinator; and Peggy Reynolds, Choreography Director. Jim Kucienki remembers seeing the original production of Grease, written by locals Jim Jacobs and Warren Casey, at Chicago's Kingston Mines Warehouse. "The play was hot but the place was freezing. They had to turn off the hot air blowers during performances," he said.

Grease performances at Loyola will be evenings March 26-28, 8 p.m., and matinee March 29, 3 p.m. Admission $4 per person. Call 256-1100 for ticket information.

Interesting Facts From John Jennings

Amazingly, there are 2 places on earth where it's impossible to know what time of day it is. That's at the North Pole and South Pole where all the meridians in the world that govern local time converge, so there's no way of defining the time of day there.

There are 3 countries in the world that start with the letter "Z". Can you name all 3? They are: Zaire, Zambia and Zimbabwe.

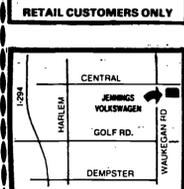

Who's the only man to become President and Vice-President of the U.S. without EVER being elected to the Presidency or Vice-Presidency in a national election? Answer is Gerald Ford who was appointed Vice-President following the resignation of Spiro Agnew, and then became President upon the resignation of Richard Nixon.

The FBI was originally named the BOI (Bureau of Investigation). Its name was changed to FBI in 1935.

And, here's another interesting fact...

AAA-CMC supports speed limit increase

Taking a new stand on the 55 mph speed limit, the AAA-Chicago Motor Club has announced it supports increasing the limit to 65 mph on certain roads for automobiles but not for large trucks. However, the motoring organization does not believe controversy over the speed limit should continue to delay a major federal highway funding bill.

States should be allowed flexibility in setting speed limits, according to the new position of the Club, which represents 470,000 members in Illinois and Northern Indiana. AAA-CMC has supported the 55 mph limit since its enactment in the early 1970's.

AAA-CMC opposes increasing the speed limit for large vehicles because the stopping distance for big trucks is approximately twice that of smaller vehicles.

While the fatality rate on highways has declined since the 55 mph limit was enacted, average highway speeds have increased. This casts doubt on the lifesaving claims of the lower limit. A selective increased speed limit will permit better regulation and control of traffic as well as restoring public respect for compliance with the law, AAA-CMC suggests.

If speed limits are raised, AAA-CMC says there should be greater enforcement of mandatory seat belt laws and careful education of youthful drivers who have never driven on roads with legal speeds greater than 55 mph.

AAA-CMC urges follow-up studies to monitor the impact of a higher speed limit on safety and fatality rates.

Growing public support for raising the 55 mph speed limit is also a factor in AAA-CMC's position. A survey conducted by the American Automobile Association shows 50 percent of drivers surveyed in 1986 favored increasing the speed limit. In a 1985 survey only 28 percent favored increasing the 55 mph limit.

The U.S. Senate has included a states' option to raise the speed limit as part of a major highway funding bill. The House version does not contain the increased speed limit provision. AAA-CMC believes the highway funding issue is of paramount importance and should not be delayed by the controversy over the speed limit.

Tips for more Safety, Economy, Convenience

by Bob Miller

The Battery: The Lifeline of your car

Remember all the talk about electric cars and alternative fuels a few years ago? According to the predictions gas was supposed to be about $3 a gallon by now and we were to be zipping to and from work in electric commuter vehicles. General Motors announced plans it would build an electric car in 1984. Well, here it is 1987 and you hardly ever hear the subject mentioned anymore.

So what has happened to battery technology in the meantime? Some of the more exotic batteries people were talking about as possible replacements for the old style battery remain just talk. Before gas prices reversed direction, General Motors made a lot of noise about a new design battery, the "breakthrough" that would make the electric car practical. This battery was smaller in size and half as light in weight as any battery ever produced. The only thing holding it back from going into production was the fact that not only was it expensive, but it had an extremely short life expectancy.

Over the last few years most of the improvements have been refinements in design such as lighter weight plastic cases (some even come with carrying handles), and re-engineered internal plates that allow today's batteries to deliver more power from a smaller box.

A 12-volt battery has six "cells", each of which contains perhaps a dozen or so plates (12 greater the number of plates, the greater the storage capacity of the battery). Each cell produces 2.1 volts, so all six cells together actually make 12.6 volts.

One of the biggest problems with car batteries is the accumulation of sulfate over time, which can be due to chronic undercharging (defective voltage regulator, weak alternator, slipping fan belts or insufficient driving time between starts to recharge the battery). This can render a battery useless. Driving with an undercharged battery puts a lot of strain on the alternator, and if it happens often enough the alternator can burn out.

One thing that's probably the most confusing about today's batteries is battery ratings. The number most manufacturers are promoting is Cold Cranking Amps (CCA), or the battery's ability to deliver a sustained output at a specified temperature.

There's a rule of thumb that says a vehicle's battery should have a CCA rating equal to or greater than the engine's size. An example would be a car with a 350 cubic inch engine would require a battery that has a minimum of 350 cold cranking amps. The key word here is "minimum", because if the battery you're thinking about buying has a larger number, it's that much more power in your favor.

You'll find batteries on the market today with CCA ratings of 650, 750 or even higher. One of the advantages of building a small battery with a large CCA rating is that it can be used in a variety of cars.

Another term associated with batteries is "Reserve Capacity". This rating is a measure of how long a fully charged battery can sustain a moderate drain. The higher the reserve capacity rating, the longer the battery can keep the engine and accessories working in case of a charging system failure.

The physical dimensions of the battery itself have nothing to do with its capability to start your car on a cold Chicago morning. As long as the battery physically fits in the car, has the right kind of terminals (post or side mount), has the necessary cold cranking amp ratings to handle the engine and accessories, is compatible with the vehicle's charging system and the driving and maintenance habits you use, it's the "right" battery for your car.

Once you've decided on which battery you'll purchase, you can't just forget about it for the next 3 or 4 years. Corroded battery cable ends are the primary cause for that dreaded silence when you turn the key. Side terminal batteries can form corrosion between the cable end and the battery, but the corrosion can not always be seen without removing the cable from the battery.

The same holds true for top terminal batteries. Corrosion can form in-between the battery terminals and the cable ends.

The next time you drop your car off for an oil change or tune up, ask your mechanic to look over your battery and charging system for winter. Don't take for granted everything is all right just because you haven't had problems recently. A system check now can save you that long walk on a cold night to the nearest telephone to call for help.

Bethesda Hospital begins expansion program

"In the next few months, the community will see the implementation of phase one in our Emergency/Out Patient area renovation," announced Rick Snow, Managing Director of Bethesda Hospital, 2451 W. Howard in Chicago. Snow added, "This construction project will not only improve Bethesda's delivery capabilities for emergency care, but will also allow implementation of a step down delivery system for minor injuries and walk-in healthcare services that don't require emergency attention."

Bethesda is a user-friendly institution. Its proximity to community residents and its size allows it to offer personalized care - patients are treated as special guests. Bethesda is ideally situated to provide walk-in medical care and this project will provide community residents with convenient, accessible healthcare in their own neighborhood.

With the addition of 326-bed Swedish Covenant, HFN has 22 shareholders, accounting for 7,550 beds and treating about 28% of the area's inpatients. Swedish Covenant Hospital, serving northwest Chicago, is located at 5145 N. California ave.

Illinois Bell customers receive info on "976" changes

Illinois Bell customers have begun receiving information in their telephone bills that describe changes in the "976" public announcement system that go into effect Mar. 12.

The 976 system—called the 976 TELEPROGRAMS™ service—is the series of pre-recorded, one-minute, dial-up announcements that can be reached by dialing a number with the 976 prefix in topics such as the time, weather and stock market.

Starting Mar. 12, three new announcement producers join the current producer—all known as information providers—to expand the number of 976

TELEPROGRAMS™ messages from 18 to 22.

"One change is that callers in the Chicago metropolitan area will be charged between 20 cents and 50 cents for each call completed to the 976 service," Judy Mandolini, Illinois Bell's public announcement system product manager, said.

Mandolini noted that the information providers, the companies producing the messages, will set prices for each completed call, and that they are responsible for the content of the announcements they produce.

The new plan replaces billing message units based on distance and the duration of the call.

"The bill insert customers are receiving lists of messages that are available, the new prices, and the names and telephone numbers of the companies that produce the messages," she said.

"The companies may change prices within the 20-cent to 5-cent range after giving Illinois Bell 30 days' notice. Then, the new prices must remain in effect at least 30 days.

Operator surcharges apply if calls to the 976 TELEPROGRAMS™ service are placed with an operator's assistance or billed to a third party or credit card.

Planned prices for coin calls to the 976 service from Illinois Bell public telephones located in northeast Illinois are 50 cents.

Illinois Bell has established two toll-free numbers that provide current information about the 976 TELEPROGRAMS™ announcement topics, prices and telephone numbers, and how to contact the companies that produce the programs.

For callers within the 312 area code, the toll-free number is 1-800-922-2976. For callers from other points in Illinois, the number is 1-800-522-2976.

the good side of the guys in power.

We're not hinting there is some kind of intimidation involved in the request from the Mayor. But I guess it wouldn't hurt to stay on his good side.

Blase's little fiefdom he's carved here in Maine Township is a microcosm of what all the hollering and screaming is about in Chicago's Mayoral election. Haider, Hynes, Vrdoiyak and Washington are fighting for raw power. Not just for power itself. But for the bucks and the contracts which go with having a friend down at City Hall. Hynes is representing the Rosenkowski-Daley wing of the Party, and the other candidates are representing their own interests.

Here in Niles, there ain't no opposition. So it's best to climb aboard, drop a few bucks and get on with your business.

We'll meet with our Board of Directors this week to see about contributing to "our friend." If the majority tells us to open up the purse strings, we'll ante up a few green ones. Blase's letter notes "the monies raised go to our Children's Christmas and Halloween parties, our Senior Citizen Bingo parties, and all of our local candidates."

Only a scrooge would be against supporting Children's Christmas and Halloween parties and Senior Citizen Bingo parties. And as for supporting "local candidates," they have become the only game in town. There are no longer any opposition candidates. We think it would be darn right Un-American to completely ignore supporting some candidates. Better support the only candidates in town than not support any.

school will award a monetary first, second, and third prize to the winners, according to poster chairman Laurie Zucker.

The schools' student leadership groups are also involving themselves in the contest. The Students Against Driving Drunk (SADD) organization is publicizing the contest, while the Student Senate is managing the voting process.

Both schools start the week with a program featuring a rehabilitated addict, who waged a drug battle that began in high school and persisted through college. He will trace his path from drug addict to current operating room assistant, states special programs coordinator Lillian Mann.

In addition to these scheduled programs, District 219 has arranged to train 15 faculty members to comprise a drug/alcohol abuse team. Experts from Forest Hospital, which specializes in abuse treatment for adolescents, will share their knowledge with the newly formed crisis team. The district group can then disseminate their information to the rest of the faculty.

According to Kathy Peca, North's director of student services and head of Drug Awareness Week, administrators chose to integrate drug intervention with the total school operation. They determined that active staff members could combine their established rapport with their new expertise to serve as a vital link to students combatting substance abuse.

Registration only. Parents and children will be able to meet the kindergarten teachers and explore the classrooms on Wednesday, April 29. The hours for this visitation will be from 8-11:30 a.m. and 1-3 p.m.

MARDI GRAS TIME...Val Burns of the Bugle Publications, and her husband, Larry, had their own Mardi Gras hoopla when they took a trip to Lafayette, La. to visit their son, Larry and his wife, whose father was selected King Richard Coeur de Lion to reign over the Krewe's Ball.

During the four-day festivities, Val and Larry enjoyed a whirlwind of activities attending several receptions, parties and a pre-ball dinner in formal dress. A highlight was the Mardi Gras ball with the King and Queen wearing velvet and brocade robes and crowns befitting royalty in a pageantry of attendants and pages, along with a fanfare of trumpets.

The couple said they had a great time at the pre-Lenten celebration held annually in Lafayette similar to its neighbor to the east.

FAR-OFF PLACES...Mike Crisci of Golf Mill State Bank and Diana Stevens recently returned from a trip to Finland, a trip won by Stevens in a radio contest.

The couple enjoyed touring Helsinki, but found that meals were expensive. In a visit to McDonald's, a Big Mac, small fries and a coke cost $9.50!

A side trip to Stockholm (via cruise ship) revealed a beautiful city, Old World charm and friendly citizens. Then back to Helsinki for a transfer flight to Rovaniemi, (capital of Lapland) made up of tiny islands.

One island contained a cluster of foreign embassies. The Russian embassy, however was isolated from the others on the far side of the island in a wish for privacy, a tour guide explained.

The tour included a snowmobile safari in a trek over frozen rivers to a real reindeer farm. A big moment for Mike was driving a sled pulled by reindeer at the farm. The couple also saw Santa Claus, who sports a four foot golden red beard and is known as Father Christmas in that country. The last evening was spent enjoying a Smorgasbord feast at a Helsinki hotel, which featured a Finnish folk dance.

had just been increased by 80%, they claim. It is not an appropriate area for a shopping mall. Citing current flooding problems, they fear all the new concrete would cause a run-off over their properties.

Trustee Neil Cashman said if the property is not utilized and annexed by the Village of Morton Grove, the County can do anything it wants with it. Trustee Don Snieder sympathized with the residents' concern over the flooding possibility, but urged the residents to wait and see what occurs when the matter is put before the Planning Commission on Mon., Apr. 20.

Village Clerk, Wilma Wendt reminded village residents Apr. 7 is the election day for the Park and Library Boards.

Village Administrator Larry Artl received approval for a workshop to be held in conjunction with the Appearance Committee to change the Appearance Code. The date was set for Wed., Mar. 25. Mr. Artl also explained

Students scored especially high in mathematics and language skills. These scores, passed on to Maine East High School, have been a valuable tool in preparation and placement decisions for incoming high school freshmen.

The Board also discussed recommended procedures and a timetable to fill the unexpired term of Melvin F. Cohen, whose term officially expires in November.

Applicants must be United States citizens residing in the school district for at least one year and registered to vote. Anyone who is a trustee or employed by the school system is ineligible.

The Board will consider each applicant's background, outside activities, and high candidate's expectations for the role of board member and anticipated accomplishments.

The application acceptance period will run from March 13-24 followed by application filing. From March 30 to April 4 the Board will interview and review candidates' application. A tentative date of May 12 has been set for voting and swearing in ceremonies, but this date could be moved up. All interested parties should contact the District 63 Board of Education.

The tenants, Kid Care, Inc., Olive Tree Congregation, and the Maine Niles Association of Special Education were all able to use the facility by Monday morning with no disruption of their schedules.

A report on the California Achievement Tests administered to 348 eighth graders at Gemini School was released. The report showed Gemini students' achievements in the areas of reading, language, and mathematics are within the expectancy levels based on previous testing and above the national norm in all categories.

Arsonists set two separate fires at Oak School Sunday evening causing an estimated $30,000 worth of damage. At approximately 8:30 p.m. intruders entered the building setting fire to a plastic tricycle and trash barrel at two different locations.

The major damage from smoke was confined to the southern and western areas of the building. These areas, covered by layers of soot, would have been unusable for the tenants the next morning if not for a dedicated crew of five cleanup men who worked tirelessly until 5 a.m. Those involved in the soot removal operation are to receive special commendations from the School Board for their efforts.
