As it begins to consider guidelines for the 1988 budget, finance committee members of the Niles Public Library District were warned last Thursday that the library is living more than $100,000 beyond its income. The fiscal year begins July 1 and ends June 30. "We are living $107,000 beyond our income," said library administrator D.J. McKenzie. The number cited by McKenzie Continued on Page 46

We never thought we'd ever suggest letting politicians get their little paws into more and more public areas. But in Niles there is a definite need for the village to extend its power which would greatly benefit the people it serves.

The time has come for the village to take over the library district. There is a serious shortfall of money in the library district which hinders the district from moving forward. Since the village coffers are continuously overflowing with money, it seems its funds should be used to run the library.

In most surrounding communities the libraries are run by their village communities with village taxes. Revenues generated through many different means come into the village which then can be redistributed for upgrading library facilities.

Opponents of such an idea would contend it would be just one more area which Nick Blase and his friends could add more of their friends to the village payrolls. That is certainly a possibility. But Blase's track record of hiring well-qualified people to serve the community goes back twenty-five years. It is unlikely he'd downgrade the person- Continued on Page 46

Niles ponders court decision on property rights

Niles trustees at a pre-board meeting discussed the impact of a Supreme Court decision increasing the rights of property owners. The court ruled property owners must receive compensation when government regulations deprive them of the use of their land. According to the majority decision (6-3 vote), compensation would be due for the time during which government restrictions amounted to "a taking of all use of property." Referring to the Fifth Amendment, it requires that landowners be reimbursed not only when the government seizes property through eminent domain, but also when it thwarts the use of property by land-use regulations. Village Attorney Richard Troy disagreed with the high court decision, saying the dissenting judges argued the case was based on little facts and allegations, and Continued on Page 46

Cohen voted off the bench

Four associate judges of the Cook County Circuit Court were voted off the bench by the 173 full circuit judges, it was announced Tuesday by the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts, according to a report in Wednesday's Chicago Tribune. The four, Francis Butler, Kenneth Cohen, Glenn Fowlkes and Martin Hogan, failed to win an affirmative vote by 60 percent of the circuit judges. They will be forced to leave office June 30. Butler, Cohen, Fowlkes and Hogan were among nine associate judges rated not qualified by the Chicago Bar Association June 5. The unqualified ratings issued by the bar were based on judicial knowledge and temperament. Cohen is a Niles resident and former law associate of Niles village president Nick Blase.

The Niles Village Board approved the appointment of Gary Karshna as the new finance director at Tuesday's meeting. He replaces Jeff Bell who resigned May 29 for a similar position in another suburb. "It's a pleasure to welcome him to Niles. He has an excellent background and will be an asset to the community," said Trustee Abe Selman, adding that Village Manager Jack Hodge had highly recommended the selection of Karshna. Karshna, a native of Wisconsin, was treasurer-comptroller for the Village of Brown Deer, Wisconsin. He has a bachelor's degree in economics and holds a master's degree in public finance from the University of Wisconsin. After being introduced to the Continued on Page 47

Check Social Security number at work

To protect their Social Security earnings records, people are urged to compare the name and number on their Social Security cards with the name and number on their pay stubs or their Form W-2. The name and number should be exactly the same, according to Thomas A. Curin, Social Security manager in Des Plaines.

If the person discovers that the Social Security number on his or her pay stub is different than that on his or her Social Security card, he or she should ask the employer immediately to correct the wage records. Social Security should also be notified so that their records can be corrected, if necessary.

The Social Security number is the key to a worker's lifetime earnings record on which eligibility for and benefit amounts are based. In general, the greater the earnings the higher the benefit amount.

People should check the earnings credited to their Social Security earnings record at least once every 3 years. A form can be obtained from any Social Security office for this purpose. To obtain a form call 255-6570 in Arlington Heights, and 823-0815 in Des Plaines.

Tentative District 207 budget goes on display

One of the District goals for the 1986-87 school year, the continuation of the five-year District 207 Staff Development Program remains a high priority for the Board of Education and the District 207 staff, according to James L. Elliott, Superintendent. To meet that priority, the District Staff Development Committee will meet to make final plans for the third year of the five-year Staff Development Program during the summer of 1987.

The five-year Staff Development Program was approved by the Board of Education in October, 1985, to provide a planned program of instructional improvement. Although Maine has traditionally offered a variety of programs that focus on such improvement, the five-year plan provides an overarching framework to offer teachers new methods for instruction with particular emphasis on "Effective Schools Research."

Planning will continue to focus on the ten themes which have provided that framework for the program during the second year. Those themes are: Time-on-Task, Questioning Skills, Guided Practice, Cooperative Learning/Cooperative Teaching, Use of Praise and Criticism in the Classroom, Effective Classroom Management, Effective Student Evaluation, Learning Styles, Study Skills, and the Administrative Academy.

Four full-day institutes and three half-day institutes are scheduled for the 1987-88 school year. Full-day institutes will be held Monday, Aug. 24; Friday, Sept. 18; Monday, Jan. 25; and Tuesday, Mar. 8. Half-day institutes will be held Tuesday, Oct. 13; Thursday, Feb. 11; and Wednesday, Apr. 20.

In addition to the opening day

Niles Park finalizing plans for July 4th

The Niles Park District is finalizing plans for its annual July 4th Parade, featuring a variety of activities for people of all ages.

According to Steve Ross, director of recreation for the park district, the parade will feature the Niles West Marching Band (which will participate in the Fiesta Bowl in Arizona on Dec. 31); Midlothian Bagpipe Band, Pride of Evanston Drum and Bugle and Green Beret band from Wisconsin. There will also be a Dixieland band and members of the Glenbrook Shrine Club, who will go through their routines with electric cars.

"Children will be dressed in costumes, and there will be a lot of floats, local organizations and village officials participating in the parade," Cross said.

He said the park district originally planned to have marching band competition in conjunction with the parade. "We sent applications for the contest to band organizations all over the country, but there was lack of response. We had set aside $4,000 for prizes including $2,000 for the first place winner."

He explained that many bands have long standing commitments to march in other July 4th parades. "They are already spoken for, and it's a problem trying to get them here," he said.

Cross added the Village of Niles has donated $12,000 for the parade and post-parade activities that will be held at Grennan Heights Park, 8255 Oketo, including judging of parade entries.

Entertainment at the park will begin at 11 a.m. with the Bob Thomas Dixieland Band, 11:30 a.m. Bob and Mike trio (standup comedians); noon... Hubcaps Singing group; and the Windy City Circus Troupe at 1 p.m. There will be free pony rides and a petting zoo for the children. The face painting by Rainbo, The Clown.

The concession stand will feature hot dogs, hamburgers and soft drinks, Cross said.

The parade will kick off promptly at 9:30 a.m. on the grounds of Notre Dame High School, which will proceed south on Ozark to Main St., east on Main to Harlem, south on Harlem to Monroe, west on Monroe to Grennan Heights. The judges will be on the reviewing stand in front of St. John Brebeuf School, 8301 Harlem.

"Of course, it's not going to rain on our parade," Cross said. But, just in case, he is keeping his fingers crossed.

Rajski's efforts relieve taxpayers of double taxation

Largely due to the work of Niles Library board member Margaret Rajski, a group of taxpayers in Northfield Township will not be double taxed this year as they have in the past for services at both the Niles Public Library District and the Glenview Municipal Library.

Good news for taxpayers is not necessarily good news for the district which is suffering from an erosion of its tax base.

About $11,000,000 worth of property, or 232 condominiums, were dropped from the Niles Library District's tax rolls last year but not discovered by the library until June when a projected amount of tax revenue had not been received near the end of the library's fiscal year, according to Dan Macken, the district's chief of operations. The fiscal year ends June 30.

The tax loss was announced at a meeting of the finance committee Thursday, June 18. Rajski was not present due to a death in the family.

When she heard of the decision, Rajski said "I'm glad that is straightened out. It's not fair that people be taxed twice."

She said she became aware of the situation about a year earlier when contacted by State Rep. Margaret Parcels (R-Glenview). Following contact with Rajski, the matter was referred to Library Administrator D.J. McKenzie, Northfield Township and the Cook County Assessor, Rajski said.

McKenzie noted "good news" of the district's one year reprieve for loss of the $11,000,000 Zenith property. He said "bad news" is that by 1989, the library will not receive taxes from either the condominiums or the Zenith property.

The library's projected tax revenue from a 15 mil tax for the following fiscal year will be $900,911. Other sources of revenue may include funds from a 2 mil tax to be levied for buildings and site, corporate replacement taxes, interest, fines, lost books, and copies.

The district collects taxes from Maine Township, Niles Township and Northfield Township.

Niles Fire Dept. calls

The Niles Fire Department responded to 34 fire alarms and 41 ambulance calls from June 12 to June 19.

Firemen extinguished a small fire in a gas stove at 6528 Bruce Dr. causing $400 damage on June 12.

Firefighters on June 12, extinguished a fire in the bedroom of a second floor apartment at 6034 Oriole. The cause was traced to a portable air cleaner on the dresser, with the fire contained to the padding in the unit and extending to the dresser. Damage was estimated at $1,200.

A smoke scare on June 13 at 7820 Nordica was attributed to a charred meal in the oven. There was no significant damage.

A fire alarm system malfunctioned at 7501 Dempster on June 13.

Firefighters on June 14 went to 8520 where they extinguished two dumpster fires on the west side of the building.

Firefighters washed down loitering on the street leaking from a tanker at 6100 Howard on June 14.

A woman at 7840 Nordica was locked out of her apartment on June 14. Using a ladder to the balcony, firemen went through

SHOPPING THE SALES

You've seen the ads. The actor comes on camera with an axe to slash prices, or a hammer to smash prices, or a fire hose to blow the prices out of the water. The pitch is that you can get the best price in town by shopping at Price-Less Wonder. Have you wondered how Price-Less comes up with such a "good deal"?

There are legitimate reasons for having a sale. A merchant may have been able to buy very well and so can afford to keep a liveable mark-up and still pass on a significant savings to customers while providing fine quality goods. A merchant may have recognized that some fine quality goods have been available in the store for too long and that it is time to take a loss on the items in order to free up purchasing money for fresh, new inventory. A merchant may be celebrating an anniversary and really desire to share the celebration with the townspeople who have so solidly supported the firm.

When a merchant holds a sale for these reasons, the customer is fairly served. Quality merchandise is offered. Fair prices are offered. There is a real beginning and ending to the sale. The merchant will continue to be available to you to provide support services that you need, the new battery for the watch, the restringing for the pearls, the full appraisal for insurance purposes.

Is this true of the "sales" that Price-Less Wonder offers week after week after month after year? At Doerner Jewelers, we know the customer's good faith and trust is what is truly priceless. Is it any wonder we are committed to treating you fairly?

Music for the afternoon will be provided by "The Troubadours", a group of eight professional entertainers and music teachers.

"The Troubadours" have performed at college fairs, ethnic expositions, in concert and on television. Co-ordinator of the group is Irene Malatesta, a North Side music teacher and entertainer.

Jesuit dedicates life to improving India's "untouchables"

"You are born an untouchable, you live as an untouchable, and you die an untouchable." Such is the fate of Anthony Raj, S.J., an Indian Jesuit priest who recently completed his Ph.D. in sociology at Loyola University of Chicago.

He is one of the few Indians of the untouchable caste to ever earn a Ph.D. Yet, despite his shining educational credentials, Father Raj is despised by his own country men and women because he is an untouchable - a member of India's lowest social class. This soft-spoken, rather shy man has spent much of his life protesting the poor treatment of untouchables. He plans to return to Tamil Nadu in southern India in July to work with the people of his caste.

To be an untouchable in India today, he says, means being treated something like a serf in the days of feudalism. Even though Indian law prohibits discrimination against untouchables, the law is rarely enforced. For instance, people of higher castes refuse to eat or drink anything with an untouchable. Those of higher castes are repelled at the thought of marrying one.

The caste system is rooted in the Hindu belief that one's present social status in the caste hierarchy is determined by the way one lived a previous life.

"If today, I am an untouchable," says Father Raj, "it's believed that I caused it because I did something wrong in my previous life."

This system, however, is grossly unjust, says Father Raj. "This problem of untouchables is as bad as apartheid," he says. "Furthermore it's always being brushed aside as an internal problem; it's not given any attention. Part of it is that people are ashamed of exposing the treatment of untouchables for fear they will be speaking ill of India."

Father Raj sees his life's mission as not only exposing but changing the injustice of the untouchable way of life. He dreams of someday opening a college or university exclusively for untouchables.

In fighting for the liberation of his caste, Father Raj does battle with a tradition that has survived since approximately 3,000 B.C. Even some Catholic church authorities have disapproved of his attitudes about untouchables. A few Indian bishops have asked Father Raj to soften his criticism, even though thus far his actions have been primarily academic.

"Whenever we go and organize a seminar or a group discussion," he says, "people start talking back to their priests. So some of the bishops will say, 'You are disturbing the simple faith of the people.'" Father Raj has been critical of untouchable segregation in the church, such as separate communion lines and cemeteries.

Nilesite receives degree

Mary Kay Antoinette Alberti, Niles, recently received the degree of Bachelor of Business Administration from Saint Mary's College during the school's 140th anniversary.

Saint Mary's is one of the nation's oldest Catholic colleges, for women, offering four-year courses in the liberal arts and sciences.

In contrast to some church authorities, the Society of Jesus has been extremely supportive of Father Raj. "I am very grateful to the society," he says. "They have always encouraged me to study like this even though they knew it would be controversial."

Father Raj's doctoral dissertation itself examines a controversial question: Why don't India's untouchables revolt against their oppression? He concluded that the main reason for their obedience is that they are economically dependent on the current system. If they revolted, they fear they would lose what little they have.

To research his dissertation, Father Raj studied historical archives and lived for 14 months in a southern Indian village much like the one in which he grew up.

In another sense, his research really began the day he was born. Before joining the Jesuits, where he received equal treatment, he was part of an extremely poor untouchable family and was a social outcast. As a child, he began working with his mother as a laborer for a wealthy landlord. His childhood and teenage years were spent in a constant struggle to pay for the essentials of life. His shabby clothing was often ridiculed by higher caste classmates who were better off.

Father Raj has come a long way since those days, but he can't and won't forget them. He is reminded each time he goes back to his home village that he is a despised untouchable. After leaving the bus, he must walk in the center of the street. On either side are higher caste villagers, who inevitably make degrading comments about him. "For me that short distance is the longest distance in my life...Despite my education, I am an untouchable to them."

Our average patient loses over 85 pounds.

200,000 people have participated in the OPTIFAST Program of weight loss. Studies have shown that up to 80% of OPTIFAST treated patients may lose a minimum of 40 pounds. In patients who lose more than this amount, the average loss is 85 pounds.

But even more encouraging is the fact that in some people, long-term weight maintenance—the most important part of obesity treatment—is accomplished in The OPTIFAST Program.

By comparison, 5-10% of those who undertake conventional diets lose 40 pounds. And, with few exceptions, they regain the weight they have lost.

Why is The OPTIFAST Program different? The doctors who administer the program realize that obesity is a disease. They have developed a four-stage, supplemented fasting program.

Throughout the program, you receive unequalled personal support. Perhaps more importantly, you receive unequalled medical support. If you are more than 30% or 50 pounds overweight, please call 761-6400 ext. 5108 and request a call about The OPTIFAST Program.

Interesting Facts From John Jennings

One of the most amazing writing feats of all-time was by Ernest Wright who, incredibly, wrote a 50,000-word English novel without EVER using a word that had an "e" in it ANYWHERE in the story—even though "e" is the most-used letter in the language.

What's the biggest city in Africa? Answer: Cairo, Egypt.

Contrary to popular opinion, human blood is really NOT red. A single cell of blood is yellowish in color, and appears red only when lots of cells come together.

The Rotary Club gets its name from the fact that members originally met in rotation at their various places of business.

The oldest living things on earth are bristlecone pine trees in California believed to be more than 4,000 years old.

And, here's another interesting fact...

Road run finals at Niles West

The 3rd Annual Illinois TAC Youth and Open Road Race State Championships were held under very sunny skies with temperatures in the high 80's and low 90's at Niles West High School this past weekend. Just over 50 athletes started the 5K and 10K road races with the over all winner in the 5K being Neyl Marquez of Morton Grove High School for the males and Mary Haek of Chicago for the females. Dario Navarro of Fenton High School and Brendon O'Connor of Oakton Community College were the over all winners in the 10K.

I Bet You Didn't Know

By Jim Jennings

Has any big league baseball team ever gone a whole season without being shut out in any game? ... Only one team in history has done it - the 1932 Yankees. They scored in every game they played that year, and NO other major league team has ever been able to duplicate that.

One of the most unusual nicknames for any team in big league baseball is the "Dodgers" - and do you know how that nickname came into being? ... The name was first applied to the Dodgers when they were in Brooklyn, years before they moved to Los Angeles.

Three fitness videos were recently added to the Lincolnwood Library collection to encourage an exercise routine for the summer.

What are the most games in a row any pitcher ever won in big league baseball? ... The all-time record is held by Carl Hubbell. He won 24 straight games without a defeat in the 1936 and 1937 seasons for the Giants - the greatest individual winning streak in baseball history.

Teen challenges police actions; police comment on "toy guns"

Dear Niles Bugle,

I have a question. What right do the Niles police or any police have to pull their guns on teenagers? On Sunday, June 14, my friends and I were having a squirt gun and water balloon fight at Brunswick Niles Bowl. It was about 9:30 p.m. when we started. The bowling center was almost empty and there were about 3 lanes in use. So the parking lot was empty, except for about 5 to 10 cars. So we decided to have the water fight in the parking lot.

We were outside for about an hour, also we kept going inside to refill our squirt guns or to get our balloons filled. The manager of the bowling center knew what we were doing, and he did not mind as long as we were outside and we were not doing it inside.

While we were outside someone saw the police, so we went inside because we know that police and teenagers do not mix. So we were inside with one of our friends from the league (he was bowling). The police came in and yelled "put your hands up!" with their guns out. The manager of the center did not know what was going on. He thought the place was being held up so he called the police and then he found out that it was the police.

Meanwhile, my friend and I came out of the restroom, because we heard someone yell and we thought the place was being held up too. Then the police took the squirt guns away and took all of us outside (except the people bowling). The officer asked who owned the squirt guns, and the people who did came forward. As they came forward I asked the officer what happened, because I did not know what was going on. I thought he did not hear me so I asked him again and he said "shut up!" and took the addresses and phone numbers of the people who owned the squirt guns. Then the officer gave back the squirt guns and said that we could leave.

What I do not understand is, first, why were the police called? Second, why did the police not contact the center and find out what was going on? Third, why did they have their guns out? If someone would have moved too fast, something might have happened. Fourth, what was the sense of them coming, to get four people's addresses and phone numbers? They gave the squirt guns back! Fifth, why were there 14 police cars there? To arrest 10 kids with squirt guns and water balloons. I think it stinks that teenagers cannot have fun without someone calling the police!

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Lt. Marty Stankowicz, commander of operation at the Niles Police Department said police had "just cause to go into action because of the suspicious nature of the incident." He also added the youths in question were between 16 and 18 years of age.

He noted a police officer on routine patrol observed about 10 teenagers in the bowling alley parking lot, four of whom were holding what appeared to be guns. The officer then called for backup and when police approached the youths, three of them ran into the Niles Brunswick Bowl building. Upon entering the building, police observed that a male and a female were trying to hide their guns under a table and subsequently police drew their guns before approaching the youths.

"Police then found out they were toy water pistols and the four were released," Stankowicz said. "Similar incidents have happened before. These water pistols look like real guns in color and detail. We wish that manufacturers would stop making them to avoid these kind of situations."

Severe blood shortage this summer

Dear Editor: Without the donations of thousands of volunteer blood donors, the Chicago area faces a severe blood shortage this summer.

For many years, the Chicago area has experienced a chronic shortage of blood. Blood is in especially short supply during the summer months and particularly around Fourth of July and other holiday weekends. An adequate blood supply must be maintained at all times for patients requiring blood transfusion therapy.

Right now, blood supplies are seriously diminished and we're asking that everyone who is eligible to schedule an appointment to donate blood soon.

Donating blood is a safe, healthy activity. There is no risk on contracting AIDS or any other infectious disease by giving blood. All materials we use are sterile and disposed of after a single use.

Almost everyone who is between 17 and 65, in good health and who weighs at least 110 pounds can help alleviate this chronic blood shortage by donating blood. The donation process is simple, quick and painless.

If you've never donated blood before, maybe it's because you've never been asked. We're asking you to please donate blood now.

LifeSource, was formed in January by the American Red Cross and The Blood Center of Northern Illinois, maintains donor centers throughout the Chicago metropolitan area. Call us at 298-9660 to find out where you can donate conveniently near your home or office. You can safely donate blood once every eight weeks.

None of us knows when a friend, a family member, or we, ourselves, may need to receive blood. The only way we can be sure it will be available when it's needed, is by sharing our "gifts of life" with people in need.

Be a summer sport — be a volunteer blood donor soon.

Sincerely,
Susan B. Stuttle
Managing Director
LifeSource

Holocaust Memorial feelings

Dear Editor:

I am heartsick over the cruel and despicable vandalism of the Holocaust Memorial in Skokie. It is more than an act of violence, it is a desecration of all that is moral and righteous in the human spirit.

I commend the people and leaders of the Village of Skokie for allowing such a Memorial to the heroic men, women and children lost in World War II, and I wish to express my gratitude to the Holocaust Memorial Foundation for their love and dedication to this project.

Concerned 'kids' express views

Dear Mr. Newsman,

We are two concerned children who live in Niles. Concerned about what you ask? We are concerned about all the new toys that are coming out and some that already have like the army toys, ninja toys, water grenades, guns, bombs, some video games, and many others. We think that these toys are disgusting and put harmful thoughts in kids' minds. These new toys have kids thinking they should kill or hurt others. Already kids have gotten hurt and or killed because of the ideas these toys give them. We think these toys should be banned. We know there are kids who think the way we do. Let's try to do something about this!

Two concerned kids,
Susie Flynn and Amy Leafman

CPA Review gives candidates support and help

The North Suburban CPA Review, LTD., 6423 N. St. Louis, Lincolnwood, would like to emphasize that their review course is unique in that they offer a personal as well as professional approach. Their faculty are all willing to go an extra step in giving those candidates that need additional support the help that they need. They know all of the candidates by name by the third or fourth session and make sure that they know that they will respond to their questions and needs. ## Golf Mill'ing Around The Mall

by Linda Zachow

Greetings from GOLF MILL, a great place to beat the heat, shop, browse, and eat. The modernization of Golf Mill accommodates the needs and tastes of the upwardly mobile consumer of the 80's. This is apparent in the areas of consumer goods, seasonal comfort, and the ever-expanding fast food industry.

GOLF MILL is a great place to "graze", which in the words of Sidney Mintz, Johns Hopkins anthropologist, means "enjoying brief meal-like interventions throughout the day" - in plain English, quick snacking or grabbing a bite to eat.

According to Advertising Age, "Heavy grazers are the most active consumers going" and anyone who has visited the mall knows GOLF MILL is usually crowded with active consumers.

No longer satisfied with the old shopping center coffee shops with their patched plastic booths, long lunch waits, unchanging and unimaginative menus, the MILL GARDEN incorporates those attributes the "grazers" of the 80's have come to expect in the best shopping malls - attractive modern atmosphere, quick friendly service, and variation in menu - from the deli sandwich to gourmet foods.

As we visited each vendor, we were pleasantly surprised with the care and diligence that went into food preparation and service. The quality of food is excellent, the use of fresh ingredients is mandatory in most places, food is not reheated in microwaves and does not sit for long periods of time. Many managers are revising recipes with their own creations. Even at peak rush times lines moved along with steady precision, but not efficiency devoid of warmth and friendliness. We met the workers, tasted the food, and in these next two columns, we'll share some tidbits about fast food at its best.

Our first stop was SBARRO, an Italian eatery managed by Steve Lafatus. With SBARRO's hearty Italian offerings, you would swear someone's Italian grandma was in the back orchestrating every step. Steve, however, has to take credit for this. He told me, "It's as though you were throwing a party for 100 people every day, and you wanted to be sure everyone had a great time enjoying the food."

SBARRO's marinara sauce dates back to 1955 and has been refined and perfected over the years. Their menu includes lasagne, ziti, cheese ravioli, spaghetti, robust pizza (whole or by the slice), calzone, and salads. SBARRO's calzones are the kind of entree that could stick to your ribs for at least a day or maybe longer. Inside a substantial browned crust, oozing with 100 percent natural ricotta and mozzarella cheese, the calzones are filled with mixtures of meatballs, spinach, and sausage. Their pasta salad featuring three varieties of vegetable pasta, fresh vegetables, and a sprinkling of parmesan makes it a cool delight for hot weather. For great Italian food stop in at SBARRO.

One of the most enduring and popular fast foods since baby boomers were old enough to spend their allowance has been french fries. We midwesterners always thought ketchup was the only condiment appropriate for those tasty, golden potato fingers, but regional condiment traditions have existed for years such as fries smothered in gravy, cheese, or vinegar. BOARDWALK FRIES, managed by Mike Rayyan, serves fries like mom used to make, the kind that actually taste like potatoes. BOARDWALK hand cuts their fries daily and used top quality peanut oil in the frying process. If you're homesick for good fries with a whole range of condiments including a good marinara sauce, BOARDWALK can satisfy your appetite. They also serve a variety of delicately coated, deep fried fresh vegetables and mozzarella cheese sticks on the side - an Italian spice/Japanese tempura creation. The vegetables, not overwhelmed by the breading, retain their crispness and the cheese sticks just melt in your mouth as you bite into the delicately seasoned crust. For fries like mom used to make, head on over to BOARDWALK and recapture fond taste memories.

One of the newest fast food outlets located in the south mall is KARMEKORN, owned by Mel Smith. KARMEKORN is a popcorn connoisseur's dream. While some places feature 20 flavors of popcorn and mediocre quality, Mel serves five flavors and only the best. He uses his own recipes and the finest quality ingredients - fresh butter, the finest grade brown sugar, gourmet popping corn, and the richest flavorings on the market. There's karmekorn, cheesekorn, butter rum, karmekorn with peanuts, and sour cream korn.

KARMEKORN also sells mouthwatering gourmet chocolates and dipped pretzels. If you're looking for a cute gift, KARMEKORN specializes in adorable gift containers filled with any flavor popcorn. The containers make attractive storage canisters and wastebaskets after the goodies are gone.

Get ready for some entertainment at the mall. Those cute, comical, blue folks better known as the Smurfs have a concert in store for you June 27-28.

Until next time, bon appetit from GOLF MILL.

Edison offers rate help to industrial customers

Commonwealth Edison, in a continuing effort to preserve existing jobs as well as stimulate employment growth in northern Illinois, is proposing to offer incentive pricing to an additional 5,000 industrial customers. Under a proposal filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission, the number of customers potentially eligible for discounts would increase from 1,600 to approximately 6,600.

Edison's Industrial Development Rate, Rider 19, currently is available to any new or existing industrial customer whose probable maximum demand is at least 500 kilowatts for 9 of 12 months of each contract year. The proposed change would reduce the qualifying demand requirement to 100 KW.

Rider 19 provides discounts ranging from 20 to 100 percent of demand charges to companies which qualify. Most industrial customers pay a demand charge in addition to a charge for kilowatt-hours consumed. Rider 19 applies only to increased electricity usage above historical levels. When more kilowatt-hours are used by customers, Edison noted, everyone eventually pays less per kilowatt-hour toward the fixed costs of supplying electricity.

Motor fuel tax

Illinois municipalities have been allotted $14,149,667 as their share of motor fuel tax paid into the State Treasury during May, according to the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Motor fuel tax funds are allocated monthly to the various municipalities in Illinois for their streets and highways. The monies allocated are computed on the basis of population.

Local allotments were: Des Plaines $80,738 and Niles $44,271.

I.A.A.I. tax tips

Following are tax tips from President Harvey Kenitz of the Independent Accountants Association of Illinois.

Q. Under the new TRA of 1986, have the rules of interest as an itemized deduction changed?

A. Yes. New rules severely limit deductibility of interest. In 1987, only 65% of consumer interest will be deductible. The new TRA of 1986 limits the deduction for qualifying mortgage interest to a taxpayer's principal residence and on one other residence owned by the taxpayer. The mortgage interest is deductible to the extent it does not exceed the original cost of the home plus the cost of improvements. However, interest on mortgage financing up to the fair market value of the residence is deductible if the financing was incurred on or before Aug. 16, 1986, or is incurred to pay certain family medical or educational expenses.

Q. Under the new TRA of 1986, is it true that a dependent child under the age of 14 is taxed at the parents rate on unearned income?

A. Yes. The unearned income of a child under the age 14 is taxable to the child at the parent's top marginal tax rate after first taking into account certain factors. It works this way. A child age 10 with unearned income of $1,200 first deducts the $500 standard deduction leaving $700 of net unearned income of which $500 is taxed at the child's rate and $200 is taxed at the parent's top rate.

Weekend College programs grow in northwest suburbs

Last spring the Illinois Board of Higher Education approved a request by North Central College to extend its Weekend College program into the northwestern suburbs. In September operation of that distinctive program for adult students began at the Gould Conference Center in Rolling Meadows. And, one year later, the rapid growth which North central officials had expected was starting to become evident.

"Enrollment almost doubled from Fall Term to Spring Term," said Mary K. Moran, coordinator of Weekend College in Rolling Meadows, "and we anticipate that similar growth will continue for some time as people become more aware of the program and of North Central College."

North Central introduced the Weekend College program on its west-suburban Naperville campus in 1981 with 78 students enrolled in one or more courses leading to a bachelor's degree in business management. Now, five years later, more than 350 students are enrolled in Weekend College courses at two locations and degree programs have been added in accounting, marketing, communication, computer science, and management information systems.

Weekend College is an educational program tailored to meet the special needs of the adult student who is unable to attend classes regularly in either a day or evening schedule. Classes are conducted on Friday evening and on Saturday of alternate weekends for working professionals, technology managers, and other part-time students seeking to complete or enhance an undergraduate degree.

During Summer Term two courses - Business 262, Management of Organizations and Economics 150, Microeconomics Principles - will be offered in Weekend College at Rolling Meadows.

The Weekend College program in the northwestern suburbs is the first of its kind to be offered by the 126-year old independent college of liberal arts and sciences. Information about the program can be obtained by calling 640-1037, or by visiting the Gould Conference Center Monday through Saturday between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Elmhurst College receives computer system

Elmhurst College has received confirmation of its selection to receive a $363,000 Harris HCX-9 computer system from Harris Corporation. Harris' regional office is located in Rosemont, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, and Harris' headquarters is in Melbourne, Fla.

Elmhurst is scheduled to receive the corporate gift in early summer 1987. It will be housed in the Science Center for use while its permanent home, the College's Computer Science and Technology Center, is under construction. The Harris computer system is scheduled to move into the CSTC in the summer of 1988 prior to the opening of the building for the fall semester.

Elmhurst is the only strictly undergraduate institution to have received one of these grants.

New bill seeks tuition reimbursement for homeowners

Homeowners whose children attend elementary and secondary schools that charge tuition would be partially reimbursed by the state under legislation sponsored by State Senator Walter Dudycz (R-Chicago).

"People who pay property taxes—the primary source of revenue for public education—and pay to send their children to elementary and secondary schools are being subjected to a form of 'double taxation,' Dudycz said. "I am proposing that these homeowners be partially reimbursed for the tuition they pay."

Under Senate Bill 1237, each household would be able to submit one claim per year for either one-half of the amount of tuition paid to an elementary or secondary school in Illinois, or $1,000 per student, whichever is less. Homeowners with children in tuition-charging schools have relieved the public school system of the responsibility of educating their children, but are still supporting public education with their property taxes," Dudycz said. "Senate Bill 1237 would offer them some relief."

Students think nursing teacher is "special"

Marina Dinzey, one of the pioneers of the Oakton Community College Registered Nursing program, has made quite an impact on the lives of many students.

"I can't even begin to describe Marina Dinzey. She's a great teacher," said Northbrook resident Marietta Czaplicki, a member of the program's first graduating class in 1984. Dinzey, a native of the Philippines, began Oakton's Registered Nursing program five years ago with the help of two other women. She is currently chairperson and assistant professor of the program. She teaches Medical/Surgical Nursing and Trends in Nursing which includes lectures, labs and clinical work, to about 72 freshmen and 80 sophomores a year.

Before coming to Oakton, Dinzey taught at Triton College and worked in various clinics at the University of Illinois.

While growing up in the Philippines, Dinzey always wanted to come to the United States.

"The only way for young people to get out of the Philippines in the 60's was to be in the medical profession or any of the health fields," said the Glenview resident.

Being the oldest of 12 children, it was rather difficult to go to college so Dinzey chose to become involved in the field of nursing. This area of study included a short-term program at the University of the Philippines and was inexpensive.

That decision turned out to be the best move of her life. She fell in love with her career choice and has never had any regrets. After graduating from the university's three-year program, Dinzey wanted to come to the United States to receive further training. She applied to an exchange visitors program and was accepted into a post-graduate training program in Philadelphia.

Eventually, she went on to the University of Illinois and received her bachelor's and master's degrees in nursing with an emphasis in teaching. While working at Cook County Hospital in Chicago, she met her husband, Tito.

By the time Dinzey completed all her schooling, she had no in-tentention of going back to work because her daughter was only 2 years old. But, a friend recommended her to the director of Nursing at Triton and suggested that she "just try it part-time."

When Oakton wanted to start its Registered Nursing program, Dinzey was recommended to the College because of her qualifications and because she lived in Oakton's district.

Through the years, the program has blossomed. Dinzey has helped to gain an affiliation agreement Governors State University so that after students graduate from Oakton, they can complete their bachelor's degrees in two years. She is currently negotiating a similar agreement with the University of Illinois.

Dinzey loves working with her students at Oakton because she feels they are a wonderful mix of people. A unique part of Oakton's Registered Nursing program is that licensed practical nurses are admitted into the program and can bypass the first two semesters. These students have only one year to complete the program and must fulfill specific prerequisites.

"Marina was always our friend," said Czaplicki, who works in the Cardiac Surveillance Unit at Holy Family

Medical School graduate

Michael P. Melnick, M.D., graduated on June 8 from the University of Health Sciences/The Chicago Medical School. Dr. Melnick is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry J. Melnick of Morton Grove. He is a graduate of Niles West High School and received his Bachelor of Science degree in Chemical Engineering at Northwestern University.

Niles West Thespians in National Production

It's not Broadway, but acting on the main stage at the International Thespian Festival is as close as high school thespians ever got. For Niles West Juniors Michele Dayan and John Barba, being selected to perform as one of 19 teenagers from across the United States in the musical A Chorus Line is a singular thrill.

"I freaked out when I was called," said Dayan. "I was surprised and honored," added Barba.

One hundred and fifty high school students began the quest for the musical's main roles, from which 88 were invited to continue. Regional auditions, conducted in Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Atlanta and Denver, pared the aspirants to the cast of 19. They represent 11 states and Canada. The production is the main attraction of the Festival being held at Ball State University in Muncie, Indiana, in the latter half of June.

Both Dayan and Barba are relative latecomers to theatre, with three years and two years of experience respectively. Dayan was in the chorus of several Niles West productions before getting her first chance at a role. As a sophomore, she was Angel in the School's version of the rock musical "Celebration." Then, two summers ago, she was selected to the ensemble of Theatre 219's "Pippin," and last summer she won the role of Maggie in that theatre's production of "A Chorus Line." She has been a member of the school's show choir, "Expressions," for two years, and was also a member of the band.

Barba let his freshman year go by before he auditioned and was cast in "Celebration." Subsequently, he played Mr. Bumble in the school's production of "Oliver," a challenge because of the age character demands, and Jesus in "Godspell." The role he considers the most fun. He also performs with the school's "Expressions" and for two years, he played drums, marimba, and bass clarinet in the band.

There is no doubt in either of the young people's minds that this summer's experience will be both enjoyable and rewarding. Making new friends will be the fun part, they said, while the experience of working with students from other parts of the country will enrich their acting skills.

"Being in this cast will be extra special," said Barba "because we will perform before 2,500 of our peers who share our love for theatre," as well as the talent scouts from the colleges looking for scholarship potential.

"And even if we had not made the production, the regional auditions let us experience the theme of the musical - our own, personal, 'A Chorus Line,'" noted Dayan. "The bond of support and caring formed in the process will never be forgotten."

Simple, effective treatment for cigarette addiction!

Many patients have told us that the only difficult part of stopping smoking at Physicians Centers was to make the phone call for information. Why not call now? 500 N. Michigan ave., Chicago IL 60611, 644-0666; 120 Oakbrook Center, Oak Brook, IL 60521, 571-2626; or 64 Old Orchard Center, Skokie, IL 60077, 679-5300.

The preparation recommended is that you make the clear and firm decision to stop smoking once and for all. Also, it is recommended that you smoke your last cigarette immediately before coming into Physicians Centers office. As a last minute preparation before your treatment, it is recommended that all smoking accessories such as ash trays, lighters, etc., be put away or discarded.

The treatment takes effect within minutes. By the time patients are ready to leave the of-ice, many have already experienced a diminished desire to smoke and the majority do not experience the side effects of nicotine withdrawal as do so many smokers who try to quit alone.

Call today for an appointment.

Parkside Magnetic Resonance Imaging Center

The 1.5 Tesla MAGNETOM Magnet Resonance (MR) Imaging System is being moved into place at the new Parkside Magnetic Resonance Center located at Parkside Center, Suite G06, 1875 Dempster st. in Park Ridge, adjacent to Lutheran General Hospital.

Magnetic Resonance Imaging is being hailed by scientists as a major breakthrough in medical diagnostic imaging. Magnetic resonance technology can provide information not currently available through previous radiation based techniques such as x-ray filming and computerized tomography (CT).

The MR system works by transmitting low energy radio waves into the patient lying within a strong magnetic field. Different tissues and different diseases will re-emit the radio waves at various frequencies.

These signals are then collected and processed with the aid of a computer to produce cross-sectional images of the patient in any number of orientations.

The center which will see patients by physician referral will begin imaging in early July. For more information about the test, contact your physician or call the Parkside Magnetic Resonance Imaging Center at 696-7900 when they are open.

Niles library head presents desktop publishing program

Duncan J. McKenzie, Administrator of the Niles Public Library District, will present a program on desktop publishing at the annual conference of the American Library Association to be held June 27-July 2 in San Francisco. McKenzie's presentation will be part of a series of programs on the use of computers in libraries.

"The Niles library is becoming known for its innovative, creative and practical use of computers," said McKenzie. "At present, most interest is in our application of desktop publishing." Desktop publishing is the use of a computer to produce a document from beginning to end, which includes layout and design, graphics, typesetting and producing camera ready copy. The Niles library has been working with desktop publishing for the past year. "There is tremendous interest in desktop publishing applications for libraries," continued McKenzie. "We have recently conducted workshops for a group called the Library Graphics Association and another for 130 librarians in the North Suburban Library System. In addition to my presentation at the ALA Conference, Apple Computer has asked me to appear at their exhibit booth to speak with librarians and demonstrate desktop publishing."

In response to the growing interest in desktop publishing for libraries, McKenzie has written an article, "Desktop Publishing: Getting Started," which was printed in the recent issue of Small Computers in Libraries.

"This is not the first time the Niles library has drawn attention for its use of computers," said McKenzie. "We receive three or four letters of inquiry a year about our application which produces Pathfinders, and we've worked with the New York Zoological Society to help them replicate our personal computer network in the administrative offices." The library's application for Pathfinders won McKenzie first place in a national competition for software productivity.

"The library also makes desktop publishing equipment available to the public," said McKenzie. "A Macintosh computer and ImageWriter printer is available in our computer lab, as well as Ready,Set,Go 3 software and various disks of clip art." McKenzie says that this should prove popular with such groups as PTAs, churches, small business and others for use in preparing newsletters, flyers and brochures. The equipment in the computer lab is available free of charge to all residents of the library district.

OLR Casino Fest

Father Thomas Dore, (r) pastor of Our Lady of Ransom parish in Niles greets Richard and Pauline Glinka of Des Plaines to the Las Vegas Casino Fest held recently in the parish hall. Hundreds of persons were in attendance trying their luck at roulette, poker and other games manned by volunteers from the parish community.

Strong help for homeowners

The Home Repair Fraud Act, written by the Illinois Attorney General's legislative group, with cooperation from the Professional Remodelers Association of Illinois, is proving to be a strong help for homeowners who have been harmed by unscrupulous contractors. The Act provides that many of the illegal practices carry criminal penalties, with jail terms and cash fines. Formerly, before the Act, wrongdoings were only civil damages. During the past several months, since the bill has been in effect, more than three hundred criminal cases have been filed and many convictions gained against illegal contractors. The great majority of these criminal cases involve furnace, roof and sewer contractors. Homeowners should be very sure before entering into contracts for repairs and get more than one opinion about the need for them.

If the homeowner is planning a remodeling project, and does not have his or her own personally-known contractor, they may phone the Professional Remodelers Association for its member book, 664-6541. The book will be promptly mailed, as one of the free homeowner services conducted by PRA.

Vocational rehabilitation services

Anyone who applies for Social Security or supplemental security income disability payments may be considered for vocational rehabilitation services by the State agency responsible for these services, Thomas A. Curin, Social Security manager in Des Plaines, said recently.

If it is determined that vocational rehabilitation services might enable the person to return to work, he or she will be interviewed by a counselor, Curin said. The services offered may range from counseling and guidance to job training and placement.

Accepting these services does not prevent the person from getting disability benefits; however, a refusal to accept the services without a good reason may cause payments to be suspended. Additional information about vocational rehabilitation services can be obtained from the appropriate State agency. For more details call 255-6570 in Arlington Heights, 729-9600 in Glenview or 823-0815 in Des Plaines.

nel it that area. Blaise-watchers would contend he would likely appoint some of these same friends to oversee the workings of the library. And that too is a possibility. But electing library board members has not, in the Niles experience, proven to be a superior way to administer the library.

Some weeks back we mentioned years ago, two board members, who were relatively unknown in the community, were elected to the board by about 250 votes. They came in from a homeowners' group at the north end of the village which elected two of their members to the library board. Since most of the voters in the district ignored the election, the paltry 250 voters placed their homeowners' members on the board. Subsequently, these members' decisions drained the district of much-needed money by running a second library close to their homes. Now the district is in dire need of money to stay afloat.

We have mentioned the village of Niles has money to burn due to the more than $5 million of sales tax money which comes back to the village each year. It provides for free buses, the very successful Trident Senior Center and the services of several social service workers who are available to villagers. Recently, the village has been purchasing property ($800,000 at Touhy and Milwaukee) as well as land for parking lots and improved landscaped areas on Niles' main thoroughfare. How much better it would be if the library received the $600,000 for increased personal salaries and more books and attendant library services.

It's quite likely the village board would be amenable to such an idea. And it's quite likely the present library board members would be guaranteed they would remain on the library board under the arm of the village.

Since most of our neighbors have their libraries run by their villages, the idea would merely follow their leads. And the Niles money now used for parking lots might be used for lots and lots of books. And who knows - one of the many new books might attract a young reader which might lead him to become an engineer and then to the eventual creation of even more parking lots. Or another reader might read a book on politics which might lead him or her to become the future Mayor of Niles. It would be money well-spent.

Mrs. Peat said her family played a big role in her recovery. "My husband made me practice every day. We'd go over the lesson Sheila had given me until I got it right. Practice became a part of our daily routine," she explained.

She said they both got tired of "Peter Piper Picked a Peck of Pickled Peppers," which was one of the drills she had to accomplish.

Mrs. Peat said she always looked forward to going to the sessions "because of Sheila's enthusiasm, professional skills and confidence that I would succeed."

She and her husband still attend the New Voice Club meetings at the hospital. The New Voice Club is a support group for laryngectomies and their families.

The recent therapy "graduate" said she still plans on taking special training so she will be better qualified to give support and counsel to new laryngectomies and their families.

Asked if there was any message she would like to give to people in the community, she said, "Yes. I would ask the smokers to try and quit smoking."

"I am so happy to still be here," she said. "I was lucky my cancer was curable."

Fire calls...

The dumpster fires at 8590 Golf Rd. on the west and east side of a building was extinguished on June 15.

Firemen went to 7686 Caldwell on a report of smoke in the building. They found a belt on a fan for an air conditioning unit had overheated causing a smell of smoke. The power was shut off and the manager was advised to make repairs.

On June 16, an elevator at 8700 Dempster malfunctioned and trapped a person inside. Firemen opened the elevator doors and released the victim.

Firemen went to Albion and Milwaukee on June 16, where they extinguished a fire in the engine compartment of a car. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

Firefighters responded to 8348 Sherman on June 17 where they found a transformer had blown a fuse on a Commonwealth Edison line. There was no hazard.

A fire in a trash can at 8100 Ozark was extinguished on June 17.

A rubbish fire at 8105 Wisner was extinguished on June 17.

Niles library...

Cont'd from Niles-E. Maine P.1 is the difference between funds the library will receive from a 15 mill levy, $900,911 and a projected amount for total operating expenses fiscal year 1988, or $1,007,911.

McKenzie said the library receives other revenues but should be operating under moneys received from the 15 mill tax. Other sources of revenue are an annual two mill tax levied for maintenance of the building and site, and funds from corporate replacement taxes, interest, fines on overdue books, fines for lost books and copies.

The library has $186,000 savings which may see it through this year, according to Library Chief of Operations Dan Macken. "We will get through this year by spending funds set aside for books. But after spending our savings, we will have no more savings to spend," he said.

According to Macken, the library's tax base is eroding and projected income for the following fiscal year is $1,007,911 as compared to last fiscal year's collected income of $1,111,787.

Nevertheless, committee members cited the need to raise employee salaries because low salaries are probably a major cause for the library to be 20 percent undermanned. Macken said the library has openings for five full time and six part time employees.

A recommendation to raise salaries from the present 46 percent of the total budget to 60 percent of the budget is scheduled to be presented to the full board Wednesday, July 8.

The library recently lost from its tax rolls 232 condominiums whose owners were paying library taxes to both the Niles library and Glenview Municipal Library, said McKenzie. By 1989, the library also will lose funds from the Zenith property which is to be annexed to Glenview in Northfield Township.

McKenzie said the library loses about $21,000 in taxes for each of the properties, both with an equalized assessed valuation (EAV) of about $11,000,000 each.

The Niles library district serves Maine, Niles and Northfield townships.

Blaise noted there are not too many areas in the village where the village would have problems regarding land use. "The big sprawling towns may have a problem, but I think we should continue with zoning procedures," he said.

The application for the project will be submitted to the Northwest Municipal Conference, said Keith Peck, director of public services. "If the conference approves it, we have to wait until the federal money is available to go ahead with the project which may not be for several years."

Plans for the one-mile stretch will consist of resurfacing the streets and construction of curbs and gutters.

In other board actions, trustees approved sewer construction on Lyons in the Courtland Park area. A request from Trustee Peter Pesole to give the finance committee the power to act on the bids to facilitate awarding of the contract was also approved.

The board denied a request by Trustee Abe Selman to waive bidding for the purchase of memory modules and disc drives for the village's computer system to shorten the time period for getting the items.

Selman explained the equipment needed would total about $30,000 from a specific firm he had in mind and bids from other companies would submit the "same numbers." The vote ended in a tie, broken by board chairman Nicholas Blaise, who voted "no."

Peck said he wanted the improvements for the past 10 years. He explained that most of the parkways in the Dempster-Oakton stretch have ditches or gravel strips, where water gathers during heavy rains. "I'm very happy about it. The improvements will not only alleviate flooding in the area, but will improve the traffic pattern on Greenwood," Peck said.

Ironically, the library's under-staffing saved money during the year, McKenzie told committee members. Also necessary items such as roofing and tuckpointing of the building's east side were not undertaken, he said.

board and the spares audience, Karshna said he is looking forward to working in Niles. "I'm very happy to be here. We intend to find a home in Niles which appears to be a fine community," he said.

He and his wife, Christine, and two children, Neil, 9 and Cameron, 10.

Karshna said later the village has a good blend of commercial-residential, along with a good sales tax revenue base resulting in low taxes for residents. "I want to do my part in keeping it that way," he said.

He will begin serving in his new position July 6.

In other business, the board approved the concept regarding street improvements on Washington St. from Dempster to Golf with part of the project extending into Morton Grove. The project would cost approximately $1.9 million with 70 percent of the cost from federal monies and 30 percent shared by Niles and Morton Grove.

has actually been included in the municipal code. Not only is a maximum fine of $500 established, but also a variety of penalties.

Following the same theme, the Liquor Control Code was also updated and amended. The most significant change there was to give the Police Department the right to make a background check on all persons required to be listed on the application which can include key non-applicants such as managers, and employees in charge, etc. A Class G license is also created, to be known as a special event license.

Basically, this special license is for religious or civic groups on a temporary basis for one to five calendar days at the most to cover wine and beer only. No group can apply for this special license more than twice a year.

The trustees voted to implement the money that had been set aside for the hiring of a senior citizen coordinator. It will be a part-time job, approximately 25 hours per week at a salary of $11,500. This individual would be the link between the village and the Park District recreation programs.

In other business, the Board voted to donate $60 a student for the band members of Niles West High School who will be participating in the Fiesta Bowl in Phoenix, Arizona on December 31.

Trustee Bob Leavitt requested the Corporation Counsel Martin Ashman and the Village Administrator Larry Art look into the formulating of a resolution to make restaurants with a seating capacity of more than 40 provide a no-smoking section. Leavitt's request was approved. Leavitt also stated the no-smoking section should be 25% of the total seating capacity.
