The rains of Ranchipur... The rains on the plains in Spain... Don't rain on my parade... When it rains it pours... The rain (reign) of Nick Blase... In Niles and Morton Grove and Skokie and East Maine and Lincolnwood, it rained and rained Thursday, August 13 and Friday, August 14 pouring 9.2 inches into the area during a 24 hour period. It broke the previous record of 6.6 inches.

Niles Public Works head Keith Peck said such a deluge makes the sewers ineffective. He said the water overflow at Tam golf course had the water cresting 18 to 24 inches from Howard Street... The interceptor sewers of the Metropolitan Sanitary District had water as high as six feet. When the level reaches two feet the locks at the north end of the river are opened. Raw sewage was dumped into the lake when the locks were open.

...In Niles, most of the area south of Dempster is served by combined sewers (for sewage and rainwater). The main interceptor sewers drain into the river where the golf course takes the overflow of water. By blocking the sewers, it prevents back-up of

Niles police and firemen aid residents during rainfall

There were no major traffic incidents in Niles on Friday, with the exception of flooded streets and roads that were blocked off at various times of the day, according to Lt. Marty Stankowicz of the Niles Police Department.
"There were cars stalled on arterial streets with drivers abandoning them. Police assisted by pushing them to the side where the water was not as deep. Tow trucks then took them to the

Horse drowns in deep waters

In storm-related reports from Morton Grove, a horse apparently drowned in the north branch of the Chicago River while on the bridge path with his rider in the 6300 block of Beckwith about 9:30 p.m. Friday.
District Chief Howard Meyer of the Morton Grove Fire Department said a resident was riding the horse on the bridge path which was flooded from the overflowing bank of the river. "The river at that point was about five feet deep. The horse apparently went into a drop off and evidently had

The record rain last Friday turned Dempster Street into a virtual lake creating havoc for motorists. While some of the higher vehicles were able to make it through the deep water, many smaller vehicles were eventually abandoned by their drivers and towed away later. The record 9.2 inches of rain left many Bugleland residents with flooded basements, cars and businesses. Many of the intersections cleared within a few hours after the rains subsided and the sewers were able to take the excess water.

District 63 seeks grant for drug control

by Eileen Hirschfeld

An $11,000 grant aimed at drug control may be awarded to East Maine Elementary School District 63 by the Illinois State Board of Education for this school year with an application for the grant approved Tuesday, August 18 by the school board. Preparing the application were Steward Licht, principal of Stevenson Elementary School in Des Plaines and Bonnie Bodenheimer, Barbara Chalkley and Jay Moss, social workers. Licht said the grant will enable the district to review drug control materials, write a drug-free curriculum and train staff members to work with children "for a drug-free life." Dr. Eldon Gleichman, superintendent of schools, said the district cooperated in preparation of the grant with elementary districts 62 and 64 and high school district 207. Those districts, along with district 63, are members of the Maine Township Special Education Cooperative. Asbestos removal from Oak School in Niles was due to be

Niles library OK's $1.5 million operating budget

An operating budget of $1,564,769 was passed Saturday by board members of the Niles Public Library District and will include "a little more tax revenue than we expected," said Board Member Irene Costello. The library will receive this fiscal year about $1,050,619 or about $29,580 more than projected from a combination of its 15 mill and 2 mill levies. Higher tax revenues will allow the library to restore $30,000 of the $50,000 cut to balance the budget, said library operating chief Dan Macken. The latter amount would have been budgeted to pay for the first two phases of resurfacing and landscaping a parking lot adjacent to the library, he said. Additional revenue will allow the library to continue a five-year plan as scheduled with the first step of the parking lot to be completed this fiscal year, according to Library Board Chairman Terri Carman.

Also, Carman said board members want to replace a leaking roof which will cost about $80,000.

In addition, extra library personnel must be hired, especially for the circulation desk, she said. Since the closing of a branch library in Ballard School last January, circulation at the main library has increased 43 percent. Carman also hopes additional programming will be planned for both children and adults.

An increase or decrease in tax revenues returned to the library is determined by a state formula, or multiplier, applied to the

McKenzie cites need for personnel, higher salaries

Niles Fire Dept. Calls

The Niles Fire Department answered 58 fire calls and 43 ambulance calls from Aug. 7 to Aug. 14.

A smell of smoke was reported at On Stage Beauty Parlor, 3369 N. Milwaukee, upon arrival, firemen found the occupant had detected a burning odor from the roof under repair and thought there was a fire hazard in his store.

On Aug. 7, firefighters responded to 8628 Merrill St. to investigate a power line that was down and arcing. There was no apparent hazard and Commonwealth Edison was called to make repairs.

Firemen on Aug. 8 went to the Golf Mill shopping center parking lot after receiving a report a car was on fire. The smoke from the car heater under the dashboard was dripping on the ground creating steam that was apparently mistaken for smoke. The car owner was advised to have the car towed so that repairs could be made.

A smoke detector activated at the Golf Mill shopping center

In a severely worded report to board members of the Niles Public Library Dist., Administrator D.J. McKenzie cited a need for additional library personnel as well as higher staff salaries. He spoke at a Wednesday, August 12 regular meeting.

"What has happened to usage at the main library is staggering," said McKenzie. Book circulation at the main library, 6960 Oakton St in Niles, increased 43 percent from February until June, or the last five months of the library's fiscal year, he said. This large increase followed closing of the branch library at Ballard School in Niles. As a district, circulation increased 3 percent over the prior year, said McKenzie.

However, the library cannot continue to handle this increase in circulation without additional staff, he said. Also, staff salaries are "inadequate," said McKenzie.

He said 10 percent of the library positions on a staff of 50 persons are now vacant. The library needs two full-time

MAGICAL GEMSTONES
Gemstone folklore has been with us since before written history. Psychic, spiritual and healing powers are linked in many cultures to particular gemstones. Red garnet, for instance, was once used to relieve fever and was also carried as an amulet against accidents in travel.

The tradition of birthstones arose out of the belief that particular stones were of special benefit to those born in a certain month. Ruby was believed to preserve the bodily and mental health of the wearer born in the appropriate month. In some cultures July, because the ruby was attributed with the power to remove evil thoughts, control amorous desire and to aid in reconciling disputes.

Some cultures connect certain gems with a season. emerald with spring, for example, or diamond with winter. Even the hour of birth is considered in some societies to mean a special benefit from a certain gem.

The one sure psychological benefit of a particular gemstone is the pleasure associated with its wear - pleasures of giving, of receiving, of valuing oneself in wearing a beautiful and long lasting gem. Some people, including some in our country, still hold the belief that gems are magical. They certainly are magically pleasurable to wear.

Traffic Safety Hints

by Secretary of State Jim Edgar

Safe highway driving includes taking extra precautions when traveling behind or passing a big truck. The following safety tips are provided to help car drivers avoid a collision, which could be fatal.

Reduce your speed and increase following distance when traveling behind a big truck. If you tailgate, a truck and the driver stops unexpectedly, you may not be able to avoid an accident. Rear-end collisions with a truck tractor often result in under-ride, when a car slides into and under the trailer, possibly decapitating the car's occupants.

Stay far enough behind a large truck to avoid driving in its blind spot, and use your turn signals when passing or changing lanes.

If you decide to pass the truck, be sure the road ahead is clear, announce your intentions by blowing your horn and pass quickly.

Passing a truck creates a sudden wind gust that may cause you to lose control or affect the stability of your vehicle. Maintain a firm grip on the steering wheel to compensate for the changes in wind. Do not return to the driving lane until you can see the truck's entire cab in your rear view mirror.

In city traffic, remember that large trucks and buses frequently make right turns from the left lane. You may need to yield the right-of-way or back up at a stop light to allow for unavoidable wide turns.

Tips on overheated engines

If your engine overheats during the hot summer months, or if your brakes or steering fail, know what to do to prevent an accident.

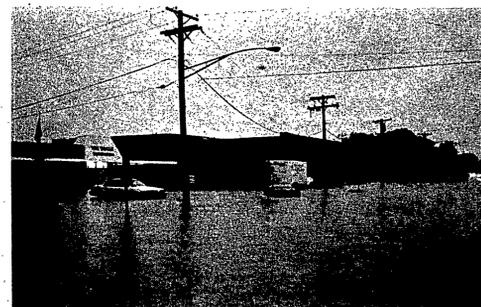

When the engine overheats and the "hot" light on the dashboard comes on, pull well off the road, shift into park or neutral and turn off all accessories. Open the windows, turn on the heater full blast to blow some heat out of the engine block, and run the engine slightly above idle to circulate the coolant. If the "hot" light stays on, turn off the engine, open the hood and wait until the engine is cool to the touch, which might take more than an hour. Add warm water if possible—cold water could damage the engine—and drive to the nearest station for repairs.

Newer cars are equipped with brakes on both the front and back wheels. If one system fails, the other may still work, but you will need to exert greater force than normal on the brake pedal. Should the parking system completely fail, pump the brakes and gradually apply the parking brake. As a last resort, carefully sideswipe something on the side of the road, like an embankment or mound.

If power steering fails, you can still steer the car. However, maneuvering with a defunct power system is more difficult than steering with a manual system, and you may need a passenger's help to steer to the side of the road. A broken fan belt is usually the cause of steering loss. You can temporarily regain power by replacing the belt with a nylon stocking, which is a good item to keep in the car.

I Bet You Didn't Know

By Jim Jennings

Ever wonder why football is called the "gridiron" sport? ... Years ago, football fields had yard lines going from sideline to sideline as they do today—but they also had lines going the other way, from goal line to goal line, to mark off areas where players had to line up under the rules of those days. ... The effect of lines going both ways made the field look like a gridiron—and early sportswriters started calling football the gridiron sport. ... That name remains today even though those old grid lines have long since gone.

Oddly enough, a man once won the Wimbledon tennis championship WITHOUT playing in the final. ... Sidney Wood of the U.S. was the 1931 Wimbledon champ in men's singles, but he never played in the final. ... His opponent got sick before the match and defaulted, giving the title to Wood.

Did you know that a set of twins once played side-by-side in big league baseball? ... Johnny and Eddie O'Brien, who are twin brothers, played 96 consecutive games at shortstop at the same time for the Pittsburgh Pirates between 1953 and 1956.

Interesting Facts From John Jennings

Surprisingly, more than one-third of all U.S. states (19 out of 50) touch either the Atlantic or the Pacific Ocean.

The longest traffic jam ever reported happened on Feb. 16, 1980 when cars stretched 109 miles from Lyon, France towards Paris.

People in Finland call their country-not Finland-but Suomi.

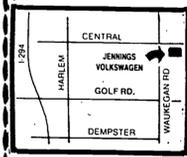

It seems hard to believe, but wristwatches weren't invented until this century. Before 1900, people used pocket watches.

Why are the London police known as Scotland Yard? The name came from the fact that their first headquarters building was on the site of a palace formerly used by the kings of Scotland when they visited London.

Nursing bill passes Illinois Senate

"Cautiously optimistic" was the reaction of Dr. Phillip Jaffe, dean of Science and Allied Health at Oakton Community College, when he was advised of the passage of Senate Bill 1217, the Illinois Nursing Act, (as amended by SB 1323) by Illinois Senate on Friday, May 22.

The bill, proposed by the Illinois Department of Registration and Education, provides for the renewal of the current Nurse Practice Act (NPA). According to the Act, graduates of two-year associate degree, three-year diploma schools, and four-year baccalaureate programs are eligible to take the Nursing Council Licensure Exam (NCLEX). Successful candidates are then awarded the Registered Nurse title. The current NPA expires on Dec. 30, 1987. The Illinois Nurses Association (INA), which represents less than eight percent of the nurses in Illinois, is attempting to introduce new legislation which will allow only baccalaureate-degreed graduates to take the RN licensure exam.

"I'm happy about the passage in the Senate but I have reservations about the future of this bill (SB 1217)," said Jaffe. "It can face stiff opposition in the House from those Representatives supporting the efforts of INA. We are keeping a close watch on the legislative activities regarding this issue."

St. Matthew Lutheran Home offers range of services

St. Matthew Lutheran Home, a program of Lutheran Social Services of Illinois, in Park Ridge, began its caring ministry to aging people in 1959 for 55 persons. After building additions in 1965 and in 1976, St. Matthew's is home to 176 residents. The Home provides skilled and intermediate nursing care as well as sheltered care.

As a program of Lutheran Social Services of Illinois, it is part of a network of services which make up the statewide social ministry arm of the Illinois District, American Lutheran Church and the Illinois Synod of the Lutheran Church in America. The agency is member of the Illinois Association of Homes for Aging and the American Association of Homes for Aging. St. Matthew is licensed annually by the Illinois Department of Public Health.

St. Matthew Lutheran Home offers a range of services to meet the needs of each older person. A resident may retain a personal physician, but if this is not possible, the St. Matthew Medical Director will be the physician.

Nursing staff, under the leadership of the Director of Nursing, is responsible for health care. Departments of Social Service, Pastoral Care and Activities are organized to provide a broad range of services in keeping with the resident's needs.

Food Service, Housekeeping and Maintenance Departments look after the resident's well-being.

Volunteers are active in all of the programs of the Home.

Levels of care include:

Sheltered Care: Sheltered care is the providing of general watchfulness and appropriate action to meet the total needs of residents, exclusive of nursing or personal care. It includes social recreational and spiritual opportunities. It is intended that this level of care be for persons aged 62 and older.

Intermediate Care: Residents in intermediate care receive basic nursing care and other restorative services under periodic medical direction of the Medical Director and Director of Nursing. While residents are primarily independent, there is 24 hour nursing supervision.

Skilled Care: Residents in skilled nursing care receive continuous skilled nursing observations, restorative nursing and other services under the professional direction of the Medical Director and Director of Nursing with frequent medical supervision.

It is our policy to encourage all residents to be up and active, not "bedridden". Residents who are confused and can benefit from group initiative and close supervision are placed in skilled nursing care.

For further information regarding any aspect of the Home's program or its needs, please contact: Will C. Rasmussen, Administrator at 825-5531.

Logue will speak about exercise and overall fitness for senior citizens to the residents of the North Shore Hotel, 1611 Chicago Ave., Evanston, on Thursday, August 27, at 2:30 p.m.

Methodist Hospital's Home Healthcare and Anne Monson

For Anne Monson, Methodist Hospital's Home Healthcare turned out to be more than a transition from institution to home. It literally saved her life. Had it not been for visiting nurse Vida Rivera, Anne wouldn't be here to tell her story.

"Though heart disease figured prominently in her family medical history, 71-year-old Anne Monson managed to ignore all the classic warning signs until one morning when she woke up with what she described as 'a very strange feeling.' Her inability to relax, coupled with shortness of breath, prompted her to seek medical help. Anne didn't have a doctor, so she dialed a 'neighborhood friend,' Methodist Hospital, and asked for a staff cardiologist.

Anne was referred to Dr. Suresh Shingala who saw her immediately and told her she had suffered a mild heart attack. Anne left the hospital 10 days later with medication, a strict diet and instructions to lose weight.

Anne followed the doctor's orders but in November of 1985 her condition took a turn for the worse. One Saturday morning Anne collapsed at home. Fortunately for Anne, a widow, she was not alone that morning. Her cleaning lady summoned a neighbor who called 911. The paramedics came but Anne refused to go to any hospital except Methodist. Since regulations prevented them from taking her there, the paramedics stabilized Anne and left. The neighbor drove her to Methodist Hospital where she was told she had suffered her second mild heart attack. Anne was sent home after nearly three weeks in the hospital.

Concerned about the fact that Anne lived alone, Dr. Shingala contacted Methodist's Home Healthcare and arranged for registered nurse Vidalina Rivera to visit Anne three times a week following her discharge. No one knew at the time how very important those visits would be. It happened right after Christmas. A change in Vida's schedule brought her to Anne's house on a different day, and she found Anne very ill. "Anne was so anxious," recalls Vida. "She was pale and cool, and her blood pressure was high." Vida quickly called Dr. Shingala, who told her to get Anne to the hospital right away. But how? "I couldn't take her in my car," Vida remembers, "because I wasn't insured to do so. But if we waited for an ambulance, she could have coded on me." Vida decided to do what was best for Anne. When they got to the emergency room—entrance 10 minutes later, the Methodist staff was waiting to whisk Anne to intensive care. Tests showed she had suffered another heart attack.

In January, Anne underwent a triple bypass at St. Francis Hospital, and was referred to Vida at Methodist for follow-up home care.

In Anne's case, home healthcare literally meant the difference between life and death. Vida says in-home follow-up, often is a necessity for elderly patients because changes in Medicare mean they leave the hospital sooner. Many live alone and their children, like Anne's daughter Barbara, have a limited amount of time they can take off work to care for their parents. So Vida's visits not only make Anne feel more secure, they also provide peace of mind for Barbara.

A Six Star Salute to Norwood Park Home

It has been said many times over that in order to achieve anything in life one must be ready to conquer the toughest obstacles with a positive attitude, have a willingness to overcome failure and enough stamina to hang in there when all else seems to be falling in around you. Nowhere can this be seen more in action than in the Staff of Norwood Park Home, 6016 N. Nina Avenue, Chicago, Illinois who have again received notification from the State of their six star status. Some may say that receiving the Quality Incentive Program's six star rating again, and again, and again, and again, is simply a matter of knowing exactly what it is the state is looking for. If it could only be that simple.

Each time the State comes in to inspect the Norwood Park Home they not only refer back to past inspections but also look to see: how many new programs have been created, how many residents are meeting the care plan goals set for them, if residents are actively participating in programs offered by the Activity Department, how involved the family is in visiting each resident, how often the residents get out in the community, if the grounds look clean, if remodeling is being done - is it progressing on schedule and are most of the residents satisfied with the care they are receiving. Additionally, the penalties needed are higher than the previous inspection so the Norwood Park Home, in order to get a higher score, must constantly strive to be better.

In order to meet the demands of the QUIP program and maintain a "family" atmosphere many of the Norwood Park Home staff go beyond the required 40 hours. Recently the Employees of the Norwood Park Home completed an $18,000 dollar pledge towards the outdoor Courtyard completed in the spring of 1986. The wheelchair accessible Courtyard offers residents, in both intermediate and sheltered care, a spacious, beautifully landscaped area for leisure and extracurricular activities. With the support of the community the Norwood Park Home employees completed the $18,000 dollar pledge in less than two years a feat admirable and praiseworthy.

More than volunteering their time for fundraising events, the staff likes to think that each day is, in itself, a day worth giving your best. When the Norwood Park Home received word that they had again maintained their six star status it's with a sense of joy, relief, and a little modesty that some may, ever so modestly, say... "I knew we could do it!"

Here's to the staff of the Norwood Park Home, a special group of individuals dedicated to serving the residents of the Home every day of the year.

If you are interested in receiving information on the Norwood Park Home please write to 6016 N. Nina Avenue, Chicago, IL 60631 or call 631-4856.

Physicians Center open Skokie office

Physicians Centers, responsible for helping thousands of patients stop smoking - and stay stopped - has opened a new medical office at 64 Old Orchard Center in Skokie.

With great success at Chicago's 500 N. Michigan ave. office and the Professional Building at Oakbrook Center, Oak Brook, now Skokie provides another convenient location where help is available to end the cigarette habit forever.

"Nicotine in cigarettes, like other drugs, has both a physiological and psychological phase in its addiction," says Eunice Bailey of Physicians Centers. "That's why our patients are seen by both a licensed medical doctor and a Ph.D., or counselor so all aspects of cigarette smoking are dealt with," said Bailey.

The one and one-half hour treatment takes effect within minutes. Many immediately experience a diminished desire to smoke and the majority do not experience the side effects of nicotine withdrawal as do those who try to quit on their own.

You can leave Physicians Centers a comfortable ex-smoker, who can stay stopped for the rest of your life.

The fee for treatment is tax deductible and many insurance companies reimburse Physicians Centers patients.

Maine Township gets sixth senior citizen grant

Maine Township Supervisor Paul K. Halverson has announced that the township has been awarded a $16,945 grant by the Suburban Cook County Area Agency on Aging to continue providing information and referral services to senior citizens.

This is the sixth grant the township has received since 1983 to partially fund the program which serves the township's 20,000 senior citizens.

"The information and referral service provides a central clearing house for senior citizens and eliminates the frustration and hassle involved in attempting to locate the appropriate agencies to meet their needs," Halverson said.

By calling Gracey Duffy at the township offices, 297-2510, senior citizens can obtain information on housing, medical services, social and mental health services, nutrition, home-delivered meals, employment, energy assistance, social activities, senior discounts, and other services available to elderly Maine Township residents.

Maine Township has one of the largest senior citizen populations in suburban Cook County.

Halverson said, "In awarding us this grant, the Area Agency on Aging has recognized our community outreach program and extensive services to the Maine Township Senior Citizen population. We are grateful for both the financial assistance and the confidence the agency has shown in our program."

Regency continues expansion of care in Alzheimer's unit

To keep up with the increasing need for the care of Alzheimer's victims, Regency Nursing Centre, 6631 N. Milwaukee Ave., Chicago, is developing a psychological assessment tool to be given to each resident going into the Alzheimer's unit.

The assessment will be developed by two of the unit's new consultants, psychiatrist Lawrence W. Lazarus, M.D., from Presbyterian-St. Luke's Bowman Center, and psychologist Leslie Graves, also from Pres St. Luke's.

Both Experts will bring a diverse background in working with the elderly, especially those who have Alzheimer's disease.

The Regency Alzheimer's unit opened in Feb., 1985. Many new programs have been developed since then, serving to maintain each resident's highest level of functioning while minimizing the use of medications.

The new assessment tool will allow for the Alzheimer's staff to determine the programs that would most enhance the quality of life for each resident on the unit.

Kathy Clyde, unit director, looks forward to using the new tool that will educate staff and families to current needs of the patient.

Said Clyde, "Especially since the patients are unable to state their needs, the tool will allow us to have some insight into the positive abilities that are still within the patient's reach."

For more information regarding the Regency Alzheimer's Unit, call 647-7444. Regency continues to host Alzheimer's Association and Related Disorders support group meetings at 7 p.m. on the last Wednesday of each month.

Senior Housing at Tolentine... A Duo Effort --

Historically, the Sisters of Mercy and the Augustinian Fathers and Brothers have a tradition dating back to the beginning days of the Mercy Community. In 1831 Catherine McAuley, the founder of the Sisters of Mercy, based the Rule of her Community on the Rule of St. Augustine. In the original Mercy Rule, particular mention is made of St. Augustine as one of the saints the sisters endeavor to imitate. Devotion to the Sacred Heart is one of the Mercy charisms and a quote from St. Augustine, "You have made us for yourself, O Lord, and our hearts are restless until they rest in you" is a familiar prayer used by the Sisters of Mercy.

The Augustinians have long served Mercy communities in Chicago, including St. Xavier College, Province Center, Mercy Hall and McAuley Convent by providing priests to administer the Sacrament of Reconciliation and to say Mass for the Sisters.

Once again the Mercys and Augustinians are brought together - this time in service, to provide housing for the well elderly at Tolentine Center. Aware of the shortage of affordable housing for healthy seniors, these two religious groups have renovated two wings of the present Tolentine Center building. The result is a Mercy Residence - a fifty-two-unit facility offering a variety of support services.

Skin cancer: the facts

In recent years, there has been an alarming rise in the incidence of malignant melanoma, or skin cancer, reports the National Foundation for Cancer Research. It is estimated that over 6,000 persons in the U.S. die of melanoma annually. Furthermore, skin cancer is on the rise among young people.

There is no current cure for the most severe forms of skin cancer, thick primary melanoma or metastatic (rapidly spreading) melanoma. Neither radiation, chemotherapy, or immunotherapy, alone or in combination, are able to alter the progression of the disease.

But there is hope. Dr. Michael Wick, a physician-scientist working with a NCFR research contract, has synthesized a promising drug prototype specifically for aggressive, resistant tumors like melanoma.

Fortunately, the general public is becoming aware of this particularly troubling form of cancer. Greater care is being taken about sun protection. In addition, since melanoma usually originates from the surface of the skin, early detection is possible, if you know what the warning signs are.

Symptoms to check for periodically include:

*Sores that does not heal

*Change in shape, size or color of wart or mole

*Sudden appearance of a mole.

If you have any of these symptoms, it does not necessarily mean that you have cancer. However, a doctor should always be consulted.

The National Foundation for Cancer Research is a private, non-profit organization based in Bethesda, Md. With the help of donors nationwide, it has allocated more than $50 million to basic cancer research over the last decade.

Simon bill to ease elder abuse

A program, sponsored by Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., to help prevent the physical, financial and psychological abuse of the elderly, won Senate approval Aug. 6 and now is virtually certain to reach the President's desk.

The Senate okayed the Simon bill as part of legislation renewing the Older Americans Act. The House has passed a similar proposal sponsored by Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., assuring that the elder abuse measure will be included in the bill's final form as it emerges from House-Senate conference.

"The shameful problem of the abuse, neglect and exploitation of our nation's elderly is little known," said Simon. "It's hidden, it's hushed, it's ignored. But it won't go away by ignoring it." Experts estimated more than 1.1 million elderly Americans are the victims of some form of abuse each year, with only one in five cases reported.

The amendment would direct each state to implement a program to detect and prevent elder abuse. Such programs would provide public education and outreach to identify and prevent abuse, receive reports of abuse, counsel victims and refer cases to the appropriate state and local law enforcement agencies. The Simon measure would provide states with $5 million in grants in 1988 and additional funds through 1991.

These programs would compli-

Legislators join forces on long-term home care

U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., has offered landmark health legislation in the Senate that for the first time would extend Medicare health insurance to cover long-term home care needed by millions of chronically ill seniors and other family members.

The Long-Term Home Care Family Protection Act, which has been introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives by Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., would fully fund the new coverage by lifting the "cap" ($45,000 in 1988) on income subject to the Medicare payroll tax of 1.45 percent - a change that would affect only those 5 percent of workers who earn more than $45,000 in individual income (not family income).

"This plan would support the heroic efforts of America's families to care for their own, and it would not raise the deficit one cent," said Simon, who introduced the bill on August 6.

ment and not duplicate any existing state or local program, said Simon.

The Older American Act, originally passed in 1965, funds community programs for senior citizens including transportation, homemaking and meal service.

Shereen L. Deal

Air Force Airman Shereen L. Deal, daughter of Bernice L. Deal of 6710 Forest View Lane, Niles, Ill., has arrived for duty with the 40th Tactical Group, Italy.

Simon, long an advocate for additional support for the health needs of seniors, chronically ill children and adults with disabilities, said the plan would give new options to seniors and their families faced with arranging care for ailing or disabled family members - situations that now routinely crush America's households with debt.

"Medicare provides virtually no protection for older Americans who need long-term nursing care, either at home or in nursing homes," said Simon. "It provides no help to the wife whose husband needs round-the-clock attention because of Alzheimer's Disease. It's not right that after a lifetime of hard work, of supporting yourself and raising a family, that the onset of health problems should cost you your independence. But that is precisely what happens to many of our parents and grandparents. It is time to offer that independence and to protect our families."

Nursing homes challenged by changing health care systems

Changes in the population, in medical technology, and in health care delivery and payment systems will have a profound impact on the nursing home industry in the coming decade, long-term care administrators say.

Confronting those changes and taking a leadership role in coping with them will be the focus of a day-long videoconference on Wednesday, Sept. 2. "More Than a Manager: New Techniques for Creative Leadership" will be broadcast live to more than 2,000 nursing home administrators in 20 cities across the country.

The program, developed by Aging in America, Inc., and produced by Hospital Satellite Network, is the first in a continuing education series for long-term care professionals entitled New Horizons for Aging.

The growing aging population is only one factor placing new demands on long-term care facilities. Thanks to medical advances, people are living longer and entering nursing homes older and sicker than ever before. In addition, with hospital stays shortened dramatically by new reimbursement regulations, nursing homes are receiving many acutely ill patients of all ages who require a high level of skilled nursing care.

Those factors are causing other changes, according to Dr. Connie Ewashwick, president of Consulting & Evaluation Associates and co-moderator of the September 2 videoconference.

"Nursing homes are going to have to develop closer relationships with other health care organizations," Dr. Ewashwick predicts, "and we're going to see greater market competition. In order to use resources effectively, she says, "more homes will have to specialize in caring for special populations."

Cynthia Wallace, administrator of Morningside Home Nursing Home, concurs. "Technology is changing the types of people we're caring for. People with organ transplants, for example. We're now being called upon to take care of a sicker population with the same limited resources and under increasing regulation."

Ms. Wallace, who is on the faculty of the videoconference, warns that nursing home administrators cannot cope with the changes unless they recognize and accept them. "We've got to stay ahead of the health care system overall and be open to the possibilities."

Monisignor Charles Fahey, director of Fordham University's Third Age Center and program co-moderator, takes it further. "Just reacting - responding to external regulations and demands - is not enough," he says. "Administrators must exercise their leadership within their facilities and in the formation of responsive public policy."

Management psychologist Ian Percy, also on the videoconference faculty, agrees that long-term care professionals have to take the initiative in effecting change. "The bureaucracies have to hear us." But first, he says, "administrators have to clarify the fundamental principles of long-term care."

"The industry has a custodial aura. We don't talk enough about the 'preferred future.' What are we working for, striving for?" The answer, says Mr. Percy, who is president of the Canada-based Percy Group of Companies, is key to strategic planning, positioning long-term care within the health care constellation and marketing to the public.

Clearly, long-term care administrators are on the front lines of today's health care revolution.

That calls for being more than a manager, these experts say. It calls for leadership.

Aging in America's "More Than a Manager" seminar on September 2 will explore the leadership role. The distinguished panel also includes Mardell Brandt, past president of the American College of Health Care Administrators.

Hospital Satellite Network's interactive broadcast provides an open forum for participants across the country to discuss concerns, share ideas, and work together for the future of long-term care.

Later conferences in the New Horizons on Aging series will examine ethics and autonomy for older people, financial issues, special training, and survey management. The series is being supported through sponsorship by leading corporations which provide products and services to the long-term care industry.

Mechanic testing reaches all-time high

Figures just released by the non-profit National Automotive Service Excellence (ASE) indicate that more than 70,000 men and women have registered to take the semi-annual mechanic competency exams administered by ASE. The 70,000 figure is an all-time record breaker for a Spring testing period, report ASE officials, who have been tracking such data for fifteen years. The national exams will be given simultaneously in over 350 locations in 50 states on May 12, 14, and 16.

"I think these numbers indicate how seriously many auto mechanics are taking their calling. Everyone seems to be hearing about the sensational rip-off stories, but not about the thousands upon thousands of dedicated professionals who quietly go about the business of repairing and servicing the nation's vehicles," said Barry McNulty, Vice President, Communications, ASE. "The fact that so many technicians voluntarily put their own skill on the line by taking ASE tests, and that they do so on their own time and often at their own expense, speaks well for the professionalism of today's technicians," McNulty commented. ASE offers voluntary competency exams in eight auto repair areas: Engine Repair, Automatic Transmission/Trans-axle, Manual Drive Train and Axles, Suspension and Steering, Brakes, Electrical Systems, Heating and Air Conditioning, and Engine Performance. A mechanic who passes at least one of these exams and has two years of hands-on work experience becomes an "ASE Certified Automobile Technician," while a mechanic who passes all eight exams is granted "ASE Master Automobile Technician" status.

ASE certified technicians usually wear identifying blue and white "ASE" shoulder patches and carry wallet credentials which list their areas of expertise. While ASE does not certify businesses, only the technicians who work there, shops which employ ASE certified technicians often advertise that fact by displaying the blue and white ASE outdoor sign and by posting their ASE certified technicians' credentials in the customer service area.

Culture is no barrier to the Japanese/American counselor

Eiko Fricke

Imagine being a new student in a foreign country. Imagine the feeling of loneliness, the culture shock, the adjustment and language problems—just to mention a few. If anyone can relate to this experience, it is Eiko Fricke.

Fricke, a native of Japan, came to the United States 20 years ago on a scholarship to do her master's in Educational Guidance and Counseling at Roosevelt University.

"It wasn't easy in the beginning because I hardly spoke any English, didn't know anybody, or the American way of life," said Fricke, now a naturalized citizen, and a resident of Morton Grove. "There were only two other foreign students in my class. We became very close and helped each other."

Now Fricke is helping others, sharing her knowledge and lending her support to students as a bilingual guidance counselor, and a Japanese language teacher at Oakton Community College East in Skokie. She provides counseling in coursework, career development and problem-solving, and furnishes transfer and guidance information.

"Counseling gives a whole new direction to students," explained Fricke. "Often they are confused and are looking for someone to guide them. The problems are even greater for foreign students. They feel left out, and that there is no one to understand their difficulties. In many cases, the potential is there but they don't know how to develop it."

"I can relate to their problems because I have gone through them. So students feel comfortable coming to me to express their feelings and needs."

Perhaps the best experience, she describes, was the summer camp she attended while she was a student at Roosevelt.

"I remember it very well. It was my first summer here. The camp was sponsored by the United Church of Christ in Chicago. For $99 for 99 days, I traveled from Oregon to New York alone and served as a resource person talking about Japanese culture, especially the Japanese educational system and religion, and introducing Japanese art to the community."

"That was the best way to feel the country, to know the people, and learn about American life. It also forced me to speak English."

Fricke's expertise in counseling stems not only from her academic degree and her personal knowledge, but also from her 17 years of experience working for the Japanese/American Service Committee in Chicago. After receiving her master's degree, Fricke joined the Committee, a non-profit social welfare organization, which provides a variety of services to the community including counseling, sheltered workshop for mentally handicapped and healthy senior citizens, and in-home services. She now serves as its director of Social Services.

Besides counseling at Oakton, Fricke will teach Japanese language courses (offered for the first time) this fall at both the Des Plaines and Skokie campuses. While the Japanese language differs in character and pronunciation, Fricke assures that it is not complicated to learn, and learning the language also means learning the culture.

"You cannot separate Japanese language from its culture. They are interwoven. When you learn the language you learn about Japanese people, their way of thinking, problem-solving, art, and human relationships."

Command of the language, she adds, can open up job opportunities especially in the business field. The course is open to anyone who is interested in learning a different language, to business people, or persons interested in taking a trip to the Orient.

"Beginning Japanese I" (JPN 101) will be offered from 11 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays at Oakton and from 6 to 7:15 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays at Oakton East beginning August 24.

Fricke is available for counseling from 5:30 to 8 p.m. on Tuesdays at Oakton East. To make an appointment, call 635-1417. To register for Japanese language courses, call 635-1417 (Skokie).

For registration information, call 635-1700 (Des Plaines) or 635-1400 (Skokie).

Fricke will be charged a late fee of $10. Tuition for in-district residents is $17 per credit hour. Residents over age 60 pay $8.50 per semester hour, and district residents age 65 and over may be eligible for a tuition waiver. Non-residents who work in the Oakton district are eligible for in-district tuition.

For registration information, call 635-1700 (Des Plaines) or 635-1400 (Skokie).

For information call 989-5406.

At the Horwich site, exciting programs for eight- to 13-year olds will include girls field hockey, boys flag football, separate girls and boys swimming classes, co-ed swimming classes, gymnastics and much more, according to Lauren Blackman, JCC Coordinator of Youth Programs.

At the Kaplan site, co-ed swimming will be offered.

In addition to the four public rooms on the main level of the historic Tudor-style clubhouse, Streto operates the charming Country Inn restaurant and lounge on the lower level.

Summer tourism in Wisconsin Dells

Whether it's from the perfect summer temperatures, to easy-on-the-pocket attraction prices to added exposure in the media thanks to the State's $2 million emergency funding for tourism, there is plenty of positive anticipation from the businesses in scenic Wisconsin Dells. The 1987 summer tourism season to date has smiled on all attractions, lodging and camping facilities, dining and downtown businesses.

"The fun comes easy in Wisconsin Dells and more people are hearing about it. Family vacationers have planned in advance for their Wisconsin Dells getaway and it's been the goal of the Visitor and Convention Bureau to fill all information requests with 24 hours, a goal I'm pleased to say that we've been able to keep. As of the end of July, we've filled over 175,000 requests," states Kelli Trumble Gavinski, executive director of the Bureau.

Other public sectors of the Dells area are also happy to report that business is on the up and up for the 1987 season. One point that all Dells businesses give credit to is the State's increased interest in tourism as a major industry and the results of the $2 million emergency fund for advertising. The thought was best expressed by Ben Borchert, owner of several downtown businesses including the Skree ver, On Stage and Bailey Gift Shop. "The state budget increase is a result of the new administration which realizes the value of tourism and wants to see a return on their investment," Borchert also claims that the efforts of the Visitor Bureau should be given credit for all their work on attracting media coverage and special promotions.

Dining establishments, from fast food chains to sitdown gourmet restaurants, have all seen an increase in business.

Brent Gasser, owner of Jellystone Park Campground gives credit to three things for the banner year the campgrounds are experiencing. One, the additional state funding, two, the hot sunny and dry weather and three, the state economy. He claims, "the weekends are always the busiest and encourages advance reservations for site preference. Corresponding with the camping success is motel lodging. According to Jerry Karas, general manager of Inn of the Dells, there are more overnight tourists in the area than there has been for a long time. The attractions in Wisconsin Dells encourage more overnight guests and there is a definite increase in the long weekend vacationer than the week long vacation. Thanks to an additional 500 rooms in the Dells area, spending an overnight is no longer a problem. There is always a place to stay.

The bottom line for the 1987 season in Wisconsin Dells can be summed up in one word, Fantastic!

Travel industry positions abundant

There is an abundance of positions available in the travel industry ranging from counseling travel - leisure, corporate, and groups - to positions in sales, accounting, secretarial, and management and supervisory positions.

Most travel agencies offer part-time and full-time work, and a variety of travel benefits. According to Travel Weekly, an industry trade journal, a travel agent with three to five years experience is earning from $19,000 to $23,000 per year.

There is a dearth of qualified agents. In times past, agencies preferred to train their new employees. With deregulation and computerization, the business has now become very complicated and very competitive. Now, travel agencies have to utilize every minute for sales. They don't have the time to devote to training. Travel schools are the only answer for the travel agencies.

Adams Institute of Travel, located in Schaumburg near the Woodfield Mall, is approved by the Illinois State Board of Education. Adams offers a comprehensive travel training program consisting of five weeks of classroom study and seven weeks of hands-on computer training. Computer training is essential to enter the job market and Adams is equipped with the two most widely used systems - United Airlines' Apollo and American Airlines' Sabre computer systems.

Classes begin August 10. Call Adams Institute of Travel at 884-8140 for more information.

Why do you pay more for summer electricity than winter electricity?

We don't think you should. Unfortunately, since 1979, the Illinois Commerce Commission has said differently.

That's when the ICC mandated that summer electric rates be set significantly higher than winter rates. In fact, summer rates are now 86% higher than they are the other eight months of the year. It was hoped that the higher rates would discourage electrical demand on peak air-conditioning days, and over time, reduce the need for additional power plants. Postponing such construction would, it was argued, help keep overall rates lower.

It hasn't worked. Earlier this month, despite the highest summer rates in our history, Commonwealth Edison served the greatest consumer demand ever. On August 3, an all-time record was set of nearly 15,700,000 kilowatts. A few years ago our critics predicted that wouldn't happen for another 23 years.

Even so, we supplied all the electricity you wanted. Every bit. Without interruption. For 100 years, we've prided ourselves on that kind of reliability. Reliability greatly enhanced with the addition of our two newest generating facilities, Byron 2 and Braidwood 1.

Twice we've sought to reduce these high summer rates, most recently in our Rate Freeze Initiative rejected by the ICC just last month. And, we'll keep trying.

In the meantime, to help make your summer electric bills more manageable, we're offering two alternative payment plans. Budget-Billing allows you to pay a predetermined, identical amount each month, winter or summer. Our Deferred Payment Plan enables you to pay only a portion of your summer bill now, and spread the remainder over the months ahead. Call our customer service representatives for details.

Paid for by Commonwealth Edison shareholders.

Reynolds Aluminum recycling center in Des Plaines

Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company, which purchases all-aluminum beverage containers and other recyclable aluminum from the public, has relocated one of its Northwest Chicago buying locations.

The Reynolds Metals Company subsidiary has moved its tractor trailer recycling center from the Mt. Prospect Plaza, Rand and Central Rds., to the K-Mart store lot, Oakton Ave. and Lee St., in Des Plaines. Hours for the new center will be 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., Tues. through Sat.

At the recycling center, a

Reynolds employee pays consumers cash for recycling rather than discarding recyclable aluminum. Cans need not be crushed but higher rates are paid to consumers when larger quantities are recycled at one time.

While beverage cans make up the largest part of the aluminum recycled, Reynolds purchases other clean household aluminum, including foil, frozen food and dinner trays, and dip, pudding and meat containers.

Reynolds also buys, in manageable sizes, aluminum siding, gutters, storm window and window frames, and lawn furniture tubing. Aluminum castings include pots and pans, lawn mower housings and barbecue grills, also are purchased by the company.

sewer water coming into your home.

...The detaching of downspouts from the sewer system prevented further sewer backup but increased rainwater in the streets and on lawns.

...There are restrictors on Niles street sewer openings which reduce the eight inch sewers to four inches slowing the amount of water going into the sewers.

...Niles Public Works Department had 300 calls during the storm period. Every call was answered. The department logged 300 hours of overtime. About 350 to 400 Niles homes had water damage or damaged goods.

...Peck said the difference between this year's water problems and last October's problems was last year's damage was caused by the overflowing of the river which went through Des Plaines. It did not cause our area many problems. But the straight downpour this time in such record amounts resulted in the massive flooding.

...Over at Tam golf course, Debbie Nelson said she can't predict when the course will be re-opened. She said it's important aeration work be done there. It is also important precaution be taken not to damage the greens. Clean-up services are now taking place. Debbie said the Tam clubhouse had about three feet of water which covered desks and freezers. Some of the water-logged equipment and furnishings are salvageable. At the Rec Center on Milwaukee Avenue, about one foot of water covered the lower level. Cleaning machines are sprucing up that area. Other park buildings had minor water damage but no major damage was done to any park facilities.

...Here in Bugleland, we were in the center of Lake Shermer and Lake Dempster. While the water poured under our doors, we banked newspapers against the doors in an effort to stem the flow. Shermer Road was about three feet high on Friday morning. Every time a large truck pushed through the Shermer waters, waves would bounce against our building causing a surge of water to come in under the door. Out on the street, hip-deep in water, was Phil Nash, baseball bat across his shoulder, in anticipation of preventing any vehicles from traversing down the street. But when Phil was confronted by a semi-trailer, he was like David confronting Goliath—except in this more realistic story—David lost.

...During the 24 critical hours Thursday and Friday Niles Fire Department had 105 calls. Betty Kolla told us the normal number of calls is from five to eleven. Morton Grove department also had about 100 calls. Most calls were for shutting down power facilities and aiding in other flood problems. RED Center, which is the combined seven suburb district our communities are a part of, had 422 calls during this period. Niles ambulance calls totaled 13 during this same time.

...The most bizarre story concerned the horse which drowned on a bridal path in the Forest Preserve in Morton Grove while the rider swam to safety. One caller told us the wrong animal drowned.

a result of the many other trouble calls they received because of the storm," the spokesman said.

The homeowner, Jean Kuna, related she had gone back to bed to rest shortly before 8 a.m. "All of a sudden, the house got all red. I didn't know what was happening, but I quickly awakened my daughter, Jeanne, 17, and we left the house," she said. A neighbor next door called the fire department.

Kuna said it was a "scary feeling" watching the live wire striking the fence near the garage, the cement and traveling to the carport next to the house. "We had fears of our house catching fire. There was this crackling sound and the charged atmosphere in the area. It was a terrible experience," she said.

According to her husband, John, the power line burned out the electrical fixtures outside the garage and the outlets inside the facility causing burns on the wood. However, the structure or the roof did not catch fire. "The small driveway lights were glowing red the whole time," he said. Upon arrival, firemen quickly pulled the outside meter box from the back of the house, shutting down the utilities.

The couple and their daughter stayed with various neighbors and returned to their home Saturday morning to begin clean-up chores.

They praised the firemen for their seven-hour vigil at the scene. "They did a wonderful job and we're in danger all the time working knee-deep in water. We can't praise them enough," Kuna said.

Despite the intense arcing and flashing of the power line, firemen waded in water to check any possible fire hazard in the garage. When a fireman opened the service door, his hands began to tingle because of the electrical currents in the air, but found no fire hazard.

Residents in a nearby house were evacuated due to the proximity of the downed power line.

In other efforts, firemen placed heavy patio furniture over the power line to prevent it from jumping, but the furniture later floated away during the height of flooding conditions in the area.

According to the fire department spokesman, reinforcing the rods in the concrete near the garage area acted as electric gridwork, and at times flared through the concrete like the rods of an arc welder.

Plains. Short said firemen arrived at the house around 11 a.m. after a neighbor drove to the fire station to report the incident. "We could receive incoming calls, but the phones were out in the residential area. The victim's mother became concerned after her son went down to the basement shortly before 11 a.m. and failed to come upstairs," he said.

Upon arrival, firemen quickly pulled the meter box shutting off utilities. "The townhouse was in a sea of water which had broken the basement windows with water rushing in up to the first floor," he explained.

In rescue efforts, firemen dragged the outside of the house and holes were cut in the first floor for sump pumps, and to allow scuba divers to go through in search of the body in the basement.

"At this time, we can't determine whether death was caused by electricity, or if he was trapped and drowned when water from the broken windows rushed in completely inundating the basement. It was a real tragedy," he said.

Short added the fire department is waiting for a report on cause of death from the Cook County Coroner's Office which performed an autopsy on the victim.

Minimal problems with flooding at Gemini

Thursday night's record rainfall caused widespread area flooding but produced only "surface water" at Gemini Junior High School, 8555 Greenwood, Niles, according to Gemini Principal Donald Huebner.

In the past, Gemini has had some difficulties with flooding. Huebner said that "fortunately" all the school furniture was stored elsewhere this summer for the district's asbestos removal program. All public schools in Illinois have been required to remove asbestos from schools under a life and safety program.

Mainly, the south end of the building including the hallway and cafeteria were affected along with some carpeted rooms, said Huebner. A gas motor pump was used to suck the water from the building. "It was a good thing it happened on a Friday and we had all weekend to clean it up," he said.

Reportedly, Dr. Eldon Gleichman, district superintendent, helped with the cleaning equipment at Gemini.

All phones at the central office have been unable to function from the flood as late as Tuesday evening, except for incoming calls. Gleichman apologized for unreturned phone calls. The central office is located at 10150 Dea Rd. in Des Plaines.

Chamber Village ball game benefits Niles West Band

"We're so serious about this softball game against the Village Park Stars that our team is going to have a practice," said Niles Chamber Codger Manager Ken Welter, County 21/Welter Road.

For the fourth consecutive year, Niles Chamber members have challenged employees of the Village and Park Districts to show up under the lights at Jozwiak Park on Touhy Avenue.

Game date is Thursday, August 20, at 8 p.m. This year's game match will benefit the Niles West High School Band's trip to the Fiesta Bowl in Phoenix on December 31. Thirty of the 150 student musicians are from Niles. The cost to send each musician is $600.

A free-will collection will be taken during the game. Admission is free and the public is urged to attend.

Members of the band have been invited to appear and provide musical entertainment between innings.

The Village/Park Stars lead the current series two games to one.

Coach Welter noted, "Mayor Blase was injured in our game two years ago, so we'll concentrate on his weaknesses." Some of the Niles notables playing for the Stars will be Village Trustees Mahoney, Murphy, Pesole and Preston. Village Manager Jack Hodge will join Code Enforcement Director Joe Salerno and Ralph Bast, Coordinator for Business and Industry, on the diamond.

Guests will also have the opportunity to examine the modern studio where public access programs are taped and edited. Interested residents are encouraged to take advantage of the free training courses offered by Ray Greinke, Cablevision Studio Coordinator.

Guests will also have the opportunity to meet Niles Mayor Nicholas B. Blase, other village dignitaries, and Cablevision officials. Refreshments will be served.

For further information, contact Ray Greinke at 965-4071, or Carl Fox, Niles Cable-Television Coordinator, at 967-6100, Ext. 352.

Niles residents will have an opportunity to examine the modern studio where public access programs are taped and edited.

Interested residents are encouraged to take advantage of the free training courses offered by Ray Greinke, Cablevision Studio Coordinator.

Guests will also have the opportunity to meet Niles Mayor Nicholas B. Blase, other village dignitaries, and Cablevision officials. Refreshments will be served.

Record deluge...

Tam Golf Course was inundated with flood waters and the clubhouse suffered water damage. The course is closed until further notice, according to a Niles park district spokesman.

In Morton Grove, Pete Chepulis, ass't. supt. of public works, said a number of streets and roads were closed to traffic during the rainstorm. They included Dempster Street which was closed from about 11 a.m. Friday and opened at 11 a.m. Saturday; Golf Rd. and a viaduct on Normandy.

He stated the sewers were back to normal by 4 p.m. Sunday. "The big problem now is the garbage collection which takes place on Tuesdays and Wednesdays. There is a lot of debris piled up on curbs in front of houses as a result of flooded basements," Chepulis said.

According to a Skokie official, flooding of basements was extensive in the village and there were isolated incidents of power outages. Roads closed to traffic included Skokie Blvd. McCormick Blvd, Golf Rd., Oakton and Howard Sts.

Other neighboring towns suffered severe damage, including as Park Ridge and Des Plaines. The north and west portion of Park Ridge received heavy flooding, with many residents evacuating their homes, as the Des Plaines River, swollen by heavy rains, spilled over its banks. Des Plaines was also a victim because of similar circumstances.

In other storm-related reports, the Four Flags shopping center was closed on Friday, as well as many other local businesses in the area.

Clean-up chores began Monday with work crews picking up debris piled up on neighborhood streets.

District 63...

completed during the summer but was delayed because of repair necessary for weakened roof beams, according to the architect.

At a cost of about $25,000, several district programs, equipment and tenants will be moved either for storage or placement to and from Oak and Melzer School in Morton Grove which was one of the first district schools to take part in the asbestos removal program.

District programs now at Oak are Early Childhood, O-3 and VIP programs and East Maine Multi-Cultural Education program. Tenants to be moved are Kid-Care, a day school, Maine Niles Assn. of Special Recreation (MNASR) and, if necessary, the Olive Tree Congregation.

In keeping with the 1985 educational reform legislation, board members approved filing by August 31 an assessment of the district's reading program with the Illinois State Board of Education. At various intervals in their schooling, Illinois youngsters will be assessed in reading, mathematics and science.

Salaries for 170 teachers and other school staff members will range from $23,830 to $44,174 this coming school year in East Maine Elementary School District 63, according to action approved Tuesday, August 18 by the school board.

Also, salaries were approved for four district coordinators with the highest salary $44,174 with a master's degree and at level 54 as set down by the district.

In addition, board members approved participation of six teachers in an early retirement program for a total pay of $244,292 in base pay plus about $37,058 in bonuses.

Some board members indicated intent to negotiate with the teachers' union to receive earlier notification of a proposed early retirement.

Six teachers retiring early under the district program will perform about 34 days of service during the 1987-88 school year. In addition, former business assistant Patricia Kolek and former associate superintendent Dr. Lenore Page will perform service for the district under the same "bonus" plan.

In a recent shake-up of the central office, both Kolek and Page were replaced and left district service under the early retirement plan.

In other action, bids were awarded for sealcoating and striping for seven district schools in the amount of $22,000, for security partitions in the central office at a cost of $5,651, for renovation of Stevenson school washrooms to provide accessibility for the handicapped costing $14,466 and for a new dishwasher at Gemini Junior High School at a cost not to exceed $15,000.

The meeting will be continued August 25.

McKenzie...

librarians and a part-time clerk in the reference department; a computer lab manager; clerks and pages in the circulation department; assistant and page in the children's department and a financial secretary.

McKenzie said the library has been successful during the last three years in improving the book collection, services and usage by the community noting a district-wide circulation increase of 3 percent. "We have turned the corner, so to speak, towards improving services and patron satisfaction," he said.

Adding this work, said McKenzie, has been reorganization along staff lines and automation with technical services department processing 79 percent more new books than each of the prior two years. McKenzie said this number does not include additional books transferred from the branch to the main library.

However, "The morale of the staff is low. We continue to be a library with very low salaries. Our salary schedule has not risen in the past few years. It has never kept pace with the cost of living index. Our salaries have never been competitive with the other libraries with which we compete to attract staff," said McKenzie.

According to McKenzie's report, 21 libraries within the North Suburban Library System (NSLS) now list employee vacancies and all the libraries offer a higher beginning salary than the Niles Public Library District.

Earlier in the year, board members resolved to raise salaries to 60 percent of the total budget. They could not carry out these plans because of other expenses the library will have this fiscal year and salaries will remain about 43 percent of the total budget.

McKenzie said, "As nice as automation is, it cannot handle a 45 percent increase in circulation without additional staff. If this were a battle, we might consider running up the white flag."

Following is a chart listing positions with salaries paid by area libraries and those paid to Niles Library employees.

He added the bigger vehicles were able to maneuver their way through the water, but the compact cars became inoperable. About 4 p.m. there was a minimum of traffic on Milwaukee Avenue, Stankowicz said. "Drivers tend to be more careful in that kind of weather which reduces traffic incidents."

Streets blocked off by police included Dempster west of Oketo, Greenwood north of Ballard, and Milwaukee Ave. and Main St. Like other towns, there were isolated incidents of power outages, but nothing major, Stankowicz said.

The Niles Fire Department was kept busy Friday shutting off utilities in the homes of residents with flooded basements. There were also complaints of faulty sump pumps that were smoking resulting in calls to the fire station.

According to spokesman Betty Polia of the fire department, about 50 calls were received from residents to shut off their utilities. We had ambulance calls, but they were not storm related," she said, adding there were no major problems with the exception of the downed power line at 8502 Oleander which Commonwealth Edison eventually repaired.

Firefighters went to Satellite Manufacturing Co. 6220 Gross Point Rd., after receiving a call that a transformer was on fire. They found the transformer outside the building was smoking and after a check determined no

A small amount of smoke was reported on Aug. 14 at 8361 Oconto. A smoking sump pump in the basement was shut down and smoke was cleared from the area.

A car fire in the parking lot of A.B. Dick, 5700 Touhy Ave. was already extinguished by the owner when firemen arrived on Aug. 12. The fire which was confined to the carburetor caused $300 damage.
