Troy: Niles will fight religious scenes suit

By Sylvia Dalrymple

Although Niles, Skokie and Wheeling have joined the lawsuit by a national atheist group for displaying Christmas nativity scenes, Village Attorney Richard Trey feels the battle is won.

"The Christmas tradition is not gone now, and I assure Village Attorney Trey that the suit is without merit," he said.

The suit was filed in Federal Court last week against the Village of Niles, going against nine other suburbs that run the Village of Niles, including the Village of Park Ridge. The suit seeks to have the display "removed because it is offensive to a substantial number of American citizens who practice the Christian faith that the display infringes on their First Amendment rights to the free exercise of religion.

Trey contended the higher ups at the Niles Police Station three weeks ago and complained about two officers taking time during their break to work under a hardship during the snowfall, while working 15th, 16th and 17th.

The owner of Animal World pet shop owner Doris Earle in Niles put himself in jail last week to the police on warrant for allegedly assaulting an animal. The charge was released after paying $3,000 bond.

Morton Grove lab issues recall on cough syrup

A nationwide recall was issued last week for an over-the-counter cough syrup. "We recall cough syrup on Friday, Oct. 29, in the Village of Skokie, which contains among other things a deadly dose of a tranquilizer. So far there have been no returns of the product from consumers. The medicine was manufactured by a Morton Grove lab and distributed as a result of what the U.S. Food and Drug Administration is calling a "mistake.""

Savings of America

For Safe, Liquid Investment
Look at New Breed of CDs

By James O'Keeffe

Three names of "different" institutions can be added to the list of institutions offering relatively low rates and higher liquidity in the current competitive financial environment. These names are Promontory National Bank, Compass National Bank and the Savings of America.

Promontory National Bank, a relatively new bank, located at 4601 S. Racine in Chicago, offers a 6-month CD at 5.60% above national averages.

Compass National Bank, located at 355 W. Lake, has a 9-month CD that offers a rate of 5.45% above national averages.

Savings of America offers a 6-month CD at 5.70% above national averages.

The members have been able to achieve these interest rates due to the fact that they are not traditional banks. Savings of America, for example, is not a bank in the traditional sense. It is a federal credit union and as such, has a different regulatory framework which allows it to offer higher rates.

These three institutions offer the same convenience and security as traditional banks, but with the added benefit of higher rates.
