District 207 hikes summer school tuition

by Linda Zachow

The first significant increase in many years for summer school tuition was approved at Monday night's meeting of Maine Township High School District 207's Board of Education.

According to Joel Morris, Director of Instruction, the increased costs are attributable to teacher pay hikes agreed upon in last fall's Maine Teachers' Association contract. Summer school tuition fees are calculated to break even on costs incurred by the district.

In the past two years minor increases in registration fees were charged. The registration fee for this year will remain $6 for all courses. This summer, a one credit course will cost $100 up from $88 last year and a one-half credit course will be $50, up from last year's fee of $50. Tuition for a full seven week lab course will be $135 this year representing an increase of $9 over last year's cost with no bus fee charge as in previous years. Remedial courses, totally funded by the state, will be free to students.

Niles suit against Lawrencewood set for trial

Niles condemnation suit against owners of Lawrencewood shopping center at Waukegan and Oakton will go to trial at the Cook County Circuit Court on Feb. 10, according to Thomas Burke, attorney for the village. The suit is an attempt to take ownership of the center for redevelopment. The village plans to take title of Lawrencewood, use part of the 37 acre property for village facilities and package the rest for use by a developer. Burke said attempts were made by the village to negotiate a settlement out of court regarding the village offer of $5.5 million to property owner Robert Krilick to purchase the shopping center. "However, we expected a reasonable counter-offer which did not come into play," he said. Krilick could not be reached for comment. Niles offered to purchase the center last spring. Krilick rejected the offer saying the property was worth more and vowed to fight condemnation. He noted it was "unfair" to condemn the center last spring. ## New Niles police chief to 'keep in step with progress'

Giovannelli: High tech will suppress future crime

Newly appointed Niles Police Chief Ray Giovannelli looks at his 25 years of service in the Niles Police Department as a period of continuing change in law enforcement efforts. He is now looking forward to being part of emerging high technology in the battle against crime. "I see high tech equipment as an important change that will lead to crime suppression in the future...the ultimate goal for all police officers," he said. "We want to keep in step with progress in order to make law enforcement efforts successful." The former commander of the police department's investigations division was named the village's new chief last week replacing Police Chief Clarence Emrikson who will retire in April. Giovannelli noted he is in a transitional stage during which he will consult with Emrikson on the finer points of the new position. "My responsibilities were directed primarily to the detective division, but now will be broadened to the entire police department," he said. "I hope I can be an extension of Chief Emrikson who elevated the department to its current high level." Giovannelli's interest in police work began when he was drafted into the army during the Berlin Crisis in 1961. During his two-year stint in Germany he became friends with some of the military policemen in his unit sowing the seed for a police career. "When I got out of the army in 1963, I applied to the Niles Police Department (Emrikson was chief) and took the only available job of animal warden. I knew I was getting one foot in the door in the workplace where I wanted to be." In working his way up from animal warden to chief of detectives, Giovannelli earned a degree in political science at Northeastern University taking courses in public administration. He was made chief of detectives in 1982. Giovannelli recalled shortly after he assumed that position, he was involved in a murder case in which the woman's body was dismembered by the son of the man she was living with in the Dempster-Cumberland area. He explained the offender, Jimmy Lawer took offense his father was living with the woman and killed her in the apartment. He then dismembered the body, putting the remains in three bags, and placing them on a sidewalk in the Bridgeport area of Chicago. Continued on Page 30

Niles Fire Dept. calls

The Niles Fire Department responded to 14 fire alarms and 34 ambulance calls from Jan. 22 to 29. Firemen went to Doc Weeds, 8832 Dempster St. on Jan. 22 in response to a reported small fire outside the building. On arrival, a police officer was stepping on burning gasoline and wood chips to extinguish the small blaze. The manager of the restaurant-bar said a man had threatened to "burn the place down" after he was ejected from the premises. A check showed there was a strong odor of gasoline where the fire occurred. "Someone maliciously pulled the box alarm at the Sierling Manor Nursing Home, 8555 Maynard Rd. on Jan. 23. There was no cause for alarm and the system was reset. On Jan. 24, firefighters responded to Ideal Uniforms where they found a worker welding a clothes rack in the store. A check showed no fire hazard. Firemen on Jan. 26 went to Continued on Page 30

Harlem Irving sets record for cancer benefit

Harlem Irving Plaza's Christmas Gift Wrap Booth benefiting the American Cancer Society raised $8,622.90 during the '87 Christmas season. The Holiday Gift Wrap Booth was in operation from December 5 through December 24 at the center located at Harlem Avenue, Irving Park Road and Forest Preserve Drive.

"The support of this year's Gift Wrap Booth was overwhelming," remarked Phyllis Dammeier of

"Special thanks are extended to all of the dedicated volunteers and contributing shoppers", stated Kathy Vitello, Marketing Director, Harlem Irving Plaza. "We credit the successful operation of the Gift Wrap Booth to their commitment and generosity", concluded Vitello. The funds will benefit Cancer Society programs which include cancer research, prevention and early detection, professional and public education, and patient services. GIFTS OF THE HEART

Valentine's Day is coming, that day of cards and flowers, gifts of the heart. For a cherished gift that will hold the fire of your love for that unique woman, give the gift of diamonds.

A working guide for planning a purchase of a diamond engagement ring is two-month's salary. Now if your salary has changed since you bought your engagement ring, isn't it time to consider a gift which says how you feel today? A diamond necklace will carry your love - each time she wears it she'll remember with that feeling, that lump in her throat.

A ring is another possibility. No doubt you bought the best you could afford then. But wouldn't she be proud to show in the brilliance of her diamond ring how far you've come together? A new ring might incorporate that first diamond, or you might prefer a colored gem with sparkling diamond side stones.

Consider earrings. Women who enjoy wearing earrings wear diamonds day and night, for work and for pleasure. Imagine how she'll look sitting across from you, just the two of you, by candlelight. See her pleasure when she opens this special gift, this expression of your love.

When you visit our diamond department, we'll demonstrate for you what a difference the cut, color, and clarity of a diamond makes. A quality diamond catches the sparkle in your heart.

I Bet You Didn't Know

By Jim Jennings

Here's one that may surprise you. There were 8 college football teams last year that drew higher attendance per home game than ANY pro team in the National Football League. . . . The University of Michigan averaged 105,210 fans at home per game last season. . . . Tennessee averaged 91,502. . . . Ohio State 89,385. . . . Penn State 85,100. . . . Georgia 79,596. . . . Clemson 79,400. . . . LSU 78,067. . . . and Nebraska 76,031. . . . Meantime, the top NFL team in home attendance was the New York Jets who averaged 76,005.

Amazingly, there was no passing allowed in football during the FIRST 37 YEARS of the sport. Football was started in 1859, but it wasn't till 1906 that passing was legal.

Can you name the teams that have won the national championship in major college football in the last 10 years? . . . They are Penn State, 1986. . . . Oklahoma, 1985. . . . Brigham Young, 1984. . . . Miami of Florida, 1983. . . . Penn State, 1982. . . . Clemson, 1981. . . . Georgia, 1980. . . . Alabama, 1979. . . . Alabama, 1978. . . . And Notre Dame, 1977.

Noting that the Games attract up to 7000 employees of 30 Chicago and suburban companies each year, she adds, "Participants compete in athletic events ranging from serious to comic. Though we show each kind, I admit we're a bit biased on the funny side."

Pee Wees

With the tournament over the Rangers continued their regular season play today. This game meant something extra because this Glenview team beat them 2-1 to end Niles' long winning streak and the boys had a little extra going for them tonight. The first period saw the Rangers out shot 9-6, but Steve Bosco scored with an assist to Andy Chlopek as the period ended 1-0. Eric Jesse was outstanding during the period with many great saves.

In the second period the Rangers dominated the play with great fore-checking by the wingers and outstanding play of the defensemen. Niles had ten shots on goal during the period. Andy Chlopek finally put the puck in the net with an assist by Chris Falkiewicz to make the score 2-0. The game was really starting to heat up as many hard body checks were being thrown by both sides.

The final period was really exciting as Glenview scored to narrow the score to one goal. The third period was filled with penalties as both sides played extremely rough. With about 3 minutes left in the game Gary Falk scored on a slap shot from the slot with an assist going to Steve Bosco, as Niles opened a 2 goal lead. Eric Jesse and the defense had to make some great plays to keep Glenview off the scoreboard. The total shots on goal was 22 for each side. This victory was won because of the great pride the players have and was a total team effort. Let's start another long winning streak!!!

Interesting Facts From John Jennings

Why is the South Pole much colder than the North Pole, even though they're equally distant from the equator? The reason is that the South Pole is higher and more mountainous.

Of all the fish in the world, which kind can swim the fastest? Answer is the sailfish which can reach speeds up to 70 m.p.h.

Surprisingly, of the 56 men who signed the Declaration of Independence, the first U.S. President, George Washington, was NOT one of them. Washington never signed the Declaration of Independence.

MODERN AUTOMOBILE POWER PLANTS

Twenty-five years ago, the standard automobile engine was a huge V-8. Today, it has been largely replaced by 4-cylinder engines. The average weight of modern cars is 2,250 pounds as opposed to 4,250 pounds in 1963. The 4-cylinder engines of the 1980's import cars sounded like sewing machines, had poor performance and repair records, and short lives. Those cars with their small power plants were not designed for sustained, long-distance, high-speed driving and a variety of climates.

After the 1973 Arab oil embargo, the federal government forced the automobile industry to make fuel efficient cars. Cars shrank from battleship to light cruiser size and V-8's largely disappeared. The new 4-cylinder engines are quiet, economical, and can have 100,000-plus miles of life if properly maintained. These new pip-squeaks can produce as much power as some of the old V-8's. The new engines represent the application of old and new engineering technologies. The features that make them so effective and efficient are fuel injection, electronic ignition, computerized engine controls, 4-valve cylinders, turbochargers, overhead camshafts, strong, light-weight alloys for engine blocks and components, lead-free gasoline, superior lubricants, superior engineering, and rigid quality controls. Consequently, few now hesitate to buy a car with a small power plant.

LEAD IN OUR DRINKING WATER

The federal government recently released reports detailing the appalling state of our drinking water. All of us, including myself, believed that we had a safe, pure supply of water. What a blow! The reports describe how our water supplies have become contaminated. One of the pollutants is lead. Lead and all its compounds are poisonous. Laws now forbid the use of lead pipes, lead paints, and lead-glazed ceramic ware.

So, how does lead get into our water? It comes from the use of copper water pipes in our homes because the pipe sections are sealed to each other by lead joints. Since these joints consist of different metals, electrochemical corrosion occurs and lead slowly goes into solution. During daylight hours when much water is being used, the concentration of lead salts is very low. During the night when little or no water is used, the lead concentration builds up. We can drastically reduce the amount of lead in our water by flushing the toilets and opening the water taps the first thing each morning. Inasmuch as the corrosion process is continuous, there will always be a tiny amount of lead in the drinking water. Since ingested lead stays in our bodies, its concentration slowly increases.

An effective solution is to specify plastic or iron water pipes in new construction and to replace copper pipes. The replacement will be expensive. Intense lobbying by plumbing contractors and labor unions prevented the city of Chicago from approving the use of plastic pipes on the grounds that they would be a fire hazard.

ASPIRIN AND ASPIRIN PRODUCTS

Aspirin is the most widely used nonprescription medicine and is easily obtained in any pharmacy or supermarket. It is the universal medicine used to relieve the symptoms of colds, sore throats, sore muscles, backaches, headaches, and ailments too numerous to mention. Aspirin is the active ingredient in a bewildering array of products. Some contain only aspirin while others have aspirin combined with different compounds. Most pills contain 5 grains (325 milligrams) of aspirin. The products are widely advertised and their manufacturers make extravagant claims for their effectiveness. Most claims cannot be proven. Since there is some medical evidence behind the claims, little can be done to curtail misleading advertising.

All aspirin sold for medicinal purposes must conform to the U.S. Pharmacopeia standards. This means that all aspirin tablets regardless of price or advertising claims are equally pure and effective. The price range is 0.33 to 10 cents per pill. Reliable medical tests have shown that highly-touted aspirin mixtures are no more effective than aspirin alone. Unless a person is specifically ordered by a physician to use a certain aspirin product or is sensitive to plain aspirin, the best thing to buy and use is the lowest-priced aspirin tablet.

EARN CRAGIN'S $100,000 JUMBO CD RATE EVEN IF YOU'RE $80,000 SHORT

Introducing the Cragin Instant Access CD

Now with a deposit of just $20,000 or more, you can enjoy the same high yield of your $100,000 Jumbo CD, plus the convenience of immediate liquidity.

With the Instant Access CD, you're guaranteed to earn equal to or greater than Cragin's 30-day Jumbo CD rate. Jumbo Rates: Each day, your Instant Access CD will earn equal to or greater than the rate quoted that day on Cragin's 30-day Consumer Jumbo CD, normally available only for deposits of $100,000 or more. Your account will earn this rate on a daily basis for one full year from the day your account is opened.

Your rate may vary from day to day; it may even go higher than the 30-day Jumbo CD rate, but never below—during the first year. After one year, your account will earn a top market rate. Interest is computed daily, compounded and paid quarterly.

Immediate Liquidity: The Instant Access CD has no fixed term and, therefore, no penalty for early withdrawal. In fact, you can make two withdrawals a month, whenever you want, and you can add to your account any time.

Get unlimited access with a free checking account: When you open a Cragin Regular Checking account you can transfer funds by phone between your checking and your Instant Access account (minimum $1,000). The checking account is free from a monthly service charge for one year as long as you maintain the minimum balance in your Instant Access CD.

Insured Safety: Your Instant Access CD is fully insured up to $100,000 by the FSLIC, an agency of the federal government.

Pension or Profit Sharing Money? The Instant Access CD is an ideal place to deposit a payout from a qualified pension or profit sharing plan. The Instant Access account can preserve the tax-deferred status of your funds, thus saving you tax dollars.

Strength and Safety: Cragin is one of Illinois' largest as well as one of America's strongest financial institutions. Assets now total over $2 billion; financial reserves exceed $143 million.

So if you want to earn today's higher Jumbo CD rates along with the safety of a Cragin account and the liquidity you need to stay financially flexible, there's no better choice than the Cragin Instant Access CD. For further details, drop by or call any one of Cragin's 23 Family Financial Centers. NOTE: This account can be opened for individual accounts only.

SJB plans Catholic Schools' Week activities

During the week, the Archdiocese of Chicago and much of the nation celebrate Catholic Schools' Week, with the theme of "Catholic Schools Share the Spirit." Believers in Jesus have the Spirit within them. It is the Holy Spirit that activates and enlivens the people and the work of the church.

At St. John Brebeuf School, the 570 students and teachers strive to share the Spirit as they share faith, knowledge, prayer, and moral values in an atmosphere of trust, discipline, and love. The curriculum is designed to give students a broad background of skills and facts which prepare them for learning the subjects they will need for academic integrity, through the use of current materials and methods.

Of primary concern is the teaching of Catholic doctrine and growth in faith and allowing for the exercise of a practical response to it.

This year, the three Catholic elementary schools in Niles: St. Isaac Jogues, Our Lady of Ransom, and St. John Brebeuf will seek to share their Spirit with the community by having a display of students' work at Golf Mill Mall during Catholic Schools' Week. We invite you to come and visit it.

Law requires

smoke detectors in homes

The Niles Fire Department would like to remind every one that Gov. Thompson has signed into a law a bill that requires every residence in the state of Illinois to have smoke detectors.

Each year 6900 lives are lost due to fires. The greatest number of deaths are in these types of buildings. In multi-family units the landlord is required to install and repair the unit while the tenants will be responsible for the maintenance such as periodic battery testing and battery replacement. The average cost for such units is $10, a small price to pay for life.

Firefighters will not be walking the streets handing out tickets, but if they are called to a home on an emergency and there are no smoke detectors, they can issue a citation for non compliance, a Class B misdemeanor. If they notice you have tampered with the unit, this is a Class A misdemeanor that could result in jail sentences. It is a Class 4 felony for subsequent convictions which could lead to a prison term.

This law is in effect to save lives and to reduce property damage. Please help us to help you. Smoke detectors save lives. Don't leave home without one.

"We're meeting to hear community members' suggestions and to begin planning the work of this committee," Suter said. The Board room entrance is on Mulford St. at the northeast side of the building. Parking is available in the nearby tennis court lot. For further information call the public relations office at 673-6822.

Are you having enough money withheld?

As the April 15 income tax filing date approaches, are you thinking about how you'll spend your large refund, or are you worrying about how you're going to pay a huge tax bill? According to the Illinois CPA Society, the wise taxpayer will avoid both extremes.

Withholding is the government's way of collecting tax on your salaried income on a planned schedule. An employee with little or no other income must have a certain amount of money withheld from each paycheck to meet his/her tax obligations. Ideally, the amount withheld by your employer during the year will match the amount of your annual tax liability.

The new tax law has created the need for everyone to reexamine their withholding. Starting in 1987, less tax is being withheld as a result of lower tax rates. At the same time, however, many employees are likely to be affected by changes in the tax law that reduce or eliminate many tax breaks, which means more of your income is subject to withholding. Affected employees who don't increase their withholding may very well find themselves face-to-face with a large tax bill at filing time.

Taxpayers who have been offsetting large deductions with additional allowances should be aware that under tax reform, the value of each allowance, or exemption, has been increased to $1,000-up from $1,080 in 1986. That means you need to almost double the amount of itemized deductions to warrant each additional exemption on your W-4. Note, too, that many deductions have been limited while others have been eliminated.

If your 1987 tax return shows you had too much or too little withheld, you can correct the problem by filing another withholding form.

The IRS recommends that two working spouses combine both incomes on one form. For more accurate withholding, the spouse with the higher earning should claim all the exemptions while the other spouse claims none. Be aware, however, that employers are required to submit to the IRS any W-4 form on which more than 10 allowances are claimed.

CPAs recommend that you make every attempt to be as accurate as possible when calculating your withholding because, according to new IRS regulations, if the amount withheld is not equal to at least 90 percent of the year's tax liability or 100 percent of the prior year's taxes, the IRS may impose a penalty. However, the IRS has agreed that, for 1987 taxes, it will waive this penalty for employees who, in good faith, filed a new Form W-4 with their employer on or before June 1, 1987.

If you discover that you're not having enough tax withheld, you should file another W-4 as soon as possible. If you're not well-versed in the changes brought about by the Tax Reform Act, consult with a tax advisor before filing a revised W-4.

District 63...

High School, 10100 Dee Rd., Des Plaines.

Applause greeted parent protest of possible "self-contained" placement of sixth grade students which would isolate them from older Gemini students, as well as sixth grade peers at other schools.

In addition, speakers rejected administrative recommendations to mainstream all special education students to either Mark Twain or Washington schools or use portable classrooms at Mark Twain to avoid strain on existing classroom space. The district notified all district parents of a public hearing on the recommendations.

A total of about 30 parents, teachers, representatives of teacher groups and Parent Teacher Associations spoke and/or presented board members with signed petitions against all proposals. Siding with parents was Skokie Democrat Jeffrey Schoenberg (56th), a candidate for state representative. A majority of speakers seemed to be from the Mark Twain area.

Following the meeting, one of these parents said, "Mark Twain would really be dumped on. We would get the mobile classrooms and all the special ed kids."

In preparing administrative recommendations, superintendent of schools Dr. Eldon Gleichman chose to discard nine options discussed and endorsed by an advisory committee in favor of a plan requiring less additional revenue. He said District 63 spent more than it received in revenue since 1985.

According to Gleichman, the district receives about 6.37 percent of its funds from state aid while local taxes and other sources of revenue account for 72.97 percent and 20.66 percent of the district's revenue, respectively. "I had to go ahead and consider finances," he said.

"Since 1985, we've spent more money than we've had revenue from. This reduces the education fund. We've had to borrow $14,000,000 in bonds (for life safety work) which will not be paid off until the year 2,000," said Gleichman.

He added, "Gemini was the only place where there was creative scheduling we could work through." Gleichman said his recommendations may be able to buy the district four years to straighten out finances.

One of nine options suggested by an advisory committee on building use was that Apollo Junior High School be re-opened so a middle school could be developed there and at Gemini, possibly for sixth through eighth graders.

However, the district now receives a total of about $170,000 annual revenue from two Apollo tenants, the Center on Deafness and Northridge Preparatory Academy, a boys' school. Gleichman pointed out this revenue may be lost to the district if those tenants are forced to move.

The advisory committee on building use consisted of two parents, a teacher and administrative staff from Gemini, Nelson, Stevenson, Mark Twain and Washington schools meeting about six times from Dec. 16 to Jan. 14.

One committee member, Harold London, told board members he did not agree with the committee's report but thinks Dr. Gleichman's recommendations are "far less desirable" and "not educationally sound."

It seems that decisions will be based on money and not what's best for students," said London.

He said it is time for the superintendent and board to take leadership roles, hand together with others who have similar problems and demand that legislators fund education. "If we demand it, the legislators will do it," said London.

Doris Telford, a sixth grade teacher at Nelson, said, "I beg of you not to place the sixth graders alone at Gemini."

Other speakers questioned the advisability of mobile classrooms, past board actions in closing schools, division of sixth grade students between those in and out of Gemini, Gemini sixth grade isolation, the disturbance of Gemini's instrumental music program as well as a possible referendum. One referendum was defeated 2-1 about eight years earlier, according to board chairperson Joan Futterman.

Futterman assured the public the meeting was called to hear from the public.

"We're trying to get input from as many people as possible so we can make the best decisions," she said. Another committee-of-the-whole discussion is slated for Feb. 17 but will be limited to the board's discussion of options.

Regular meetings this month are scheduled for Feb. 9 and Feb. 23. If Apollo is to be opened by September, that decision must be made by the board by March 1.

meeting on Monday, Feb. 8, the spokesman said.

The mayor attended Our Lady of Mercy Elementary School and Roosevelt High School in Chicago where he was a champion speed skater and star football player. During World II, he served in the army achieving the rank of sergeant major.

Flickinger was employed as a sales engineer by McDonnell & Miller, now a division of ITT for 36 years until his retirement in 1978.

In 1942, he married Lucille M. Doyle, and had two children, Michael and Peggy. Lucille died in 1976 after a battle with cancer. In 1981, he married Judith Helgeston.

The mayor moved from Chicago to Morton Grove in 1950 and became involved in village affairs in 1955 by serving on the village's Board of local improvements. He also served on the zoning board of appeals and plan commission from 1957 to 1959.

In 1959, Flickinger was appointed to a vacancy on the village board. He was elected to a full term as a village trustee in 1961 and served on the board until 1971. He was elected mayor in 1971.

Under his administration, the Morton Grove village board adopted a handgun ordinance, making the village the first municipality in the United States to ban the ownership and possession of a handgun within village limits.

Other major accomplishments under his administration include the expansion of the paramedic service to include the whole village; the reconstruction of an unused school building into a village hall and police building; the acquisition of a new public works facility; and the implementation of a comprehensive program of senior services.

As mayor, Flickinger inaugurated a major maintenance and reconstruction program resulting in the resurfacing and upgrading of many village streets and water mains, as well as the construction of new relief storm sewers.

Visitation for Mayor Flickinger will be at Simkins Funeral Home, 6251 Dempster St., Morton Grove, from 4 to 9 p.m., Thursday Feb. 4. A funeral mass will be at St. Martha's Catholic Church, 8523 Georgiana Ave., Morton Grove, at 11 a.m. on Friday, Feb. 5.

Interment will be in All Saints Cemetery, Des Plaines.

Donations in honor of Mayor Flickinger may be sent to St. Martha's School, 8523 Georgiana, Morton Grove, IL 60053.

Giovannelli...

In an attempt to identify the body, the Cook County coroner took a picture of the victim to all police departments in the Chicago area.

The victim's daughter subsequently reported her mother missing and submitted a photo to police. "I remembered the police bulletin picture and found it compared with the one submitted by the daughter," Giovannelli said.

Lawyer was taken into custody and during questioning admitted to the murder. He was judged insane by the courts and was confined in a maximum security prison.

Returning to the topic of department changes during his tenure, the incoming police chief noted the policy change that started the trend of hiring policemen with degrees in higher education. The former policy had been to hire those with high school degrees presenting a problem.

"There were supervisors and administrators attempting to lead subordinates who had higher education which presented a conflict within the department," Giovannelli explained.

Giovannelli believes that today, the police department is in a state of "equilibrium" in that administrators and supervisors pursue higher education which results in officers having greater understanding and sensitivity to social problems. "I don't mean to criticize past officers (with a high school background)...but it's another case of progress in law enforcement work."

Looking to the future, the new chief would like to see greater involvement on the part of citizens which can lead to apprehension of criminals. He noted research work done in prisons revealed criminals feared citizen involvement more than the courts or police.

Giovannelli firmly believes in incapacitating "career" or habitual criminals by giving them stiff sentences. He explained recent research showed a very poor record for career criminals being rehabilitated. "It simply doesn't work. I would like to see them removed from society via the courts."

He added legislators are making an attempt to create tools to put hardened criminals behind bars by legislating severe penalties for major crimes, including narcotics and crimes against persons. "We can arrest them, but it's up to the courts to deal with these criminals."

Admitting there are flaws in the Criminal Justice system, Giovannelli feels it is still the best system in the world in which a "fair trial" is the overriding factor.

Although some judges have been found guilty of accepting bribes (referring to the Greyford cases), he argues "in the long run" it is a self-cleansing system. "Judges and public officials may get away with wrongdoing for a long time, but in the end they get caught."

He also believes high technology (advance electronics) is the answer to suppression of crime and would like to concentrate police efforts in that area in another step toward progress. "There would be training of people in the use of high tech surveillance equipment," he said.

Although he would not discuss specific details, Giovannelli said the electronics medium has the potential of monitoring a criminal's activities so he can be interrupted while committing the crime.

"Niles has committed itself to mutual cooperation with other law enforcement agencies in crime suppression," he said.

"The future and an effective tool in the fight against crime."

In further goals, Giovannelli noted he is considering making some changes to enhance morale in the police department, which he said is at an acceptable level at the present time. "Morale is extremely important in order to have an efficient and effective force," he said, adding some other changes will be made within the department, but would not yet discuss them.

Giovannelli and his wife, Phyllis, have three children, Laura, Shelley and Scott.

the board will consider having the petition removed," he said.

Montgomery Ward had requested a change from B-2 to B-2 special use to demolish the existing building and construct a tire and battery accessory store at 9643 Milwaukee Ave., presently the site of the vacant Sizer Steak House. The property lies adjacent to Fluky's restaurant.

The matter had been continued last month so that officials and the owner of Fluky's, Jack Drexler, could come to terms on a crossover easement agreement.

Attorney Allan Kanter, acting in behalf of Drexler, said he had tried to contact Ward officials several times prior to Monday's meeting. "However, when I did reach them, they indicated little interest in coming to an agreement," Kanter said. "At one point I was told their attorneys would contact me but they never did."

According to a board member, the main driveway for the property is also the main driveway for Fluky's. Drexler had testified last month that he opened his restaurant two years ago after making an agreement with the owner of the Sizzler property that there would always be access to his restaurant.

Both sides expressed interest in reaching an agreement and the commissioners moved to continue the hearing for 30 days.

In another continued hearing, the board approved a request by Michael Vito and Thomas Kelly for special use zoning to convert an existing vacant gas station to a 60-seat restaurant at 6500 Grass Point Rd.

Board approval came after the petitioners complied with a board request last month to submit a complete landscaping plan and remove one parking space near the trash pickup area so it would be accessible for garbage trucks.

In further business, commissioners approved a request for a zoning change from B-2
