Angry citizens from homes near the Highland Square Shopping Center in Morton Grove came to the January 23rd Village Board Meeting to oppose an Original Honeybaked Ham outlet but lost their first battle against food outlets in the center. The trustees, with Robert Leavitt not present, voted 3 to 2 in favor of the ham purveyor after lengthy testimony from residents, Village Health Commissioner Jim Huber, Honey Baked Representtative Scott Landane and other interested individuals. Nothing that Highland Square sits on acreage that once supported livestock. Mrs. Neufel from the 7700 block of Foster St. Continued on Page 30

Maine Dems want GOP to debate issues

by Nancy Keramias

Maine Township Democrats have challenged the Republican Board to a debate on the issues but they are facing a more difficult challenge in the April 4 election. The undaunted Dems said, "If we have the right issues and the right candidates, we can win," according to Committeeman Nick Blase. Blase has fielded a group of "geographically" balanced candidates to try and unseat the GOP incumbents. Continued on Page 30

Home for the aged to expand at Milwaukee & Touhy

St. Benedict's buys village property

by Linda Zachow

The Village of Niles divested itself of property at Milwaukee and Touhy at Tuesday night's Village Board Meeting. St. Benedict's Home for the Aged, run by the Catholic Archdiocese was the lone bidder.

The property was appraised at $50,000. According to state law, the property could not be sold for under $40,000 (80% of the appraised value). Representatives of St. Benedict's were prepared to offer a bid and a check for $45,000 on the spot, contingent on zoning regulations for needed parking.

The resolution to sell to St. Benedict's passed unanimously. Grateful representatives from the Catholic Church thanked the Board for allowing their work to continue, and members of the Board expressed satisfaction that the property will be used to expand St. Benedict's retirement community.

by Bud Besser

(Reprint of The Left Hand from January 30, 1986 after the Chicago Bears won the Super Bowl and seven astronauts lost their lives in a shuttle explosion).

Monday, we Chicagoans were filled with the exploits of the Bears, Ditka and Walter and McMahon et al were our heroes. Tuesday, we all came back down to earth. The explosion of the shuttle returned us to reality.

Tuesday afternoon we were driving down Golf Road past the gas station at Washington Street which had the Bears paraphernalia displayed on the corner. The scene, which was so exciting Sunday, seemed so vacuous on Tuesday. On the radio we heard the report over and over about the astronaut tragedy.

We get a bit harsh at a time like this. We dwelled on the Bears for a moment. These huge men playing at a kids game received the adoration of millions of us. They are very good at playing a child's game. Yet, these astronauts who died-few people could name the seven people who lost their lives on Tuesday. They were the creme de la creme. The very best we had to offer. And they were extinguished in a moment's blast.

The Bears we adored were men who were blessed with innate athletic skills combined Continued on Page 30

MG Parks annexes Little Acres

by Nancy Keramias

The Morton Grove Park District added 1.68 acres to its jurisdiction at its first 1989 meeting held Thursday, January 19. The board's attorney, Gabriel Berrafato, asked the board members to rule on annexing the section of land, located on the southeast corner of Golf Road and Washington Street. The area is part of the village but has not been within the taxing authority of the Park District. The action of the board means that all Morton Grove residents are now eligible to use the discount rate for activities. In addition, the board also has jurisdiction over a small portion of Skokie near the Edens Expressway.

Citizens on lookout in Carol-Crain area

The Carol-Crain area, recently prey to at least seven home burglaries, had one resident on the alert January 19. A man living in the 8400 block of Carol Drive observed a new model grey and orange truck driving at a very slow pace cruising both Crain Street and Carol Drive.

According to the witness the occupants of the truck appeared to be studying the homes as the truck drove slowly past. The citizen contacted police and supplied them with a description of the vehicle and driver.

This is the first week since mid-December there were no home break-ins reported in this area.

Niles' Bradford Museum develops into world's largest trading center of collector plates

by Sheilya Hackett

The Bradford Museum and Exchange is a mecca for plate collectors around the world, attracting visitors from both the United States and abroad. The building that houses it, at 9333 N. Milwaukee, Niles, displays this cosmopolitan role with its dramatic glass walls and roof reflecting clouds and passing jets overhead. Its interior is a wonderland of dipping ceilings and plant life built around a thriving business, the brainchild of founder, the late J. Roderick MacArthur.

MacArthur began his plate business on Waukegan Road in Morton Grove when he was still financially associated with his father, the late billionaire and philanthropist, John D. MacArthur. Father and son severed ties one day in 1977—a day hereafter celebrated at Bradford as “break away day,” when younger MacArthur went out on his own. He moved plates and equipment into a renovated, former Sears catalog store in Niles. The son correctly assessed the burgeoning market in collector plates. Business prospered, and with the guidance of architect Thomas Hickey, he built a structure adding 52,000 square feet to the original building, featuring translucent, tent-like ceilings and extensive gardens.

A visitor to the exchange finds more than 1300 collector plates inside, displayed in invisibly suspended plexiglass showcases. (Collector plates are decorative art plates that are produced in limited quantities for the purpose of being collected.) The visitor can watch at the glassed-in trading floor where brokers engage in buying and selling plates worldwide. He can view a three screen video in a theatre seating 60, or he can lunch in a rock garden set amidst lush greenery next to a bubbling stream.

The Bradford Museum, at 9333 Milwaukee Avenue, displays collector plates and presents information on the worldwide plate collecting industry. The museum is open to the public.

The Niles' Bradford Exchange is international headquarters for plate collectors worldwide. On the trading floor, prices are posted daily to reflect the changing prices of collector plates.

But it is more than a feast for the senses. Today, the Bradford is the world's largest trading center of limited edition collector plates. It markets first issues of collector plates from selected manufacturers worldwide, and acts as a broker for those who want to buy or sell plates no longer manufactured. Each business day it handles more than 14,000 transactions. To aid customers, it issues a quote sheet of current prices bimonthly. The Niles site is international headquarters, but the Bradford maintains offices in six foreign countries.

The earliest known limited edition of plates began in 1895 when the head of a Danish porcelain house ordered his workers to smash the mold for a plate they had produced to commemorate Christmas. He thus created a situation in which demand for a dwindling supply could raise the value of the original plate edition. Plate collecting evolved from the wealthy Danish landowners' custom of giving tenants gifts of food on hand painted plates at Christmas. The plates were saved as prized possessions. Though the first plates were wooden, they were produced soon in porcelain, and now also come in silver, copper and crystal.

'50's buffs will welcome the Delphi company's representation of “Elvis at the Gates of Graeland” or remember a “’56 T-Bird” from their Dream Machine series.

A visitor to the exchange finds more than 1300 collector plates inside....Each business day it handles more than 14,000 transactions.

Various artists, such as Ted DeCrazia, Sister M.I. Hummel, Norman Rockwell and comedian Red Skelton command a following. Skelton's painting of “Fredie the Freeloder” is the centerpiece of a series on famous clowns.

Today Bradford carries plates made by 60 makers in 16 nations, a far more elaborate selection than when MacArthur began, with offerings chiefly imported from France.

Furniture Factory destroyed

An early morning extra alarm fire at the Furniture Factory in the 5900 block of Dempster snarled rush hour commuters and closed a 5 square block area of Dempster and Austin for several hours on January 25.

Ten area fire departments fought the flames which leaped through the roof of the two story building which houses offices on the second floor. A fireman was treated for minor injuries incurred when water pressure in a hose catapulted him from the hose.

Cause of the blaze is under investigation.

Chmielowski only challenger for April 4 election

Few challenge incumbents in Niles

by Sheilya Hackett

Competition will be at a minimum in the Niles village elections April 4. Only one challenger, Walter Chmielowski, running for Village Trustee, will confront a slate of incumbents headed by Mayor Nicholas Blase. Four candidates will vie for three openings on the Park District Board of Commissioners and five will aim for the three open slots at the Library Board.

Independent Walter Chmielowski, a Library Board trustee, will confront Mayor Blase's roster of candidates for the Progress through Economy party. Blase is seeking his eighth term as Mayor of Niles and Frank Wagner, his sixth term as Village Clerk. Incumbent Trustees Peter Pesole, Louella Preston and Abe Selman are seeking reelection.

The Park District competition will find former Niles Village trustee Carol Panek and funeral director Bernard Skaja joining current Park Commissioners James Pierski and Val Engelman in the race for Board positions, according to Park District Director William Hughes.

The Niles Library district serves Niles and unincorporated Glenview and Des Plaines. Gayle Barr, administrative assistant at the library, records that David Le Monier, Milton Buzil, Carol Levey and Ted Przybylo, along with incumbent Irene Costello, are seeking the trustee position on the Library Board. Current Board members, President Terri Spreckman-Carman and trustee Mylas Dimand are not seeking reelection.

MG Mayor's Night gets gentle start

by Nancy Keramias

People weren't queuing up to visit Morton Grove Mayor Dick Hohns but the chief official was pleased with the turnout at his first Mayor's Night, held Tuesday, January 17. At least one citizen had Hohns' ear about a fence problem, and Hohns was "pretty sure" he could take care of it.

Hohns said he got the idea for the meetings after he attended a recent municipal conference for elected officials. "Many communities in other locales have a professional ombudsman," said Hohns. "I thought we could do the same thing." An ombudsman is a government official who investigates complaints by citizens and acts as an intermediary between citizens and their leaders. Hohns intends to allow people to go directly to him the third Tuesday of every month from 6:30 p.m. until at least 8:30 p.m. to meet with Morton Grove residents.

Politics were temporarily put on a back burner while Hohns, in between visitors, was at once a nostalgic public servant, a proud family man, and a happy bridegroom. He and his wife renewed their vows January 22, in observance of their 40th wedding anniversary. He reminded one drop-in about the post-

Rebate assistance for elderly

The Council for Jewish Elderly is offering free assistance in completing circuit breaker forms at the Schneider CHA Building, 1750 W. Peterson, 1:30-4 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 8, and Thursday, Feb. 9. If you are 65-years-old or older or disabled, an Illinois resident, and had an annual income in 1988 or less than $14,000, you may be eligible for a tax rebate from the State of Illinois ($14,000/year breaks down to approximately $1160 per month, but this includes interest received from the bank).

The Illinois Property Tax Relief (circuit breaker) and Pharmaceutical Assistant Program can help you in two ways. First, the Circuit Breaker is a cash rebate that was created to reduce the burden on senior citizen taxes. Second, the Pharmaceutical Assistance Program is an option that will pay for approved medications for those who suffer from heart disease, arthritis, diabetes, or high blood pressure.

Anyone seeking assistance with the completion of a circuit breaker form should bring their social security card, a statement of all interest earned in 1988, a record of total income for 1988, the name, address, and phone number of their landlord and the amount of rent paid in 1988, and a copy of their 1988 income tax form (if filed). Those who have never filed a circuit breaker form and think they are eligible need to bring proof of age or disability. Applicants have until Dec. 31 to file.

Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Tax

There is a new law that affects "older taxpayers". President Reagan signed the "Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act" on July 1, 1988. While it dramatically expands Medicare benefits, it is not free.

For the first time, the cost will be paid for by the individuals who are eligible for monthly Social Security benefits. This means that all taxpayers over 65 are affected, and must pay a premium whether they participate in Medicare or not. In addition, individuals who have been entitled to Social Security benefits for at least 2 years are also impacted by the new tax.

The premium is based on total tax liability, and will be phased in over several years. In 1989, the premium will be $22.50 for every $150 of federal taxes owed. Thus, in 1989, $1,500 in tax liability means an additional $225 in premium.

The premium escalates each year up to 1993, although there is a maximum annual premium. The maximum annual premium doubles in the case of a joint return where both spouses are eligible for Medicare.

Medicare improves coverage

People in the Northwest Suburban Chicago area who dropped their Medicare medical insurance (Part B) coverage or declined it when they were first eligible have another chance to sign up for it now, Thomas A. Curin, Social Security manager in Des Plaines, said recently. Between now and March 31, there is an annual open enrollment period to get coverage, which goes into effect July 1.

Many people who thought Medicare medical insurance (Part B) was not for them might want to take another look at it this year, Curin said. More extensive services will be covered, starting January, 1990, because of recent legislation.

Among the items of improved coverage are regular mammography screenings and increased days of home health care. A cap is set on the total expenses an individual would have to pay in Medicare-approved charges. In 1990, that cap is $1,370. Coverage of out patient prescription drugs will be phased in over 4 year-period, beginning January 1, 1990. In 1990, Medicare will cover home IV therapy and immunosuppressive drugs. Coverage of all other prescription drugs will begin January 1, 1991.

To pay for these services, Medicare medical insurance premiums will also be increasing to $31.90 per month in 1989, Curin noted. In addition, all people eligible for hospital insurance will pay an annual supplemental premium based on their income tax liability and collected as part of their income tax. For tax year 1989, the rate will be $22.50 for each $150 of income tax liability, up to a maximum of $800 per person.

Special collection to aid seminaries

On Sunday, February 5, in parishes throughout the Archdiocese of Chicago, Catholics will once again join in an effort to secure the future of their four seminaries. The annual seminary collection takes place in the masses of February 4-5, an event which assures the continuing development of the largest, most influential seminary system in the country.

Each of the four schools—Quigley North, Quigley South, Niles College, and the University of St. Mary of the Lake—boasts a rich tradition of academic and formation excellence. The seminaries at each school are asked to take time out of their lives to reflect on a life of priesthood. They do this in liturgy, in the classroom, and in local parishes, soup kitchens, and hospitals where they put their learning—and their lives—in action.

In a time when vocations are so important to the Church, the role of the seminaries is vital. Last fall, Cardinal Bernardin made vocations one of his four priorities for the Archdiocese. A Seminary Development Office was created to coordinate the February 4 collection as well as other seminary fundraising ventures. Funds from the collection will help bridge the gap between tuition and the real operating cost of the four schools.

Court to review Edison rate request

To remove uncertainty over electricity costs in northern Illinois and expedite the judicial process, Commonwealth Edison asked the Illinois Supreme Court to take jurisdiction of an appeal of the Illinois Commerce Commission's Dec. 30 rate order. The appeal by interveners is pending in the Illinois Appellate Court.

The commission's rate order marks the first major utility case to reach judicial review under the new Public Utilities Act, and Edison believes the matter ultimately will be appealed by the state Supreme Court, regardless of which side prevails at the appellate level. The benefits of rate moderation, including a four-year rate freeze, cannot be achieved "if the ultimate lawfulness of the rates found by the commission to be just and reasonable remains in doubt for an extended period of time while the normal process of appellate review runs its course," the company maintains in its motion.

Long-Term Care Insurance Can Protect Your Life Savings

By Joanne Cwynar

If you are one of the many consumers who believes Medicare covers all the costs of long-term health care, you are in danger of contributing to a startling statistic: according to federal studies, 50 percent of couples with one spouse in a nursing home fall into poverty in just six months.

In the Chicago area, the current annual cost of nursing home care averages $24,000. Unfortunately Medicare covers only 2 percent of the cost of such care. Only after life savings have disappeared can Medicaid financing take effect.

The Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act of 1988 does not eliminate this problem. Fortunately, however, long-term care insurance is available that can provide an economical and sensible alternative to covering nursing home costs.

Long-term care insurance acts like a standard insurance policy. Holders pay a periodic premium that varies with the type of coverage desired. Policies differ in such areas as dollar benefits, definitions of covered nursing facilities, limitations on coverage, and eligibility for benefits. Several options are available that will affect the amount of the premium you will pay.

For example, some policies require a hospital stay of three days and a physician's recommendation for nursing home care before such care is covered. This provision may decrease the premium paid on the policy.

Most long-term care insurance policies allow you to choose the "elimination period"—the length of time you must pay for your own nursing home care before your insurance begins to cover the cost. Generally, your choices are zero, 20 or 100 days before you are covered. The longer the period, the lower the premiums.

You also may choose the maximum benefit period, which is the length of time your stay in the nursing home will be paid for by the insurance company. Your options are usually from one to four years of coverage, depending on the insurance company that issues the policy. Not surprisingly, a longer benefit period will require a higher premium payment. Similarly, you also may choose the dollar amount of your daily benefit. The policy cost will vary with the daily benefit amount you select.

You may wish to purchase a policy with built-in inflation protection. This option will take into account an increase in benefits of 5 percent per year while you are covered.

Most policies do not require you to take a physical exam before qualifying for coverage. You will, however, be asked questions about your past medical history which could affect your eligibility.

One of the most important things to remember about long-term care insurance is once you've suffered a major medical setback, such as a heart attack or stroke, qualifying for coverage may be difficult if not impossible. It is vital that the policy be obtained well in advance of the need for long-term care.

Due to the increasing need for long-term care coverage, some banking institutions have begun working with insurance companies to offer policies directly to their customers.

Because of the variety of policies available, you should seek the advice of a knowledgeable insurance specialist to review the options and the restrictions. An expert can help you select the policy that provides the most financial security.

Learning too late that nursing home care is not covered by Medicare can be a financially devastating lesson. Long-term care insurance is a healthy way to cover nursing home costs without losing your hard-earned savings.

Title company reports Home prices higher

Buying a house in America continues to become a more expensive proposition, Chicago Title and Trust Co., the nation's leading insurer of property titles, reported in its 13th annual survey of recent home buyers.

The annual study, which analyzes home buying trends in 18 representative metropolitan housing markets nationwide, reveals that home prices continue to outpace inflation in 1988 with the average home price rising 9 percent, from $133,410 to $145,500. The average monthly mortgage payment for buyers topped $1,000 for the first time last year.

Home prices and mortgage payments were higher in the leading housing markets on the east and west coasts and lower elsewhere. However, with the exception of a few depressed housing markets in the 'oil patch' states, prices were up in all areas of the country, John Pfister, Chicago Title vice president and manager of market research, said.

Last year, the average monthly mortgage payment rose for every income buying group except those households earning $61,000 or more, the company reports. And, nationally, the average monthly payment as a percentage of family income was up from 29.3 percent to 32.8 percent, which is as high as it's been in the current business cycle.

Households earning between $51,000 and $60,000 experienced the biggest increase in their average monthly mortgage payment last year. For this buying group, the average payment rose 16.7 percent, from $891 to $1,040.

The average payment for households earning $41,000 to $50,000 was $853, and it was $761 for those earning between $31,000 and $40,000. On average, mortgage payments for buyers with household incomes below $30,000 was $690.

The average monthly mortgage payment actually declined for those earning $61,000 or more, primarily because there were fewer home purchases at the high end of the housing market last year.

"Like the bellows of an accordion that is squeezed from the outside in, the housing market in 1988 contracted towards the middle with people buying fewer expensive homes and even fewer expensive homes last year," Pfister said.

At the high end of the market, more affluent individuals apparently responded to various economic uncertainties by becoming noticeably more cautious. Less affluent buyers were discouraged by interest rates that trended higher throughout the year.

But this didn't prevent average mortgage payments from trending higher, Pfister said. Coupled with gains reported by other income groups, the average mortgage payment for all buyers was up from $939 to $1,068 last year, a gain of 7 percent.

In recent years, Chicago Title's annual study has documented the widening income gap between those who buy homes and those who do not. Last year, about one out of every three buyers had a combined family income of $61,000 and almost half earned $51,000 or more. At the low end, buyers with a combined family income of $40,000 or less accounted for only 30 percent of all home sales in metropolitan areas, and those earning less than $30,000 for 13.3 percent of all sales.

The median household income for those buying houses in the markets surveyed by Chicago Title last year was $55,200. In contrast, the median income for all households in these markets was $44,080.

Working couples have been a dominant factor in the housing market for quite some time. Nationally, 77.7 percent of couples buying homes last year were two-income households, and the percentage among first-time buyers was 85.5 percent. Among couples earning $61,000 or more, 81.9 percent were two-income families. The percentage was 79.8 percent for those earning between $41,000 and $50,000.

Former MG man featured in production

Des Plaines playwright Michael Brayndick's world premier, "In The Garden Of The Prison", is being performed at the Playwrights Center, 3716 N. Broadway through February 13. Former Morton Groveite Jeff Sanders (l) is featured in the play along with Dean Peerman. The play runs Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m. and Sundays at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $7.50 and $5 for students and seniors. Tickets are available through Ticketron and Hot Tix. For reservations call 975-7711.

"In The Garden of the Prison" consists of two new one-act plays: "The Garden" and "The Prison." These plays explore the nature of evil and the question of healing in a violent world.

"The Garden" is an intense two-man piece about the relationship between a war criminal imprisoned for life and the Jewish prison gardener who is the prisoner's only source of conversation and companionship. Gunter Max (played by Dean Peerman) is nearly blind and must depend on the gardener Hans Mendel (Jeff Sanders) to read him his mail. A letter from Gunter's granddaughter, Anna, who knows little about his crimes, provides the catalyst for an escalating battle of wits that threatens to move beyond words to violence. "The Prison" continues the story five years later and focuses on the granddaughter Anna (Jennifer Marx), a young art student in Berlin, suffering from nightmares and struggling to make sense of her family's past. Her dilemma comes to a head when her mother (Genevieve Morrill), arrives unexpectedly on the very day she has invited Hans Mendel to come talk to her about her grandfather. The cast of "The Prison" also includes Megan Warner, Curtis Osmun, Andrew Sten, and Steve Kleinedler.

Levey files petitions for Niles Library trustee

Ms. Carol Levey, a 3-year Niles resident, has announced her filing of petitions for the open Niles Library trustee position. As a public school teacher and adult educator, Ms. Levey recognizes the Niles Library as a valuable resource for students of all ages. "I remember growing up without a community library. After exhausting the public school resources, I would have to go into Chicago to find the materials I needed."

Levey has contributed her time to a variety of civic organizations including the Council for Exceptional Children and volunteering for condominium association activities where she resides. "I am an avid reader of fiction, but I frequently use the library to prepare background information for the financial planning seminars I conduct. The extensive variety of publications and services offered by the Niles Library gives me the opportunity to present current business perspectives without having to locate information through other sources."

Ms. Levey is thrilled with the extensive computer laboratory facilities at the Niles Library and feels it gives people a place to experiment with the latest technology before investing money in equipment and software. "Since computers are touching every facet of our daily lives, I think this is wonderful opportunity to have these resources available to the community to learn first hand and in a comfortable setting."

Ms. Levey is interested in becoming more involved in civic affairs and feels that her business and teaching background can contribute to serving the community as a Niles Library Trustee.

with abnormally large bodies. The Astronauts were normal people who conquered great heights through their learned skills and courage.

Judie Resnick, the second woman astronaut in space, was a mechanical engineer and a PhD. She was an accomplished classical pianist. The effort and determination to achieve success in both these areas requires interminable hours of hard work and study. How many woman mechanical engineers do you know? And how many went to get a Masters degree and then on for years more and acquired a doctorate?

We compared Resnick to Jim McMahon. We were ashamed of the comparison.

But this really isn't fair. Jim McMahon does better than most at what he has worked hard to learn. And he reached the heights Sunday and heard the cheers of the crowd.

Judie Resnick reached for the stars as only a most accomplished and special person could do. She did it without the cheers. And who can say she did not achieve her reach?

Maine Dems...

In a January 20 press conference, Supervisor-candidate Andrew Przybylo unveiled the group's platform, accusing the current Board of "waste and mismanagement."

Przybylo noted $140,000 budgeted for mental health and $110,000 for alcoholism which the Democrats charge is a "tremendous duplication of services" already existing in the northwest suburbs including programs at Lutheran General Hospital. The group also contended the current board is wasting $22,000 by printing a newsletter and spending $40,000 for bi-centennial festivities.

Unincorporated Maine Township was singled out as being shorted by the incumbents. The quality of roads and water in the unincorporated areas was mentioned in the candidates platform.

"The unincorporated areas cannot keep their toilets and facilities clean and are forced to live with substandard water," Przybylo said. "We should seek legal action against the provider of that water." In addition to seeking Lake Michigan water, the group's candidate for Highway Commissioner Angelo "Ginger" Troiani charges the existing Board has "ducked the issue of Burma Road" and that new blood is needed to make the board "work for the people there." "I promise it will be passable and useable," Troiani avowed.

Candidate Bonnie Lindquist compared the current board to a fish which has grown "and is rotting at the head." The Democrats have slated Lawrence Wagner for collector, Helen "Norma" Daniel for Clerk and John Halvorsen, Norine Murphy, and Elizabeth Hantzog for trustees in addition to Przybylo, Troiani and Lindquist. Halvorsen said "If we can't save ten percent of the budget, I'd be very surprised." Democrats contend the assessor position is unnecessary and is chiefly comprised of "filling out forms and sending them downtown." Halvorsen advocated the use of volunteers in lieu of the $14,000 assessor post.

began her opposing remarks by saying, "We had pig odor, we certainly don't want smoked pig odor." Neufel, one of the more vocal opponents complained that she had not been notified about previous hearings. Director of Community Development Charles Scheck countered, "I take full exception to what this lady said. I can guarantee we mailed letters within 150 feet. We mailed between 94-100 letters." Scheck said the letters included those to condominium-owners across the street. Village Manager Larry Artt agreed saying "all adjacent property owners were notified."

Neufel told Board Members she called two Honeybaked facilities and was told the products were smoked and glazed on premises and expressed concerns about the odor and byproducts. Landane spoke "to ease their minds as to the cleanliness of our operation. We had visitors from your health department and they said we were a textbook case, that if everyone followed our standards, there'd be no complaints."

Roni Brenner, who accompanied Health Commissioner Jim Huber on an unannounced foray to the Honeybaked facility in Rolling Meadows told the assembly the pair first "went through the dumpster" and then went inside. "It's mind-boggling how clean they are, the antiseptic to anything I expected." Huber agreed saying, "It's absolutely uncanny how clean those people are." Brenner told the trustees she had been involved in the Highland Square hearings from the beginning when the issue of food outlets vs. restaurants was raised and said, "It's an unfortunate situation. We ended up with a semantics problem."

Resident Robin Kaplan from the 7800 block of Palma Ln. expressed the frustration of the residents who felt disenfranchised because of their lack of numbers. She had brought a petition with 40 signatures to a July zoning meeting and noted there are only 10 to 12 houses immediately adjacent to the property. "Residents were promised something and now they're going against it. Twelve people equals 100 percent."

Trustee Donald Snider who has consistently voted with the residents thanked those who came to oppose the outlet. "You gave me credibility." Snider and Trustee Henry Szachowicz voted against the ham outlet.

Trustees Larry Greenberg, Dan Scanlon and Neil Cashman agreed to allow Honeybaked to move in after hearing extensive testimony from Landane regarding the company's garbage handling procedures and Honeybaked's agreement to incinerate its waste.

Niles Library Battle of the Books

The Battle of the Books is a competition sponsored by the Niles Public Library District to encourage reading among the fourth, fifth, and sixth-grade students. The program is free and the public is invited.

the bank's sponsorship of Morton Grove Days and it's contributions towards the Senior Leisure Service Program. ITT Bell and Gossett was presented with an IPRA award for it's donations enabling the purchase of playground equipment at Orleto Park, a picnic table behind Prairie View Community Center, sponsorship of Morton Grove Days and membership in the Fitness Club. Dick Bartells and Don Flowers accepted the award on behalf of ITT.

Handicapped equipment for National Park

Bid notices have been placed and specs for installation of the playground equipment are available. Completion will be in June.

Greenberg reminded citizens, "Each particular application would be selected on it's own merits. There will never be a restaurant on those premises as long as I'm a member of this board. There's not going to be a Subway outlet."

Before moving to allow the Subway use, Cashman said "The operation is great!" Attorney Jordan Kaplan said, "Subject to conditions," and the motion was seconded by Scanlon.

Landane thanked the Board and promised "I can guarantee you'll be good to the community." One unhappy woman then warned Landane, "I'm going to bring you the first rodent."

Residents to be asked about improvements

Trustee Don Snider announced a door to door survey will be conducted the week of February 18 polling residents in the area bounded by Ferris Avenue, Dempsey Street, Lincoln Avenue, and Austin Avenue about what improvements are needed. When the survey is completed the Village will apply for needed community development grants where appropriate. The trustee asked for volunteers to conduct the five to ten minute interviews.

Interested individuals should contact Charles Scheck at the Morton Grove Village Hall.

Cablevision to move

Snider also said Continental Cablevision will be moving to a larger site and increasing their staff from 1 to 18. Snider feels Morton Grove's cable service will improve as a result of this expansion.

Election update

Village Clerk Wilma West announced March 6 is the last date to register to vote in the April 4 election.

Budget meetings scheduled

1989 Budget meetings will begin February 6 at 7:30 p.m. at the Senior Center at 6101 Capulina Ave.

Members of Park Ridge V.F.W. Post 3579 Ladies Auxiliary recently visited Hines Hospital in Maywood according to Sue Buzinski, servicing wards chairman. Members who visit the hospital on a monthly basis are Josephine Straz, Mary Barthold, Shirley Coady and Dolores Killian.

They distribute toilet articles, Tee shirts, socks, playing cards, pens and stationery, utility and laundry bags crocheted and knitted lap robes for wheel chair patients in the hospital and in the extended care building. All these items are donated by the ladies auxiliary.

Mens clothing, clean and in good condition are delivered to the clothing distribution center from which patients being discharged may choose whatever they need.

the existing Trustee system. "We're interested in people who are interested in their community not people who are self interested." Alessi cited the party's motto "Good Government Through Active Community Participation" and expressed the wish to get more ethnic groups involved. Alessi was enthusiastic about Schulte's qualifications to oppose Szachowicz' bid for a second term as Trustee.

If he is elected, Schulte will be a new face on the Board of Trustees but not a new face in community affairs. Schulte was installed as the President of the Chamber of Commerce Jan. 18 and is also a Rotarian. He has been on the District 70 Board for 16 years, the past 4 as President.

Schulte, who lives on the east side of the village, was approached by Alessi in November of 1988 and encouraged to "throw in his hat." He will soon retire and wants to stay involved.

"We're faced with an aging infrastructure," said Schulte, referring to the Village's sewers, streets, sidewalks and alleys.

"There's no longer revenue-sharing and we have an aging population who have real estate tax advantages. This reduces the tax money for repairs. It's a problem that has to be addressed."

Schulte also wants to see that new residents get assimilated, get a community identity and participate in the running of government. "We need to entice and encourage young families."

the public is cordially invited to attend a brief reception and award ceremony at 7 p.m. Monday, Feb. 6. The presentation will be held in conjunction with the regularly scheduled Village Board meeting.

The Skokie Police Department was granted its accredited status on Nov. 20 at a hearing in Virginia Beach, VA. The Virginia meeting represented the culmination of a three-year self-assessment process for the department.

Skokie's Police Department is only the eighth agency in the state to be accredited and is one of the less than 100 national law enforcement departments to achieve this status.

independent candidate Monday, January 16.

Another Active Party Insider said, "Larry came out on top" of the eight applicants. He'll be a liaison between the Board and business and industry." Asked why the party failed to endorse Szachowicz, Kaplan seemed to indicate Szachowicz had forced the break. "Why was he circulating his independent petitions before the committee met?" Kaplan also cited "similar objectives and the opportunity to get an outstanding person on the Board" as additional factors in Schulte's selections. Schulte has been active in the Morton Grove Chamber of Commerce, School District 70 and the Boy Scouts.

Acknowledging that some people will see very little difference between the newborn Active Party and the defunct Action Party, Kaplan noted there will be no philosophical difference between the two but there will be different persons in the membership.

"The best soup is made up of different ingredients," said Active Party member Joe Alessi in a Jan. 24 interview.

"We're a mixture of people who are concerned, interested and dedicated to our village. We're a mixture of Republicans, Democrats and Independents, a mixture of religious and ethnic groups."

America Bank Golf Mill, has worked out a Lock Box System where bank personnel not only process utility collections but they also do the data entry work associated with water utility collections. The data is transferred from the bank computer onto a tape which is delivered to the Village Hall. After the data is loaded into the Village utility system, an edit report is generated to insure the accuracy of the data posted. The automated Lock Box increases the efficiency when the Finance Department processes water utility payments, which saves the Village about twenty hours of employee time per week. Increased administrative efficiency keeps costs down and translates into a direct savings of approximately $10,000 annually to Niles tax payers.

In a separate interview January 4, Hohns said "I want to be accessible and encourage people to be involved" in the Village. Young people are moving back into Morton Grove. Both husbands and wives work and probably don't want to come on a weekend. I thought Tuesday would be a good night."

Mayor's Night will be held the third Tuesday of every month at Thicketing Center, 6101 Capulina for interested residents who want to meet with the Mayor. The next one is February 21.

Niles residents voted to participate in use of the 911 emergency number. Mayor Blase approved a five member committee to oversee the change in emergency service. Appointed to the committee were Niles Fire Chief Harry Klawnski, former Niles Police Chief Emrikson, present Niles Police Chief Raymond Giovannelli, and Niles Trustees James Mahoney and Abe Selman.

In other business Doris Downs, secretary to former Village Manager Jack Hodge, was unanimously approved by the Board to fulfill the unexpired term of Phillip Boyle of the Planning and Zoning Committees.

The engineering firm of Donahue & Associates was approved to conduct a field investigation of the Niles Water distribution system including water flow and pressure. The Board approved a fee not to exceed $12,000 to Donahue & Associates to update the existing hydraulic situation and present future recommendations.

A resident of the area of Kedzie east of Milwaukee addressed the Board and asked for an update on the study Donahue & Associates conducted on flooding problems in this area. Keith Peck, Chief of Public Works, and Mayor Blase promised residents of the area that packets will be distributed no later than February 7 detailing Donahue's recommendations to the Village and homeowners.

The Board also approved easement acquisition for the Courtland Court sewer separation. According to Peck, "Niles has a deadline of 1990 to eliminate storm water and sanitary sewer combinations. The project will cost several million dollars. While the sewer separation is conducted, all leaks in pipes will be repaired, some manholes will be rebuilt, and illegal connections such as down spouts will be corrected. "The area was not built according to today's standards," Peck continued. "Water use should be 150 gallons per residence per day and 800 gallons a day are used by each residence."

Trustee James Mahoney announced the total ridership on the Niles Courtesy Buses for 1988 was 434,695. This represents a decline of 20,000 riders from a record year in 1987. Nortran buses are experiencing a modest increase in ridership.

The next regular scheduled meeting is February 28.

The importance of touch

A caring touch can work wonders for the young and the old alike. Find out how a gift of touch can increase a child's development and improve the health of the elderly in a panel discussion at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 7, in room 1540 at Oakton Community College, 1600 E. Golf Road, Des Plaines.

The free program features discussion on "The Benefits of Touch During Infancy" and "Caring Touch for the Elderly".

Gina Ender, an Infant Massage instructor in Evanston, will give information on how touch adds to the personal growth of infants and their bonding ability. Mary McGuire, a registered nurse and director of The Focusing Institute (Chicago) and Mary McDonald, Research Project coordinator, Council for Jewish Elderly (Evanston), will demonstrate how caring touch promotes the well being of the frail elderly.
