Maine Dems positive they can save township money

by Nancy Keraminas

The Maine Township Democratic slate called a March 3 press conference to establish in the minds of the voters that they are running a positive campaign against the Republican incumbents on the Township Board. Election of a Maine Township Supervisory Board will be part of the April 4 ballot.

"We're trying to show where we can save some money," said Supervisor candidate Andrew Przybylo. Zeroing in on the Park District will run Ballard operations

The Niles Park District will have increased operational responsibility at its Ballard School facility, having reached an agreement with the Village of Niles, which owns the property. The Park District will control day to day operation of the facility, while the Village will pay the utilities and foot the bill for large repair costs. The Park District will assume the cost of renovations to the interior.

Parking, flooding, traffic are main concerns for Ballard-Greenwood

Zoners delay new shopping center petition

by Nancy Keraminas

Citizen input factored into the three decisions made by the Niles Zoning Board in their regular meeting March 6. The Commission ordered a homeowner to roll back his plans and deferred two zoning requests, including that for the Ballard-Greenwood Shopping Center proposed by the builder of Civic Center Plaza at Oakton Avenue and Waukegan Road.

Those in the audience waited as long as two and a half hours to see the system work in their behalf. Gerald Biehl, whose proposed purchase of eight and a half acres on the southwest corner of Ballard Road and Greenwood

Street hinges on the decision of the Zoning Commission, appeared along with his architect to discuss the shopping center he wants to build on vacant land north of the Dempster Plaza Shopping Center. Biehl revealed plans for a 92,000 square-foot building where the majority tenants will be a grocery store and the remaining 20,000 square feet will be leased to small retail shops. The developer declined to name the prospective anchor, saying only he had a letter of intent from a grocer. In addition, a 115 seat restaurant is slated for a separate

by Bud Besser

It is expected Maine North High School and its 48 acre campus will be sold by this summer.

The District Three headquarters of the Illinois State Police may have a new home in the school building and Lexington Developers may have 24 acres of land for developing. They could build multiple dwellings on 24 acres of the property with units selling for $100,000 to $150,000.

It reads like a pretty good deal for Lexington as well as the state police agency. Lexington has agreed to pay $7.75 million to District 207 for the 48 acre property and school building and then sell approximately half the acreage and the building for $5.75 million over the next three years to the state police. It would mean Lexington would actually be paying about $2 million for 24 acres or a cost of $83,333 per acre.

In 1969, the original building cost $8.5 million plus the land cost. In 1975, an addition to the building cost another $6.5 million. Since 1981, the closed school has cost approximately $600,000 per year to maintain. The total cost is $18 million plus land plus maintenance for the past 20 years less the rentals the district received.

At the time the new building was being planned, former board member Walter Craigie was elated at the "bargain" the district was receiving. The

by Maureen F. Deasy

In a combined effort, Niles and Park Ridge police blocked off Oakton between Prospect and Cumberland due to an electrical pole fire on Friday, March 3. According to Frank Schmid, top lineman for Commonwealth Edison, the fire was reported by a Niles policeman at about 7:30 a.m. A breaker was knocked out at the switching station for about 20 minutes which blacked out a small section of Park Ridge and the eastern part of Des Plaines from about 7:55 until 11:20 a.m. according to company spokesman Jose Andrade.

"When it rained the water froze around the insulator and no current could escape. That ignited the pole," said Andrade. According to Andrade this type of thing does not happen very often. Andrade also said that there was no damage to residential property. After the initial blackout, customers experienced no other problems.

Schmid said that the line carried 33 thousand volts which had

Traffic deaths up in Niles

by Maureen F. Deasy

"In past years we've only had one or two traffic deaths a year, last year there were at least 12," said Sgt. John Katsoulios of the Niles Police Department. That amounts to more than a 100 percent increase over past years. In comparison, the 6.2 percent increase in Cook County traffic deaths seems minute.

Statewide, traffic deaths rose 11.5 percent last year, an increase from 1,656 in 1987 to 1,847 in 1988, said Chris Schwarberg, an Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) spokesman. The number of deaths in Cook County rose from 552 to 586 which is a 6.2 percent increase. Cook County has the highest number of traffic deaths in the state, well ahead of Lake County that had 83 deaths. Lake County suffered a 10.7 percent increase in the past

Flu season in schools passes peak but leaves pox

by Maureen F. Deasy
 "This year is no worse than any other year," said a representative at Nelson School when asked about absenteeism. The cold and flu season is upon us but it was school as usual for students at area grade schools. Although many children were affected, no school activities were canceled.

Pat Steinman, health aide at Hynes school, said that there were up to 45 percent of the children absent for about a week during the peak of the flu season about three weeks ago. The children were ill with a variety of flu complaints including nausea, vomiting, fever and headaches. Only a few were infected with the chicken pox.

Park View School nurse, Marilyn Beck stated that absenteeism was "quite high" about three weeks ago when approximately 80 children were called in sick by their parents.

At Culver school, school nurse Gorgene Bernd said that the average length of time that the students at her school were absent was about one week. She advised that parents take their children to the family doctor to help prevent any complications.

"Classes were disrupted to some extent but lessons were taught according to schedule," Lynette Smith, first grade teacher, said. Smith who teaches at Hynes school, said that there were children absent from her class every day for a two-week period. Most classwork was made up at home except for some lectures which were presented in a condensed format when the children returned to school. Homework assignments were picked up by siblings or friends, and delivered to the child at home so that they would not fall too far behind.

St. Isaac Jogues school, 8101 Golf Rd., has not been affected. According to the school secretary "call-ins haven't been excessive." There had only been about five to six children absent each day.

The children were ill with a variety of flu complaints including nausea, vomiting, fever and headaches.

All of the schools that The Bugle contacted could not foresee a school closing because of absences. One school secretary, who requested to remain anonymous, said that the reason schools can continue to stay open is because the parents with sick children are asking for things for their children's homework because they are not really that sick, they just have pox marks on them. They are driving their parents crazy." But at St. John Brebeuf school 8301 Harlem Ave. has been hit hard. School secretary Kathy Lesniak said that at its peak, 66 children had been absent with the flu on one day. Now 16 children have chicken pox. Nine of the infected children are in the same first grade classroom. "It's like an epidemic," Lesniak said. In the first grade room where it started, teacher Sandie Linquist said she had to make adjustments, "it's easy but it's hard" she said. Most of what she has been teaching

Flu shots recommended by LGH physicians

Americans lose over 15 million work days each year as a result of viral respiratory illnesses such as influenza. To help ease this situation, flu shots for this year's predicted strain of influenza are recommended by physicians at Lutheran General Hospital-Park Ridge. Immunization against influenza is especially important for adults or children with cardiopulmonary problems, residents of nursing homes and other chronic-care facilities and people over 65 with diabetes or other metabolic disease. Medical personnel and other people who deliver essential community services with exposure to the public also may benefit from flu shots. Winter months are considered the peak times for influenza, but cases may occur as early as October and as late as April. Getting immunized now allows time for the antibodies against influenza to develop before the peak time hits.

"Every 10 to 12 years, a completely new form of flu may enter the country," explains Murray Batt, M.D., director, Section of Infectious Disease. "In addition, every year there is some variation in the flu virus. Previous flu victims do not have full immunity to the new varieties of influenza and are susceptible to the new strains."

Influenza is usually an acute illness whose symptoms include fever, chills, sore throat, dry cough, runny nose and aching in the muscles of the back, arms and legs. It may be associated with secondary infections such as pneumonia.

Flu shots are available at no cost through many public health facilities. They are also available through physicians' offices and at Nessel Health Center. For more information about the shots available through Lutheran General Hospital-Park Ridge, call the Doctor Referral and Information Center at 696-6010.

"Pox" vobiscum (and also with us)

by Nancy Keraminas

Ah, but 'peace' is a relative term in a house with the chicken pox. And homes in the area are having their routines interrupted by the current onslaught. Unofficial tallies by Lutheran General's Telemed medical information service are that tape number 229 is a popular request these days. A first grade classroom at St. John Brebeuf in Niles had a 50 percent absentee list recently. Primary classrooms are being emptied and parents are stockpiling Aveeno Bath Compound and Caladryl. In more organically-minded sickrooms, oatmeal and baking soda are the generic solutions for the great itch.

Please excuse the hyperbole. My objectivity has been impaired by the inhalation of a week's worth of calamine lotion. Nine days of transforming angry, red dots into insipid, pink, chalky blobs will do that to any rational adult. One of the first grade teachers at Viola Nelson School in Niles asserts that if and when her husband gets chicken pox, she will send him home to his mother. Reactions vary: some parents deliberately try to expose their children so as not to be inconvenienced later, while others avoid exposure, ahem, like the plague. Whatever measures are taken, most people eventually get chicken pox. Research is underway on a chicken pox vaccine but, in the meantime, concerned parents all over are choreographing an unusual ballet in sick rooms and bathrooms: Neck: dab, dab; shoulders: dab, dab; chest: dab, dab; knees: dab, dab; turn, two, three; back: dab, dab.

The thrice-daily performance of the pox de deux avec calamine along with frequent soakings in a baking soda or oatmeal-laden bath are necessary to relieve the itch. A doctor should be contacted if there is a high fever. And this is no kidding: Children under the age of 16 with chicken pox should not be given aspirin.

By dialing Telemed at 696-5525 and asking for tape number 229, the caller receives an excellent description of how to tell if those blistery, pimply things that start appearing on the neck, chest and back are chicken pox, how to treat them and how long a chicken pox sufferer must be isolated.

But Telemed doesn't tell you who is the real chicken pox sufferer: the one with all the spots or the one who is seeing them. Pox vobiscum.

GOP says Maine Township building used to the max

by Nancy Keraminas

"I stick very close to the facts," said Maine Township Supervisor Joan Hall. Maine Township officials and administrators disagree with the assertion by Democratic challengers that the township's headquarters at 1700 Ballard Road in Park Ridge is being underutilized.

Hall, a Republican, told The Bugle in a March 6 interview that until the Democrats were slated, "they had never attended a township meeting. They don't understand how a township operates." Hall continued. "We're using it

Bus barn plans shelved until environmental impact study

by Maureen F. Deasy

Niles Township High School Board postponed a plan to build a school bus garage on District 219 property near Niles West High School. The facility which would house 80 buses, would be located just south of the Niles West football field, on Oakton Street at the Eden's Expressway.

The original proposal included a 8,400 square-foot bus storage facility was determined to be inadequate after consultation with Leon Robinson, who owns Maierhofer Bus Co. and is the district's current transportation contractor. The board was scheduled to vote to approve architectural plans for the bus facility, but an amendment put forth by Board Member Karen Honig sought to postpone the vote until an environmental impact study was completed. Tax reassessment in Niles

In 1989, owners of real estate or tenants who pay their tax bill directly will be undergoing the Cook County Assessor's Quadrant Reassessment.

Since the deadline for filing a complaint with the Assessor is soon after the receipt of the new assessment notice, the Niles Chamber of Commerce will be sponsoring a luncheon seminar with speakers who will address the topic. The seminar will feature both an attorney who specializes in protesting real estate tax assessments as well as a representative from Cook County Assessor's Office. The luncheon will be held at Shane's Restaurant, 9101 Waukegan Rd. in Morton Grove on March 30.

The owners of property in Maine Township (west of Harlem Avenue) and Niles Township (east of Harlem Avenue) will receive the postcard Notices of Re-assessed Valuations at an undetermined time in early 1989.

Increase in Niles cab rates

The Niles Flash Cab Association received permission from the village board to raise its rates. The board unanimously approved the new rates which will be the first increase in three years. The rates will now be $1.10 for start-up, $1.30 per mile $16 per Continued on Page 31

A developer who purchased the former Maine North building and campus last June will probably build luxury condominiums and town homes on half of the 48-acre site and has entered into a preliminary agreement to sell the state of Illinois for $5.75 million. Lexington Development Corporation, an Arlington Heights firm, bought Maine North at auction for $7.75 million. A proposed real estate development on the unincorporated land, near Des Plaines, could be a bonanza for the company, which has developments Chicagoland-wide. The sale of the school building to the state is contingent upon the results of an environmental report. Maine North, which was constructed on a former landfill at 9511 Harrison St., was completed in 1975. The school was closed six years later due to declining enrollment and had cost District 207 an estimated $600 thousand annually to maintain from its closure to its sale in 1988. The building had been leased to a mortuary college, a minor league football team and used as a movie set for "The Breakfast Club".

According to Bob Fletcher, a spokesman for the Illinois State Police, the pending sale will be "terrific for the department" as Continued on Page 39

MNASR park playground proposal

The Maine Niles Association of Special Recreation (MNASAR) is hoping to use a $30,000 grant to develop a playground tailored for handicapped residents at National Park, 9325 Marion St. in Morton Grove. MNASAR works to provide facilities and other services for handicapped people within the district. Niles presently has a park tailored for handicapped people at the Administration Office at 7877 Milwaukee Ave. Plans call for replacing the existing "outdated" playground equipment with new equipment by June according to Sandra McIntosh, executive secretary for the Morton Grove Park District. "All equipment is accessible by ramps. The proposal includes a stainless steel slide, a Tic-Tac-Toe game that can be played with hands or feet, a cork climber, a fire pole and a raised sandbox." All of the equipment will include handrails, curbs and other safety items to remove the possibility of injury and falls. McIntosh added that it is difficult to describe the concept without illustration.

There is a field house at the park where the Maine Niles Association would periodically meet. Continued on Page 39

Senior seminar addresses neurological health

The Social Work Department of Northwestern Memorial Hospital will present a free seminar for older adults on Tuesday, March 28.

The seminar is the first in a two-part series covering neurological health for older adults, and will be held in the first floor staff room of Wesley Pavilion, 250 East Superior Street, from 1:30-3:30 p.m.

Part two in the neurology series, scheduled for Tuesday, April 25, will explore "The Myths of Senility."

The seminars are part of an ongoing series focusing on the health concerns of people aged 60 and over. Lectures are held the fourth Tuesday of each month.

Upcoming seminars will explore dental health, women's health, kidney disease, and nutrition. For more information, call 908-2060.

Governor's Senior Day

In celebration of Older Americans Month, May, the Illinois Department on Aging will host the fifth Annual Governor's Senior Day on Tuesday, May 16, from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the State of Illinois Center, 100 W. Randolph.

Hundreds of seniors are expected to be there for the activities, which include state exhibits on the atrium level and a wide range of entertainment in the auditorium.

The Mistress of Ceremonies for the morning will be Linda Yu, of WLS-TV, Channel 7 News. Attractions will include young dancers, a senior jazz group and the Chicago Housing Authority chorus. Lunch will be served on the concourse level and will be provided by the Polk Brothers Senior Welfare Foundation.

During the afternoon, Department on Aging Director Janet Otwell will be presenting the "Governor's Awards for Unique Achievement" to several individuals, followed by a prize drawing for a number of free weekends at Chicago hotels and free airline tickets donated by Southwest Airlines.

Mt. Sinai free prostate screenings

Most men who get prostate cancer are 55 years of age or older, and the risk increases with age. Rates are higher among blacks than whites, and more married men than single develop it.

Your doctor can detect almost all prostate cancer during a digital rectal exam. This should be part of your regular health check up every year after the age of 50.

Currently up to 70 percent of patients are surviving five years after treatment of localized prostate cancer. Because it is important that this form of cancer is discovered early, we encourage you to take advantage of this free screening. This free screening is available on March 23, from 5 to 8:30 p.m. or during regular office hours. Mt. Sinai Hospital North is located at 2451 W. Howard St.

Senior of the month named

The Presbyterian Home in Evanston gets a visit from an angel every Friday, her name is Alice Pstrzoch. Mrs. Pstrzoch has been selected as Morton Grove's "Senior of the Month" for her contributions to the senior citizen community.

For the last 15 years, Alice has visited, cheered, loved, cried with, and given herself to the residents at the home. Her involvement began when the Morton Grove Community Church asked her to join in their ministry in the infirmary of the Presbyterian Home. This voluntary service has given Alice the opportunity to fulfill her commitment to do God's work and love people. Her personal and heart-felt slogan, "God be with you" is no cliché, but a sincere exhortation which she proclaims to nearly everyone she meets.

Additionally, Alice has served with the "People Need People" ministry of the St. Martha's Church. This work also gives her the chance to comfort and uplift the sick and discouraged.

Alice Pstrzoch

Alice's husband of 51 years, John, is not left out of the picture. He has assisted the village and park district as a bus driver, Rules of the Road instructor, and bingo caller. Of him, Alice fondly says, "God love him, he's been so good to me."

Although her modesty made her somewhat reluctant to be named "Senior of the Month", Alice hopes the recognition will prompt others to realize that with a little time and an open heart, more people can make an impact on the lives of those with special needs.

Volunteer opportunities
Opportunities abound for those in Morton Grove who are interested in volunteer adventures. Additionally, the village refers servers to those in need. Servers are paid for services rendered. Positions such as friendly visitors, housekeepers, transporters, meals-on-wheels deliverers, and shoppers are needed by homebound or disabled Morton Grove neighbors. Those interested should contact the Morton Grove Senior Hot Line at 470-5223.

Low rates make State Farm homeowners insurance a good buy.

Support for children of elderly

Barbara Fox, Attorney at Law, will discuss durable power of attorney; power of attorney for health care; revocable trusts and other pertinent issues; from 7:15 to 8:45 p.m. on Thursday, March 16, at the Caring and Sharing Program at Lieberman Geriatric Health Centre, 9700 Gross Point Road, Skokie.

The Caring and Sharing Program is sponsored by the Council for Jewish Elderly, and is an ongoing group that meets the third Thursday of each month at the Lieberman Geriatric Health Centre, 9700 Gross Point Road, Skokie, from 7:15 to 8:45 p.m. There is a $5 fee for each session. The group is for people caring for an elderly family member or friend.

The focus of the group is to share concerns such as some of the following: "What should I do when my mother is confused? How can I get help to care for my father while I'm at work? How much time should I spend taking care of my parents when I have my own family?"

For more information and registration, call Audrey Cantor, or Judy Mitchell at 570-7000.

Legal service course for seniors

The Gerontology Department of Montay College will present a free, one-session enrichment workshop of special interest to area senior citizens and professionals on "Knowing the Law: Legal Issues of Concern to Senior Citizens." The course will be presented on Wednesday, March 15, at 2 p.m. on the college campus, 3750 W. Peterson in Chicago. Free parking is available on campus.

Instructor Dana Ferdinand, a paralegal of the United Charities Legal Aid Bureau, will conduct a discussion of legal issues including: social security, Medicare, will, landlord-tenant problems, and other topics, followed by a question and answer period. The course is free and all are welcome. For further information on registration, call Doris Rabinovitz at 539-1933.

A personal and private session with a trained counselor can be reserved any Monday, Wednesday, or Friday by calling the Morton Grove Senior Hot Line at 470-5223.

MEDICARE FORUM
The new Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act is receiving mixed reviews from seniors, care providers, and legislators. In order to best sort through the advantages and disadvantages of this law and to realize its actual intent, the Morton Grove Park District and the Village of Morton Grove are planning a panel forum. At issue will be the pros and cons of the act, as well as ways to seek its enhancement. All those who are concerned with the Medicare legislation may attend a forum scheduled for 1 p.m. on Tuesday, March 28, at the Prairie View Community Center.

ISSUES IN THE NEWS
Every Thursday morning, a group of senior adults meet to "rap" about any and every national or world "Issue in the News". Anyone watching the session knows that these folks are real fans of the media and very concerned about world events. Issues in the News meets every Thursday from 9:30-11:30 a.m. at the Prairie View Community Center. It is in its sixth session and continues its wonderful success. Each session meets for eight weeks and the next one begins April 6. For more information, call Ronee Brenner at The Center, at 965-7447, or stop at the registration desk at Prairie View.

For more information about these senior services and recreation programs, call the Morton Grove Senior Hot Line at 470-5223, or the Prairie View Community Center at 965-7447. HOW MUCH DID YOU LOSE LAST YEAR ON NON-DEDUCTIBLE INTEREST?

UNLESS YOU ACT QUICKLY, THIS YEAR COULD BE WORSE.

As you know, Congress is steadily phasing out interest deductions on most consumer loans. An exception is a loan secured by your home.* Which makes it a great time to apply for a home equity line of credit at First of America Bank.

A Special 20% Interest Rebate Offer.
When you sign up for a home equity line by May 31, 1989, you'll receive a 20% rebate for all interest you pay this year. And we'll even waive all closing costs—an additional savings of up to $400. But you must act by May 31.

Put The Deduction Back In Your Interest.
The Federal tax laws allow you to use your home equity line of credit for any purpose you want. And in most cases, on loans all the way up to $100,000, you still get to take a 100 percent tax deduction.

Take Advantage Of Your Tax Break.
Get your tax break with our home equity line of credit. You can use this line instead of other loans that are no longer fully tax deductible. You can also access your credit line simply by writing a check. And the payment schedule is flexible, too.

However, using the equity in your home is not something you should do without careful consideration. Furthermore, there are some items—like normal living expenses, for example—for which a home equity line of credit is definitely not appropriate. So stop by your nearest First of America office, or call 1-800-544-6155 for more information. We'll provide you with a free information brochure and an application. We'll also help you determine if a home equity line of credit is right for you. In no time, we can have your good credit working in your favor.
