Oakton purchases Niles East from District 219

by Maureen F. Deasy
In a landmark joint meeting on Tuesday April 18, the boards of District 219 and 535 met to approve an intergovernmental Agreement in which the building, formerly known as Niles East was sold to Oakton Community College at a cost of $5 million.

Transfer of the 21 acre property is contingent on the approval of the Illinois Community College Board and the Illinois Board of Higher Education. According to the Illinois Conveyancing Act, such a sale or exchange of real estate can be authorized without public sale, if both parties have agreed on the terms of the sale. Approval is expected by August 1. The $5 million will be paid in 10 installments of half a million each. The first $500,000 will be

Incumbents bid sad farewell to Marusek and Engelman

New people, new ideas for Niles Parks

by Nancy Keramias
New members of the Niles Park District board were sworn in Tuesday, April 18 at the regular board meeting. At times, the inauguration rituals resembled an awkward, first date as the incumbent board extended a welcome to new members Carol Panek and Bernard Skaja, III, while bidding a sad farewell to commissioner Mary Marusek and outgoing commissioner Val Engelman. Members did not conceal their fondness for Engelman, noting he'd had perfect attendance as an interested citizen at park board meetings for six years prior to being appointed to fill out a vacant term. "He has sure worked," said Board President Elaine Heinen.

by Bud Besser
We were told last week Niles Library district voters received information before the March, 1988 vote which wasn't true. News from the district reported taxpayers would be paying a $12 tax increase per average residential unit. It now is reported the figure is $24 which is double the number reported by library representatives. According to library board members the estimate of $12 was based on the value of apartment units in the community, not the average residential unit. Subsequently, the incorrect figure handed out before the referendum enabled the district to receive twice the amount of money it anticipated.

While we're pleased the library people no longer have to wear sackcloth in running a cupboard's bare operation, nevertheless, it is one more example of the inability of government agencies spending taxpayers' money in an up-front manner. Such mistakes would not be tolerated in the private sector. But in public districts, the overexpenditure of money becomes a way of life.

Burma repairs remain unsolved

Burma Road in unincorporated Maine Township looks as if it has survived a war. In fact, the roadway was part of the battle cry of Maine Township Democrats, when they challenged the Republican dominated Township administration in the April 4 election. Republican Joan Hall narrowly beat Andrew Przybylo, running as the Democratic candidate for Township Supervisor. Now that the campaign battle dust has settled, Burma Road still has cannon-ball sized potholes and the issue of who has the responsibility for repairing the thoroughfare remains. Howard Nerijs, who spearheaded the war on Burma Road's ravaged paving, has vowed to continue the fight on behalf of the 55 property owners affected by the paving conditions. Fifteen of the property owners.

Lincolnwood Library trustees

Newly elected Lincolnwood Library trustee Ray Gilbert and reelected trustees Madeleine Grant and Marsha Hawley were sworn in at the Board of Library Trustees monthly meeting April 12. Outgoing board secretary Barbara Balbirer officiated. Gilbert will serve a two-year term and the incumbents will serve for six years.

At the meeting officers were elected to serve for two years. Madeleine Grant was again elected president, a post she has held since the Library was established eleven years ago. Sheri B. Doniger was elected secretary and Marsha Hawley was reelected to the post of treasurer. Terry Miller was appointed library representative.

High School hangouts: Social contact for teens from the '20s to the '80s

"Kids want to be where their friends are," says Debbie Dolinsky of the B'Nai Brith Youth Organization. "High school hangouts provide this social contact."

Do you remember your highschool hangout? You know, that very special meeting place located just around the corner; the place that offered the teenage essentials: food, music, conversation, and -best of all - the opportunity for romance.

Teen hangouts have existed in the Chicago area for a very long time. Mark Wall, a family therapist with the Village of Schaumburg, notes two popular types of hangouts: the 'activity oriented' hangout such as the video arcade or bowling alley and the 'conversational hangout' such as the restaurant or shopping area.

"Walking was the favorite teen transportation, but for a three cent ticket a student could hop a street car over to Powers."

Ice cream parlors have always made popular conversational hangouts. Jack, who attended Rock Island High School back in 1919, remembers Nelson's Ice Cream Parlor:

"The ice cream was real soft," he recalls, "a real big cone...people would line up outside...an ice cream cost only about a nickel back then." As Jack speaks he half shuts his eyes and begins to breathe deeply—as if trying to recapture the smell of the chocolate ice cream back at Nelson's.

Sports legends such as Babe Ruth and Red Grange dominated the headlines of the 1920s and energetic teenagers (like Marie, from St. Mary's class of 1929) found Garfield Park in Chicago a favorite place to swim, play tennis, and sun tan.

According to Marie, the sweet-toothed kids of this decade went to Powers Ice Cream Parlor on Madison and Crawford.

"The kids from McKinley High, Providence High, and Lucy Flower High went to Powers," states Marie. "Our parents didn't mind us going to Powers because Powers was just a nice place—walking was the favorite teen transportation, but for a three cent ticket a student could hop a street car over to Powers."

Years later Chicagoland teens still retained their sweet tooth. Fran (Tuley High Class of 1946) and her peers spent many of their teen afternoons at a small, family-owned ice cream parlor located on Western and North Avenue.

"We'd go there after school and have the best ice cream." insists Fran: "This ice cream parlor was unique. You just don't find ice cream parlors that just serve ice cream these days."

"Hop Cat" Bill, from St. Mel's Class of 1948, remembers Chicago's Alamo Sweetshop, located next to two movie theaters—the Famous Theater and the Alamo Theater.

States Bill emphatically: "The Alamo Sweet Shop had the best popcorn in the world...only 25 cents for a great, big, huge box!"

The students at St. Mel's also frequented Ted's Ice Cream Parlor located on Lawndale, where a quarter in the juke box bought three songs and a dime bought one song and a pocket full of change would keep the music of the Mills Brothers and Benny Goodman going for hours. According to Bill, however, "no 'dead-heads' were allowed."

"Girls, cars, football games, and girls," were the major topics of conversation among Jim and his friends at the Candy Castle.

"Kids in my high school days led a simple life...today there exists more pressure for teenagers to succeed, to do better, to show off."

Jim, a 1952 Downers Grove North Graduate, describes this ice cream parlor and soda fountain as: "a place where all the kids went everyday after school...a place very, very much like the one on the television show 'Happy Days'."

Jim now occupies the opposite side of the counter as a manager at Peterson's Ice Cream Parlor in Oak Park. Although Peterson's is not a teenage hangout, kids from such high schools as Oak Park, Fenwick, and Trinity consider it a favorite night spot—perfect for after games, plays, and dances.

In trying to sum up the generations, Jim states: "Kids in my high school days..."

Niles Township elected officials

On April 10, the Niles Township elected officials were sworn in by Judge Harvey Schwartz at the regular semi-monthly meeting at the Edward A. Niles principal elected Hawthorn Woods mayor

by Sheilya Hackett

Niles principal Glenn Grieshaber is seeing life from both sides of the table. As head of the Niles south elementary school, 6935 Touhy Ave. he answers to an elected school board, but as newly elected president of the Lake county village of Hawthorn Woods, he'll influence municipal employees in his own jurisdiction. But Grieshaber, 34, emphasizes "My job (as principal) come first...it is my livelihood, my primary responsibility, my first interest." His post as President is non-salaried; Hawthorn Woods has a village administrator. The northwest municipality, population 3638, has nine employees, mostly police.

Grieshaber doesn't view his new job in terms of one man rule, but hopes to work with the six man board of trustees to arrive at collective decisions. He said he intends to do a lot of delegating in the village position. His work as principal involves at least two night meetings a week, but he points out that village trustees have more flexible schedules and will re-arrange their to accommodate his.

The Principal's innovations at the Niles school, in the three years he's served, include introducing a new Math lab and establishing a program for after school care for students with working parents.

Arson suspected in MG forest fire

by Mike Spina

MG Fire Lieutenant John Brendel, a state arson investigator said a fire which consumed more than half of a bridge in Line Woods in Morton Grove appeared to have been intentionally set.

Morton Grove firefighters responded to the blaze about 2 a.m. on Saturday, April 15. The bridge was used as part of a network of horse trails through the area. The location of the fire posed an extinguishing problem for the firefighters because the hydrants were too far from the bridge and the engine would have become imbedded in the mud if it neared the fire.

Lt. Brendel directed his engine company to dismantle the bridge using chainsaws, axes and sledge hammers. The smoldering debris was then soaked in the river.

"This is not the first time," Brendel said, "that we've responded to the forest preserve because of fires that were purposely

Revenues to offset increased budget

A projected four percent increase in sales tax revenues will help offset the eight percent increase in the Niles Village 1989-90 budget. Other than Park District Board President Elaine Heinen, there were no Niles residents in attendance at the public budget hearing held Monday April 17 according to Director of Finance, Gary Karshna.

Karshna also cited anticipated revenue increases from the Pace bus system, investment income, police fines and tickets. An increase in property tax revenue as a result of the 1990 Quadrennial reassessment will not be realized until fiscal year 1990-91.

Dist. 219 to sell bus fleet

Niles Township High School District 219 recently approved the seeking of bids for the district's in-house bus fleet. Township elimination of the fleet next year will result in lost jobs for more than a dozen of the district's part-time bus drivers. John Nix, Director of Building and Grounds for District 219, said that the drivers are not regular district employees, but that some are full time fire, police, and village employees.

Leon Robinson, owner of Maierhofer Bus Co., is the contractor who runs the school district's regular bus routes. He is seen as a potential buyer of the fleet and would need drivers. Nix said "Bus drivers are hard to

The case of a Des Plaines woman who in January was charged by police with Driving Under the Influence (DUI) after an accident at 7616 Oakton St. was dismissed on a technicality in Park Ridge Misdemeanor court April 12.

Judge Earl Hoffenberg ruled after a motion by the defendant's lawyer, citing the Supreme Court of Illinois, Chapter 1, 10 A, Rule #504, requiring a court hearing no sooner than 14 days, but no longer than 49 days after an arrest, whenever practicable. The original court date was March 8, but this date was later determined to conflict with a judicial meeting and the case was continued to April 12, thus carrying the case well beyond the requisite time limit.

Lisa Howard, spokesperson for the State's Attorney's office, prosecutor, said the case is under review to determine if anything can be done about the decision and possibly to appeal.

Positive parenting skills lecture

Children's Memorial Medical Center is sponsoring a community lecture entitled, "Turning Wrongs into Rights: Positive Discipline for Pre-Schoolers" on Thursday, May 4 from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Guest speaker is Victoria Lavigne, PhD, psychologist and co-founder of Tuesday's Child, an early intervention project to improve parent/child relationships. Lecture topics include power struggles between parents and pre-schoolers, how to handle temper tantrums and when your child says "no".

A question and answer session will follow the lecture. Fee is $5 and registration is required. Please call KIDSDOC 543-7362 to reserve your space.

Skokie Library Indian Jewelry speaker

On April 24 at 10:30 a.m. Chaim Langert will present a slide talk entitled Peacock and Torah: The Saga of Cochin Jewry in India. "There are not many Cochin Indian Jews left," Langert said. "The majority, about 5,000, live in Israel. Only about 50 still live in southwest India."

Langert has done extensive research on the Cochin community beginning with a Fulbright Summer Seminar in India. He has developed the only existing photo archive on this dwindling population. He is also working to encourage the establishment of a museum on Cochin Jewry in India.

"One of the most remarkable things is the fact that this population never knew prejudice, the history of Jewish oppression is completely foreign to them. Since Hinduism encourages religious tolerance, the Jewish community in this corner of the world flourished for many, many centuries," Langert said.

Admission is free. The Library is located at 5215 Oakton st. in Skokie.

Lay person nominee of the year

Thursday, April 27, has been officially declared "YMCA Volunteer Recognition Day" by the State of Illinois. The Young Men's Christian Association is an international movement with over 140 years of history rich in volunteer service and volunteer impact.

Currently in the United States, many thousands of men, women, and children are involved as volunteers serving in various capacities: members of the board and committees, program instructors and program aides, clerical support, maintenance support, youth sports leagues coaches and officials...the list of their contributions goes on. These people are making a positive difference in their communities and enhancing the lives of the people served by the YMCA.

In recognition and appreciation of all of the hours of service given to us by these special people, the Leaning Tower YMCA salutes all of its volunteers.

Bill Brock was chosen by Program Committee of the Leaning Tower YMCA as Volunteer of the Year for 1989. Brock has volunteered his services for 16 years on Monday and Wednesday nights teaching swimming. In addition, he has served on the Program Committee for six years, and Aquatic Subcommittee for five years. He often gives personal attention to those who need individual help in diving and swimming. Volunteers like Brock are the backbone of the YMCA.

Holy Family Sisters founder beatification

The journals of history tell stories of hundreds of men and women who have made an impact on the lives of people and, through their contributions to society, shape the course of history. These people have a special gift, a charisma that attracts and influences others to pursue similar values and ideals.

The Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth share their story of deep faith and trust in God, pioneered unknown paths that led to the foundation of their group of women religious in the Catholic Church. Since the establishment of the order in Rome in 1875, thousands of women throughout the world have embraced the spiritual ideals of Frances Siedliska through lives of dedicated service in health care, education, social work, parish ministry and retreat work.

On April 23, the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth throughout the world will rejoice as Pope John II proclaims Frances Siedliska "Blessed" during a special Mass of beatification at St. Peter's Basilica in Rome. Following church tradition, the beatification of someone who has died is a public acknowledgement of the holiness of life of the individual. This testimony is made following years of investigating the person's life.

Beatification is a step toward canonization, the proclamation of a person as saint in the Catholic Church.

Better mothering lecture

Lecture/Discussion for parents of young children will take place on April 27 Thursday evening, from 7:30-9:30 p.m. at the North Shore Hilton, Golf at Skokie Blvd. in Skokie.

The guest speaker is Janet Penley, developer of a new and innovative seminar for mothers, M.O.M.S. (Mothers of Many Styles), a personalized guide to better mothering. With numerous presentation and management training seminars to her credit, Penley combines an MBA and 10 years of communications consulting with a BA in psychology and experience in social service.

Today's mothers are at high risk for overcommitment and burnout. Demands on our lives are at a peak, and contemporary expectations of success are often conflicting and unrealistic. We strive to be perfect and raise close-to-perfect children. Juggling both family and outside commitments, we may exhaust ourselves by trying to be all things to all people. Setting priorities isn't working. Time management is not the answer. What is the next step? Janet Penley feels the key is discovering the uniqueness of your personality. She will address the fundamental challenge and importance of finding your own personal style in mothering and the benefits to you and your children.

Reservations are necessary at $8 per person and $14 per couple. Please call the Parents Resource Network at 675-3555.

Lincolnwood Library Literary Festival

If variety is the spice of life, this year's Literary Festival at the Lincolnwood Library promises to be the spiciest! Featured this year will be local suspense writer Arthur Maling, acclaimed novelist and short story writer Joanne Greenberg, and first-time novelist Karleen Koen. The festival will be held at the Library April 30 at 1 p.m.

Beginning with individual readings by each of the authors, the formal program concludes with the Authors' Forum—a panel discussion of questions from the audience. Robert Cromie, a former Chicago Tribune book editor and talk show host for WGN and WTTW, will moderate. A reception sponsored by the Friends of the Lincolnwood Library will follow the forum. The authors will be available to sign autographs and festival participants are encouraged to take this opportunity to meet and talk with the authors.

"This year's festival really offers something for everyone," said library Director Cynthia Josephs. "With Maling's nitty gritty suspense novels, Greenberg's compelling and insightful tales of struggle and triumph, and Koen's coming-of-age saga set in 18th Century England and France, we cover the gamut of tastes," she said. "It's an opportunity for people to enjoy a favorite author as well as an invitation to explore a type of literature they may not be familiar with," Josephs said.

Attendance is limited so interested individuals are encouraged to buy their tickets early. Tickets may be purchased either by mail or in person at the library and are available for $18 until April 15. Tickets purchased after the April 15 deadline or at the door will be $20. Senior citizen and group rates are also available. For more information, contact the library at 677-5277.

A 19-year-old Chicago man and his 18-year-old East Rogers Park accomplice, confessed to the five Madison Court burglaries which occurred at commercial locations between Aug. 19 and Sept. 22 last year. The confessions were obtained by Morton Grove investigators Mandik and Rossi. Service stations burglarized Burglars hit two area gas stations last week, netting several thousand dollars worth of cash and equipment for their efforts.

Sometime during the weekend of April 7 through April 10, the Shell Station at Touhy and Lehigh Avenues was burglarized. Thousands of dollars worth of equipment, air filters, oil and anti-freeze were stolen from a shipping crate. Niles police speculate several individuals with a truck were needed to haul away two snowplow blades plus several cases of the automotive supplies. A power saw was used to cut a 3/8 inch locked steel plate to get at the overseas container. In addition the thieves would have had to move a brown van which was immediately in front of the crate.

Between April 9 and 10, a service station in the 8100 block of Oakton St. reported the theft of its 300 pound safe which contained $4000 in cash. Person(s) unknown first broke a plexiglass window at the rear of the station and then a lower glass panel of an overhead door to get into the station. The Niles evidence technician recovered a cigarette lighter and also found drag marks on the floor, from where the thieves hoisted the safe onto a mechanic's creeper to move it.

Microwave safety tips from Edison

More than any other kitchen appliance, the microwave has revolutionized the world of cooking. In a fraction of the time required of a conventional oven, a creative chef can produce terrific meals. Microwaves are not only easy, but very energy efficient, too.

But, microwave ovens can be home safety hazards if basic guidelines for their operation are not followed. A common myth suggests that radiation leakage from microwaves poses the greatest danger. If the door hinges and seal on your microwave are tight, leakage should not be a problem. In fact, the American Council on Science and Health says that electrical shock is the most frequent danger. To prevent this kind of accident from occurring, check the oven's electrical cord and plug regularly for any signs of wear or damage. The microwave should be properly installed and plugged into an outlet that is polarized and grounded. Also, check to make sure the circuit is rated for at least 15 amperes of current.

Burns resulting from cooking in a microwave oven can take you by surprise because a microwave oven heats the food without heating the dish. Before removing a dish from the microwave, open the door and allow the dish to stand for a minute or two. Always use hot pads to remove a dish from the microwave. Many recipes require the use of plastic wrap to cover the food. Serious vapor burns can result from the hot moisture retained in the dish. Before removing a completed dish from the oven, use a lengthy kitchen utensil, such as a skewer, to puncture the covering. This will allow the steam to escape before you actually handle the dish. Some microwaves do not heat food evenly, creating the danger of "hot spots" which can burn you when you eat. Before eating be sure to stir and mix the food thoroughly.

A microwave oven can make your life much easier by reducing the time spent in the kitchen. And your family can enjoy delicious, economical meals with little or no effort.

Resident questions Niles' family orientation

Dear Editor:
As parents of a school age child and a pre-schooler, we watched with great interest the reception of the District 63 school tax referendum received from the residents of Niles.

We have been lead to believe by local politicians and real estate agents that Niles was a family oriented village. We have been assured the future of our children would be enhanced by growing up in Niles! And to and behold, the Mayor of Niles himself campaigns vigorously against a tax referendum for a school district that will be forced to cut approximately 25 percent of its teaching staff, curtail programs that would keep it competitive with surrounding districts and crowd classrooms beyond acceptable limits. What an invitation to extend to new families!

The only response to such an invitation is a polite, thanks, but no thanks, Niles is certainly not the place we'd like to see our children grow up in. We're still looking for a new home but we can guarantee, it won't be in Niles! It will be though, in a community that realizes the values it wishes to be judged by are established by the premium it places upon the welfare and education of its most precious commodity, its children.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Johnson
Des Plaines, IL 60016

Senior Center ground breaking

The Senior Center addition is officially breaking ground for construction on Saturday, April 22 at 11 a.m. This ground breaking ceremony will feature music by the Maine South High School and speeches by Roy Sues, Park District Commissioner and President of Senior Senate, Mayor Martin Butler, Del Hardacre, Chairman of Senior Services, Inc. and Joyce Clark, President of the Park Ridge Recreation and Park District Board of Commissioners. Refreshments will follow the ceremony.

The 5,760 sq. foot addition involved a 3-year fundraising campaign that surpassed its initial goal of $350,000. In addition to local businesses and patrons who generously contributed to this campaign, the following individuals and organizations donated in the amount of $5,000 or more: NBD Park Ridge Bank, Northern Trust O'Hare, Mr and Mrs. James Davlin, Arthur J. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand McAndrew and Walgreens Co. On Saturday, April 22 at 11 a.m. come to the Senior Center, 100 S. Western Ave. in Park Ridge and be a part of the ground breaking ceremony. Everyone is invited.

Election losers should remain involved

Dear Editor:
With the assistance of your publication, I would like to address a letter to all the losers of the April 4th election.

In 1985 I lost an election in Maine Township. To say the least I was disappointed and dejected and for several months I sulked until I realized I was feeling sorry for myself.

In the last four years I have found the candidates who lose an election go into a cocoon until the next election.

My analysis of this is that everything they said when campaigning was rhetoric. If they meant what they used as campaign issues they would continue to voice their opinions and suggestions to the winners at council and board meetings.

During the campaign the opposing party members come out of their cocoons and appear at meetings, they have their steno pads making notes of what is wrong with the present administration.

Losers tend to forget about the people that voted for them. I received 43% of the vote so, if I, by self-pity, said the H, with it, then I did not deserve the votes I received. To them I was their representative of their opinion.

Since then I have continued to be active to represent the voters who voted for me.

As a matter of fact the losers of an election may have a chance to win next time if they continue to work for the betterment of the governmental body they objected to in their campaign. Four years in hibernation, ridiculous!

A note to the winners. If you want to represent all the people I hope you will listen to the losers as they did receive a lot of votes and represent a lot of people. The fact that you did not receive 100% of the votes should give you reason to ask yourselves, why?

In addition to being wise, be magnanimous and listen to the losers. There will be another election.

school days led a simpler life...there definitely were cliques and peer pressure, but everybody seemed to get along...today there exists more pressure for teenagers to succeed, to do better, to show off."

Emelia and Fran (Austin High School Class of 1963) like to reminisce about the "Green Grill" located in the Austin area of Chicago.

"The Green Grill was a restaurant particularly popular with the kids in cliques or groups. Squares didn't go there too often," Emelia says, smiling and making the outline of a box in the air with her two index fingers.

Fran, considering the price of a hamburger in those days, states: "It cost only ten cents...couldn't be...must be more like twenty-five cents. Anyhow, they had the most delicious hamburgers back then; even the Cokes tasted wonderful."

"You can be sure to find a partner for a fast jitterbug at the Morgue," states the 1955 Bloom High School Yearbook.

The Morgue, a youth recreation center located at Old Bloom High School (now the parking lot of the Chicago Heights Public Library), existed through a unique town effort begun in the mid 1940s.

The high school students provided the inspiration for the Morgue: the community recognized a need for a place for kids to go-to dance, to snack, and to socialize. And, with the blessing of town officials, with parents as chaperons, and with the teens providing bucket and mop support, the Morgue thrived.

The mid-fifties found Bloom High in the midst of a Charleston revival and Angora sweaters, bobby socks, and saddle shoes provided the usual teen uniform. Judy, a 1955 Bloom High Graduate, remembers 'snake dancing' over at the darkly lit Morgue with her friends after school football games:

"Girls would go with girls...boys with boys...then we'd mix. We'd drink cokes, eat popcorn and chips, and listen to local bands or records."

In 1965, an article in the July issue of Esquire Magazine (entitled "Where are They Going: Teenage Choices") listed Booby's, on Milwaukee Avenue in Niles, as the most "boss" teen drive-in in the Chicago area. Even today, the words "Do You Know What Time it Is? It's Howdy Booby Time!" decorate the front window of Booby's restaurant, welcoming kids of all ages to Booby's.

In its heyday during the 1960s, Booby's drew kids from all the local high schools—Maine East and West, Notre Dame and Niles East and West. Carol, a 1967 graduate of Maine East High School, hung out at Booby's during this era of the Buffalo Springfield and the Association.

"We took the bus to Booby's straight from school," Carol recalls, "and discussed our social lives more than anything else...everybody from the Greaser to the Skinhead to the Duper went to Booby's."

Sally Friedman, who co-owned Booby's at the time, attributes the success of her establishment to the fact that the kids found a place where they felt comfortable and brought other kids—and to the presence of her husband Booby who Friedman calls: "a joker, a confessor, and a figure of respect to the kids."

Friedman summed it up when she said: "Booby's served as a place to be, a place to see and be seen."

During her teenage years, Friedman hung out at the Steinway Drugstore on Jackson and Crawford—she even met Booby there!

In 1979, a cup of coffee cost 45 cents and herbal tea and pastries flowed at Klutches (Kluzinski's) Bakery on Fullerton Avenue. According to Mike, Weber High class photographer in 1979, kids went to Klutches between classes and at lunch time. Grinning and raising an eyebrow, Mike characterizes the conversation at those times as "intellectual, very intellectual."

Martha, from Maine West High School Class of 1980, hung out at Barnaby's Pizza and Yankee Doodle Dandy. Gossip, grades and dates remained the conversation staples and the popular food staple (a hamburger) cost about 95 cents.

Woodfield Mall in Schaumburg is a magnet for the current high school population in the Northwest suburbs. Jenny and her friends, part of the class of 1991 of Elk Grove High School, spend about four to five hours per week at the Mall—walking, shopping, and eating. As with past generations, the opposite sex and music tend to be the focus of most conversations and in place of the watchful eye of the restaurant owner, mall security keeps an eye on the kids.

One security person with the Woodfield Mall believes that teens go to the Mall for three general purposes: to shop, to waste time, or to cause trouble.

Extremely large groups of kids represent potential trouble to the Mall and may be requested by Mall Security to split up into groups of five or smaller. Smaller groups are more easily managed by security than the larger groups and also may seem less intimidating to shoppers.

The motive or 'agenda' of the kids who go there, believes Mark Wall, can be a decisive factor in whether a hangout turns good or bad. Says Wall: "Disastrous motives mean trouble. However when the motives are proper, things generally go very well." Wall insists that a healthy hangout will provide good leadership and good guidelines.

The high school hangout—the names unfold throughout the decades: Nelson's, Powers, Booby's, the Candy Castle, Klutches. Each group of high schoolers has their own place; each unique yet all just perfect for eating, drinking (be it only a soft drink), and hanging out, teen style.

Burma Road...

owners recently had the 85-foot wide section removed from their own tax bills, after the Cook County Board of Tax Appeals ruled that the road was always intended to be an easement.

Tom Rueckert, Maine Twp. Assessor, and I put together all the information on the end units to prove our case. We first appeared before the board on Jan. 23," Nerius said. The retiree credits his wife Irene with this recent success. "Without all her help typing letters and assembling information, we'd never have gotten this far. Once a year, I say forget it, it's too much aggravation," but we've got a way to go before it's done."

Now that the residents no longer have the burden of paying property taxes, the issue of repairs remains. Township officials and residents have appealed to the Cook County Board to come up with the front money to repair sewers, improve drainage and add more fire hydrants and curbing. The project would likely be partially funded by Build Illinois and Illinois Department of Transportation funds and residents would receive an assessment as well.

Once the thoroughfare is brought up to standard, Maine Township can assume responsibility for future maintenance. Township officials, including North Maine Fire Chief Morrie Farman, have requested the County to put the matter on their future meeting agenda.

Resurrection Donor Awareness Week

Resurrection Medical Center will join forces with the American Council on Transportation and other medical centers across the country to raise public awareness about the need for organ and tissue donors during National Organ/Tissue Donor Awareness Week, April 23-29.

"Due to the nationwide shortage of organ and tissue donors, those of us working in life-threatening trauma situations, especially in emergency medicine, feel very strongly about organ and tissue donations," stated Dr. David Meyers, director of Emergency Medicine at Resurrection Medical Center. "We are a link to those who need organs and tissues and with those who are unfortunate victims."

According to the National Office of Organ Transplantation, 200,000 people are waiting for some type of organ and tissue transplantation in the United States alone. In Illinois, more than 500 patients are waiting for kidney transplants, while another 200 are needlessly blind due to lack of corneas for transplant.

Among the organs and tissues currently and successfully being transplanted in Illinois are the kidney, heart, liver, pancreas, lung, bone and bone marrow, cornea, and skin. And, according to the American Council on Transplantation, in 1987 more than 300,000 Americans joined a special bone marrow registry and pledged to undergo a somewhat painful experience if their marrow is needed to help save lives of leukemia patients and others.

Organ and Tissue Donor Awareness Week will be observed on a national, state and local level April 23 to 29.

Occupational therapy display

The OT department of Swedish Covenant Hospital will sponsor the exhibit in observance of National Occupational Therapy Week through April 22 to give visitors an opportunity to meet the professional staff that provides the state-of-the-art occupational therapy treatment at Swedish Covenant Hospital.

Hypertension research participants sought

Participants are being sought for several hypertension studies involving a relatively new class of drugs called calcium channel blockers. The studies are being conducted at the Nessel Health Center, 1775 Ballard Rd., Park Ridge. The calcium channel blockers dilate (relax) the blood vessels, which reduces blood pressure. These medications do not adversely affect cholesterol levels or interfere with daily activities.

Interested candidates with diagnosed mild to moderate hypertension are being sought for two groups: 21 to 60 year olds, and those over 65 years. Another study is being conducted with participants who have isolated systolic hypertension (an elevation of the upper number in the blood pressure reading of greater than 160). All participants are encouraged to have the approval of their primary care physician. All laboratory testing, medications and physician visits will be provided to participants free of charge. Those who experience reduced blood pressure will be able to receive the medication free of charge for up to one year. The study is being conducted by Dr. Kenneth Miller, who is actively involved in hypertension research and is a member of the Lutheran General Medical Group, S.C. Those interested in participating should call Dr. Miller's office at 696-7654 for more information.

"When their children repeatedly can't sit still, don't pay attention or exhibit impulsive behavior, parents begin to worry. They want to know if their child's behavior is abnormal," said Dr. Frey. "The seminar's purpose is to help concerned parents differentiate between varying degrees of hyperactivity and learn if the child needs professional help."

To learn how to determine if your child's behavior is abnormally hyperactive, make reservations for the Lutheran General Children's Medical Center "Your Child—Active or Hyperactive?" free seminar by calling 696-6005. Attendance is limited and reservations are required.

Avondale sponsors exhibit

Avondale Federal Savings Bank announced today it is sponsoring the Chicago presentation of "Nineteenth Century Polish Painting: Valor, Memory and Dreams," opening April 13 at the University of Chicago's David and Alfred Smart Gallery, 5550 S. Greenwood Ave., Chicago. The exhibition will present 80 national art treasures borrowed from the leading museums of Poland.

"This is a fine opportunity for Chicago to view nineteenth-century Polish history and culture. Avondale is proud to be part of such a historic event," said Irving B. Boberski, chairman of Avondale Federal Savings Bank. "This exhibition will offer Americans the first comprehensive overview of nineteenth-century Polish art."

The artistic achievements of Poland, particularly during this century, are virtually unknown outside Poland and Eastern Europe. This period, however, resulted in a particularly rich outpouring of artistic work. The paintings depict a moving testimony to Poland as it existed in the minds and hearts of Polish people.

The works are on loan from five national collections: the National Museum, Warsaw; the National Museum, Cracow; the Museum of Art, Lodz; the National Museum, Poznan; and the Regional Museum, Bialystok.

Avondale will be providing free bus transportation and a guided tour of the exhibit on May 2, 4, 9, and 11. The bus will be departing from Avondale's branch office at 2965 N. Milwaukee Ave., Chicago, at 9:15 a.m. and returning at approximately 1 p.m. Coffee and rolls will be served in the branch at 8:45 a.m. A Brochure with information on the exhibition will also be available in the Polish language. Anyone wishing to participate may call 772-3600 to reserve a space, seating is limited.

Exhibit catalogs will be on display at all Avondale branches; the public may purchase the catalogs directly from the Smart Gallery with mail order forms available at all Avondale offices.

The gallery is open Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Fridays, and Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Thursdays from 10 a.m. to 7:45 p.m.; and Sundays from noon to 4 p.m. The exhibition runs through June 18.

To enhance understanding of the exhibition, the University of Chicago will conduct a one-day symposium on nineteenth-century Polish history and culture on April 22. Twelve distinguished scholars from the United States and Poland will speak. Anyone interested in attending may call 702-0200.

contest, the point value assigned to the question depends on the value (either 5, 10 or 15 points) drawn from a bucket prior to each question. The current front running team has 100 points, so, if a team answers all 10 questions correctly and nine questions are given a lottery value of five points and one is valued at 10 points, the school would only rack up 55 points.

The apple being dangled in front of the participating schools is a paid trip to Great America for the entire student body plus a sock hop to be held downtown at the "Rock and Roll McDonalds" or in the school's gym.

"It's the luck of the draw," said Marymartha Dore, a Resurrection High School spokeswoman. Dore told The Bugle that Resurrection's representatives Mary Ann Kay, Tony Mazulla and Kathy Rzany have been listening and taping Pop Quiz segments in preparation for their April 27 appearance. According to Dore, each personality will probably come up with a question reflective of their own specialty, science, entertainment or music. If teachers want to refuse a question because they don't know the answer, they can choose a "Mulligan" question. "You can hope it's easier," Dore said.

Science Department chairman Mary Ann Kay said she has been listening daily. "The questions are so eclectic," Kay said. "We all have a great fear of making fools of ourselves but we're going into it with a good sense of humor."

Dore said Resurrection would probably use the sock hop prize as a fundraising vehicle, if their team won this three week edition of the contest. WGN has been sponsoring POP Quiz for approximately seven years.

DUI case...

Park Ridge Deputy Chief of Police Larry Herzog notes that the dates of judicial meetings are known and posted and a court calendar is circulated. He said that the police officer involved is scheduled to retire in a few weeks.

Niles Police Chief Ray Giovannelli remarked upon the large amount of energy police put into law enforcement and deplored the court decision, saying "Something happened in the court system."

In the January incident, the defendant was driving west on Oakton Street. Between Oriole and Ottawa Avenues, her car crossed the center lane into the eastbound curb lane, striking a '79 Buick driven by a Niles resident, then swerved to the right and hit another car, an '89 Mercury head on.

The Mercury was driven by a 78-year-old Morton Grove resident, accompanied by his 68-year-old wife. Both the defendant and the Morton Grove woman sustained injuries and were transported to Lutheran General Hospital. The Morton Grove woman is still under a doctor's care for injuries caused when her head hit the windshield.

Park Ridge Police charged the defendant with two counts of Driving Under the Influence, transporting an open alcohol beverage, improper lane usage and driving without a seat belt. An open can of beer was held as evidence.

High blood pressure free screening

High blood pressure has been called "the silent killer," and without regular blood pressure checkups, the first sign can be a fatal one -- such as a heart attack. But sometimes it's hard for people to justify a checkup.

To ensure that high blood pressure doesn't go undetected, Peterson Bank will conduct free blood pressure screenings on Saturday, May 13 from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. in the bank's office lobby at 3232 W. Peterson, Chicago. Nurses from Swedish Covenant Hospital will be conducting the testing, which is quick and comfortable. No reservations are required, so bring a friend or family member.

Budget...

With the exception of the 60 member of Public Services Department, all departmental budgets increased, boosting the General Fund Budget by a net four percent. Public Services requested $4,479,000, a decrease of $282,000 from last year. This decrease was equally offset by the additional $282,000 budgeted for the Finance Department.

Public Works expenditures for heavy equipment have either been postponed or foregone. A roller, used for paving streets, will be leased for the five or six annual occasions its services are needed. Originally, money was to have been set aside to purchase this piece of equipment. Karshna anticipates that many other pieces of equipment will be leased in the future, rather than expend funds to purchase them.

The increased Police Department Budget, $185,000 more than for the previous year, is due in parts to the proposed purchase of a transport bus, necessary to move prisoners to the new court building from police headquarters at 7100 W. Touhy Ave. The police were able to hire six additional officers, to put them at their full contingent of 63 full-time members.

The Village Board will vote on the new budget April 25 at the regular meeting.

Joseph L. Hazleton
Airman Joseph L. Hazleton, son of Jana A. Gauss of 504 N. Yale Ave., Arlington Hts. and nephew of Ruth E. Perry of 7500 Jonquil Terrace, Niles, has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

come by." He said he thought Robinson would welcome drivers who have permits.

In February, Robinson proposed a bus facility that would house up to 100 buses, along with a six bay maintenance building. In the proposal, the school district would pay $196,000 to build the bus parking lot and Robinson would contribute $834,000 to constructing the facility. The district could charge back parking lot costs to Maierhofer over a 15 year period. Maierhofer might also recover its costs by including them in future five year transportation contracts. This inclusion could amount to an additional $40,000 per contract.

School Board members, concerned about the levels of toxic gases emitted by the buses stored in the facility, have asked for an environmental impact study. Nix has recommended the Versar, Inc., company of Oak Brook to conduct the study after examining fees charged by other area environmental contractors.

The study is expected to be completed in two months and afterwards the Board will decide whether construction of the facility should proceed and if the work could be completed by their target date of Sept. 1, 1990. In the interim, Robinson's contract has been removed for one year.

guys or bad guys. Despite his name, "the illustrious Johnny Stewart, a 1985 Notre Dame graduate, is one of the bad guys. Stewart is paired with "Mr. Electricity," WCW heavy weight champion Steve Regal. Stewart, a former varsity football player for Notre Dame, is paying his college expenses by appearing on the circuit.

"WCW wrestlers 'squeeze by,' if you will, on annual salaries ranging from $70 to 100 thousand. At stake, according to WCW promoter Sam DeCero are gold tag team-belts, world-wide publicity and exposure, overseas tours and magazine coverage. DeCero admits, "Sure it's entertainment and showmanship, but there is also literally in-fighting between tour members." DeCero told The Bugle that Stewart was paired with Sonny Rogers in a Feb. 11 tag team match in Cicero and for reasons known only to Stewart and Rogers, Stewart began beating up his own partner during the middle of the match.

"Not everyone can get along on a job site," DeCero noted, sounding more like a straw boss than a wrestling publicist, "it's just like any other workplace. I didn't fire Stewart because of that, though." Stewart and Regal will be the headliners at the Notre Dame event for the tag team title against the Terminators.

"Golden Boy Mike Summers," who along with his partner will be debuting in WCW tag team match against the Tokyo Bullets, is known as Mike Kogos to his fellow Maine East alums. Kogos is the son of Dr. Tom Kogos, a Niles chiropractor. He lives in Palatine and commutes to a second home in Florida, where he appears in various wrestling events. He has been at other Notre Dame charity wrestling meets, including last year's Halloween benefit. Kogos graduated from Maine East in 1979 but was not involved in varsity sports there. Mike was active with the Park District hockey program, however. Interviewed April 17, Mike said he began wrestling five years ago, after he met a group of wrestlers in Florida. The wrestler is somewhat of a fascination to children, who congregate around him at home. The six-foot one inch, 220 lb. young man has a supply of photo buttons to pass out to the kids.

The 27-year-old wrestler is depicted as a surfer in his meets. He works out six days a week weight lifting and two to three nights a week at a gym or health club. He remembers his Maine East days as a "pretty wild time," and says he was "really pretty crazy". He's hoping to go to Tokyo this year with the WCW tour. He's also looking forward to going to his high school reunion.

Asked if he remembered what he wanted to be as a grown-up, he laughs and shakes his shaggy blond hair, not remembering any other career path. Promoter DeCero, himself a former tour member, lasted five years before back injuries changed his job description. DeCero says a wrestler can keep at it until he's 60 years old, "depending how his body holds up." Golden Boy Summers is keeping his options open. "It's paying pretty good. I'll keep at it as long as my body holds up." And if it doesn't, we bet he knows a good chiropractor.

Traditionally, during the American whaling period, ivory whale teeth and whale bone were used, but the modern-day scrimshawer must turn to other materials for their art since whale is on the endangered species list, and no whale ivory is available.

Wills has pioneered in the use of "Howlite," obtained from the borax deposits in California, and during the past several years has completed many one-of-a-kind pictures and paper weights which are in scrimshaw collectors around the country.

Wills is also a member of the National Maritime Historical Society and in his talk will cover some of the interesting history of the tall ships and restoration of old historical sailing ships of the world; he is also a member and Educational Chairman of the Des Plaines Valley Geological Society.

19th Century Polish painting exhibit

Sovereignty and the principles of self-determination have become critical contemporary issues in Poland, in part as a result of the Polish experiences in the 19th Century. Successive partitions of the country among the surrounding powers, which deprived Poland of her independence from 1772 until 1918, gave rise to political turmoil which repeatedly found expression in the cultural life of the Polish people, especially in their art.

"Nineteenth-Century Polish Painting: Valor, Memory and Dreams," opened April 13 at the University of Chicago's David and Alfred Smart Gallery, 5550 S. Greenwood Ave., and runs through June 18. The exhibit will present 72 paintings, 13 prints, drawings and watercolors from a time when Poland did not exist as an independent state. Rarely seen outside Poland, these outstanding examples of landscape, history, and genre subjects chronicle significant developments in European art and present a moving testimony of Poland as it existed in the minds and hearts of the Polish people. Polish artist became fluent practitioners of the styles common to European art of the era—classicism, romanticism, realism, naturalism and symbolism—but they invariably used these new artistic languages to convey a shared national concern.

The Chicago presentation of the Nineteenth-Century Polish Painting exhibition is sponsored by Avondale Federal Savings Bank.

Accompaniment will be by Gwen Halstead, a pianist from Hinsdale. Halstead plays for the Chicago Opera Theatre as well as per is an ulcer-type effort. In the edition following last week's election we ran eight separate stories with the results of the previous day's elections and referendums. We had to work full speed ahead since the Tuesday night poll closing time and our Wednesday morning press run requires fast, accurate work over a short time. It requires dozens of phone calls to update the numbers we'd previously tabulated. Most people involved in the political process give us super cooperation. But down at School Dist 63, the troops there were less than helpful. We telephoned the district offices every half hour Tuesday night for results and were put off by the phone answerers. The school district referendum was taking a drubbing and the people involved there were obviously frustrated. Each time we telephoned they refused to give us any results and when we called back the last time, the district vote-counters pulled up their tent and went home leaving us without the East Maine results. We've been involved with dozens of past referendums and elections and have met with much hostility by the losers. But we were chagrined that the people who we've worked with for so many years would be so uncooperative. Within two hours we had to write about the township results, the village elections, the local referendums such as the 911 vote in Morton Grove, as well as the school votes. Losing political battles tests the mettle of the losers. The phone answerers in District 63, who rebuffed our efforts won't be getting our Good Guy (Girl?)

awards for 1989.

Henry George Zander III died last week. He was the first man we met in Niles back in the spring of 1953. He headed the firm which developed Valenti's Indian Village in Oakton Manor.

Zander lived on Ozanam Avenue near Main Street. There were four model homes in the area and he lived briefly in one of them while the 250-home development was under construction.

Zander was the first man I'd ever met with numbers after his name. Roman numerals following your last name meant you were upper crust. He was an unlikely guy to be sitting in one of those 1,000 square foot homes, surrounded by the first sign of spring in this new area...mud. He was called "Chief" and he was a blue blood of sorts and he was an important part of Niles galloping expansion during the post-war years.

The Bugle's Judie Nash showed us an article from last week's Parade magazine which may be of interest. According to the Washington-Baltimore Regional Association, plants, property and equipment owned by foreign investors in the United States totals about $250 billion. More than $40 billion is owned in Texas, $37 billion in California, $18 billion in New York and $11 billion in Illinois.

"We're not losing him because I know he'll continue to come to all Park Board meetings in the future." In her farewell remarks, Marusek, who has supervised recreation and swimming pool programs, summarized Engelman's achievements during the year he held the office, saying "He was appointed at a crucial time and Val stepped in going full speed. I've known some commissioners who could not accomplish in four years what Val accomplished in one year." Marusek praised the department heads she has worked with and listed the accomplishments of the ice rink staff, "fantastic maintenance department", "responsive recreation department", "improved" golf course management and progressive financial management.

Heine lauded Marusek's "outstanding job" in expanding programs for the Park District, including the new Leisure Menu cooperative program, where area businesses will be encouraged to use park facilities during lunch and near-business hours. After Panek, Skaja and incumbent commissioner James Pierski were sworn in by Director William Hughes, Heine said, "I hope we'll be working as a board of five," and welcomed the "new people with new ideas" to the board.

Marusek's last duties included reports on the summer brochure and camp programs, and swimming pool fees, which have not increased for individuals and will increase by $2 for family members. Skaja will fulfill Marusek's committee assignments until new assignments are passed out in May. Engelman's duties will be interimly handled by Panek, who was scheduled to lobby in Springfield the following day.

In other Park business: $10,000 in bond interest money was transferred to the ice rink fund. The board was pleased that the rink is operating in the black and the deficit has been whittled down from over $200,000 to its current $113,521 shortfall. The Board noted the outstanding job by the rink's staff and parent volunteers (SPIN) in running the rink and producing the 1989 ice show, saying the ice rink was "good for the community." Floor hockey and roller skating events will be held during the summer at the rink to expand its usage.

$4,130 was authorized to purchase 50 tables and 100 stacking chairs from The Buttery, in Niles. Calling it a "good deal", Commissioner Marusek observed the $32.96 per table and $21.50 per chair expenditure for the Recreation and Ballard Centers were far lower than other quotes received by the District.

President Heinen asked all participants in the Fourth of July parade to attend a May 11 meeting at 7:30 p.m. at Ballard Recreation Center.

Commissioner Pierski announced a committee meeting relative to the TAM maintenance facility to be held May 13. Pierski also announced that Niles grade school children will receive tree seedlings for Arbor Day, April 28.

Commissioner Walter Beusse reported on an $18,074 fairway mower and $14,000 vacuumer purchased for TAM.

meeting. A base bid, not including electrical work, would be $203,000.

However, acceptance of the bid is contingent on the Village of Niles zoning approval for additional parking where all traffic will enter off of a residential street, Oakton Court.

The State indicated that entrances off of Oakton St. or Waukegan Road would be detrimental to safety.

In other purchases, the library board agreed to replace a water cooling tower at a cost of $10,000. Light bulbs and ballast as well as discolored light bulbs will be replaced on the high second floor at a cost not to exceed $1,800. Also, an additional computer terminal and port will be installed at the circulation desk at a cost of about $10,000. The circulation desk now has two terminals and room for five.

Library Superintendent D.J. McKenzie said the North Suburban Library System (NSLS) is requesting about $2,000 more a year although its services seem to have decreased. Board member Margaret Rajski suggested the Niles Library inquire about specific need for the money, how the funds are to be expended especially as regards the NPLD, which taxes the monies would come from and what impact would be felt on taxpayers and the Niles Library.

McKenzie also reported that a cost increase of $5,000 was budgeted last year to the Niles Library through the Cooperative Computer Service (CCS). Board members also agreed to an amendment of the CCS intergovernmental agreement to allow for social security benefits for employees, a clause inadvertently left out of the original agreement.

paid on the effective date of the agreement. Subsequent payments will be due on July 1 of each year.

District 219 Board President Marlene Aderman told The Bugle that no plans have been made for the large sum of money that will be flowing into Niles Township High Schools. "It just happened so fast we haven't had time to discuss that," said Aderman.

According to Dr. John Hinck, District 219 Superintendent, the $5 million price tag was based on a previous appraisal made in 1980. Hinck said that the district also took into account the cost of renovations needed in the building. He said that there were monetary negotiations but they stuck with the original price. When asked about the cost, Aderman said "We weren't out to get the best value for the community. And I think that we did that."

Aderman said that since the school closed in June of 1980 due to declining enrolments, the district had been studying the long term use of the facility. The facility is currently rented out to several leasers, including OCC. But as a result of the studies it became apparent that "it was no longer economically sensible to continue ownership" Aderman said. "We were concerned about where we were going and like an eleven hour savior, OCC said yes we'll take it," Aderman said.

District 219 was concerned that the site remain a focus for education. "Sale of the property to OCC guarantees that the site will remain an educational institution and will continue to provide learning opportunities for the entire community," Aderman said. "We'd rather have the building used for education than for another

Residential property damage

An upstairs bedroom window was broken in a house in the 8900 block of Menard in Morton Grove when someone threw a small rock from the house's driveway side Apr. 10. No one was injured and cost for repair of the window is estimated at $50.

Another bedroom window, in a house in the 5500 block of Main, was damaged by a projectile, possibly of the BB type, Apr. 15. The homeowner reported that a similar object struck and damaged living room windows on two separate occasions earlier in April.

tive to the North Suburban Library System.

The Lincolnwood Library, which is located at 4000 W. Pratt Ave., is a district library, an autonomous institution. Its trustees are elected public officials who serve as the library's governing body. Among their statutory responsibilities are the hiring of a competent library director; assisting in preparing the annual budget, based on the income that the library receives from real estate taxes, determining and adopting written policies to govern the library's operation and programs.

Other duties include supporting state and national library legislation, attending regional, state and national trustee meetings and workshops, and keeping abreast of standards and library trends.

In another tentative policy change, board members suggested that fees be waived for reserving materials. Trustee Irene Costello said, "I believe we should do this as a public service."

In a service to the business community, the library proposed to co-sponsor with the Niles Chamber of Commerce a May 11 breakfast at the library. According to McKenzie, the Chamber of Commerce is asking that the library charge different fees for Chamber members and non-members although it is against library policy to charge for use of its materials. Board members agreed to write a letter of dissent to the Chamber and, if necessary, conduct a breakfast without Chamber co-sponsorship.

The board, as a whole, split its votes on routine improvements of room usage. Usually, any group which charges membership fees or solicits funds is denied use of the facilities. Because of the vote, McKenzie said the board may want to rethink its policy.

Do you feel helpless and concerned about the abuse of alcohol and drugs by your child, family member or loved one? The Park Ridge IV Families Anonymous membership would like to share their caring at an open informational meeting, April 26 at 7:30 p.m. Please join us in the lower level lounge of the School of Health Sciences of Lutheran General Hospital located at Western and Dempster avenues. The building is set back from the southwest corner and parking is available behind the building at no cost.

er set of condos." District 219 resident of 34 years, Paul Gilson said "This may be the finest moment in public education that I have experienced. I was ready to fight for this and it just happened."

Oakton's Board Chairman Bill Spaulding said that Oakton had been looking for a more permanent eastern facility for some time. Oakton's district expanded considerably when Evanston officially joined. "For so many years the Oakton Board has verbally promised there would be an eastern presence," Spaulding said. "Tonight we proved that we mean it with this purchase."

Oakton Trustee Ray Hartstein said that OCC will be working closely with community advisory groups and all college departments who are involved with Oakton East to get their input. Hartstein also mentioned the possibility of the hire of a consultant to analyze the best configuration for the college's purposes.

OCC Board President, Thomas Tenhove said that space needs, programs and rehabilitation plans would all be taken into account before any decisions are made. "No one is going to see any significant changes of any kind in the immediate future," Tenhove said. "We are going to take at least a year to study it."

Oakton plans to continue the leases of those occupying the facility and also recognizes that Niles East holds many special memories for members of the community.

We hope that the people that we represent in this part of the district will make full use of their community college...which is now here to stay," Spaulding said.
