Niles Zoning Board approves library parking lot

by Nancy Keraminas
Niles library officials will break ground for their expanded parking lot by the beginning of July, barring unforeseen objections to their revised plans. The Plan Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals gave a provisional go-ahead to the expansion at their May 1 meeting, subject to approval by the Village Board. The $225,000 expansion will probably be part of the June agenda. Library Board members and

Niles nursing homes put into receivership

Four financially troubled nursing homes; two in Niles and two in Evanston, have been placed in receivership due to action by the Illinois Attorney General's office. Prior to April 26, Mavin Enterprises of Skokie operated the Woodbury and Sherwood nursing homes in Niles and the Saratoga and Albany House in Evanston. Attorney General Neil Hartigan urgently requested the court to step in to oversee a disaster.

Niles Chief Giovannelli seeks toughest law in nation

Forced drug tests sought for drivers

by Nancy Keraminas
Niles Police Chief Raymond Giovannelli has asked the Village Board to consider an ordinance which would include drug testing by police personnel for a driver suspected of being impaired but who has no signs of elevated blood alcohol in a breath test. Under current state law, there is an implied consent provision for drivers to submit to a test, tests or a combination of tests to screen for alcohol or a controlled substance. A driver who refuses to submit to a breath, urine or blood test can have his license revoked by the Secretary of State. The Chief is not aware of any other U.S. community which tests urine for drugs but feels it is necessary to start. "This is certainly virgin territory," remarked Trustee Pete Pesole after hearing the Chief's proposal at the April 25 Village Board meeting. To establish an explicit policy, consideration of

The Bugle was incorrect in a headline published two weeks ago regarding the Niles Library district. It stated the district's 1988 tax referendum tax, which voters approved, was "twice the amount needed". The headline assumed the money received was twice the amount; two board members told The Bugle was requested of the voters. The library district members estimated the average tax increase in the 1988 referendum was $12 per residential unit in the district. Two board members told The Bugle the $12 guesstimate was based on the valuation of apartment units in the district rather than the average residential unit.

The library's business manager came to The Bugle office last week and reported the $12 estimate was based on five single family dwelling units and one apartment unit. He averaged the taxes of these six units and came up with an average tax increase estimate for all district taxpayers.

Subsequently, we checked a tax bill for a home in the $100,000 range and the tax increase was about $14.

We first reported the story after one board member came into the office and told us the district was "swimming" in excess money. The business manager later told us this assumption might have resulted when the library district ac-

Niles Park raises staff salaries

The Niles Park District Board of Commissioners, meeting in executive session last week, decided on a four percent salary increase for its employees. Salary levels for the park workers have been a factor in the relatively high turnover rate at the district. Ten full-time staffers have left within the past year, as well as a number of part-timers. The pay hikes took effect May 1, according to Secretary/Director William Hughes. The salary reviews, which took place April 24 and April 25, did not include a revision in the district's 10-step schedule of employee salaries. Under the current system there is a certain pay range assigned to each position, with the graduations spread over 10 steps. Once an employee reaches the maximum salary for a position, the only raise he or she receives is a cost-of-living hike.

Water restrictions may be forced on village

Niles and Morton Grove may have to tighten their outdoor water use ordinances in the future or risk losing their Lake Michigan water allocations. A restriction pending before an Illinois Lake Michigan regulatory agency requires communities to restrict outside lawn sprinkling from May 15 through Sept. 15 of each year, beginning with approval of the rule change by a legislative committee. Communities affected by the change have been asked to start implementing wa-

Fishermen's Dude Ranch is more than a fish tale through a resort community. Struggling with a rainbow trout that appears to be a genetic aberration, the figure heralds Fishermen's Dude Ranch, where any city slicker with the price of admission can hook into a trout, catfish, bass, pike or bluegill. But

At a cost of about a...ahem...fin, an individual can rent a pole, buy bait, and fish from any one of three spring-fed ponds or the larger lake on the property. Celebrities, particularly sports figures such as Jim McMahon, Billy Williams and Bobbie Orr have dropped their lines here. Sam Popeil fine-tuned his Pocket Fisherman pole in one of the two trout ponds. In the spring, guests on the pine-studded grounds are likely to encounter nesting mallards and Canadian geese. Open year round, it is often the site of scout outings and birthday parties.

The trout ponds are stocked regularly. While catching something is pretty much a certainty, throwing a fish back is strictly forbidden. Patrons must pay by the pound for their catch which tends to put a price tag on success. Fastidious fishers may pay for the privilege of getting their fish cleaned by the staff. The Redings hire teens to assist the customers, especially to bait hooks and detach wriggling rainbows for squeamish anglers.

The log building housing the ranch offices is reminiscent of lodges along the Chain of Lakes, where McHenry County fisherman share pitchers of beer and swap stories in front of a stone fireplace. There's no restaurant and bar at the Dude Ranch, however. Mary Anne Reding, says running the ranch itself takes Reding says quality standards for live fish are far more stringent than for the frozen variety. "My environmental file is huge," he asserts, noting that he sends regular reports to the Environmental Protection Agency. Water quality checks are run monthly.

Reding chose to major in business while in college, because at the time he figured he "knew everything," about the fish themselves. He says he keeps abreast of the industry but is constantly experimenting, changing variables to produce a higher quality

Man stunned at Swift station
A Round Lake man claims he was knocked out by an immobilizing type of stun gun after he was robbed at the Skokie Swift station on the evening of April 20. The 25-year-old man said an assailant attacked him, tearing a gold chain from his neck, as he fumbled for his car keys while walking through the parking lot at the CTA station on Dempster Street.

The victim fell to the ground and was struck three times in the chest and rendered unconscious by some type of immobilizing gun, he told police. He was roused about two hours later by a passer-by. The victim reported to Skokie Police with facial injuries and neck abrasions from the chain theft.

by Sheilya Hackett
Residents opposed to the proposed sale of Hynes school in Morton Grove have petitioned the District 67 School Board to postpone the sale at this time. More than 700 petitioners asked the Board to place the issue on the November ballot in a referendum.

The Hynes' transaction is contingent upon a sale price of 1.5 million dollars, with the site to be used for senior housing. A clause to be included would mandate the return of the property to the school district if anything other than senior housing was built on the site. The sale would return the property to the tax rolls and eventually provide funds for the school district.

The Board, planning for future District needs, is faced with declining enrollment and see the Hynes sale as a way of generating new revenue. They would close Hynes, renovate Golf Junior High, and combine the two school populations at the Golf school. According to District Superintendent...

Most Niles court cases moving to Skokie

Park Ridge, Des Plaines, and Niles are three of the metropolitan area suburbs affected by a pending reorganization of the Cook County Circuit Court system. Existing courtroom facilities in civil and criminal hearings will be moved to other courthouses, depending on townships. All Niles and Niles Township cases will be heard at Second District Court, located on Old Orchard Road, Skokie. That courthouse currently handles Morton Grove, Lincolnwood, Skokie, and Glenview caseloads. The change is scheduled for June 1. The Skokie facility also handles Evanston, New Trier and Northfield Township cases, along with some Chicago cases.

Maine Twp. budget includes merit raises

A $2.9 million budget, which includes provisions for employee raises within a five percent range, was approved by the Maine Township Board April 25. The Budget includes a $37,000 set-aside to cover the salary raises, which are based on merit. Meryl Rivenson, Township Director of Administration and Social Services, said the Budget is up about two percent and outlined the monetary allocations as follows: $1.7 million for the Town fund; $332,809 for the General Assistance fund; $902,575 for the Road and Bridge fund. A four percent rise in the Road and Bridge fund was the highest fund increase from last year, according to Rivenson. Highway Commissioner Bill Fraser defended the four percent rise, saying "It does not take much to increase a road budget four percent. We approved a five percent salary increase and we doubled the workman's compensation and allotted $10,000 for flood and disaster use." Additional Budget allocations included $2,500 for distribution of fliers encouraging participation in neighborhood watch programs. Cook County Police will oversee flier distribution; it is expected about 30,000 residents of the Road and Bridge fund was the

Niles keeps recycling program on hold

by Nancy Keraminas
The Village of Niles will be handling garbage collection the old fashioned way for quite some time, according to Trustee Abe Selman. Despite an increase in Village costs for trash disposal directly attributable to increased landfill charges, Selman is not convinced that the village would recoup its extra cost of recycling by selling its recyclables. Niles is now paying an additional 67 cents, for refuse pick-up or $8.39 per load. Other non-recycling villages are not taking Niles' wait-and-see position on recycling. Skokie recently began a pilot program for 1200 households and other communities are expected to begin testing during the summer months. Selman isn't trashing the idea, however. He feels a wait-and-see position is more advisable because other, once fashionable trash disposal ideas, have later been found to be ineffective. Chief among these has been incineration of collected garbage, because of the pollutants released into the atmosphere from the smoke. Selman is monitoring the programs in Morton Grove and Lincolnwood, communities which have recently completed pilot recycling projects and have extended their recycling village wide.

Capri Lane may switch districts

Several blocks on Capri Lane in Morton Grove are considering seceding from school District 67 and annexing into District 70. Though the proximity of the forest and a golf course are usually considered desirable, school kids living in an area of Morton Grove that borders Harms Road find themselves in schools away from their friends, because they're in different districts, cut off by the forest preserve.

The streets concerned are the 5600, 5700 and 5800 blocks of Capri Lane and the north side of Emerson, where kids attend Hynes or Golf Junior High. The children on the south side of Emerson St. attend Park View school since they

Extended tax relief deadline

Cook County homeowners have until May 31 to apply for their 1988 Homeowner or Senior Citizen Exemptions, said Assessor Thomas C. Hynes.

"As many as 50,000 eligible homeowners in Cook County have not yet returned their applications for their 1988 exemptions," Hynes said. "Homeowners must reapply for this tax relief each year, as required by law. By extending the deadline to May 31, we are giving these people extra time to return their applications to our office so they can save on this summer's real estate taxes."

"Many homeowners don't realize the importance of returning their applications until after they get their tax bills," he said, "and see they didn't receive their exemptions."

Hynes said his office is currently sending second applications to all homeowners in Cook County who did not respond to the first mailing of forms in January.

"Applying is easy," he said. "All a homeowner has to do is verify the information on the application by signing it and returning it to our office."

Hynes also urged seniors who turned 65 in 1988 to register for the Senior Citizen Exemption, if they have not done so yet.

First-time registration for the Senior Citizen Exemption requires specific documentation showing proof of age and home ownership. Once registered, the senior homeowner in the future years will receive a simple renewal application.

Hynes noted, "By registering for the Senior Citizen Exemption, senior taxpayers automatically qualify for the general Homeowner Exemption. They do not have to submit a second application for the Homeowner Exemption. They'll benefit from the two exemptions, saving them a substantial amount of money."

The general Homeowner Exemption can save hundreds of dollars on a homeowner's property tax bill, with the exact amount depending on the local tax rate. The benefit of the Senior Citizen Exemption can save taxpayers 65 and over even more.

Both exemptions reduce the taxable value of a person's home. They are not cash rebates, but are seen as deductions off this summer's second-installment real estate tax bills.

Properties that qualify are single-family homes, townhomes, condominiums, co-operatives, and apartment buildings up to six units. The current or previous owner must have occupied the property as a principal residence as of Jan. 1, 1988.

For those who have not yet registered for the exemptions, contact Hynes' main office in the County Building, 118 N. Clark, Chicago 60602 (Homeowner Exemption Department, Room 301, 443-7500; Senior Citizen Exemption Department, Room 320, 443-6151), or one of his branch offices in the following Circuit Court Buildings: 16501 S. Senior achievement award

Among the men and women aged 55 years or older who will be honored Thursday, May 4, at the 9th Annual Older Worker Awards Luncheon by Operation Able at the Palmer House Hotel in Chicago is Marjorie Broms, Niles, market administrative secretary for the Southland Corporation.

The luncheon is co-sponsored by Operation Able and WMAQ-TV/channel 5 as an event at which Chicago area employers can publicly honor their older workers as outstanding, contributive and dependable employees.

More than 90 men and women, in ages ranging from 55 to more than 90, will receive the Operation Able Senior Achievement Award and six will receive the Claude D. Pepper Distinguished Service Award.

Operation Able is a network of more than 40 community-based older worker employment centers and is the Chicago area's major advocate of greater employment of workers 55 years of age and older. In the last 12 years, it has helped more than 60,000 older workers find employment.

Its "Job Hotline" of 782-7700 is used both by employers posting job orders and by older workers seeking jobs.

Broms, 57, has worked for the Southland Corporation in Park Ridge for the last 15 years where "she has helped guide the lives of hundreds of individuals."

May is National Bicycle Safety Month

People of all ages ride bicycles for fun and physical fitness, but riding a bike in traffic can be hazardous. In 1988, 32 people were killed and more than 5,000 injured in bicycle accidents in Illinois.

May is National Bicycle Safety Month. If you ride a bike, remember to obey all traffic rules and observe these safety tips:

Check your bicycle or your child's bicycle to make sure the brakes are adjusted properly, the handle bars and other equipment are attached firmly, the gears are running smoothly and the seat is adjusted to the proper position.

Wear a helmet approved for safety. Head injuries are one of the most common injuries for cyclists, and helmets have been developed for adults, children and infants.

Always ride in the same direction as other traffic. Stay close to the right edge of the road, except when passing. Be particularly careful when making a left turn.

Watch for drain grates, soft shoulders and other road surface hazards.

Watch for children playing. Little children cannot always tell how fast a bicycle is coming and may dart out in front of you.

At night, wear light-colored or reflective clothing, or apply reflective tape to your clothing or your bicycle's handlebars, frame or fenders.

Whirlpool dishwashers may present hazards

Chicago's Department of Consumer Services recently issued an alert to owners of certain models of Whirlpool undercounter dishwashers which may present potential fire hazards.

The Whirlpool Corporation manufacturer of the defective appliances, in cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, advises owners of Models DU7400XS-0, DU7600XS-0, DU7800XS-0, DU9000XR-0 and DU9000XR-1 to immediately discontinue use of the machines and call 1-800-541-5746 to arrange for free modification of the units to prevent fires. A push button selector switch can, under some conditions, catch fire.

"Consumers with Whirlpool undercounter dishwashers should open the door and compare this list of numbers to those on the model and serial plate located along the right front edge of the tub," said Consumer Services Commissioner Breneta Howell Barrett. "While awaiting repair service, owners should not use these machines and, to be on the safe side, should leave the door ajar in the unlatched position."

According to Whirlpool, nearly 80 percent of the almost 75,000 owners of affected units have been identified and the switches have been replaced. The company is attempting to contact all other purchasers and notify them of the need for corrective service. The phone number is toll free and may be called between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

A free informational meeting on the Medifast weight reduction program will be held on Tuesday, May 9, at 7 p.m. at the LifeCenter on the Green, health and fitness center affiliated with Swedish Covenant Hospital, 5145 N. California Ave.

Medifast incorporates the use of a nutritional supplement during the plan's weight loss phase and is designed for persons who are 40 or more pounds overweight. Swedish Covenant has been certified to administer this medically supervised program.

to pay for a long term illness.

The intent of the program is to educate people, so that they may properly plan against the increasing chances of being wiped out financially by a long term illness. Nursing homes in Illinois cost between $22,000 - $50,000 annually. The cost of in-home care is approximately half of that.

Author speaks at Skokie Library

Eighty six percent of Lithuanian Jewry was murdered under Nazi occupation-most of the 157,000 Jewish citizens herded into ghettos in the country's three major cities, then systematically destroyed. Those who survived to see liberation in 1945 returned to find their communities in Lithuania obliterated, the citizenry still virulently anti-Semitic.

William W. Mishell, a survivor of ghetto Kovno, makes a moving addition to Holocaust writing with Kaddish for Kovno: Life and Death in a Lithuanian Ghetto 1941-1945 (Chicago Review Press). Mishell will speak at the Skokie Public Library on May 9 at 7 p.m. as part of the new literary series Arts and Letters.

The book describes the author's personal experiences in the ghetto and also provides an overall view of the fate of Lithuanian Jews under Nazism. Chaim Potok call Kaddish for Kovno "one man's unforgettable Odyssey through the Hell of the Holocaust." El Wiesel said "I am impressed and moved."

Mishell is one of the handful of Jews to survive the Nazi occupation of Lithuania. After liberation from Dachau in 1945, he emigrated to the United States and took an engineering degree from New York University. Currently he lives in Skokie where he serves on the Holocaust Memorial Committee. He is also President of the Jewish Lithuanian Club of Chicago.

Admission is free for William Mishell's talk. The Library is located at 5215 Oakton St. in Skokie.

To be eligible to donate blood, LifeSource reports, an individual must be in good health, weigh at least 110 pounds and be in at least 17 years of age. It is important to eat a good meal before donating. Blood donations can be given once every 56 days.

The Jiffy Lube Coop has declared May blood donor education month. All May Blood donors will receive coupons for $3 off the 14-point Jiffy Lube automotive fluid service when they stop by a LifeSource blood drive or donor center.

LifeSource asks you to "Plant Some Hope this Spring," and donate blood.

Hartigan receives award

Pictured (l-r) are Attorney General Hartigan, first recipient of the NCCJ Defender of Justice Award with Karl Berolzheimer, Senior V.P., Secretary and General Council of Centel Corporation and Presiding Co-Chairman of Chicago NCCJ Board.

Attorney General Neil Hartigan was honored recently by receiving the first annual Defender of Justice Award from the Chicago and Northern Illinois region of the National Conference of Christians and Jews (NCCJ).

Attorney General Hartigan

Walk benefits Israel's needy

The Horwich-Kaplan Jewish Community Center, at 3003 West Touhy Ave. will have one of its busiest days of the year on Sunday, May 7, when an estimated 2,000 people gather there to start and, hopefully, return to finish two different Walk With Israel events.

According to Denise Greenberg of Rogers Park, Walk Chairman, and Tahli Hoffman of Lincolnwood, Walk Teen Chairman, registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. for a 10-mile Greater Chicago Walk through Rogers Park, Evanston, and Skokie, and a 2-mile Family Mini-Walk through Rogers Park.

Opening ceremonies for both Walks begin in at 9 a.m. Dignitaries expected include State Senator Howard Carroll, State Representative Louis I. Lang, and Alice Segal, president of the Horwich-Kaplan JCC. Milton Katz of Rogers Park will launch the Walks by blowing the shofar (ram's horn) as he has done at many prior Walks.

Refreshments and entertainment will be featured at the mid-points of both Walks. Singers, dancers and a troupe of North Shore teens, "Shining Lights," will perform at the Horwich-Kaplan JCC site in Skokie, midway point for the Greater Chicago Walk.

Puppeteer Marilyn Price, Chicago Bulls' mascot Bennie the Bull, and a Moonwalk will be featured at the mid-point of the Family Mini-Walk at Indian Boundary Park.

Walk With Israel is a city-wide celebration of Israel's 41st birthday that raises monies to help Israel's needy and disadvantaged people through the Jewish United Fund. This year is the 18th year of the Greater Chicago Walk. When it began in 1972, it was the only such observance. This May 7 there will be a total of 19 Walk events held at eight locations in Chicago and suburbs.

Among the other Walk events in a Jog with Israel. Registration for these 5 and 10 kilometer "fun runs" and "fast walks" will be at 7:30 a.m. at Harms Woods Forest Preserve Groves 1 and 2, in Glenview. For information on any Walk event call the Walk Center, 675-2200.

Ascension Day Worship scheduled

The Edison Park Lutheran Church, 6626 N. Oliphant Ave., will have Ascension Day services at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 4. Holy Communion will be offered at both the services.

Indecent exposures

It was a bad night, all around, April 26 for a 20-year old Prospect Heights woman who parked her car in the lot in the 6800 block of Dempster Street on her way to a health club. As she walked through the lot, a medium sized, light blue, late model car pulled along side and the sandy-haired driver exposed himself to her. The startled woman ran, neglecting to note the car license number. Continuing to the health club, she left her purse in a locker and worked out for more than an hour. Returning to the unlocked locker, she found her purse, valued at $75 and $22 cash missing.

A 28-year old female sunbathing in a rear yard of the 5600 block of Capri Lane April 25 was surprised by a man in grey, with dark wavy hair, who stood outside the yard and exposed himself to her. The woman ran to call police and the man fled on a black, 10-speed bike. A suspect was apprehended by police on the bike path at Howard Street in Niles. The 41-year old male was charged with disorderly conduct.

Traffic violations

A 22-year old Morton Grove resident threw a tantrum in the pre-dawn hours of April 29 when he was curbed for traffic violations. A Morton Grove officer observed the suspect's car pass through two stop signs without stopping and curbed the vehicle in the 9500 block of Ozark Ave. The driver exited his car screaming, "I did nothing wrong," then laid on the parkway, continuing to scream. The suspect was taken into custody and found to have been arrested three times for driving while suspended. Bond was set at $1000.

April 26, shortly after midnight, a Morton Grove officer followed a speeding 1972 Oldsmobile and later apprehended the driver, who fell asleep while awaiting a light change at Waukegan Road and Dempster Street. The driver, a 33-year old Chicago man, was charged with driving under the influence, improper lane usage, and operating a vehicle carrying open liquor.

She was charged with misdemeanor retail theft.

A witness watched two men load 100 pieces of scrap metal slugs into an unlicensed, late model Chrysler in the rear parking lot of a firm in the 8000 block of Austin Ave. the afternoon of April 24. The men, one with shoulder length blond hair and the other, dark haired and wearing a goatee, fled when they found they were observed. The loss is estimated at $50.

Bakers Square, at 8584 Dempster St. in Niles, reported $2500 in equipment stolen on April 27, when unknown thieves driving a truck or van cut chains and stole five transit carts from the restaurant. The Chicago woman, employed as a cashier, credited an unknown shopper, possibly an accomplice with $95.28 on a $138.31 purchase. The store manager allowed the customer to leave the store with the merchandise, but called Niles Police to arrest the employee. There will be a May 26 court date.

Niles Historical Society seeks members

Are you aware that Niles has a Historical Museum? Have you visited the museum lately?

If your answer to the question is no, you have been missing out on exhibits and interesting, educational and entertaining programs given at the societies general meeting, which are held on the fourth Monday of the month at 8 p.m. in the museum.

The society, a non-profit organization is maintained by its membership and volunteer workers who are constantly renovating their recently acquired museum facility (Formerly Cook County Sheriff's Building). Each year as our development expands, so does our expenses and for these reasons we are in constant need of benefactors, sponsors, new members and renewal of former members.

We are in the process of collecting old photographs from Niles earliest days. However, we would use more. We would appreciate any photos and/or information on business, organizations and families to be filed for preservation in the museum archives.

MG firefighter extinguish car blaze

Six Morton Grove firefighters extinguished a fire in a 1982 Chevrolet Caprice station wagon in a driveway at 9234 Marion St. early on the morning of April 26.

Barat students perform one act plays

On Friday, May 5, at 3 p.m. and Saturday, May 6, at 8 p.m., final projects by students in the Acting and Directing program are presented in the Hilton Theater. Admissin is free. The Hilton Theater is located on Barat's campus at 700 E. Westleigh Road in Lake Forest. No ticket is required, and the public is invited to attend.

The evening showcases the works of students in the Performing Arts Center in the areas of acting, directing, lighting, and set design, and the basic mechanics of running a production from backstage. Faculty advisors evaluate the process and the product of their students' efforts. These evaluations are a critical part of the senior students' final approval for graduation.

Included in the program are two one act plays and twelve contrasting monologues prepared and delivered by students trained here on the North Shore. The plays are "Ludlow Fair" by Lanford Wilson, directed by junior Carter Martin, features senior Mara Yurasek as Rachel and junior Pamela Wild as Agnes, and "Minnesota Moon" by John Olive features theater student Charlie Wimmer in the role of Alan. The monologues will be presented by Lynn Schillacci, Robert Schneider and Jon Robert Cobb, three graduating seniors in the Acting and Directing programs at Barat. Each student will portray four contrasting characters by playwrights ranging from Shakespeare to Doris Lessing--demonstrating their ability to audition successfully, and flexibility of characterization from classical to contemporary and tragic to comic. Introductions to the basic background of the plays will accompany these presentations for the benefit of the audience. Along with Yurasek of "Ludlow Fair", the performance of these three students, are necessary graduation requirements.

The evening of student mounted work is the result of months of rehearsal and preparation. The student who successfully completes the program is well qualified to enter the world of theater in a variety of ways. The ability to present oneself successfully in an audition situation is an important example of one's preparedness for the stage.

Past preparations of student work garnished enthusiastic audience response, and this year promises to be another success. Don't miss this opportunity to see the stars of tomorrow today.

For more information, contact Barat Colleges Drake Theater Box Office at 295-2620 between the hours of 1-5 p.m. daily.

FOUR FLAGGS SHOPPING CENTER

by Eva Dolin

Spring Fever...It's clean-up time again and time to start dreaming of shedding your bulky sweater and raincoat for shorts and swimsuits and a day of lolling in the spring sunshine.

But first, celebrate spring by treating yourself to a shopping spree at Four Flags Shopping Center at Milwaukee Ave. and Golf Rd. in Niles. Perhaps a new hair-do a new scene-stealing piece of furniture for your home; or a lovely bouquet of easy-care silk flowers for your dining room table. It's all at Four Flags, including the Four Flags Health Club, where you can get in shape for spring!

Come with us as we take a peek at what's new and "in" at Four Flags this spring. Shed stress and pounds as we take a brisk walk in the spring sunshine and visit some Four Flags merchants.

THE NEW '90'S LOOK BOB...Our first stop is L'Image, the very creative Four Flags hairstyling salon, where they call the new '90's look the "ChopSwing" geometric bob. According to Irene Schrank, European stylist and creative director of L'Image, the news this spring is the new stunning geometric bob, which is more diffused and individualized to emphasize your best features.

"Individualized cuts to emphasize certain features are being done, such as detailing cuts to emphasize large eyes or the shape of the face," states Schrank. "In addition, new Multiple Images are being created to make a new '90's cut changeable into four different looks' with one single cut."

We also learn hair lengths for spring vary from very short, to mid-length, to very long and free! New '90's products are also being featured at L'Image. "Molding Mud" is a new product that adds fiber to make it look fuller and actually changes the shape of the hair! For an exciting new '90's spring hair do, call L'Image at 966-8885 for a complimentary consultation.

KID STUFF...For the latest in fashion in boys and girls apparel, we paid a visit to Kids Mart, Four Flags popular clothing and accessory shop for youngsters. A full service apparel shop for children ranging in age from the nursery set to size 14 teen, Kids Mart is not the typical serve-yourself store. It's the kind of kids' shop where management and sales staff actually assist shoppers in selecting clothing; answer questions on fit and care of the clothing. When Grandma or Grandpa come to Kids Mart for gifts, the staff not only offers help in selecting gift apparel and accessories, they offer suggestions on what is appropriate for the child's age and activities and what is the new "in" look for small fry.

What is the new spring "in" look for boys and girls? Angela Cousin, manager of Kids Mart explained what is new and exciting for spring: For both girls and boys it's the new wild neon colors, rainbow splashes, bold check and side panel racing checks. New and back from the '60's are tops imprinted with symbols of "Peace", "Flower Power", and "Don't Worry Be Happy." It is also the new "Bike Look" and "Skate Look" with over-the-knee shorts for boys made of light-as-a-feather lycra, and crop pants for girls. Also big for boys is the new BMX symbols on shirt tops.

In addition to offering full service, the very latest styles for kids, and down-to-earth prices, Kids Mart is a boon to relatives sending out-of-town gifts. All Kids Mart merchandise can be exchanged at any of the company's 400 stores located throughout the U.S.

SPRUCE UP YOUR EYES FOR SPRING! Turn your brown eyes blue, or green, or aqua, or violet, and you'll be into high fashion in eyewear this spring! Yes, both men and women of all ages are buying tinted contact lenses, says Martha Curth, manager of the Pearle Vision Center at Four Flags. "Our DuraSoft Color contact lenses are extremely popular this spring because people can see them more clearly when they remove our put their contacts in. Also, the fear of dropping a contact lens and losing it is no longer a problem, as color tinted lenses are easily found," states Curth. According to Curth, tinted lenses won't harm the eyes and require normal care like any other soft contact lens. The color eyewear has been approved by the FDA.

Also new in eye fashion is Pearle's new thinner, lighter Seiko Thin Lenses for glasses. The latest technology in eyewear, the new lightweight thin lenses are extremely popular with people who must wear high prescription lenses. Going Out of fashion this spring is the huge over-size popular designer glasses the "with-it" crowd have been wearing for years. Seems the giant frames and lenses are too heavy for comfort.

SPRING TREAT...For a fun break from spring cleaning, visit Four Flags Shopping Center in Niles. Visit the merchants we have told you about and the many other shops and service companies at Four Flags Shopping Center. It may be the best spring "break" you've ever taken.

THE ESSENCE OF SPRING...We stepped into spring and a profusion of breathtaking, spectacular flowers with a visit to Silk Plants, Etc., the Garden Spot of Four Flags Shopping Center. The shop, filled with exquisite imported silk plants, wood trunk trees, hanging basket arrangements, bushes and single stem flowers, looked so unbelievably real, we had to touch them to be convinced they were actually silk!

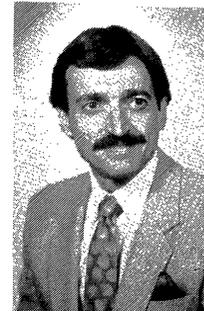

You may be able to solve your Mother's Day gift-giving dilemma with a visit to the silk plant specialists and a custom or pre-designed silk flower arrangement for Mom. She will love you even more when she realizes your lovely, colorful gift can last forever!

SPRING TREAT...For a fun afternoon, take a long "coffee break" from spring cleaning today and visit Four Flags in Niles. Visit the merchants we have told you about and the many other shops and service companies at Four Flags. It may be the best spring "break" you've ever taken.

See you on our next visit to Four Flags

Centel offers "voice mail" service

One of the hottest pieces of communication equipment in the consumer marketplace, the answering machine, may soon give way to voice mail, further expanding the telephone's capabilities, says Ellen Lenegar, business office supervisor for Central Telephone Company (Centel).

With voice mail, people are able to communicate with each other by leaving messages in a computerized "mailbox." A person accesses the messages stored in his or her mailbox by calling the mailbox number and entering a code.

Centel is now offering the service, called Centel Voice Mail, to both residential and business customers. The only requirement is that the voice mail service must be used with a touch-tone telephone.

The voice mail service is better than an answering machine, says Lenegar, because it gives the user more flexibility without having to purchase any equipment.

Centel Voice Mail offers customers a choice of economy service ($4.95 per month), standard service ($5.95) or full-featured of the shortcomings of traditional cost accounting systems and an in-depth discussion of modern cost management systems and concepts. Computer Aided Manufacturing International (CAM-I), advanced cost management principles and concepts, supported by hands-on implementation and consulting experience, are the cornerstones of this program.

Chamber opposes health insurance

The Board of Directors of the Niles Chamber of Commerce and Industry has taken a strong stand opposing proposed mandatory health insurance legislation being discussed in both Congress and the State Legislature.

The Chamber's resolution of opposition points out that bills now under consideration would require all businesses in Illinois with five or more employees to provide health coverage for any-one working 17.5 hours per week. Such mandated benefits would cost Niles area employers a minimum of $840 per year per employee. Insurance industry ex-

Aids available for the blind

The Guild for the Blind knows that limited vision doesn't mean you're a different person. What it does mean is developing an awareness of different techniques for seeing.

On Tuesday, May 16, The Guild for the Blind will host a Low Vision Day to introduce the many aids and alternatives available for people with visual limitations. Guild members will be on hand from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. to answer questions about failing sight as well as demonstrate magnifiers, enlarged computer screens, and closed-circuit televisions for reading. Also on display will be an assortment of everyday items such as talking alarm clocks, large print checks and oversized phone dials.

The Guild for the Blind is located downtown at 180 N. Michigan Ave. For more information about the May 16, Low Vision Day, contact Rosemary Gillespie at 236-8569.

L'wood Library computerizes card catalog

The Lincolnwood Library card catalog has been closed for author and book title information. Effective January 16, no titles and authors have been added or subtracted from the card catalog. All such information will now be available by computer through the Library's public access catalog (PAC). However, as an intermediate step, the card catalog can still be used to find information on subject matter.

Gail Inman, adult services coordinator, is planning a mini-class as needed "to help patrons bridge the gap between using cards and the computer."

The on-line computer class will cover how to do author and title searching. The hands-on demonstrations will be supplemented with instructional support material which is also available at the information desk.

According to Inman, eventually subject matter information will also be computerized. "With a little support and guidance, patrons will find that very soon they will be comfortable using the computer to access the information they need," Inman said. For information on the class schedule call the reference desk, 677-5277.

Adult children of alcoholics often experience difficulties with close relationships, self-esteem and trust. They can be overly serious and responsible, as well as rigid in response to change.

In order to explore these roadblocks and offer ways of coping and solving these problems without long-term and sometimes expensive therapy, Parkside Lutheran Hospital, Park Ridge, is offering a low-cost eight-week program for adult children of alcoholics. Advance registration is necessary. The program which will be held from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday, May 9 through June 27th will consist of lectures, films, group discussions and weekly assignments.

Letters To The Editor

Reader dismayed about referendum failure

The Honorable Mayor Blase: I am writing to express my disappointment regarding your influence over the voters saying "no" to the School District 63 tax referendum.

As a 20 year resident of this area and teacher in the system, I would like to perpetuate the high quality of education in this school district. My children received a fine education here. I believe I am similarly contributing to my student's education.

It is my hope that as the influential-Mayor of Niles, you share the goals of having schools of which we can be proud. Higher taxes are naturally unwanted by politicians and the public. However, your recent letter to the Niles voters indicated a higher than average tax levy would result from a "yes" vote.

More representative figures indicate the tax levy would be $100 on a home that sells at $140,000. It did not indicate that District 63 would not receive increased school funding if the 1989 assessment was increased until the next year.

Can the community afford to pay more taxes to support quality education? They cannot afford the high price of not doing so.

The people who were encouraged to vote, "no" have enjoyed the many benefits of this school district. Is it fair to ask them to give today's children less than their children received especially when a more challenging society awaits today's youth?

The vision of tomorrow calls upon us to help shape it. Our current diverse community needs cohesiveness.

Our borders of Des Plaines, Niles, Morton Grove, and Glenview not only touch, but they interweave. Because we share the commonality of District 63, can we begin to work toward the goal of a better tomorrow?

Nineteen Eighty Nine has been nationally designated as the "Year of the Young Reader". My vision is that of community leaders, local residents and educators working together toward making 1989, "The Year of Our Children." It would be a fine beginning. With our pooled resources we could make this suburban area the finest educational system in Illinois.

Sincerely,
 Lucille Solomon

Library trustee challenges basis for 'Left Hand' column

Dear Mr. Besser:

As a member of the Board of Trustees of the Niles Public Library District, I am very concerned about the headlines and article in the April 20 edition of "The Bugle".

Your article begins with the phrase "We learned..." I question the source of your information. The topmost headline reads "Left Hand: 1988 Niles Library tax twice the amount needed." I'm very concerned that statements such as those you printed are taken as absolute truth and printed as bold headlines without a source being named.

I'm also concerned that, as far as I know, you did not verify or cross check these statements, no matter who you heard them from.

"The Left Hand" contains the following statement: "...the incorrect figure handed out before the referendum enabled the district to receive twice the amount of money it anticipated." I challenge the basis on which this statement is made. Our present budget, which is published in full in your newspaper, is based on a rate of .281. Your statement, "receive twice the amount of money it anticipated" sounds as if the library is receiving funds over and above its budget. We are not. At this point in time, we are running behind in our anticipated revenues from tax collections. Our income and our expenditures will be those which were developed in public sessions, adopted in public sessions, and published at public expense according to law in your newspaper.

Prior to the election, the local papers covered the issue of a tax increase in detail. The basis for the $12 average figure was explored in depth. (This figure was arrived at by determining the amount of funds the proposed increase would provide and dividing this amount by the number of all residential units in the library district. All residential units included homes, condominiums and rental apartments both in the Village of Niles and in the unincorporated areas served by the library district.) Indeed, for some residents it will be higher than the estimated average, as was pointed out in numerous news articles, that's the way averages work. However, news articles and the ballot were very careful to explain that the library board was seeking to increase the maximum rate from .15 to .281. All the board could do was estimate what the average rate increase would be. Each tax payer had the full information to determine the impact on their own taxes: the proposed rate increase was from .15 to .281.

Past school president congratulates staff

Dear Editor:

As a former school board member and past-president of Niles Township High School District 219, I would like to publicly congratulate the School Board and administration staff of Niles Township District 219 and Oakton Community College for their visionary thinking as to the utilization of the Niles East property.

I feel it is important for all of us in the community to understand the importance of education to the future of our community. Our growth, our credibility and, yes, even our property values, directly relate to the quality of education we provide. I believe Oakton's presence in Niles Township now only enhances those values, but, because of this recent agreement, will increase them.

We've been hearing from the residents of the district in another perhaps even more important way—they're using the library in ever increasing numbers. Circulation is up 31 percent and patron registration is up 13 percent this year compared to last. This tells us that people like what the library is doing and that they are happy to have more books and better services. We believe we're meeting our civic duty by listening to the voters and serving the library's patrons. After all, isn't that what we're here to do?

Sincerely,
 Charlene Wagner
 Treasurer, Board of Trustees

Community helps Joliet Library

Dear Editor:

The Joliet Public Library suffered a tremendous loss due to a fire bombing last week. The Joliet community has asked "what can we do to help?"

There has been a great outpouring of sympathy, concern, and desire to help restore our collection of children's books as well as help as quickly as possible. This fire has gained national attention and calls have been received from all over.

The clean-up and restorative work on the building will be going until mid-summer. Our collection will be rebuilt over a much longer time.

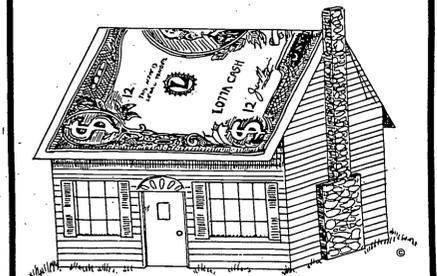

Thank you for your interest and concern about our library.

Sincerely,

Dance Theatre of Harlem performs

The ballet's story is drawn from the song of the same title which tells the tale of John Henry as a child and as an adult, his parents and his sweetheart, Polly Ann. Using just his sledgehammer and steel bit, John Henry outworks a steam drill, but as the song says, he pays a terrible price.

Turning to more classical repertoire, Dance Theatre of Harlem presents George Balachine's "The Four Temperaments" with music by Paul Hindemith. This classic ballet in five parts was subtitled "A Dance Without a Plot" upon its 1946 world premiere in New York. "The Four Temperaments" is an abstract expression of Man's four different humors, or temperaments.

Theatre audition for "Annie"

The sun will come out this summer for Theatre 219, when Little Orphan Annie and her dog Sandy dazzle the community theatre's stage. Theatre 219 will hold auditions in May for actors of all ages who are interested in performing "Annie."

Separate auditions will be held for children and adults. Both male and female children ages 3 to 14 will audition at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 11 at the Niles West High School auditorium, Oakton St. at Edens Expressway. Adults will audition at 7 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, May 30 and 31 in the same location.

"The Firebugs" at North Central

North Central College will close its 1988-89 theatre season with a production of Swiss playwright Max Frisch's "The Firebugs." Performances will be presented May 5, 6, 12 and 13 at 8 p.m. in Pfeiffer Hall, 310 E. Benton Ave.

"The Firebugs," subtitled "A Learning-Play Without a Lesson," is arguably Frisch's most provocative play. Whether it is regarded as a hilarious, almost slapstick farce or as a satirical attack against complacency depends on the point of view the theatregoer brings to the play. What the author does, using dramatic techniques ranging from allegory to the Theatre of the Absurd, is simply to reveal the actions and attitudes of people confronted by a powerful, ruthless enemy.

Director Christopher B. Connelly, assistant professor of theatre at North Central, has set the 1959 German play in contemporary America.

Tickets are $4 for adults, $2.50 for senior citizens and students. Tickets can be purchased in advance at the Harold and Eva White Activities Center, 325 E. Benton Ave. -- 312/420-3466, or at the Pfeiffer Hall box office just prior to each performance.

Civic Theatre continues performance

Jim Post's "Galena Rose: How Whiskey Won the West" is a one-man musical docu-drama about the opening of the Wild West, starring Post.

Entering its sixth smash month at the Civic Studio Theatre, Jim Post's dramatic one-man musical miracle continues as one of Chicago's top theatrical hits. Written, directed and performed by the renowned folksinger, "Galena Rose" explores the opening of the Wild West through the history of the lovely river town, Galena, Illinois. Post does it all through the voices of some 20 characters who meander their way through a dozen original songs.

Although Post engaged in careful research before writing his play, the final product for the stage was ultimately born of his imagination, a banjo and if you believe the props on stage, a suspicious-looking jug of that controversial elixir that started it all: whiskey.

For tickets call 902-1500 or visit the Civic Opera House box office Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., 20 N. Wacker Dr. at Madison. Tickets may be purchased at Ticketmaster outlets located at Carson Pirie Scotts, Rose Records, selected Bergner's Department Stores, or West Coast Video stores. Tickets are also available at the Civic Studio Theatre box office at performance time. All tickets are $18.50, general admission only. Group rates available.

"Teens at Risk" program provides guidance for teens

In the 17th century, poet John Gay wrote "Youth's the season made for joys..." as an expression of the romance and freedom of youth.

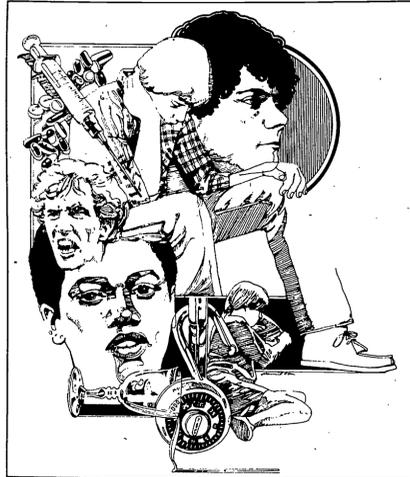

In the 1980s, the joy of simply being young is no longer that obvious. Many of today's youths have taken on burdens once confined to adults: drug and alcohol dependency; personality disorders beyond those identified with the usual "growing pains"; and thoughts of suicide as a viable solution for dealing with life's setbacks.

Professional treatment is always most effective when it is a family matter.

Being a teenager in 1989 isn't easy and, sadly, often lacks elements of fun and care-free attitudes. Those who are in frequent contact with teens -- parents, teachers, school counselors and athletic coaches -- have seen firsthand the need for specialized counseling for school-age teenagers. In response to these needs, Charter Barclay Hospital and AAP Mental Health Resources of Skokie will co-sponsor a unique "Teens at Risk" program for adolescents and their parents.

From 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, May 20 parents and their children can visit AAP's Skokie offices, 8930 N. Grosspoint Rd., for a free professional evaluation. This session identifies risk areas, as well as healthy aspects of child adolescent lifestyles.

"Only about 5 percent of the young people who participate in the program are recommended for in-patient treatment," noted Scott Rowley, Administrator of Charter Barclay Hospital. "The majority of these teens don't require hospitalization of any type.

Instead, it may be recommended that they enroll in some type of group therapy, or even family therapy sessions. "Some teens will require no care at all: 'Teens at Risk' gives parents a professional evaluation of their teenager's lifestyle and problems.

Evaluation programs include physical health assessment, psychological screening, chemical dependency assessment, family dynamics discussion, educational history review, fitness and nutrition profile, spiritual needs as-issues that are often difficult for parents and children to deal with without professional assistance." As a September 1988 study of adults by the National Association of Private Psychiatric Hospitals (NAPPH) showed that 72.4 percent of those interviewed felt that teens today must cope with far more serious problems than the adults did at the same age. In the same survey, more than 79 percent of the same respondents agreed that if they were educated and recognized that their child had a mental illness, they would seek professional help.

"What the NAPPH figures seem to suggest is that there's a continuing need to educate and inform the public," Rowley emphasized, adding that the decision to seek treatment can be difficult and even confusing for parents. So often, the teenager may look like an adult and, to a great extent, may behave as an adult, but he or she is still a child.

"The parent must take charge of the situation," advised Dr. David Bawden, M.D., Medical Director of Charter Barclay Hospital. "In effect, the parent must say to the child, 'I don't like the things I'm seeing, and I must take control.'" The decision to seek professional help is almost always the parent's -- seldom will the teen come forth and ask for treatment, although some teens do.

All parents of teenagers should be sensitive to warning signs that their children are not behaving normally. According to Bawden, these giveaways include abrupt personality changes, such as hostile behavior or severe apathy; bad grades, especially for a teen who has been a good student; a drastic change in appearance; and a new set of friends who are an obvious departure from long-time friends or increased withdrawal and isolation.

"In a recent patient case, a 15-year old teen was in trouble with the police station before her parents realized she had a problem with alcohol," Rowley said. "Many times, parents deny to themselves, as well as to each other, that their child could even be capable of having a substance dependency problem. It's such a tremendous shock and requires a lot of adjustment and understanding on the part of the teen's entire family -- parent's, siblings, grandparents and others."

Professional treatment is always most effective when it is a family matter, explained Rowley, especially in the case of teenagers. Charter Barclay strongly emphasizes the importance of consistent family interaction with the young patient.

"What we almost always find is that the treatment is a learning experience for the entire family," Dr. Bawden said. "It is important that everyone in the teenagers family becomes educated about the teen's problem and what is involved in treatment."

Whether teens receive inpatient or out-patient care, Rowley pointed out, their chances of complete recovery are considerably better if they can return to a home that encourages an environment of communication and understanding. With the proper medical care, coupled with the unqualified support of their families, teens in trouble can become "typical teens," those stereotypes of young idealists who envision bright futures and are having a ball with life.

Is Therapy For You?

Therapy is not for everyone. Intelligence, determination, emotional courage and patience are required to make the journey of life change and personal growth. Without clear guidelines, people often question whether they should seek therapy.

If you answer yes to one or more of the following questions, you are likely at a point in your life where therapy could be useful to you:

- 1) I feel lonely, unhappy, depressed or discouraged much of the time.
- 2) I am worried about something almost all the time.
- 3) My relationships with other people are frustrating and unsatisfying.
- 4) I have physical symptoms of stress overload such as changes in sleeping, eating or behavior patterns and/or I am frequently ill.
- 5) I don't like myself and/or do self-defeating things.
- 6) My moods are unpredictable and change rapidly; I often feel like crying.
- 7) I don't know where to go with my life from here.
- 8) I feel confused much of the time and have trouble making decisions.
- 9) I don't seem to be operating effectively in some important area of my life (job, family, marriage, relationships, etc.).
- 10) I feel harried, pressured or angry most of the time.
- 11) My life seems meaningless and without direction.
- 12) I'm not as successful as I want to be.

Lutheran General presents fear seminar

Lutheran General Hospital-Park Ridge, 1775 Dempster St. will present a seminar by Joseph Zander, Ph.D., Outpatient Mental Health Services about abnormal fears, panic attacks and compulsions that can inhibit daily life. The program entitled "Fears, Panic Attacks and Compulsions" is scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday, May 9, in the hospital's Olson Auditorium.

Dr. Zander will discuss disconcerting between normal fears and fears that are "out of control." He will also talk about the causes and treatments of phobias, panic attacks and compulsive behaviors.

Dr. Zander received his doctorate in clinical psychology from the University of Health Sciences-Chicago Medical School. He came to L.G.H. - Park Ridge in 1987 and has spoken on a variety of topics locally.

This is the seventh of eight seminars in the hospital's community education series, "Health and Happiness 1989." The last seminar which is on Tuesday, May 16, will deal with understanding and helping your teenager cope with the trials of adolescence. The cost of each program is free, but attendance is limited. To make reservations or for more information call 696-6005.

Maine Center hosts open house

The Maine Center for Mental Health invites the public to their Spring Open House on Friday, May 5, from 3-7 p.m. The Maine Center, a not-for-profit community organization which has served Niles and Morton Grove for 23 years and is located at 832 Busse Highway in Park Ridge.

The staff has planned tours of the agency and informal presentations on services available through the Center. At 6 p.m. contributors, volunteer board members and auxiliary members will be honored with a special presentation. The first 50 guests will receive a gift, and refreshments will be served.

Over 35 million Americans suffer from some form of mental illness. The Maine Center has been helping Morton Grove residents living in Maine Township through diagnosis, treatment, and rehabilitation since 1966, but the organization has remained a well kept secret. Because people generally do not wish to let others know they are receiving treatment, mental illness is little discussed.

In fact, Maine Center offers township residents professional outpatient counseling, case coordination and crisis intervention. The Center also offers day treatment programs for adults in need of daily structure and activities. Assisted residential living is also available in scattered-site apartments for clients requiring training and support toward independent living.

Lecture on "Coping with Tiredness"

"Coping With Tiredness" will be the subject of a lecture by Dr. Bernadette Turner, an Episcopal Deaconess, at the North Shore Hotel, 1611 Chicago Ave., Evanston, on Wednesday, May 10 at 2:30 p.m.

The public is invited to attend the lecture at no charge. Dr. Turner, who is a senior citizen with a Doctoral degree in psychology, notes that "being tired is sometimes a state of mind and not related to physical infirmity or stress." Dr. Turner adds, "if we are aware of certain factors and causes, we can become more alert and active - one helpful aid is an agenda, which gives an individual a sense of accomplishing small and large tasks throughout the day."

Because more and more of today's young and old are beginning to be referred to in a catch phrase of the '80's, such as "couch potatoes," this is a lecture that everyone may find enlightening.

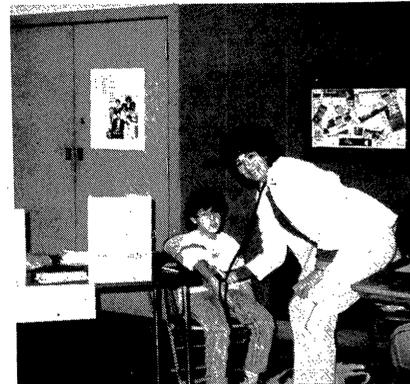

Please join us. For reservations call 864-6400.

Blood pressure/cholesterol screening

A blood pressure and cholesterol screening will be conducted by the Swedish Convent Family Health Center, 6304 N. Nagle, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday thru Friday, May 8 to 12.

Dietary guidelines for the cholesterol screening will be given when appointments are made. There will be a $5 fee for the cholesterol test. Appointments are necessary and may be made by calling 631-1300.

National Nurses' Day

District 18 of Illinois Nurses' Association, which serves the nurses of the North and Northwest suburbs, is committed to working to help solve the nursing shortage by providing career information to Junior and Senior High School students in the area. Nurses from District 18 participated in local health and career fairs to encourage students to enter the health care field. Individuals, schools, or organizations wishing more information on nursing careers can call District 18 at 255-9101 or Illinois Nurses Association at 236-9708.

"Nurses Change Lives" is the 1989 theme designed by the American Nurses' Association and its 53 constituent state nurses associations, who sponsor the event each May 6, on behalf of the nursing profession. Organizations in the area are planning events to recognize nurses for enhancing the well-being of patients and their families during critical times in their lives.

Because of the changes in the health care environment, the demand for registered nurses is so great that there has been a nurse shortage since 1986.

lars during the 13 year period since the District began fully funding the program. While the district's director of district finances, William Linning, said the best the center has ever done was in 1977, when revenue slightly exceeded expenses producing a $177 profit.

Linning told The Bugle his office surveyed the center's finances for 13 years through Jan. 31, of this year noting that in the seven month period between July 1, 1988 through the following Jan. 31, there was a $5,000 deficit. Linning allowed that some of the revenues from the center's recyclables may not have been posted for the period. Brabec counters the district's financial projections, saying that for the past two years the center has shown a profit, of $380 and $3800 approximately. He laments the fact that officials made no studies of the contribution made by the center, which provides jobs and training to special education students from district programs. He also feels the use of volunteers rather than paid supervisors to hold down administrative costs. He concedes that the centers outreach and education program could be trimmed and alternative methods of funding could be explored.

The District has not sought any outside funding for the center since it took over. As a student activity, funds were received from Niles Township and various other outside agencies.

Brabec cites the awards the program has received, the most recent of which is an April award from the Audobon Society as the Environmental Protector of the Year. He notes the irony that the district is complaining about air pollution from nearby Wells Manufacturing while trying to close its own ecology program. The director also points to the purported tax savings to surrounding residents. He estimates that 1200 pounds of recyclables are brought annually to the center, yielding 4200 cubic yards of disposables that will not have to be dumped by communities. Using a projected $12 per yard disposal charge, he says the center saves residents over $50,000. Taking into consideration an additional $23 per cubic yard hauling charge for garbage, the savings is as much as $147,000 per year.

One additional benefit the center brings to the community, according to Brabec, cannot be measured. Despite the school officials' contention that the center will have to be phased out due to competition from recycling programs in nearby Morton Grove, Lincolnwood and possibly from Skokie, our program actually gets more volume because recycling awareness is raised. In addition, we benefit because we can experiment with additional recyclable materials." The center is the only one in the area which accepts plastic for recycling. Plastic is one of the main pollutants cluttering landfills, because it does not decompose for hundreds of years.

Local realtors fight Muscular dystrophy

ERA Callero & Catino Realty will participate in a "Day in May" fund raising campaign on Saturday, May 6, at the intersection of Milwaukee and Oakton streets, to raise money for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The firm is a member of ERA Real Estate, the nation's second largest real estate franchise, which has raised nearly $9 million since 1977 as the sole corporate sponsor for MDA in the real estate industry.

Every year, ERA Real Estate targets the first Saturday in May to intensify its year round fund raising efforts to MDA, said Bill Alston, broker with ERA Callero & Catino. This year, our firm is making its greatest effort ever to "Volunteer for Victory" to help find a cure for muscle-wasting diseases.

The money raised by ERA Callero & Catino and other ERA Brokers nationwide is contributed to national MDA chairman Jerry Lewis for MDA during the Labor Day Telethon. Last year, ERA offices raised $1 million, and this year, ERA has a nationwide fund raising target of $1.25 million.

To contribute, drive by the intersection of Milwaukee and Oakton on Saturday, May 6, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., or stop by ERA Callero & Catino at 7800 Milwaukee Ave., anytime.

harvest. The Missouri farm boasts of having the second largest private spring in the state. Listening to John Reding, one has the impression that Fishermen's Dude Ranch is his Maine Township labor of love.

Across the road, a 40 acre development called Lake Mary Anne Estates stands in counterpoint to the secluded ponds of its southern neighbor, a reminder that Fishermen's Dude Ranch is sitting on prime real estate. The residential development was named after Mary Anne Reding who was the premier homeowner on the property in 1956. Her husband John, a sand and gravel contractor, bought the property in the early 1950s. According to the younger Reding, a spring was uncovered as the quarry was being excavated and the lake was born. Development of the parcel for other owners did not get underway until 1969. John's two sisters, Geril Anne and Mary Gail also live there. Twenty-two homes had been built on half-acre lots as of last December. A total of 40 residences in the $400-600 thousand range is projected.

John Reding gives the impression that there are no imminent plans to convert Fishermen's Dude Ranch into a clone of Lake Mary Anne Estates, a revelation sure to please surrounding condominium owners at The Landings, whose apartments face the woody setting. The only current construction plan is for a miniature golf course on the western edge of the ranch property. Appropriately enough, the course has a fishing theme, with a different kind of fish or angling situation depicted at each hole. The course is scheduled to be completed in mid-June. Mary Anne Reding especially wants people to know about the golf course. She sums up her family's achievements this way: "We've gone through life trying to enhance the neighborhood. I tell people, 'be proud of what you put your name on.'" perintendent, Dr. Harry Trumfio, when the combined enrollment of schools dips below 500, it is no longer economically feasible to operate two separate facilities. Current Hynes enrollment is 276; Golf, 251. Both figures include special education students.

Morton Grove resident Bob Kitzerow presented the petition to the Board. Kitzerow, a certified public accountant experienced in real estate sales, maintained the Board hasn't presented enough facts to convince him the sale makes good business sense. He has applied to run for membership on the Board in November. He agrees the consolidation of Hynes and Golf Junior High has obvious advantages administratively, but that there are pros and cons educationally and that the economic advantages have not been proven. He said "Schools create an atmosphere where you live." He wants the school district to "...maintain the less-density factor and maintain the schools you have."

Dr. Trumfio notes there are maintenance repairs necessary at Hynes now and that a renovated Golf school would be more energy efficient, would have larger classrooms to better accommodate technological innovations and would have improved physical education facilities. Though not predicted in demographic studies, in the event student enrollment does rise, there is more room to expand at Golf. Golf has 13.5 acres while Hynes has 9.5.

District officials are using demographic projections gleaned from studies done by Northeastern Illinois Planning commission, the Illinois State Board of Education, the U.S. Census and their own data. According to Dr. Trumfio, officials are moving carefully to be sure they don't make a mistake and have requested an educational management consulting firm to further evaluate the demographic data.

countant revealed the district had $500,000 in excess money. But the manager said the accountant hadn't taken into consideration the $250,000 which would be needed for paving the new parking lot on Waukegan Road.

The entire story becomes a comedy of errors. A board member tells us the district is "swimming" in excess money. The manager said this conclusion is caused by an accountant's error and cites the needed $250,000. We then reviewed last year's newspapers and saw a story where the library district requested $100,000 for the paving project from Niles Township funds. Now, the paving figures go up from $100,000 to $250,000 during this 1988-1989 interval.

Either there's a loose cannon out of control in the district or Niles library people are going to have to get their act together.

The controversy over the amount of the tax increase could have been avoided if a more accurate determination was made regarding the increase. Using the taxbills of five or six local residents for this guessimating was a superficial effort. And when a board member contends the district is swimming in excess money because of an accountant's report which excludes a $250,000 expense, you have to conclude someone is not watching the store. And the conflict whether the paving project cost was $100,000 last year and $250,000 this year leaves the door open to more unanswered questions.

We don't believe there's any skulduggery down at the library offices. But we do question the ability of the library people to handle tax money when they seem to be operating so unprofessionally.

When we questioned the business manager about his method for determining the tax increase estimate he said, "I'm no statistician". Since he didn't have expertise in this area, and yet his estimate was used in telling the electorate what the tax increase would cost, it behooved the district to hire experts who would give accurate figures to the voters.

The budget went up $700,000 as the result of the referendum. Library residents dug into their pockets and handed the district this added amount. Library representatives owe these taxpayers professional administering of the district. This comedy of errors leaves much to be desired.

several residents from adjacent Oakton Court sat in the audience awaiting the Commission's decision. All members were present while Architect Darrell Rachey of the Rockford firm of Williams and Rachey detailed elevations, slopes and ramps for the new lot, which will double the library's existing parking capacity. The Library's Administrator, Duncan McKenzie, was also on hand to answer questions.

A woman who lives across the street from the library told the Commission she is concerned about the traffic hazards occurring when two village buses are in the lot at the same time, and when other motorists and bicyclists enter and leave while buses are enroute.

The Oakton Court entrance, which fronts the existing lot, has been changed from a single 30 foot wide driveway to two separate 22 foot driveways. The additional parking lot will be on the western side of the library, with a ramp connecting the two lots. The architect's plans call for entrance from either Oakton Court or via a narrow alley off Oakton Street and an exit-only driveway on Waukegan Road which would route traffic northbound only.

Commissioner Angelo Troiani pleased the residents when he asked that the Waukegan Road driveway plans be changed to accommodate incoming autos as well as to permit traffic to exit either northbound or southbound on Waukegan.

Reminiscing about the days when a produce market was on the present library site, Troiani asked the library to have a "good neighbor policy" with the Oakton Court residents, who have experienced worsening congestion due to the increased usage of the facility. Patron parking has spilled out onto the street, especially week-ends and evenings. Troiani maintained the gesture of changing the routing would eliminate 30 percent of the Oakton Court traffic and discounted initial concerns voiced by other commission members that the change would cause traffic hazards. "There are a million scenarios for a traffic accident," he asserted.

The commission unanimously approved the plan, including the Waukegan Road revision, subject to the opinion of the Village's engineers. Architect Rachey and Director of Code Enforcement Joe Salerno indicated they will immediately show the plans to the emergency board members and the architect later expressed some reservations about the wisdom of changing the traffic pattern at the west driveway but feel the new parking lot is too urgently needed to delay the construction any further to challenge the zoner's opinion.

The plan commission also approved a parking variance for a Subway Sandwiches carryout building facility proposed for 7744 Milwaukee Ave. The 24 seat restaurant, which will lease space in a building already occupied by Domino's Pizza and Radio Shack, will have front parking available for seven cars. Owners Joel and Anita Lipnitzky of Morton Grove appeared in lieu of their son Randy, who is the principal owner and operator of the 1436 square foot restaurant.

As required by the Open Meetings Act, Chairman John G. Frick announced that anyone wishing to accompany the commissioners when they tour properties which are on the board's agenda should notify the board's secretary Evelyn Gartner before 1:30 p.m. the day of the meeting. The board meets the first Monday evening of each month. The board will assemble in front of the Village's Administration Building at 7601 N. Milwaukee Ave. at 1:30 p.m. to tour properties whose owners are requesting changes.

Appointments are necessary and may be made by calling 631-1300. The screening is being conducted in observance of May being "Better Hearing and Speech" month.

drug testing will focus on where the tests would be performed and under what conditions. According to Illinois Department of Health regulations, blood tests may be performed only by licensed hospital technicians in a hospital setting. However, the Health Department told the chief that an officer may obtain a urine specimen.

The circumstances under which a subject might be tested would occur when an officer stops a car that is being operated in an erratic manner. Based on the officer's judgment about whether a driver is impaired, certain physical tests are requested of the driver.

A driver who smells of alcohol, has slurred speech or trouble keeping his or her balance would be asked to recite the alphabet, count, walk a line or follow a pencil with his or her eyes. If the officer suspects the driver is impaired, field tests (tests which are not performed in a hospital setting) are done at police headquarters, subject to the driver's consent. Currently a breath test, where the driver is asked to blow into a special testing balloon, is the only test generally administered.

Giovannelli is exploring alternatives for obtaining the use of the computerized machine capable of testing for seven different substances in a urine specimen.

The $60,000 piece of equipment is available through Abbott Laboratories. It screens for marijuana, cocaine, heroin, barbiturates, amphetamines, hallucinogens and morphine. Giovannelli hopes that Abbott will supply departments with the machines, either without charge or on a lease basis, and the police would purchase the necessary chemicals for testing.

Administration of urine tests would be done on drivers who show evidence of impairment but whose blood alcohol level is below the legal Illinois limit of .10. There is a bill pending in the legislature to lower the limit to .08. Other states, such as Colorado, have limits as low as .05. Giovannelli has studied other state laws and has asked the U.S. Attorney about the feasibility of arresting someone for possession of a controlled substance if the individual is not carrying the substance but is under the influence of it. He has also looked into laws where authorities can impound an automobile belonging to a DUI driver for more than the six hours allowed by Illinois law.

In cases where a driver is convicted of controlled substance abuse, the village is considering a $1000 fine for each offense. Tests would be administered at the Niles police station. Female motorists would be tested by female personnel.

agreement about the spending of state funds on the nursing homes. With the homes now under receivership, the Illinois Department of Public Aid agreed to advance them $400,000 to cover operating and payroll expenses.

A demand by creditors for early payment of bills due in May left the facilities unable to pay 500 staff members. The staff employees and administrators had gone unpaid the past week and threatened to walk out unless they were paid. The walk out would have left about 1000 patients, most of whom are on public aid, without care.

Attorney General Hartigan said it would have been impossible to pay the staff if the creditors were paid before May. He said, "We took emergency action on this matter because of our concern for the welfare of the nursing home residents."

such as this four percent increase. "We will be reviewing our compensation structure in the near future," Director Hughes said. "If it's appropriate, we'll make changes." Hughes said this review would include increasing the number of steps within grade, and comparing the salary structure of other park districts along with other job descriptions. Hughes expects this survey will not be completed for at least three months.

Water use...

ter conservation programs immediately even though the rule change, if adopted, would not go into effect before the summer of 1990. The governing body which issues Lake Michigan Water Allocation Permits would deny permits to municipalities failing to implement summer water conservation programs.

Surveys of officials in Niles, Morton Grove, Des Plaines, Park Ridge and Skokie reveal that none of these communities have on-going sprinkling restrictions of any type, though all of the municipalities implemented emergency programs during the 1988 summer drought. At press time, none of these officials were aware of any new ordinances being prepared for their citizens.

According to a March 1989 communication prepared by the Division of Water Resources, Lake Michigan Management Section, studies have been shown that car washing, swimming pools, drinking fountains, and the washing of sidewalks and driveways constitute ten percent of the total outdoor water use by a community while lawn sprinkling, landscape and garden watering amount to 90 percent. The "primary culprit" according to Section Chief Daniel Injerd is lawn sprinkling. To meet the agency's minimum requirements, a community's outside water use ordinance would have to restrict sprinkling to no more than every other day, prohibit sprinkling between the hours of noon and 6 p.m., and include a provision that would temporarily ban all outside water use in the event of an emergency water shortage. The ordinance would have to be in effect every year between May 15 through Sept. 15.

The department's allocation program is designed to ensure that all of Northeastern Illinois' water needs will be met. The agency recommends that communities educate their citizens about responsible water use practices. Some of the suggestions include advice about water-wasting practices such as overwatering, watering during the heat of the day, and wet sidewalks. In addition, the Agency suggests that communities work with local turf experts and landscapers to get practical advice about water needs of landscaping plants, as well as the impact of fertilizer, dormancy, and depth of watering.

are in District 70. Residents are thinking of changing all that. Carl Melke, who lives on Capri Lane, is a leader in the movement to secede. He maintains the quality of education is not the point, that both school districts are alike in that sense. He said "Seventy isn't better than 67. It's demographics. We're separated from the rest of the district by the forest preserve. Our kids don't have any friends. They make friends in the neighborhood during the summer and have to split up during the school year. It's a least a mile drive to the kids' school friends."

Melke said the parents don't want to put a financial burden on District 67. The district is already foreseeing a declining enrollment and has considered selling Hynes school and renovating Golf Junior high and combining the two student bodies at Golf. There is some parent rebellion against Maine Township will take part in the program.

Welcome news for Township residents is that Board officials do not anticipate an increase in local taxes. The owner of a Des Plaines home appraised at $86,897 paid $23 in township taxes in 1987.

Edison reliability improvement program

Commonwealth Edison crews are installing two new electricity distribution lines from the company's station on Golf Rd. One line will run along Washington St. and Golf Rd. The other will run south on Greenwood to Ballard and will increase the efficiency and effectiveness of electricity transmission to Park Ridge and Des Plaines.

Edison is investing $355,000 in this project, as part of its 1989 system-wide reliability improvement program. Edison has earmarked $2 billion for improvements in the system over the next five years. This year alone, 150 new distribution lines are scheduled to be installed, 106 miles of lines reinforced and 35 trans-

Automated refund information available

"Where is my refund?" is a question millions of taxpayers ask each year at this time. The Internal Revenue Service reminds you that refund information is available through the IRS Automated Refund Information Service. If you filed your 1988 Federal tax return at least eight weeks ago and have not yet received your refund, call 829-6397 or TAX-NEWS for this service. You should not check on your refund if eight weeks have not yet passed since filing.

"Automated refund information is available weekdays from 6 a.m. to midnight for people with touch-tone phones, and from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. for those with rotary dial phones," noted R.S. Wintrobe, Jr., Internal Revenue Service District Director for nor-imposed deadline for issuing a ruling was March 27. Village Attorney Richard Troy was told by the agency on April 28 what the power outages were caused by "unanticipated demand for electricity" in the area, as well as a deteriorated line.

"They're aware they had inadequate electricity to the area but they're taking steps to prevent future outages," Troy said. "The ICC feels no action against Edison would be maintained," Attorney Troy continued.

The ICC finding doesn't preclude Ransom Ridge residents from taking Edison to court to appeal the ruling, but the regulatory agency's decision bolsters Edison's contention that the utility was not negligent.

Robert Dwyer, District Superintendent for Commonwealth Ed-

ison's North Shore District said the utility will be contacting residents of Ransom Ridge and other areas to outline their work plans. Initial work to be performed involves reconstruction of existing cables, replacing them with larger capacity cables and transformers.

"Edison will also be replacing power lines in other communities such as Glenview," Dwyer said, "which have outgrown their existing service." Dwyer pointed out that cable has a life expectancy and that much of the existing power line network was installed before the increased demand brought about by widespread Central Air conditioning units. According to Dwyer, Ransom Ridge owners will hear from the utility before June.

Meryl Rivenson, Director of Administrative and Social Services for Maine Township, said the trustees might appoint a coordinator, assisted by volunteers, to develop emergency plans. She said further action would have to be taken by the new Township Board of trustees which will meet May 9. Rivenson noted that Township headquarters already serves as an emergency disaster site, providing temporary housing, cots and blankets.

Chamber names Cherio for citizen's award

Ricky Cherio, an employee of Skokie Automotive in Niles, became the 12th person to receive the prestigious Lt. John Christie Citizen's Award at a Niles Chamber of Commerce luncheon Wednesday at the House of the White Eagle.

Sponsored by the Chamber, in cooperation with the Niles Police Department, Cherio received the Citizen's Award for his actions and a cash prize for his actions.

"Without his help," said Chief of Police Ray Giovannelli, "a Niles Police Officer could have been seriously injured."

At 10:08 p.m. on Nov. 8, Ricky Cherio was called to the scene of an auto accident to tow away a disabled vehicle.

While in the performance of his duties, he saw Niles Police Officer Anthony Fidanza being attacked by two people who were involved in the auto accident.

Without concern for his own safety, Cherio went to the aid of the officer, subduing one offender while Officer Fidanza arrested the second.

Without the assistance of Cherio, the officer could have been seriously injured since his portable radio was knocked to the ground and damaged. He would not have been able to summon assistance.

This civic recognition program was started by the Chamber in 1980 using funds donated by a concerned Niles resident who wishes to remain anonymous.

as 90 percent participation in some neighborhoods. No less than 80 percent of the residents set out their special, village issued blue crates of recyclables on the curb alongside their regular trash.

Morton Grove's basic recycling charge is $1.28, which is in addition to its $8.49 per household monthly trash pick-up cost. It will receive a credit on this monthly surcharge of 80 percent of the net proceeds from the scavenger's sale of residents' recyclables. If the recycled quantity decreases below a certain amount, the Village is charged an additional 10 cents per household.

Lincolnwood began Village-wide recycling April 1 and, according to Arft, received a credit from Haulaway which reduced their extra recycling cost to 67 cents per month per household.

ADL seeks Holocaust survivors

May is Bicycle Safety Month

With arrival of warmer spring weather, motorists should be on the lookout for increased bicycle traffic, Secretary of State Jim Edgar said today. May is National Bicycle Safety Month.

Last year, 32 people were killed and more than 5,000 injured in bicycle accidents in Illinois.

"Motorists and bicyclists share equal responsibility for safety," Edgar said. "When you drive a car, remember that bicycles have limited speed and maneuverability. When you ride a bike, remember you must obey traffic rules just like everyone else."

Bicyclists should always ride with the flow of traffic on the right hand side of the road, use hand-signals, obey traffic lights and signs, stay as visible as possible, especially at night, be particularly careful when making left hand turns, wear a bicycle safety helmet.

A "Bicycle Rules of the Road" booklet published by Edgar's office, information about safety programs and answers to other bicycle questions can be obtained by calling 917-3386 or (217) 785-1444.
