Niles Library parking lot plans postponed

New trustees installed at a regular May meeting of the Niles Public Library District voiced concerns over plans for a proposed parking lot which has been under board discussion for two years preceding approval of a construction bid last month. Formerly the site of a Shell gas station, the area is scheduled to be resurfaced and landscaped at a cost of $259,500 by R. Hoffman of Skokie beginning this summer. The bid includes costs of electrical work and other improvements. A base bid is $203,000. A motion to rescind the project Continued on Page 50

Police arrest robber who threatened child

A 27-year-old Evanston man robbed a shopper in Niles Saturday evening after threatening to harm her daughter with a long metal stick. The Des Plaines mother had just exited the Jewel at 8730 W. Dempster St., with her young daughter seated in the grocery cart. As she placed her purse inside her car behind the driver's seat, she saw a man exit his near by car and move near her cart. When she looked up, he was holding either a crowbar or tire iron in a threat- Continued on Page 50

Chicago hikes water price by 16 percent

Water rates expected to rise

By Nancy Keraminas

Most area suburbs will be increasing their water rates by at least 16 percent, following a similar hike by Chicago and Evanston who provide Lake Michigan water to the northern metropolitan area. Most suburbs haven't levied additional water assessments, to cover the additional costs. Mayor Nicholas Blase is pondering the amount of Niles rate hike. Director of Finance, Gary Karshna, conservatively estimates Niles will pass on whatever increase it receives to the consumer. Karshna has been gathering data for Blase. The finance head declined to speculate on when the rate hike would go into effect or what the additional amount might be. "We're at the information-gathering stage now," he said. Niles Park Director Hughes resigns

by Nancy Keraminas

The Secretary/Director of the Niles Park District William E. Hughes submitted his resignation to the Park Board at the regular May 16 meeting. Rumors of a rift between Hughes and certain board members have been circulating for several months but some employees attending the meeting appeared to be upset by his abrupt departure, effective June 2. All board members were present at the three hour meeting, which was punctuated by two separate closed-door executive sessions, the first 10 minute executive session. Continued on Page 50

by Bud Besser

The village of Niles is taking over Oak School on Maine Street, East Maine School District 63 is "selling" the school to Niles for $1.

In Skokie, an elementary school is going on the auction block and the school district is likely to receive several hundred thousand dollars for this property.

The Niles $1 deal makes much good sense. The money-strapped school district is unburdening itself of a school which costs a great deal to maintain even though public school students aren't presently at the school. Furthermore, the school district would have to remove the asbestos in the building which is very costly.

The money-rich village of Niles, whose past fame includes the purchase of parking lots on Milwaukee Avenue, is now investing in school buildings. But what are they really doing is insuring young families who move into the area, will have schools in their neighborhoods, particularly if student enrollments increase in the 90's and the next century.

The village of Niles, like much of suburbia, is part of the "graying of America". Mayor Blase estimates one-third of the village is now comprised of senior citizens. Most of the seniors live on fixed incomes. And they are the group which Continued on Page 50

Oakton approves three-year contract

by Maureen F. Deasy

At the Oakton Community College Board of Trustees meeting on May 16, the Board ratified a three-year contract with the OCC Faculty Association/ Illinois Education Association. The present contract is due to expire Aug. 15, and the signing of the new contract is well before that deadline, avoiding many problems that occurred three Continued on Page 39

Promising to support the constitution and laws of the State of Illinois and the ordinances of the Village of Niles during their elected four-year term are: Mayor Nicholas B. Blase, Trustee Peter A. Pesole, Trustee Abe Selman, and Village Clerk Frank C. Wagner, Jr., seated. Skokie firm restores damaged art from River North District fire

The fire burned numerous original art works as it ravaged the block square building housing a group of art dealerships known as Gallery Place at Or-

The pieces were quickly sent to their plant at 7326 N. Central Park and placed in a vacuum chamber six feet in diameter. Paintings are placed on plywood shelves and inter-leafed with freezer paper to prevent migration of colors. The material is frozen, then dehydrated by a method called sublimation. After the sublimation process, materials can be cleaned and of scorch and soot unless stains are too pronounced, and then they will be sent to painting conservators for further treatment. Niles debates open meetings policy

Niles Village Board committee meetings, traditionally closed, may be opened to public scrutiny. Village trustee, Abe Selman, said recently, "I would imagine that the issue would go before the Board." He indicated the issue had not come up before, "But now I think there will be some discussion at our board meeting." Selman noted there are at least three Village Board committees: streets and alleys, 9 11 and finance. Selman chairs the finance group and said that he and fellow committee members, trustee Bart Murphy and Finance Director Gary Karshna meet when necessary, usually to research issues for eventual airing before the Village Board. He said no 9 11 meetings have been held.

The Streets and Alleys committee, consisting of trustees Peter Pesole and Angelo Marcheschi, meets once or twice a year. Trustee Marcheschi questioned

Niles police study school drug education

by Nancy Keraminas

The Niles police department is doing its homework in order to bring a drug education program to village schools. According to Sgt. John Katsoulis of the Niles Police, three sergeants with extensive community relations and drug investigative backgrounds will be working with educators and parents from each of 13 Niles schools to design a drug prevention awareness curriculum, customized to the needs of youngsters depending on their grade level, street-sophistication and the situation at the school.

Niles Police Sergeants Dennis McEnerney, Dean Strzelect and

John Fryksdale have begun contacting private, public and parochial elementary and high schools in order to plan the program, scheduled to begin this fall. In addition, the three sergeants have attended drug education seminars at Eastern Illinois University and will be receiving additional training this summer in St. Louis. "They'll be getting all the specialized training they can," Katsoulis said. "We've begun contacting the schools and they're all open to us."

MG Park budget up five percent

Recently approved figures in the Morton Grove Park Board budget reveal a slight increase over last year's expenditures. The 1989-90 budget lists additional expenditures of $148,000, nearly a five percent rise over the previous year.

The Park District's Financial Administrator, Kenneth Swan, said disbursements are expected to be $2.9 million this year as opposed to the $2.8 million in the fiscal year 1988-89. The Board expects to receive $3 million in revenues derived from property taxes, rental fees and recreation-program fees. Since taxes make up 51 percent of the Park District's revenues, the question is asked if the property tax levy would be raised. Swan said the assessed valuation of district real estate is the key, and the 1988-89 values won't be available for about a month.

Swan noted that the increase in the budget is slight. He said the addition of two staff positions accounts for about $33,000 of the increase, the amount equaling the combined salaries of a maintenance position and a

Niles Coca-Cola workers approve contract

A seven-year contract with the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Chicago, approved by Teamsters Union Local 744 recently, has drawn faint praise from the Local's President, Roy Chamberlain. The Teamsters voted 310-117 in favor of the settlement, which effects workers at plants in Niles and Alsip.

Chamberlain stated his reservations saying "The company put an attractive pay package together, but if you look at everything as a total package, I don't think there was a pay increase."

The contract will raise wages but cut benefits for most workers. Most of the average trucker's wage derives from the commission paid for cases of soda delivered. This will rise from 30 to 40 cents and will reach 42.5 cents in 1996. Base pay will drop from $166 to $100 a week. By 1996, salaries for production workers

State won't appeal dismissed DUI case

A Morton Grove woman injured in a January car accident in Park Ridge is emphatic about the DUI case dismissal on a technicality and now declared to have no grounds for appeal. "It's been very difficult," said Elizabeth Konar, 68, a heart patient who was injured while in a car driven by her husband Albert, 78. Mrs. Konar is still under a doctor's care for injuries received in the accident.

The Konar car was struck at 7616 Oakton St. when a car driven by a Des Plaines woman crossed the center lane into the eastbound curb lane, struck a Buick driven by a Niles resident, then swerved to the right and hit the Konar vehicle, head on. Park Ridge Police charged the Des Plaines driver with two counts of driving under the influence and transporting open liquor, among other charges.

Joseph Kazmierski of the State's Attorney's office said, in essence, that after review, under current state law, there were no grounds for appeal of the decision

Utility reads meters by phone

Consumers Illinois Water Co. began deploying a new Illinois Bell service to read meters by telephone.

Using Ameritech Automatic Meter Reading service, a utility can read a customer's gas, water or electric meter via a telephone line, eliminating the need to estimate bills or enter customer's premises.

"For years, gaining access to a customer's meter has been a headache for utility companies and customers alike," said Mike Posch, an Illinois Bell product manager. "The problem is increasing as more people work away from their homes during the day," Posch added.

"Automatic Meter Reading lets utilities read customer's meters with greater speed and accuracy simply by using a phone line," said Posch. "Utilities no longer will have to issue bills based on estimates when they are unable to gain access to customer's houses."

With Automatic Meter Reading service, a utility customer's meter is connected to the customer's telephone line through a special reading unit. When the phone is not being used, generally in the middle of the night, the utility can dial the reading unit and read the meter without ringing the telephone.

The information then is delivered to the utility's computerized data collection center, also over telephone lines. The entire process takes just seconds to complete.

Consumers Illinois Water Co., a Kankakee company, is Illinois Bell's first customer of the meter-reading service. A successful trial of the service involving Northern Illinois Water Corporation has been underway in Champaign since 1987.

Consumers Illinois Water Co. will use the new service to read 25 meters. The number is expected to rise to 100 by year-end.

Girl Scouts honor women achievers

Five area women will be honored by the Illinois Prairie Girl Scout Council at the organization's annual Silver Trefoil event. The May 25 cocktail party begins at 4:30 p.m. at Dika's Trackside, in Arlington Heights. Proceeds from the benefit support the Council's programs for girls.

The achievement awards recognize women who have attained distinction in their chosen careers, with the dual purpose of highlighting outstanding role models for young Girl Scouts.

"The honorees were selected from nominations which came in from all over the northwest suburbs and Lake County," said Ginny McMinn of Palatine, chairman of the event. "We have seen a steady increase in the number of women nominated since we initiated the awards in 1979, as more women assume leadership positions."

The five women are: Mary T. Doherty, Vice President for Nursing, Alexian Brothers Medical Center; Bonnie Henry, Vice President of Student Affairs, Harper College; Victoria Martin, Associate Judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit of Illinois; Kathleen Oenibene, Manager of Management Advisory Services, Dennis Nelson and Company, Ltd.; and Rev. Christine Anderson Stiger, Associate Pastor, Our Savior's Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights.

Tickets to "The Winner's Circle" are $25. Those interested in attending may call Beverly Cody at the Illinois Prairie office, 640-0500.

Women's News

Women with high risk pregnancies

Recognizing that the woman who has been diagnosed as having a high risk pregnancy has special needs, volunteers at Lutheran General Hospital-Park Ridge (L.G.H.-Park Ridge) have established the Perinatal Support Network (P.S.N.) for women who plan to deliver at Lutheran General.

Affiliated with the Concerned Parents Organization (C.P.O.), P.S.N. is a group of approximately 35 mothers who themselves experienced a complicated pregnancy. The women are trained to offer support, encouragement, and practical information to help others cope. They provide strategies for dealing with bedrest and longterm hospitalizations, tips on how to handle other children at home and names and numbers of services such as grocers, beauticians and restaurants that come to the home.

"Talking to someone who has been there can make all the difference in the world," explained Susan Field, coordinator, P.S.N. "They truly understand all that you are going through because they have been there."

Begun only nine months ago, the program has grown to where the volunteers receive some 25 calls each month. "We've touched a lot of people," added Mrs. Fields who helped found the network in 1988. "In fact, now we're hearing from other hospitals asking for information about how they can set up similar programs."

Mothers who wish to contact the network may do so by calling the Perinatal Unit at L.G.H.-Park Ridge at 696-6270 and asking for the P.S.N. coordinator. A volunteer from the network who is specially selected as the best possible match for medical and social history, will make contact within 24 hours.

Seventh district presents dinner

Their annual past presidents dinner was recently held by the Seventh District, American Legion Auxiliary.

De Groot kept her decorations in the theme of the 1988 year, the Little Red Schoolhouse.

Special guest of the district was Dorothy Hinson, the 1988 Department (state) of Illinois president.

Pitching is key for sophomore Dons

During the recent 1989 season, the Notre Dame sophomore Dons have put together an impressive campaign. Going 23-4 overall and currently 9-2 in the conference, the Dons are virtually unnoticed.

Led by third year coach Mark Gottlieb, ND has a lot of bright spots for the future. Some of these bright spots are pitcher/shortstop Anthony Grillo .385 and catcher Doug Bobor .410. Also 2nd baseman Mike Ruselle has been brilliant on defense and has sparked the offense with an on base percentage more than .500. The hitting has been good but the story of the season has been pitching. Led by Jim Ryan (9-1), Anthony Grillo (5-2), Scott Stampfli (5-1), and Kevin Foss (3-1) the Dons have been able to accomplish 19 complete game performances.

"Pitching is the name of the game, and Ryan and the other pitchers have been great, commented coach Gottlieb.

Other contributing factors are third baseman Den Schwind and Vince Baldasano, who coach has been platooning. Designated hitter Mike Rossi has also contributed. Outfield play has been solid with Bill Borkowski, Vic Wight, Rick Losik and Ryan doing most of the work.

Coach Gottlieb feels this is a solid bunch of kids with the potential to contribute highly for the varsity program next year.

Letters To The Editor

Reader fears drug test may victimize innocent

Dear Editor:

Niles Police Chief Givonelli has recently requested the village board's approval for the use of drug testing equipment on drivers who appear impaired from the use of drugs. The chief should be commended for his concern and his initiative in attempting to curb the use of drugs by drivers.

However, there may be some problems with his proposal which raise some questions. First, are these tests accurate? Companies that do drug testing admit these tests are not completely accurate, and the accuracy runs anywhere from 80-90 percent. Is it fair to have your driver's license revoked on a test which may be inaccurate 1 out of 10 times?

Second, can the results get confused with legal drugs which you may be prescribed by a doctor? For example, certain drugs for the eyes are made from marijuana. Usually, when a person goes in for a drug test, that person is required to list all medications he is taking, so the finding of illegal drugs can be compared against the drugs he is legally taking. Will the Niles Police be doing this, and if they are, have they had the proper training to determine what legal drugs will render illegal results?

I hope the village board will carefully evaluate the accuracy and reliability of the test procedures which will be used for this program.

I think it is important to keep drug crazed idiots off our streets, and I can appreciate the frustration of police officers in dealing with this situation. However, in our attempts to accomplish this goal let us not commit an injustice by placing innocent people behind bars.

Sincerely,
John Matuszak

Governmental involvement for school tax urged

Dear Editor:

A few weeks ago I read in The Bugle that some would not live in Niles because the school tax was voted down. Another person wrote that Mayor Blase should never have gotten involved in the school tax issue. Thank God Mayor Blase did get involved.

If these persons would pay attention to news reports on television, radio, and in the newspapers, they would see how mayors and even Governor Thompson are involved in the school tax issue. Why? They are involved because they want to see you tax dollars spent for schools and not spent foolishly.

A few weeks ago I read in the Left Hand column that the school board spent $45,000 to $50,000 remodeling the office in one of our schools and that a few weeks later closed the school. Don't you think that it is a waste of your dollars? Our school tax dollars are one of the highest in the surrounding areas.

We've lived in Niles 35 years and have seen the school board spend tax money building schools. Now they are closing schools and our tax dollars continue to climb.

Reader reminds of poppy significance

Dear Editor:

Thursday, May 25 is Poppy Day.

It's been so long since our beloved nation has had to defend itself that many have forgotten, or were never told, the significance of the poppy.

During World War I in a rural, normally tranquil place called Flanders in Belgium, a fierce battle took place. When the gunfire and shelling ceased the dead were buried in the earth where they fell. The following spring nature covered this hallowed ground with the blood red poppy flourishing among the grave markers.

These two events, the battle and nature's miracle, inspired John McCrae to write a poem, "In Flanders Fields", the last stanza proclaiming "If we break faith with those who die We shall not sleep though poppies grow in Flanders Fields."

So it is that Veterans organizations try to keep the faith with those who made the supreme sacrifice, so that we may enjoy the blessings of liberty, freedom and peace.

The poppy is symbolic to those who served our country with pride, in World Wars I and II, Korea and Vietnam.

American Cancer Society claim all organizations are different

Dear Editor:

It is often said that we are known by the company we keep; sadly, we also may be known by the company we don't keep.

Here at the Morton Grove Unit of the American Cancer Society, we are suffering from the public perception that we are involved with other fundraising organizations in the cancer field, some of which practice questionable fundraising techniques or spend their funds in a questionable manner.

The American Cancer Society is not affiliated with any other charity that raises money for cancer, nor do we endorse any other group. In addition, no money raised by these other organizations goes to the American Cancer Society.

Unfortunately, recent media attention given to these questionable charities, such as a recent segment on "60 Minutes," may give the public the idea that all fundraising organizations are alike. In fact, there are differences among charities, and we at the American Cancer Society are proud of our reputation for honesty and excellence in service and in fundraising alike.

But members of the public should not just take a charity's word for it when asked to make a contribution. Monitoring groups such as the National Charities Information Bureau (NCIB) and the Council for Better Business Bureaus (CBBB) offer guidelines for giving to charities. Questions that potential givers might ask include:

If the charity willing to submit to you its budget and a clear annual report, complete with an audit by an independent certified public accountant? Are the group's fund-raising and administrative costs reasonable? Does the charity use ethical and economical fundraising methods? Who manages and controls the charity? Who comprises its board? Does the organization have effective and useful programs?

The NCIB suggests that fundraising costs should not exceed 30 percent and that at least 60 percent of a charity's budget should go to services. Potential donors should ask for budget information from any charity before making a contribution of time or money.

For such information about the American Cancer Society, please do call us, toll free, at 1-800-ACS-2345.

Members of the public also may contact the National Charities Information Bureau at 19 Union Square West, 6th Floor, New York, NY 10003-3395, 212-929-6300. In addition, citizens may contact their local Chamber of Commerce or Village Hall.

Sincerely,
Shel Marcus

Use Home Equity To Finance Improvement Projects

By Amelia Herrera

For many homeowners, the arrival of warm weather signals the beginning of home fix-up season. If you are planning a home improvement project this year, whether it's a room addition or a simple remodeling effort, a home equity loan can provide both convenient financing and tax advantages.

Unlike many types of consumer loans, the interest paid on home equity loans is still tax deductible, making them an ideal way to borrow money for any home improvement project. Current tax laws allow you to deduct interest payments on home equity loans of up to $100,000. Generally, financial institutions will lend you 70 to 75 percent of the value of your home, less the remaining mortgage balance.

Home equity loans offer you a number of advantages in addition to tax deductions, including easy access to financing for projects you are planning. Most savings institutions offer competitive interest rates and flexible repayment schedules that make home equity loans an attractive way to finance home improvements.

The two most common types of home equity loans are credit line loans that provide a line of credit up to the limit of your loan, and lump sum loans, which furnish your entire loan amount at one time.

Credit line loans work like a checking account, with a line of credit instead of a cash balance. Each time you write a check, the loan is activated. You pay interest only on the amount owed, and as the loan is repaid, these funds become available for you to borrow again. Until the principal is due, usually after a five-year term, a borrower is only required to make interest payments on the loan.

Credit line loans are ideal for shorter-term financing or projects that are paid in installments. For example, if you are paying a contractor for a project on a monthly basis rather than all at once, a credit line loan allows you to pay interest on your credit line funds only when you actually spend them. Interest on most credit line loans is variable and will largely depend on the amount of your loan. Generally, the more you borrow, the lower the interest rate. Banks typically require a minimum initial loan amount, often $5,000.

Lump sum fixed-rate home equity loans are another type of improvement financing and are similar to your home's first mortgage. The full amount is borrowed in one lump sum and monthly payments gradually reduce the principal and interest owed. The interest rate remains constant over the life of the loan, which is usually no more than 15 years, and most lenders offer flexible terms to best meet your financial needs.

Lump sum loans are most attractive for long-range financing of home improvements. Whether you plan to remodel a room or add a garage to your home, a lump sum loan allows you to stretch financing over a long period of time. Because they are similar to mortgage loans, lump sum home equity loans usually require a small title fee and service charge.

Once you have decided to borrow on your home's equity, a good place to start looking for a loan is the financial institution from which you obtained your original mortgage, since it may offer a lower rate to current customers. Since interest rates and terms will vary with the type of loan you choose, you should find out from the lender what your monthly payments will be, and if your loan has a variable rate, how payments might change over time. Also, know what service charges or fees will be applied to your loan, if any, before you sign on the bottom line.

You also should look at all your current loan obligations before you borrow. As a rule, monthly payments on the home equity loan, plus all other loan payments, should not exceed 30 to 35 percent of your monthly "before tax" income.

Whether you are planning major remodeling or simple fix-ups, cashing in on your home's equity is an ideal way to pay for home improvements and receive a tax break on interest payments at the same time.

Amelia Herrera is Branch Manager of the Cragin Federal Bank office at 600 W. Talcott Road in Park Ridge.

Hospitals unite on cardiac catheterization lab

A joint venture between Victory Memorial Hospital in Waukegan, IL and St. Luke's Medical Center in Milwaukee, WI brought cardiac catheterization to Northern Lake County for the first time. Since April 24, Victory Memorial, 1324 North Sheridan Rd., has shared St. Luke's cardiologists to perform cardiac catheterization, the most comprehensive diagnostic procedure available to detect coronary artery disease, congenital heart defects, valve disease and impaired myocardial function.

Until now, many of Northern Lake County's residents in need of cardiac catheterization were referred to St. Luke's Medical Center. St. Luke's is the sixth leading center for cardiac care in the U.S., receiving heart care referrals from around the world. Since 1965, their eminent team of invasive cardiologists have performed over 45,000 heart procedures; 1,760 angioplasties; and over 20 heart transplants. They were the first hospital in the Wisconsin/Illinois territory to use the Jarvik-7 artificial heart and the first in the Midwest to perform a successful heart transplant.

The internationally renowned team of St. Luke's invasive cardiologists will be available on a regular basis to perform cardiac catheterizations at Victory. That team will be supported by Victory's highly trained technical staff. The new laboratory facilities are identical in design to the facilities at St. Luke's, thereby affording the visiting cardiac team to feel as though they were "at home". Victory Memorial Hospital is a 391 bed acute care facility dedicated to providing top quality care.

"Quick and accurate diagnosis of heart problems can be a matter of life and death for cardiac patients. At Victory, we see the opening of our Cardiac Cath Lab as a necessary continuum of care for our cardiac services patients," said Barbara Taylor, R.N., BSN, CCRN, Director of Victory's Cardiac Cath Lab.

Victory Memorial Hospital has developed a reputation over the years for providing quality cardiac care including emergency medical services, critical care, and cardiac rehabilitation. Diagnostic procedures available include hemodynamic monitoring, holter monitoring, echo cardiology, treadmill and EKG services. These programs are supplemented with counseling and educational support in nutrition, smoking, cessation, CPR, stress management, and widely diversified speakers bureau.

The Copernicus Foundation, 5216 W. Lawrence Ave., will present the Advocates Society with the Ninth Annual Copernicus Award on Sunday, May 21.

The evening will begin with a buffet supper at 5:30 p.m., followed by a concert featuring the Chicago Symphonic Wind Ensemble, with soloist tenor Stefan Wlach, beginning at 7 p.m. The concert will be held in the newly refurbished theatre at the Copernicus Cultural and Civic Center, 5216 W. Lawrence Ave.

The Advocates Society has helped the Copernicus Foundation since its inception, and have volunteered their time and efforts in various activities, including co-sponsoring a free Law Fair once a year, as well as providing volunteers for the annual "Taste of Polonia Festival" held on Labor Day Week-end.

Last year's recipients, Earl

Weber, President of Hoynes S & L, and the Norwood-Zurek Memorial Amvets Post #38 will be on hand to congratulate this year's recipient. Other past recipients include The Polish Women's Civic Club, The Legion of Young Polish Women, Hon. Edwin and Jewel Fifielski, Richard Lekko of Mariene's Catering, Chicago Society, PNA, Banker's Life, and the first recipient, Congressman Dan Rostenkowski.

The award is presented each year to a person or organization who has helped the Copernicus Foundation in their endeavors to provide a Polish cultural center and a civic center for the Northwest area of the city.

Tickets for the buffet supper and concert are $45, while tickets for the concert only are $20. Both are available by calling 777-8898. Contributions are tax-deductible.

Botanic Garden summer events

The Chicago Botanic Garden has announced its schedule for summer shows and exhibits for the upcoming season.

May is highlighted by the two-day Japanese Festival. The event will take place from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, May 20 and Sunday, May 21. Demonstrations of Japanese flower arranging, music and dance are highlights of this summer event.

The festival coincides with the peak blooming season in the Japanese garden at the Botanic Garden. Cherry blossoms, azalea and rhododendron generally reach their optimum color in mid-May. The three-island Garden, which covers more than 17 acres, captures the unique mystique and tradition of Japan.

Memorial Day weekend includes three exhibits including the Midwest Rhododendron Show, an exhibit by the American Peony Society and a display of Ikenobo and Suminagashi.

The Show of Summer, sponsored by the Garden Club of America, is one of June's highlights. It is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, June 25 and Sunday, June 26.

A collection of cacti will be on display from 1-5 p.m. on Saturday, July 8, and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday, July 9. This is only the second cacti and succulent show held at the Botanic Garden.

The Midwest Bonsai show is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 18, Saturday, Aug. 19, and Sunday, Aug. 20. Bonsai growers from across the United States exhibit a variety of trees in different bonsai styles.

New to the Garden this year is a series of concerts on the Theodore C. Butz Memorial Carillon. The concerts are free and scheduled throughout the summer on various Sunday afternoons and Monday evenings.

This year will mark the first full season for the Waterfall Garden which was opened in June of 1988. The Waterfall Garden, 75 foot high, is one of the highest natural points in Cook County.

A new addition in the Sensory Garden for the Visually Impaired is a woodland walk which features a variety of trees which, like the rest of the Sensory Garden, opens new doors to all persons by offering the enjoyment of gardening through sound, touch, and smell.

The Rose Garden at the Chicago Botanic Garden has more than 5,000 rose plants on display throughout the season representing more than 150 varieties. The Fruit and Vegetable Garden's displays not only provide a look at unusual varieties of edible ornamental plants, but also types of fruits and vegetables that can be grown in most parts of Illinois.

In addition to the many different shows and carillon concerts, the Botanic Garden sponsors a variety of family activities ranging from guided tours of many of the Botanic Garden's display gardens to cooking demonstrations in the Fruit and Vegetable Garden.

The Chicago Botanic Garden is located on Lake Cook Road in Glenview, one-half miles east of the Edens Expressway. The Botanic Garden is open every day except Christmas from 7 a.m. until sunset. Admission is free; parking is $2 per car. The 300-acre facility is owned by the Forest Preserve District of Cook County and managed by the Chicago Horticultural Society. Students bring joy to Lieberman Centre

Every Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. a bus drops off seven girls from the Ida Crown Jewish Academy to visit residents of Council for Jewish Elderly's Lieberman Geriatric Health Centre in Skokie.

Once there, the students, ages 14 to 18 participate in arts and crafts programs together with the nursing home residents.

"This is the second year of this program," said Melissa Levin, Supervisor of Therapeutic activities at Lieberman. The first year was such a success, that we did it again.

The residents really look forward to visits from these young friends, said Levin. "This year we've done a lot of one-on-one activities like manicures. The residents enjoy talking with these very mature young women.

"When we leave, we feel that we've done something special," said one high school student. "Some of the impressions I had about old people have changed for the better."

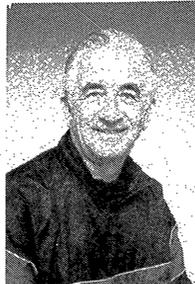

Lieberman Centre is a skilled nursing facility with 240 residents located at 9700 Gross Point Road in Skokie. In addition to having the Ida Crown students visit, Lieberman Centre also offers a variety of other activities, including exercise classes, outings and regularly scheduled bingo and card games.

Intergenerational programs, like the Ida Crown students visiting, is one way to keep Lieberman residents in touch with others in the community.

Other programs include bi-monthly visits from preschoolers who attend the Niles Township Synagogue nursery school. "These programs are so important," said Levin, they bring joy to the residents and really help establish relationships between old and young.

Said one resident, "their visits keep me young. It's nice to see that there are still some really good kids out there."

Oakton Arms housewarming party

Oakton Arms, a new retirement residence at 1665 Oakton Place, Des Plaines, will hold a housewarming party from 1-4 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, May 20 and 21. Hundreds of guests will tour the facility, meet WMAQ meteorologist John Coleman, and learn about the new concept in retirement living.

According to executive director and certified social worker Jay Lewkowicz, of Arlington Heights, the residence offers a family-oriented, home-like atmosphere as well as amenities that are important to those wishing independent or assisted living. Unlike larger retirement residences, operated by hotel chains or corporations, Oakton Arms is owned and operated by professionals with more than 20 years of experience in dealing with senior citizens and their families.

Surrounding an inviting five-story atrium are 102 studio apartments, each approximately 400 square feet in size. Twice-daily full-course meals are served in the cheerful dining room by a trained staff. Provisions may be made for special diets, and there is a daily salad bar. Residents may prepare simple meals in their own apartments.

Medical, dental, podiatric and eye care services are available in the building, as is a resident manager for added security. In addition to on-site beauty, barber, and concierge services, home-health care is also available.

Located in a residential area of Des Plaines, Oakton Arms is immediately adjacent to and affiliated with Oakton Pavilion, a widely recognized long-term health-care facility. Special admission privileges to Oakton Pavilion are granted to Oakton Arms residents.

"Though we are renting apartments, we are not in the real estate business," said Lewkowicz. "Our only business is serving seniors."

Oakton Arms is located off Oakton Street, between Wolf and Mannheim roads. For information or to make a reservation to the housewarming party, call 827-4200.

Niles Grandmothers present meeting

Niles Grandmothers will present their monthly meeting Wednesday, May 24 at the Niles Park District. The group will serve lunch at the meeting and invites all to attend.

An open letter to MY SON,

Dear Son - A mother knows when her son is worried about her. I could tell when I visited that you didn't like my living alone. Yes, son, I don't like living alone, but I know that you have your own family and your own life. That is why I couldn't even think of living with you. I only wish that I could live some place where I won't be lonely and where I could be near you and the children. Love as ever Mom.

Dear Mom:

I'm glad you put into words what has been on all of our minds. Now it's time we did something about it. Why don't we look into the North Shore, an American Plan Hotel for Retirement Living. It's located in the heart of Downtown Evanston so you'll be close by - near shopping and good transportation. You'll have your own beautiful apartment with maid and linen service. There's also 24-hour a day switchboard service. With folks your age living there, many will share interests with you so you'll have plenty of new companions as well. There's well-planned cultural and recreational activities, a heated pool, patio and gardens, and you'll enjoy 3 fine meals a day. I think it's worth looking into. Living at the North Shore will certainly solve a lot of worries for me and for you. Love, Bob

If you hope to retire at an early age, you need to take a long look at your possible sources of retirement income according to the Illinois CPA Society. More importantly, you have to find out exactly how an early retirement can reduce the amount of money you will draw from each of those sources. Social security benefits, for example, are still based on your age, when you apply for Social Security taxes. Any covered worker born before 1938 can apply for Social Security at age 65 and receive full benefits. For those born after 1937, including the entire Baby Boom generation, the age at which one can retire with full benefits gradually increases. For example, someone born in 1957 will not be able to retire with full benefits until six months after his or her 66th birthday. For those born after 1960, the normal retirement age will be 67.

What happens to your Social Security benefits if you take an early retirement? Retire before age 62 and you will receive no benefits whatsoever until you turn 62. On the other hand, if you retire between ages 62 and 65, you will receive your monthly benefit check—but the amount will be permanently reduced by as much as 20 percent.

Of course, Social Security should not be your sole source of retirement income. For most individuals, a comfortable retirement also requires an employer's pension plan. If you are just shy of meeting the vesting requirements of a company you plan to leave consider postponing the job change just long enough to qualify for your benefits. In any case, make sure you review any current or prospective employer's benefit policies with great care. Besides finding out how long you must remain with the company in order to become partially or fully vested in its pension plan, make sure you research other aspects of the plan as well. For example, how much does the company contribute to the plan? How is the money invested? How much net income can you expect to receive from the plan if you retire at 50? At 62?

Consider, too, that many companies and organizations will base your monthly pension checks on the salary you earn at the time of retirement. So before ending your career prematurely, take time to estimate how another raise or promotion could improve the standard of living you enjoy during retirement.

Whether you plan to retire or not, the importance of personal retirement plans, such as IRAs or 401 (K) programs, cannot be overemphasized. They can make the difference between a comfortable retirement and one that barely passes poverty-level.

Center of Concern offers shared housing

Adequate and safe housing for seniors continues to be one of the major national needs. One solution which has been utilized throughout the country with success is the shared housing program.

If an individual is living alone, needs companionship, or has trouble paying expenses, the problem can be solved by finding someone who is seeking a home and is willing to live with the person and share expenses. The advantages are obvious as such an arrangement does provide security, independence, avoids loneliness, and cuts down substantially on the cost for both parties.

Breakers' marketing counselors appointed

Candice Dice, David Opitz, Mariann Bastian and Janet Cole have been appointed Marketing Counselors for The Breakers at Golf Mill, a luxury rental community for active seniors located on Golf Road in Niles. The 282-unit community is the second area development by Senior Lifestyle Corporation (SLC) where active seniors can continue to pursue their own independent lifestyle in a secure, resort-style setting. Making the announcement of Candice Dice, David Opitz, Mariann Bastian, and Janet Cole as Marketing Counselors was Karen Mardjeko, Director of Marketing for both The Breakers at Edgewater Beach and The Breakers at Golf Mill.

Dice, Opitz and Bastian had previously worked at The Breakers at Edgewater Beach -- the company's flagship facility on Lake Shore Drive that is already 60 percent occupied just one year after opening -- before their promotion to The Breakers at Golf Mill.

"We believe that their strong background in sales and marketing coupled with a genuine concern to meet the needs of the active elderly will prove to be a great asset to The Breakers at Golf Mill," Mardjeko said.

In their new position, Dice Opitz, Bastian and Cole are responsible for marketing the rental units of The Breakers at Golf Mill -- a $25 million complex that features a full complement of amenities and services typically found in the finest resorts around the world. In their capacity, they conduct on-site tours of the residential community and work with prospective clients to assure that The Breakers lifestyle meets their individual needs. "For most of our residents, making this move is an important step in their lives," Mardjeko explained. "We try to help prospective residents in the decision-making process as well as provide counseling services and integration techniques to support their adjustment once they move in."

A former restaurateur, Candice Dice managed her family's Palos Park-based fine dining establishment for nearly 25 years before joining the Senior Lifestyle Corporation enterprise in October of 1988. Candice also worked in the medical sales field prior to her association with Senior Lifestyle Corporation.

Prior to joining Senior Lifestyle Corporation, David Opitz served as a manager for Lake Geneva's Hilton Hotel complex. David also brings valuable experience and insight into the needs of residents based on four years in management with a Park Ridge-based retirement facility.

Mariann Bastian had been a skin consultant for nine years with Mary Kay Cosmetics before joining the sales staff at The Breakers of Edgewater Beach in 1987. Mariann serves on the executive boards of both the American Cancer Society and the Edgebrook Chamber of Commerce.

Previously a marketing coordinator at two other senior residential communities in the western suburbs, Janet Cole recently united with Senior Lifestyle Corporation. A registered nurse for nearly 25 years and has worked across the country in this capacity.

Committed to enriching life for active seniors, Senior Lifestyle Corporation has created communities where the elderly can continue to pursue their own active, independent and rewarding lives in a secure, comfortable community.

The Breakers at Golf Mill, the Chicago-based company's second community for active seniors in Des Plaines opened during April, with nearly half of the apartments already leased. The Models and Information Center is open from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

Bill to limit Medicare overcharges

Legislation to prevent physicians from overcharging Medicare patients cleared the first hurdle in Springfield this week when it passed the House Consumer Protection Committee by a vote of 11 to 5.

The bill, HB402 sponsored by Rep. John McNamara (27-Oak Lawn), makes it a violation of the state Consumer Fraud Act for a physician receiving Medicare reimbursement to bill patients more than the federally-determined reasonable amount. In 1987 alone such overcharges cost Illinois seniors $138 million in out of pocket expenses.

"This measure will make health care significantly more affordable to the elderly without costing state government a dime," said Jerry Prete, President of the Illinois State Council of Senior Citizens' Organizations, the statewide federation of 600 senior clubs that has been coordinating efforts to pass the legislation.

Prete noted that seniors are particularly hard hit by physician overcharges since almost all "Medigap" policies only cover the 20 percent deductible on Medicare bills, leaving the recipient to pay the balance. As a result, seniors are unable to insure against astronomical medical charges. A study released last month by the ISCSO found that doctors routinely charge as much as $2500 per bill beyond the Medicare-approved amount.

"The next battle will come on the House floor," added Prete. "We expect a tough fight since the Medical Society has made defeating HB402 their number one priority. But if seniors mobilize to contact their lawmakers, we can beat the special interests and save elderly consumers millions of dollars in unnecessary health care costs." In addition to the ISCSO, HB402 has been endorsed by over 100 organizations, including the Illinois Association of Area Agencies on Aging, the AFL-CIO, several chapters of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP), and the Illinois Public Action Council.

Learner fights utility rate increases

Howard Learner, a public interest attorney from Chicago's north side, will lead the fight against unfair utility rate increases as the elected representative from the 9th Congressional District on the Citizens Utility Board (CUB) Board of Directors.

Learner took his seat on the board at a meeting of the organization Saturday in Chicago. CUB is a statewide utility watchdog group created by the state legislature to work for fair and affordable utility rates.

Since its creation, CUB has helped block billions of dollars in new rate increases, won rate reductions and refunds and helped reform the state's utility laws to better protect consumers.

CUB's Board of Directors has 22 representatives elected from Congressional Districts throughout Illinois. Learner won his seat on the board after defeating one opponent in an election conducted by mail during March.

Holy Family residents share 100 years

Do you wake up in the morning and wonder what you'll be like at age 100? Chances are you don't, but, during National Nursing Home Week, May 14-May 20, Holy Family Health Center in Des Plaines will pay special tribute to six residents who have celebrated or are about to celebrate their 100th birthday.

These six centenarians are busy sharing new experiences while reminiscing about the past at the center which provides care for each one of them.

The youngest in the group is Sadie Anel Tiderman, who was born on May 27, 1889. She was born in Hamleton, Ontario, during the reign of Queen Victoria.

The screenings will be conducted by Dr. M. Barry Kirschenbaum and Dr. Jeffrey E. Karaban, specialists in dermatology on the hospital's medical staff.

"Kids used to call me snot nose," Tiderman said. "My maiden name was Snoddy and my initials were S.A.S. Everyone said it fit me well."

Tiderman, who has not lost her sense of humor, had one son from her first marriage, who is now deceased, and a son from her second marriage.

"The first time I was married at age 15," she said. "It was a big mistake because I was so young."

Tiderman moved from Canada to the United States when Grover Cleveland was president. At that time she was 18. With her second husband, Robert, she owned and operated an exclusive resort located on Catfish Lake in Eagle River, Wis.

Sister M. Emma Ciechanowska, CFSN, who celebrated 100 years on February 17, was born in German-occupied Poland. During the 1900s she left her parent's home, then in Milwaukee, Wis., to join the Congregation of the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth. During her active years she taught elementary school and helped collect funds from area businesses for projects.

The oldest in the group, Sister M. Euzebia Jatzczak, CFSN, celebrated her 104th birthday March 15. While living at Nazarethville, a nursing home operated by the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth, she was known for her beautiful handmade flowers.

On February 14, Aribert Vaughn celebrated his 100th birthday with his wife of 47 years, Ann, and other family members at his home in Chicago.

Vaughn, who was born in Germany, came to the United States when he was in his 20s and started a printing company with his wife. Vaughn, who has lived at the health center for three years, lived in Chicago until coming to the center for additional health care.

Sister M. Clemensa Krolkowska, CFSN, who was born in Poland on June 24, 1886, is 102. At age 16 she came to the United States after working in Poland for several years. During her active years she worked in homes and at hospitals to help the community.

In 1984 when her health became a concern Sister Clemensa came to live at the center. Prior to this, she lived at Nazarethville and kept busy sewing clothes.

Harriett Edmunds, who has lived at the health center for two years, celebrated her 100th birthday on Feb. 8, sharing cake and ice cream with her family and friends. Edmunds has 12 sisters and one brother and she is the second to reach the 100th mark in her family.

VFW await senior center groundbreaking

Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Park Ridge stand at attention while awaiting the ground breaking ceremony for the addition to the senior center.

New retirement residence presents tour

Oakton Arms, a new retirement residence at 1685 Oakton Place, Des Plaines, will hold a housewarming party from 1-4 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, May 20 and 21. Hundreds of expected guests will tour the facility, meet special guest WMAQ meteorologist John Coleman, and learn about the new concept in retirement living offered there.

According to executive director and certified social worker Jay Lewkowicz, of Arlington Heights, the residence offers a family-oriented, home-like atmosphere as well as amenities that are important to those wishing independent or assisted living. Unlike larger retirement residences, operated by hotel chains or corporations, Oakton Arms is owned and operated by professionals with more than 20 years of experience in dealing with senior citizens and their families.

Surrounding an inviting five-story atrium are 102 studio apartments, each approximately 400 square feet in size. Twice-daily full-course meals are served in the cheerful dining room by a trained staff. Provisions may be made for special diets, and there is a daily salad bar. Residents may prepare simple meals in their own apartments.

Medical, dental, podiatric and eye care services are available in the building, as is a resident manager for added security. In addition to on-site beauty, barber and concierge services, home-health care also is available.

Located in a residential area of Des Plaines, Oakton Arms is immediately adjacent to and affiliated with Oakton Pavilion, a widely recognized long-term health care facility. Special admission privileges to Oakton Pavilion are granted to Oakton Arms residents.

"Though we are renting apartments, we are not in the real estate business," said Lewkowicz. "Our only business is serving seniors."

Oakton Arms is located off Oakton Street, between Wolf and Mannheim roads. For information or to make a reservation to the housewarming party, call 827-4200.

Edgewater offers prostate screenings

Edgewater Medical Center is now offering screenings to detect prostate cancer, the third-leading cause of death by cancer among men. According to I.S. Garlovsky, M.D., "Just in the state of Illinois, prostate cancer will be diagnosed in more than 4,000 men and it will kill about 1,300 men." The American Cancer Society states that about one man out of every 11 will develop prostate cancer during his lifetime. Dr. Garlovsky, a certified urologist on staff at Edgewater, explains that, "Prostate cancer is easily detectable and can be successfully treated if it is found early enough. It is a good idea for every man over 40, and especially men over 65, to have annual prostate exams."

The free screenings will be held each Friday morning in Edgewater's Outpatient Department, located on the Medical Center's main floor. Appointments are required, and may be made by calling 878-6000, Ext. 3130. Edgewater Medical Center is located at 5700 N. Ashland Avenue, Chicago.

Tell your pharmacist everything you take

by Leonard H. Gross
Editor in Chief
American Druggist Magazine

Many medications that are bought without a prescription—cough medicines, laxatives, painkillers, cold formulas, antacids, over-the-counter drugs, and many others—are not taken with the necessary caution.

The leading sellers among these medications are products that had once been available only by prescription. Eventually, federal health authorities judged that they could be used without the supervision of a physician—if users behaved wisely.

Side effects

Most of the nonprescription drugs can have side effects. For example, many prescriptions for colds and allergies can make you drowsy, so you should not drive or operate machinery. Aspirin, used improperly, can cause ulcers. Even vitamins, taken in excess, can cause harm. When acetaminophen, the active ingredient in some leading painkillers, is used excessively by individuals who regularly consume too much alcohol, severe liver problems may result.

Just about every medication, whether available with or without a prescription, can have unwanted side effects in some individuals. Reactions with other drugs

The over-the-counter medications you buy and use on your own may affect medical conditions you have (other than the problems that caused you to buy that drug). These products also can affect the drugs you are taking for other conditions.

For example, a person with diabetes who must restrict sugar intake may not realize that a cough syrup may contain sugar. Laxatives may cause the body to eliminate medicines too quickly, so that their effectiveness is reduced. Some nonprescription drugs for asthma that contain ephedrine should not be taken at the same time as other medications for high blood pressure or depression.

Follow directions

All over-the-counter medications contain instructions which should be followed very strictly (unless your physician advises otherwise). These instructions tell the right dosage to use and for how long the medicine can be tried.

One important reason for obeying these guidelines is to prevent self-treatment from masking a serious condition that should be investigated by a physician. A person may suppress pain using non-prescription analgesics, but fail to discover the underlying condition responsible for the pain.

Consult your pharmacist

Your pharmacist is an expert in prescription medications as well as those available without prescription. He or she can instruct you in proper use and can help you to identify side effects.

Most important, as the dispenser of your prescription drugs, the pharmacist can tell you how the nonprescription preparations may affect your regular medications and your other medical conditions.

Tell your pharmacist about the over-the-counter drugs you are using. The pharmacist may even enter them on the chart he or she keeps for you. In that way, you and your physicians can have access to a complete "drug profile" for you that can prove important to your health.

the new Dunning Square Shopping Center, is land that was once the site of the county poorhouse and insane asylum. The land also included a cemetery where possibly as many as 38,000 people—including some from the Chicago Fire—were buried between 1855 and the early 1900s.

Pontarelli calls the development Ridgemoor Estates and is constructing 10 single family homes and 10 two flats. Homes will sell at about $200,000 each. The builder found no bones on the site of an already completed 44 unit condominium on Narragansett Avenue and construction continues at that location.

Work on the single family homes is halted by order of Roger Cieslik, supervisor of health code enforcement for the Health Department. Municipal code requires that a permit from the department is necessary to disinter bodies. Cieslik said such licenses are given only to licensed funeral directors.

Delay over removal of the bones began when the Health Department assumed the Cook County Medical Examiner had taken charge, but the Medical Examiner had ruled the bones of no forensic interest because of their age of more than 100 years. The State's Attorney's office is trying to determine responsibility for the removal.

Barry Fleig, cemetery chairman of the Chicago Genealogical Society, has found death certificates, poorhouse and warden's reports and other documents revealing the county used the land as a cemetery until 1912. At that date the land was sold to the state for a fee of $1. The Chicago-Read Mental Health Center, a state facility, continued to use the land as a cemetery for several more years. Fleig said that on the basis of the incomplete records he has, approximately 38,000 people may be buried in the original 20 acres and in an additional five acre area west of Oak Park Avenue that was added later.

When Chicago-Read reduced the size of its quarters, the state declared 30 acres surplus. In 1988, the village of Norridge, on behalf of Harlem-Irving Realty, bid $5.1 million for the 30-acre parcel, then resold it to the realty firm for a $200,000 finder's fee.

The District now has more than $1 million on hand. By fiscal year's end, they anticipate the residue to be about $800,000. As outlined in the Park District's five year plan, the district will allocate $24,000 for capital improvements such as remodeling parks and making other specified changes.

will meet to discuss conditions of the student's re-entry. Policies on drug problems vary from school to school.

Gail Stone, a board member, said she thinks students are aware of the penalties and keep drugs out of school, but said, "On weekends there are terrible problems that we, as a school board, have no jurisdiction over." Stone noted that this case was the first drug-related expulsion in District 219 in the five years she has been on the board.

Stone said "Alcohol is one of our major problems" and she points to alcohol and marijuana as the most used drugs in the district. Although national statistics indicate that drug abuse is not as prevalent, Stone said "Experimentation by kids is starting younger and younger."

The school and district 219 regularly use the services of two organizations in trying to control the student use of drugs. Niles West works with the Skokie Response Center, an adolescent counseling service that helps students deal with drug problems; the district utilizes Township Reach Out To Youth (TRY), a community task force that focuses on drug education.

will climb from $11 an hour to $12.75 an hour.

For the first time, workers will have to contribute to the pension and health funds, giving about $7 a week to the health fund and about $50 a month to the pension fund. Also reduced is overtime pay, because it is computed on the amount of base pay.

Ron Nota, Vice President of Marketing for Coca-Cola, expressed satisfaction with the settlement, saying both sides won. "They certainly got a very solid compensation package, and we got the flexibility to manage the company into the 1990s."

sponsors to underwrite the cost of soft drinks, snacks and a dawn breakfast. Cost for the evening is $15 per person which compares favorably to the $65 Maine South students will have shelled out for their prom ticket.

Last year, 150 attended Celebration '88 and the organizers hope it will be even more successful this year. As a further incentive, there will be prizes donated by area merchants and citizens. Ditka's will feature its celebrated laser light show and in the spirit of the location, students will be able to place play-money bets on the finest racing mouse-flesh in the area. In addition to the mouse racing, a magician, caricaturist, hypnotist, and several comedy acts will perform. Junior class parents will be chaperone, bowing to the discomfort of seniors who don't want mom and dad beaming proudly at their decked-out progeny.

Niles West's prom is also this weekend. Prom goers will dance from 7:30-10:30 p.m. at the Ambassador West. Before each prom ticket was issued, the students, their dates, and their respective parents had to sign a contract promising not to have any drugs or alcohol before or during the prom. According to Liz Perez, the faculty prom liaison, the agreement also implies temperance will be maintained after the prom officially ends. The school chapter of SADD (Students Against Driving Drunk) has also given out key chains to raise the level of students awareness about drunk driving.

Library trustees...

Two more expenditures were referred to committee for further study. They are $1,260 for a treatment on the east windows to prevent book fading and drying and a $9,995 cost for a photocopier.

Costello reported that a "Friends of the Library" book sale will be conducted Saturday, Oct. 4 and donations are welcome. However, the library has a storage problem so books should be brought there close to the sale date.

New committee chairmen named by Rajski are: "Friends", Costello; legislative, Wagner; physical plant, Przybylo; finance, Quattrocchi; personnel and policy, Chmielowski; employee management, Rajski and NSLS, Chmielowski. All board members will meet as a committee-of-the-whole for both the physical plant and employee management meetings.

Measurement of "output measures," or library data required by the state show that per capita measures increased from the same time last year. Statistics are in library materials, 4.16 from 3.76; library visits, 4.5 from 4.2 from 95. The reference fill rate declined slightly from 95 percent to 92 percent.

Maine West's very active SADD chapter has been reminding students about the wrong kind of high spirited teen fun all year, according to principal Eldon Burke. Maine West's SADD members have hung posters all over the school and have also handed out key chains. In addition, Burke held an assembly last week to share some sobering anecdotes with teens, who might be tempted to mix drinking with driving. "They seemed to listen," Burke said. According to Burke, any student who shows evidence of being high or drinking will be turned away from the class prom. This has been a school policy for more than 15 years. Maine West parents are also marshalling student support for a post-prom Lake Michigan cruise the night of May 26.

Maine East is overscheduling their grads in the hope that their prom safety record will hold this year. According to a Maine East spokesperson, no parent group has contacted the prom's sponsors about offering the teens an alternative to the customary ritual of pricey Boul Mich carriage rides and Rush Street nightclubs. Unofficially, the school is aware that some students have rented rooms at area hotels for post-prom celebrations, but the Ramada O'Hare in Rosemont, where East's prom will be held on June 2, is not knowingly renting rooms to East students.

Presumably Maine East grads will have been exhausted by a May 31 honors award program, a June 1 graduation breakfast, and will need time to re-charge overnight before the June 3 round of picnics preceding the June 4 graduation ceremonies. Acknowledging the resilience of youth, the spokesperson admitted that parents and other sponsors may be the only ones in need of a rest on prom night.

years ago. Following board approval, a joint signing ceremony was held by all representatives who participated in negotiations.

This negotiation process was said to have been successful because it followed a win-win approach. This approach involved cooperation by faculty, administration and trustees during the past three months. President Thomas Tenhoeve said "I'm thrilled with the new contract but the most important aspect is that it was a collaborative effort. That is what made it positive."

Tenhoeve further explained the win-win approach by saying that the committees first met to define the issues and to delineate on each issue. Then they broke into four sub-committees with the objective of mutual gains for both the college and faculty on the 35 points. The breakdown of committees, according to Tenhoeve was, two on working conditions, one on salary and one on benefits.

President of the Faculty Association Barbara Keeley said "There is nothing really new in the contract except for the increases in salary and benefits."

Tenhoeve agreed saying that it was "putting in writing" the commitment to quality. "We now have a contract that will support school children with a comprehensive program which would include information about alcohol and other controlled substances but would also stress social relationships relative to living a healthy, drug-free life. The Niles police have been giving a presentation each year at Gemini Junior High School and have had to change their program somewhat each year, based on the needs of the students.

Niles currently is one of a few communities which does not have a drug education program in its schools. Seventeen area police departments including Morton Grove, Lincolnwood and Skokie, have adopted the Drug Awareness Resistance Education program (D.A.R.E.) to use in their schools, but the Niles department felt this program was too restrictive. "D.A.R.E. is aimed at the middle level - the fourth and sixth grades," Katsoolias said. "We're going to hit all the grades. We don't want to restrict ourselves."

Unlike the D.A.R.E. program, the yet unnamed Niles program will vary from school to school in length, intensity and content, depending on input received from parents and educators. Utilizing visual aids, coloring books and other age-appropriate tools, the officers will be able to use their own street-smarts and parenting abilities interchangeably, depending on their audience.

Katsoolias remarked that parents in the community have been instrumental in helping the Niles schools have a minimal drug problem. He also noted the schools' existing efforts, such as self-esteem programs, which have aided in drug prevention. "They're doing a great job at the schools. That makes our job a lot easier."

the growth of the college. In order to provide the best education we have to have the best instructors." Dr. Frederick Salzer, Professor of Engineering said that he is pleased with the outcome of the negotiations. "It was a very positive, pleasant experience." Keeley said that 93 teachers voted for the contract and 20 against.

Under the new contract, base salary increases are 7.0 percent, 6.58 percent and 6.46 percent for the three years.

North Park's Chamber Concert

Chamber Music at North Park brings its ninth concert season to a close with a guest appearance by The Shanghai Quartet on Friday evening, May 19. This is the first time this highly regarded ensemble has performed in the series underscoring North Park's continuing commitment to musical excellence. Concert time is 8:15 p.m. in the Lecture Hall Auditorium at North Park College, 3225 West Foster Ave., Chicago.

The Shanghai Quartet is considered one of the most promising young chamber ensembles on the music scene today. As the first place winner in Chamber Music Chicago's 1987 Discovery Competition, the Quartet appeared on the series in January 1988 to rave reviews from the local critics. Formed in 1983 at the Shanghai Conservatory, the Quartet left China to pursue its studies with the renowned Vermeer Quartet and, more recently, the Juilliard String Quartet. Following its 1987 New York debut, the Quartet was hailed as "among the finest young foursomes of the day" by New York Times critic John Rockwell. Now in great demand, the Quartet's engagements have included important festival appearances at Tanglewood, Mostly Mozart, and Ravinia.

Tickets for the May 19 concert are $6; $4 for those with a North Park College ID, students, senior citizens, and the disabled. Seating is unreserved. Evanston Art Center exhibitions

The show will feature the beach photographs of Jed Fielding, the fiber works of Ani Afshar and the seaweed works of Martha Phillips. At the same time, the Co-op Gallery presents "An Exploration of the Figure" with Susan Murtaugh and John Zehren. This exhibition opens Friday, May 19, from 7-9 p.m. and all are welcome. Also, there will be an opening reception for Ani Afshar on Sunday, May 21, from 4-6 p.m.

Jed Fielding's vision is based in observing the commonplace, the ordinary, the kind of thing one may glance at and look away from for fear of being caught staring. A series of thirty photographs which all were taken at Oak Street and North Avenue beaches will be on display.

Ani Afshar's fiber works are a rare mixture of traditional weaving techniques coupled with a contemporary sensibility of beading and image making.

Martha Phillips has created a body of work which is concerned with the issues of ecology and the sea. Each piece is fabricated from seaweed and deals with the balance between nature and man's relationship to it.

The Co-op Gallery's exhibition "An Exploration of the Figure" presents the drawings of Susan Murtaugh and sculpture of John Zehren. Realistic in scope, Murtaugh's portraits and still lifes focus on the deeper meaning and emotional power of her subject matter.

Blase appealed to when he sent out a letter opposing a recent tax increase for this very same school district.

It's an around and around Catch 22 situation. Seniors are on very strict budgets. The school district needs more money for its school system. And most of the seniors resist the tax hike.

If the school district sold its schools the entire area might be in a bind. No schools would result in a resistance of young people moving to the area. If the community doesn't have a mix with young people, its future would not be bright. And if there should be a surge of young people moving into the area, they would have to build new schools if the old ones were sold. Since one-third of the community is limited in their money expenditures, they would likely oppose building new schools. The future for the area would not be bright.

Money-rich Niles is showing its smarts. With some of its excess sales tax revenues, it will maintain a holding action for the older schools. It took over the Ballard school and is helping the park district by letting it use this facility. Similar use of the Oak School may follow.

Perhaps ten years from now there may be a need to re-open one or both of the schools. Niles can then give the school district back its schools. It will have saved the school district ten years of costs. And if the need arises these two schools can re-open, saving taxpayers a great deal of money. District 63 will have saved a great deal in not maintaining the buildings during today's student drought. And if tomorrow brings a new student avalanche, the buildings will already be in place to house them.

The village of Niles will also profit. When young people are shopping for a home, Niles can tell them there are schools within walking distance of their homes. The community will remain attractive for young people without having to burden older residents with high school costs. During the intervening years, taxpayers won't have to pay the school district for shuttered schools. And when there is a need for more schools, the taxpayers won't have to shell out for new schools.

This seems to be a near perfect solution which benefits the school district, the village and the taxpayers.

This time the guy who writes this column has to give a much-deserved bow to both public bodies involved in this undertaking. It is a creative well-thought-out plan.

was withdrawn following numerous objections by former trustees. However, construction will be delayed until after a May 18 meeting of the physical plant committee where plans and proposed costs will be examined by the entire board.

Newly-elected board president Margaret Rajski said, "It won't hurt us to have a single meeting to review our costs in terms of the lot and other improvements that are included." These decisions can be made "without rancor," Rajski said.

Ted Przybylo, one of three newly-elected trustees installed at the May meeting, asked that the board rescind its motion on the lot "in light of what the library wants and the Village of Niles zoning board said."

The library's initial plans called for a right turn exit on Waukegan Road but, following the complaint of a citizen on Oakton Court, the zoning board recommended that both an exit and entrance be built off of Waukegan Road. Any revised plans must be returned to the village for approval.

Carol Levey, another new trustee, supported his argument but later admitted that both would have known nothing could be

Water rates...

According to Mark Durham, Supervisor of Program Services for the Chicago Water Department, public works and water department superintendents were notified of the increase on May 1, when the new rates took effect.

New rates for those receiving water directly from Chicago include Niles, Morton Grove, Des Plaines, Lincolnwood and Park Ridge. Skokie is one of the communities hooked up to the Evanston pipeline. The new rate is $6.89 per thousand cubic feet of water, discounted to $6.86 per thousand cubic feet if the bill is paid within 21 days. A cubic foot of water is equal to 7.5 gallons.

By the time the water is metered out of a home faucet, a community has added its own expenses for pumping that water to a household or business. Water can be an important source of revenue to a community paying for the pumps and equipment as well as the salaries and benefits of the personnel responsible for keeping it flowing, preventing leaks and mopping up floods.

The water rates charged by communities vary. Niles charges users $1.53 per thousand gallons and Morton Grove customers pay $1.89 per thousand gallons. Skokie and Des Plaines gauge water use in cubic feet, charging $8.80 per thousand cubic feet and $1.37 per 100 cubic feet respectively. Skokie water is a relative bargain—costing approximately $1.17 per thousand gallons—because its water is provided by the city of Evanston and their cost is locked in by a five-year contract with the city. Des Plaines charges approximately those of Morton Grove, translating to a cost of $1.83 per thousand gallons.

Karshna estimates the average Niles homeowner uses 30,000 gallons of water each three months, with senior citizens using slightly less water. This usage is small compared to several Niles industries, that are charged the same water rate as non-commercial users. Coca Cola at 7400 Oak Park Ave. annually uses about 100 million gallons in its Niles operations. A 16 percent increase in their water bill will conservatively cost that company an additional $21,920 above their $37,000 annual water costs.

done at this stage if they had read the minutes of former meetings. Incumbent trustee, Irene Costello, also installed at the May meeting, suggested that the project be held in abeyance pending committee review but not rescinded.

Trustee Charlene Wagner, a board member for four years, said there was no reason to rescind the vote on the lot. "It upsets me to see all our hard work overturned by new trustees who want to up-ative session occurred as soon as the meeting was called to order, and the second one hour executive session immediately followed the board's acceptance of Hughes' resignation. Commissioner James Pierski voted against accepting the director's resignation. The meeting will be continued May 23 at 7:30 p.m. at the Recreation Center.

Hughes' letter noted that he has been a Park District employee for 17 years, 15 of which he served as director. Citing "turmoil and very stressful conditions" in the past few years, Hughes remarked "I had great hope we (he and the new board) would be able to work together." Referring to two recent executive sessions, Hughes said he decided to resign "due to circumstances beyond my control". The letter went on to say he was proud of his accomplishments, he would miss and cherish the support of certain park board members and employees, and that he was sorry he would not be part of the exciting future of the Niles Park District.

In the past week, two executive sessions of the board were held, presumably to discuss Hughes, who some people feel has been blamed for employee turnover. Employees have privately revealed that he took a phone call from the board earlier this week requesting his resignation because of staff problems. Staffers declined to comment on Hughes' resignation but many were visibly saddened after President Elaine Heinen read his one-page resignation letter dated May 16.

Hughes was called into the second Tuesday night executive session and after he emerged 15 minutes later said they had discussed his health and pension benefits, as well as his tuition reimbursement. Hughes will complete his master's degree in public administration at Roosevelt University this summer and will then look for another position. He appeared to be distressed by the events but did not elaborate beyond his written comments. His wife and two sons were also at the meeting, Mrs. Hughes said "we're here to show we love and support him."

Park insiders have expressed the viewpoint that Hughes was dedicated and worked many late hours and weekends. Some feel that he was in an unfortunate situation, that if he had been more of an advocate for staff members, he would have also incurred the wrath of the commissioners. After the meeting was continued, Heinen herself appeared to be emotional and saddened by the events but expressed the belief that the dissension within the park hierarchy was temporary and minor in nature. Heine, as quiet as Hughes, said, "Mr. Hughes has made his decision. I'm not saying a word."

In addition to Pierski's nay vote on Hughes' resignation, other motions did not meet unanimous approval. When the board elected its new president and vice president, nominations were offered to re-elect Heinen as president and Walter Beusse as vice-president. Commissioner Carol Panek voted no to both nominees and Pierski added his no to Beusse's nomination. Beusse and Commissioner Bud Skaja voted against the proposed purchase of a $2,480 inflatable aerospace hound dog (a huge buoyant toy) for the swimming pool.

Also beginning May 22, members of the public who want to preview future expenditures of the Park District can go to any of the four area locations where the 1989-1990 budget is available before the public hearing on June 8 at 6 p.m. The vote to adopt the new budget will take place on June 20.

In other business, a representative of the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund gave the board an overview of General Assembly legislation affecting employee pension funds. The Park District's mandatory contribution has been increased to 8.59 percent of the employee's salary, compared to 4.87 percent in 1988. The employee contribution will remain at 4.5 percent for pension benefits. The IMRF rep cited lower turnover rates, higher base salaries and longer service time as factors in a statewide increase in employer portions. Board members expressed outrage at the huge hike.

In addition, President Heinen read a letter signed by many Orenman Heights residents expressing dissatisfaction with the playground facilities. Three parks - Chesterfield, Oakton Manor and Point Park are targeted for redevelopment this summer, sharing a $90,000 allocation, with Grennan slated for a 1990 playground revamp.

The balance beam and wooden jungle gym are no longer at Grennan and citizens also expressed their concern about the hazards of a soft drink machine on the playground and the low fence around the baseball field. Heine thanked the letterwriters and also promised to look into the coke machine hazard immediately. She agreed with the residents' assessment of their playground and said, "All our parks are in bad condition. We would like to have all our parks at 100 percent. We have only a certain amount of manpower and a certain amount of money to work with." Swings for the older children are also vanishing because the slash-proof seats were recalled by the manufacturer due to a safety hazard and a replacement has not been made.

In other park business, Mike Rea, who has been temporarily acting as park superintendent following the resignation of Tom Slack, was officially promoted to that spot. Rea, who does not have the requisite college degree, will complete his college courses in his job description. Pierski and Heinen commended Rea for his outstanding work as acting Superintendent.

Skaja introduced a motion to raise open gym fees to 75 cents for residents and $5 for non-residents effective Sept. 1. The motion was passed unanimously.

ening manner over the head of the toddler and demanded her purse. The mother screamed and ran to cover her daughter with her own body. The man then grabbed the purse from inside the woman's car, calmly returned to his Chevy Impala and closed and locked its doors.

One witness ran up to the robber's car and screamed at him. He sped east through the parking lot, crashing into another moving car that had entered the lot from Dempster Street, and proceeded to go northbound on Greenwood Avenue.

A Niles man followed the offending, Gordon Dion Ross, down Greenwood Avenue, east on Ballard Road and then North on Milwaukee Avenue. For safety considerations, the citizen gave up the chase as Ross went east on Golf Road.

Witnesses and the mother gave Niles police a description of the suspect which was dispatched to other police agencies. The man was apprehended by Lansing, Illinois police about six hours later after he was involved in an automobile accident there.

According to his statement given to police, Ross was formerly employed by Jewel. He stole

Sherman announces candidacies

Phyllis A. Sherman, president of the Illinois Committee for Honest Government (ICHG), will formally announce her candidacies for Democratic State Central Committeewoman of the 9th District and for Cook County Commissioner from Chicago at a reception on Monday, May 22. The announcement and reception will be held at the Seven Stars Restaurant, 5937 N. Broadway, Chicago, beginning at 1:30 p.m. The public is invited.

According to provisions of the the car he was driving from an Evanston woman and went to the shopping center to rob someone because he was familiar with the area. He picked the Des Plaines mother, who is a social worker, because she was the first woman he saw with a purse leaving the store. After leaving the shopping center he drove to the Chicago and Northwestern railroad tracks near Morse Avenue in Rogers Park where he discarded the emptied purse. Ross had $5 of her money, an Amoco credit card and two checks totalling $380 which were part of the contents of the handbag.

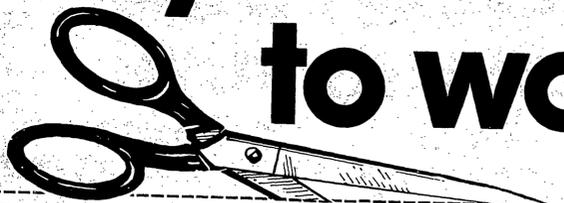

Using the woman's gasoline credit card, Ross purchased gas at the Amoco station at Bryn Mawr and Sheridan Avenues. Chicago, bought some liquor at an area liquor store and then drove to the Tri-State Toll Road and proceeded South. Apparently, he lacked enough change after his liquor purchase to pay a toll and the Illinois State Police chased the fleeing toll offender until his car crashed.

The Niles charges filed against Ross included armed robbery and forgery. He was held on $100,000 bond and will have a May 19 court date in Niles.

ICHG by-laws, once Sherman announces her intentions to seek elective office, all actions taken by the ICHG relating to endorsements will be presided over by ICHG Vice President James Stal-las.

Sherman, a Democratic Party activist for 19 years, made an exploratory bid for Cook County Recorder of Deeds in 1987, but stepped aside in favor of the slated candidate and eventual winner Carol Moseley Braun.
