Citizens protest Niles library spending

by Nancy Keraminas
 Angered by large tax bills, 368 Niles residents sent a petition to the Niles Library Board, singling out that agency for what one signer termed its "irresponsible spending".

Ray Grochocki of Niles saw a newspaper legal notice announcing an annual library ordinance of a .02 percent tax for building and sites and he was outraged at what he interpreted to be the library's bid for more money. "They shouldn't get a penny more," Grochocki as-

Niles gang leader sought

Niles police have issued an arrest warrant for a Niles man suspected of being the leader of a street gang after a July 30 incident. The man was driving his car when he was stopped by police investigating reports of a planned murder attempt involving two rival gangs. The driver consented to a search of his Golf Road apartment and brought police there. At the apartment, police spotted a credit card, stolen earlier from a Glenview residential burglary and the apartment owner

Free immunizations offered in Des Plaines

No measles reported in Niles-MG

by Sheilya Hackett
 Incidents of measles cases in the north suburban area have been spotty, according to the Cook County Department of Public Health (CCDPH) which monitors suburban cases of communicable disease. From Jan. 1 through the present, no new cases have been reported in Niles, Morton Grove, or Glenview. Des Plaines recorded three cases in the period; Park Ridge, Skokie and Lincolnwood had one each. Lowell Huckleberry, Skokie Director of Health, indicated immunization levels in that village are quite high, overall. Skokie's one case of measles was a 37-year-old adult.

CCDPH spokesperson Marguerite Adelman noted that of the 150 cases in the entire Cook County reporting area, one-third of those afflicted with the virus were 16 years or older. The department urges persons under 32 years, born between 1957-1970,

From the Left Hand

by Bud Besser
 Nick Blase is calling The Bugle "that Rueschie newspaper". We're glad he doesn't mean La Rouchie.

Nick's comments are in regard to several Bugle articles which reported Niles officials are attempting to kick Jim Ruesch and his truck garage out of town. His family has continuously run the garage on Shermer Road in Niles since 1922.

An anonymous letter-writer sent us his/her comments regarding the imbroglia which we are not able to print. The letter wasn't signed which prevents us from publishing it. There are also several personal vendettas aimed at Niles officials which can't be printed because the writer hides behind this anonymity.

A few excerpts from the letter are of a general interest which we would like to call to your attention.

The he/she writer notes he/she knew Jimmy Ruesch's father. (I believe he/she meant grandfather). The writer said his/her father served on the board of several German organizations with Ruesch, Senior. The board members all were original settlers in this area. "They were hard-working people who would work 15 hours a day. And they helped their neighbors. They did not try to kick anyone out of town. Their word was their

Niles police prepare for new drug testing of drivers

by Nancy Keraminas
 Niles police have begun formulating policy about collecting urine specimens from drivers suspected of being under the influence of illegal drugs. A recent village ordinance now requires a computerized urine test on impaired drivers if they pass a blood alcohol breath test. A driver found to have an illegal drug in his system would be subject to a $1,000 fine and/or sentencing to a drug rehabilitation program.

Police Chief Raymond Giovannelli said in a July 31 interview, that the $60,000 ADx testing device will be delivered by Abbott Laboratories sometime this month. Abbott is allowing the police department free use of the machine. Niles will only be responsible for paying for the chemicals used for the test, at a

Six arrested in police-youth confrontation

Niles police, summoned by a concerned neighbor, arrested six young people, including four minors in the 8300 block of Maynard Road July 24. The incident, which began shortly before midnight, is one of a continuing series of summer confrontations between youths and police, a situation that has aroused the ire of neighbors and sensitized police into increasing patrols of the area. An 18-year-old Niles youth was killed and a Glenview youth

Niles teacher's piano students end competition on winning note

by Nancy Keraminas

Susan Swartz is a 1975 Maine East graduate whose piano students scored high at the largest music competition in the state of Illinois. Lisa Luppino, Sharon Bosco, Mara Lippa, Frank Dvorak, Jr. (all from Niles) and Rochelle and Scott Beyda of Morton Grove were a few of Swartz's students who brought home trophies and ribbons from the most recent Herb Granquist Music Competition held in Geneva at the end of June. Swartz's achievements and those of her students are especially notable because her musicians have been in the winners circle ever since their teacher began entering them in the piano portion of the competition in 1982.

Swartz's achievements and those of her students are especially notable because her musicians have been in the winners circle ever since their teacher began entering them in the piano portion of the competition in 1982.

Swartz, whose musical education includes studies at the University of Illinois at Urbana and with Lomilla Lazar at Roosevelt University, teaches out of both her parents' Niles home and her own northwest Chicago home. Her goal is for her students to love music and "be willing to share their love of music with others." That her students have excelled in competition is a well-come side effect to that overall goal. Lisa Luppino began studying with Swartz when she was 7, the perfect age to start piano, according to Swartz. "A 7-year-old's hands are large enough and they have a fair amount of coordination," she says. Lisa, who is now 11, won a first place trophy for her Bach Minuet solo. Her mother Nancy, who accompanies her to each lesson, also plays. "I started to shake when Lisa won. It was a very exciting moment. We were all jumping up and down." Of Swartz, Nancy Luppino says the dedicated teacher "makes it really exciting for the kids."

Luppino mentions the various ethnic themes that characterize Swartz's style of instruction. The teacher assigns Italian, Polish, German and musical pieces of other national origins to give the students an appreciation of their musical heritages. Swartz also holds parties for the kids. Her students composed their own original songs and drew pictures for a Halloween song book and, at a dinosaur party, learned to play a song about dinosaurs. Field trips such as a recent one to Orchestra Hall are also part of her curriculum.

Sandi Beyda of Morton Grove says her mornings begin on a happy note. "I wake up to piano music every morning," she says. Her daughter, Rochelle, who is one of Lisa's classmates at Viola Nelson School and her son Scott, age nine, who won second and third place trophies, respectively at this year's competition. Shelly also took third place for her debut performance. "Ninety-five percent of the time they like to practice," said Sandi Beyda, whose children practice after they get ready for school in the morning. The children's father, Jeff, also plays. Swartz suggests that daily practice be limited to a half hour each day and says she urges "lots of incentives" to keep the kids practicing. She said with music "children learn to set goals for themselves on a daily basis." The half hour practice makes proficiency "manageable" for budding musicians, according to Swartz. Competition is a different matter.

Her goal is for her students to love music and "be willing to share their love of music with others."

Sandi Beyda of Morton Grove

however, "Nobody wakes up and finds they're a star. You're good because you've been practicing," Susan asserts. "In competition, they have to stick to something until they do it perfectly and you may not win."

Frank Dvorak, Jr. also brought home a third place trophy at the competition. The 11-year-old has been taking lessons from Susan for three years, as has his mother, Karen. "My son is a better piano player," Karen Dvorak admits. "I have the desire but he has the talent. It comes easy to him." Frankie's goal for next year is for a first place trophy and he is practicing "Moonlight Sonata" in

Residents raise funds for Morton Grove parks

by Jill Janov

Two Morton Grove mothers swung through the community last week asking merchants to donate money to purchase new playground equipment for Mansfield Park.

The Morton Grove Park District has allotted $30,000 to revamp the park at 5830 Church St. Almost half of those funds will pay for architectural fees and the repair of the park's drainage problems, which will leave close to $15,000 to pay for playground equipment.

According to Morton Grove Mother Joyce Lipner, 9216 Mango Ave., $15,000 is not enough money. She said, "a simple swing set costs about $2,000." So Lipner and Sandy Wiczer, 8902 Mansfield Ave., have formed a fund-raising group to support Mansfield and other Morton Grove parks. The two women hope to recruit volunteer members when residents meet with the park district on Aug. 8 at 7 p.m. in the Mansfield Park fieldhouse. This will be the third meeting with park officials.

Purchasing and installing a second set of swings at Mansfield Park is on the top of Lipner and Wiczer's list. "You can go by the park and see there are people waiting to use swings," Lipner said. "Our immediate goal is to take care of that problem."

According to Wiczer, the park district decided it was time to replace the old park equipment, which was installed in the 1950s. "My husband used to play on that same equipment and he has lived in Morton Grove for 32 years," Wiczer said. "The equipment is getting older and older and pieces are breaking."

Wiczer, who lives three blocks away from Mansfield Park, takes her children to Chicago, Glenview or Highland Park to use playgrounds she describes as attractive, safe, dry and fun. "We'd like to bring that enjoyment back to our neighborhood," she said.

The group has until mid-September to raise the estimated $2,000 they will need for another swing set before the park district accepts bids. The revamping of the park will begin in November.

"There's opportunities out there," Lipner said about fund-raising activities. Lipner, mother of two, and Wiczer, mother of two, collected $125 from Dempster Street merchants. Four "merchants reached right into their pockets and wrote checks (to the park district), which led us to believe there is an interest in the community," Lipner said. These merchants were Steve's Paint and Wallpaper, Northshore Martial Arts Academy, Menard/Dempster Pharmacy and Max-

Reusch grandmother became 'grease monkey' in war years

by Sheilya Hackett

Jousting between the Village of Niles and the owners of the Shermer Road Ruesch Garage has made headlines for weeks, but an overlooked figure behind the news stories is slim, lively Helen T. Ruesch, 87, wife of the firm founder, the late George Ruesch, Sr.

Today grandson Jim, 36, operates the family firm, but years ago, Helen's hands helped keep the service business going. Helen gave up her association with the firm, mostly bookkeeping, in 1980, but her earlier involvement with the company consisted of more than office work.

In 1922, George, Sr., (her husband) put aside truck farming to concentrate on the service of trucks and buses. The garage business grew and in 1928, the doors swung open on the new brick garage at 8650 Shermer Road. Soon son George, Jr., was working with his dad, but international events far from the peaceful Niles area were to change their lives.

During World War II, George, Jr. went to Austria with the U.S. Army and his dad was left without help. Like so many women in war time, Helen pitched in to help, donned blue coveralls and became a regular "grease monkey." Besides doing company billing and driving to suppliers for new parts, she remembers she "learned a few easy things and

Park's 1931 fire engine becomes part of history

Niles children play on the antique Fire Engine No. 1 in Point Park on July 26, the day before it was taken to the Niles Historical Society for safety reasons. The fire truck has been in Point Park since the early 1960s.

Old Engine No. 1 has been a part of Niles history since 1931 when the Pirsch, pumper first joined the Niles Fire Department. On July 27, the little engine that stood at Point Park at Shermer and Waukegan Roads for more than a quarter of a century made its last trip -- to the Niles Historical Society -- a move which, depending on who is asked, is either long overdue or totally unnecessary.

Engine No. 1 was retired from Fire department service in the early 1960s. After its brass ornaments were removed, the truck was donated to the Niles Park District, which installed it at Point Park. Two generations of children transported themselves to a world of fantasy firefighting before the modern age of rising

Reader calls Nico Park fence disgraceful

Dear Editor:
Is it possible for the Niles Park District Board to do something about the deplorable fence that borders Nico Park?

It is bent, twisted, rusted and looks as though it is about to collapse. It is a disgrace.

Also, is it possible for the board to relocate the basketball court within the confines of the park? I have never seen or heard of a basketball court blocking a portion of a street as it now does of Seward Street.

Yours truly,
Ralph Trifunov

High prices forced Nilesfest vendor away

Dear Editor:
Please be advised that your article in the July 20 Bugle incorrectly stated that the vendor's fee for Nilesfest was $650. The charge was $950.

Also two of the booths with the pop were from the Niles Events people which also takes away from the paying vendors.

This is why many of the vendors refused to go in this year and why food prices were so high.

We were a vendor last year but prices were too high for us to go into this year.

Illinois may receive DNA lab

State Sen. Bob Kustra (R-28) says Gov. James Thompson's signing of an appropriation for new state police laboratory facilities to perform DNA testing could make Illinois the first state to provide this "genetic fingerprint" analysis to help in solving crimes.

Kustra, who this year won General Assembly approval for a bill requiring DNA testing for anyone convicted or institutionalized for a sex crime, said that legislation could help state police build a bank of information at the Joliet laboratory for use in criminal investigations.

Kustra said it will take 18 months to two years to acquire the equipment needed for DNA testing at the Joliet lab and to train state police forensic scientists to do this work.

Kustra noted that funding for the lab is included in $18.9 million which the Department of State Police is to receive from the 10-cents-a-pack cigarette tax increase recently approved by the General Assembly. The department will use the rest of the new money for the "Drug-Free Illinois" program at state and local levels.

The same day, a locked Pontiac Firebird parked in the 8600 block of Stolling Avenue was burglarized by unknown thief(s) who stole a $150 AM/FM tape deck, $60 worth of cassette tapes, and a $20 wallet. Police speculate the thief used a slim jim type device to open the door of the car.

Retail theft

An employee of an appliance store in the 7900 block of Golf Road was stopped by a fellow employee when he was about to exit with a large box. The first man admitted he was attempting theft and returned the box. When questioned later by the store manager, the first employee, a 20-year-old Chicago man, admitted outfitting his car with stolen stereo equipment taken between July 10-22. The total value of the merchandise was $2045 and included high fidelity speakers, amplifiers and equalizers. Morton Grove Police charged the man with retail theft felony and placed him under $3000 bond.

Two liquor thefts in one day

The assistant manager of the Osco Drug liquor department literally had a rough day July 25, when there were two theft attempts at his store. The man was described as being about 34 years old, weighing 220 lbs. and being slightly under six feet tall.

Around 9 p.m. the same day, a man in his early 20s attempted to steal two cases of beer valued at $17.98. The assistant manager and another employee followed the thief out of the store west through the lot. The thief threw the beer at the manager, striking him and rushed toward a waiting 1981 Buick LeSabre. The struck employee then went to the car, which had two other male occupants, and was pushed to the ground. The Buick traveled west on Dempster Street to escape.

Police seize car after finding drugs

Morton Grove Police discovered a half gram of cannabis and drug paraphernalia when they approached a car parked at Mansfield Park, 5800 Lyons St., July 30. The car occupants, two Skokie men, aged 17 and 18, were charged with possession of a controlled substance and a court date set for Aug. 22. In accordance with Zero Tolerance, their '81 Pontiac was towed.

Food thefts

A burglar with a sweet tooth kicked out a wood window in a concession room at the Morton Grove park pool facility in the 6200 block of Dempster St. July 25. ### Construction site theft

The store manager of a grocery in the 6900 block of Dempster St. observed two bearded men and a young woman place five cases of baby formula into a cart and exit the store without paying. ### Metrocom opens store in Niles Metrocom Communications, the area's largest full-service cellular telephone dealer, has opened their newest store in Niles. This custom designed store is located at 9635 Milwaukee Ave. With the opening of the Niles store and the opening of a new store in Naperville, Metrocom has seven stores in the Chicago metropolitan area. Metrocom is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Ameritech Mobile Communications. Ameritech is the largest provider of cellular service in the midwest.

Mike Rafferty, Metrocom's general sales manager, indicated that Metrocom's success in the cellular business is due to the quality of its products and services and the low prices that Metrocom's high volume permit.

"We can offer great prices, and still deliver customer satisfaction," Rafferty said.

Metrocom displays a large selection of cellular mobile and portable phones and features Ameritech brand cellular phones manufactured by Motorola. Customers are connected to Ameritech Cellular Service. Citing Metrocom's expansion into Niles and Naperville, Rafferty indicated that cellular telephones are becoming more and more popular as prices drop and people enjoy the efficiency and convenience that cellular phones provide.

In addition to the sales and service of cellular phones, Metrocom offers auto security systems and paging service and is one of the midwest's largest sales and service dealers for two-way communications equipment. Paul Conn, Metrocom's manager for the Niles store indicated that the technicians based in the Niles store will service the cellular communications equipment of many of the area's hospitals, contractors, trucking companies and several public safety departments.

Cablevision receives programming award

The National Federation of Local Cable Programmers (NFLCP) has recognized Cablevision of Chicago for its excellence in programming.

The cable company, which serves more than 63,000 subscribers in suburban Chicago, received a first place award in the youth category at the NFLCP's Hometown USA Video Festival for its children's series "When I Grow Up I Wanna Be." The Festival honors outstanding local programs that are produced by and for public, educational and governmental access facilities and local origination departments of cable systems.

"When I Grow Up I Wanna Be" is a unique show that allows kids to learn about different careers that exist in our society. The show is hosted by one adult, Cathy Kloss of Homewood and one child, Kiah Morris of Darien. Each segment features a special guest. Footage of that guest on the job, combined with a question and answer period gives youngsters at home, and in the studio audience, a chance to become aware of possible career choices.

In the show's first year of production, viewers have learned what it is like to be a teacher, a pilot, a carpenter, a chef and many other positions. The widespread success of the show's format is apparent as cable companies around the state have picked up the program.

In addition to the company's award for outstanding children's programming, Cablevision's holiday comedy "Something in the Park with George" was a finalist in the Festival's entertainment/professional/single program category.

"Cablevision strives to provide quality local origination programming that focuses on the local needs of its subscribers. It is especially significant when shows of this nature receive rave reviews from both our customers and our cable peers," said Irene McPhail, Cablevision of Chicago General Manager.

St. John Brebeuf celebrates 35 years

St. John Brebeuf School, now 35 years in progress, opened the year after Msgr. John Flanagan founded St. John Brebeuf Parish. It's been a very important part of the parish, and the teacher, students and parents of the school children engage in and support many parish activities.

Five hundred forty one students were enrolled in the school during the 1988-89 school year, with approximately the same or a slight increase anticipated for the 1989-1990 school year.

Four sessions of three and four year olds attend morning or afternoon classes at the pre-school, with exciting and instructional activities provided by teacher, Kathy Nichols, and aide, Renee Hansen. Morning and afternoon kindergarten classes are taught by Joan Daray, who has many mother volunteers as assistants. There are either two or three divisions in each of the grades from one to eight.

St. John Brebeuf provides a quality academic education with the values of the Catholic Religion integrated throughout the curriculum. Dedicated teachers have the freedom to interject moral lessons, Bible stories and Christian values when the appropriate occasions arise.

A full-time gym teacher teaches physical education to every class twice a week, and also puts on a Gym Show this year, exhibiting the skills and games taught in every grade level.

A full-time music teacher also teaches every class general music twice a week, with at least one yearly musical program for the public. Two part-time music teachers give private music lessons in piano, organ and guitar before, during, and after school. Students in grades four to eight are invited to play in the growing band, which will be in its fifth year.

Students in every grade level from four-year old pre-school to grade eight have a computer class once a week. A well-equipped science lab is available and students in grades five to eight compete in a Science Fair every year.

A part-time guidance counselor is on the staff and works with students as the need arises.

Children from thirty one different nationalities make up the student body at St. John's. Because of the wide variety of cultural backgrounds, students learn to celebrate their differences and appreciate the special gifts of others. During International Day last year, many students and parents exhibited artifacts, performed dances and songs and explained much about their native lands.

A Hot Lunch Program was just begun last year, with the option to order by individual days.

An extensive sports program is available, whereby students may participate in soccer, volleyball, basketball and softball, besides an intramural program which is also provided.

On Saturdays, the Nicotazu Copernicus School of Polish Language hold their classes in St. John Brebeuf School with approximately 180 students attending.

For more information, a tour of St. John Brebeuf School, or registering, please call Sister Rita, principal, at 966-3266.

Professor speaks about math education

America's classrooms need math teachers who enjoy mathematics, said Richard Wilders, Ph.D., Chairman of the Illinois Section of the Mathematical Association of America.

Wilders, a professor of mathematics at North Central College, said the decline of math education at the high school level is due to a decreasing pool of scientific manpower.

"To turn this around, we must increase our investment in the training of mathematics," Wilders said. "We need inspired and inspiring teachers of mathematicians at all levels."

Too many teachers are communicating the wrong message to students about mathematics, Wilders said. He said students today think that math is boring and that only geniuses can succeed in it because that is what teachers are conveying.

According to Wilders, Illinois and the rest of the United States needs better standards in terms of preparation for elementary school teachers.

Wilders said he believes the decline in the number of math students can be reversed with an enthusiastic, positive attitude from America's math teachers. But first, he emphasized, colleges and universities need to turn out these teachers and that, Wilders said, has been a big problem.

"We're not turning out enough teachers at high school level," Wilders said, "and at the Ph.D. level, the situation is even worse."

North Central College has graduated seven high school math teachers in the last seven years, Wilders said, and that's a vast improvement from past years. He said the enrollment of math students at North Central is much better than Illinois as a whole.

"Overall, the number of math students enrolling at colleges and universities in Illinois is declining," Wilders said. "At North Central we're bucking all the trends. Because of the school's location in such a high tech area, we're attracting more than our share of math students."

The field of mathematics is in the competition with industry and computer science, Wilders said.

He added that because math doctorates are such a rarity these days, the field of mathematics is also in competition with itself. The premier institutions are having trouble holding onto their premier math professors, he said.

In Illinois, the Illinois Section of the Mathematics Association of America is working with the National Council of Teachers in Mathematics to try to reverse the declining trend in math education, Wilders said. He said some of the goals for this year include working to improve teacher preparation and to provide better publicity for math awareness.

Illinois is no worse off than other states as far as mathematics is concerned, Wilders said. He said the state's most ambitious effort to improve the health of math education is the Illinois Math and Science Academy, which "will pay long-range dividends for Illinois and the world."

At the academy, we are providing a first-class education for our best and our brightest students," Wilders said. "It is expensive, but well worth the investment."

At the college level, Wilders said, the standards for the students coming out of high schools are beginning to be raised, as the push for quality undergraduates continues.

Wilders said he believes that school mathematics should use computers and calculators and that students should be taught to think, not just memorize. "Calculus books continue to get larger but the hours allotted to teach the subject remain the same," Wilders said. "We have to take advantage of technology and the computer."

Wilders plans to do just that in a computer-based calculus section that will be offered at North Central next fall.

But in the final analysis, the battle to improve math education in the United States will be won or lost at the grade-school level, Wilders said.

"We must encourage and reward mathematics study," Wilders said. "Mathematics is a long-term investment. We will not notice what we are missing until it is way too late to do anything about it."

Pack them off to college like a pro

Measuring North American Totem pole for packaging and shipping to a museum in Alaska are Pro-Pak founders, Debby and Dan Kravitz along with their Villa Oaks Mall partner, Stuart Bressler (on right), a Des Plaines resident. Pro-Pak, a 10-year-old packing and shipping company located in Northbrook has started franchising the business throughout the United States. Their working motto, "we an pack and ship almost anything to anywhere" holds true for a huge roster of personal as well as commercial accounts.

Mom and Dad can be a big help in relieving some of the anxious moments regarding moving of their college-bound's personal belongings—from their family home to their campus home. Looming large ahead of them are the mountain of clothes, records, tapes, sports equipment and electronic components.

Pro-Pak, the professional packers and shippers, located at 527 Dundee Road, Northbrook, (272-0408) and Villa Oaks Mall, Villa Park (279-000) are experts who have routinely and logistically assisted thousands of young people to successfully take their first big step away from home—lock, stock and guitar.

"We can either pick-up or have everything brought into Pro-Pak," said Deborah Kravitz who along with her husband, Dan, founded the company more than 10 years ago. "A familiar sight in our offices is a multitude of giant-size plastic garbage bags containing items to be sent on to school."

Pro-Pak also stocks a variety of boxes and tubes and sells them separately to the do-it-yourselfer who does not request the packing service. Also available are styrofoam peanuts and pellets, bubble wrap, corrugated cardboard and self-adhesive tape. For the environmentally-conscious consumer Pro-Pak leads the industry in packing with biodegradable and ozone-safe equipment.

Students traveling by car can cut costs by shipping clothing and bringing heavy items. Pro-Pak with its full range of materials and services evinced a real enthusiasm for doing the job in the most efficient economical way.

So is your prized items might be a 6-foot tall stuffed toy animal or football trophies, irreplaceable records or favorite oversize fluffy bedroom slippers, Pro-Pak will pack everything for you, arrange for shipping and insurance, and have your belongings delivered to the door of your dorm room or new home, whether it is in Cairo, IL or Cairo, Egypt.

"Our success rate is what sets us apart from standard shipping companies -- it is truly worthwhile not to pack fragile goods yourself," concluded Kravitz.

Pro-Pak has begun a nationwide franchising program and anticipates 4 or 5 facilities by the end of the year.

Loyola researcher studies children and pets

Is a boy's best friend really his dog? And what about girls?

These are some of the questions examined in an ongoing study of pets and 10- and 12-year-old children by Anne McCreary Juhasz, Ph.D., professor in Loyola University of Chicago's counseling and educational psychology department.

"We didn't differentiate by sex in the first stage of our study," Juhasz said. "The children reported that the pets made them feel good. The dog was perceived as a special friend, seen as a person. They also said their animals liked them."

In addition to the child's relationship with the dog and the child's self-concept, the first stage of the study examined pet care responsibilities.

"When a child pleads for a dog, vowing to assume total responsibility for its care, and the mother says, 'I know I'm the one who's going to end up taking care of that dog!' she shows an excellent grasp of the situation," Juhasz agreed. "Our study showed that it's usually the mother who takes care of the pet, and the father who makes the pet behave. A dog is like a child in the roles parents play."

"And what's the child's usual role in pet care? We found that the kids were the ones who gave treats to the dog."

The study's first stage also showed that dogs serve a real purpose for children. "They fill special needs," she pointed out. "They provide empathic friendship and serve as an antidote to boredom."

Because of their first-stage findings, Juhasz will continue to work with co-investigator Janet Haggerty Davis, R.N., Ph.D., a member of the University of Illinois-Chicago public health nursing department.

"Janet is a gifted researcher, and we work well together. In the second stage of our study, we'll be examining 500 average 10- and 12-year-olds who are at grade level in school. They could be described as 'normal kids.' Half will be pet owners; the control group half will not have pets.

"We'll be adding a loneliness rating scale to compare the loneliness level of those who do and don't have pets. We will also be looking at the family composition, whether the child lives with one or both parents, and whether this is a single child or one who has siblings.

"We've all heard of 'latch-key kids' who come home to an empty house every day after school," she pointed out, "but there are a lot of other children who are also lonely. Our study should determine whether a pet can play a significant role in lessening the feeling of loneliness many children have, and the effect a dog's affection has on self-esteem, the way the child sees himself.

"That will go a long way toward demonstrating whether a dog can be a boy or a girl's best friend," she concluded. "We also expect to find some interesting additional information on just which family member continues to take care of that furry pal."

Saving for college education

Here's a good reason why you should begin saving for your child's college education as soon as possible: The more years you have to save, the less you need to set aside each year. For example, you can build a $100,000 nest egg in 15 years by investing $289 a month in an account earning eight percent interest. But if you reduce your savings period by just five years, you will have to invest $547 a month at the same rate to yield the same $100,000.

To make the most of what you have, the Illinois CPA Society suggests that you minimize the amount of tax you pay on unearned income such as interest and dividends. One way to accomplish this goal is by shifting income to a child. Remember, children under age 14 pay taxes on only $500 of the first $1000 in unearned income—and at a rate that is probably much lower than yours. But be warned: any unearned income over $1000 will be taxed at your highest marginal rate. (For children 14 and older, unearned income is taxed at their own rate, usually 15 percent) Keep these rules in mind when making any investment decisions.

You can purchase Series EE bonds for as little as $25 or as much as $10,000. Buy them in your own name and you can defer taxes on the interest earned for up to 12 years. What's more, bonds purchased in your name after December 31, 1989, will accumulate interest totally tax free if the proceeds are used to pay for your own or your dependent's education expenses. Since there are restrictions (including your income level) make sure you get all the facts.

Another type of bond to consider is the "zero coupon" bond, which is offered at a price substantially lower than its face value. What makes these bonds a good investment is their high rate of return when they mature. Note that while these bonds pay no interest to the holder, the investor is nevertheless taxed as if interest were paid out annually. For this reason, you may prefer zero-coupon municipal bonds. The interest is exempt from federal taxes, and also from state and local taxes if you buy bonds issued in the state in which you live. Certain municipal bond funds can also offer triple tax-free returns.

If you are an adventuresome investor with a child under age 14, consider purchasing nondividend-paying growth stocks in your child's name, which typically provide larger gains over a longer period of time. As long as the stocks are sold after your child turns 14, the gain will be taxed in your child's rate rather than yours. But remember that any stock-market investment involves risk. And the sooner you need to use the funds, the greater the risk is that you may have to sell them at a loss.

Resurrection presents crowning ceremonies

Resurrection Medical Center and Our Lady of the Resurrection Medical Center employees and friends at the Resurrection Nursing Pavilion presented flowers at chapel altars during May crowning processions honoring Mary in the month dedicated to her.

A crown bearer and other members of the presenter's court included: Phyllis Hansen, secretary in the social services office; Janice Youngwith, assistant public relations director; Nora Rychlewski, home health aide; and Pat O'Connor, staff nurse on the orthopedic nursing unit.

Loyola comments on blood pressure

A special time-release tablet form of medication commonly used to treat angina and high blood pressure is being tested by researchers at Loyola University Medical Center in Maywood, as a way of minimizing the number of pills that patients have to take daily.

Individuals who are 18 years of age or older and diagnosed as having high blood pressure, called hypertension, are invited to participate in the study, said Vinod K. Bansal, M.D., medical director of Loyola's Hypertension Center.

The new tablet, which contains a tiny, laser-driven hole, slowly releases the medication, Diltiazem, into the bloodstream.

The year-long study will involve a three-month active phase during which patients will be seen by Loyola physicians every two weeks to ensure that their blood pressure is brought under control. For the remainder of the study period, participants will use the new tablets on a once-a-day medication schedule and visit the clinic approximately every two months.

All clinic visits, laboratory work and medication will be provided at no cost to patients in the study.

More information about the project is available by calling 531-4519 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays. Pregnant women or women likely to become pregnant during the study are not eligible for enrollment.

Resurrection Medical Center generates own power

Resurrection Medical Center, one of the first Chicago metropolitan area hospitals to install new cogeneration power equipment, recently "flipped the switch" and now is generating nearly 80 percent of its own electrical power.

The power production change-over, which occurred on July 17, is expected to save the hospital 30 to 35 percent on its electrical bill, according to Gary Curtin, chief engineer at the Northwest side medical complex.

Commonwealth Edison, which will provide the other 60 percent of the medical center's electrical needs during those peak periods, will continue to provide electricity during the "off-hours" when rates are reduced. Edison is still on line for backup if needed.

A special Peoples Gas, Light & Coke Co. incentive program grant helped encourage Resurrection officials to try the cogeneration system; and since startup, Resurrection's system has become a showplace for other hospitals interested in the substantial cost-savings program. The cogeneration system's gas-powered engines each produce 725 kilowatts (kw) of electricity, and the total 1450 kw being generated would furnish electrical power for 483 households.

High tech medical equipment such as magnetic resonance imaging, special imaging equipment such as CT scanners and other high energy equipment in radiology create high demands for electrical power. The cogeneration system is expected to reduce the hospital's energy bill by 30 to 35 percent.

The volunteers of The Center of Concern are involved in many different activities including services such as information and referral, employment, housing, personal counseling, financial, legal and Medicare counseling, support groups, friendly visitations, senior companions, escort transportation, classes and meetings of an educational nature, food distribution and others.

Persons interested in sharing their talents may call 823-0453, or visit the Center located in Suite 125, 1580 N. Northwest Hwy, Park Ridge.

result in an annual savings of approximately $400,000.

Heat recovery boilers will produce approximately 6,800 pounds of steam each hour, year-round. The generated steam will be used to provide 550 tons of absorption cooling and produce hot water in the winter months.

Cogeneration of thermal and electric power has been around since the turn of the century when it was a common practice for energy-intensive industries. Self-generation of power declined in the '30s and there were restrictions of its use by the Federal Power Act. When the energy crisis became more acute in the '70s, the Congress lifted the cogeneration restriction as part of the 1978 National Energy Plan.

Foundation establishes diabetes research

The Juvenile Diabetes Foundation of Greater Chicago recently established the Eli Schulman Diabetes Research Fellowship in memory of the well-known and respected Chicago restaurateur. The fellowship will be given to a JDF-qualified scientific investigator studying the causes, cure and better treatment of diabetes.

The fellowship was funded by the family and friends of Mr. Schulman following his death who wanted to create a lasting memorial for him. Mr. Schulman, long an active supporter of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, suffered from diabetes and its complications.

In remarking how diabetes had cut his father's life short, Marc Schulman said the family hoped that by funding a new research fellowship, discoveries would be made soon that would protect future generations from the ravages of this devastating disease.

Social Security direct deposit benefits

Over 4 in 10 Social Security beneficiaries are not at home waiting for the mailman on the third of the month. They are visiting, vacationing, taking care of business, or doing whatever else they want to do.

Why? Because they have direct deposit. In other words, they have their benefits deposited directly into their account at a bank, credit union, or other financial institution.

These people have discovered some distinct advantages to direct deposit. For example:

Their money is safe. No thefts, muggers, or lost checks to worry about.

They save time and money. No lines to stand in. No extra gas to buy to go cash the check. The Government saves money, too, by paying you this way.

If you are now getting Social Security or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) checks and want direct deposit, just call Social Security at 1-800-234-5554.

Even if you have direct deposit, you still must notify Social Security promptly if you change your address. This is because important notices are mailed directly to you from time to time.

Free health screenings offered

The Chicago Uptown Lions Club and Edgewater Medical Center will conduct free screenings for glaucoma, high blood pressure and diabetes (blood sugar) on Friday, Aug. 4 from 9 a.m. to noon, and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The screenings will take place in the Lions Mobile Screening Unit, which will be parked at 5050 N. Broadway, Chicago. Glaucoma is an eye disease without noticeable symptoms in its early stages, but which can lead to blindness if not detected and treated in time. Diabetes is also a leading cause of blindness, while hypertension affects as many as 57 million Americans.

The three tests each take only minutes to perform and are virtually painless. For improved accuracy, people requesting the diabetes test should eat no later than one-and-a-half hours before having the test done.

Since 1969, the Lions Mobile Screening Unit has conducted more than 420,000 screenings. Lions Club volunteers, headed by architect Fred Prather, along with registered nurses and laboratory technologists from Edgewater Medical Center, will staff the Mobile Screening Unit.

Naked Furniture store receives award
Ruth and Harlan Roloff, owners/operators of the Naked Furniture located at 1411 Ellinwood Ave. received an award for "Outstanding Annual Sales" at the sixth annual Naked Furniture Conference.

The conference, which was held in Cape Cod, MA focused on increased market dominance within the furniture industry. Naked Furniture's niche: the ability to custom finish their real wood furniture to their customers' exact preference and to finish a new piece to be an exact match to already existing pieces of furniture, allows them to be the leader within the unfinished furniture category.

Piano...

Frankie does not want a career in music but one of Swartz's other first place winners intends to pursue a career in music education. Sharon Bosco, whose duet with Mara Lipka, took first place honors, will be going to Swartz's alma mater, University of Illinois at Urbana this fall, having won the prestigious Merle Hansen music scholarship. She took piano for four years before switching to Susan Swartz's tutelage in 1982. She's been winning ribbons and trophies in competitions ever since and also takes voice lessons. A Maine East graduate, Bosco has also appeared in school music and variety shows.

Swartz, who is still accepting students, downplays the trophies but it's clear she's proud of the success of her students, whether or not they become music professionals later on. Swartz can be reached at 463-0829.

Traffic tips on avoiding animals

When an animal darts in front of your vehicle, you may need to make a split-second decision on whether to hit the animal or swerve to avoid it. Your decision could mean the difference between safety or injury to your self and other drivers.

In urban areas, pets, squirrels, raccoons, and other small animals may cross your path. If you brake suddenly, you risk being hit from behind, and if you turn suddenly, you may collide with oncoming traffic. However, avoid hitting small animals if it can be done safely.

Because there is less traffic in rural areas, there is less risk of an accident if you swerve to avoid an animal. Large farm animals can be hazardous to your vehicle. Therefore, avoid hitting them unless other vehicles are near.

More than 10,700 Illinois motorists were involved in accidents with animals last year, according to the Department of Transportation. These accidents resulted in 647 human injuries and one fatality.

Approximately 3,600 of the reported accidents with animals involved deer, and almost all of those accidents involved property damage. Keep in mind that deer are most active at dusk and can weigh more than 300 pounds. If you are on a crowded highway when a deer crosses the road, brace yourself and try not to swerve. However, if no other motorists are near, take action to avoid a collision.

At a recent meeting A Friend of the Post Plaque was presented to localite Roland Weight, a talented photographer, by the Morton Grove American Legion Post #134.

Retiring commander Jim Offara singled Roland out for taking pictures of all Legion events for many years.

Weight has diligently at his own expense furnished the Legion with copies of his photos and has never accepted or asked for any reimbursement.

All local Legion members agree he is truly "a friend of the Legion Post."

FOUR FLAGGS SHOPPING CENTER

Sidewalk Sale begins August 3

by Nancy Keraminas

Everyone loves a sale and a Four Flags Sidewalk Sale gives us the opportunity to indulge in one of our favorite pastimes, while getting some fresh air. The Four Flags merchants have given us the inside scoop on their upcoming Aug. 3 through 6 sidewalk extravaganza and we'll share the wealth with you.

Crawford's Linen Outlet will be featuring specially brought-in merchandise to add to their inventory. Manager Steve Starkman and his staff will be setting out quality linens and accessories at near dime-store prices. Set a prettier table with 25 cent napkin rings, just part of the bargains to be offered, with sidewalk price ranges not to exceed $7. Starkman said ensembles of fashion-color towels will be offered for only $6. If your decorator soaps have experienced a summer meltdown, Crawford's will be featuring dainty soaps at "virtually unbeatable prices," during the sidewalk sale.

Shoppers at Four Flags may be considering a computer purchase in the future. Computer Factory's knowledgeable staff can help make that important decision. Computer Factory features Apple, IBM, NEC and Compaq computers and hardware.

Whether or not a lady needs to update her computer hardware, most women like to have a contemporary look. L'Image Salon is the place to update your look. You don't emerge looking like a carbon copy of a fashion magazine. Start with makeup, or hair, or skin or clothing or get a total revamp. Their Creative Director Irene Shrank promises an exciting sidewalk look at L'Image.

Our image of Pearle Vision Center was updated after our introduction. Pearle's services and products are for everyone, regardless of whether or not they need corrective lenses. Even Pearle's non-prescription sunglasses come with their one-year guarantee and all their sun specs feature 100 percent protection against hot August sunrays. In addition to drastically reduced prices on sunglasses, Manager Martha Curth and her professionals will be putting out contact lens solutions, cleaners, sportsbands, sportscores, and sports frames. Buy one, get one free during the sidewalk sale. Pearle also offers a unique, reusable, washable cleaning cloth for lenses which removes body oil and fingerprint smudges. The cleaning cloth comes in its own small case in fashion colors and the proceeds from the sale of these fifty little wipes goes to the Pearle Foundation, an eye disease charity. We want one of these wipes for our computer screen, and our purse, and our car mirrors, and our...

Silk Plants—we want lots of lovely silk flowers in our house before September fades the flowers outside. Silk Plants, Etc. has slashed 58 percent from the regular price of its 18 to 42 inch blossom trees and jack in the pulpit floor plants, a special purchase available while supplies last during the sidewalk sale.

Besides bringing the outdoors in with silk plants, we want to go inside to Service Merchandise which is clearing its merchandise. Manager Ron Rathman says savings are in the 10-50 percent range for Service Merchandise's seasonal and other clearance items.

Summer isn't even half over. What better way to enjoy this wonderful season than a sidewalk sale? And the Aug. 3-6 Four Flags Shopping Center Sidewalk Sale promises to be the highlight of our shopping summer.

ness, was an Illinois delegate to the 1980 Democratic Party National Convention and has sought political office as a commissioner of the Cook County Board (1986) and as Maine Township Supervisor (1989), also as a Democrat. He also serves as a director of First State Bank of Chicago and as a Niles planning and zoning commissioner.

"I want to get young people involved in the government of the community," Mayor Nicholas Blase said Aug. 1, explaining the selection of Przybylo. Blase also cited Przybylo's "intelligence, business background and articulation" as factors in the board's decision to give the nod to Przybylo.

The Trustee-designate believes his selection was meant to show that Niles "wants to keep on a progressive path." He views the mayor himself as being "very progressive" and expressed his confidence in the village and in the board members. "Niles has a strong commercial and economic base and a healthy young to old mix. We need to foster that mix and retain our wonderful health, safety and recreation services. The Board has to start thinking young and doing youth things."

Przybylo also indicated he plans on working very hard, though because of the suddenness of his selection, he indicated he might have a conflict which would prevent him from attending the August 22 meeting. "My objectives are to learn as much as I can. I'll pay strict attention to budgetary matters and justify expenses."

Though he intends to be progressive, Przybylo says "I'm not going to try to be controversial." He says board members "share the same values" which explains why board members have a tendency to vote alike on the same question, rather than because they are a "rubber stamp body," Przybylo says. "It denigrates the board to say they are rubber-stamping." He indicates he has no qualms voting against a measure that Mayor Blase favors, if necessary. "Nick has never been one to hold a grudge."

Blase indicated the board will now seek a replacement for Przybylo on the Planning and Zoning Commission and said "we're going to the outside, to the Chamber of Commerce and to fraternal groups to look for an individual for that commission." According to Przybylo, the mayor likes to have a good mix on that body.

Honig, which ends in Nov. 1989. Weinstock currently works as a substitute teacher for the North Suburban Substitute Co-op, and is a racketball pro at the Edens Court House. She is a member of the Niles West Parent Teacher Student Association (PTSA) and served as that organization's representative to the school board. Weinstock's teaching experience includes eight years in junior high school and one year in high school, with five years as the Chairman of the English Department at Wilmette Junior High School.

Weinstock said she is pleased with many of the board's recent decisions, especially the formation of the new reading program, which designed to develop reading skills in all subject areas.

Community members are invited to meet Weinstock at a reception during the Aug. 14 school board meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Niles East Board Room, 7701 Lincoln Ave., Skokie.

LEGAL NOTICE

W. Grainger, Inc. Project), Series 1989 (the "Bonds"), in an aggregate principal amount not to exceed $1,000,000 for the purpose of refunding the $1,000,000 Village of Niles, Illinois Industrial Development Revenue Bonds (W. Continued from Page 3 pretty soon I had a wrench in my hands."

The former Chicago public school teacher was an apt pupil and as her skills grew she learned to clean and dismantle parts and even how to remove a water pump. Dedicated but ever-feminine, she eventually drew the line on her mechanical apprenticeship and never crawled beneath the large vehicles they serviced.

Today, life is more serene for the octogenarian. Bright canna lilies and zinnias spot the vegetable garden near the door of the neat yellow house. She smiles, recalling when new houses were built around their land in the '60s and she met new neighbors whom she described as "congenial, very, very nice people."

Since the death of her husband in 1981, Helen fills her time with travel when she's able, watching the Cubs and Sox on TV and reading "everything", but especially mysteries by author Dick Francis who weaves his background as a steeple chase jockey into his writings.

The mother of three, grandmother of eight and great-grandmother of 14, now uses a cane, but the vivacious matriarch doesn't rest in her rocking chair. She often hops a Greyhound bus for a trip to Platteville, Wis. site of the Chicago Bears' summer practice camp. One time she met the entire team that went on to win the Super Bowl and she brought home a photo of her and star player Walter Payton.

Attorneys still negotiate the future of the garage that stands on her land, near her house, but though the garage may fall, Helen Ruesch remains a symbol of the hardy, pioneer virtues society holds dear.

fic analysis; of the proposed Techny project, but he doubted it would impact as far south as Golf Road. He believes cars coming from a distance would seek access to the Edens or Tri-state expressways and that heavy traffic would be siphoned off at either Lake Street or Glenview Road in Glenview, before it reached Morton Grove. He noted that Waukegan Road was an adequate state road, capable of carrying nearly 28,000 cars daily and that it could absorb another 5-6,000 cars with little congestion, except at traffic lights.

responded to the scene, but no means of ignition was found. Fresh tool marks indicated that a coupling joint had been tampered with and loosened, allowing gas to escape and be ignited. The loss was estimated to be more than $500. District Fire Chief Howard Meyer directed seven men at the scene, including investigators.

Medicare program at MG Library

A program on the Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act of 1988, to be presented at the Morton Grove Public Library on Tues., Aug. 8, at 11:30, is cancelled. The program will be rescheduled in the Fall.

insurance costs intruded. Engine No. 1, now resembling a competition auto dragster more than its gleaming original self, became a cozy home for squirrels and mice which found their way into the rusting holes left by its stripped trim and was a lawsuit waiting to happen. The Niles Park District, after conferring with their insurer, decided to remove the engine and replace it with a $3500 jungle gym, also fashioned to look like a fire truck.

More than 175 neighbors signed a petition protesting the park's decision. Presenting the petition to the park board on July 18, the residents felt the existing engine could be made safe and insisted the children "know it's a real fire engine. It's part of us, our kids and our grandchildren."

Park Board President Elaine Heinen sympathized but insisted, "the kids will get over it in one week as soon as they see the new one, I guarantee it." Heinen added, "We hated to see it go, too, but this will help people go to the Historical Society. They should visit it there and make a donation to the historical society."

Sadly, Engine No. 1's historical value and authenticity was diminished by its stay at the park.

position was fueled by his "desire to give back to the community" as well as to "get back into something more structured." While the topic of his salary has not been broached, Mayor Nicholas Blase estimates Selman will be compensated in the $60-$65 thousand range.

Other priorities Selman has established are to oversee the construction of a new civic center, improve the sewers and other parts of the village infrastructure and taking other necessary steps to bring Niles into the 21st Century.

Recalling the engine, District Chief Walter Blase said it was "fun" driving the manual-shifting pumper, which had to be double-clutched. Blase speculated, it could have been restored back then. If it had been, it'd be worth a fortune today." Fire Chief Harry Kinowski, who remembers the pumper was capable of doing 35 mph and was used to put out grass fires, would not offer an explanation why, then, Fire Chief George Pasek opted to give it to the Park District rather than keep it in a museum, like the Blue Boy which is at Niles Fire Department headquarters at Dempster Street and Cumberland Road. "I don't know why they didn't restore it. I guess they thought it would serve the community by being sent to the park. Hindsight is wonderful."

Engine No. 1 made its last run behind a Public Works tow truck, with Park Board Vice President Walt Beusse recording the event on video tape. The red engine, with orange flames painted on its sides, answered the call of history. For the time being, the antique stands in the historical society parking lot, at 8970 Milwaukee Ave.

Before Selman can assume his responsibilities, the board must strike a provision in the current village code which prevents an elected official from serving as village manager. Village Attorney Dick Troy, who uncovered the 1962 law, did not become village counsel until 1969, a year after the late Ken Scheel became village manager. Scheel was also serving as a trustee when he was appointed but the law was not discovered. Selman succeeds Jack Hadge who vacated the position in January. Hadge was appointed when Scheel died in 1983.

Suburban measles recommendations

Between January 1 and July 10, there have been 150 cases of measles reported to the Cook County Department of Public Health (CCDPH). Unlike the situation in the City of Chicago, cases have been scattered throughout the country with the exception of the Village of Cicero which has had 15 cases reported. Again unlike the situation in Chicago, the bulk of cases, 64%, have occurred in persons six years of age or older (36% being in persons 16 years of age or older). 35% of the 150 individuals had received the measles vaccine; 29% were unvaccinated; and the immunization status of 36% is unknown.

Because of the major differences between the epidemiologic patterns of measles in suburban Cook County and the City of Chicago, the Cook County Department of Public Health is not making the same recommendations as the Chicago Board of Health. CCDPH recommends the following:

1. Suburban infants and children who routinely spend one or more days per week in the high risk areas of Chicago (Logan Square, Humboldt Park, West Town, North Lawndale, Austin, Near West Side, East Garfield Park, South Lawndale, and West Garfield Park) should be immunized at six months of age and reimmunized at 15 months of age.
2. Children in Cicero who are six months of age or older should be immunized against measles and reimmunized at 15 months of age.
3. All suburban Cook County residents who are between 15 months and 32 years of age and who have not been immunized against measles must be immunized as soon as possible.

4. All suburban Cook County residents who are 32 years or younger and who were immunized prior to 1970 should be reimmunized.

5. All suburban Cook County residents who are 32 years or younger and who were immunized between 12 and 15 months of age should be reimmunized.

6. Physicians are encouraged to follow the current American Academy of Pediatrics recommendations concerning boosters.

7. Suburban Cook County hospitals, health care, and day or child care settings are encouraged to develop employee immunization policies.

One of the keys to effective measles control is the prompt investigation and follow-up of suspected cases. Dr. Ralph Cordell, Director of CCDPH's Communicable Disease Division, urges that "physicians, health care providers, daycare providers, and school personnel report suspected cases of measles to CCDPH's Communicable Disease Division at 865-6314."

The Cook County Department of Public Health offers free immunizations to all suburban Cook County residents regardless of financial status. In the north suburbs, call 470-7227 for clinic locations and times. In the west suburbs, call 344-6052 for clinic locations and times. In the south suburbs, call 423-7500 for clinic locations and times. In the south suburbs, call 210-4500 for clinic locations and times. Help prevent a measles outbreak by getting yourself or your child immunized.

bond and they built the towns into what they are today."

After writing a personal diatribe about Niles officials the letter-writer continued: "This is America, not Russia, where we have freedom to live our lives and do our chosen work."

"Let's all rally together around Mr. Ruesch like our forefathers would do when they fought and died to give us freedom from people who would get rid of us if we are not to their liking. Let's bring back America where people count and have a right to live equally and with freedom for all...and remember this on election day."

When we first heard about Niles trustee Abe Selman being appointed to Niles village manager post, we scoffed and thought, "Nick's got another one of his bag carriers in a key post in town." But surprisingly, the thought didn't last long. As my number one son said, "Abe may be the most qualified man in town."

Abe worked for a natural gas company in Lombard and has an excellent background in finance. He served as Niles finance chairman for most of his 17 year term as a Niles trustee.

Selman was quoted in last week's Bugle as saying his first order of business will be to improve Niles employee morale. Nick Blase said Selman's tenure will be one of "tranquil efficiency".

Unlike the previous manager, Selman isn't likely to bear down on the troops. He's a soft-spoken man, very laid-back, who is likely to be very popular with Nilesites. He's bright and he's warm and most important, he really does not have to prove very much. Unlike the preceding manager, Niles is not a five-year-stopper for Selman. And the work he does here does not have to go on a future resume which can be used as a stepping stone for the next job.

Abe is a good choice. One phone caller who works for the village thought the choice was an excellent one. He said, "Abe is a heluva guy. He is ahead of his time. He is always one step ahead with his computer knowledge and progressive thinking. It was a great appointment."

An interesting sidelight to the Selman appointment: A Niles ordinance forbids a trustee from taking such a post until he has been out of office for one year. Interestingly, when Ken Scheel left the trustee post to become Niles first manager, he too had to circumvent the law, in order to become the manager. Now, two decades later, the same law is on the books, and village officials are going to have to work their way around the ordinance.

With environmental issues likely to become the dominant issue in America's 90's, we're surprised Niles has not gotten involved in recycling residents' newspapers.

In Niles township Lincolnwood, Morton Grove and Skokie all have these recycling blue baskets alongside its garbage cans when pick-up time arrives each week.

It's our understanding the recycling of paper lessens the burden of garbage-dumping. Each time dumps are filled additional dumping areas are sought. Since they are farther and farther away from the home area the cost of garbage disposal increases. Proponents for recycling claim not only will it lessen the demand for additional dumping areas but it will substantially decrease dumping costs if there is less garbage to dump because of the recycling.

Six arrested...

hospitalized in a motorcycle accident near the same block during the July 4 weekend.

According to neighbors, that fatal accident was a factor in the Sunday night fracas. The dead man's family members have been placing flowers on the driveway where he died and others, who were friends also gather. Police reports say at least 10 youngsters were grouped on the sidewalk area when they arrived and the young men and women greeted the police arrival with obscenities. The officers questioned and then arrested two female curfew violators, whereupon a 21-year-old Glenview man began harranguing them. The 21-year-old was told he was arrested for disorderly conduct. Another Niles youth attempted to intervene by pulling his friend away from police and the officers say the Niles man threw an open can of beer at them. Police began removing the Glenview arrestee when the friend then picked up a bicycle and threatened to throw it at the arresting officers unless the friend was released from custody. The friend then fled the area.

Two other fleeing female minors were arrested at 8500 Golf Road shortly thereafter. The four minors, two from Morton Grove, one from Niles and one from Wheeling, were charged with curfew violations. The Niles man is being sought to face charges of aggravated assault and obstructing a police officer. The Glenview man was charged with disorderly conduct and released on a $1,000 bond.

Drug testing...

cost of $2.50 per test. Until the ADX is received, Niles Police will continue to have to request a blood test from a DUI suspect who passes the breathalyzer. Urine testing, from the department's standpoint, is preferable to blood testing because tests can be administered at the police station, rather than at the hospital. Giovannelli says urine testing will eliminate the risks of transporting offenders in police squad cars and provide for timely testing for the presence of drugs in a suspect's system. The delay caused by going to a hospital might affect test results.

Giovannelli and his staff are preparing regulations regarding the administration of the tests and expect to have them in place when the ADX is delivered. Included in the guidelines will be the necessity of a same-sex officer being present when a urine sample is collected.

denied knowledge of the card's origins. As police began a further search, the owner then reportedly fled the apartment with police in pursuit. Police returned to the apartment and discovered a 22-caliber semi-automatic pistol on the balcony. The credit card and the handgun were retained as evidence.

serted. He and the other signers are upset about the salary increase paid to administrator Duncan MacKenzie, the $250,000 price tag on a new parking lot and the lack of branch facilities in other sections of the village. Grochocki said it was "easy to collect signatures. If I would have been organized, I could have gotten 3,000 names. It's the way they're spending their money."

Library board members sympathized with the citizens concerns but indicated the tax bills received currently were levied by last year's board. They also noted the legal notice which precipitated the protest does not represent a request for additional funds. Business Manager Daniel Macken, a library employee, explained that building and site fund levies are required by law to be posted annually, and the .02 percent tax, which represents approximately $130,443, does not cover the actual expenses of providing repairs and essential services to the building such as lights, heat and water. That sum is anticipated to be $176,600 this year.

"We have to add regular tax money to it to meet expenses," Macken said of the building and site fund.

"I'm ticked off about it," Trustee Ted Przybylo said of the tax increase, noting that he bought a home in Niles in July of 1988 pleased by what he anticipated to be low taxes. Indicating that the current board, of which he joined this year, lowered next year's levy, he also said, "I can almost guarantee we'll keep the same dollar amount for the next year."

Board member Robert Quattrochi also indicated that next year's tax bill would be lower by $5 to $15 per year for the library's needs, adding that the newly elected library board, which consists of himself, Przybylo, Irene Costello, Carol Levey, Secretary Walter Chmielowski and President Margaret Rajski is more "fiscally responsible" than the previous one. The seventh member of the library board is Charlene Wagner who has moved out of state and has not been replaced.

"We don't need the money," Quattrochi said, explaining the board's decision to lower the levy rather than accumulate a reserve. Last year's reserve was approximately $300,000, according to Quattrochi. "There's no reason to overtax the taxpayers." He added that, in his belief, it was not necessary to begin saving now for a second branch, asserting that there were other sources of financing such as state grants or special tax, if necessary.

Trustee Irene Costello, stipulating that she is not at war with other board members, disagrees as to the need to plan now for the possibility of expansion. "We could get into trouble not leaving a buffer," she warned about the wisdom of lowering next year's levy. Addressing the library's general financial situation, the trustee said it was "not a simple situation and the answer can't be simple. When you have more people and they come more frequently, you need more books and you need more space and this costs money." Costello detailed the library's variety of services saying they "have more value than the tax increase would be." She noted the computer lab, the video, compact disk and cassette collections, saying, "There's so many valuable items we are lending. People could save money if they would use our services."

Grochocki said the petition signers feel the money for the proposed parking lot should have been more properly spent for additional library services or books. "Who ever heard of a village of 32,000 having a quarter of a million dollar parking lot?" he wondered. "They could open up two branches, sell that corner lot and be money ahead."

Przybylo, while acknowledging the library would be better off "centrally located" rather than in the "farthest corner of the district" asserted "There's lots of ways to solve a problem." He says the space needs may be solved in one or all of three ways. Przybylo says the current executive offices are built to support a second floor, which could store books. Also, the trustee says there are alternative shelf systems available that will increase book capacity. The board is already exploring this option. Przybylo also wonders, "What's stopping the staff from finding out what book hasn't been checked out in six months," suggesting that underutilized volumes could be retained elsewhere and pulled on request.

"I'm still a rookie," Przybylo allowed "but you can bet I'm going to become familiar with all our operations. I'm sure we can slash costs somewhere," noting at the same time he is a businessman who wants operations to be cost-effective.

Quattrochi also indicated cost savings were going to be a high priority for him, agreeing that talk of a new branch library is premature. "The staff does not run the library. They're trying to steer the board. We need the information from the staff. They're giving it to the press and not to us."

Costello feels there is little excess costs, offering the possibility that the court yard on the south side "should have been postponed." She also agreed "There's not an urgent need for a new library."

Grochocki said administrator MacKenzie should not have had his salary doubled within five years to $50,000, but the increase should have been gradual. Of other salary increases, Grochocki says the petitioners resent the 8 to 10 percent increases municipal and other public workers receive seemingly automatically, when the taxpayers themselves only receive three and four percent pay hikes. Grochocki credits the board for "trying", acknowledging the library trustees are "volunteers", but urges them to pay more attention to the wishes of the patrons. The concerned citizen says the board should meet with the patrons. "We'd like to ask them some questions. We'd like an explanation." Grochocki adds that he would tell the board, "Don't waste the money--it's an endangered commodity."

An appointment to inspect the proposed closure plan must be made in advance by contacting the Division of Land Pollution Control, Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) officer at 2200 Churchill Road, P.O. Box 19276, Springfield, Illinois 62794-9276, 217-782-6760.

In response to requests or at the discretion of the IEPA, a public hearing may be held to clarify or more issues concerning the closure plan. Public notice will be issued 30 days before any public hearing.

A 1983 graduate of Niles West High School, Skokie, he joined the Navy in March 1989.

to check their immunization records because vaccines used in the period were not as effective. As a rule of thumb, the department believes all suburban residents who are between 15 months and 32 years who have not been immunized should do so as soon as possible.

Locally, the CCDPH operates free clinics where immunizations are available. The Des Plaines clinic in the Trinity Lutheran Church, 675 Algonquin Road, is open the third Thursday of each month from 9-11 a.m. Evening hours are available at Wheeling high school, 900 S. Elmhurst Road, the second Monday of the month from 5:30-7:30 p.m. Parents are encouraged to bring immunization records.

Health authorities advise that suburban parents who might use day care facilities in high risk Chicago vicinities such as the near north and near west sides, Logan Square, Humboldt Park, north and south Lawndale, east and west Garfield Park, West Town, Austin or Cicero areas should be particularly cautious. Cicero has reported 15 cases.

Adelman noted that the Chicago Board of Health is recommending immunizing infants within its jurisdiction at six months and again at 15 months.
