Flooding solution tops Niles agenda

by Nancy Keraminas

Approximately 30 Niles residents from various parts of the village appeared at the Aug. 22 village board meeting to talk about flooded homes. The board met prior to the regular meeting to discuss flooding and the steps the village could take to alleviate conditions.

Abe Selman began Tuesday evening as a trustee, listening to Public Services Director Keith Peck's pre-board flood presentation. By the close of the regular meeting, Selman was listening to individual flood complaints in his new role as village manager, while Andrew Przybylo assumed the duties of trustee. Peck had prepared a list of village projects and recommendations to citizens, dating from 1969, already constructed for flood control. The projects ranged from storm sewer installations and separation of Last week's lead stories on the nightly news as well as in the Chicago newspapers concerned Solidarity's taking over much of the government administration in Poland and the drug stories concerning AZT and the crackdown on drug traffic in Colombia. They were the lead stories in every corner of the country. But Friday, when the Jim McMahon story broke in Chicago, local stations and the metropolitan newspapers pushed those superficial stories about Poland and drugs aside and concentrated on the punky former quarterback of the Chicago Bears. The disproportionate amount of news coverage of the McMahon story tells us something about ourselves.

Monday night sports writer Bill Gleason said the Chicago media is "provincial". He was appalled at the amount of printers' ink which was used on this sports story. Tuesday morning Mike Royko devoted his entire column to the Bears' story and vowed to head a new committee favoring the San Diego Chargers football team.

I'm as much of a sports' nut as most Chicago fans. but I think we get our priorities a little out of whack when we spend so much time caring about the Jim McMahons of the world.

Oakton staff approves contract by close vote

by Jill Janov

Oakton Community College trustees authorized a new contract for classified staff members after the staff voted 91-64 to accept the contract. Although the staff will receive an unconditional seven percent pay increase next year, the union vote was close and the contract's opponents plan to file a complaint, according to a classified staffer. Classified staff members include all non-teaching, non-administrative employees.

Patricia Valentino, president of OCC's Classified Staff Association said the seven percent salary increase would cost the college $365,500 next year. In

Harlem residents cite need for road repairs

Niles residents along Harlem Avenue, between Oakton and Dempster Streets, came to the Niles Village Board meeting Tuesday evening at the suggestion of fellow-resident Ed Stanko who began his invitation asking them, "Are you tired of the noise...?" and described the state of disrepair of the state highway. Keith Peck referred to correspondence beginning in 1983 and indicated the state of Illinois did not fund repairs in this year's budget but would probably repair the Oakton to Main Street portions of Harlem Avenue next year. Blase indicated he had asked State Senator Robert Kustra to intervene on the village's behalf as well. Blase asked Peck to invite a representative from IDOT to meet with the residents. "We'll storm and rage a bit," he said.

1988-89, $5,222 was budgeted for staff salaries. She also explained that staffers will receive four paid vacation days between Christmas and New Year's but will work 15 more minutes each

Toys 'R' Us employee gives extra effort to customer service

by Jill Janov

Stella Berry, Niles Toys 'R' Us department head, can read handwriting that looks like hieroglyphics to many Niles grandparents.

While shopping, grandparents often need assistance deciphering lists of toys their grandchildren have written for them. Berry said even though "kids can't spell for beans," she has no problem reading a child's writing.

Berry, 32-year-old widow and mother of two, directs a staff of as many as 45 and constantly interacts with and assists the customers. She describes her job as hectic but enjoys it because she cannot see herself as "one of those stuffy people who puts on a business suit at 5:30 in the morning and comes home at 8:30 at night."

Matt Rudnick, one of Berry's directors, said she has so much energy, she doesn't know what to do with it. "When you want to talk to her," Rudnick said, "you have to walk behind her to keep up with her."

Regardless of how busy Berry may be, she always takes time out for the customers. She is known for the extra effort she provides; she wraps packages, inserts batteries in toys and takes the time to search the stockroom for just the right gift. The customers remember her and ask for her when they visit the store again.

Last Christmas a grandmother didn't know the name of the doll she wanted to buy her granddaughter. Berry knelt down and asked the red-headed, freckled girl what she wanted. The little girl talked so fast, Berry could not understand her. "I must have spent a half hour talking to her," Berry said. "She called it a 'head doll.'" Berry finally realized the girl wanted a Cabbage Patch doll with big freckles and red hair. Berry then searched through all the dolls in the stock room until she found the one the little girl described. "She didn't have to say 'thank you,'" Berry said. "She just hugged the doll."

"That's the gratification I get that's not so little to me. I'm sure the grandmother will never forget it, and neither will I," Stella said.

Stella even drove 30 miles on her day off to pick up a game at another Toys 'R' Us store for one of her customers, Susan Glazer of Northbrook. "She went beyond the call of duty to get this game for us. She could have just said 'sorry,'" Glazer said. But if Toys 'R' Us does not stock a particular item and Stella knows who does, she will send that customer to the other store. "A lot of people don't offer that information," Berry said. "Hopefully, they'll remember me because I sent them where they could find what they were looking for. Nine out of ten of these people will come back and ask for me."

"I've done that for a lot of people," Berry said. Her philosophy came from her father, a minister, who said, "Someday, everything you do good for someone is going to come back to you in the wash." Toys 'R' Us has an employee incentive plan. After several years of service, each employee receives diamond jewelry. Berry has received a pin, but she never wears it. A satisfied customer is incentive enough for her. Berry has been an employee of Toys 'R' Us for 10 years.

MG workers picket IBT offices

by Sheilya Hackett

The four attractive women pacing back and forth on Waukegan Road were decidedly upbeat about their walking. "No, I'm not tired, it's worth it!...We're trying to get some exercise...Sunday was really hot!" The pacing women are members of the Communications Workers of America (CWA) picketing Illinois Bell Telephone (IBT) offices at 8930 N. Waukegan Road, Morton Grove, as their vest-type signs declare, CWA on strike against IBT.

While grey skies threaten, the women keep up their picketing. One striker, Joan Lammersfeld of Morton Grove, wearing a shorts outfit, admits she got sun poisoning on her legs, but it didn't last long. She said "I'll stay out here as long as it takes." Others say "Pray it doesn't rain...we've been rained on seven times!"

Because the colonnaded building holding local telephone offices is not owned by IBT, but houses, among other things, a savings institution, the pickets can take shelter and coffee breaks on the building's wide porch and are free to use inside facilities. The IBT offices at the location include operations for Morton Grove and Waukegan directory assistance and also operator assistance calls. Laura Palm, one of the stewards for CWA local 4203, said the union began by picketing 24 hours when the strike began at midnight Aug. 12, but they have since cut their hours to 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily. She noted there are a total 37,000 union workers from Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana and Ohio involved in the work stoppage and of that number, 3000 are from Illinois. One of the strikers' complaints is the basic wage scale, which they want upgraded, along with a cost of living increase. Steward Palm said the directory assistance workers have been forced to work six days a week because of a shortage of personnel, a shortage they say would not exist if beginning workers were paid more.

A call to IBT's "Communicator" hot line explains that IBT, on Aug. 21, invited the CWA to resume negotiations in the strike, but so far they have not agreed to do so. Negotiations broke off Aug. 12, the day the workers' contract expired. IBT indicated service levels were improving in spite of the strike, and although there were some delays in information assistance, calls for "0" operator were improving each day.

Tuesday morning in Morton Grove, picketers Kathy Conlon and Pat Ketter of Chicago and Debbie Koz of Arlington Heights agreed on their goal. "We hope we can resolve (the problem). We're all trying to stick together and make it through this one."

Park Ridge Park District to negotiate sale of YMCA land

By Sheilya Hackett

The Park Ridge Park district will actively pursue purchase of the Northwest Community YMCA property, 1515 W. Touhy Ave., Park Ridge, but has made no formal commitment to buy as yet. Following on the heels of an Aug. 17 executive session of the park district board, three board members met with Chicago metropolitan YMCA officials Aug. 18 to convey their firm interest in the 127 acres, but no prices were discussed, according to Steve Meyer. Meyer said board members want more input on the condition of the new-shuttered YMCA building and its facilities. He indicated a recent architectural study found the building has severe mechanical and handicapped accessibility problems. Park district and YMCA negotiators will meet again Aug. 29.

Meyer indicated the park district had long felt the YMCA land would fit into their future plans because of its proximity to Centennial Park and its central location in the suburb. He said the park district at present is "land poor."

Recently Meyer said that the District 63 board questions Blase letter

by Eileen Hirschfeld

East Maine School District 63 board member Norman Padnos asked that a letter written by Niles Mayor Nicholas Blase to all village residents be admitted into the district minutes at Tuesday night's board meeting. Padnos denounced the letter which recommends that individuals write to all taxing bodies listed on their property bills and ask them to be more responsive to the public.

District Superintendent Eldon C. Gleichman said the district's 1988 rate decreased from the 1987 tax rate by about $23,914 although the amount of money in the Educational Fund increased by $213,658. The reduction in taxes is due to a lowered rate in the liability insurance as determined by the state, Gleichman said.

The Educational Fund is the district's largest fund and is the cession building, a ballfield and a basketball area. Such grants come from the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Computers provide information for Niles police

By Nancy Keraminas

The Niles police motor pool is well on its way towards being totally computer equipped and, by all reports, the ALERT system is user-friendly to Officer Friendly. All but three of the department's 15 marked and unmarked squad cars have been equipped with $4,000 Motorola KDT 480 systems which, according to Sgt. John Katsoulas, give field officers a direct link-up with the Law Enforcement Administration Data Service (LEADS) in Springfield.

Previously in Niles and many other police departments, an officer would contact the dispatcher at police headquarters and communicate driver or suspect information to be checked. The dispatcher would then transmit the information downstate and relay the report back to the field officer. In-squad ALERT systems save time for officers, freeing up dispatchers for other duties.

Training Officer Tony Fidanza, who has been on the force since 1981, commented on the systems ease and convenience. "It's great. Everything's at your fingertips." Fidanza expressed the view that ALERT in-squad systems allow officers to conduct more field interrogations conveniently and save on radio time. "The older officers are not afraid of it, either," adds Katsoulas. Fidanza comments "It's set up so

Volunteer offers 30 years of service

Delores Nordin, right, and Ruth Berg, St. Matthew Lutheran Home resident, enjoy playing with Lovey, who visits the Home each Tuesday when Ruth's sister, Dorothea, works in the Home's boutique.

Nothing makes Delores Nordin of Skokie happier than the joy she brings to the residents of St. Matthew Lutheran Home in Park Ridge.

Delores Nordin, right, and Ruth Berg, St. Matthew Lutheran Home resident, enjoy playing with Lovey, who visits the Home each Tuesday when Ruth's sister, Dorothea, works in the Home's boutique.

When her grandmother moved into the newly-opened retirement home in 1959, Nordin started out helping to make residents' beds. As the home grew in size and levels of care, this function was taken over by nursing aides and Nordin moved into new areas of service. "Some of the residents just like to talk about their problems and can't understand why they're here at St. Matthew," said Nordin. "I assure them that there are very good reasons for them to be in a facility like St. Matthew, and that their families love them enough to realize that they need this type of care."

Her husband, Robert, retired from Teletype in Skokie then years ago and makes things for the Home to sell in its boutique. The St. Matthew Service League runs the boutique and Delores has been an active Service League member for a number of years -- long enough to log more than 3000 hours of volunteer service.

SLOWING DOWN AGING

While scientists continue their search for ways to increase life span, many older American have discovered their own "fountains of youth." They have found that many of the effects of aging can be slowed, even reversed, and that their "quality of life" can be enhanced by keeping their bodies and minds more active while keeping involved in life. The not-so-magic fountain: a mixture of challenging work, active play, regular exercise and a positive outlook.

As a result, today's generation of older people generally enjoy greater fitness, financial security and independence than their counterparts of 20 to 30 years ago. They are dispelling the "rocking-chair myths" that "old people" (usually understood to be anyone over 60 or 65) are poor, sickly, senile and dependent. Surveys have shown that 94 percent of them are mobile and active; 83 percent feel financially secure; 80 percent live independently (not in institutions or with relatives) and 82 percent report moderately good health.

Both the Prairie View Community Center and the Flickinger Senior Center have a host of programs that aim at enhancing the lives of Morton Grove seniors. For more information about these, call Prairie View at 965-7447 or the Flickinger Center at 470-5223.

SATURDAY CHOLESTEROL SCREENING

Morton Grove residents who work during the week and who have not been able to come in for the regular cholesterol screenings on the fourth Tuesday of each month, can now come in on Saturday, Aug. 26. The Morton Grove Department of Health and Human Services will be administering the quick and precise screenings from 9 a.m. to noon in the Flickinger Senior Center. No fasting is required. First-time senior citizen screenings are not charged, other seniors are charged $3 and younger residents and non-residents are charged $4. Reservations are required by calling the Health Department at 470-5246.

SUBURBAN AGENCY ON AGING

A special information program describing the routing of federal funding for seniors citizens services will be presented at the Prairie View Community Center at 12:30 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 28. Also reviewed will be the function of the Area Agency on Aging and the use of federal money in the Morton Grove community. Morton Grove Park District Adult Supervisor, Ronex Brenner, is also a member of the Area Agency's Advisory Council and will be on hand to answer questions.

TASTE OF EMERITUS

For those who think retirement is a time to do all the rewarding things put off in the past, Emeritus is the program for them. This is a chance to investigate non-credit classes and hear from teachers offered at Oakton Community College for the fall semester. This special lecture will be presented at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 29 at the Oakton East campus, 7701 Lincoln Ave., room 112.

Most of the Emeritus classes begin in September and are offered at half-price for those over 60 years of age. They are held at Oakton East, the Leaning Tower YMCA, the Skokie Park District, and the Jewish Community Center in Skokie. Examples of courses are: Drawing Anything I, Theatre Going in Chicago, Plays about Women, Tax Free and Tax Advantaged, What to do in London, and Tap Dance.

POETRY CONTEST

Poets may now enter the American Poetry Association's nationwide contest. Over $11,000 in prizes will be awarded to 152 winners. Entry is free and everyone is welcome to enter. "Seniors are especially welcome to this contest. Their poems are full of lifelong experience, so we want to see more of their work," said Robert Nelson, publisher for the Association. Poets may enter the contest by sending up to six poems, each no more than 20 lines, name and address on each page, to American Poetry Association, Dept. CT-59, 250-A Potrero Street, P.O. TELE-HELP OFFERS TDD

Tele-Help can help people who need to communicate through a Telecommunication Device for the Deaf (TDD) to get in touch with people who do not have such a device. For example: Mr. X is hearing impaired and needs to make a dental appointment, he calls Tele-Help and they then make the appointment for him by calling his dentist. These and other services are provided through Tele-Help's information and referral program. For more information, call 291-0085 or TDD: 291-0504.

Lind to chant at High Holiday services

On the evening of Sept. 29 at 8 p.m., Cantor Dale Lind will begin to chant the High Holiday Services as the messenger of his Congregation The Sons of Joshua. This will mark the 16th year since the congregation was created for the unaffiliated.

Dale, the son of the late Cantor Joshua Lind, for whom the congregation was named, is a descendant of five generations of cantors who began in Europe and migrated to this country in the early 1900s.

Dale, one of the original Three Lind Brothers, is proud of the fact that eight members of the Lind family tree are participating in the services. The Lind family is particularly thrilled with 9-year-old granddaughter Joanna Lind who will be appearing in the Children's Chorus at the Lyric Opera this season when they present Tosca and Der Rosenkavalier.

Joanna will again solo at the Holiday services along with younger sister Allison who is 5 years old.

The professional 21-voice choir, directed by Dale's son Cary, boasts solists from the Lyric Opera, the Chicago Symphony, Grant Park and Ravinia.

Phil Lind, Dale's brother, will interpret the liturgy as well as deliver the Holiday Sermons.

All the services will be conducted at The Fireside of Morton Grove where the Grand Ballroom is converted into a magnificent sanctuary.

For additional information, please call the congregation office at 272-0252.

Mayor heads fund drive committee

The program, known as "Illinois Smiles for Little City" will be held on Friday, Aug. 18, and Saturday, Aug. 19, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. We need volunteers who will be stationed at stores and busy street corners in Niles on Friday, Aug. 18, and Saturday, Aug. 19, for one to two hours canning (accepting donations). Anyone interested in devoting time to this worthwhile cause, please contact Ralph Bast at the Niles Administration Building, 967-6100. Suburban measles update

Since the Aug. 2 report of 150 measles cases in suburban Cook County, 22 additional cases have been confirmed by the Cook County Department of Public Health (CCDPH), bringing the total number of cases since Jan. 1 to 172. 33 cases have been reported in the north suburbs, 56 in the west, and 83 in the south. Unlike the city of Chicago where a majority of the reported cases are in preschoolers, suburban Cook County cases are almost evenly split between the preschool population and those over 6 years of age. Minorities - Blacks and Hispanics - have a disproportionate number of cases for their total population in the suburbs.

From Aug. 4 to 15, the health department has immunized 7,378 people in suburban Cook County - 2,748 people in the north, 1,094 and 2,538 in the south. These numbers represent a dramatic increase over what the department would normally expect to immunize at this time of year.

The Cook County Department of Public Health continues to recommend that the following people be immunized for measles:

1. Anyone between 15 months and 32 years of age who has never received a measles immunization or
2. Individuals, 32 years old or younger, who were immunized before 1970 or
3. Children - 6 months through 14 months old - a. who have had contact with someone with measles or b. who spend at least one day a week in the suburbs of Dolton, Harvey, Sauk Village, or Cicero or the Chicago communities of Logan Square, Humboldt Park, West Town, North and South Lawndale, Austin, Near West

Edgar offers tips on driving with trucks

Sharing the road with large trucks is part of safe highway driving. When you are near a big truck, use extra caution, be alert and follow these safety tips to avoid a disastrous collision:

Reduce your speed and increase your following distance when traveling behind a large truck. The greater physical mass of trucks cuts their stopping abilities to almost one-half that of automobiles. Rear-end collisions with a truck often result in under-ride, when a car slides into and under the truck's trailer, possibly decapitating the car's occupants.

Truck drivers have a higher line of sight and a different blind spot than auto drivers. Stay far enough behind a large truck to avoid driving in its blind spot, and use your turn signals when passing or changing lanes. If you decide to pass a truck, be sure the road ahead is clear and pass quickly.

Passing a large truck creates a sudden gust of wind that may cause you to lose control or affect the stability of your vehicle. Grip the steering wheel firmly to compensate for changes in wind. You should see the truck's entire cab in your rearview mirror before returning to that lane.

In congested city traffic, trucks and buses frequently make right turns from the left lane. You may need to yield the right-of-way or back up at a traffic light to allow for wide swings when trucks turn.

The disease can affect any body organ or system, such as the skin, joints, kidneys, brain, lungs and heart. Lupus can affect anyone of any race, however, it is most often diagnosed in women between the ages of 15 and 40. Design your own T

If you see someone walking down the street wearing a shirt that reads, "Somebody in Skokie Likes Me," it came from Skokie Transfer. Not long ago, every shopping mall had a T-shirt shop where people could specify what they wanted their shirts to read. But most of these stores are history.

The Skokie Transfer Inc., 4736 Dempster St., has not been reduced to a mere memory. In fact, the nine-year-old store just moved down the block to begin yet another phase in its existence. A new owner, Laura Davis, joins Natalie Rubin as the newest owner of the store.

The Skokie Transfer sells T-shirts of all kinds. Different designs representing sports such as soccer, baseball, biking and even bowling are available.

Not all of the merchandise is whimsical. Many shirts have intricate designs and some of them are even tie-dyed. Only this year did the store begin carrying tie-dyed clothing.

According to Rubin, the store just started carrying them this year because they are back in fashion. But nothing in T-shirt fashion surprises her anymore. She has heard requests for personalized shirts of all kinds - some in foreign languages, others obscene. She doesn't ask why; she is willing to write whatever customers request.

One customer brought in a straight jacket to be lettered. Another brought in an accountant's underpants and had it lettered on the fly.

Most of the personalized shirts are of a more standard nature. People bring in photographs, which can be copied onto shirts. The store also sells aprons, mits and bags. Rubin can personalized just about anything and she has personalized just about everything.

Most T-shirts cost $7.50, which includes the shirt and the iron-on. However, with an order of a dozen or more shirts, the price goes down to $6. This is a good promotion for sports teams, businesses, etc.

Other shirts with long sleeves and made of finer material cost $13 and $14.

What is especially unique about all this is that customers can choose the exact shirt they want. Shirts can include their own photographs, their own designs and even their own color.

"They can order exactly what they want," Rubin said. "We do silk screening also. People come in here with an idea and they can see their exact shirt created. There aren't too many of our kind of shops around anymore. Stop in and browse, You'll like what you see. The Skokie Transfer 677-5151.

Adult Day Care Center opens

The Greek-American Community Services, G.A.C.S., 4817 W. Montrose in Chicago, has received a grant from the Illinois Department on Aging to open an adult day care center in October at Alvernia Place, 3900 N. Lawndale Ave. in northwest Chicago.

The grant will help provide funding for the first year of operation. This means that the center will be able to provide day care for 30 clients a day. Fees for services will be based on a client's ability to pay. No one will be denied services due to a lack of funds.

In efforts to raise money for the day care center, G.A.C.S. is planning an initial fundraising effort, "An Evening in Michigan - August Harvest Wonderland" in Bridgeman, Michigan, on Aug. 26, at 6 p.m. For the donation of $20, participation will include sampling of delicious Greek food and warm lively conversation. Many additional activities such as fruit picking, dune climbing and beach relaxation can be done at Warren Dunes Beach State Park or Waukegan Beach. For more details on the outing, calls should be directed to G.A.C.S. at 539-2323.

The Northwest Provider Council, a group of concerned agency members and participants sponsored by the Chicago Department on Aging and Disability, strongly supports such a center. Most families wait too long to make inquiries. For more information regarding the appropriateness of day care placement and about day care in general, call the Northwest Multipurpose Center of the Department on Aging and Disability, 744-6681, information and referral. To make referrals for the day center, call 539-2323.

Local program wins national accreditation

Sugar Plum Tree is among the first day care/preschool programs in the United States to be accredited by the National Academy of Early Childhood Programs. The Academy recognizes programs which meet national standards of quality in early childhood programs. Sugar Plum Tree, located at 1006 Gillick in Park Ridge, serves 60 children from ages 2 years to 8 years, according to its director, Maryellen Waters.

The Academy's standards were developed over a three-year period with input from approximately 200 educators and administrators from around the country. It was launched in 1985 by NAEYC, which is the nation's oldest and largest association of early childhood professionals.

To become accredited, Sugar Plum Tree had to meet a variety of strict criteria related to providing activities appropriate for young children, to having well qualified and trained staff, to having an adequate number of staff for the number of children, to meeting stringent health and safety standards, and to having opportunities for parental involvement. The accreditation process included an on-site study of the program and review by a three-member national commission.

Chaplain's experiences in the 132nd regiment of Chicago

Touch football and hill #260 on Guadalcanal are not far apart to Father Gorman as he recalls his experiences nearly 50 years ago as an infantry chaplain to the 132nd regiment of Chicago young men in the U.S. army.

It all began in 1940 when Father Gorman was a chaplain at St.

ed upon his mother's decision, perhaps he didn't belong in the service after all. "And that was fine for me," Father reported.

About a month later Colonel Nelson, commanding officer of the 132nd regiment, paid a visit to Father Gorman. He had known Nelson as a civilian in his parish

Now 85 years old and a resident of the Resurrection Nursing Pavilion, a visitor to his third-floor room can sense his military presence.

Elizabeth Hospital in Chicago and with his daily touch football games with the interns. One day a staff physician asked Father Gorman: "How would you like to be a chaplain in the National Guard?" "What is that?" Father Gorman inquired.

"Well, you go for a meeting one evening a week for about an hour. And if the government should pass the Selective Training Act, you go down south, bring your clubs and spend the winter," his doctor friend responded.

"OK, I'll consult my parents." Ane later that evening when he told his mother, she said: "You weren't ordained for the army, of course not."

That appeared to abruptly end a budding army career for Chaplain Gorman. When the doctor learned about his decision, he told Father that since he depended upon his mother's decision, perhaps he didn't belong in the service after all. "And that was fine for me," Father reported.

A zig-zag journey to the east coast and a voyage through the Panama Canal ended in Melbourne, Australia. They were later conveyed by submarines to New Caledonia and told to "defend" the island since it was feared the Japanese might attempt to cut supply lines to Australia.

Later in the year, Father Gorman and the regiment landed in Guadalcanal to support the marine effort there. Here, Father Gorman prayed the Act of Contrition and offered absolution to Catholics and Protestants alike before they went into battle.

Hill #260 became an epic battle on Guadalcanal, and the heroic efforts of the 132nd regiment from Chicago were widely reported in the Chicago dailies.

Soon it was on to Bougainville, the largest island in the Solomon group, and more bitter and bloody battles. An offer came for Father Gorman from Corps Headquarters looking for a chaplain and offering him a promotion.

Chaplain Gorman's loyalty to his "boys" is warmly recorded on a plaque presented to him during the 48th annual reunion of the 132nd regiment. It reads:

"All we can do, and this we pledge ourselves to do until that day we die, is to remember in our daily prayers, our buddies who have always marched to the tune of the eternal victory march, and who have been decorated with the medal of eternal reward."

Now 85 years old and a resident of the Resurrection Nursing Pavilion, a visitor to his third-floor room can sense his military presence.

There are reminders of Guadalcanal in his room - a large cross inlaid with mother of pearl, some newspapers from the 1940s now yellowed, and pictures of Chaplain Gorman and the boys from the 132nd Regiment.

And still another tribute from his "boys," a plaque dated Sept. 2, 1967, presented by Lt. Colonel William Wrightwood and the 132nd Infantry Regiment:

LGH offers immunization advice

The recent outbreak of measles in Chicago, the worst epidemic seen in Chicago since 1978, has made necessary the early immunization of infants and reimmunization for adolescents living in epidemic or high-risk areas of Chicago and suburban Cook and DuPage Counties, according to Prudence Krieger, M.D., Infectious Diseases, Lutheran General Children's Medical Center, Park Ridge.

"Prompt immunization of exposed children may prevent, or lessen the contraction of, the disease," Dr. Krieger says. "Infants now can be immunized at six months of age -- nine months prior to the standard immunization age of 15 months. As a result of the outbreak, universal reimmunization is, for the first time, required at middle school or junior high entry."

Of the 653 measles cases confirmed with the Chicago Department of Health, nearly 77 percent of those stricken have been preschoolers, ranging in age from infancy to four years. Despite previous recommendations, the majority of measles-inflicted children have never been vaccinated.

Dr. Krieger says, Dr. Krieger encourages parents to confirm with their family physician that children are properly immunized.

IRS demands new tax on health insurance

Many senior citizens and disabled persons must start paying a new tax-based supplemental catastrophic health insurance premium in 1989, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

The new premium is designed to pay part of the cost of expanded hospital coverage and other new medical benefits under Medicare. Generally speaking, anyone eligible for Medicare Part A hospital insurance benefits for at least six months during the year whose 1989 federal income tax liability is $150 or more must pay the premium. Though the premium is not actually due until the 1989 federal tax return is filed, the IRS says Medicare beneficiaries may want to avoid an unexpected year-end surprise by increasing their quarterly estimated tax payments or raising the amount of federal tax withheld from their pensions or paychecks. The IRS says the premium goes up as your tax goes up rising seven to eight dollars for each $50 of federal tax liability. If you're single, the highest premium for 1989 is $800. The same limit applies to a married couple filing a joint return where only one spouse is eligible for Medicare. Where both spouses are eligible, the cap is $1,600.

Publication 934, Supplemental Medicare Premium, contains worksheets and premium tables designed to help you figure your 1989 premium. Retired government workers should also get Publication 935, Government Pension Adjustment for the Supplemental Medicare Premium. Free copies of these two booklets can be obtained by calling the IRS toll-free at 1-800-424-FORM (3676).

Use Credit Wisely To Protect Your Credit Rating

By Joanne Cwynar

The use of credit in today's marketplace is so widespread it is hard to imagine how consumers ever lived without it. Yet, despite the routine use of credit for all types of purchases, many consumers do not fully understand the importance of establishing and maintaining a good credit rating.

A credit rating is a financial "track record" that provides potential creditors—from credit card companies to mortgage lenders—with information on how you have handled your past credit obligations. Because finance companies often use such a record to evaluate your ability to pay off debts, you should use credit wisely and establish good payment habits to protect your credit rating and ensure that you can get money when you need it.

Credit ratings are maintained by organizations known as credit bureaus. There are three major credit bureaus with affiliated offices throughout the country that maintain a nationwide network of detailed records on consumers' use of credit. These records include loans you have obtained, credit cards you have received, the dates on which your credit card accounts were opened, your current balance and payment history. Credit bureaus obtain updates to this information on a regular basis from their members. Approximately 95 percent of all credit-granting organizations—banks, department stores, credit unions, etc.—are members of a national credit bureau network.

A credit bureau file is usually opened for an individual when he or she first applies for credit—a bank card, student loan, car loan, etc. However, a credit rating is initiated only when an individual actually receives a credit card or loan. From that point on, the history of payments on this first account, as well as all future credit accounts, is recorded for credit rating purposes.

Once you have qualified for any form of credit, the best way to establish a good payment history is to fulfill all your credit obligations in a timely fashion. This includes making your payments on time and in amounts that are at least the minimum that is due. Never go into debt without being able to pay back your credit card balances and loans in accordance with the terms of your credit or loan agreement. As a rule, the combined balance of all your credit card accounts should never exceed 15 percent of your net annual income.

Another way to maintain a good credit rating is by keeping the number of credit cards you hold to a minimum. For example, if you currently hold credit cards from four department stores and each of these stores accepts your bank credit card, you can better manage your credit records by using the bank card for all future purchases and closing the other credit card accounts.

Many payment problems occur when an individual has too many accounts to handle—and too much credit at his or her disposal. Maintaining fewer accounts makes it much easier to keep track of credit card balances and simplifies the process of making monthly payments.

Many consumers mistakenly believe that missing a monthly payment on a credit card or loan balance will not damage their credit rating if multiple payments are made in subsequent months. All missed payments, whether or not they are made up later, appear as blemishes on a credit rating.

Frequent missed or late payments can result in a bad credit rating, which can make it difficult or impossible for a person to obtain additional credit. Patterns of excessive use of credit or habitual late payments will continue to appear on an individual's credit bureau report for up to seven years. A person with a bad credit rating can, however, reverse the damage if he or she reestablishes a record of making regular, timely payments on credit accounts.

Generally, credit bureau files are accessible only to member credit grantors who wish to review files for credit applications, employment information, or for debt collection. You can, however, obtain a copy of your own credit history from a local credit reporting agency, usually for a small fee.

From bank cards to home mortgages, credit is a valuable financial tool for consumers. Maintaining a good credit rating will ensure that the purchasing power of credit is available when you need it.

Wheeling resident wins trip from bank

First Colonial Bank Northwest took this request quite literally during its grand opening celebration a few weeks ago -- and Bob Sroka was the lucky recipient of this grand-slam prize.

According to John A. Benson, president of First Colonial Bank Northwest, Sroka received an all-expense paid trip for four to San Diego (with tickets to see the Cubs play the Padres) in a special drawing to celebrate the opening of the bank's Wheeling office, 800 S. Wheeling Road.

In addition, all who attended the celebration received a money bag containing coins and an opportunity to win a shiny $5 gold piece (value: $47). One-hundred pairs of Cubs tickets were also raffled off, along with official Cubs jackets, caps, T-shirts and baseballs. And, First Colonial pitched in $10 for those people who took advantage of one of the bank's products or services.

Democrat presents political fundraiser

Democratic Party activist Phyllis A. Sherman, a candidate for a seat on the Cook County Board from Chicago and for 9th Congressional District State Central Committeewoman, will present a kickoff fundraiser on Monday, Aug. 28, at My Place For, 7545 N. Clark St., Chicago, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Tickets to the cocktail reception are $35.

Sherman, the president and co-founder of the Illinois Committee for Honest Government, is expected to announce the names of some additional key supporters at the reception, and may announce an update on her plans for the reopening of three Chicago hospitals and incorporating them into the Cook County health care system. Sherman has proposed that Cook County acquire Provident Hospital on the South Side, St. Anne's Hospital on the West Side and Mount Sinai North Hospital on the North Side. Once obtained, they could provide enough hospital bed space to allow Cook County Hospital to be rebuilt on its current site, saving millions in land acquisition costs.

Sherman also announced that as of the completion of the Bud Billiken Parade on Aug. 12, she has met her initial goal of appearing in each of Chicago's 50 wards and the five suburban townships which are part of the 9th district. Those persons needing additional information on the Aug. 28 reception may call 338-5081 for further details.

State Senate bill signing report

The first in a series of traditional state fair bill-signing ceremonies was held during the week, as Governor Thompson signed into law legislation reinstating a state income tax exemption for elderly and blind taxpayers, establishing new criminal offenses involving elder abuse and expanding the "Circuit Breaker" program, according to State Senator Bob Kustra (R-28).

Kustra explained that prior to the passage of federal tax reform legislation in 1986, blind and elderly taxpayers in Illinois were given special exemptions on their state income taxes. Due to changes in federal law that year, the state exemption had been lost, until the signing of HB 340 - which reincorporates the much-needed tax break for nearly a million blind and elderly Illinoisans.

Schools offer reduced price lunch program

Maine Township High School District 207 today announced its policy for free and reduced price meals for students unable to pay the full price of meals served under the National School Lunch Program at the Maine Township High School East and Maine Township High School West.

Household size and income criteria will be used to determine eligibility. Children from households that meet Federal guidelines are eligible for free or reduced price meals. Applications forms are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. Copies of the application form are available at the principal's office in each school. Households should answer all applicable questions on the form. An Application which does not contain all the required information about food stamps or income cannot be processed and approved by the school.

Households may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If a household is not eligible now but has a decrease in household income, an increase in household size, or a household member becomes unemployed, they should fill out an application at that time.

In certain cases foster children are eligible for meal benefits regardless of the household income. If a household has a foster child living with them and they wish to apply for meal benefits for them, they should complete the application.

Households dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss it with the school. Households also have the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing Dr. James L. Elliot, Superintendent, 1131 South Dee Road, Park Ridge, Illinois 60068, 696-3600. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color, national origin, age, sex or handicap. If you believe you have been discriminated against, write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Officer John Huinker, who is completing his first year of training as a Niles officer, demonstrated the compact system. Each officer has his or her own secret password which must be used when signing on to the system. The codes used to request information are identical to the ones used by officers when they previously relayed information to the dispatcher. The keyboard even includes an emergency button which can be activated when the officer needs back-up. A similar button is also on the portable radios each officer carries.

As Huinker signed on, there was a message displayed for Fianza from the Park Ridge Department. In addition to communicating with LEADS, interdepartmental communication is possible with similarly equipped agencies. Park Ridge also has the computers in their cars. After clearing the message, Huinker was able to request and receive information about a license plate in less than a minute.

He said a youth center was considered a high priority in the Vision 2000 study conducted last year and thinks park district purchase of the YMCA land might fill that need. In the study, representatives from community organizations met frequently to determine long range goals for Park Ridge.

If the levy is approved, an average Morton Grove resident will pay $90 per year, or four cents per day. This is about a $15 a year increase over last year's tax bill.

The additional funds will pay the salaries for a new secretary, maintenance worker and several electricians. In addition, insurance costs have escalated about 30 percent, the employee pension fund has risen and the handicapped fund increased due to this year's contribution to the Maine-Niles Association of Special Recreation.

However, the board opposed by a vote of 3-0, the proposed M-NASR budget at the recommendation of Commissioner Doug Steinman. According to Gary Balling, park administrative manager, the budget's format is confusing. Although he disapproves of the group's preparation of the budget, he said approved the spending plan.

"I feel that M-NASR's monies are being spent appropriately to provide services for handicapped individuals in our community," Balling said. Morton Grove will provide 9.9 percent or $47,595, of M-NASR's $475,871 budget and is one of six parks that contribute. Next year the park will contribute

Letters To The Editor

Ulterior motive in village's action against Ruesch?

To Whom It May Concern:
I have been a Niles resident for the past 30 years. I live off Shermer Road, in the immediate area of the Ruesch garage. I find the garage neither an eyesore nor offensive. What I find offensive is the insult to our residents' intelligence when the village claims that they are only concerned with the appearance of the area and the property value, when the truth of the matter is that there is a developer who is interested in purchasing the property. Does someone owe someone a favor?

It is a shame that our mayor and "His" trustees can decide to force people to close their business, especially a business that was started by some of Niles' earliest settlers. The Rueschs are hard-working people who bother no one.

This is the first time that I wholeheartedly disagree with our village officials. It is unfortunate that the good things that Mayor Blase has accomplished over the years are not what will be remembered. I know that there are many, many more people who agree with me and feel that a small town mayor and his associates should not have the power to force people from their homes and businesses. Why should the Ruesch family have to go to court to fight for something they have owned and loved for more than 60 years? This is the United States of America!

Mayor Blase suggested in a Bugle article of Aug. 17, that the Ruesch family could gain considerable funds from the sale of the property. It certainly is not financial gain that is most important to the family. Their main concern is the preservation of the home and business that is so important to them.

There are so many more worthwhile projects in our village that need attention, especially the flooding situation. Isn't it time to stop harassing innocent people and start to concentrate on more positive things?

Each property owner in our area saw, and was aware of the Ruesch garage when they made the decision to purchase their property. It is not something that developed later.

Sincerely,
A Concerned 30-yr. Taxpayer in this "All America City"

Women voters cite need for recycling

Dear Editor:
We fear that the Village of Niles may be adopting a shortsighted policy in regard to recycling. It is encouraging to read that "The Village Board agrees at some point Niles should provide recycling." Plans are now being developed on a statewide basis to establish mandatory recycling programs. Since we will be required to participate, why wait for the plan to be developed by others? While the costs of recycling may be high, the costs of not recycling will undoubtedly be higher.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth Mattenoi

Local comments on flooding

Dear Editor:
The waters in my basement have now subsided, the clean-up is well under way and most of the damaged items have been discarded. Now it's time to try to forget what happened in the early hours of Aug. 5.

This is what happened two years ago. We forgot what happened on Aug. 14, 1987.
We must not forget what just happened. It's time for us to take some corrective action. Our public works director suggests overhead sewers. I have them. They don't work when the street floods and the flood waters pour into my "above grade" basement windows. The intersection of Lee and Ortole floods with almost every rain.

We have suffered and will continue to suffer because we have village officials who don't respond to the needs of its citizens. It's time for us to remind these officials that this is our village. They are our employees. They are in their positions to serve us. When will they begin?

Very truly yours,
Randy Greco

Traffic hinders Breakers residents

To whom it may concern:
My name is George Greenstein and I live at the Breakers at Golf Mill.

In the past week we had two bad accidents on Golf Road, in front of our driveway. The people at the Breakers can not cross the street due to the heavy flow of traffic. We also have no sidewalk equipment safety.

When those residents came to the meeting with 61 signatures on petitions, I accepted these and thanked them. I also had Mr. Rea explain to them again the unsafe condition of the truck, as well as the fact that rodents and other small animals were living in it. Mr. Rea showed them the new play fire truck.

I knew they felt badly, so I said we would not remove the truck until I had talked to the entire board of commissioners to further explore any alternative action, and that they would be notified of any decisions made. I then requested Mr. Rea to ask public works not to remove the truck until further notice. The truck had been scheduled for removal July 19; it was not removed until July 27.

After talking to the board of commissioners they stated we had no choice but to abide by the recommendations of staff and the safety committee for the truck's removal. I did the best I could in exploring every option in hope of keeping the fire truck at Point Park.

When I said they should go to the Historical Society to view the truck and leave a donation, this was misconstrued. No payment is required to see the truck; but a small donation would be ideal so that the Historical Society's work in the building and in acquiring the truck and other such items could continue.

I have been on the Board of the Niles Park District more than 10 years and I have worked hard to beautify the parks. Equally important is the safety of the children. An unsafe park is not a beautiful park any longer if a child is injured.

I like my unsalaried job; I wouldn't go to meeting after meeting if I did not. I am one village official that will help at a minute's notice because I truly love this community. I serve to the best of my ability and I will sign my name.

Elaine Heinen
President,
Board of Commissioners
Niles Park District

Reader thanks 'good samaritan'

Dear Editor:
Thought that your paper might be interested in good things that people do.

Coming home from work one night during rush hour peak, I got a flat tire.

Mark Schramm, of Des Plaines, had me pull over and changed by tire. What a nice gesture and thing to do! Again, my sincerest thanks to a very nice fellow who would not accept any monetary remuneration whatsoever.

Thanks again, Mark!
You made by day!

go into hibernation during the college playoffs. In March, I lose my perspective - and couldn't care a hoot who cares. But enough is enough.

In the inner city you'll see kids playing basketball on the playground day and night...often all day and on into the evening. The high schools play in endless tournaments all summer long. One school, King High School, has a six foot ten inch youngster who was still in grammar school while playing with King during these off-seasons tourneys.

Most of these inner city kids will never play another varsity game after high school. The few that play in college will never play beyond college. Only a very minute fraction of one percent will ever make a living playing any sports game. Meanwhile, many of them are deficient in the basic skills in academics.

The punky quarterback and the Cubbies and bouncing a basketball are fun things to watch and to play. But when Lech Walesa and the drug stories go to the bottom of our interest lists, and when the kids don't have basic reading skills, we have to wonder if we're not overdoing this sports thing.

We want to give a little too on The Bugle to a business in town we used during the flash flood a couple of weeks ago. We were inundated by water which came in under our door and soaked the carpet in our offices. Two years ago, when a similar flood drenched the carpeting, some young guys with a carpet company socked us $500 for two hours of work sucking up the excess water. They knew we were in a bind and they gouged us. This time we called Touch of Beauty Carpeting on Milwaukee Avenue and they gave us super service. They got rid of the water and returned twice deodorizing the carpet and giving us extra fans to dry the carpet. Their bill was a fraction of what the gougers charged. Touch of Beauty's workers were prompt, courteous and provided the first class service we'd expect from professionals.

East Maine Elementary District 63's negotiation team will meet with the school board and a federal mediator Friday in hopes of agreeing on a new teacher contract. Teacher Barbara Korb, who heads the negotiation team said, "We're moving; we're not at an impasse." While Barb said the two sides are far apart she expects schools to open on time. She said "It will take a lot of hard bargaining on Friday."

The school board has offered the teachers $750 raise. The average salary in the district is $34,977 and the average teaching experience was 17.9 years as of last year.

In past years The Bugle has been a friend and foe of the union. When they first organized we were very supportive of their efforts. The union thought so well of The Bugle, members of the group submitted The Bugle for an award for public service from a state press association. At the time we were assured by this very same Ms. Korb, it was not likely the teachers would go on strike again. But when they struck a couple of years later, we reminded the union what their leaders had said and suddenly was placed on its "most unwanted" list. Since the leaders of the union were mostly women, they confirmed "there is no fury like the wrath of a woman".

This time around Ms. Korb contends "deep down" she expects school to open on schedule. We hope her "deep down" feelings are a lot deeper than they were when she assured us there would not be a strike in the district's immediate future.

"Gouging" is a special art reserved for a certain breed of hustlers. Before the great carpet gouge two years ago, we remember the great snow blizzard of '67. Milkmen were still delivering house to house in those days. But they were forced to stop on main streets because of the snow drifts. We walked down to Dempster Street to get milk from the milkman and were charged four times the normal cost. It was the great snow job during the great snow storm...

We've noticed how much we've been using $20 bills lately. It wasn't too long ago we would eat in a restaurant and receive substantial change from a $5 bill. And it wasn't too long ago when a $10 bill would get two of us through a meal. Today, we automatically reach for a twenty whenever we're buying lunch for two. Is this what is called "progress"?

9.73 percent including fringe benefits. Another negotiating session is scheduled for 10 a.m. tomorrow (Friday).

School is scheduled to begin Aug. 28 but may be delayed if a new contract cannot be negotiated between the district and teachers. Under collective bargaining law, a striking group must provide a minimum notice of five calendar days known as an intent to strike.

Scores of teachers were on hand at the board meeting, many voicing strong opinions. A Gemini instructor claimed it was necessary for him to hold two jobs. Kathleen Zoran, Stevenson School teacher, said "I feel disillusioned, frustrated and insulted."

President of the teachers' union Elaine Lampros told The Bugle, "The teachers voted to support the negotiating team. I feel cautiously optimistic."

Voting to support the teachers are members of the East Maine Teachers Assistants Assn. Judy Voller, president and regional representative, said the group is requesting a salary increase, change in contract language and "fair share."

Fair share will require any individual who is not a member of the bargaining unit to contribute financially because he or she receives benefits.

Barbara Korb, negotiating representative of the teachers' union, said teachers do not want to strike and, if the negotiating is going well, will not do so.

Since the last session, the district has made some concessions, Korb said. Originally, it offered teachers a three-year contract with an increase of $750 the first year. However, the increase would be equivalent to a one-time stipend because it would not be included in the salary scale. The board has agreed to include the sum in the salary schedule, she said.

The district also offered a one-time increase of $1,000 the second year and 40 percent of any increase in district revenues with a maximum of a 10 percent increase per teacher during the third year.

Bowing to teacher demands, the board is now offering 40 percent of the 67 percent additional revenue which resulted from the property reassessment during the second year of their contract. "They won't know what that amount will be until next fall," Korb said.

One bone of contention between the district and teachers is a sum of $280,000 which may be received from the state. Korb claims that $100,000 is unrestricted and $180,000 for com-storm and sanitary sewers to water detention areas in new shopping centers and at Maryhill Cemetery. In addition, he outlined eight future recommendations for projects.

Selman was the first of the trustees to point out the public services statistics relative to the Aug. 4 flooding, which were compiled based on citizen phone calls to that department, might not accurately reflect the number of flooded basements. "A lot of people who had a flooding problem did not call," Selman pointed out, adding, "We need to do more investigation."

Trustee Bart Murphy suggested that rather than spend "1,000's of dollars" on an engineering study to determine flooded homes, "Let's get someone from public works to go door to door and talk to these people."

Trustee Louella Preston referred to an earlier survey of Chesterfield residents and suggested sending a questionnaire to residents about flooding. At the meeting a citizen registered surprise that public services wanted any citizen with flooding to contact them, saying she was unaware of this. He underscored the fact that his department wanted all residents to report their floods.

Mayor Nick Blase referred to the relationship of the Des Plaines River and the north branch of the Chicago River to floods, observing that storm sewers in Niles back up when these tributaries are full and the flood gates to Lake Michigan are not being operated from the rivers are sufficient to force water into the lake, rather than vice versa. The mayor advocated a broad village flood control plan and asked for a progress report in 60 days. He also told residents his office was preparing a letter to them detailing some of the pending federal and state legislation and flood control projects.

Peck's recommendations to citizens include: disconnecting downspouts from sewers, cleaning catch basins, and, for those mitted programs such as special education could free up teacher salaries elsewhere.

Bowing to teacher demands, the board is now offering 40 percent of the 67 percent additional revenue which resulted from the property reassessment during the second year of their contract. "They won't know what that amount will be until next fall," Korb said.

ing the opening in an executive newsletter of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce and advertising the opportunity to chambers of commerce in neighboring suburbs. The position pays a salary in the area of $25,000 to $29,000 yearly.

Rothwell said "We're looking for one individual that fits the needs of the chamber at this point of time." When selected, the new director will work with 302 members of the Niles Chamber of Commerce. The group nominates and elects 16 of their number to serve for a three year term on the board of directors. Hockett, an Indiana native, served the Niles Chamber for eight and a half years.

"People are not working more hours for the same pay. We've worked out a time trade," Marilyn Davis, association treasurer, said citing the seven percent pay increase and the four vacation days.

Those opposed to the contract claim the language in the health insurance provision is left open to change. They fear the committee, which includes three administrators and three OCC Classified Staff Association members, will raise insurance costs. In the old plan, OCC paid for individual health insurance.

If health insurance rates rise more than seven percent, the committee, which has not yet been named, can decide how much, if any, employees will pay.

"We have better health insurance benefits than we did before," Davis, said. "I think there was a little misunderstanding as far as the health benefits are concerned. There have been a few people who have generated a tremendous amount of misinformation. She said once they understand, they will be satisfied with the terms of the contract."

Davis cited the college will contribute a greater percentage toward family coverage and part-time staff will receive improved benefits. Valentino noted the employees under contract are a very diverse mix.

"In any group, you're not going to satisfy everyone, all the time," she said.

Opponents of the plan also feel the contract neglects seniority privileges.

In the old contract the applicant with the most seniority was hired. Now, administrators can hire from outside. They said the negotiating team never communicated with the staff during the bargaining period.

"You asked them (about the contract) in the halls, and they said, 'don't worry it's fine,'" a contract opponent said.

In other business, Chairman Bill Spaulding told the board he received letters from unhappy taxpayers who wrote they were
