Neighbors seek assurances about flooding problems

Zoners approve St. Benedict's parking lot

by Nancy Keraminas

The Niles Planning and Zoning Commission unanimously approved a special use permit request Monday night by St. Benedict's Home for the Aged for constructing a parking lot. The commission heard testimony from St. Benedict's legal counsel, according to Village Code Enforcement Director Joe Salerno, before granting the parking lot special use. Zoners stipulated the property, located at 6930 W. Touhy Ave., could only be used as a parking lot.
According to Salerno, the zon-ers heard from three citizens who questioned whether the project would increase flooding and how electrical power lines would be situated on the property. Village engineers will review development plans prior to the issuance of a building permit for the paving and power lines will be installed underground.

The proposed lot, which still needs approval of the village board, will provide additional parking when St. Benedict's builds a 99 bed facility on adjacent

by Bud Besser

Friday we were with a bunch of muckety mucks. We belong to a publishers' association which meets periodically at a hotel in one of the western suburbs. It's a small group of eight or nine representatives of the publishers in the Chicagoland area. Some of the publishers are biggies. Marshall Field is a biggie. He sends along his message carriers to the meeting.

It's a nice group of guys. But they're a bit taken by themselves. The conversation runs along their "Tete-A-Tete" with the Governor or the House Speaker or some lofty political bigwig, mostly in our home state. Occasionally, one of the guys pipes up and tells the group he's heading for Washington to testify before this or that committee concerning a matter relative to newspaper publishing. It's all harmless. And it's just one big ego trip for a bunch of guys who don't have many opportunities to push their esteem button.

When we get back to our 2,500 square foot office we've still got the ring of the publishers' association in our ears. We feel a bit lofty associating with these muckety mucks. But it doesn't take long to return to humble Bugleland. And once again we are quickly reminded what community newspapering is all about.

As we walked into the Bu-

Veteran Niles Policeman, Martin Stankowicz retires; takes on new police challenge

by Sheila Hackett

Lieutenant J. Stankowicz, until recently Commander of the Administrative division, Niles Police Department, is now just "plain old Marty." The veteran policeman rounded off 32 years of service to the Village of Niles when he retired last month. One of those years was spent in the Department of Public Works, where one of his duties was as secretary to the former Director, Edward Bacher. But law enforcement was in his blood, since his dad, the last Mayor Frank Stankowicz, had been a motorcycle policeman on the Niles force before entering the world of village politics. During his 31 years with the Police, Marty Stankowicz reached his goal and was Operations Commander for several years. He later moved to Administrations

Commander and handled all Police support services including personnel, budget, reserves, crossing guards and community work. As he puts it, he did "anything to keep the Police on the street."

Even today, after 31 years on the Niles force, in his new position as Communications Coordinator for the Skokie Police and Fire departments, Stankowicz has to control his reflexive response to action when a call comes in. In his management and civilian position, he oversees a staff of 15.

When he began with the Niles force, applicants could earn the whopping amount of $4000 a year if they passed a preliminary written test. Stankowicz said today's more professional force, with specific requirements and formalized training for officers, has put the Niles force on a par with any other.

The technology he works with today is a far cry from that in the early days of the Niles Police force and these advances are one of the major changes in police work he's witnessed. Stankowicz recalls in the '40s cars had no communication with the station and officers would have to drive by the station if a outside light was on, they'd stop to get their shirts and ties, the lack of air-cooled cars forced them to drive the neighborhoods with open windows and thus develop a closer rapport with the residents.

The town of Niles changed during his stint with the Police, growing with the population explosion following World War II. Stankowicz doesn't remember too much of the celebrity of being the son of a Niles mayor in the years 1941-61. He said "When you're young you don't pay attention to that," but he proudly recalls his dad fostered the Niles industrial district when he moved the village to provide Chicago water for the district's new client, the A.B. Dick Company. In later years, his dad was instrumental in the land acquisition that provided the site for the present sprawling Golf Mill Plaza project.

Stankowicz and his wife Kathleen's two sons, Martin F. and Robert are currently Niles Police officers. His brother, Lt. Frank Stankowicz Jr., retired in 1985 after 29 years of Police service in Niles. At 52, Marty Stankowicz still doesn't take much time to relax because he is a self-described "working person," but when he can take a little time off, he might play an old tune like "Peg O My Heart" on the piano or do a little fishing, either for coho in Lake Michigan or walleye in Minnesota waters.

The retired policeman doesn't mind moving on to new challenges, because in his philosophy, "time marches on," and the veterans make way for the new men.

calls. Later on, squads were equipped with one-way radio receivers, but officers could not vocally respond to calls. This was a bold contrast to today's air condi-

Dist. 67 candidates oppose selling Hynes school

The four candidates for District 67 School Board endorsed by the District 67 Caucus have issued a joint statement countering the September 8 letter mailed by the present School Board to District 67 residents regarding the sale of Hynes School in Morton Grove. At a planning meeting held Tuesday night, September 11, candidates Donna Motzny, Donald India, Donald Kurasch, and Robert Kitzerow criticized the current board for rushing to judgement on the issue of the sale of the Hynes School in the face of what the Caucus candidates believe is widespread community opinion that the issue needs further community input and study. The joint statement of the candidates was as follows:

"We, the Caucus-endorsed candidates for District 67 School Board, believe that there are a number of issues confronting District 67 citizens regarding the impending sale of Hynes School that have not been fully aired. Questions regarding the placement of our youngest students in proximity to the motels along Waukegan Road, the question of whether it might be detrimental to the social development of students between the ages of 5 and 13 when placed together in one facility and whether or not such a move will facilitate the goal of meeting or exceeding the standards of surrounding school districts, have not been fully answered, and are certainly not answered in the Board's non-specific statements in its letter of September 8. We sincerely hope the Board will consider tabling this important issue until after the election of November 7, to allow a fuller airing of public opinion on these issues. In this regard, we hope that concerned citizens will attend the school board meeting of September 21 at Golf Jr. High School."

Conn to oppose Sutker in state race

Niles businesswoman Eunice Conn today announced that she will challenge Illinois State Representative Cal Sutker (D-56th) in the 1990 general election. Conn will file in December for the Republican nomination.

A resident of Morton Grove, Conn has been active in Republican politics for almost 30 years. She served as voter registration chairwoman for the Maine Township Regular Republican Organization in 1984 and has been a precinct captain in Morton Grove the last six years. She served on the Illinois Advisory Committee for Bush for President in 1987-88 and was a Republican Convention delegate candidate on the March '88 ballot, pledged to George Bush.

Conn is a member of the Chicago Crime Commission and a leader in the business community. Continued on Page 39

Sheldon Marcus, Republican Committeeman of Niles Township, announced today that because of increased responsibilities as chairman of the Niles Township Regular Republican Organization and a number of added business and community commitments, he has decided not to file as a candidate for State Representative in the 56th District.

Mr. Marcus ran two closely contested campaigns for state representative in 1986 and 1988, winning three out of the four townships the district covers and garnering 49 percent of the vote in 1988.

As Committeeman he has pledged to strengthening the Republican voice in Niles Township and motivating greater citizen participation in the electoral and governmental process.

MG residents to fight Borg School sale

Linda A. Burns

About 100 residents attended a special board meeting of the Morton Grove Park District Sept. 7 to find out what could be done to keep the land around Borg School, 8601 Menard, an open space for public use. Residents' concern was sparked by news that the school and property around it were sold at a public auction on Sept. 1.

Several people complained that without the open space around Borg School there would be no park in this area where many young families reside.

"Now that we know the land could be lost, I feel it's up to us to let the park district, the school board and the village know how we feel," one resident said. "We weren't given information soon enough to do anything about it," she added.

The school and the 3.85 acres of land it is on were sold to the Muslim Management Group whose $1,835,000 bid topped the Midwest Presbyterian Church's bid of $1,825,000. State law required the school to be sold at a public auction. Continued on Page 39

Chicago man dies while bowling in MG

A 79-year-old Chicago man died while bowling at the Classic Bowl, 8530 Waukegan Rd., Morton Grove, the evening of Sept. 9.

About 7:20 p.m. Ernest C. Larson of the Edgebrook area of Chicago complained of discomfort and asked for a glass of water. He sat down while family members present sought assistance. According to his wife, Larson then stretched out on a bench and lost consciousness. Morton Grove Paramedics transported him to Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, where he was pronounced dead at 8:03 p.m.

According to Steve Johnson, Classic Bowl General Manager,

Larson, his wife, son and daughter were bowling with a church league and were in the middle of the second game when the man became ill. The bowling group calls itself the "Holy Rollers." Family members said Larson had no history of medical problems.

A mountainous tax bill greeted Jim Ruesch, 36, besieged operator of the Ruesch garage, 8650 Shermer Road last week.

The county assessor's annual tax bill carried a levy 800 percent over the previous year's bill. to shut the garage, which they feel is unsightly. The Ruesch family maintains they were at their location since 1928, before the houses came, and they want to quietly continue their business. Ruesch rents the property from its owner, his paternal grandmother, Helen T. Ruesch, who lives adjacent to the garage. Previously, "Grandma has always thought they were fair," said Ruesch, but the 800 percent leap was too much and Mrs. Ruesch and the family are contesting the increase. Jim Ruesch declined to reveal the exact figures involved because he said his family considered "income and taxes private."

On October 1, a new law goes into effect which requires you to cash your Social Security or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) check within one year or it will be cancelled. At the present time, uncashed Government checks are good indefinitely.

On or after Oct. 1, all Government checks will carry the legend, "Void After One Year." This means that Government checks issued on Oct. 1, must be cashed by Sept. 30, 1990, or they will be cancelled. Old Government checks issued prior to Oct. 1 of this year must also be presented to a financial institution for payment no later than Sept. 30, 1990, or they will also be cancelled. (Void notations are standard on checks issued by private sector businesses).

While the new law requires Social Security and SSI checks to be cashed within one year, entitlement to payment is not affected.

Any claim to replace a Social Security or SSI check must also be made within one year from the date the check was issued. If for example, a Social Security check

Deadline issued for government checks

has been forged or contains an unauthorized endorsement, the Social Security beneficiary must notify the Social Security office which authorized the original payment to request a second check, which will mean a delay in payment to the rightful owner.

The Treasury Department, through its Financial Management Service, will have 18 months from the date a check is paid by Treasury to begin action to recover the money. However, Treasury cannot recover the proceeds of a Social Security check if a claim is not made timely.

In the event of the nonreceipt, loss or destruction of a Social Security check, contact the local Social Security office. Describe the check, state the purpose for which it was issued and give, if possible, its date, amount, check and symbol number. Mutilated or defaced checks should be returned to the Social Security office. A replacement check will be issued. However, if the original check shows up after a replacement check has been issued, it should be forwarded immediately to the Social Security office. Both of them cannot be cashed.

The U.S. Government, by significantly reducing the timeframe for cashing checks, initiating claims and replacement checks will greatly enhance the financial management of the Nation's tax resources. Approximately 550 million checks are issued annually by the Federal Government. Social Security and SSI beneficiaries who have their checks deposited directly into their accounts at financial institutions will not be affected by the new law since it only applies to paper checks.

Those who wish to have their Social Security or SSI checks deposited directly into checking or savings accounts can call Social Security to sign up by phone. With direct deposit, beneficiaries can be assured that their money is safely deposited and on time. (Call 1-800-2345-SSA 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.) Remember that beginning on Oct. 1, 1989, something new will appear on U.S. Government checks: Void After One Year.

Maine Township riders help diabetes program

In an effort to help defeat diabetes in their communities, 29 area residents recently participated in the American Diabetes Association's "Bike Ride Plus" at the North Branch Bicycle Trail. Local chairman, Phil Williams of Chicago announced that $3,090 was raised to support programs and services offered by the Maine Township Area Chapter of the American Diabetes Association.

Area businesses and merchants donated prizes to several participants for their outstanding efforts as fund-raisers. In the adult division, Judith Aronson of Park Ridge collected the most pledges, and was awarded two round trip tickets to any destination served by Midway Airlines. Amy Schell of Mt. Prospect received a Sony Walkman, for collecting the most pledges in the children's division.

Diabetes is a major contributor to heart disease, kidney disease and blindness. It is a leading cause of death by disease in the United States. ### Ban on sale of drug paraphernalia becomes law

Legislation that will prohibit the sale of drug paraphernalia in Illinois has been signed into law.

Senate Bill 394 was signed by the governor at Chicago's Holy Angels Church, where Father George Clements, who has waged a spirited crusade to remove drug-related items such as glass pipes used for smoking cocaine and crack from stores in Chicago, is pastor.

SB 394 will make it a Class 4 felony if an adult is found guilty of selling drug paraphernalia to a juvenile. A prosecutor would not have to prove to a judge or jury that the person charged with the crime knew that the item he sold was drug paraphernalia, but simply that the sale took place.

In addition to providing criminal penalties for the sale of drug-related items, SB 394 would also give local states attorneys the authority to take business owners offering such items for sale in their stores to court to have their enterprises declared public nuisances, which the court could then close down for up to one year, or require a security bond of between $5,000 to $10,000, which would be forfeited if subsequent violations occurred.

Finally, the bill gives law enforcement officials the same property forfeiture powers against a person who sells drug paraphernalia as currently exist for use against drug racketeering.

On Wednesday evening, Sept. 20, Loyola Academy will present its annual College Night. ### TOPAZ AND CITRINE SATISFY

As fashions continue to call for larger gems, two popular gems are topaz and citrine. Interesting and out-of-the-ordinary cuts make these affordable gems well suited for individual tastes.

One of the most popular shades of topaz is blue, a color often achieved by the intervention of the scientist who treats it. Topaz has been a popular gem since the 13th century when it was believed to help dispel enchantment. Colors of topaz include red, pink, and shades of orange and yellow. This gem is often faceted in traditional ways, but other shapes and cuts make it a gem well suited to the individual.

Citrine is a yellow to red-orange to orange-brown gem which is also well suited to the fashionable large look in jewelry. Rings and pendants are two beautiful choices for this pretty gem. An interesting fact about citrine is that it is of the same gem family as amethyst. Both are a quartz. Sometimes the orange citrine and the purple amethyst are both apparent in the same gemstone. When this occurs the gem is called ametrine and its wearer has a unique and lovely gem.

Topaz and citrine are two gems which satisfy sophisticated jewelry wearers and those buying or receiving some of their first jewelry. We would be glad to show you our selection and discuss with you the gems that you find most appealing.

Amlings named number one florist

Hinsdale based Amlings Flowerland was recently named as the Nation's Number One Florist by American Floral Services. This recognition marks the fifth consecutive year that Amlings has won the award, a feat unequalled by any florist.

The award was presented to Amlings' President, Carl R. Hayes, by Tom Butler, President of American Floral Services at a banquet honoring Amlings in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Upon accepting the award, Hayes commented that although this award is certainly an honor for Amlings, it really means more to our customers throughout Chicagoland. Hayes went on to add that the distinction of being named the Nation's Number One Florist gives Amlings a great amount of respect and clout when the Company "wires out" a customer's order to an "out of town" florist. Typically, the delivering florist will think twice about how they will handle the order when they are dealing with the Nation's Number One Florist - further assuring high quality design, delivery and attention to detail.

Amlings directly delivers to over 125 Chicagoland communities by maintaining a fleet of more than 40 vehicles which deliver a zone in excess of 1,500 square miles.

Customers can place floral orders for delivery anywhere by just dialing A-M-L-I-N-G-S.

Letters to the Editor

Nilesite lists remedies for flooding problems

Following is a copy of a letter sent to Mayor Nicholas Blase concerning the flooding problem in a Niles home.

Dear Mayor Blase, It is now 1:55 a.m. and I'm witnessing my basement flood from sewer water.

I'm not like the complaining woman, in the newspaper article, who had two feet of water one time during six years.

This basement floods every-time we get a heavy rain. In less than one year our basement has flooded 4 times; 1. Oct. 17, 1988; 2. Aug. 5, 1989; 3. Aug. 11, 1989; and 4. Sept. 1, 1989.

When this basement floods, we get to 5 feet of water.

All of the damage the flooding has done to this house is costly and too lengthy to name. Needless to say, no insurance company will cover us for a constantly flooding basement. Each year we get a minimum of one to two floods.

We need some action and we need it quick! There are things that can be done now: 1. Reduce the size of the drain sewers so less storm water goes down. Flood the streets-not the basements; 2. Install basins at the end of the block; and 3. Increase the size of the sewer.

In any case we need to stop talking about it and do something about it. I have lived in Niles for 13 years and it's time that something was done.

As the water gets deeper in my basement, the more irate I become.

Sincerely,
Frank Bosco
7513 Cleveland St.

Niles presents semi-pro baseball team

The Niles Nuggets, sponsored by the International House of Pancakes located at 9206 Milwaukee Ave., have had a wonderful season and we are proud to say that the team finished with a record of 20 wins and 7 losses. The Nuggets took first place in the North Division of the Greater Illinois League. We had 13 faithful Nugget players and I would like to give some highlights of their season totals. The statistics will be for a total of 24 games played.

Lee Breitzman - Second baseman and pitcher. Lee had a pitching record of 3 wins and 3 saves, on base percentage of 62 percent, 35 walks, 21 hits, (17 singles, 3 doubles, 1 triple), 39 runs scored, he struck out 19 batters while walking only 5 in 22 innings and had an earned run average of only .95 and a 313 batting average.

Bob Gattuso - Outfield and pitcher. Bob had a pitching record of 2 wins, 1 save and 1 loss, on base percentage of 61 percent, 28 hits (18 singles, 6 doubles, 4 triples), 31 runs scored, 27 RBI'S, 5 stolen bases, and a batting average of .341.

Tom Carroll - First base. Tom had an on base record of 47 percent, 37 RBI'S, 27 hits (20 singles, 6 doubles, 1 triple), 21 runs scored, 6 sacrifices, and a batting average of .338.

Dave Denten - Catcher. Dave had an on base percentage of 57 percent, 40 RBI'S, 30 runs scored, 26 hits (17 singles, 3 doubles, 1 triple, 5 homeruns), 21 walks, he threw out 37 percent of the runners trying to steal and had a batting average of .400.

Mike Starshak - DH and third baseman. Mike had an on base record of 49 percent, scored 20 runs, had 27 hits (24 singles, 2 doubles, 1 triple), 24 RBI'S and a batting average of .342.

Mark McCormick - Outfield. Mark had an on base percentage of 56 percent, 28 RBI'S, 30 runs scored, 30 hits (25 singles, 3 doubles, 1 triple, 1 homerun), 5 stolen bases, and a batting average of .361.

Andy Rudich - Third base. Andy had an on base percentage of 71 percent, 16 walks, 16 runs scored, 23 hits (17 singles, 4 doubles, 1 triple, 1 homerun), and his batting average was .479.

Paul Jarzombek - Outfield and catcher. Paul had an on base percentage of 43 percent scored 12 runs, 22 hits (17 singles, 4 triples, 1 homerun), and his batting average was .355.

Tim Hanson - Utility. Tim came on strong in the end and earned the starting shortstop position. He had 10 hits (9 singles, 1 double), his attitude was always 100 percent and in the playoffs he was 3 for 3 before he injured his knee.

Dave Perns - Shortstop. Dave scored 18 runs, 12 hits (11 singles, 1 homerun), he had 5 stolen bases and 11 RBI'S.

Steve Perns - Outfield and relief pitcher. Dave had 1 win, 1 save, and 1 loss as a pitcher, he had 13 hits (12 singles, 1 triple), and had 11 RBI'S.

John Pollard - Outfield. John had the misfortune of breaking his ankle while playing in his 10th game of the season. The Nuggets missed him and we know he missed playing the game he loves so much. Before his accident he had 10 hits (9 singles, 1 double), scored 10 runs, had an on base percentage of 68 percent, 7 stolen bases, 9 walks and a batting average of .357.

Fred Marcellino - Pitcher. Fred had the most innings of work with a total of 76. His record was 7 wins and 2 losses and struck out 39 batters and walking 39. His earned run average was 5.45, but that didn't hurt the Nuggets too much because we were averaging 12 runs scored per game at the beginning of the season.

Mike Divane - Pitcher. Mike struggled a bit this year with his walks, but struck out 44 batters in 37 innings. We are confident Mike will be working on his control during the off season. He came back from a shoulder injury this summer and it's just a matter of time before he is 100 percent again. His earned run average was 5.59.

The Nuggets had a wonderful time this season and would like to thank Mr. Vince Ferraro, our sponsor from IHOP, and all the great people in Niles that support our efforts to offer boys 18 and older a chance to play in the summer. We are proud of our team and to live in Niles.

Area agency new tax for seniors

The Suburban Area Agency on Aging has issued an invitation to suburban Cook County mayors and village presidents to plan jointly for use of the recently enacted tax increase to support existing senior services. The Area Agency is a not-for-profit agency which funds, coordinates, plans and advocates for services for older people.

As expressed during the General Assembly, these new revenues represent an opportunity for municipalities to support community-based services to older people. The Area Agency is urging use of these funds for existing services, to maximize their usage and avoid duplication.

The Suburban Area Agency funds community-based organizations in suburban Cook County to provide services geared toward maintaining older people in the community as long as possible. The Area Agency supports services such as Information and Referral, Case Management, Transportation and Chore services. Last year, Area-Agency funded programs served over 83,000 older people in suburban Cook County.

Municipalities interested in joint planning should contact Jonathan Lavin, Executive Director of the Area Agency, at 559-0616.

Social Security offers benefit tips

Midsummer is a good time for working Social Security beneficiaries to review their earnings to be sure their actual earnings are in line with the estimate of earnings they gave to Social Security. Earnings are wages and net earnings from self-employment. In 1989, beneficiaries under age 65 can earn $6,480 and beneficiaries between 65 and 69 can earn $8,880 before benefits are affected. These amounts do not apply to disabled persons, or people on supplemental security income (SSI), who should report all earnings promptly. Although the Social Security Administration will send reminders to those beneficiaries who said they would make more than the allowable amounts, the beneficiary is responsible for monitoring his or her earnings. If the estimate should change during the year, he or she should notify Social Security at once. Prompt reporting will mean the beneficiary will not be overpaid. Some things do not count as earnings. These include: Interest, dividends, or royalties; Pensions; Rental income; Gain or loss from the sale of capital assets; Worker's compensation and unemployment compensation benefits; and Sick pay if paid more than 6 months after the month the employee last worked. Other types of income may not count as earnings.

More information about how earnings can affect Social Security benefits is available at any Social Security office. Call 1-800-2345-SSA for answers to questions, or for an informational publication about how work affects Social Security benefits.

Local Barbershoppers sang at Benchmark

This barbershop quartet has been singing together for more than 550 performances in the past nine years. Their average age is almost 80, the youngest was a mere 65 when they started harmonizing. And they sang at a birthday party where the average age was also 80, but don't count the candles.

The Benchmark plans a birthday party for residents celebrating birthdays each month. Cake and punch are standard, but the September celebration got an extra punch from the barbershop quartet.

The other members of the "Sounds" are also from Arlington Heights. They are tenor Dan Kresbach, 74, bass John Roberts, 75, and baritone Clarence Johnson, 93.

"We call ourselves the Sounds of Serenity," said lead singer Stand Meyers, a 77-year-old from Arlington Heights. "Our repertory encourages laughter with many songs from the good old days and traditional barbershop songs."

Long-time Cub fan at Resurrection

Resilience, determination, and perseverance are key characteristics for many Chicago Cub fans. But none takes her "Cub fan" status more to heart than Lillian Biester who, for nearly a half century, has religiously followed her Cub heroes play-by-play and season-by-season.

Tuning in first on radio and later on television, Biester hasn't missed a major game...even despite major surgery and extensive recovery periods.

"I've always enjoyed following the Cubs," admitted the Die Hard Cub Fan Club member who is currently recuperating from surgery at the Resurrection Nursing Pavilion, Park Ridge. "Sometimes the other residents, nursing

Arthritis seminar
The Men's Association of Lutheran General Hospital-Park Ridge, 1775 Dempster Street, invites the community to a health education seminar concerning arthritis from 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 20, at the Lutheran General Medical Group professional building, 6000 Touhy, Chicago. The program is part of the association's continuing health education series "The Art of Healing."

aides, engineers and even electricians pass by my room to ask the score or find out who's on base. I always keep popcorn and potato chips for these occasions in the drawer alongside my bed."

Biester, who has had both hips and both knees replaced is currently undergoing extensive physical therapy following a second hip prosthesis replacement and insertion of a new femur from a Miami bone bank, and continues to tune in to Cub games even during therapy.

The Logan Square native says she can remember joining her father, a butcher, and her brother for Wrigley Field home games in the early 1940s. While Biester doesn't recall a winning season during those early years, she can remember asking lots of questions and learning to keep score for her brother's baseball team at Hansen Park. Later she practiced her scorekeeping skills at Cub games.

Following her marriage and a move to Jefferson Park, Biester continued to enjoy listening to Cub games with her husband, Harry, and their two children. Today she encourages her two grandchildren to join in pennant fever.

Biester has many fond memories of special seasons and players such as the famous 1969 team with stars including Ernie Banks, Glenn Beckert, Don Kessinger, Ron Santo, Billy Williams and Randy Hundley.

Those memories and posters picturing today's favorites are evidenced in her nursing pavilion room. A full-length poster featuring secondbaseman Ryne Sandberg, who won his sixth straight Golden Glove award last year, is prominently displayed.

Biester was particularly delighted in 1982 when Sandberg and teammate Larry Bowa were named as part of a trade which helped the Cubs win the NL East championship in 1984.

Biester's recuperation, which has been particularly difficult this time, has left her confined to bed, but it hasn't dampened her enthusiasm for the second-base star and the 1989 Cub team.

Biester will remain confined to bed during her recuperation and has one wish which she thinks might help speed recovery.

"I'd love to meet Ryne Sandberg," she stated. "Of course, an autographed baseball that says "From Ryne to Lil" wouldn't be bad either!"

Health center replaces administrator

Park Ridge Health Care Center, 665 Busse Hwy., Park Ridge, welcomed new administrator Elizabeth Strader on Aug. 11. Strader replaces Pat Patrick, who has accepted a position with a facility nearer to her home in St. Charles.

A native of Galesburg and presently residing in Oak Park, Strader received her bachelor of science degree in health administration from Western Illinois University. She had formerly been employed with the Chicago-based Royal Imperial Group from March 1985 until accepting her present position. She started as assistant administrator of the Imperial Convalescent Center in Lincoln Park. She was promoted to administrator of the Lincoln Park Retirement Apartments for one year and then moved up to administrator of the Waterford Estates in Hazelcrest.

Although very busy with commuting and orienting to Park Ridge Health Care's 42-bed facility (after serving one with 250 residents.) Strader finds time for her two cats, "working out," reading and bicycling. She is single and says she finds the family-like atmosphere in her new post very appealing.

Volunteers enjoy work at Holy Family

It's been 28 years since (picture l to r) Florence Metz, Des Plaines, and Dagmar Ludwig, Park Ridge, first began greeting visitors, patients and employees as volunteers on the Information Desk at Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines. Besides becoming good friends, the two have met new and interesting people while informing them about the hospital facility. The pair was on duty, June 12, 1961, when the doors opened at Holy Family Hospital. On the hospital's 28th anniversary, July 12, they were again on duty at the Information Desk.

Centel files for $2 million refund

In a filing made recently with the Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC), Central Telephone Company of Illinois (Centel) is requesting authority to refund nearly $2 million to all of its Illinois customers later this year. The refund is due to slightly higher earnings the company has realized since the Federal Tax Reform Act of 1986 was enacted.

In the same filing, Centel is asking for a 4 percent reduction in its message unit rates for residential and business customers in Des Plaines, Park Ridge and other communities the company serves in the vicinity of O'Hare International Airport.

Both the refund and reduction first must be approved by the ICC, which is expected to act on the proposals early this fall. If approved, the refund would be distributed as a credit in customers' bills as quickly as possible after the ruling, according to Lyle Roberts, general manager of regulatory affairs for Centel.

According to Roberts, how much of a refund customers would receive would depend on their local service billings in the month prior to the refund. He estimated the refund to be between $4 to $6 for residential customers. The entire customer refund would amount to $1 million per year for 1988 and 1989, with the amount for 1989 being prorated to the month when the refund is distributed.

How much a customer of Centel would save per month on the rate reduction would depend on monthly usage. For example, a residential customer who uses 200 units above his normal call-pack would save 40 cents per month, Roberts said.

If the ICC grants its approval, Centel then will begin determining the amount of refunds for its 134,000 customers in Illinois, including its nearly 12,000 business customers and 61,000 residential customers in its nine northwest suburban communities and a small portion of Chicago.

In addition to the northwest suburban area, Centel serves customers in the Dixon, Galesburg and Pekin areas in downstate Illinois.

Driver tips for school safety week

"School's Open Safety Week" is underway again in Illinois. As children return to classes, drivers must remember to slow down to the 20 miles per hour speed limit in school zones. The 20 mph limit is mandatory on school days between 7 a.m. and 4 p.m. when children are present and signs are posted.

At the start of a new school year, excited children may forget the rules for pedestrian and traffic safety. Therefore, you should watch for children not only near schools but also in residential areas and at bus stops.

School safety patrols, adult crossing guards, police officers and auxiliary police assist students at many crossings. However, drivers should also be alert at other crossings where pedestrian safety depends solely on drivers slowing down and stopping.

Two types of yellow signs warn you of school areas and crossings. Both are shaped like an old schoolhouse. The first type shows two children walking and warns of school crossings ahead or of school grounds next to the road. The second sign shows two children walking in a crosswalk and is posted at school crossing signals.

It is a good safe driving practice to slow down any time you see a school sign. Classes may be held at different hours, and many activities are held after school, at night or on the weekend.

Aragon Ballroom hosts dance party

Let's take a trip back in time when life was sweet and so was the music. There is no better place to travel to than Chicago and its world-famous Aragon Ballroom, that reigned supreme during the "Big Band" era. Any band leader knew he had "arrived" when he played that historic landmark. The Karzas Brothers commissioned architects Huzach and Hill to build that opulent palace, which would cost them $2 million. After its gala opening on July 14, 1926, it flourished for nearly 30 years when 10,000 feet often moved to the rhythms of the best music makers.

When the band era was over, the Aragon went through a series of changes and owners who gave it a "Mod" image, replete with psychedelic paintings, and who offered such attractions as boxing matches and rock concerts. Now, however, Willy Miranda, the present owner, has changed all that by returning the Aragon to its original Spanish motif that attracted so many throngs to it in the first place. So come to see the unique splendor of the Aragon while you dance away the hours to the sweet tunes of Tony Barron's Band. So relive a few happy moments from the past. Don't miss the "Sweetest Band in Chicagoland" at the world-famous Aragon Ballroom on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 8.

Bank seeks unused instruments

A call for silent musical instruments is being sounded by the Musical Instrument Bank.

"We need hundreds of clarinets, flutes, saxophones, and all other instruments played in school bands and orchestras," announced Sam Sages, executive director. Now in its 14th year, this unique bank recycles unused musical instruments, placing them at no charge in schools and other institutions where students cannot afford to rent or buy. Donations are tax deductible.

The Musical Instrument Bank works cooperatively with Urban Gateways, a public service agency promoting cultural development. Further information can be obtained at 674-7700, or by writing the Musical Instrument Bank, 7450 N. McCormick Boulevard, Skokie, IL 60076.

Students ages 8-15 can perform scenes and dances from Broadway Musicals on Tuesday afternoons, act in their favorite stories on Wednesday afternoons and create their own puppet shows on Thursday afternoons.

This program is conducted by professionals with degrees in education as well as theater. Upstage/Downstage is an independent, not-for-profit school devoted solely to creative arts educations and quality entertainment for children and their families through year-round productions.

The cost for the fall semester, which runs through Dec. 2 is $50. To register or obtain information, call 674-4620.

And on the same program is the incomparable organist Hal Pearl, who played intermissions between dance sets with all of the bands at the Aragon. He was featured with them, playing the beautiful 3/10 Wurliizer pipe organ, on regular WGN radio broadcasts right from there.

But, there's still more. While in Florida Tony Barron became acquainted with Jimmy Roberts, the romantic balladeer from the Lawrence Welk TV Show. Soon Jimmy lent his smooth tenor voice to the band, with such cheers and applause for his performances, that he was asked to sing with the band in Chicago. Now, those taking a "sentimental journey" to the Aragon Ballroom on Oct. 8 can hear Jimmy's heartfelt melodies of love, too.

You can't afford to miss this spectacular dance party! There will be seating for all, just in case you might like to sit out a number or two. Remember the date: Sunday, Oct. 8 at 2:30 p.m. at the beautiful Aragon Ballroom, 1106 W. Lawrence Ave., Chicago. Parking in supervised lots nearby at reasonable rates. Advance tickets $7 each; $9 day of dance. For more information write: CATOE, 6244 W. Eddy St., Chicago, IL 60634, or call 312/282-0037.

Botanical Garden offers turf tips

While most people associate fall with raking leaves, colorful trees and football, it's also a crucial time for lawn care.

Fall is the best time to treat lawns according to Ken Bilow, turf specialist for the Chicago Botanic Garden.

Autumn, he says, is a good time to kill weeds. Homeowners who choose to do this using herbicides should begin by carefully following the instructions on the label, over application can be detrimental to the lawn, Bilow says. Fall is also an excellent time to core aerate a lawn. Core aeration encourages water percolation and filtration which promotes good root growth and a fuller spring lawn. Aeration also alleviates soil compaction and reduces thatch. "Thatch is a layer of dead and living material between the soil and the crown of the grass plant," Bilow says. He recommends an ideal thatch layer of about one-quarter of an inch. Thatch reduction should be considered for a layer in excess of one-half inch. Core aeration also increases gas exchange, which is a natural way to breakdown thatch.

Reseeding is another fall lawn improvement. Reseeding should be considered if the lawn is thin. New varieties of seed are more disease and insect resistant, and can have a better color variety. Bilow recommends, "Purchase a good quality seed, because seed is just not seed." The container will state the variety of grass and the percentage of germination. The species of the current lawn should be determined and the same or a similar species should be used for reseeding to build a full lawn.

When reseeding, allow at least three weeks after using a herbicide, it can harm new seedlings or prevent the seeds from growing. It also is important to have good soil to seed contact. "Instead of just sprinkling seeds on the lawn, try loosening the soil first. This will allow more seed to actually touch the soil," Bilow said. If the lawn will be core aerated too, reseed after aeration. Another method of reseeding is slit seeding. Bilow suggests having this done professionally because of the equipment necessary.

After reseeding, the lawn can be top dressed using such things as top soil or peat moss. The lawn needs to be kept moist. "The seeds, like other living things, need water to grow," Bilow said.

The end of October or the beginning of November is an excellent time to fertilize lawn, preferably with a winterizer that is high in phosphorus and potassium. This promotes root growth, which helps grass harden off for winter.

The end of November is the best time to give the lawn a last mowing. This is the last thing that should be done to the lawn before winter. A normal cut should be 2 1/2 to 3 inches long, but the last mowing should be 1 1/2 inch.

Throughout the fall, Bilow suggests looking for disease and treating the lawn before winter, particular problems this year are dollar spot and grubs. To find dollar spot, look for four to six inch wide brown patches. The leaves of grass surrounding the brown patch will have spots with reddish-brown borders. Core aeration will help alleviate this, or in bad cases, a fungicide can be used.

Grubs are the larvae of various types of beetles. To find them, look for brown patches of lawn, grab the grass and pull up a handful, much like pulling up loose carpeting. The grubs are about one inch long with a white body, be found in the roots of the pulled up patch. Bilow recommends using an insecticide, but warns, as with all chemicals, to follow the instructions carefully.

Northbrook Court offers free lectures

The speaker is Joe Arrigo, who has a doctorate degree in Organic Chemistry and spent his professional career at UOP Inc. for 27 years. Currently he is a consultant, author and a lecturer, teaching college students the real world of industrial chemistry.

The lecture will address such concerns as pesticides and saturated fat in food, radon in the house, asbestos in the school, the use of synthetic vitamins and generic drugs and exposure to gasoline.

Administrator. Commissioner Bud Skaja also praised the park's staff saying, "Things are being taken care of well. We haven't heard any complaints from the staff."

Both Skaja and Heinen differed with Commissioner Carol Panek's earlier statement that a candidate had been selected. Panek told the Bugle Sept. 5, "As far as I'm concerned, the first choice has been picked." Heinen indicated there were still a "couple of loopholes" and Skaja asserted, "We're still in the process." In addition, the two board members referred to the difficulty of assembling five people in one place at one time for an additional meeting over and above the approximately four meetings a month board members already attend. "We're a five member board," Heinen said. "We can't do it (select a director) without everyone present." Heinen was hopeful that apparent schedule conflicts of busy board members would soon be worked out. "We've had a hard time getting people scheduled together," Skaja said, adding, "We're looking for what's best for the Niles Park District."

Skaja also defended the Park Board's reticence regarding the selection process, saying "We made a decision we were not going to talk to the press." The commissioner indicated it would be unfair to the candidates under consideration and could possibly jeopardize their current jobs if there were to be any public discussion of the interviews or premature announcements. Commissioner Jim Pierski has stated the selection process has taken "longer than it should have," and Panek has agreed the announcement has been delayed too long.

The unknown offender took a VCR valued at $250 from the den and jewelry of unknown value from a bedroom. The thief unlocked a den file cabinet, but left the contents untouched. Damage to the sliding patio door was estimated to cost $500.

In his last position in Northbrook District 31, he designed and implemented reading curriculum, and he taught elementary education in Mendota for four years. Schauer is presently pursuing his PhD in reading and language from the National College of Education. Patricia Stone, of Evanston, joins District 219 as the reading specialist at West. She holds a master's degree in reading and her accomplishments include the development of an innovative reading curriculum for School District 99. She also taught English and speech for two years at Naperville Central High School.

gle office a local Nilesite was standing at the front desk with a two pound tomato. Our Niles "farmer of the year" bought some seeds at K Mart, plunked them in his backyard and "Walla", out comes a two pound tomato.

He came into the local newspaper office after seeing a picture of another local who brought in a 34 pound pumpkin a couple of weeks ago. And last year we ran a picture of another local couple who grew a 33 inch cucumber.

When the cucumber grower brought in his picture with his prize vegetable, he and his little lady stood very straight alongside the prize-winning cucumber. The picture was reminiscent of that American Gothic picture of the very severe couple who soberly stared straight ahead while they were being painted onto canvas. The cucumber couple had a similar pose.

Now comes our tomato farmer. He was intending to go over to one of those 25 cents photo booths with his tomato and bring it to The Bugle for publication.

Through the years we've kept in touch with several of the newboys and girls who delivered for The Bugle. We've not only gotten to know the deliverers but also became friendly with their parents. Monday, we received the sad news the mother of two of our original newboys, Virginia Mildenerger, passed away. Her sons, Bobby and Art, delivered The Bugle beginning in 1957. From time to time she'd drop in to our office for a chat. She always kept us abreast of her fine family. Art became a priest and worked with the indigent, south of the border, as well as in St. Louis and Chicago. And Bobby was a special friend of The Bugle.

The family was always concerned about the community and periodically dropped by to talk about their concerns.

Last Friday we went to our publishers meeting with the mucky mucks. But when we came back to the office we felt we were where we belonged with the tomato grower and our former delivery boys' family.

It's the reason we got into the community newspaper business in the first place.

As a post script to this column: after we ran the pumpkin picture in The Bugle, the pumpkin owners sent along some pumpkin strudel for The Buglers to feast on. I'll bet that never happened to Marshall Field.

under an acre in size and is taxed as residential property since the Village rezoned the area about 1961.

Niles Mayor Nicholas Blase advised the Ruesch family in 1976 that they were in non-conforming use of the land and that they should terminate use of the property as a garage by December, 1981.

The Mayor and the Village did not pursue the order, but periodically sent Village officials and in-

Art council awards Centre East

The Illinois Arts Council has announced Program Grants for fiscal year 1990 for arts organizations in the state. Centre East in Skokie will receive $23,490, its largest Arts Council grant ever.

The money will be used for general operations of Centre East. Total Arts Council grants to community arts organizations in the First Senate District are more than $178,000 to 20 different groups. Senator Howard Carroll (D-1st District) and Arts Council Chairman Shirley Madigan announced the grant recipients at a press conference held at Centre East.

Centre East, now entering its Tenth Anniversary Season of presenting the finest in entertainment, began receiving Arts Council grants in 1981. Last year, grants totalling $17,850 were awarded.

Centre East Executive Director Dorothy Litwin told Carroll and Madigan their help was greatly appreciated.

public auction because the interested buyers were not public entities.

Board members pointed out that the park district did make attempts to acquire property at Borg School.

Last April the park district, financially unable to afford the school and property, had suggested a joint venture with the Village of Morton Grove to develop a mini-park and senior citizens' center. However, the village, needing tax dollars for sewer improvements, refused.

District 70 rejected the offer but agreed to postpone further action for 30 days allowing the park district and M-NASR to present another offer. The M-NASR board however, decided not to move forward with the deal.

"We had looked all around to find a partner to assist in the financial obligations of the building. We couldn't afford the building and land by ourselves. We didn't have the community support," Gary Balling, Park Administrative Manager, said.

District 70 superintendent John Graham defended his decision to get the best offer he could for the school and property. The decision was "one of good finance, to keep tax levies at a reasonable level," he said.

The money from the sale could be used to finance an addition to Park View School, 6200 Lake St., which would include eight new classrooms.

No decision has been made by the school board to go forward with the plan yet and a decision will not be forthcoming for quite awhile, Graham said.

When asked what residents could do at this point to retain the open space, board President Dan Staackmann said, "Organize yourselves. Decide if you want to save that open space and building. Elect a leader."

One means the park district has to obtain the property would be to exercise its right of eminent domain. Then, if the board chooses, it could condemn the property for the purpose of providing open space for the community, however, the issue would have to go to a referendum and the public would have to vote on whether to raise their property taxes to finance such a move.

"The bid was $1,835,000. We'd need that amount of money and more for expenses," Gabriel Berafato, park district attorney said.

Staackmann warned that taking the issue to a referendum is a very lengthy, expensive process and to do that you have to have the support of the community.

The park district board would have to act by Jan. 15 so that the referendum could be placed on the ballot by the April 3 election, according to Balling.
