Court upholds legality of Borg School sale

by Linda A. Burns

A complaint filed against the District 70 school board for dereliction of duty concerning its decision to sell Borg School was turned down in Cook County Circuit Court last week. To the disappointment of the Save Borg Association, the residents' group who filed the complaint, Judge Arthur L. Dunne ruled the school board has a right to sell the school and property around it. The SBA had hoped by proving no feasibility or dem-

School elections Tuesday

School board elections, normally non-partisan voting events which do not generate a large voter turnout in most years, may experience greater interest due to taxpayer concern about financial management and school sales.

Local electors will be choosing trustees for Oakton Community College, and high school districts 207 and 219 as well as for elementary school districts in Niles, Morton Grove, Des Plaines, Skokie, Park Ridge and Glenview.

District 63 Alan Raffel is challenging incumbents Joan Futterman, Steve Hara, Norman Padnos and Steve Rivenson for this school district, which faces a $1.7 million deficit in the next fiscal year.

Board President Futterman, who lives in unincorporated Des Plaines, is a legal secretary who Nick Blase is a throwback to a bygone political era.

Last week he appointed Tom Bondi to the village board to fill the seat formerly held by Angelo Marcheschi. It was reported Tom and Ginger Troiani were the candidates for the opening.

We called Nick and asked him if ethnic background was a qualification for filling the post. He told me while he was sure we would think such a tactic was old-fashioned and out of sync with 1989 politics, he admitted he bends toward this type of politics.

We became aware of Nick's thinking when he appointed Andy Przybylo to the board recently. His All American board now includes trustees of Irish, Italian and Polish background. And don't forget the sexist side of the board. Nick also has one token woman trustee.

Believe it or not, Nick previously had one Jewish seat on the board. Years ago, Ed Berkowsky was Niles' token Jew on the board and when Ed left town, Abe Selman moved onto the board. Abe is now Niles village manager.

In the year 1989, Nick's thinking is a bit unbelievable.

Hynes School buyer to seek rezoning

by Sheilya Hackett

The Skokie developer who bid for the Hynes school, 9000 Bellefort Ave., Morton Grove, must apply for the rezoning he seeks - from R-2 to R-3 - within 30 days, according to district Superintendent Dr. Harry Trumfio. Monday, Oct. 30, David Katz, a partner in the purchasing firm, Bernard Katz and Company, Skokie, said the firm has not yet applied to the Village of Morton Grove, but will conform to legal requirements.

The district 67 school board on Oct. 26 approved the sale of Hynes to the Katz company, thus clearing one of the final requirements in the strongly contested sale. Board President Judy Kochman and Secretary Karen Rowell signed for the Board.

Police open gang hotline

by Nancy Keraminas

Area Task Force police in Niles, Des Plaines, Mt. Prospect, Glenview, Wheeling and Elk Grove Village have officially opened their telephone hotline, headquartered in Niles, where citizens can report suspected street gang activities. According to Commander William S. Reid of Niles, the phone number, 647-2333, is manned 24 hours a day.

The six departments began sharing gang intelligence earlier this year and met Oct. 25 to form the gang intelligence unit, calling it Operation Knockout.

"Knockout" refers to the operation's goal of curbing the formation of organized street gangs in the collar suburbs outside Chicago. The co-op anti-gang unit is taking a pro-active stance toward

Veteran recalls Burma Road trek with World War II cavalry

Packing mules along hazardous mountain passes no wider than a city sidewalk...nearly impenetrable jungle growth and elephant grass eight feet tall...days of scorching hot treks and frosty nights huddled under a single Army-issue wool blanket...and learning to take care of your best friend, your horse, before your own need. These thoughts and others all are etched in the memory of Northwest Side resident Joe Leipzig, a member of the last U.S. Cavalry troops.

A member of the 124th Cavalry assigned to the China-Burma-India (C-B-I) war theater during World War II, Leipzig and other cavalry members went on to make their mark in history both as decorated heroes and as the final mounted fighting unit.

"After basic training of horse cavalry and mule packing in the summer of 1944, I joined the 124th in India to walk across the country of Burma from the border of India to the old Burma Road, creating a road block so the Japanese could not go back up the road or send supplies and troops into China," recalled the retired cavalryman and former printer, now working security at Resurrection Medical Center. "We were known as the Mars Task Force... a long penetration task force unit including the 124th and 475 Infantry, 612th and 613th Pack Artillery, 49th Portable Surgical Hospital and three pack troops."

After dipping their fatigues in typhus dip and donning canvas leggings to protect against the dreaded typhus mite and prevalent leeches, the men of the 124th began their journey across the Burmese countryside, penetrating behind Japanese lines and damaging enemy supplies, roads and troops.

Leipzig, who served as a medic with the cavalry unit, loaded up his mule, Red, for a fateful and historic journey through rice paddies, over hills and mountains, across bridgeless rivers and down narrow mountain trails where even the slightest brush against a canyon wall could mean the loss of both mule and supplies over the edge. Night time bivouacs meant first aid action for Leipzig and other medics treating troopers with blisters and foot problems resulting from the rigorous journey.

In 31 days the unit trekked more than 280 miles, leading pack mules and horses over 7,800-foot mountains and making military march history by surprising Japanese troops who thought the journey impossible. Leipzig's military career began June 19, 1944, when he was inducted into the Army at Ft. Sheridan. After being sworn in, completing physical exams and issued his uniform, Leipzig and other Chicagoans were sent to Ft. Riley, Kansas.

"Upon arrival, the Army did a strange thing," Leipzig recalled. "They asked us if we wanted to ride horses or take tank and armored training. I chose the horses since I had always liked the cavalry, and being from the city I had only seen horses at riding stables and pulling milk wagons. Funny thing is, even being in the cavalry, I still had to do a lot of walking to get in shape for what we would have to accomplish in Burma."

The cavalry recruits learned to take care of their horses before seeing to their own needs. They learned to ride bareback by jumping onto the horse's back and swinging one leg to the other side...something Leipzig says is not as easy as it may sound. Basic rifle training and instruction in other firearms were included.

In October, the group was sent to Ft. Ord, Cal. for additional training including bayonet instruction.

When the order came to pack their duffel bags and move out, the cavalry journeyed to Los Angeles and boarded the troop attack transport U.S.S. General Randall for a 35-day Pacific crossing. Leipzig received his "Trusty Shellback" initiation aboard the Randall after crossing the equator three times during the zig-zag journey. The ship made port in Bombay, India, during the second week of January, 1945, where troops were switched to trains for a ride across the Indian sub-continent to Ledo and a trek into the jungle.

It was here that the now-famous Mars Task Force began their 280-mile walk across the country of Burma. Combat came and lasted several weeks, according to Leipzig.

"After all my cavalry training and combat, I was assigned to the medical detachment," Leipzig recalled. "At least I knew how to pack a mule and get it going! That was no small matter."

After a brief rest period, the group hiked down the famed Burma Road which was now open. They followed the Chinese units into Lashio and there awaited air transport to Yunnai, China, where the nights were bitter cold and required four doubled-over blankets to keep warm.

"There we had cots, a welcome change after sleeping on the ground for so long in either tents or on a bamboo floor in a basha," he stated. "I was then sent to Kweiyang which was a large truck-rail stop and traveled up

Letters To The Editor

Supports raffle for committeeman

Dear Editor,

The position of Maine Township Republican Committeeman, the post of defender and leader of the Grand Old Party locally, will be contested next year for the first time within memory. Philip Raffe, the able and committed incumbent who served in the post for sixteen years, is being challenged by Park Ridge Mayor Martin Butler. The leader of the Homeowners Party seeks to lead the Republican Party as well.

In the decade in which I have had Martin Butler's acquaintance, I have found him to be a cordial, able, and photogenic mayor. In the same decade, I have found Phil Raffe to be an intelligent, tough, honest, and committed leader of the party, as well as a good friend.

The post of committeeman is unlike other elected offices. He does not vote on legislation or raise your taxes -- but he does take an active role in who will. In addition, therefore, to working for the candidates of the party, the committeeman must judge who shall be a candidate.

A committeeman is an ambassador of the Party platform, a spokesman for the philosophy he holds as right. I know Phil to be a staunch advocate of the platform that calls for lower taxes, economic freedom, a strong defense, and reduced government spending. I have seen no statements from Martin Butler on such issues; I can only look at his $1.5 million addition to the city hall, which produced a new courtroom with the same seating capacity as the old.

Under Phil Raffe, Maine Township Republicans have supported such leaders as Penny Pullen and Henry Hyde, legislators respected across the nation for their intellect, conviction, and drive.

Why should anyone challenge a man who is perfect for his job? John F. DiLeo, Park Ridge

Tax relief need not be at expense of education

Dear Editor:

A few recent editorials and opinion pieces have criticized property tax relief proposals currently before the state legislature as harmful to schools and education.

I agree wholeheartedly with the underlying premise that quality education must be a top priority of our society. I disagree just as strongly that my proposals to increase the Homeowner and Senior Citizen Exemptions and to put caps on spending will harm our schools.

Many are talking and writing as if schools are starving for revenue and now some of what they do have would be taken out of their pockets. What would happen is that schools and other taxing agencies would not have as much room to increase taxes because the growth in their tax base would be smaller -- but there would still be growth.

Take the Chicago Board of Education as an example. In the last two years (1987 and 1988), it has increased property taxes $203.6 million or 33 percent. Even with my proposal exemption increases of $2,000 each for homeowners and seniors, the Board of Education would be able to realize a $6 million property tax increase for 1989. Couples with the 1987 and 1988 increases, its three-year property tax increase would be $209.6 million of 34 percent -- hardly an austerity situation, especially since it is scheduled to receive for the 1989-90 school year an additional $71 million in revenue as a result of the recent state income tax increase as well as an additional $21 million in general state aid.

The situation is no different in the suburbs. In the last three years (1986, 1987, 1988), Cook County suburban elementary school districts increased property taxes $182.6 million or 35 percent while for the same period the Consumer Price Index for the Chicago Metropolitan Area rose about 11 percent. In 1989, large tax increases are likely in many of these same school districts.

What is being missed in the discussion of property tax relief proposals is that property owners all over the state, not only in Chicago and the suburbs, are at their limit of patience and ability to pay in regard to property taxes. If reasonable proposals to increase exemptions and to put caps on spending are not adopted, more radical proposals will be determined by increasingly angry and disgruntled taxpayers.

Sincerely,
Thomas C. Hynes
Assessor of Cook County

Morrison unopposed in bid for trustee

Paul H. Morrison is running unopposed for Trustee of North Maine Fire Protection District in the upcoming Nov. 7 non-partisan election. Morrison was appointed as trustee in February 1989, by Maine Township to replace Ken Falk, who moved out of the district.

Morrison, who lives in Des Plaines, was one of the 30 original volunteer fire fighters for the department when it was formed 20 years ago. Prior to being appointed as trustee, he served as the chairman of the Board of Fire Commissioners for five years.

Tomoleoni presents platform

Richard Tomoleoni, an incumbent on the District 71 school board, is a candidate for reelection Nov. 7.

Tomoleoni has six children, four whom attended school in District 71, with two younger children now attending in the district. He has lived in the district for 19 years, and has been a high school teacher and coach in Chicago for 26 years.

"The teacher is the key" according to Tomoleoni. He feels the district must make certain to recruit the very best, and continuously work to motivate them to give their all. The administrative staff and the board should have as a primary purpose, to be supportive of the teachers work.

Tomoleoni describes the board as stable and the district has been very traditional and he believes that while the board administrators and the teaching staff do attend workshops and conferences, there must be more gleaned from other districts where successful programs are in operation.

Regarding the security issue, Tomoleoni states that it is a matter which should have been addressed and in place before it was brought to the board by the parents. Such an obvious need should be addressed before complaints are voiced.

Tomoleoni is of the opinion that the district has an adequate budget and that money could be redistributed from the administrative, building and grounds, hot lunch, and the boards budgets, to enhance the educational programs budget. Also of interest to him is the concept of performance pay, where superior teachers could be rewarded for their extra efforts and accomplish-

USE THE BUGLE

IT'S SOLID AND LIQUID AT THE SAME TIME.

Most things are pretty much black and white. Oil and water don't mix. East is East. West is West. Something can't be solid and liquid at the same time. Well, not so with The FirstRate Fund. Because it earns you a great rate, without tying up your principal.

Earn 9 Percent For Up To 60 Days.

From October 2 until November 30, The FirstRate Fund earns interest at an annual rate of 9 percent.

After that, it's tied to the 91-day Treasury Bill, guaranteeing a highly competitive rate. All it takes is a $100,000 deposit to start. And you can add to it, whenever you like.

Make a withdrawal and you won't have to pay a penalty.

So, by all means, open your FirstRate Fund now, and earn an annual rate of 9 percent for as long as possible.

Solid. And Liquid, Too.

Unlike some other investments with a high return like the FirstRate Fund, you can get to your money, whenever you need to.

All you have to do is drop us a line. Seven days later, you'll have your money.

We'll even call to tell you when you can pick up your check.

Insurance For Your Money. Most investments like this require some risk taking. Not so with The FirstRate Fund. Your bank deposits are FDIC insured for up to $100,000. Meaning your principal's safe to the maximum amount allowed by law.

In short, you have nothing to lose. But an awful lot to gain.

Where's The Fine Print? You Just Read It.

If you're going to name something FirstRate, it ought to be just that.

So there are no funny restrictions or conditions. Just a straightforward investment that, unlike a lot of competitive investments, is unquestionably attractive. Which leaves us with one last question. What are you waiting for? The FirstRate Fund. Only from First of America.

Stop by any one of our First of America offices to invest in one, or call 1-800-544-6155.

Remember, this offer may not last forever, is available to individuals only, and may change without notice.

O'Grady supports tougher legislation for young substance abusers

Cook County Sheriff James E. O'Grady launched a crusade today for new legislation to revoke, for two years, the drivers licenses of youth who use or abuse alcohol and drugs.

"I am announcing today my support of new legislation that will reduce the number of teenage auto fatalities," Sheriff O'Grady said at a morning press conference in his Civic Center conference room.

Sheriff O'Grady made his announcement shortly before leaving for Springfield with State Rep. Roger McAuliffe (R. 14th) to file the new legislation that would restrict the driving privileges of alcohol and drug abusers between the ages of 15 and 21 years old.

The Sheriff said he has been working on the new legislation since early this year with Rep. McAuliffe and his legislative staff. Similar McAuliffe legislation requested by Sheriff O'Grady in March is stalled in committee.

The announcement came three days after a Hickory Hills tragedy in which three Chicago-area teenagers died in a fiery crash of an auto driven by a 19-year-old youth who reportedly had been drinking beer.

"This proposed law will save others from a similar tragic fate," Sheriff O'Grady said.

Injuries sustained

A 23 year old animal handler slipped from a horse in a riding area in the 6500 block of Beckwith Rd., Morton Grove the afternoon of Oct. 23. The horse stepped on her, possibly fracturing her ribs. Paramedics transported the woman to Rush North Shore Medical Center, Skokie.

Before you have your varicose veins treated, know these important facts.

- Potential dangers
Varicose veins are not just unsightly, they're unhealthy. Without treatment they will continue to grow, causing aches, pains, cramping and reduced circulation... and can even develop into leg ulcers.
- Surgery obsolete
With surgery, damaged veins are pulled out of the leg altogether. This is a painful, rather mutilating procedure always leaving scars. It's also very costly, involving hospitalization and time off from work. And the recurrence rate is about 85% in five years. Quite unsatisfactory.
- Non-surgical methods differ
There are other options besides surgery. These include electrocautery, laser and various saline based injections. Problem is, these methods can burn the skin and leave marks. There is a better way.
- MicroCure is the most effective treatment
The Vein Clinics of America uses an exclusive injection treatment called MicroCure. It won't scar your legs. And it's administered only by licensed M.D.'s who specialize in vein disease. Our treatment works in great detail, safely eliminating vein disorders of all sizes. It's also covered by most insurance plans. Find out more.

Retail theft

A security guard in a retail store in the 6800 block of Dempster St., Morton Grove, observed a woman putting merchandise down the front of her jeans, then leave the store without paying the night of Oct. 26. He confronted the woman, 19, of Chicago and returned her to the store.

Police arrested her for retail theft when she was found to have store merchandise worth $22.58, including a piece of lingerie, two sets of earrings, a piece of jewelry and a wallet, in her jeans.

In the same store, the morning of Oct. 27, another security guard watched as a Skokie woman, 27, put sports shoes in her purse then leave the store without paying. The guard stopped her, then called police. A search by a female officer revealed two sets of earrings and a scarf hidden in her clothing. The loss totaled $50.96. The woman has a Nov. 22 court date.

Edgar suggests car care tips

Traffic safety depends on responsible motorists who drive carefully and keep their vehicles in top mechanical condition, according to Secretary of State Jim Edgar. October is National Car Care Month and a good time to prepare cars for safe winter driving.

Make sure windshield wipers and defroster fan are working properly. The wiper blades should be in good condition and there should be plenty of washer fluid. Edgar stresses that no one should start driving in winter until all windows are clear, both inside and out.

A winter checkup includes headlights, taillights and turn signals. Burned out lights create an additional hazard on snow-covered streets when visibility is poor.

The power steering belt, tires and brakes should be in top condition for winter. The ability to control a vehicle on ice and snow depends on well-functioning parts as well as driving skill.

Other steps to include when "winterizing" a vehicle will prevent mechanical breakdown.

Change the oil and oil filter, lubricate the chassis and replace the air and fuel filters.

Request a tune-up inspection and/or replacement of engine parts. Some experts recommend annual tune-ups.

Inspect the battery and alternator or generator closely.

Check the level and freezing point of the radiator fluid. The cooling system on most cars should be flushed every two years.

Gunman robs bank depositor

The assistant manager of a Golf Mill eatery was robbed at gunpoint Friday night while on his way to make a deposit at First of America Bank, 9101 Greenwood Ave. The gunman, described as being in his mid to late 20's and approximately 5 feet 10 inches tall, accosted the man at approximately 9:20 p.m. as he was walking west on Church Street with the bank bag in his pocket.

According to police reports, the robber appeared to be familiar with the assistant manager's routine, knowing that he was carrying the deposit bag and ordering him to surrender it. The gunman first stuck a blue steel revolver in the manager's back and then put the gun to the victim's head, demanding the cash.

The assistant manager turned over the deposit bag, containing $418.70 cash receipts from Hot Dogs and More, after he was warned "Don't play stupid."

Before the gunman fled the scene, he turned the victim around and warned him, "Don't move or I'll shoot." The man waited until he thought it was safe, then ran to Sears where security personnel summoned Niles police. The area was searched but the suspect could not be located.

Police subdue youth

A despondent young Niles man became violent when emergency personnel attempted to treat him for a bleeding injury Oct. 29. Police were forced to use an electronic incapacitating device to restrain him.

The 18 year old had returned from a party with friends at 1:39 a.m. and, according to reports, was threatening suicide. The young man put his left arm through a window in the 8000 block of Oriole Ave., severely cutting himself above the wrist. His friends summoned police and paramedics, attempting to restrain him until the arrival of help.

According to reports, the man became extremely combative, kicking paramedics and others. The decision was made to use a stun gun "to subdue the victim for the safety of all present." The victim was then taken to Lutheran General Hospital where he was treated for the glass injuries.

Niles police Sgt. Dean Strzelecki indicated that police personnel are "allowed to carry them" but the department does not issue the electronic incapacitators are aimed at a perpetrator's legs, arms or similar harmless area of the body and send a "mild electric shock into the system, disabling them for a few seconds."

The department has strict guidelines for the use of the incapacitators, known as stun guns, reserving them for "combative arrestees," violent crowd control, and other extremely rare circumstances. They are an alternative to the physical use of force where police officers and citizens might be endangered, according to Strzelecki.

Theft from autos

A Chicago woman told Morton Grove police someone took a brown leather coat she valued at $200 from her car while she was in the bowling alley in the 8400 block of Waukegan Road, Oct. 23. A vent window was broken to gain entry to the car. Its loss is valued at $30.

An unidentified suspect broke into a 1983 Chevy van parked in the 9000 block of Golf Road by prying open a vent window Oct. 24. The owner of the van, a Des Plaines electrician, reported the theft of $1800 in miscellaneous tools from the vehicle.

Dudycz seeks support for tax reform plan

State Senator Walter Dudycz (R-7th, Chicago) is urging city and suburban property owners to support a property tax reform plan passed by the House of Representatives Oct. 18.

"In a surprise move, House Minority Leader Lee Daniels (R-46th, Elmhurst) attacked a property tax reform plan to Senate Bill 1402, which the House then passed by a vote of 84-20," Dudycz said. "That bill now moves to the Senate, where it will be considered when we return to Springfield the week of Oct. 30."

"Every property owner on the Northwest Side and in the suburbs should ask their state legislators to support Senate Bill 1402 as amended by Rep. Daniels," Dudycz said. "It includes several significant reform measures that will give citizens more legal tools with which to change the system and fight skyrocketing property taxes."

As amended, Senate Bill 1402 will:

- * Expand the Circuit Breaker program by lowering the minimum age for participation from 65 to 60, and increasing the maximum household income from $14,000 to $20,000.
- * Replace the income tax deduction for the full amount of property taxes paid with an income tax credit equal to 10 percent of property taxes paid on a principal residence.
- * Increase the senior citizen homestead exemption from $2,000 to $3,000.
- * Increase the general homestead exemption from $3,500 to $4,500.
- * Require the Department of Revenue to establish separate multipliers for each assessment district in Cook County, equalizing first within each class of property.
- * Set the second Tuesday in August as the uniform levy date for all taxing districts and school districts.
- * Require the extension of taxes to be based on the prior year's equalized assessed valuation, beginning with the extension of tax levies for 1989.
- * Beginning in 1991, mandate four equal installment payments in January, March, June, and September. Requires tax bills to be mailed out by the end of each November, beginning in 1990.

Butler, Albrecht endorse 207 candidate

Two civic leaders known throughout Maine Township joined this week in endorsing Robert P. Cornelsen of Park Ridge for reelection to the High School District 207 Board. Cornelsen has served as a board member for two terms, 1974-77 and 1985 to the present, during which time he has been on all of the board committees. He is currently the vice president.

"Bob's previous experience on the board, his professional expertise in finance and management and his community involvements make him an invaluable member, and we urge voters to retain him," said Park Ridge Mayor Martin J. Butler, Jr. in announcing his support for Cornelsen's candidacy.

Echoing Butler's sentiments were Mayor D. Michael Albrecht of Des Plaines and Dr. Jamel L. Coburn, principal of Maine West High School, also a Des Plaines resident.

"Cornelsen offers the unique advantage of a perspective from the seventies and the eighties," said Dr. Coburn. "We need his experience spanning two decades as we face problems of the nineties in education for the young people of Maine Township in our three fine high schools," Albrecht said.

Cornelsen is one of five candidates seeking four seats open on the District 207 board to be filled in the election Nov. 7.

A graduate of the University of Illinois with a bachelor's degree in Finance, he has been employed in the field of banking and finance for the past 29 years, since 1982 with First National Bank of Des Plaines where he is serving as vice president.

He is chairman of the Des Plaines Economic Commission and a member of Park Ridge's "Vision 200" committee, charged with long range planning for the next decade. Bob represents the 207 Board on this committee. He is also a Director of Rainbow Hospice and a member of the Rotary Club of Park Ridge.

In seeking a third four-year term on the 207 Board, Cornelsen says his goal is to see that the Maine Township high schools provide a quality education, with measured results, for the disadvantaged and the average student, as well as the gifted student.

He sees the need for continued education of staff and students in the major issues such as substance abuse, teen suicides, AIDS and dysfunctional families, backed up by strong, professional, effective guidance and counseling for students.

Other concerns of his are opportunities to introduce technology into the classroom to facilitate the learning process, support for fine arts programs and facilities and broadening of the curriculum where needed and possible.

"I feel my community involvement in both Des Plaines and Park Ridge give me a chance to bring ideas and input to the 207 Board from the business and civic areas that provide approximately seventy-four percent of the tax base supporting the Maine Township High School District, and this makes me a valuable member of the Board," Cornelsen adds.

Don't Be Late ... Remember "708"

In effect November 11, 1989
Beginning November 11, 1989, a new area code, 708, will be introduced to serve the Chicago suburbs. Area Code 312 will continue to serve the City of Chicago.

- The most noticeable change will be the need to dial "1" plus the proper area code before the telephone number when calling between the suburbs and Chicago.
- Even though calls between the city and suburbs will require dialing "1" plus the area code, the addition of 708 will not cause a change in rates.
- A transition period will be in effect from November 11, 1989 until February 9, 1990, to help customers familiarize themselves with the new way of dialing. Start getting used to dialing "1" plus the area code for calls between the suburbs and city. But, if you slip up and dial the old way, the call will still go through. After February 9, 1990, calls will have to be dialed properly to reach your party.

On 1989, tax returns, each personal exemption is $2,000, up from $1,950 on 1988 returns. Those 65 or over and eligible to receive hospital insurance under Medicare, will have to pay a supplemental Medicare premium of $22.50 for each $150 of federal income tax owed over the first $150. Bless pets at St. John's

Pet owners and animal lovers of all ages gathered at St. John Brebeuf recently to have their pets blessed in celebration of the Feast of St. Francis, Protector of Animals. Father Jack Daley, with his own stuffed animals in tow, prayed for the pets' well-being and asked God to protect man's valuable companions. He then blessed the dogs, cats, hamsters, frogs, turtles, pigeons, chameleons, and hermit crabs and their owners. The feast was also special for the school, which is staffed with the Sisters of St. Francis. Their dedication and devotion help make St. John Brebeuf School outstanding.

Com Ed offers free materials to schools

This week Commonwealth Edison began mailing "Learning Power", a free educational resources catalog, to schools throughout northern Illinois.

The catalog highlights dozens of different educational tools, such as coloring and comic books, booklets, films, videos, teacher presentations, and individualized presentations, that Edison makes available to northern Illinois' teachers at no charge.

The literature and audiovisual materials address topics that range from the fundamentals of electrical safety, the history of electricity and nuclear power -- to timely issues such as the environment and energy conservation. The presentations, administered by Edison's Speakers Bureau, can be tailored to the needs of individual groups.

The catalog offers materials that are appropriate for kindergarten through adult classroom use. Even the most entertaining cartoons and comic books carry strong, important messages, allowing younger students to have fun while they are learning about electricity. The teacher planning kits, or Energy Education Builders, provide hands-on experience to older students through a variety of experiments and case studies.

Teachers who would like additional copies of the catalog should send a request to: Learning Power, Commonwealth Edison Public Affairs Office, P.O. Box 767, Chicago, IL, 60690-0767.

Model hobby show opens at Expo

The roar of race cars, the whistling of locomotives and the appreciative "oohs" and "ahs" of model hobby enthusiasts will fill the O'Hare Expo Center starting Friday, Nov. 3 at 4 p.m. as the Chicago Model Hobby Show begins its fifth annual engagement.

Some 400 exhibits of radio controlled planes, cars, boats, trains, games and hobby accessories will be on display through Sunday at the show, which also presents car and boat races, demonstrations, operating model railroad layouts, radio control truck pulling, a retail store, a static model display, free radio control transmitter testing and free hobby seminars.

New for this year are scheduled races at the 60-foot boat pond and the flat car track. Teams of exhibiting manufacturers will begin the "I.R.O.C. Challenge" races Friday, with finals to take place Sunday. Schedules will be posted at each of the two demonstration areas. Impromptu races will also take place at the 30-by-52-foot-off-road dirt track.

Also new for 1989 is a series of free seminars focusing on a variety of hobby topics. These 50-minute sessions include "Unraveling the Mysteries of Glow Engines" Friday at 7 p.m.; "Adhesives: The How-To's in Model Construction" Saturday at 11 a.m.; "Understanding Balasa" Saturday at 1 p.m.; "Racing in the 90's" Saturday at 2 p.m.; "Model Railroad Track Work" Sunday at noon; "So You Want To Be a Manufacturer" Sunday at 1 p.m.; and "Inside the Ni-Cad Battery"

Sunday at 2 p.m. After viewing the selection of new products on display, hobbyists who can't wait to visit their local hobby shops can buy new equipment at the show's retail store. Hundreds of products will be offered for sale at the store, a cooperative venture operated by local retailers including Al's Hobby Shop, Chicagoland Hobby, Des Plaines Hobbies, The Golden Spike Train Shop, Hill's Hobby and Collector's Shop, Metro-Fast Raceway and Hobby, Pat's Hobbies and Crafts, Scale Models Limited, Stanton Hobby Shop and Venture Hobbies.

Model railroad fans will want to visit the Show's two 20-by-40-foot model railroad layouts, run by Chicago-area clubs. Members of Midwest Mod-U-Trak will operate an HO scale layout, and the L.G.B. Club of Chicago will demonstrate a G-scale railroad with between five and 10 locomotives operating simultaneously.

Show hours are 4 to 10 p.m. Friday, Nov. 3; 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 4; and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 5.

Some 400 exhibitors, including 80 model railroad suppliers, will display their newest products to the public Nov. 3 to 5 at the O'Hare Expo Center in Rosemont. Park Ridge Players present comedy

The Park Ridge Players' production of "Double Exposure" will open Friday, Nov. 10, at 8 p.m. and will run Friday and Saturday Nov. 10, 11, 17 and 18 at the same time. Among her directing credits are last year's PRP fall play, "Three Goats and a Blanket" and MSAP's dramatic one-act, "Here We Are." Lamping has also appeared on stage with PRP, in last spring's "A Murder Is Announced" and in "You Can't Take It With You" a few seasons ago.

Producer Susan Panos has produced several of PRP's recent plays, including "The Fifth Season" and "The Seven Year Itch." She is a board member of PRP and has served on the director and show selection committees. Panos has handled many of PRP's backstage roles since joining the props team in 1984.

Troiani will move off the Plan Commission's zoning board. Ginger is the mover and shaker on that board, along with Jack Frick. But more important, Ginger is Nick's point man on the board. Nick has all his soldiers in place in Niles. With Abe Selman in the manager's post, Bondi on the village board and all the other troops in place, Nick can send out all the team signals from the sidelines at 8074 Milwaukee Avenue. There's not one quarter-back left in town who can call his own signals. Mike Ditka never had such control of his team as Nick has.

We don't want you to forget the ongoing Ruesch garage story. Presently, Niles officials' attempt to oust Jimmy Ruesch from his business on Shermer Road is not being played in the public print. But that doesn't mean the manipulators are not at work to remove the Ruesch garage from the Chesterfield Gardens area.

Interestingly, Niles is moving against three properties in Niles. The Joern property on Cumberland is also being contested as is an empty gas station on Waukegan Road.

What is interesting about the three actions is they have one common denominator. They are all real estate properties. And developers would love to make a buck off these parcels.

From way out here on our rickety Smith Corona, we think Nick Blase might investigate to find out who is interested in profiting at the expense of these people who have lived and worked here for more than a quarter of a century.

We reported last week ABT T.V. and Appliances is seeking to move to Morton Grove on Waukegan Road. The move would subtract a substantial amount of sales tax revenue from Niles and increase a like amount in Morton Grove.

Some weeks ago we saw an ABT truck in an accident on Dempster Street. It was predictable. The highly congested street and the undersized ABT facility were bound to meet head-on. The continued use of the median strip for parking trucks waiting to get into the ABT facility is a never-ending danger. Hopefully, the new location will solve the problems of a company whose success is astounding. Despite all the new appliance dealers which have moved into the area, ABT's business continues to flourish.

The ABT family are great people who have made an important contribution to the community. But their success has run head-on into the dangers of the congestion on Dempster Street. A new larger facility should solve these problems.

Littlebits.....

If the village of Niles' offices move to the Civic Center shopping center area on Waukegan Road, the village's official address will move from Maine Township to Niles Township. When Niles moved its administrative offices to its present location, it moved from Niles Township to Maine Township.

The environment issue may well be the number one issue in the country in the 1990's. Niles is being short-sighted by not having a recycling program like its Niles Township neighbors. While it may be costly, it is a service which must be considered like the present garbage pick-up service. It's ironic that the wealthiest village in the area refuses to create a recycling program because of its costs.

The U.S. government periodically gives out civilian awards for high achievement. During the Reagan era, movie and entertainment stars John Wayne and Frank Sinatra were recipients. It seems from our vantage point the poor people in the Oakland ghetto, who risked their lives crawling under the caved-in highway after the earthquake, deserve equal recognition for their courageous efforts. Certainly, their bravery matches favorably with two guys who missed out on the epic drama of their times, World War II.

We've always thought the Red Cross has received a bad rap from many Americans in past years. Their yeoman's work during the recent hurricane and earthquake tragedies rates support from all Americans.

Lexington's plans for the 24 acres adjacent to the school are not specific, but official conjecture has been that townhouses and condominiums would be built on the site. Lexington has previously developed both single and multiple family projects such as Princeton Village and Princeton Club in Glenview and Old Orchard Country Club Village in Mt. Prospect.

In the same filing, the ICC also approved Centel's request for a 4 percent reduction in its message unit rates for residential and business customers in the northwest suburbs.

According to Roberts, how much of a refund customers will receive will depend on their local service billings in the calendar month prior to the Nov. 18 cutoff. He estimated that residential customers will receive between $4 to $6, with business customers having a proportionately higher refund based upon the number of lines and message units they use.

The refunds will be distributed as a credit in each customer's monthly phone bill, beginning with bills dated after Nov. 18, Roberts said.

The $2 million refund is based upon $1 million per year for 1988 and 1989, with the amount for 1989 being prorated to Nov. 18. The refund reflects savings Centel has realized under the federal Tax Reform Act of 1986, which reduced the corporate income tax rate from 46 percent to 34 percent.

Centel worked with the Citizens Utility Board (CUB) and Cook County State's Attorney Cecil A. Partee for several months to determine the exact amount of the refund, Roberts said.

Centel's request for its message unit rate to be reduced from 5.25 cents per message unit to 5.05 cents will provide a 4 percent reduction for residential and business customers in Des Plaines, Park Ridge and seven other communities the company serves in the northwest suburbs. Centel also has a small portion of Chicago customers along the O'Hare International Airport corridor.

How much customers actually save will depend on their usage, said Roberts. For example, if someone averages 200 units above his normal call-pack, he would save 40 cents per month, he said.

The reduction in the message unit rate also will be effective with bills issued after Nov. 18, Roberts said.

sq. ft. at Oakton East for two years, but retained the right of cancellation with six month's notice. It also approved the emergency purchase of a heating system component for Oakton East at a price not to exceed $24,407.

They accepted Illinois State Board of Education grants, including $18,209 to buy instructional equipment for vocational programs and $111,973 for citizenship and English as a Second Language classes.

In other action, the board entered into clinical practice agreements with Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge; Bethany Methodist Terrace, Morton Grove; Gottlieb Memorial Hospital, Melrose Park; Americana Healthcare Center, Libertyville; Grant Hospital and Illinois Masonic Medical Center, Chicago.

Moving to MONNACEP matters, the OCC Board ratified actions by the MONNACEP Executive Board and approved salary payments for part time teaching services for fall, '89. It rescinded

$2,553 in payments previously approved for that period.

In other financial areas, the trustees approved adjustment of part time faculty salaries and payment of normal duties for the fall, '89 term. It endorsed the payment of stipend not to exceed $22,162.50. The Board voted to allow bill payments for September, '89 in the amount of $3,568,497.18 and accepted the Quarterly Report of Investments for filing.

Earlier in the meeting, OCC President Thomas Terkove introduced a progress report on the college's Student Tracking System, a program to support student academic progress and help students discover who they are, what their goals are and how to achieve those goals. Various OCC departments contribute to the program by organizing counseling sessions; a new student and parent orientation program and a "College Success" seminar. Another department then evaluates the entire program.

In 1942 the cavalry was disbanded, except for the 124th cavalry, a former Texas National Guard unit stationed at Ft. Brown in Brownsville, Texas. Primary responsibilities there included Mexican border patrol and South Padre Island. The 124th had become part of the U.S. Army in 1939, and during World War II Leipzig and others with extensive horse and mule-packing training were summoned to the China-Burma-India theater for military action.

of a court decision involving National Pride and the village of Niles.

National Pride at 7303 Dempster St. and MacCleens', located at Oakton Avenue and Waukegan Road, are the only car washes within the village limits, according to Code Enforcement Director Joe Salerno.

MacCleens is temporarily closed, awaiting its new building under construction at Civic Center Plaza, but National Pride has operated near Dempster Street and Harlem Avenue since 1983. In 1982 the car wash company was denied a business permit by the village, which feared undesirable noise and residential complaints resulting from the business, which wanted to operate 24 hours a day.

According to Village Attorney Dick Troy, the village lost the court fight on appeal but ruled that all car washes within the village had to suspend operations at 11 p.m. The amended ordinance affects existing and future car washes which operate within 150 feet of residential homes, limiting their hours of operation to between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

age of 18, those with felony convictions, and anyone addicted to narcotics. Unlawful use of weapons is a misdemeanor offense, punishable by one year or less in prison.

The necessity of changing the law surfaced when an individual with a gun offense did apply for gun purchase approval in Niles, according to Village Attorney Dick Troy. Since December, Niles has required purchasers to wait seven days before claiming a purchased weapon, in order to allow police sufficient time to check the buyer's background.

Because of the wording of the ordinance then on the books, the police department was forced to okay the sale of a gun to an individual whose background check revealed a 60 day prison term for assault and for threatening someone with a gun.

Giovannelli acted immediately thereafter to include weapons violators in the proscribed categories of buyers.

Village public works department personnel will post the American flags purchased by the American flag some years back, on flag poles up and down Dempster Street to fly for the parade occasion and Veterans Day weekend.

na, the cavalryman recalled. The last GI convoy reached Kunming Oct. 8, 1945. After eight months and 27 days, the Ledo-Burma road saw no more U.S. convoys.

Thrice decorated during his career, Leipzig received medals for being in combat in Northern Burma, being close to the front in Southern Burma, and for being in the front in China where he helped engineers rebuild and repair bridges. He later received the Combat Medic Badge, the Bronze Star, and the Chinese War Memorial Medal.

Leipzig's mule, Red, remained in Burma with more than 1,000 pack mules and was corralled at Myitkyina. In early 1945, Red and the other mules were sold to the Nationalist Chinese government. Three companies of men were assembled to drive the mules over the American Burma Road back to Kunming. The caravan had been underway for about three months when the first atomic bomb fell Aug. 6 on Hiroshima. The Japanese surrendered Aug. 15.

Shortly after the surrender the GI drivers received new orders, according to Leipzig. The march officially ended about 100 miles short of Kunming and the mules, including Red, were ordered destroyed.

According to the former cavalryman, the "saga of the 1,001 mules and the GI drivers" is one of the many untold stories of the C-B-I war theater where "the unusual was the usual and the unbelievable was acted out time and again in front of our very eyes."

Leipzig, who recently reunited with fellow cavalrymen at a 13th reunion, says he is especially proud of his cavalry stint and his unit's distinction. The horse cavalry was first organized in 1776 under a commander who came to the New World to aid colonists in their battle for independence. That commander was Polish Count Casimir Pulaski.

In 1942 the cavalry was disbanded, except for the 124th cavalry, a former Texas National Guard unit stationed at Ft. Brown in Brownsville, Texas. Primary responsibilities there included Mexican border patrol and South Padre Island. The 124th had become part of the U.S. Army in 1939, and during World War II Leipzig and others with extensive horse and mule-packing training were summoned to the China-Burma-India theater for military action.

Still an avid "Basha Booster," Leipzig and his cavalry colleagues participate in a variety of special ceremonial functions and parades throughout the country. Leipzig is especially proud of his snappy cavalry uniform and brilliantly polished boots, all fitting as they did nearly 45 years ago.

He and his wife Bernice, who recently celebrated a 48th wedding anniversary, are the parents of two daughters, Gale and Lee, and the grandparents of four.

The Post representatives urge all villagers to fly their flag for this commemorative occasion. American flag kits are available from the local Legion at cost.

graphic studies were done by the school board prior to its decision to sell Borg last April, the sale of the school to the Muslim Management Group at a public auction Sept. 1 could be invalidated. The SBA group will consider appealing the decision but must first determine if the financial resources for such a move are available, according to Jim Quinn, a leading spokesperson for the SBA.

"I'll sit down with the group and decide what we want to do on a legal point of view," he said.

In the meantime, Quinn and four other SBA members are working on a write-in campaign for the Nov. 7 election as candidates for the District 70 school board. Five members of the school board up for reelection are Richard Antes, Mary Malooly, Ralph Weinman, Bonnie Eastman and Jordan Glassner. They face no opposition on the ballot.

Quinn, a bank vice president and CPA, is running against board member Antes for a two-year term.

Heroy Dreiser, a communications consultant, Linda Erton, an attorney, Anny Burns, a computer software instructor and Danny Miletic, a client service executive and CPA are running for four year terms.

The Borg School sale issue gave impetus to the write-in campaign, according to Quinn, and caused the writing-in candidates to have serious reservations about the commitment of the school board members and how they spend the taxpayer's money.

At a special District 70 school board meeting last week there were some heated exchanges between SBA supporters and teachers and residents backing the school board.

After the roll call, Supt. John Graham stated during an Oct. 1 meeting the school board's attorney and the SBA attorney discussed the validity of the sale's contract, the default clause of the contract and the potential for civil rights litigation.

Graham then said it appeared the district was threatened with a lawsuit and upon the advice of the district's attorney he and the board members were strictly advised to limit their comments. Amid jeers and boos the board adjourned to a closed session to discuss the possible litigation.

After the board's departure, Quinn said to the crowd, "This is the group of people who have embarrassed us and we need to get them out."

"We will be able to demonstrate to the court that we have an irresponsible school board," he said.

Mary Alice Bates, a resident with a degree in school administration said everything the board did was correct and in accordance with code.

Quinn also suggested reopening Borg and dispersing students between Park View and Borg schools and having special programs teachers commute between the two schools.

One teacher who declared she was there to support the school board and school district said she had no time to commute between schools. She also said she could not see the problem with having students from the Borg area bussed to Park View.

A closing date on the sale has not as yet been finalized and is waiting for an opinion on the title by the Chicago Title and Trust Co., according to Graham.

The Morton Grove Village Board voted Oct. 23 to deny the school board's request for the village to vacate a 66-foot right-of-way running through the Borg School property dedicated to the village in case an extension of has served on the board for 11 years. Padnos, a Glenview resident is a private attorney. Rivenston was appointed last June and is a cost accountant. Hara lives in Des Plaines and has taught in the Chicago Public School System for 17 years.

District 67 Residents in this school district have been facing the closure of Hynes Elementary School, at 9000 Belleforte Ave., Morton Grove. Four seats on this board have eight contenders, including three incumbents. The District 67 Caucus endorsed newcomers Donald India, Robert Kitzerow, Donald Kurash, and Donna Motz, who want to delay Hynes closure. Four candidates, including incumbents Jeff Doering, Jeff Lyon, and Kathie Weber, along with Independent Barbara Schwartz favor closure.

District 71 Four terms of four years each and one two-year seat on this board will be decided, with incumbents Robert Bianchi, David Hoppe, Richard Tomoleoni, being challenged by James DiMaria and Eileen Varisco for the 4-year seats. Incumbent Barbara Hedrick and newcomer Charles Schertzing face off for the two-year seat. Hoppe has 41 years experience with the district, while Tomoleoni has served 2 years.

District 207 Five candidates are running for four seats on the board of Maine Township's East, South and West high schools, where the campaign focus is on finances and technical equipment.

Robert Alexander, 45, is a Niles resident who is the assistant principal at the Pulaski Academy. Robert Cornelissen, Capulina Avenue was ever called for. Although no construction can take place on the right-of-way as long as the village maintains it, the issue cannot prevent the sale from being finalized.

The Muslim Management Group, a group of business people affiliated with the Muslim Community Center, plans to use Borg as an elementary school for 100 to 150 students, ages 9 to 16. The school will also have a few classes for religious training and may possibly have a day care center, Roshad Khan, president of the group, said.

Although the group has had an offer for the school and property for one-half million more than the $1.835 million they paid for it, Khan stressed they are not interested in selling the property.

Larry Art, Village administrator, said the offer was discussed at a meeting several weeks ago with delegates from the village, school board, park board, SBA and Muslim Management Group. The discussion was meant to assure everyone the Muslim Management Group was serious about buying the property and utilizing Borg as a school, he said.

60, who seeks his second term on the 207 board is a Park-Ridge resident who is a vice president at 1st National Bank of Des Plaines. 49 year old Fred Flener also seeks a second term. He is a professor at Northeastern University and lives in Park Ridge. Incumbent Dolores Grazian, 56, is a Morton Grove mother of eight grown children who chaired 207's finance committee.

Ralph Johnson, 60, is a Des Plaines resident, who served 21 years as Superintendent of Skokie School District 69.

Three candidates, Alexander, Cornelissen and Fiener were endorsed by the District 64 caucus, while Grazian and Johnson have been endorsed by District 63 and 62 caucuses respectively.

District 219 Three incumbents, Marlene Aderman, Gail Stone and Karen Weinstock are seeking additional terms, while Joe Weiss is challenging them for one of three seats on the ballot. Whoever loses the election will probably seek to be appointed to complete the term of board member Jonathan Minkus, who is expected to resign sometime after the election.

Five candidates vie for three seats on that board with Ellen Schrodt of Evanston and Chien Wu challenging incumbent Ray Hartstein and Bill Spaulding. Oakton is facing overcrowding at both its Des Plaines and Skokie campuses. Hartstein, who lives in Skokie, has been on that board for 20 years.

North Maine Fire Chief Morrie Farberman explained that the district needs to replace aging equipment. The bond issue, if approved, would increase tax bills by roughly one percent for 15 years, according to the chief.

That means a homeowner with a $2,000 annual tax bill would expect to be assessed $20 additionally, based on last year's rate. The per taxpayer amount would not increase and could possibly decrease.

Chuck Scheck, Morton Grove Director of Community Development, indicated any rezoning must undergo a procedural control review by Village departments to estimate the impact of the rezoning, a study which could take two months. The departments provide advisory comments and present the application to the Village Planning commission, which would then hold public hearings.

David Katz said the firm has been building condominiums for 25 years, with developments in Morton Grove, Skokie, Buffalo Grove and Lake Forest. He described the average condominium unit as two bedroom, but often containing a family room. He indicated buyers are typically senior citizens or "empty nesters" who no longer need larger homes.

Two area communities, Park Ridge and Glenview, have 911 Emergency Surtax referenda on their Nov. 7 ballots, with Park Ridge electors expected to approve an 80 cent per month per phone line connection and those in Glenview a $1 surtax.

The Park Ridge surtax, if approved, will be reduced to 50 cents after it has been in effect for five years.
