Buglebits.....

There's something disconnecting about voting in elections which are not local elections.

Next Tuesday we'll march to our voting poll, go through the very brief identifying interview and then close the curtain and vote for the candidates of our choice. Or the Chicago Tribune's choice. Or the Chicago Sun-Times' choice.

Voting for most candidates is a pig-in-the-poke process. In the very important Cook County president race, Dick Phelan is a very good looking Irishman. In Chicagoland, good looking may or may not count. But his very expensive media blitz has got to garner votes for him. He's become an every night visitor in most of our living rooms via the television screen, and he's become familiar.

Ted Lechowicz spent less and is less known. But he comes across as an old shoe kind of guy and old shoe candidates have to get some votes. His ethnic name, like Phelan's, is also worth a certain number of votes.

Stanley Kasper is the old line politician and there will be a lot of no voters who will be turned off by any of the old timers. He's likely got a greater burden than the new guys, though he's likely to profit by

Maine North proceeds placed in special fund

Proceeds from the sale of Maine North High School, which was sold in October to Lexington Development Corporation for $5.75 million, will be deposited in a site and construction fund according to action taken by the Board of Education at the February meeting.

The money and any interest income it earns will be used for site acquisition, building construction or reconstruction, or capital improvements to buildings. If tax levies are insufficient to cover the expenses of operations and maintenance of school buildings and sites, money from the fund may also be used for those purposes.

Morton Grove vehicles hit by vandals

Persons unknown broke windows in at least eight Morton Grove vehicles between March 5-6. All but one of the damaged windows were in the driver's door.

In the 7700 block of Davis Street, an '89 Chevrolet, '85 Mitsubishi and a Pontiac of unknown vintage were damaged. The losses to the Chevrolet and Pontiac were estimated at $150 each. A Hickory Hills woman, owner of the Mitsubishi, noted black marker streaks on a car door as additional damage and estimated her loss at $250.

In the same vicinity a hammer-type tool was used on a '77 Cadillac and the Niles owner, 46, gauged his loss at $200. In another Cadillac in the area, this one of 1982 vintage, the rear window, valued at $250, was shattered.

Morton Grove man to head commission

Gov. James Thompson Monday appointed Robert Malooly of Morton Grove as chairman of the Illinois Industrial Commission, which oversees the worker's compensation program.

Malooly, assistant deputy director of the Illinois Department of Employment Security, will replace Raymond Rybacki in the restructuring of the commission ordered by the General Assembly last year.

Local political leaders are cautious about predicting the size of voter turnout in the primary election March 20, but some are willing to go on record.

Niles Mayor and Maine Township Democratic Committeeman Nicholas Blase referred to the 75,000 voters in Maine Township and indicated he expects nearly 8,000 to sign in on the Democratic side. Because this is an "off-year" or non-presidential primary, he doesn't anticipate the 12,000 Democratic turnout there was in 1988.

Phil Raffie, Republican Committeeman in Maine Township speculated from 12-15,000 Republicans could vote March 20, but said there are "so many unpredictable--weather is a factor."

Maine High teacher's trial date postponed

by Shellya Hackett

A Circuit Court judge last week postponed the scheduled trial date for Maine Township teacher Scott Wely. The teacher is free on bond, awaiting trial in connection with an alleged rape over two years ago.

In the Cook County District Court in Skokie, Judge Marcia Orr ordered another hearing scheduled for April 4 before a definite trial date is set, thereby canceling an earlier scheduled trial date of March 27.

The judge ordered defense attorney Raymond Garza to select the witnesses he will call from the list of more than 150 he submitted and to provide the state with their addresses. Judge Orr requested Garza identify them as expert or character witnesses.

Judge Orr also authorized subpoenaing Joseph Walker, an investigator utilized by the defense,

Tips on how to pick your tax preparer

So it's tax time and you haven't even started to put together all those receipts and forms and bits of paper that will become the basis of your report to the IRS for your 1989 income and expenses. You probably need help. Many people do.

Don't worry. Jerald P. Busse, a tax expert, has some hints and tips that will help you solve your problem.

Busse, 37, a Certified Public Accountant (CPA) who lives in Prospect Heights, has been helping people get their taxes in order for more than 15 years.

He is principal and president of Martin & Martin, a leading mid-west firm of CPAs -- headquartered in Park Ridge, -- that has been in business since 1945 and has 250 corporate and individual clients coast to coast.

First, says Busse, whether you need an expert to handle your personal and family taxes or the accounting for a business you own, ask for recommendations from friends, neighbors, and business associates, particularly from your banker or attorney.

Second, select three accountants for your short list and inquire from them what their fee structure is. It's important to find out what you're going to get for your money so that there will be no misunderstandings later.

Third, when you have satisfied yourself that you are on the right track, ask for an interview with the individuals or firms you have chosen.

With the help of a qualified CPA, Busse adds, you should be able to:

Plan your estate to achieve your wishes and reduce taxes. Pay the lowest taxes possible. Satisfy record-keeping and reporting requirements.

Plan for a comfortable retirement. Achieve maximum success and profit as a business owner.

Build your net worth through solid financial planning.

For further information contact Jerald P. Busse, Martin & Martin, CPAs at (708) 296-1085.

Legion celebrates birthday

The Morton Grove American Legion Post #134 was organized in December of 1924 with only 16 members at that time. Today's membership stands at over 700.

To celebrate their Legion's birthday a huge party is to be held in combination with St. Patrick's Day, Saturday, March 17 at the Legion Home. For reservations phone chairman Frank Mayer, 699-1753.

The official date of the American Legion national birthday is March 15. By mandate of our federal government, the organization began 71 years ago in Europe at meetings held by interested servicemen who wished to affiliate under some banner.

Locally the first Legion group met in a garage on School Street which was nicknamed "The Hut". After World War II, their membership increased and the meetings were moved to the Luxembourg Gardens on Lincoln Avenue.

When the membership rolls swelled to over 500, the present land was purchased in 1946 at 6140 Dempster St. Additions have since been made to this edifice over the years which now include caretakers' quarters in the rear for an around the clock on premises custodian, many meeting rooms, an upstairs lounge and party room, rifle range in the lower level and a large patio in the rear to the north. Current post commander is Karl Falter. Falter indicates many organizations and individuals rent the premises for birthday parties, dinners and dances, showers, weddings, religious doings, etc. Legion affiliation is not necessary for rental privileges. Working closely with the Legion are the women of the Unit. The Ladies Auxiliary was officially formed in 1925 and the women serve refreshments at the Wednesday night bingo, help at the Friday weekly fish fries and in addition perform much rehabilitation and hospital work for the still confined veterans at the Chicagoland area VA hospitals. Wives, mothers, sisters, daughters, granddaughters and "step" relations are eligible for membership. Legion eligibility is for service during one of the war periods. Information on membership is available from Senior Vice Commander Roger Schmidt. Re-elected to her second term as president of the ladies auxiliary is Arlene Rock. She shares this "second time around" recognition with just a few other ladies, mostly who separated their terms in office with several years in between. There is also a Junior Auxiliary which was found for young ladies

New Maine East soccer coach

Maine East's girls' soccer team looks forward to a winning season with a number of returning players and a new coach.

Ed Kositzki comes to Maine East's girls' soccer program with impressive credentials and coaching experience. While attending Northern Illinois University, he was named to the 1971 All-American College Soccer Team and later went on to act as head boys' coach at both Lake Forest and Stevenson high schools.

The new coach will quickly appreciate the efforts of six returning members from last year's team - Patty Bank, Melanie Borys, Angie and Jenny DeMano, Chris McLaughlan, and Janis Szukala. Borys will be key as the Demon goalkeeper, and McLaughlan and Szukala should, no doubt, repeat last year's effort, which earned each of them All-Conference honors.

The season starts Monday, March 19, at Glenbard South, which has a strong team since many of the girls there played on Park District teams before starting in the high school program. Glenbard South beat Maine East 5-1 last year.

The first home game for the new coach and Demon team will be Friday, March 23, against Regina. Last year Maine East defeated Regina 2-1 in a rainstorm. Monday, April 2, Maine East travels to Marillac.

care as the greatest threat to older and disabled citizens. Annunzio, who pioneered passage of the original Medicare law, pledged his vigorous support for achieving early passage in the Congress of a fair long-term care law.

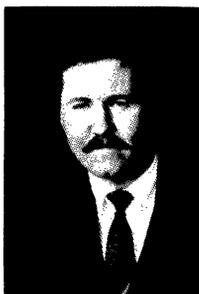

Gardner describes plans for water district

Frank Gardner, Democratic Candidate for Commissioner of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago, promises to apply his 11 years' experience as an employee of the District for its development.

Control of flooding and pollution are two of the chief concerns of Frank Gardner who is committed to completion of the Tunnel and Reservoir Project (TARP) and has plans for financing it if federal funding becomes unavailable.

Gardner plans additional flood relief by cutting back river banks, the creation of emergency flood teams and seeking legislation to require Lake County to detain its fair share of storm water and to allow it all to flow downstream flooding Cook County.

Gardner will also promote the development of 7,000 acres of District land among the water-

Pucinski presents budget

Aurelia Pucinski, clerk of the Circuit Court of Cook County, has presented the Cook County Board of Commissioners with the lowest percentage increase request of all the county officials for the 1990 budget.

Pucinski, who is responsible for the administration and maintenance of court records for the Cook County Judicial Circuit, has requested a 5.02 percent increase to her 1989 budget.

The budget will increase from $52 million to $55.3 million with the largest portion of the requested increase consisting of mandated costs, such as increases in employee medical expenses and longevity step increases in employee salaries.

"The fact that we have made some excellent budgetary decisions has allowed us to absorb mandated, increased work loads in all divisions, districts and departments with a minimal request for personnel," said Pucinski.

Due to the investment of monies into interest bearing accounts, the Clerk's Office has increased interest earned from $2,450,088 to $5,293,846 in 1989—an improvement of 116 percent.

"My 1990 budget emphasizes accountability," Pucinski said. "For the first time, department heads were held responsible for setting their budgets and also, for the first time, will be responsible for monitoring spending in their various accounts during the 1990 budget year," Pucinski added.

Major political groups endorse Schoenberg

The candidacy of Jeff Schoenberg, democrat for state representative from the 56th district, has been endorsed by every major grass-roots political organization backing candidates in Illinois.

Schoenberg is being supported by the Independent Voters of Illinois-Independent Precinct Organization (IVI-IPO), the Illinois Education Association (IEA), and the Illinois Public Action Council (IPAC). His election is also being recommended by Cook County Democratic Women.

Schoenberg has long been recognized as a progressive and independent community leader. He has worked for former U.S. Rep. Abner Mikva and helped organize U.S. Sen. Paul Simon's race in northern Cook and Lake counties during Simon's successful 1984 campaign. A public policy expert, Schoenberg for five years ran an award winning youth program for junior high and high school students at Beth Hillier Congregation.

"I'm very grateful for the confidence that the members of such well respected organizations as the Illinois Education Association are placing in my candidacy," Schoenberg said. "They know, as do the thousands who belong to the IVI and the IPAC, that I'll be in Springfield to make sure that our district is vigorously and ably represented," he added.

Seniors' council endorses Van Dusen

George Van Dusen announced recently that the Illinois State Council of Senior Citizens PAC has endorsed his candidacy for state representative of the 56th legislative district.

Van Dusen has been endorsed by the mayors of Skokie, Niles and Morton Grove, and former Skokie Mayor Al Smith. He has also been endorsed by the AFL-CIO and the Illinois Federation of Teachers.

The 56th Legislative District includes parts of Skokie, Morton Grove, Niles, Golf, Glenview, West Wilmette and unincorporated Des Plaines.

Judge Elrod has presided over hundreds of pre-trial matters, motion hearings, and bench and jury trials. He served as Senior Assistant Attorney General of Illinois from 1986-1988 in charge of legal matters pertaining to citizens and consumer rights and advocacy.

Elrod was elected and served as Sheriff of Cook County from 1970-1986. As Sheriff he made numerous progressive changes and innovations including the creation of a youth services department, professional training academies, and an accredited jail facility.

While serving as Sheriff, Elrod was elected President of the Illinois and National Sheriffs Associations. He served on numerous local, state and national commissions on criminal law and justice.

In 1986 he was selected by the President of the United States to serve on the President's Commission on Child Safety.

Elrod was elected as a state representative in 1968 and served on the Judiciary and Education Committees. He served as Chief City Prosecutor and Assistant Corporation Counsel of Chicago from 1959-1970, with extensive and varied litigation experience including trial and Appellate Court practice.

Judge Elrod is a graduate of Northwestern University (B.A., 1955) and Northwestern University Law School (J.D., 1958). He attended Chicago public schools.

Judge Elrod was born on February 17, 1939, resides with his wife, Marilyn, in Lincolnwood, Illinois. He is the father of two married children and has three grandchildren.

Judge Elrod is rated qualified as a Judge by the Chicago Bar Association and recommended by the Women's Bar Association and numerous other professional associations, civic groups, police organizations and community newspapers.

Association elects Hanrahan president

Niles township assessor, Robert P. Hanrahan has been elected president of the Cook County Township Assessor's Association for 1990.

Assessor Hanrahan is also on the board of directors for the Illinois Property Assessment Institute, the Illinois Assessors' Association and the Cook County Officials Association for 1990.

Judge Ian H. Levin

Judge Ian H. Levin was appointed Judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County by the Illinois Supreme Court in 1989.

Judge Levin is a 1966 graduate of DePaul University College of Law. He was valedictorian of his class.

After becoming a lawyer, he served as a law clerk with Justice Daniel P. Ward, of the Illinois Supreme Court, serving in that capacity from 1966-69.

He then became a Felony Trial Attorney and Chief of Appeals for the Cook County Public Defender's Office. He spent five years in private practice with former United States District Attorney, Thomas A. Foran.

As an attorney, Judge Levin practiced extensively for the State and Federal Trial and Appellate Courts and before the U.S. Supreme Court. He also served as a Special Counsel to the Chicago Board of Election Commissioners and has written and lectured extensively in the field of Election Law.

Judge Levin was named Illinois' Outstanding Lawyer by the Legal Education Institute, being only the third person to be so honored.

The Chicago Bar Association's "qualified" evaluation of Levin for the bench, stated that Levin has excellent legal knowledge and ability, and that Levin has had "trial and litigation experience in a wide variety of areas."

Judge Levin is endorsed by the regular Democratic Party of Cook County, the I.V.I.P.O., and the Illinois Committee on Honest Government. Levin is also a member of the Women's Bar Association.

Judge Levin, who is a candidate in the forthcoming primary, Tuesday, March 20, is married and the father of two children.

Judge Philip L. Bronstein

Judge Philip L. Bronstein was appointed a Judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County through the wisdom of the Illinois Supreme Court.

Following his appointment he was assigned to the Domestic Relations division where his task now is in the child support area.

This young Jurist is a graduate of the Illinois Institute of Technology, and received his Law Degree from Chicago Kent College of Law, with honors.

In his years as a lawyer, he served as Chief Assistant in the Corporation Counsel Office for the City of Chicago. While serving in the Corporation Counsel Office he served in their Appeals and Counseling Division, where he prepared briefs and oral arguments in Appellate cases in Illinois and the Supreme Court.

Also while in the Corporation Counsel Office, he served as a legal advisor to the last six mayors.

Many times people wonder how young people can be able to go to college, and then, especially to go on to law school. Judge Bronstein did something very different than the ordinary young student. He served as a doorman for six years at the Playboy Club and the Knickerbocker Hotel.

Judge Bronstein has been endorsed with "highly qualified" and qualified ratings, by the majority of bar groups, community newspapers, police organizations and labor groups. Just to mention a few of these groups that these ratings were received from, by the Chicago Bar Association, Cook County Bar Association, I.V.I.P.O., Fraternal Order of Police, Illinois Police Federation, Service Employees International Union, Teamsters, the Illinois Committee on Honest Government, and many other groups.

Judge Thomas R. Rakowski

Justice Thomas R. Rakowski was recently elevated to a Justice of the Appellate Court by an appointment from the Illinois Supreme Court.

Before Justice Rakowski was appointed to the Appellate Court, he served 13 years as a Judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County. Due to the fact that he had received a Supreme Court appointment, means he must run in the next election that is afforded to the Electra, and that is this Tuesday's primary, March 20.

The Judge's most recent assignment in the Circuit Court of Cook County was in the very prestigious Chancery Division. While up for retention as a Circuit Judge in 1988, Justice Rakowski had the highest vote total of any judge running.

He is a graduate of DePaul U., and John Marshall Law School.

The Justice has received the "highly qualified" ratings from about every bar group in the Chicago area. He also has received endorsements from the Fraternal Order of Police, Illinois Police Federation, Service Employees International Union, Teamsters, the Illinois Committee on Honest Government, and top newspaper endorsements from daily and community papers.

Justice Rakowski is married and the father of one child.

Circuit Court judge candidate rated 'qualified'

Arlington Heights resident, Hyman Riebman, the slated candidate of the Democratic Party for Circuit Court Judge of Cook County (suburbs only) was recently rated "qualified" for the office of Judge of the Circuit Court by the Chicago Bar Association and the Chicago Council of Lawyers.

Riebman was also endorsed by the Independent Voters of Illinois-Independent Precinct Organization. The Chicago Bar Association cited Riebman's experience, diligence and even temperament as their reasons for rating him qualified. The Chicago Council of Lawyers stated that the former assistant state attorney is hard working and of the "highest integrity".

Pisa professor visits sister city

On the day that Pisa, Italy, and Niles became "sister cities," Pisa professor Umberto Laffi arrived in the Chicago area for a Rotary International board meeting.

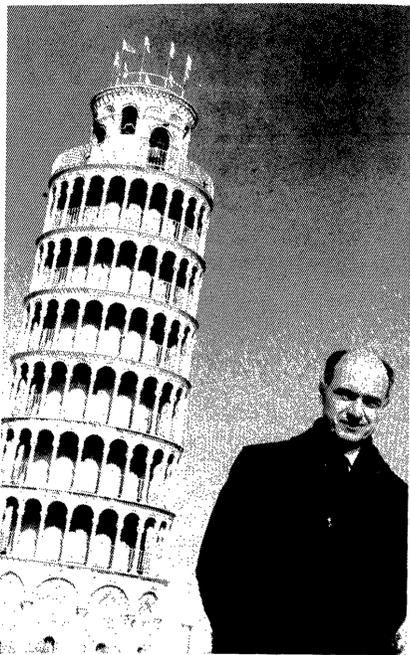

After reading of the new relationship between Pisa and the Chicago-area city, professor Laffi took advantage of a free day to visit Niles and see the world's only replica of the Leaning Tower of Pisa.

After inspection of the replica, Professor Laffi commented that Niles' version was "not a masterpiece, but a remarkably good replica serving as a tribute both to the art of the original and to Galileo."

The replica is half the size of the original and the population of Niles less than one third as large as that of its new Italian "sister." In spite of the differences between the two cities, Professor Laffi felt there was some potential in the new relationship.

"For one thing," noted Professor Laffi, "both cities are served by Rotary clubs." In fact, Pisa has two clubs - the Rotary Club of Pisa, founded in 1934, and the Rotary Club of Pisa Galilei, founded in 1980 -- with a combined membership of some 115 Rotarians. Niles is served by the Rotary Club of Niles-Morton Grove, founded in 1962, with 35 members.

"There are many things of potential interest to Italians in the area," said Professor Laffi, citing the many universities and cultural attractions in and around Chicago. Laffi noted that several of Rotary's international programs, particularly Youth Exchange, Rotary Foundation Scholarships and Rotary Foundation Group Study Exchange, could help further the relationship between the two sister cities.

Professor Umberto Laffi, of Pisa, Italy, a director of Rotary International, stands in front of a replica of the Leaning Tower of Pisa located in Niles. Professor Laffi visited the replica after learning that his home city and Niles recently became "sister cities."

Responsibilities under Social Security

Whenever an employer is hired, the employer is responsible for recording his or her Social Security number and home address. This is essential if employees are to receive full credit for all Social Security-covered employment. The employer should copy the employee's name and Social Security number directly from his or her Social Security card.

At the close of the calendar year, employers are responsible for submitting Form W-2 (Wage and Tax Statement) to the Social Security Administration. This form shows each employee's annual earnings and tax information.

Unless this information is reported in a timely fashion and with the employee's correct name and Social Security number, he or she may never be credited with the correct amount of earnings. This, in turn may affect future eligibility for, and the amount of monthly retirement, disability, and survivors insurance benefits for the worker and his or her family. If it is found that an employee's name and/or Social Security number has been reported incorrectly, the employer should furnish the correct information by completing Form W-2C and sending it to the Social Security Administration address that handles the employer's regular Form W-2 reports.

A person seeking employment who has never had a Social Security card should apply for one at any Social Security office. A person needs evidence of age, identity, and U.S. citizenship or legal alien status. If over 18, an interview in person is required. If the person has had a card but it has been lost or stolen, he or she should apply for a replacement. The Social Security number on the replacement card will be the same as that on the original.

An employee whose name has been changed (for example, as the result of marriage) should also apply for a new card. Proof of the person's identity is needed before a replacement card can be issued. For information about Social Security numbers call 1 (800) 234-5554. It's available 7 a.m. - 7 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Safety hints for driving in fog

Rapidly changing temperatures in Illinois this time of year can result in fog, which reduces visibility and makes driving hazardous. Be prepared to alter your driving habits when fog appears.

The best safety rule is to avoid driving in fog whenever possible. However, if you must drive, take the following safety precautions and drive defensively:

1. Dim your headlights. Low beams direct light onto the road ahead, help you see more clearly and help others to see you. Light from high beams hits the fog and is reflected off it. Illinois law prohibits driving with parking lights only.
2. Slow down. Reduce your speed even more if you see headlights or taillights in front of you. Headlights may be on a vehicle coming down the center of the road. Taillights can indicate a stopped vehicle or one that is barely moving.
3. Do not overdrive your headlights. Stay within the limits of your vision and be prepared to stop in an emergency. If the fog becomes so dense that you can hardly see, pull off the road and stop. Do not drive on the highway at five or 10 miles per hour.

Driving safely in fog takes concentration and patience. Remember to dim your headlights, slow down and pull off the road if visibility is zero.

How to find a good contractor

In spring months homeowners, especially seniors, should be careful about carrying out the home improvements they have planned. Their most important task is to select a good, honest, skillful contractor. The Professional Remodelers Association of Illinois suggests that a homeowner's first choice should be to select a contractor who is recommended by relatives, friends, neighbors.

"If no such recommendation is available," said Homer V. Lundberg, managing director of Professional Remodelers Association, "the homeowner may phone PRA and ask for its member book, which lists high quality contractors and a variety of suggestions for improved living."

Those interested can call (312) 664-6541 for a book free of charge.

Area businesses build fire safety house

Several area businesses merged donations to build a Children's Fire Safety House in conjunction with the Norwood Park Fire Department. Construction plans are underway, and the house is scheduled to debut in September.

The Children's Fire Safety House offers hands on demonstrations to promote fire safety. Firefighters will demonstrate the principals of home fire safety, home escape planning, Exit Drills In The Home (E.D.I.T.H.), and uses of smoke detectors. A smoke machine (artificial smoke with an ice cream odor) and strobe lights give the effect of real fire. The children are to react to the instructor, how a safe escape is accomplished. It is a proven teaching tool and has been well received in other communities. Work and construction will be done by the Norwood Park Fire Department.

Contributors towards the Children's Fire Safety House include, but are not limited to Harlem Irving Plaza, Columbia National Bank of Chicago, First State Bank of Chicago, and Zittel Realty.

Others wishing to donate towards the Fire Safety House can contact Lieutenant Rinaldi at the Norwood Park Fire Department (708) 867-5428. All donations are tax deductible.

Most Car Accidents Preventable, Expert Says

In the time it takes to read this sentence, 34 auto accidents and one death will occur in the United States.

When we slide behind the wheel of a car or truck, the responsibility for safety rests solely on us. Unfortunately, too many drivers are neglecting their responsibilities. National Safety Council statistics show that two-thirds of all traffic crashes result from driver error.

"Most accidents are not beyond a driver's control and are preventable," says John Scott, a health and safety expert for the Country Companies, an insurance and investment group. "The most common errors are things we know we are doing. We need to be conscious of these errors when we get behind the wheel."

The six errors which cause the most accidents are speeding, failing to yield, running stop signs, disobeying traffic signals, crossing the center line, and passing improperly.

"Speeding is the most deadly of all errors," says Scott. "Allow adequate time for your trip," Scott adds. "Your chances of being in a serious accident double every 10 mph you drive over 50."

Accidents are also common when drivers approach an intersection with a yield sign, and accelerate because they don't think they see another car coming. The Country Companies safety expert says the correct way to approach a yield sign is to concentrate on the likelihood that another vehicle will be there. He says when a right turn is permitted on a red light, come to a complete stop and yield to approaching traffic before turning.

The last driving error is passing improperly. Scott says before passing, every driver should ask themselves the following questions: Is the pass necessary? Is it legal? And, is it safe? "The basic rule with passing is when in doubt, don't!" he warns.

"It's inaccurate to call some crashes 'accidents' because it tends to imply that luck or fate was the cause of the crash," Scott concludes. "As responsible drivers, we need to be aware of these six errors so we can improve our driving skills and save lives."

Good vision key to safe driving

The ability to see clearly is one of the most important factors in safe driving. According to the American Optometric Association, 90 percent of all driving decisions depend on what is seen or not seen.

Because good vision is critical to safe driving, a vision screening is conducted every time an Illinois motorist obtains or renews a drivers license. The screening consists of visual acuity (near and far vision) and peripheral vision (the ability to see to the side).

Census Bureau needs workers

The Census Bureau is hiring hundreds of temporary part time workers who live in Cook County's northern, northwest and western suburbs to assist in compiling the information needed for the 1990 Decennial Census.

According to James A. Cagney, district office manager, "It's a great opportunity for local residents who are interested in participating in the work of the 1990 census of population and housing of the United States to earn extra money, have the satisfaction of doing a job that really counts and to work in their own communities."

Employment information is available Monday through Friday (8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.) by calling the Census Bureau office at (708) 297-4011.

Literary Council award

Secretary of State Jim Edgar, (center), chairman of the Illinois Literacy Council, recently congratulated 750 adult learners, volunteer tutors and literacy program coordinators on their efforts to improve literacy levels. The group was gathered for the Chicago screening of "Stanley & Iris", a movie about a tutor/student relationship. Pictured with Secretary Edgar at a pre-screening reception at Roosevelt University are George Olsen, dean, and Bonnie Smothers, director of the Adult Basic Literacy and Employment program coordinated by Roosevelt University with Secretary of State funds.

ther the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or the American College Testing (ACT) assessment. From the 1,500 semifinalists, 500 will be selected as finalists in April. From that group, 141 will be chosen as Presidential Scholars.

Maine East plans international celebration

"We Are the World" is the theme for Maine East's first International Celebration set for Saturday, March 17, from 1-5 p.m. in the student cafeteria. Celebrating its diverse population, Maine East students are gearing up with games, food, and performances which reflect various ethnic backgrounds for people of all ages to enjoy. Admission to the International Celebration is free.

Those attending who want to be active can test their skills on such games as "Pin the Tail on the Water Buffalo" or "The Baseball Toss." This different version of "Pin the Tail" involved at the meeting of the Filipino Club, headed by club president John Laxamana of Des Plaines. The water buffalo is one of several national symbols in the Philippines. "The Baseball Toss" will be part of the activities sponsored by the newspaper staff, whose editor-in-chief is Alan Berks of Morton Grove. The country being represented by the Pioneer staff? The good ol' U.S. of A., of course.

Since September of 1989, a steering committee comprised of both students and faculty has been working on the International Celebration in order to bring it to fruition. Comprising the student make-up of the committee are student chairperson Steve Futterman of Des Plaines and Herard Distajo of Morton Grove as well as Grace Hong of Morton Grove, Demetrios Kouzoukas of Des Plaines, and Pratima Patil of Des Plaines. Rick Kinnebrew has been coming to St. John Brebeuf School in Niles once a month to meet with the students in the different grade levels. Sometimes he reads stories, but more often he motivates students to read, as he describes different books and stops telling the story just short of the most exciting part. Recently he had the fifth graders sitting on the edge of their chairs as he told ghost stories.

Senior suburban dwellers focus of talk

More older Americans live in the suburbs than in the central city according to the 1980 census. It is expected that the 1990 census will show suburban older Americans outnumbering those who live in city and rural areas.

Suburban Cook County is no exception to the tremendous growth in the older population experienced by suburban areas throughout the nation. It is interesting to note that the size of the Suburban Cook County age 60 and over population is larger than that of 18 states.

The Suburban Area Agency has announced they will hold a special presentation on the needs, services, and demographics of the aging suburban population.

Dr. Karen Harlow, Director of the Heartland Center on Aging will present, for the first time, the results of a major study conducted for the Area Agency on the needs of older persons in the Cook County suburbs. The Heartland Center is one of six Administration on Aging national Long Term Care Resource Centers.

The premier showing of a Terra Nova Video Production commissioned by the Area Agency follows Dr. Harlow's presentation. Here to Serve: A Suburban Approach to Senior Services depicts the network of services available to older people in local communities. The VHS Video Tape is approximately 30 minutes long. Taping occurred this past fall and early winter in a number of suburban Cook County communities and senior centers.

The session will be held at Triton Community College, Robert Collins Building, Burton Theater, 2100 5th Ave., River Grove, Ill. on Tuesday, March 20, at 9:30 a.m. To register for the session, please contact Ms. Lancaster at the Suburban Area Agency on Aging, (708) 383-0258.

Maine Township helps meet Seniors' needs

Maine Township has one of the largest senior citizen populations in Cook County numbering about 20,000. A wide variety of services and programs are available to senior citizens through the Maine Township government.

Supervisor Joan B. Hall said, "They are an important part of our community, and we try to provide a wide range of services to meet their needs."

One of the key programs offered by Maine Township is an information and referral clearinghouse to help seniors citizens and their families obtain information on housing, medical services, social and mental health services, nutrition, home-delivered meals, employment, energy assistance, social activities and a variety of other services.

This program is partially supported through grants awarded to Maine Township by the Suburban Cook County Area Agency on Aging. To date, the township has received eight awards from the suburban and referral services.

Senior citizens can also find fun and companionship through the many activities offered by the Maine Township seniors, a social group sponsored by the township.

More than 2,800 Maine Township seniors belong to the group. Activities in most cases are limited to members. Applicants must be 65 or older and provide proof of residency.

The township also sponsors OPTIONS 55, a social program for pre-retirement adults, aged 55 through 65. Trips, theater programs and special events are scheduled evenings and weekends for the convenience of members.

Membership in both groups is free. For information and membership applications call Sue Neuschel, 297-2510.

Maine Township also provides RTA special users passes and handicapped parking cards through the Clerk's office; and participates in the Paratransit Resource Center to provide transportation at special rates to seniors who are unable to use public transportation.

For information on any of these programs, call 297-2510.

Rare procedure performed at Weiss

A special instrument, referred to as a mother-baby side viewing endoscope, was used by two gastroenterologists at Weiss Hospital on March 1 to successfully complete a procedure which allows a physician to view and enter the bile duct without having to perform surgery. This is the first time that the procedure has been successfully completed in the Chicago area.

A large endoscope, the mother scope, is inserted through the esophagus, through the stomach, and into the small intestine; a smaller endoscope, the baby scope, is then inserted through the mother scope and into the bile duct. "It was a unique opportunity to see the bile duct from the inside," said Michael Ruchim, M.D.

The mother-baby endoscopic procedure is used to fracture stones in the bile duct using an electrohydraulic lithotripter that sends a shock wave to break up the stone. This is used when the stone is too large to pass through a cut made in the bile duct, known as a papillotomy. The procedure may also be used when the stone cannot be dissolved by infusing special chemicals to break up the stone.

The patient on which the surgery was performed, a 73-year-old man, came to the hospital suffering from cholangitis, an infection in the bile duct. First, a cut was made in the bile duct to drain the bile, but the stone did not pass. As an alternative method, a special chemical was infused to dissolve the stone. When the stone did not appear to pass after either of these procedures, the mother-baby endoscopic procedure was used in an attempt to fracture the stone so that it may pass.

The procedure was performed by Michael Ruchim, M.D., chairman, gastrointestinal section; and Michael Goldberg, M.D., assistant director, Gastrointestinal Center; both physicians at Weiss

Hospital. The mother-baby endoscopic procedure is ideal for those patients who would not be able to withstand surgery. The procedure took about 30 minutes and the recovery period is only one or two days. Louis A. Weiss Memorial Hospital, an Affiliate of the University of Chicago Hospitals, is a 372-bed, major Chicago community teaching facility located at 4646 N. Marine Drive.

Program seeks home providers

Council for Jewish Elderly's Homesharing Program is accepting applications from both home-providers and home-seekers in the north metropolitan Chicago area.

Homesharing is a housing option for people who want to remain in their homes but desire companionship and for people who do not want the burden of home ownership.

One member of each homesharing pair must be at least 60 years old. That individual is matched with another applicant of any age whose needs are compatible.

Social workers match the pairs, considering such issues as each applicant's views on pets, smoking and guests. Participants do not have to be Jewish but Kosher homes are available to Jewish participants.

Often, home-providers will offer reduced rent to a homesharing roommate who will provide some services such as cooking or housework. Many home-seekers are students who want a low-cost housing choice with a home atmosphere.

Lynn Nestuk, Case Manager for the CJE Homesharing Program, said she is always looking for both home-providers and home-seekers, particularly in the Devon Ave. area of West Rogers Park.

The Homesharing Program will have information tables at the Caregivers' Fair at the Copernicus Senior Center on Milwaukee Ave. on March 23 and at CJE's open house at the Horwich JCC, 3003 W. Touhy Ave., on April 29. Nestuk will arrange presentations on the Homesharing Program for any group that is interested, she said.

More information about Homesharing is available by calling CJE at 312-508-1000.

Generic Drugs: What Patients Should Know

By the Illinois State Medical Society (ISMS) in conjunction with Vincent Costanzo, Jr., M.D., an ISMA member and a general practice physician in Chicago. Dr. Costanzo is a member of the Illinois Department of Public Health's drug substitution committee and serves as a consultant to ISMA's Committee on Drugs and Therapeutics.

The generic drug manufacturing industry has grown tremendously over the last decade. In fact, generic drugs account for one-third of all drugs made in the nation, with sales totalling $3.4 billion last year.

While generic drugs contain the same active ingredients as brand name drugs, they don't always act the same as the brand name. Patients who wish to use generics should use caution, always discussing the substitution first with their doctor.

Patients often ask for generics over brand name drugs because generics are less expensive. Hospitals may also use generics because some insurers or third party payors, who normally pay 80 percent of a hospital's medication bills, insist on cost reductions by dictating a limit on the amount they will pay for certain types of medications.

A pharmacist can fill a prescription with a generic drug after a physician has given permission to substitute by checking off the box "may substitute" on the prescription slip. If a physician does not check off "may substitute," but does not indicate that substitution is prohibited by checking off the box "may not substitute," the pharmacist may use his discretion in substituting a generic for the brand name drug.

The pharmacist still must meet certain legal requirements before he may substitute: the drug must be listed in the Illinois formulary for drug product selection (the Illinois Department of Health issues the formulary which lists approved, substitutable drugs), the patient must consent to having a generic substitution, and the generic must be less than the unit cost of the brand name.

However, patients should always ask the pharmacist to call their doctor for clarification if the dispensing instructions are unclear. Because brand name products may have more than one generic substitute, patients should also talk to their doctor about which generic will work best for his or her particular condition before going to the pharmacist.

Patients who buy generics are advised to stick to one pharmacy for all their re-fills. While each brand name drug may have several substitutable generics, most pharmacies stock only one or two. However, different pharmacies may stock different generics, depending on which wholesaler the pharmacy uses. And all generics are not necessarily "created equal."

When preparing generic substitutions, generic manufacturers use different particles, or "fillers," from those used by brand name manufacturers. Fillers make the tablet larger, change the drug's color or coat the tablet. Depending on the individual patient and the function of the drug, some fillers can cause a patient to have an adverse reaction, like breaking out in a rash. The added ingredients also can make it more difficult for the body to absorb the active drug ingredient, so the generic may get in the bloodstream more slowly or to a lesser extent than the brand name drug.

While generic drug manufacturers are not required to repeat all studies completed by the maker of the original drug to receive Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approval, the FDA does require generic drug manufacturers to "submit evidence that the generic is bioequivalent to the original," meaning "it will act in the body in the same manner and to the same degree as the original product," as stated in the FDA report on bioequivalence of generic drugs.

However, patients should be aware that the FDA allows a 20 percent, and in some cases up to a 30 percent, difference in a generic's bioequivalency from a brand name product. And in certain drugs, such as anti-convulsion drugs, anti-psychotic drugs, or drugs used to regulate the heartbeat, a difference in bioequivalency can be critical depending on the nature and seriousness of the illness. Older patients are particularly vulnerable and should use caution when requesting or using generic drugs because generics generally are tested and evaluated in healthy, young people.

Generics may be helpful in addressing rising health care costs. However, it is important that patients, both the elderly and younger individuals, communicate with their doctors about the safe and effective use of all drug products and whether to use a generic substitution for a particular condition.

Senior poetry group publishes works

Several years ago a poetry group was formed at Older Adult Services' Adult Day Health Services Center at 9375 Church St. in Des Plaines.

Clients at the center, undaunted by the fact that they have been out of school for nearly 70 years, began to write. With a lot of perseverance, encouragement and fun, poetry was created. This action resulted in the printing of a collection of prose and poetry that is titled "39...And Holding", written by participants of the center.

The weekly group is still going strong and those interested in poetry gather and compose poems relating to their life experiences.

Recently, the American Poetry Anthology Association honored

Parkside's Adult Day Health Services Center by selecting six poems from "39...And Holding" to be included in their upcoming book of poems.

The poetry group is just one of many activities available to clients of the Adult Day Health Services Center.

For further information about the Adult Day Health Services Center, please call Older Adult Services at (708) 696-7770.

Older Adult Services is a division of Parkside Senior Services, a member of Lutheran General Health-Care System.

High number of arthritis cases in Illinois

New statistics, which for the first time provide state-by-state prevalence figures, were released by the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) and show that 1,663,000 people in Illinois are affected by arthritis, reports the Arthritis Foundation's Illinois Chapter.

The recently completed analysis shows that fully 14.6 percent of the state's population report they have some form of arthritis. "The foundation notes that the high prevalence of arthritis among older persons combined with the aging of the population will mean that arthritis conditions and associated disabilities can be expected to increase in the future."

"These new statistics confirm how widespread the impact of arthritis is in Illinois and show the need for the Arthritis Foundation's continuing sponsorship of research, and patient services in our area," said Fred Dixon, Illinois Chapter executive director.

Particularly troublesome among the new statistics is that nationwide approximately six million people who think they have arthritis have not sought any medical treatment for the condition.

"This report confirms our suspicions that many people think they can treat arthritis themselves. While they put off seeing a doctor, irreversible joint damage may be taking place — joint damage that might have been prevented or delayed with proper care," Dixon said.

According to the Arthritis Foundation, the warning signs of arthritis include:

- Swelling in one or more joints
- Early morning stiffness
- Recurring pain or tenderness in any joint
- Inability to move a joint normally
- Obvious redness and warmth in a joint
- Unexplained weight loss, fever or weakness combined with joint pain.
- Symptoms such as these that last for more than two weeks

"There are things people can do to help their arthritis. The Arthritis Foundation has a variety of programs and services available and can provide a list of local arthritis specialists. If people who think they have arthritis will call us, we can provide them with the information they need," Dixon said. The phone number for the Arthritis Foundation, Illinois Chapter is (312) 782-1367 or 1-(800)-572-2397 (toll free outside the Chicago area).

The Arthritis Foundation is the source of help and hope for an estimated 37 million Americans who have arthritis. The foundation supports research to find the cures and preventions of arthritis diseases and seeks to improve the quality of life for those affected by arthritis.

Apples good food for diabetics

An apple a day keeps the diabetics - away? Well, it can help, according to the American Diabetes Association (ADA).

According to Marion J. Franz, Chairman, American Diabetes Association's Council on Nutritional Science and Metabolism, "We recommend apples as one part of an overall nutrition plan that can help people with diabetes. Apples can also help with weight control, which is important to diabetes management - and to everyone these days - by providing a large amount of food for relatively few calories."

In addition, apples are a healthy food choice because they are rich in fiber, have only naturally-occurring sugar, are naturally low in fat and sodium, and have lots of nutrients such as vitamin C - for around 80 calories each. And, as with all fruits, apples don't have any cholesterol.

A simple quiz that ADA developed can help alert people to diabetic symptoms, including excessive thirst and unexplained weight loss. People at high risk for diabetes include those over 40, black, Hispanic, and native American Indians.

People with diabetes need to have frequent snacks to control their blood sugar levels. Apples are perfect for these snacks. Apples also can help people with diabetes because they are rich in pectin, a water-soluble fiber that helps stabilize blood sugar levels by coating the intestinal lining.

For a free copy of the American Diabetes quiz write to: Diabetes Quiz 1990, American Diabetes Association; 1660 Duke Street; Alexandria, VA 22314.

YMCA offers seniors variety of activities

March is here and signs of spring activities are showing up at Leaning Tower Senior Adult Center, 6300 W. Touhy Ave., Niles.

The Senior Center, under the able direction of Lois Dickert, is open to men and women, 60 years and older and not just from the village of Niles. Seniors from the north side of Chicago and most of the north and northwest suburbs belong to Leaning Tower Senior Center.

The most popular activities, of course, are swimming and the senior exercise class. Seniors may swim from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., four days per week. The exercise class meets three days per week.

In addition there are three dancing groups, a bowling league, parties, trips and special events. There are bridge lessons, a duplicate bridge group, pinocle classes, and the center has its own Senior Chorus: The Tower-Tones, who meet every Wednesday morning at 10 a.m. There is an annual picnic, a monthly birthday party and a large Christmas party.

In addition to all these activities, there is an Outreach Program supervised by Rose Wahlburg, consisting of eight friendly visitors, who visit 200 elderly in Niles Township nursing homes and about 50 isolated shut-ins in their own homes. Community services such as free income tax assistance, blood pressure screening, health fairs, and information and referral are also offered regularly.

For information about joining, call the center at (708) 647-8222; ask for Lois Dickert, director.

New program aims to cut treatment costs

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois has announced a new program in the Chicago metropolitan area designed to reduce the cost of mental health and substance abuse treatment charges, according to Brad Buxton, vice president of the insurer.

Called "Extended Mental Health Benefits," it is patterned after a successful pilot program inaugurated in Rockford last year. Rather than reduce mental health and substance abuse benefits - the trend in insurance today

-- it provides unlimited outpatient care at freestanding centers and is designed to reduce or completely avoid unnecessary hospitalizations.

Blue Cross has contracted with American Biodyne, a nationally-recognized managed health care company, to set up a network in Illinois of licensed clinical psychologists and consulting psychiatrists to administer primary care for the program. Blue Cross members can receive paid-in-full treatment, without any copay-ments, deductibles or claim forms for as long as treatment is needed.

A full range of services are available including alcohol and drug abuse treatment, individual and group therapy, marital and family counseling, weight management, stress management, eating disorders treatment and smoking cessation counseling.

The Skokie Center is located at 5215 Old Orchard Rd., Suite 390, Skokie. For further information, call 938-6701.

Program trains hospice volunteers

Hospice Care/Chicagoland North will conduct a 20 hour training program for prospective hospice volunteers at Mallinckrodt College of the North Shore the weekends of April 21-22 and 28-29. Mallinckrodt College is located at 1041 Ridge Rd. in Wilmette.

Hospice volunteers share their time and caring with terminally ill patients and their families/caregivers. This "gift of time" allows a patient's caregivers the opportunity to go out of the house for a few hours, or the gift is given to a terminally ill patient in a hospital or nursing home.

Hospice Care/Chicagoland serves over 60 patients in their homes and nursing homes. We also operate in-patient hospice unit at Alexian Brothers Hospital, Holy Cross Hospital, Ravenswood Hospital, and have in-hospital beds at Rush North Shore Hospital, Edgewater, Gottlieb and others.

For further information regarding the training session, or to apply for this volunteer training session, contact Jack Dohr, Director of Community Education/Volunteer Services at (708) 679-9400.

Plan Ahead For A Comfortable Retirement

By Joanne Cwynar

Many consumers discover too late that private pensions and Social Security benefits do not provide the funds needed for a comfortable retirement. Today, and in the years to come, as much as half of an individual's retirement income will have to come from personal savings. Here are some tips for developing a sound plan to achieve financial independence when you retire.

Determine how much money you will need. Retirement income of 70 to 80 percent of your annual income before retirement should allow you to maintain the same standard of living you enjoyed while working, since you will no longer have many work-related expenses such as commuting and lunches out. However, the amount of money you will need for a secure retirement will depend upon a number of factors including lifestyle and current assets. For example, if you plan to travel extensively or pursue an expensive hobby after you've retired, you will probably need more income than if you anticipate a simpler retirement lifestyle. Also, based on average adult life expectancy in the U.S., experts advise having enough income to support yourself until you are at least 85 years old.

To estimate accurately your desired retirement income, you should take inflation into account. For example, using an annual inflation rate of five percent (a good rule of thumb for planning), what you can buy today for $30,000 will cost you $80,000 twenty years from now.

To help determine how much you will need, take stock of your current assets—your home, savings, Social Security and pension benefits—and estimate what their value will be when you retire. Your company's pension administrator can help you calculate how much you will receive in pension benefits, and your local Social Security office can provide an estimate of your monthly benefit when you retire. If you plan to sell your current home when you retire, consider how much of the anticipated profit will go toward retirement living expenses.

The difference between the income these assets will provide and the total amount you feel you will need for retirement is what you must accumulate through additional savings and investments. Set your annual savings target. After you've determined your financial objectives, establish a savings system to reach your goal. Calculate how much you must save each month, or from each paycheck, and set that money aside as soon as you receive it. Many companies offer salary reduction plans that automatically deduct money from each paycheck and place it in a retirement fund. If your employer offers such a plan, you might consider investing as much from each pay period as you can afford. Alternatively, you can contact your bank and set up a direct deposit savings plan so that a set amount of money is automatically deducted from your paychecks.

Examine your investment options. Once you've determined how large your nest egg should be, you can begin to create your own retirement investment "portfolio." Your options include safe investments, such as certificates of deposit and annuities; income producing investments, such as corporate and municipal bonds; growth investments, such as blue-chip stocks and real estate; and aggressive growth investments, such as stocks in growing companies, and even gold and silver coins.

Most financial planners recommend that you strike a balance between safe, lower-yield investments and riskier high-yield investments. However, your savings portfolio should be based on how comfortable you feel with the riskier investment options, as well as the number of years remaining before your retirement. For example, a 35-year-old investor with 30 or more years before retirement may be able to handle more risk than a 60-year-old investor. If you are in your 30s, you may want as much as 10 percent of your portfolio in aggressive growth investments. On the other hand, if you plan to retire within the next 10 years, you probably should avoid risky investments. For most people close to retirement, safe investments such as annuities and insured certificates of deposit are the best choices.

Develop your financial plan. To ensure that you consider all financial aspects of a retirement plan, you may want to meet with a reputable financial planner at your local savings institution to develop your strategy. A sound savings plan can help lay the foundation for a secure and comfortable retirement.

Nominations are based upon the student's achievements in academic and extra-curricular activities. Those chosen to receive this award are given a $200 scholarship donated by Coca-Cola.

James Hurley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hurley of Chicago. He was a half-back on the school's Finalist Football team and its leading rusher. Jim is active on the school's baseball team. He is also a member of Notre Dame's Historical Honors Society, Pi Sigma Pi.

Notre Dame would like to thank the Archdiocese of Chicago Food Service and the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Chicago for giving recognition to the achievements of the young people of the Chicagoland area.

South Africa lecture series at OCC

What are the events and countries that shaped the rich and long history of South Africa? Does the end of apartheid mean the release of Nelson Mandela mean the end of apartheid? What will a free South Africa mean to the economics and diplomacy of South Africa? These and other issues will be discussed in a six-part Culture's Connection to Foreign Relations lecture series at Oakton Community College East, 7701 N. Lincoln Ave., Skokie, beginning April 5.

The program opens with a look at Angola's Cultural Heritage on April 5 from 1 to 2:30 p.m. in room 112. Guest speaker Musfiky Mwanasali, a native of Zaire and Ph.D. candidate in African Politics at Northwestern University, will trace some of the most powerful African kingdoms and empires that once dominated the Angolan Territory. Angola's foreign relations will be discussed on April 12.

Namibia will be studied on April 19 and 26th, followed by South Africa on May 3 and 10. The cost is $10 for the series or $2 per lecture. For information, call 635-1414.

Motor club offers video on accident procedure

When a car crash with injuries occurs, the critical difference between life and death can be measured in minutes. The actions of the first person on the scene, usually another motorist, often can make those minutes count, according to the AAA-Chicago Motor Club.

The person who arrives first at the scene of a traffic accident can set in motion an effective rescue procedure, the Club says. It's crucial for all drivers to know what to do when the injury accident occurs.

In a new videotape, "First on the Scene," the AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety and the Temple University Hospital Trauma Center suggest a step-by-step procedure for those arriving first at the scene of a traffic accident involving injuries.

"Park no closer than 500 feet behind the accident scene.

"If there is a nearby telephone, a mobile telephone or citizens band radio, call the police immediately.

"If there is no telephone nearby, stop another motorist and ask him or her to make the phone call.

"Provide police with specific location of the accident.

"Place flares at least 500 feet in front of and behind the accident to warn other drivers.

"Enlist the aid of passing motorists to help control traffic until police arrive.

"Do not try to move accident victims from their vehicles.

"Make the injured as comfortable as possible.

"Don't be a hero. If there is any immediate danger from smoke, fire, hazardous materials or any other source, stay away from the crash area. Each year an extraordinary number of people are injured trying to give aid to those who were hurt in the initial accident.

"First on the Scene" is available free for viewing to government agencies, schools, and public service organizations. The video is also available for purchase ($30 for VHS, $40 for 3/4 inch U-matic). For more information, write to: Public Affairs Department, AAA-Chicago Motor Club, P.O. Box 5027, Des Plaines, IL 60017-5027.

so many people being familiar with his name.

Eugene Pincham spent the least amount of money on the campaign and will be relying heavily on the inner city black vote. Because he is black, many voters won't vote for him. And because he's black, many will.

The County Democrats are backing Lechowicz. But they're backing him at best at luke warm degrees.

Since Irishmen have long dominated Cook County politics, we have to assume more people like the Irish than other ethnic groups. Or putting it more succinctly, voters dislike the Irish less. There are voters who won't vote for a Jewish candidate. And there are voters who will vote for every Jewish candidate. Ethnic voting logic applies regarding positive and negative votes for Italians, Poles, Irish and black candidates.

The same voting patterns apply toward Spanish-American candidates. And inside that voting booth German and Scandinavian voters probably vote for their people, the same way other ethnics vote.

We're sure Greeks vote for Greeks. And Oriental voters stick the voting card with a pinhole for an Oriental.

It's a crazy Tuesday when we're all voting for our "own kind". Never mind the competence of the candidates. And never mind the many good things the candidates have done in the past.

As you turn the cards in the voting poll you come across the long list of judges. There isn't one voter in a hundred (thousand?) who knows about the bar associations publish their list of approved candidates and the metropolitan newspapers generally recommend judges based on the lawyer's groups recommendations. The more conscientious voter will take the newspaper into the poll and vote along the paper's recommendations.

When you walk from the voting poll you often feel pretty good about exercising your right to vote. It doesn't matter how you voted or why you voted as you did. You voted and you feel pretty good exercising your democratic right.

We've often pronounced how grateful we are at this freedom we have. And we have always felt sympathetic of others who have not had the right to vote for their choice. Now, with the new reforms in Eastern Europe, millions and millions of voters will have this similar right.

Do you think they, too, will vote for their ethnic choice?

Check pay stubs for accuracy

To protect their Social Security earnings records, workers are urged to check their Social Security number and name shown on their pay stubs to insure they are correct. Social Security officials reminded.

They should also check the Social Security number on their form W-2 they receive in January.

He suggested many voters don't like to declare their party affiliation, but urged Niles Township voters to find out who is running by picking up an official Republican sample ballot at local Republican headquarters, 9006 Waukegan Rd., Morton Grove.

Mayor Blase offered his view on the race involving State Representative Calvin Sutker in the Cook County Clerk contest: "A tough (race) but he should do well."

Regarding Ted Lechowicz running for President of the Cook County Board, Blase said "if the Democratic organization does its work, he can win, although the polls don't show he will."

Blase suggested the Republicans in Maine Township could have a higher response, perhaps 12,000, because of the Penny Pullen/Rosemary Mulligan challenge for the office of State Representative in the 55th district.

The state, which finished second in the bidding at $7 million, had been negotiating with Lexington since the property was sold at auction to Lexington. The state plans to use part of the building to house a district headquarters for the Illinois State Police. The remainder will be used by other state agencies.

The deal for the balance of the property is expected to be closed later this month. Lexington plans to construct an apartment complex on the 24-acre parcel of vacant land which lies east of the building.
