Niles zoners approve condominium development

by Nancy Keraminas

The Niles Planning Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals has given the nod to a 40-unit condominium development to be erected on former village property at 7201 N. Milwaukee

Ave. Attorney John Pekarsky, representing Pontarelli Builders referred to the 56,900 square foot parcel as "property with a checkered past" and requested a zoning change from B-1 to B-1 P.U.D. Special Use to enable the housing. The northeast corner lot has St. Benedict's Home as it's eastern

Mucci may challenge opponents to debate

by Sheilya Hackett

As the Illinois Supreme Court meets Aug. 9 (after press time) to consider issues in the Pullen/Mulligan Republican primary vote contest, Democratic candidate Robert Mucci is moving to put action into the stalled election campaign. Mucci, a Park Ridge resident, said Aug. 6 if it appears the court consideration will take too long.

Maine/Niles Township homeowners filing 1990 assessment appeals

Real estate taxes jump 20-50%

by Nancy Keraminas

Home owners will have to pay their increased property taxes by this Aug. 31 or face a penalty but there's still time to appeal next year's assessment in the hope of reducing real estate taxes. And more than one representative suggests taxpayers should show a greater interest when budget hearings are announced. Tax bills which came out last week showed increases of 30-50 percent and more in Maine Township. Taxpayers in Niles Township received 20-50% tax increases in the 20 percent range, according to a random phone survey. Maine Township Deputy Assessor Marie Berrigan told of a Park Ridge homeowner whose bill was $800 more than last year's and at least two Niles property owners have an additional $600 plus to pay for services. While most seemed resigned to the inevitability of the death of last year's lower taxes, some have complained to governing bodies and township assessors and have begun filing appeals. Callers to the Niles Village Hall were referred to the assessor's office in their respective township. The five callers to Morton Grove's Flickinger Center were told of a taxpayer meeting sponsored by an outside group. "I think people called to blow off steam," a spokesperson said. Other local governing bodies report that taxpayers have been fairly quiet about the recent bills and, in at least one case, a homeowner expressed his gratitude. Morton Grove Park District Administrative Director Gary Balling received the unusual comment last week from a senior citizen: "I just want to say thank you, Mr. Balling for being so conservative with the taxes," the man reportedly told Balling, after showing the director his tax bill. Niles Park District director Tom Lippert said no calls or letters have been sent to the administration building but allowed some complaints may have been directed to park board members. Niles Twp. District 219's

Are the local gas dealers responsible for our being gouged at the gas pumps? Not according to the dealers. They contend they get their orders from the gas companies. When the price goes up the dealer is informed by the company how much the price should be.

Gouging is all a part of the great free enterprise system. Back in the sixties we were snowed in by a huge storm which closed down the Niles-Morton Grove area for two or three days. In order to get milk for the kids we remember fjording the snow drifts as we wended our way down to Dempster Street. The milk truck, which then delivered milk directly to your home, was parked several blocks east of Milwaukee Avenue. When we bought milk it was three times the normal charge. It was a wonderful lesson in supply and demand economics. In more recent years, similar economic lessons have been taught to all of us by doctors and lawyers, whose gouging is a normal part of their practice.

We were conducting sight seeing tours for out-of-town family members last week. We did the usual Chicago tours wandering down north Michigan Avenue, touring the museums, zooming up to the top of the Sears building, taking in a Cubs game and stopping at the Regency Hyatt Ho

Candidates propose suburban gang crime unit

Democratic state representative nominee Jeff Schoenberg (56th) and Democratic candidate for county sheriff, 19th Ward Alderman Mike Sheahan recently proposed a plan for a suburban gang crime unit at the Cook County Building in Chicago. In the past four years, County Sheriff Jim O'Grady has proposed a similar gang crime unit, but it has never come to fruition. O'Grady's excuse for failing to create such a task force is insufficient funds and personnel within the existing budget. However, Schoenberg and Sheahan say there are numerous in-house positions which should and can be converted into the proposed gang crime unit. Sheahan said he has identified sufficient budget slots to form a 32-man Gang/Drug Trafficking Unit, complete with experienced supervisors that could go a long way toward boosting gang suppression in the suburbs with no additional taxpayer funds. Posts and the number of people which Sheahan said could be taken from them to man the gang unit include: body guard detail, 3.

St. Andrew Home in Niles prepares for its 39th year

by Nancy Keraminas

When it opened in 1952, a social worker referred to St. Andrew Home as "the Taj Mahal of Nursing Homes." Now approaching middle age, the state-licensed Niles senior residence is undergoing an extensive facelift. Not that there's any shortage of people wanting to live at St. Andrew. A three-month waiting list is at a standstill while workmen remodel. Each resident will have a private ceramic tile bath with shower as well as individual air conditioners to regulate room temperature. The capacity will be around 200 when the construction is completed sometime next spring. Imagine living in a huge mansion surrounded by acres of trees, where there's no need to cook and chauffeured transportation comes to the front door. St. Andrew residents, who lease and furnish their rooms, dine on three carefully-prepared meals a day and have the luxury of living at one of the stops along Niles' free bus route. Most rooms have a beautiful view of the carefully-landscaped grounds at 7000 Newark Ave.

The late Monsignor Francis Rusch, the head of St. Hedwig Orphanage at Touhy and Milwaukee Avenues, expressed his dream of building a home for the elderly in 1939. Six years later, the St. Andrew Home for the Aging non-profit corporation was formed, with a Polish Jesuit designated as the namesake of the proposed diocesan institution.

St. Andrew Home was built with funds raised primarily from Polish parishioners, who held raffles, concerts, bazaars, bingo and special collections. Staffed by Felician Sisters, the building was dedicated Memorial Day, 1952.

room. Mrs. Constance Banks (right) is shown in her newly renovated quarters. Banks said she is very happy with the improvements.

since 1984 is Sister M. Rosalita, C.S.S.F. By day, most of the St. Andrew men and women are enjoying the independent lifestyle that characterizes St. Andrew - shopping, going on excursions or whatever else they feel like doing. If they want to stay close to home, there's arts and crafts activities, sun parlors or an ice cream shop in the building. A beautiful chapel hosts both Roman Catholic masses as well as other denominational religious services.

If a resident later requires intermediate or sheltered care, he or she can move to a wing where these services are provided. An infirmary is also on the premises. Small wonder residents refer to St. Andrew as "our house."

Discard fruit with regular garbage in MG

Discarded fruit, such as apples and plums which fall from residents' trees, are to be included with "regular" garbage, not with other yard waste.

According to the landfill operator who processes the material into compost, these items are not part of the state law definition of yard waste. The discarded fruit also tends to gum-up the machinery used in the composting process. Therefore, residents are asked to keep these materials out of the yard waste bags. If you have your own compost bin, these items can be included and, if properly maintained, will breakdown with the other organic material.

Neighbors sound off on loud road sign

by Nancy Keraminas

Light may travel at a faster rate than sound but road construction work moves to its own drummer. At least that's what some residents of the 7900 block of Harlem Avenue found out when they complained about the sound of a mechanically-generated, lighted arrow on that turn-up roadway.

On Aug. 1, at the beginning of a week of sleepless nights, two neighbors sounded off to Niles police about the noisy, flashing arrow board directing traffic to the inside northbound lane of Harlem Avenue. Police contacted the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) and two contractors, Monarch Construction and Barricade Lighting, but also encountered bureaucratic detours.

"At night I can't even sleep," complained a woman resident. Continued on Page 38

Niles tallying results of village survey

Niles employees are busily tallying the results of a village survey sent out in late June and returned July 31.

Approximately 1,600 respondents completed the 12 item mini-census sent to 12,000 residences, according to Finance Director Gary Karshna. Karshna said the findings, which will be announced in the Oct. 15 Progress Report newsletter, will be available to school and park planners and other community groups.

Correction
A story on the District 70 school board which appeared in The Bugle on Aug. 2 contained an error. School board members voted 3-2 to appoint Jim Meyer to fill the vacated board seat rather than 4-2 as was printed.

Niles, Park Ridge and Des Plaines are among the over 50 suburbs which may be financially reimbursed for inflated water charges they paid over an eight-year period.

In a quest initiated over 13 years ago by Niles Mayor Nicholas Blase, the suburbs joined together to legally protest water rates charged by the City of Chicago from 1973 to 1981, rates they maintained included charges for Chicago sewers. Chicago used the monies for maintenance and construction of sewers.

In the latest action in the lengthy case, an Appellate Court decision delivered by Justice David Linn July 26 ruled the Chicago water rates charged were reasonable, but it overturned a lower court ruling in regard to the sewer charges. The case was sent back to the trial court to determine the rate of reimbursement.

The suburbs have 30 days to appeal the decision to the Illinois Supreme Court and that court would decide whether it would hear the case. If it is accepted for hearing, Chicago could file a cross appeal. Andrea Swearingen, a spokesperson for the court, suggested it could be "a pretty long process - from two to six months -" before any results could be known.

Skokie responds to waste center complaints

After barely seven weeks at its downtown location, Skokie's new re-cycling center will move to Public Works department property at 5015 Davis St., by Sept. 1. The move from the village parking lot, across from the Village Hall, was precipitated, in part, by complaints from residents who live near the current site, in the 8000 block of N. Floral Avenue.

The residents grumbled the center's noise and odors were not only disagreeable, but they lowered property values. They said the center detracted from the historic log cabin located directly north and east of it. A Skokie landmark, the log cabin was built in 1889 and housed the village's first fire department.

On weekends, a village garbage truck parked nearby at the center to accept yard waste, and Roger Remillard, a neighbor on N. Floral Avenue, claimed water draining onto the asphalt from the truck's yard waste compacting formed a health hazard.

Remillard gathered signatures for a petition and warned he would take legal action unless the center was moved. Although the Skokie Historical Society was not concerned, Skokie officials took residents' complaints seriously and will begin circulating notices of the center's upcoming move.

Assistant Village Manager Mike Van Milligan said Aug. 6 the relocation to Public Works land is actually easier for the village, since the site is already staffed on weekends. He notes it is also easier for residents since Continued on Page 38

New method of cataract surgery

Traditional cataract surgery can mean a large incision, six or seven or even eight stitches, combined with a month or more of recuperation.

A new method of cataract treatment has been developed which requires a smaller incision and only one stitch is needed to close. The smaller incision logically means there is less healing time required. A quick recovery means the patient can return to their normal lifestyle almost immediately after surgery.

If you are contemplating cataract surgery or are interested in finding out more about this new method of Single Stitch Surgery, contact Dr. John Bello at (312) 775-9755. Dr. Bello has offices in the Resurrection Professional Building, 7447 W. Talcott, Suite 503, Chicago, IL 60631.

C.A.R.E. wipes out dirty dogs

Community Animal Rescue Effort, the volunteer group for the Evanston Animal Shelter, will help wipe out dirty dogs in the Evanston/North Shore/Chicago area on Saturday, Aug. 11, when the group holds its third annual "Dog Wash" on the front lawn of the shelter, located at 2310 Oakton (1/2-block east of McCormick) in Evanston.

Running throughout the day from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., the 1990 C.A.R.E. Dog Wash will provide regular shampoos or flea baths for pampered pooches of all ages, genders, and pedigrees (or lack thereof). Baths will be given by C.A.R.E. volunteers and friends of C.A.R.E. (the latter including Evanston Police Chief Ernest Jacobi, who last year came to wash a dog or two and ended up spending six hours up to his elbows in dog suds).

After a vigorous shampoo and rinse, each dog will be towel-dried (donations of used towels will be welcomed) and brushed by C.A.R.E. staff before being returned to their lucky (and dry) owners. Donations for each dog washed is $5, with all proceeds going for the medical care and feeding of the abused and abandoned animals brought to the Evanston Animal Shelter from the Evanston-Skokie-Lincolnwood area.

Refreshments will be served throughout the day and the public will also be invited inside the Shelter to view the many dogs and cats up for adoption by C.A.R.E. Adoptions will be permitted throughout the day.

Anyone wishing more information on the 1990 C.A.R.E. Dog Wash or adoption of animals from the Evanston Animal Shelter should call the 24-hour C.A.R.E. HOTLINE: (708) 614-2138 or stop by the shelter during regular adoption hours when C.A.R.E. volunteers are present (Monday thru Thursday evenings, Saturday and Sunday noon to 5 p.m.).

Waste disposal seizure

Commissioner Gloria Alitto Majewski (r), is standing by the truck that was seized for alleged illegal dumping into a waterway in Cook County. The truck was seized under the 1986 Illinois law, which Majewski proposed at the District in 1985 and lobbied for successfully in Springfield in 1986. The law allows the seizure of mobile equipment used in illegal disposal of waste in sewers or waterways, just as the vehicles of dope peddlers or cigarette smugglers may be seized.

Commissioner Majewski has asked the public if they observe a tanker truck dumping something into a sewer or waterway to call our 24 Hour Hot Line--1-800-332 DUMP. If samples taken from a truck turn out to be a hazardous substance, substantial fines and a prison sentence could be the result upon conviction.

Letters to the Editor

Hanrahan cuts through complexities associated with tax bill increases

To the Editor:
Increased spending by taxing bodies is the primary reason why tax bills go up. This statement is very easy to verify.

Look at your most recent real estate tax bill and check the spending by each taxing body for 1988 and 1989 as pro-rated on your bill. Let us say that you paid $100 for Park District X in 1988 and $200 for Park District X in 1989. That is a $100 increase in spending and a 100 percent increase for that service to your property. Please note that the tax rate may even have been reduced, while this increase in spending occurred.

Another important fact to note is that the value or assessment of your real estate parcel may have increased by a large amount. Most people seem to think that this is the reason for an automatic extra bill increase. The truth is that increased assessed value allows more money to be available if it is needed to be spent; however, only spending not availability makes real estate taxes go up.

If you note that there was an usually large increase in spending by one or more taxing bodies which service your property, what can you do? You can attend some future board meeting or contact the business manager's office and ask about the reason for the large increase in spending. There may be a real good reason for the increase, a reason you may feel comfortable with, a reason which helps add value to your real estate and quality to your life style. On the other hand, you may not feel comfortable with the spending and want to give your input.

Remember, there are ways that you can give input and help direct and control much of the spending. It does take time, effort and involvement. Abe Lincoln was credited with having said "A government by the people and for the people" - that suggests that we should try to know what is going on and be involved in helping things get better if there is something wrong.

Robert P. Hanrahan, C.I.A.O.
Assessor - Niles Township

Taxpayers of Maine Township, be aware that $200,000 of tax monies may be voted into Maine Township Government 1990-91 Budget on Monday, Aug. 13 at Maine Township Hall, 1700 Ballard Rd., Park Ridge.

On Monday, Aug. 13 at 7 p.m. a public hearing will be held. The subject of this hearing is $200,000 of tax monies - shall that amount be added to the 1990-91 Township budget may be to be used as start-up funds for an addition to Maine Township Hall. The addition and increased parking lot will cost, conservatively speaking, one-half of one million dollars.

At the April 17 Town Meeting Budget Hearing of Maine Township Government, residents heard the 1990-91 budget. This budget was $1,910,015, a 6.4% increase over the 1989-90 budget. The proposed amended budget is $2,110,015 of a 17.3% increase over 1989-90 budget.

Taxpayers of Maine Township! Please come out on Monday, Aug. 13 at 7 p.m. to make your voices heard, your wishes known. Don't believe that old-fashioned saying, "you can't fight City Hall". On Aug. 13, you can "fight City Hall" by coming to the Public Hearing.

Maine Township Government should take the lead in saving taxpayer dollars. - Maine Township Government should take the lead in decreasing flooding problems, and not adding additional building and parking lot area. Maine Township Government ever so desperately needs to hear your voices so that this Government will better know how to effect tax savings and protect the environment in Maine Township.

Sincerely,
Bonnie B. Lindquist

A job well done by SJB Scout Pack 175

More than twenty scouts and leaders worked together on the evenings of July 2 and 3 to put together a prize-winning float for the Niles 4th of July parade. The first place trophy winner consisted of an 8-foot by 16-foot trailer bed on which they erected a tent, an 8-foot tree, grass, and shrubbery. Several scouts rode on the float with their leader, Andy Beierwaltes and cooked over 200 hot dogs on their grill which they distributed to the crowds watching the parade.

Skokie synagogue plans blood drive

On Sunday, Aug. 12, Skokie Valley Traditional Synagogue will host a community blood drive. The drive will be held at the synagogue, 8825 N. East Prairie Rd., Skokie, from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. Blood drive coordinator Phillip Magid asks eligible donors to stop in and donate.

Kraft General Foods will give a coupon entitling the bearer to $5.00 off any variety of Miracle Whip® Mayonnaise to anyone who attempts to donate blood during the months of July and August. During the summer, the blood supply can drop to near-critical levels because many regular donors have busier schedules and blood collections decrease.

LifeSource also offers free cholesterol screening for anyone who donates blood. To be eligible to donate blood, LifeSource reports, an individual must be in good health, weigh at least 110 pounds and be at least 17 years of age.

Women opting for self-employment

"If you are a woman looking for employment or thinking about a career change, you ought to be looking at one of the top job opportunities available to women today...starting your own business!"

So says Mary Ann Jirak, managing director of CareerWoman, Inc., an Oak Brook-based organization dedicated to helping women develop their careers. "Women are starting new businesses in incredible numbers. By the year 2000, we'll see over 500,000 new businesses started annually; more than half will be started by women."

There are many reasons women are leaving more traditional career paths and opting for self-employment. Job security, once a major consideration when choosing to work for a large employer, is no longer a reality in the corporate culture. Women are also finding a great deal of satisfaction in creating their own work environment, taking control of their own hours, and bypassing the "glass ceiling" that still exists for many women in more traditional, male-oriented businesses.

Changes in attitude, economy and consumer market are all creating an expanse of opportunity for women interested in pursuing their own business.

CareerWoman, which has up to now focused its programs on the support of women's career development through employment, is now bringing a Start Your Own Business workshop to its market. "This program has been taught to thousands of participants throughout the Midwest with tremendous responses," says Jirak, "It follows an 8-step formula for success, with a special focus on issues of importance to women entrepreneurs. It's a great way for an interested woman to learn what it really takes to start and grow a successful business. It's also a great way to determine whether or not you're ready for that big step."

Anyone interested in attending either the July 21 or July 25 workshops, "How To Really Start And Grow Your Own Business," may contact CareerWoman at (708) 449-4025.

Hartigan files suit in telemarketing scam

Illinois Attorney General Neil Hartigan has filed a consumer fraud lawsuit against two men and their companies—including one which formerly operated in Champaign—which Hartigan says were involved in an intricate telemarketing scam that solicited customers nationwide.

The case centers on mailed notices to consumers indicating they had won a prize and containing a phone number for the consumers to call. Upon calling, consumers were told they had to purchase a set of encyclopedias to claim their prize, but the encyclopedias—costing $478—came with a 30-day money-back guarantee.

Named in the suit are Earl McKinney of Champaign, and his company, Tri-State Investments, Inc., which formerly operated in Champaign but has since closed down; and William M. Greer, owner and operator of U.S. Marketing in Benton, Arkansas.

An investigation by Hartigan's Office revealed that the two companies worked together to solicit customers and process credit card sales. However, consumers contacting either company regarding refunds were routinely told that credit was being sent in the mail, or would otherwise be taken care of, when such was not the case.

Hartigan's Office has received nearly a dozen complaints about the encyclopedias from consumers in Illinois and eight other states, including California, Florida, Pennsylvania and Maine.

The purpose of the course is to help applicants pass the Illinois Drivers License renewal examination. It updates drivers on the current rules of the road, explains the vision and the driving ability examinations, and prepares applicants for the general written and road sign examination.

The Rules of the Road Review Course will be held at Niles Senior Center, 8060 Oakton St., Niles on Aug. 13 from 10 a.m. to noon.

The course is free to everyone, any age, who wishes to attend. For more information, please contact 967-6100 or 1 (800) 252-2904 toll-free.

LEAP program helps low test scorers

Now in its seventh year, Loyola's LEAP (Learning Enrichment for Academic Progress) program is an effective admission route for motivated high school seniors with a history of academic achievement but poor standardized test results.

The program begins with a four-week summer enrichment program and an introduction to the university the summer before freshman year. Then, LEAP provides academic support with group seminars and individual assistance throughout the rest of the year's Loyola career.

The four-week summer program focuses on a morning class entitled, "Understand Social Behavior." The three-hour credit course is team taught by tenured Loyola faculty members from various academic disciplines.

Social Service Fund applications available

Maine Township Supervisor Joan B. Hall has announced that applications for township funding in 1991 are available to non-profit social service agencies.

Any non-profit agency that serves Maine township residents may apply for funding. Applications must be completed and returned by Aug. 31 in order for agencies to be considered for 1991 social service funds.

In 1990 Maine township allocated $408,000 to 21 agencies that serve Maine Township residents.

Hall said, "The Maine Township Board is committed to helping residents who need the special services provided by non-profit agencies. In the past, funds to assist these agencies were provided through the Federal Revenue Sharing program. Since the termination of revenue sharing, the township has made every effort to try to maintain these services and carefully weighs each request before allocating public funds to an agency.

The board will consider staff recommendations and schedule meetings to review the applications before voting on the allocations this fall.

Applications may be obtained from Meryl Rivenson, director of administration, or Marlene Laws, agency coordinator, at the Maine Township Town Hall, 1700 Ballard Rd., Park Ridge. For further information, call 297-2510.

Engine overheating becomes problem in summer

By Secretary of State Jim Edgar
If your car's engine overheats in the extreme heat this summer, or if your power steering or brakes fail, follow the proper safety rules and avoid an accident.

An engine has begun to overheat when the "hot" indicator light appears on the dashboard. Pull to the side of the road, open the windows, and turn off all accessories. You can draw some heat away from the engine block by turning the heater on full blast. If the "hot" indicator persists, turn off the engine, open the hood, and wait at least an hour for the engine to cool. Then add warm water if possible, and drive to the nearest station for repairs.

If your vehicle's power steering fails, you can still steer the car. However, it will be difficult to maneuver the car, and you may need a passenger's help to reach the side of the road. Steering loss is usually caused by a broken fan belt. If this occurs, a nylon stocking can substitute for the belt and provide temporary power.

Some cars contain a back up brake system with brakes on the front and rear wheels. If one fails, the other may still work if you exert greater force on the brake pedal. If the braking system fails, pump the brakes and apply the parking brake.

Remember, it is vital that you not panic. Stay calm and use these tips to help prevent a mechanical breakdown from becoming a major catastrophe.

'Peds in the Weeds' picnic set for Aug. 12

Lutheran General Children's Medical Center (L.G.C.M.C.), 1775 Dempster St., Park Ridge, invites all of its pediatric and adolescent cancer patients and their families to the ninth annual "Peds in the Weeds" picnic starting at 1 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 12, at Big Bend Lake in Des Plaines.

"Peds in the Weeds" has become one of those events that the young people look forward to," explains Margaret Palkoner, R.N., Adolescent Unit. "It gives them a chance to have a lot of fun outside the hospital setting and to see their health-care providers as people, too."

A main attraction for the event is the dunk tank with the staff of L.G.C.M.C. as the primary victims. "The children love to see the pediatric staff get soaked in the giant dunk tank," add Miss. Pal-koner.

A number of donations were received for this year's "Peds in the Weeds." These include gifts from Ben and Jerry's Ice Cream of Vernon Hills; Discovery Toys; J. Gorman Construction; Knock Knock, Who's There; Lutheran General Foundation; Lutheran General Nutritional Services; Lutheran General Service League; Maine Niles Special Recreation; McDonalds; Frank Roemish, M.D.; Starlight Foundation; Steiner Electric; Sunshine & Oddo; Tri-R Vending; and Willy Wonka Brands. Volunteers working that day will be from the hospital's Adolescent Nursing and the Child Life Departments.

For more information about "Peds in the Weeds," contact Margaret Palkoner at (708) 696-6487.

Researchers look at drug to treat arthritis

A medication commonly prescribed for patients with inflammatory bowel disease may prove effective in treating several debilitating arthritis-related disorders, according to researchers at Loyola University Medical Center and Hines Veterans Administration Hospital.

Approximately 100 participants are sought for the joint Loyola-Hines study, only one of 10 such projects being conducted in the nation with support from the U.S. Department of Veterans Administration, said rheumatologist Elaine Adams, M.D. Loyola-Hines is the only center in Chicago and Illinois participating in the study.

Preliminary reports indicate that patients suffering from ankylosing spondylitis, Reiter's syndrome or psoriatic arthritis have experienced significant improvement by taking sulfasalazine, a drug containing a combination of aspirin-like and anti-inflammatory agents. All three painful disorders primarily affect individuals between 20 and 50 years of age; men are most at risk of developing the conditions.

Ankylosing spondylitis results in inflammation of the vertebrae of the spine, and Reiter's syndrome leads to inflammation of the urinary tract and eyes and to arthritis. Psoriatic arthritis is an arthritis associated with psoriasis.

Patients diagnosed as having one of these conditions are eligible to volunteer for the study, provided that they are not allergic to sulfa, an antibiotic agent; are not pregnant; and suffer from no major illnesses like cancer and heart and kidney diseases.

Participants will receive free physical examinations and laboratory tests.

Additional information is available by calling the project coordinator Denise Ashley, R.N., at (708) 343-7200, extension 5632.

LifeCenter on Green gets new president

Donald R. Timm, Ph.D., executive director of LifeCenter on the Green, has been appointed president of the new fitness and wellness facility affiliated with Swedish Covenant Hospital. The announcement was made by the newly appointed chairman of the Board of the LifeCenter, James B. McCormick, M.D.

Timm joined the LifeCenter after serving as president of market health and consulting in wellness and cardiac rehab for five hospitals in northern Wisconsin. Dr. McCormick, then president of Swedish Covenant hospital met Timm in 1967 while working out at the Leaning Tower YMCA. Since 1985 Timm and McCormick have worked together on the LifeCenter project.

In July, when Dr. McCormick's term as president of Swedish Covenant hospital was completed, he was asked to continue his involvement with the LifeCenter by chairing its Board of Governors.

When completed in the summer of 1991, the two-story 34,000 square-foot LifeCenter galler building will house extensive fitness and wellness facilities. This center will be the first of its kind in the community to offer medically-supervised fitness and wellness programs.

Fundraiser benefits rare bone disease

The Earl J. Goldberg Aplastic Anemia Foundation will host a fundraiser on Sunday, Aug. 12 at Arlington International Racecourse to benefit an aplastic anemia patient's bone marrow transplant.

Titled "Sunday Afternoon at the Races," the event will begin with a buffet lunch at 11:30 a.m. Post time is scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

Aplastic Anemia is a rare disease that results from the unexplained failure of the bone marrow to produce blood cells. It strikes approximately 2,000 people in the United States each year, almost one-third of whom are under 25 years of age. Currently, Aplastic Anemia can only be successfully treated through bone marrow transplantation.

Founded in memory of a child who died of Aplastic Anemia at The Children's Memorial Medical Center, the Earl J. Goldberg Aplastic Anemia Foundation was formed specifically to raise funds to cover the costs of treatment for Aplastic Anemia patients and for support of Aplastic Anemia re-

MSG may cause adverse effects in body

You've just finished a fantastic dinner at your favorite Chinese restaurant and you're headed for the movie theater. You begin to feel light-headed, and by the time you reach the theater your head is pounding.

The symptoms you're experiencing may be what is commonly known as "Chinese restaurant syndrome," an adverse reaction to monosodium glutamate, a common ingredient in Oriental cooking.

Monosodium glutamate, or MSG, is a food additive that enhances flavor and acts as a preservative, says Dr. Linda Sneltselaar, assistant professor in preventive medicine and an assistant research scientist in the department of internal medicine at the University of Iowa College of Medicine. "People who like the taste of salt also tend to like the taste of MSG. As a culture, we've become accustomed to the taste of sodium in our food," Sneltselaar says.

Like salt, MSG comes in crystal form. MSG may seem like a good alternative seasoning for someone who is sodium conscious as a teaspoon of MSG has about 500 mg of sodium, while a teaspoon of salt contains about 2,300 mg. But Sneltselaar points out that many Chinese dishes already contain high amounts of sodium even before MSG is added.

If you know you're sensitive to MSG, you can usually ask for your food to be prepared without it. Many restaurants have signs stating this option.

Processed or commercial convenience foods may contain MSG as a preservative or flavor enhancer. Many frozen entrees, snack foods and dried foods that require rehydration contain MSG.

If you've experienced an adverse reaction to MSG in the past, the best thing to do is avoid it, she says. Most package labels list MSG by name, or as hydrolyzed vegetable protein.

Free allergy screening at Swedish Covenant

A free allergy screening for children and adults will be held from 9 a.m. to noon on Tuesdays, Aug. 14 and 21 in Swedish Covenant Hospital's Anderson Pavilion, 2751 W. Winona.

The screening will be conducted by Dr. Daniel Yamshon, a pediatrician/allergy specialist on the hospital's medical staff. Allergies including asthma, "hay fever," rashes, exzema and allergic rhinitis will be identifiable through the screening.

Appointments for the free screening are necessary and may be made by calling 878-8200, ext. 5107.

Pain relievers for aches and pains

Aspirin is a good remedy for aches and pains, but two other pain relievers—acetaminophen and ibuprofen—may sometimes be better choices.

"All three pain relievers are available without a prescription, but each one works differently and may have side effects," says Mary Teresi, assistant professor of clinical/hospital pharmacy at the University of Iowa College of Pharmacy.

Aspirin can alleviate headaches, fever, arthritis or aching muscles. It also relieves bursitis—inflammation due to injury or infection that causes pain in the joints; sciatica, which is pain in the large nerve that runs down the back and outer side of the leg, thigh and foot; and dental and menstrual pain.

Some brands of aspirin have small amounts of antacid as a buffering agent to reduce stomach upset. Others have a coating to keep the tablet from dissolving until it gets to the small intestine to prevent stomach irritation and those with caffeine to act as a stimulant, Teresi says.

Aspirin's side effects can include stomach pain, heartburn, gastrointestinal bleeding, nausea and vomiting. Children with the chicken pox or flu symptoms shouldn't take aspirin because they might develop Reye's syndrome, a viral illness that may be life-threatening, she adds. Women should probably avoid aspirin during the last three months of pregnancy because it can prolong or delay labor and cause bleeding problems. Elderly people who need to take large amounts of aspirin may experience mild hearing loss or ringing in the ears. Pain relievers containing acetaminophen may be better for these individuals because they don't cause these side effects.

Acetaminophen helps reduce fever, aches and pains without stomach upset or other side effects associated with aspirin, but it's not an anti-inflammatory drug and won't relieve the arthritis symptoms. It is useful for people who have ulcers or bleeding disorders or those who take blood thinners because it doesn't affect the blood's ability to clot, Teresi says.

Medicines that include ibuprofen help relieve aches and pains and have anti-inflammatory effects so they're a good alternative to aspirin for arthritis patients. Although many people tolerate ibuprofen products better than aspirin, higher doses can irritate the stomach.

If you're taking any pain reliever and you experience ringing in your ears, skin rashes, drowsiness, headaches, anemia or other symptoms, stop taking the medication and contact your physician or pharmacist.

New surgical procedure for appendicitis

A new procedure being used at Lutheran General Hospital (L.G.H.), 1775 Dempster St., Park Ridge, to remove the appendix decreases hospital time and could potentially reduce the time needed to return to normal activity.

Using a laparoscope for sight and a laser or endo coagulator to generate intense heat, surgeons can remove the appendix without opening the abdomen. Instruments are inserted into the abdomen through small incisions.

One of these instruments is a laparoscope which, through the use of a telescopic camera, allows the surgeon to view the interior of the abdomen. The surgeon works from a television monitor to diagnose the cause of the abdominal pain and to perform surgery. The technique is the same as that currently being used at the hospital to remove gall bladders.

"It is difficult to know definitively whether or not we are one of the first to use this procedure to treat appendicitis," explains Peter Geis, M.D., director, Education, Department of Surgery. "However, the company that makes the equipment tells us that they know of no other institution in Illinois using the laparoscope to remove the appendix for acute appendicitis."

Patients who have had the surgery have had their hospital stay reduced to 36 hours. This comparison to a stay of 48 to 72 hours using conventional methods. In addition, a diagnosis can be made quickly which is especially important for patients whose symptoms may not be the conventional symptoms associated with appendicitis.

Classic symptoms usually last from eight to 24 hours. Pain begins in the area of the navel and is accompanied by nausea and fe-

New procedure treats stress incontinence in women

Drs. Israel Berger and Randall Randazzo, board certified urologists with North Suburban Clinic, are currently performing a simplified new procedure for the treatment of stress incontinence in women.

The loss of bladder control, or incontinence, is a sensitive subject for the general public. Because of this, there is very little information available to inform an estimated 10-12 million Americans that they are not alone, and that their problem is treatable.

People who suffer from incon-tinence often live with constant fear and anxiety, and even change their lifestyles to avoid potentially embarrassing situations and keep their secret hidden. Contrary to the stereotype, it is not just a problem of the elderly. It affects adults of all ages, and is especially common in women due to childbearing and the aging process.

The new "No-Incision Bladder Suspension" procedure requires no incision (thus leaves no scar), involves little pain, and requires a minimal hospital stay. Previous procedures usually required extensive abdominal surgery and lengthy hospital stays and recovery times. The simplicity of this procedure makes the treatment of incontinence a much more viable option for the many women who are suffering silently.

Drs. Berger and Randazzo, two of only a few physicians in the Chicago area who are trained in this procedure, are performing the procedure at several area hospitals, including St. Francis in Evanston, Rush North Shore in Skokie, Highland Park Hospital, and Alexian Brothers in Elk Grove Village, and Humana in Hoffman Estates.

They have an excellent success rate, and best of all, the patients are thrilled to be able to rapidly return to their normal lifestyles.

Women interested in the procedure can schedule an evaluation with either physician by calling North Suburban Clinic in Skokie at 674-9830 or Vernon Hills at 680-7900 or Hoffman Estates 885-7402.

For many children, athletics are a big part of growing up. At early ages, young Babe Ruths try out for the Little League team while hopeful parents sign up their budding Mary Lou Rettons for gymnastics.

No surprise, then, that in our sport-conscious society, children often participate in athletic activities for which they are neither physically nor mentally prepared.

"The primary goal of sports in childhood is play," says John Sarwark, M.D., attending pediatric orthopedic surgeon at The Children's Memorial Medical Center in Chicago. "Parents must help their children select sports that they will enjoy, not those that may hamper them physically or psychologically."

Dr. Sarwark, who has two

GI specialists perform rare procedure

On July 24, Drs. Michael Goldberg and Michael Ruchim performed an endoscopic cholecystectomy - using an endoscope to enter the bile duct and remove a gall stone without having to make a surgical incision.

Aline Drummond, the 64-year-old patient on which the procedure was performed, came to Drs. Goldberg and Ruchim after undergoing treatment at other area hospitals. Other attempts to remove the stone, which was left behind after gall bladder surgery, were unsuccessful.

The Weiss physicians used a baby endoscope to enter the bile duct through the T-tube tract where they lassoed the stone and removed it from the bile duct.

"Although similar procedures like this have been done before, this was different because we used the baby endoscope to view the bile duct as we were going in," said Dr. Ruchim, Chairman, Gastroenterology Section at Weiss. "This is another way to non-surgically remove a gall stone that has been left in the bile duct."

Aline Drummond was released from the hospital the day after her surgery. "I feel wonderful," said Aline. "I have no temperature, no pain, and no after effects. Although the procedure may not be right for everyone, it worked for me."

The entire procedure took less than 30 minutes and recovery time is usually a day or two, although some patients do not require an overnight stay in the hospital.

school-age children of his own, is experienced in sport-related injuries in children. He speaks regularly to parents, coaches, athletic trainers, and community organizations on the benefits of athletics for children. He says that no matter the child's physical or psychological development, there is an appropriate athletic activity for that child.

Dr. Sarwark reminds coaches and parents alike that age alone does not necessarily determine the appropriate sport or activity level for a particular child. Children's rates or maturation can vary by up to two years. Body weight, height, and skeletal and muscular development all should be assessed in determining a child's level of competition.

He cites the case of the large, overweight boy who tries out for the freshman football team at summer practice. The coach may be tempted to put him on the offensive of defensive lines because of the boy's size. "That's potentially the worst position for him," Sarwark says.

"His high body fat makes him susceptible to heat stroke. He'd be far better off being held out of competition and placed on an extensive conditioning program of diet and exercise and return the next year as a starter," he said.

Even if a child is well matched to his or her activity level, other factors can limit enjoyment of the activity. The problem of the over-zealous parent is all too common in competitive sports.

"Children need to develop a sense of self-worth independent of their achievement level in sports," Sarwark says. "They should enjoy playing, win or lose. Often we'll see the super achiever athlete whose sense of self-worth often is tied to success in sports. It can be potentially damaging to the child's psyche if he or she loses of falls."

"But you can't downplay the benefits of sports for children. With proper guidance and a healthy, supportive environment, athletic activity and competition help shape many children into confident and productive adults."

Black Forest hosts musicians from Austria

Austrian born restaurateur, Heinz Schaidreiter is hosting three exceptional Austrian musicians at his Morton Grove restaurant through Monday, Aug. 13.

Schaidreiter, owner of the Black Forest restaurant, 8840 N. Waukegan Rd., Morton Grove has invited these exceptional musicians to help him celebrate his 10th anniversary.

The musicians, performing together for the first time, are Peter Kostner, Christian Koell and Christian Margreiter. They are exceptionally talented young men who not only play a variety of musical instruments, but are most personable and certainly know how to play to a crowd, getting everyone involved in singing and dancing. Their authentic Tyrolean folk music comes across beautifully on the folk harp, zither, clarinet, flugelhorn and the accordion. There is no cover charge for the special appearance of these musicians and performances begin nightly at 5:30 p.m. and last late into the night.

Epilepsy agency plans theatre benefit

Epilepsy Services for Northeastern Illinois (ESNI), will hold a theatre benefit, Aug. 22, at the Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre featuring "Pump Boys and Dinettes", the current musical production.

The Black Forest which specializes in German cuisine is also featuring a special menu of traditional Tyrolean dishes for this 10th anniversary celebration.

Train Days at Kohl Children's Museum

Toot your horn and celebrate the anniversary of the first trans-continental railroad Tuesday, Aug. 14 through Sunday, Aug. 19 at the Kohl Children's Museum. Activities take place each day at 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

Tuesday Aug. 14: Meet a railroad train conductor and follow him to be a part of a human train. Imagine you are the conductor of a large locomotive with your own conductor's hat and real railroad patch you can place on your favorite jacket.

Wednesday, Aug. 15: It's story time! Listen to The Little Engine That Could and other favorite train stories.

Thursday, Aug. 16: Get your voices in shape and join the Kohl staff in singing "Chattanooga Choo Choo" along with other familiar train tunes.

Friday, Aug. 17 through Sunday, Aug. 19: Using recycled materials, make your own Engine #9 or use your imagination to create the locomotive of your choice. When your train is finished it will be mounted on cardboard to take home.

The Kohl Children's Museum is located at 165 Green Bay Rd., Wilmette. Hours are Tuesday-Saturday, 10 a.m. - 4 p.m., Sunday, noon-4 p.m. Admission is $2.50; children under one year of age are free. For more information, call (708) 256-6056.

Road sign...

"They're (construction workers) not even working there right now. I called the state and that didn't do any good."

Monday morning, Niles police met with IDOT's resident engineer Bob Giovanni, who sympathized but noted the state safety regulations mandating the signs.

"Those things are noisier than hell," Giovanni said, "but if you don't have that you could get sued if an accident happens." Giovanni said signs positioned in the parking lane can be electrically powered by tapping into a resident's power source. Unfortunately, when work switches back to the curb lane, power cords cannot be left on the roadway, however.

"If there's anything we can do, we'll do it, naturally," Giovanni promised but was doubtful if battery-operated models were available from the vendor who provides the arrow boards.

"I'm sympathetic to that. I wouldn't want that thing in front of my house," said Barricade Lighting's Art Annicella, when contacted by the Bugle Aug. 7. "Unfortunately, the state does require that. Some are a little quieter than others."

Annicella initially said Barricade's work backlog was so great that he wasn't sure when or if steps could be taken to convert the arrow board from mechanical to electrical power, receiving permission to tap into a homeowner's outlet while work is being performed in the center lane. He later said he would talk to a mechanic to see if a quieter model was available.

"They're not the most pleasant things, that's for sure," Annicella agreed.

representatives from the other suburbs Friday to determine their course of action.

The suburbs in the legal action contributed funds on a per capita basis. Blase said Aug. 7, if the court rules the towns should be reimbursed for the inflated water charges, the monies would probably be divided in proportion to the amounts contributed by each suburb.

The over 50 town association, which has no formal name, includes several northern suburbs, the South Stickney Sanitary District and over 40 south and western suburbs. The group claims it paid $23 million in added sewer charges over the years. The court must decide what percent of the water rate went into Chicago sewer maintenance.

lems, another $50,000 is needed. To make the tower more attractive, a park complete with a fountain and landscaping could cost another $50,000.

Construction should be done in the next three to five years. Taking the tower down will cost as much as a restoration, and the area would certainly not want to lose such a unique and beautiful attraction.

If you have any questions, or are willing to help, or want to donate to this worthy cause, please contact Jim Koehler of the Leaning Tower YMCA at (312) 647-8222.

the Davis Street location is more central in Skokie and residents may also take advantage of the free supplies of leaf mulch and wood chips there.

Skokie's Public Works department has used the location for over 20 years and surrounding residences are mostly two and four flat buildings.

The downtown site was chosen originally because it was easy to find and had high visibility. Skokie opened the center the last weekend in June as part of the inauguration of its curbside recycling project and in accordance with an Illinois law prohibiting yard waste acceptance at landfills.

Operating from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on weekends, the recycling center accepts aluminum, metal, newspapers, plastic milk bottles, one liter soda bottles and three colors of glass.

tel for a drink in its scenic lounge. But the highlight of our tour was wandering over to Taylor Street for an Italian beef sandwich at a take-out restaurant named Al's, and a stop-off for Italian ices across the street from this very busy restaurant. A spicy Italian beef sandwich topped off with an Italian ice dessert is Chicago cuisine at its very best.

One of our tours was a walk on Notre Dame's campus in South Bend. We visited the indoor Joyce athletic sports arena which houses the many Heisman trophies and other sports memorabilia of past Notre Dame championship teams. For sports fans this walk through Notre Dame's sports past is most interesting. It's worth a day's trip to South Bend just to view the campus and the Joyce sports arena.

When we first arrived on campus we bumped into Father Kohlerman who was a former principal at Notre Dame High in Niles. He was also a finance director in Niles. Charley Kohlerman looked terrific and sent his regards to his many friends here in town.

Our travels this past week took us to the cardiac department of an Indiana hospital where a cousin underwent angioplasty. While all of us were quite anxious over the seriousness of the procedure, it was incredible how laid back the medical people were. While the cousin was still laying on the operating table we were in the next room, separated by a glass window from him, while we viewed a video of the procedure he had just undergone. The picture of the heart muscle, undergoing prodding which freed arteries from blood clots, was a matter-of-fact routine the doctor must have undergone hundreds of times. What was life-threatening to us was treated so calmly by the cardiologist, it seemed almost as casual as if we were viewing a motor tune-up on a computer at our local gas station.

The doctor told my cousin's wife the heart patient would have to undergo a rehab program to aid his heart. But his parting remark was there should be no smoking around the patient. The implication was secondary smoking is hazardous to the patient. It might be a good message for all smokers to consider. If secondary smoke is harmful to a patient with a heart problem, it is likely harmful to all of us. We hope smokers will consider what the cardiologist said. And certainly, we hope smokers will not puff away in the presence of children.

Our never-ending "Battle of the Leaves" has added one more chapter to its story. We reported a Niles lady, who had a huge branch which needed hauling gone, insisting the village pick it up. She said she would leave it in her parkway despite the threat of receiving a ticket from the village. This past week we received a telephone call from a man who said he would bring his chainsaw to her house and cut the branch so it could be stored in a bag which could then be hauled away. We can't give out the man's name since he might be inundated by little old ladies who need a bit of saving done on their property. But if the branch lady telephones The Bugle, we'll put her in touch with the saw man.

First of America Banks extend sweepstakes

The Great Rate Sweepstakes, introduced by First of America Banks on May 29, has been extended to Aug. 17 at local offices. The promotion, which features bank products and services as prizes, was originally scheduled to run through July 31.

Citing the reason for the lengthened program, Mike Lindley, director of advertising, said, "Customers have responded well to this program and have shown a great deal of interest which is demonstrated by the level of participation. We want to give the public a little more time to take advantage of the loan rate discounts and the deposit interest rate bonuses.

"We have had many winners of the $500 matching deposit and have yet to draw the winning entry for the grand prize of up to $25,000 paid on a First of America loan or deposited to a First of America account. We will soon set the date for the drawing for some time after August 17."

Customers may enter the Great Rate Sweepstakes at participating First of America Bank offices in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois. Complete rules and entry forms are available at all participating First of America banking offices.

Real estate review seminar in August

Taught by Professor John Michaels, the seminar will include an overview of the basic principles of real estate, a practice exam and a question and answer session. The cost is $47. For registration information, call the MONNACEP Office, 982-9888.

Mucci challenge...

he will challenge both Republican candidates to debate.

He said "It's not fair to voters. No one is really campaigning, the candidates have not really voiced opinions...voters should know the candidates."

As to the merits of a coin toss to decide the tie vote between Park Ridge legislator Penny Pullen (R-55th) and Des Plaines paragon Rosemary Mulligan, Mucci called it "Arbitrary...there should be a better way. I'd be active in changing legislation (concerning election laws)."

Asked to speculate on the winner of the Supreme Court review, Mucci suggests Mulligan as the likely victor. Drawing on his experience as an attorney, Mucci, an assistant Cook County public defender for six years, said 1) the courts don't like to decide political issues and 2) a reviewing court will not overturn a lower court's decision unless there is a "clear abuse of discretion."

Working to put steam in his campaign, Mucci has gathered some campaign workers and looks to pick up money and endorsements when the Pullen/Mulligan race is decided. He expects Republican supporters to cross over to his side since the abortion issue is so prominent and "People are committed to ideals and principles and they're not going to change their morality" to vote for a particular party.

He sees Pullen and Mulligan at opposite extremes of the abortion issue and feels women's rights and abortion are two different issues, since most people are for business manager William Linning said the district received one complaining letter compared to last year when "quite a few were sent." Looking at one photocopied tax bill where the school's portion increased 25 percent, Linning said taxpayers should "look at the other parts of their tax bills" to see that some taxing bodies' share went up 30 percent.

But homeowners may not take comfort in the knowledge that the next reassessment will take place in three years, not four. This installment's tax bills were boosted by the quadrennial reassessment of property values. Complainers' office found out that in some cases, the fair market value of their property had finally caught up with that of their neighbors and the property will be reassessed in three years.

Niles Twp. assessor Robert P. Hanrahan suggests voters take a greater interest in the spending habits of taxing bodies (see p. 9, this edition) and says "increased spending by taxing bodies is the primary reason why tax bills go up."

Whether taxpayers are accepting increased spending or whether a future taxpayer revolt is brewing remains to be seen. At least one Merrill Street homeowner is unsure how she'll cope with her 35 percent hike. "I looked at the bill and said maybe I could live with it."

neighbor and the Travelodge Motel to its north. Previous permitted construction could have allowed a funeral home, bowling alley, muffler shop.

One Touhy Avenue resident asked that a temporary driveway now being used for construction vehicles working on the St. Benedict's project not be made permanent for overflow parking from the proposed condo. The planners assured her the extra driveway would not be authorized.

"This will be an aesthetic building, not a neon jungle," Peckarsky said. Plans for the five-story building call for main level, covered parking for each unit and additional spaces on the east of the rezoned property. Access will be from Touhy Avenue only.

The board also gave Leonard D. Khayat, a Libertyville restaurateur, permission to keep a parabolic dish on its roof subject to the building department's approval. Khayat, who owns Box Car Willie's at 7800 Caldwell Ave., apologized to the board for installing the unit without obtaining the requisite permit.

Khayat was unsure of the size of the satellite dish, used to receive telecasts of certain sporting events, estimating it at eight feet in diameter. He will have to get a smaller dish if the installation is faulty.

Box Car Willie's and Pontarelli Builders still must obtain permission from the Niles village board.

office of the sheriff, 4 office of the chief of police, 2, management services, 2, planning and research, 1, personnel, 1, auto pound, 2, communications, 4, and records, 1.

Also included would be seven officers and two sergeants from the Special Response Unit. "This 'SWAT' team can be reserved for those special duties while still carrying out day to day aggressive patrol and anti-gang activity," Sheahan said.

Two investigators from the Criminal Intelligence Unit and a lieutenant from Records Division would bring the unit to a full strength of 32.

Schoenberg said "Adverse elements have taken advantage of the lack of police manpower in incorporated Maine Township, a large portion of Legislative District 56. Citizens have been harassed, private homes and public school buildings have been defaced with gang graffiti, and there has been a general disregard for the law by these delinquent youths."

Schoenberg went on to explain that the schools, park districts, and people of the community have come together to combat gang crimes.

Minority businesses tour water reclamation project

Nearly 100 persons attended the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District Workshop and Tour for minority women and small business enterprises on Thursday, June 14. Other speakers from the district were President Nicholas J. Mela, Commissioner Thomas S. Fuller and Commissioner Joseph E. Gardner, chairman of the district's Affirmative Action Committee.
