by Nancy Keraminas

Morton Grove trustees met in regular sessions Aug. 13, approving a one-story addition to Bethany Methodist Terrace Nursing Home, 8425 Waukegan Road. There were no citizens present objecting to Bethany's plans, as detailed by Plan Commission Chairman Leonard Bloomfield. The nursing home intends to expand its activity and treatment areas by 8,750 square feet in order to consolidate and improve its services for patients with Alzheimer's disease. Citizens from Niles had come to the July 16 public hearing re-

Residents say proposed $200,000 addition would raise their taxes

Maine Twsp. shelves plans for addition

by Sheila Hackett

The Maine Township Board shelved plans to build an addition to the township headquarters after citizens at an Aug. 13 public forum said, in effect, "No more taxes." Township officials need more space for MaineStay, its youth services department, and for their own office needs.

Of the approximately 50 persons present at the meeting, most voiced concern the proposed allocation of $200,000 to explore an addition project would raise their taxes. Township officials previously had stressed this would not happen. They said property levies would not be affected because there was sufficient cash on hand. But the public meeting was required before the board could amend its 1990-'91 budget for the $200,000 allocation. After public testimony, the anti-tax feeling was so evident, the motion to amend was never made and the board moved to other matters.

The allocation amendment to the budget was needed to determine the feasibility of the addition. Since the current budget already includes $60,000 for a garage, new roof and parking lot repaving, it was thought building an addition to the Township headquarters at 1700 Ballard Rd., Park Ridge, could accommodate the needs of both MaineStay and the Township administration.

Meryl Rivenson, director of Administration and Social Services for the Township, said the rent for MaineStay's current office is $1,905 a month. Officials hoped to expand from their current 2,100 sq. ft. space to something closer to 3,000-3,100 sq. ft., but rental space is running $12 per sq. ft. Earlier figures estimated rental fees for larger headquarters could run more than $400,000 over a 10-year period.

The Township Board has budgeted $34,000 for MaineStay rent for next year, but that amount does not include utilities or taxes or possible rent increases.

In 1985, Township offices moved to their present location in a vacated church designed by Lloyd Wright, son of Frank Lloyd Wright. When considering

Tuesday, I was paying a 50¢ fine for a five-day overdue paperback book at the Morton Grove library. When I griped about the fee, the lady standing next to me said at a good cause. I told her so do my taxes go for a good cause.

This is "good cause" day with the Left Hand. We're going to give you the "good cause" breakdown of this year's taxbill, an annual exercise we indulge in to let the natives know how much their bills increased since last year.

Using a taxbill of a Maine Township school district 63 resident, whose total taxbill is $1,903.62, we broke down the following figures:

The total taxbill increased 30.27% from last year's $1,461.33 bill.

The highest percentage increase was in the Cook County taxing body which went up 35.94%. Niles Park District was right behind with a 35.7% increase. The Metropolitan Water Reclamation District had a 34.99% hike, Cook County Health went up 34.47%. School District 63 was up 32.09% and Maine High School District 207 moved up 31.34%. All these districts' bills had increases which were higher than the 30.27% increase of the entire taxbill.

While the percentage hikes of small districts might be disproportionate, what is of para-

Wedding at Niles nursing home joins couple afflicted with MS

by Sheilya Hackett

The dark haired bridegroom, nervous in his new suit, smoked a cigarette and glanced smilingly around the crowded, noisy room. A hush fell as the bride appeared, her veil softly brushing against her brown hair. Assisted by two aides, she took a few deliberate steps towards the waiting minister, then sank into a wheelchair that matched the groom's.

A pianist played "Sing the Song of Kingdom Cheer." But it was only after the minister's final pronouncements and the crowd burst into applause, that the couple relaxed and greeted their guests.

The wedding ceremony between Charmaine Krejci, 35, and Mike Finnigan, 40, residents of Niles Hampton Plaza nursing home, was like any other happy wedding, except for the fact both the bride and groom are afflicted with multiple sclerosis (MS). It is a degenerative disease of the central nervous system that can afflict both the brain and the spinal cord and is usually diagnosed between the ages of 15 and 50.

But Aug. 11, the home's activities room was festooned with party frills. A paper wedding bell and streamers lent a festive air and two wedding cakes rested on a buffet filled with refreshments.

come all to the real wedding of Charmaine and Mike..." and to a bridal shower for the bride and a bachelor party for the groom.

Holly Davis, Hampton Plaza's Activities Director, helped with wedding preparations. A few weeks ahead, she was full of plans, from the flowers, to the wedding cake, to the right decorations. Davis laughingly said "I've never planned a wedding before; I thought I'd be planning my own...it will be beautiful, trust me."

In the weeks before the wedding, Hampton Plaza social activities took an upturn.

According to Davis, when news of the impending marriage got out, the phone calls began. Two were offers to transport the bride's 75-year-old mother to the ceremony; another caller wanted to contribute to the bridegroom's wardrobe. She said the home's operator, G.W. Burton and Associates, will absorb the costs of the reception.

Davis herself secured a wedding gown through a friend and escorted the couple to the Skokie courthouse to get the marriage license.

At the ceremony, she served as Charmaine's maid of honor and a resident, Ed Vlcek, was best man. A familiar face around Hampton Plaza, the Reverend Charmaine and Mike's wedding was the culmination of a two year courtship that moved from their first meeting at an ice cream social through a period when Mike just watched Charmaine from afar. Sometimes they met and played cards during therapy sessions.

One night Charmaine dreamt Mike kissed her and she later told him about it, saying, "You'll have to dance with me at my wedding." Not long after, Mike got up his courage to kiss her and the romance began to bloom. When he proposed, she accepted and they began planning their future together. Using their circuit breaker checks—once a year disbursements from the government—they bought their wedding rings and now a diamond, set in gold, adorns Charmaine's hand.

The couple's background is marked with ironies. They grew up within blocks of each other, near Chicago's Division Street, yet never met. Over the years, they each lived in Berwyn, Cicero and Elmwood Park, but their paths never crossed. It took their affliction with MS to draw them to Niles, where they first lived in the Sherwood nursing home. When it closed in early February they and 43 other residents moved across the way to Hampton Plaza, (formerly called The Woodbury). In their new home, they lived just a corridor apart. Mike was stricken at age 27; Charmaine at 30. Mike is divorced, with two children; Charmaine has never married. Before the illness, he worked as a truck driver, she as a reservations clerk for a major hotel. He knew tragedy as a child. In second grade, he was one of the fortunate ones who escaped from the Our Lady of the Angels school fire that killed his older sister.

In the weeks before the wedding, Hampton Plaza social activities took an upturn. A poster in the elevator invited "Come one,

Tom Stoebig, pastor of St. John Lutheran church in Niles, officiated.

After a brief honeymoon, the newlyweds will continue to live at the home. Because they suffer from the same disease, they feel they better understand each other, but they realize their future options are limited.

As she thinks ahead about their life together, the brown-eyed Charmaine draws comfort from her religion. She looked up from her wheelchair and said "God will provide."

Delegation from Pisa delays visit to Niles

by Nancy Keraminas

The committee preparing for a September visit by a delegation from Pisa, Italy have had to revise the group's itinerary, substituting an inside dinner for an outside picnic in the shadow of Niles' half-scale replica of Pisa's leaning tower.

The Pisa visit, meant to cement the two communities' sister city relationship, has been delayed to at least November.

Just as Pisa's marble landmark symbolizes that city, the concrete model standing at 6500 W. Touhy Ave. has become the "pictorial symbol" for the village, notes a

One of Morton Grove's most recently-enacted ordinances represents an end to illuminated outdoor sign restrictions for liquor-selling establishments. The revision to the village liquor code also increases the penalties for consuming alcohol after legal hours of operation.

Prior to the new law, liquor license holders, were required to extinguish their lighted signs at the same time they were supposed to cease selling alcoholic beverages. According to Corporation Counsel Jordan Kaplan, businesses such as Dominick's Finer Foods and 7 Brothers Restaurant, who otherwise operated on a 24-hour basis, were in violation of the law if they did not turn off their outside signs after 2 a.m. weekdays and Saturdays and 3 a.m. Sundays.

The revised law is intended to more accurately reflect the primary objective of the ordinance - to deter after hours sale, serving and consumption of alcoholic beverages at a tavern or restaurant holding a liquor license, noted Kaplan. The fine for violations was increased from a minimum of $5 to $300. The maximum fine remains $500.

"I think it's a fairer ordinance even though it might be tougher

District 70 OKs binding referendum

by Linda A. Burns

District 70 school board members decided in a 4-2 vote Monday night to go ahead with plans to place a referendum of their own on the Nov. 6 ballot regarding Borg School. The referendum will be binding on the board's future actions.

Board members Anny Burns, Linda Ertion, Jim Meyer and Jim Quinn voted for this course of action despite a number of residents' objections. Members Frank Cordes and Jack Olander voted against the action.

The referendum will ask voters

"Shall the Board of Education School District #70 be authorized to purchase or acquire the Borg School at 8601 Menard Ave. for school purposes?"

The decision by the board to establish this referendum comes after a request submitted to the board by residents for an advisory referendum and means two referendums dealing with Borg, one binding and one advisory, could appear on the ballot.

Board President Dan Miletic said the board was advised by

Home safety tips from Commonwealth Edison

Believe it or not, more accidents happen at home than in seemingly more dangerous industrial surroundings. Generally speaking, a factory worker is more conscious of what is safe and unsafe.

However, potential electrical hazards exist in the bathroom of your home, where water, electric current and you or a member of your family might converge. Even though electric shavers, toothbrushes and the like are generally well-insulated, you should observe certain precautions.

Portable hair dryers are also well-insulated, but they should never be used when bathing. If the dryer has a defect, your wet skin could set you up for a shock. Also, the hair dryer could fall into the tub and literally leave you in hot water.

Never do laundry with a portable hair dryer on, and keep it away from wet floors, hands, washers and sinks.

Damp floors can be another danger area for electric shocks. If one part of your body is touching water while another part is in contact with electric current, your entire body can become a conductor.

Snowflake, a miniature American Eskimo dog belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Klosowski of Niles is shown above with her new litter of seven puppies. The Klosowskis' six grandchildren witnessed the birth of the puppies and 7-year-old Patrick remarked after the birth of the sixth puppy that "the world will be full of puppies if she doesn't stop pretty soon."

Study probes senior drivers' highway fears

Despite the widespread belief that older motorists avoid highway driving, they use expressways about as much as younger drivers and see themselves as capable expressway users, according to the AAA-Chicago Motor Club.

Highway avoidance by older drivers is not as widespread as expected. But they do avoid unfamiliar highways, driving on expressways during rush hour and nighttime highway driving. Many older drivers take part in pre-trip planning such as writing down directions and landmarks, checking maps and driving with a passenger as "navigator."

In a new study by the AAA foundation for Traffic Safety, older drivers say they are safe highway drivers because they are patient, courteous and cautious. But several factors—trucks, rudeness of other drivers, high travel speeds, confusing signs and difficulty in merging—contribute to older drivers' dislike for expressway use, according to the "Older Drivers' perceptions of Problems in Freeway Use" study. Older drivers also say they often have panic feelings caused by close calls and getting lost.

To improve highways for older drivers, the AAA Foundation report recommends:

- Adequate shoulders
- Emergency telephones
- Improved highway lighting
- The recommendations based on the suggestions of older drivers would be useful for overall traffic safety, according to AAA-CMC.
- Lane and time restriction for highway trucks
- Separate facilities for trucks
- Better speed enforcement
- More signs listing upcoming exits

Tips from the IRS on tax withholding status

Students looking forward to summer jobs will usually not be able to claim the "exempt" status on their income tax withholding forms, according to the Internal Revenue Service. Like many low-income people and part-time workers, most students could exempt themselves from income tax withholding in the past. Tax law changes that took effect in 1987 mean that most high school and college-age workers now need to have tax withheld from their paychecks. If a person can be taken as a dependent on someone else's return, and that person has combined wage and nonwage income of more than $500, then he or she will be unable to claim exemption from withholding. Non-wage income includes such things as interest and dividends. That means if you make more than $500 for the year, and just one dollar of it is interest, you won't be able to claim exempt status on your W-4, the IRS emphasizes. A person who has wage income only can usually claim exemption from withholding on the W-4 if his or her wages in 1990 total $3,250 or less. Most students can avoid an unexpected year-end tax bill by claiming single status with one allowance on Form W-4. Publications 505 and 919 have more information on income tax withholding. To get a free copy of these or any of more than 100 other booklets, call the IRS toll free at 1 (800) 424-FORM (3676).

LOVE CHANGES HISTORY AGAIN
For the love of Wallis Simpson, King Edward VIII of England abdicated the throne and changed history. That love changed history again recently. The 300 pieces of jewelry Edward gave his love, the Duchess of Windsor, set a historic record by going at auction for $50.3 million dollars.

It was a spectacular jewelry collection. One diamond ring sold for $2.15 million alone. A diamond clip shaped like the plumes and crown of the Prince of Wales was bought by Elizabeth Taylor for $623,327. An American art dealer spent $733,326 for a natural pearl necklace, the highest price paid in history.

It was a spectacular jewelry collection, but it was made even more spectacular by the romance of the couple whose love it celebrated. Edward had some of rings engraved, for instance, with a message such as "Hold Tight". All the world knew the story that Edward gave up the crown for the love of a divorced woman, a love more valuable than a kingdom.

Such is the language of jewelry. Some jewelry is very expensive, other very affordable. No matter its cost, its value to the wearer is increased when the gift comes from the heart. Change your history with jewelry that says "I love you."

"Give 'Em A Brake" 1990

Billboards like this one are being erected throughout the state for the Illinois Department of Transportation's "Give 'Em A Brake" highway construction zone safety campaign. The Chicago and Construction Safety Council, a contractor's organization, has joined IDOT in funding the effort.

Chicago, July 5—The billboards are going up all over Illinois.

The Illinois Department of Transportation and road contractors are giving special emphasis to IDOT's "Give 'Em A Brake, Slow Down," campaign. The program promotes safety in highway construction zones.

Now in its second year, the campaign's message is starkly delivered to motorists via billboards that remind all: "17 Killed in Highway Work Zones in '89. 'Give 'Em A Brake, Slow Down."

The billboards show faded grey silhouettes depicting those killed last year in highway construction and repair zones. Stand-

Ads for 'New Kids' cassette misleading

Attorney General Neil Hartigan recently announced an agreement reached with the 900-number marketing firm for the pop music group "New Kids on the Block" to modify nationwide magazine advertisements aimed at the teenage market.

Hartigan described the ads by Info-Tainment, Inc., appearing in recent issues of "SASSY" and "YM" (Young Modern) magazines, as misleading because they encourage young people to call a 900-number for a "free" video cassette of the singing and dancing group.

However, the ads also indicate a $12.95 charge for the 900-call. Hartigan therefore maintained the cassettes were not "free."

"There are clear guidelines governing the use of the word 'free' in advertising," Hartigan said. "You can't tell someone I'm going to give you something free, but then say you're going to have to pay $12.95 in order to get it."

Road improvements scheduled for district

State Sen. Howard W. Carroll (D-1st district) announced that Cicero Avenue at Pratt and Devon will be improved by milling, resurfacing and restriping the north and south approaches to provide for left turn lanes.

Carroll said the improvements are part of the off-system improvements for the Kennedy Expressway reconstruction and should be completed prior to the Kennedy Expressway reconing out among the figures is the familiar black, white and orange "Give 'Em A Brake, Slow Down" road sign, a common site as motorists approach highway construction areas.

Funding for the billboards throughout the Chicago area comes from the Chicago and Construction Safety Council. The organization represents road builders who, like IDOT, have lost employees in motor vehicle-related accidents in construction zones.

"We wanted to join the "Give 'Em A Brake, Slow Down" effort because we know first hand the tragedy that occurs in highway construction and repair zones," said Tom Broderick, Executive Director of the Chicago and Construction Safety Council.

"If drivers would just do what the sign says, 'Give 'Em A Brake, Slow Down,' lives would be saved, including their own," added Broderick.

The bill board companies are contributing to the "Give 'Em A Brake" campaign also. Gateway Outdoor Advertising, Gateway Media Group and Whiteco Metrocom are providing free billboards to complement those purchased.

Statewide, more than 200 signs will be erected between now and the end of the highway construction season in October.

Safety clues to detect drunk drivers

by Secretary of State Jim Edgar

Between the hours of 10 p.m. and 3 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights, it is estimated that one of every 10 drivers is legally drunk. The ability to detect these drivers could save your life. The following clues indicate a driver may be under the influence: 1) Drifting between lanes or turning too widely. 2) Stopping without cause in a traffic lane. 3) Going too fast or slow for conditions. 4) Following other vehicles too closely. 5) Responding slowly to traffic lights or giving inappropriate signals. 6) Driving at night with the car's headlights off.

If a suspected drunk driver is near, put as much distance between that vehicle and yourself as possible. Do not pass the vehicle unless necessary. If you must pass, do so carefully. If the vehicle in question approaches rapidly, let it pass. Stay alert to its position on the road. Never attempt to stop a suspected drunk driver. But reporting an impaired driver protects everyone traveling on the highway. Call the police and provide the vehicle's description and license plate number when you reach a gas station or rest area.

Most importantly, do not drink and drive yourself.

in each direction with the middle lane as a left turn storage which extends to the Pulaski/Foster intersection. A sidewalk will be provided on each side of the bridge too.

Restaurant fire causes $2,000 in damage

Personnel at Eugene's restaurant, 9101 Waukegan Road, were able to snuff out a fire in an electric circuit breaker box with fire extinguishers before firefighters arrived on the scene the afternoon of Aug. 1.

Firefighters looked for any possible extension of the fire, which was in the cooking area of the restaurant, and shut off the electricity. They advised restaurant personnel to call an electrician. Cause of the fire is undetermined, but $2,000 damage resulted.

Firefighting units from Niles and Glenview supported those of Morton Grove and the building and health departments in Morton Grove were notified.

Firemen attend hazardous materials school

Spring of 1990 brought more than flowers to the North Maine Fire Protection District, it brought 16 newly certified Hazardous Materials I Technicians.

Hazardous Materials I is the newest of the many challenges facing the Fire Service today. This 60-hour, state-certified class was presented through Oakton Community College. The classes were held at the Niles Fire Station #2.

The North Maine Fire Protection District already had two certified Hazardous Materials I Technicians. With the additional 16, this means an average of six qualified personnel on each of the Department's three shifts. The class, which commenced on Jan. 8, covered subject matter dealing with basic awareness and characteristics, hazardous waste, pre-planning, risk management, chemical reactivities, spill and vapor movement, toxicology and poisons, symptoms of environmental chemical exposure, radioactive materials, chlorine effect on health, oxidizers, etc. The text outline covered a total of 177 subject areas.

The members of the North Maine Fire Protection District, including the chief and deputy chief, all passed the final exam with grade point averages reaching as high as 96 percent. This is a significantly high average, as the subject matter was not only diverse, but much of the text was taught as college level material.

"As the challenges of the Fire Service continue to change, requiring more up-to-date training, the men of the North Maine Fire Department will meet these challenges with the newest techniques, training, and equipment available," stated Fire Chief Morrie Farman.

Niles Park District outlines Recreation Center pool project

The Niles Park District's main purpose for developing the new Recreation Center swimming pool (aquatic facility), under their current plan, is for it to appeal to all ages - youth, adults and families.

The district's plan for a "zero depth" concept - which has a very gradual slope, similar to regular beach front, gradually going to deeper water, will allow the district to reach that goal in a variety of ways.

The "zero depth" area will include creative water play components that are participatory in that they actively involve everyone's physical and mental skills. They stimulate the imagination to create various causes, effects and interactions which are seldom the same twice in a row. These water play components are the first to be used in swimming pools and water parks.

By turning wheels, opening valves, pulling chains and controlling the water in many different ways, kids and adults can create and interact with many different effects, including falls, spouts, water curtains, sprays, jets and many other textures and varieties of water. Beyond the water play components mentioned, the area will also include a tot water slide with surrounding artificial rockwork and waterfalls.

The district will also install a new waterslide of approximately the same length as the current slide. The cost of dismantling, building new footings and reconstruction of the current slide vs. the purchase and installation of a new slide is relatively the same in terms of cost. The district will determine what to do with the current waterslide by either locating it at their other outdoor pool at the Sports Complex or outright selling it to another park district, etc.

The district will maintain the pool to be heated and will include seven competitive swimming lanes (one more than they have at present) at 25 yards in length, with two one-meter diving boards to accommodate competitive swimmers.

Deck Surfaces
The district will be developing a variety of deck surfaces for the enjoyment of the pool patrons. Not only will there be casual pool deck areas related to the pool, but they will be out of the main circulation areas. The current expanded feneline "turf areas" will be even further expanded to accommodate more patrons and for additional cooler surfaces.

Included will be the development of some deck areas with either natural or artificial shade, to provide pool patrons with relief from the heat and alternative conditions.

Sand Play Area
Another aspect of play within the Recreation Center swimming pool complex is developing a sand area with wet and dry options, some children's play equipment and necessary shower spray entrance/exit off the adjacent deck area.

Landscape
The new Recreation Center swimming pool renovation project will provide landscape buffers and screening to enclose the pool environment and to define different functions and activities. The district will utilize artificial rockwork to develop certain features and to integrate various activities into the pool landscape. They will also provide night lighting that meets code requirements and provides an aesthetically pleasing environment.

Concession Area
The new concession area will be in approximately the same location as the current concession area only larger and enhanced.

Bathhouse Facility
Although the current bathhouse and guard/office facility will be the same in terms of structure, they will be reapointed and made handicapped accessible.

Additional Parking
Additional parking in the existing parking lots at the Recreation Center has been addressed by adding at least 45 more parking spots to accommodate current and anticipated larger crowds.

Funding
The funds for the Recreation Center swimming pool renovation project, from start to finish, will be through past and future bond issue(s). This will not affect the current portion of the debt rate of the Niles Park District tax levy.

In general, the swimming pool renovation project will not affect any portion of the current operating funds of the district; therefore, services provided currently in programming, etc. will not be affected.

Join me in fitness at LifeCenter; alderman urges

Alderman Patrick O'Connor issued a challenge during the June 23, groundbreaking for the Galter Building at LifeCenter on the Green. "Look at me very closely," he said. "The next time you see me on this spot, I will be in 'sweats' and gym shoes, and be a few pounds lighter and a lot healthier. And I hope you will follow my example."

Dr. James B. McCormick, Chairman of the LifeCenter Board of Governors, accepted the challenge. He also agreed to get in condition for a run that will raise $1,000 for the LifeCenter for every mile covered.

The 250 attendees at the ceremony heard from several dignitaries about the history of the LifeCenter and the LifeCenter's vision for the future. LifeCenter on the Green, affiliated with Swedish Covenant Hospital, is dedicated to helping individuals, families and the community improve their fitness, nutritional and social well being.

All the major LifeCenter donors, to date, were in attendance at the groundbreaking ceremony including Mr. and Mrs. Jack Galter, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Witz, Mr. and Mrs. A. Harold Anderson, Mrs. Paul (Bernice) Brandel and Dr. and Mrs. James B. McCormick. Funds still needed for operating expenditures, program needs, equipment and endowment for the new Galter Building come to $700,000. A public campaign is underway to reach this goal.

When completed in the summer of 1991, the two-story 34,000 square foot Galter Building will house LifeCenter on the Green's extensive fitness and wellness facilities. This center will be the first of its kind in the community to offer medically supervised fitness and wellness programs.

Ostomy group discusses prescription drugs

The effect of prescription drugs on people who have had ostomy surgery will be discussed at the August meeting of the United Ostomy Association's North Suburban Chicago Chapter.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 22, in the East Dining Room (10th floor) of Lutheran General Hospital, 1775 Dempster St., Park Ridge.

The subject is of special concern to ostomates because some types of ostomy surgery may render some prescription drugs ineffective.

Ostomates, family members and friends are welcome to attend. UOA is a national volunteer, nonprofit organization with more than 600 chapters and nearly 50,000 members, and members of the North Suburban Chicago Chapter are from the north and northwest suburbs and Chicago's north and northwest sides.

Among its many activities on behalf of ostomates, UOA has a nationwide hospital visiting program for ostomy surgery patients; informs government official of the needs of people who have had ostomy surgery; promotes knowledge and awareness of ostomies, and works to improve ostomy products and care.

Imagine This...

A schoolteacher has gallbladder surgery on Friday, is released from the hospital on Saturday and is back in the classroom on Monday.

It may sound impossible, but it's happening today thanks to a revolutionary laser surgical technique at Resurrection and Our Lady of the Resurrection Medical Centers. The procedure involves four tiny abdominal punctures through which a miniature video camera, laser and other instruments are maneuvered. Since laser surgery doesn't require a large incision, there's less pain, less scarring and faster recovery—much faster than the 6-8 week recuperation for traditional gallbladder surgery.

Nilesite recognized as salesperson of month

Niles resident, Ronald Chamness, received recognition as the "Salesperson of the Month" for July at ERA Callero & Catino Realtors.

He earned the honor by selling over a half million dollars worth of residential real estate during the one month. This is the third month in 1990 that Chamness received this award, bringing his year to date real estate sales to over two million dollars.

ERA Callero & Catino has been using a number of innovative marketing programs to generate a high volume of real estate sales during a relatively calm spring and summer home selling season. They include a 'Senior Citizen' relocation program to help seniors with all aspects of relocating, an equity loan guarantee to help families who are trading up to a larger or newer house, advertising on a unique ERA television program, placing all properties in four separate multiple listing services, and use of the best known home warranty in real estate to protect both the seller and buyer.

Ronald Chamness

Using these services has enabled Chamness, and the rest of ERA Callero & Catino's real estate team to stay ahead of even the 1989 season, where they have posted a 27 percent increase in business.

Mutual Funds: A Good Investment Opportunity

By Joanne Cwynar

After a decade of outstanding performance, mutual funds promise to be key components of many investment portfolios in the 1990s. In fact, recent research indicates that one out of every four American families owns a stock or bond mutual fund.

Many consumers planning their portfolios may be confused by the types of mutual funds available and the pros and cons of each. Mutual funds are large portfolios that include stocks or bonds or both and are shared by hundreds or thousands of investors. Mutual funds can be viewed as long-term investments in stocks and bonds.

Stocks are forms of ownership in a company, and stockholders—also called shareholders—receive a share of profits from the company in the form of dividends. Naturally, the more money a company makes and the greater its dividends, the higher its stock is valued on the open market. Shareholders benefit when the value of their stock rises and they sell it at a profit.

Bonds, on the other hand, are essentially loans to a company or government entity, which pledges to pay them back with interest from future earnings. Bond prices are largely determined by interest rates. When interest rates rise, bond prices fall, and vice versa. In general, bond prices are less volatile than stock prices.

As with any financial instrument tied to stock and/or bond market performances, there is a certain amount of risk associated with mutual funds. There is no guarantee that the value will increase and, unlike savings or money market accounts, there is no government insurance against losses. But mutual funds help insulate consumers from the risks because of two key points:

- Each mutual fund is administered by a professional portfolio manager.
- Each fund may contain many different stocks and/or bonds, which diffuses the volatility of market changes.

Consequently, mutual funds should be viewed as part of an overall investment package, and consumers should have set goals and be prepared to absorb losses if they occur.

Consumers should also know their "investment horizon"—the period of time before they will need to withdraw their investment. Although major losses are unlikely, the unpredictability of the markets means there might be short-term declines in the value of their initial investment.

Investors should also have a cushion in guaranteed investments, such as insured savings accounts, before investing in a mutual fund.

For retirees and other older investors, the recommended cushion could be as much as two years' worth of living expenses. For younger, high-income consumers, the cushion might be as little as six months' worth of living expenses.

Consumers should choose their mutual funds according to their investment goals, which they can determine with the help of a professional. Questions to consider include:

- What is my objective in this investment?
- What is the most important benefit I expect?
- How long do I expect to hold this investment?
- What are my sources of emergency funds?

Some mutual funds are geared to provide monthly income. Others provide long-term growth. Still, others offer significant tax advantages, such as municipal bond funds that are exempt from federal taxes. Many mutual funds come in "families" of funds, each with different investment objectives.

Investors in one fund may move to another in the family without penalty, for example, if their objectives change.

In short, there is a wide variety of mutual funds that makes them attractive for most investment portfolios. Potential investors should plan ahead and consult with a reputable broker-dealer or an agent, which they will find at many financial institutions.

Joanne Cwynar is Branch Manager of the Cragin Federal Bank office at 7201 N. Harlem Avenue in Niles.

Fresh produce makes summer eating healthy

An ample seasonal supply of fresh fruits and vegetables makes summer an appropriate time to begin healthy eating habits, especially if a person is over the age of 50, according to a Loyola University Medical Center dietician.

Older individuals should modify their diets because of the biological and lifestyle changes they undergo, explained Patty Morse, R.D., who counsels patients at the Loyola University Mulcahy Outpatient Center. Those changes, which include slower body metabolism, reduced physical activity, less disposable income and daily food preparation for fewer family members, require a decrease in consumption of calories but maintenance of adequate amounts of nutrients, Morse said.

"The summer is a perfect time to start changing the way you eat," Morse explained. "Vitamins A and C are readily available. Summer items are economical, easy to prepare and light in the amount of cooking they require. You do not have to have heavy cooking to eat a hearty meal."

People decrease their activities as they grow older, thereby lowering the amount of calories they need to maintain weight. Women 51 years of age and over need approximately 1,300 calories a day to maintain weight, while men in the same age bracket utilize 1,500 to 1,600 calories daily. Those who are more active can consume up to 300 calories more per day.

"Most people get enough protein. They can even reduce the amount of meat they eat, and therefore reduce their fat intake," Morse said.

Rather than making meat the main course, use it as a flavor enhancer, she suggested. Meat used sparingly with vegetables, such as in a stir-fry, helps the body absorb more iron, she added.

Foods with Vitamin C also help the body absorb iron. Vitamin C sources include coleslaw, green peppers, cantaloupe and oranges or real orange juice, she said.

Changing taste buds should be considered when preparing meals. "Altered taste perceptions develop as people age. It takes two times the molecules to stimulate the sensory nerves in older people," she said.

Combining foods and seasonings in new ways can keep taste bud stimulation high. Morse suggests using a variety of dried spices instead of salt. Onions, garlic and parsley can be combined with cucumbers or lettuce for an interesting cold dish. Condiments such as hot sauce, low-fat mayonnaise and seasoning can be added to dishes to change the flavor—perhaps make something taste more Oriental or Italian, for example.

Maine Twsp. sponsors insurance program

Seven new sponsors in Cook County are participating in the Senior Health Insurance Program (SHIP) administered by the Illinois Department of Insurance. A local sponsor is Niles Senior Center, Niles - (708) 967-6100.

Senior citizens who have problems or questions about Medicare and other health insurance can obtain assistance from a SHIP volunteer by contacting one of these organizations.

"Community volunteers staffing the program have received 25 hours of training in all aspects of health insurance pertaining to the senior population and will continue to receive training on a bimonthly basis," noted SHIP Program Director Bernadette Nolan. "We want people to know that there are knowledgeable persons available to help them, free of charge."

"Rising health care costs, coupled with frequent changes in Medicare benefits, the variety of insurance products being marketed and the paperwork involved with filing claims, can make decisions about health insurance overwhelming," said insurance Director Zack Stamp.

"SHIP provides seniors a unique opportunity to discuss their insurance problems on a personalized level without the concern that someone will take advantage of them or try to sell them something."

Maintain good communication with doctor

Take time to select a doctor: Ask around - your family and friends may have suggestions about physicians they know personally. Your county medical society and local hospitals often have referral services. If possible, meet with the doctor before your first examination to see if you feel comfortable with him or her. This is a good time to ask about office policies, costs, billing and payment procedures and whether the doctor makes home visits. Otherwise, ask about these things during your first visit.

Regular check-ups are vital to maintaining good health: Take an active approach to preserving your good health. Regular check-ups can detect early signs of serious illness and keep your doctor alert for conditions that may be common in your family, such as breast cancer or heart disease.

Medical records tell the story: When you do select a new physician, make certain your previous physician provides him or her with your medical records. This "history lesson" helps your new physician with diagnosis and treatment, and minimizes the potential for procedures or medications that have proved unsuccessful in the past.

Be ready for your appointment: Write down any questions or concerns you have, and include any stressful situations that might have an adverse effect on your health. Make arrangements for transportation well in advance of your appointment.

Know your medical history: Record your medical history. It will provide fingertip access to important information about your health. Also, it is important to know your family's medical history and how to recognize the early warning signs for conditions that run in your family, such as high cholesterol or breast cancer.

Regular check-ups are vital to maintaining good health: Take an active approach to preserving your good health. Regular check-ups can detect early signs of serious illness and keep your doctor alert for conditions that may be common in your family, such as breast cancer or heart disease.

Ask questions: Never leave your doctor's office with unanswered questions about your health. If you have any questions about your diagnosis, treatment plan or any medications, don't hesitate to ask your doctor.

Holy Family starts diabetes foot service

Holy Family Hospital has established a new StableLives Foot Service—specifically for diabetes patients.

The foot service is run in conjunction with the hospital's section of Podiatry and will be held on the StableLives unit every first and third Wednesday of the month.

The goal of the new Stable-

Lives Foot Service will be to coordinate the assessment, treatment and education concerning foot care for patients with diabetes. Patients will have an opportunity to be seen by a diabetes nurse educator to have their overall diabetes management assessed and to receive education about proper foot care. They will also see one of the podiatrists on staff to have a thorough foot assessment, including lab, x-ray and minor procedures, if necessary.

For an appointment and fee information, please call StableLives at (708) 297-9977.

Changes in circumstances may affect SSI eligibility

There may be many people out there who were once turned down or thought themselves ineligible for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) who have had a change in their circumstances that would make them eligible. For example, some people may have had too much money in the bank at one time and were turned down for SSI but have since spent the money.

Following is a list of what maybe the most common changes that could affect someone's eligibility for SSI:

- a decrease in income or resources;
- the death of a spouse;
- a spouse enters a nursing home;
- a disabled child reaches age 18;

- moving to another state;
- the medical condition of someone who was previously denied disability benefits worsens.

Additionally, the SSI income and resource limits have increased over the years. This means people who were found ineligible in the past because they had too much income or resour-es may now be eligible. Too often, people who have these types of changes fail to re-apply for SSI. They're losing out on important benefits because being eligible for SSI means more than simply getting monthly checks. In most states, they would also be eligible for Medicaid which helps pay health care expenses. And SSI recipients often qualify for food stamps and other social services.

If you or someone you know was previously denied SSI benefits, look at the situation again. If there's been some kind of change, check with Social Security to see if the change affects SSI eligibility. You could be doing yourself, or someone you know, a big favor. ## Summer vacation driving tips

This summer millions of American families will pack their vehicles and take a vacation. Illinois drivers are reminded that road fatigue can ruin a trip if proper precautions are not taken. Fatigue, sometimes called "highway hypnosis," usually sets in after driving two to four hours. Therefore, stop to exercise or rest every two hours or so. When driving with another person, change drivers every other stop.

Take your breaks only at a rest area or other safe roadside places. Never stop on the shoulder of the road to rest; this is illegal and potentially dangerous.

Get plenty of sleep the night before your trip and remember to keep your body on its normal "time clock." This means not driving at a time when you are usually asleep because it is extremely difficult for your body to adjust to the change in schedule.

Do not drive more than 10 hours straight on your trip. The Federal Highway Administration believes that individuals are three to four times more likely to fall asleep after 14 hours of driving than after 10 hours.

A few minor adjustments in the car can also help you fight fatigue. Keep the cruise control off so you will not become too relaxed behind the wheel, and keep the car's temperature cool by opening a window or turning on the air conditioner. Turn on the radio and switch stations frequently to break the monotony.

Tips on how to vacation with children

Summertime is family vacation time. Children are out of school and Mom and Dad are ready to plan a vacation that is fun for the entire family. But that may not be as easy as it sounds.

"Vacations are fun but, at the same time, hard," says Jerome Schulman, M.D., chairman of the Department of Child Psychiatry at Children's Memorial Hospital. "Families on vacation together are out of their normal routine and may be uncomfortable or feel guilty that they are not having as much fun as they anticipated."

Families with children that range in age may find it particularly hard to please everyone in one vacation. Toddlers and pre-teenage children have very different needs when it comes to entertainment. Or, money may be a problem and planning a fun and educational vacation for children with little money may be a challenge for parents.

Dr. Schulman offers the following suggestions to parents who may be struggling with vacation plans this summer.

"If traveling by car long distances, get up early (4-5 a.m.) and travel 2-3 hours before breakfast. Children will sleep until breakfast and their attention span will last 2-3 hours after breakfast, giving families 5 hours of travel time before restless sets in.

see our name they will be reminded of the need for volunteer blood donors," Stuttle said.

Anyone between the ages of 17 and 75 who weighs at least 110 pounds and is in good health is a potential blood donor and everyone who donates receives a free cholesterol screening.

For information about how to arrange for the Mobile Blood Center to visit your area, call Connie Gardiner at (708) 298-9660.

Fina chef develops new and unique recipes

John Costello

Thirty year old John Costello, a graduate of the Culinary Institute of America, has become an executive chef for the Cirrincione family in their culinary establishments.

Costello, a Norridge resident, has been instrumental in developing new recipes for the family's newest venture, Fina Restaurant, 6913 Milwaukee Ave., Niles. In addition, he is the executive chef at the Cirrincione family's eateries, Biagio's Suparossa restaurants in Chicago and Harwood Heights. Costello also supervises the food production for the family's catering operation, Banquets by Biagio.

Costello, who had held chef position in New York and St. Louis, returned to Chicago when his mother became ill and was immediately offered a position at Biagio's Suparossa by his brother-in-law, Tom Cirrincione.

Costello noted he has always had an interest in cooking and took his first job at the age of 18 in the O'Hare Marriott kitchen in an entry level position. He gives much credit to the various chefs he has trained under for his motivation in developing new recipes. Costello said he finds cooking most relaxing and most rewarding when a new recipe is well received by restaurant customers.

counsel the wording in the advisory referendum was vague.

A straight worded question should be posed so the community can decide the issue, he said.

The advisory referendum will ask voters to decide whether the district should pursue legal action to regain the former Borg School, sold last fall to the Muslim Management Group for $1.8 million, through condemnation proceedings.

Julian Campbell, a member of Citizens Advocating Responsible Education (CARE), a group opposed to acquiring Borg through costly litigation, presented a petition with 882 signatures of registered voters on it requesting the advisory referendum at the board's July 23 meeting.

Superintendent John Graham assured residents board Secretary Anny Burns had received a statement of certification and would file the petition for the advisory referendum with the Cook County Clerk's Office in a timely manner. The deadline for filing is Sept. 6.

One resident upset over the binding referendum issue was Angie Adler, spokeswoman for CARE.

Adler said she wondered how the board could even consider going, will add three full-time teachers in afternoon classes while a kindergarten coordinator will teach a half day in the morning to aid full time teachers.

Assistant Superintendent Dr. Donald Stetina said additional teachers will be hired if warranted by enrollment.

An open house will be held for parents of kindergarteners at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 23 at Melzer School.

In other business, board members accepted the resignation of Brian Logan, instrumental music teacher at Gemini Junior High School. Another music teacher, Brian Jacobi, resigned last spring. Together, they were largely responsible for the success of the school's music program.

Both Korb and an administrator noted the resignation will be a loss to the district.

Replacing one of the instructors is Douglas Schuler.

Again, Anthony Lobue, a custodian, was suspended without pay for 30 days and placed on probation for a year. Superintendent Dr. Eldon Gleichman would not comment on the reasons for the board's actions.

In other action, board members approved a plan for student accident insurance which will cost $55 for a full 24-hour period.

ing ahead with a binding referendum without releasing figures and reports on the actual costs involved.

Adler said she has been denied access to a $4,000 legal opinion the board solicited evaluating the legal ramifications of regaining Borg.

Raymond Solal, a Mansfield Avenue resident, observed residents were not given proper notice of the wording of the board's referendum and the contents of the legal opinions were not disclosed to concerned parents and taxpayers. He also said the matter of how much classroom space is needed should be determined.

According to Quinn, "Between now and Nov. 6 there will be information given to the public. Voters will vote down (the question on the referendum) if we produce no information. Voters have the opportunity to make the judgment."

Campbell took issue with the wording of the board's referendum "to pursue or acquire the Borg School." He assumed the word "acquire" meant condemn.

Campbell believes the present owners of Borg are not willing to sell and an attempt to condemn Borg would be illegal.

In answer to a board member's inquiry, Stetina said student athletes must be insured under the school's plan or provide written notification that he or she is already insured.

Also, salaries were approved for 28 teacher assistants ranging from $10,593 a year to $15,025 annually.

Board members consented to accept a low bid of $5,920 for computer equipment from Business Electronics. Funds will be reimbursed from a grant.

They also agreed to purchase a $1,685 laser jet printer with a two meg upgrade and envelope feeder. The upgrade and feeder will total $700.

"Anytime someone needs a physical symbol for Niles, they tend to use that tower," notes the Y's Jim Koehler.

But the question remains whether Niles residents, area Italian Americans and others care enough about that symbol to raise the estimated $300,000 - including $50,000 for landscaping - necessary to renovate the tower, whose facade is slowly crumbling.

"Unlike the real tower, ours is more porous and more susceptible to moisture damage," Koehler explained, adding that a renovation committee of interested citizens has just formed to explore fundraising options.

Telephone assistance for needy families

Central Telephone Company issued a reminder recently that Link Up Illinois, a federally-sponsored program, is available to assist eligible needy families in obtaining telephone service.

The program is a part of Link Up America which was established by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) in response to comments from the American Association of Retired Persons, the Consumer Federation of America, and other parties who pointed out that telephone connection charges in some areas comprise a barrier to the extension of telephone service to low-income household.

Although more than 90 percent of the households in Illinois have telephone service, telephone companies have a commitment to help locate low-income households that now qualify for Link Up Illinois Benefits. Currently, as of the first quarter of 1990, 62 Centel customers in the company's Illinois serving areas are taking part in the program.

The program provides payment out of a federal lifetime fund-supported by interstate telephone rates made throughout the nation. Funding is provided for one-half the cost of the local telephone service connection fees, up to $30. In addition, any eligible new subscriber is given up to six months to pay the balance, interest free.

Eligible families are responsible for their monthly telephone bills once service is established. Link Up Illinois does not reduce regular monthly phone bills.

Individuals of families qualify for Link Up Illinois if they as far as violations," Kaplan commented.

Another change affecting liquor licenses will be under consideration at the Aug. 27 village board meeting. At the request of President Richard Hobs, Kaplan is researching and will present an ordinance which will increase the number of possible F license holders while decreasing proportionately the possible license holders in another liquor selling category.

F license holders may sell beer and wine for consumption off the premises of the license holder. Hobs showed a letter from a specialty ethnic food store which wanted to be able to sell certain imported beer and wines but could not do so because all the permitted licenses for that category had been issued.

Only 55 liquor licenses representing all categories are permitted throughout Morton Grove. These include those for hard liquor sales for both on and off premise consumption and beer and wine sales for both on and off premise consumption.

Skokie Chamber staff attends conference

Lisa Singer Edelson, executive director and Janice Greenberg, project director of the Skokie Chamber of Commerce, recently attended the joint conference of the Illinois Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives and the Wisconsin Chamber of Commerce Executives in Naperville.

Both associations are celebrating their 75th anniversaries this year. They are the leading professional organizations for chamber of commerce executives in their respective states.

The conference program featured a variety of sessions, including one to give both a practical and a theoretical approach to using "networking" to build the programs and the finances of the chamber, and another on future trends.

Every even year, the two state associations hold a joint meeting, taking turns as host. This year's conference was hosted by the Naperville Area Chamber of Commerce.

mount interest is the school districts. East Maine District 63 had a hefty $161.94 increase for this $1,900 taxpayer. Maine High School District 207 had a $120.21 hike over last year's bill. Of the total taxbill, the elementary district's taxes comprise 26.5% of the total bill. The district receives $504.53 from this $1,900 taxpayer. The high school district receives 20.15% of the entire taxbill. It receives $383.51 from this taxpayer. The two school districts receive $888.04 from this $1,900 taxpayer which is 46.65% of the total bill.

Locally, Oakton College went up 21.8% for a $7.13 increase and a total tax of $32.66. The village of Niles had a 14.51% increase, a $10.48 hike for a total of $73.75. Niles Library district went up 14.48% for a $7.87 increase and a $54.32 total.

While the amounts were small, the percentage was higher for smaller districts. The taxpayer got nickled and dimed by a 25 cent hike for the Northwest Mosquito Abatement district, 44 cent increase for the General Assistance Maine Township fund, $2.20 for the Maine Township Road and Bridge fund, $3.80 for the Township of Maine, $6.91 for the new Consolidated Election Fund, 42 cents for the Suburban T.B. Sanitarium fund and $4.24 increase for the Forest Preserve fund.

The areas of most concern should be the school taxes and the money now going for Cook County funds. They had the highest increases and are the greater amount of money paid out for taxes.

Locally, the increase in the village of Niles tax moneys comes as a surprise. The $72.20 this taxpayer pays to Niles included a $10.48 increase this year. With the ever-increasing sales tax revenues coming into Niles, any local village tax should be questioned. Nilesites also pay a utility tax which is paid directly to utilities. It nevertheless is a village tax and taxpayers should be made aware of these moneys which are paid in addition to moneys paid for real estate taxes.

Niles Park District went up 35.7% and the $1,900 taxpayer now pays $73.75 for park services. Unlike the village, the park district has no other means for acquiring revenue except by tax moneys. Similarly, Niles Library district's 14.48% increase is nominal when you consider the $7.87 hike from last year's contribution goes for increased salaries and higher book and other library service costs.

We foretold the natives about these increases when the districts held meetings while preparing this year's budgets. We told all of you to bang on the drums down at these meetings. If you didn't bother to go to them you can only blame yourselves for not watching the store.

The pay hikes to teachers has been substantial during these years when the teachers' union movement has become active. Since teachers' salaries did not keep up with comparable salaries by people of similar training, it was inevitable taxpayers would eventually have to pay for more equitable salaries.

Pensions to retired workers have also greatly increased as our communities have grown older. We have to pay this ever-increasing cost as more and more employees retire from the public sector.

It seems obvious taxbills will continue upward. Having independent police, fire and public works services in each community, is more expensive than having consolidated departments for many communities. Similarly, having all these independent school districts, rather than consolidating the districts, duplicates administrative and teacher costs which could be lessened if the districts were combined. It is not likely to change since each group jealously guards its own fiefdom.

The trustees also enacted an amendment introduced by Trustee Robert Leavitt, prohibiting parking on the west side of Austin Avenue for approximately 230 feet between Beckwith Road and Church Street. The change was implemented following a suggestion by a member of the police department that parking along that section of the roadway was hazardous to right-turning vehicles from eastbound Beckwith as well as to pedestrians, joggers and bicyclists.

Trustee Lewis Greenberg's ordinance to approve installment financing for the purchase of a new $73,997 Supermod Walkthru ambulance was also approved.

The five equal annual installments, payable to Affiliated Bank of Morton Grove, will be made at interest rates equal to 66 percent of Prime Commercial Rate plus 34 basis points. This amounts to a 6.94 percent rate in the first year.

Lort predicts speedier action, within days. De Lort noted five or six issues are under court review and it's possible the justices could, for example, rule on the status of the uncourtful Pullen ballots which failed to register, sending the issue back to Circuit Court Judge Francis Barth for further action.

Unless a federal issue is raised before the Illinois high court, it is unlikely the loser of this review could appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

But the pre-election time clock continues to tick. Merle Janowitz of the State Board of Elections said their office routinely re-certifies primary contest winners Aug. 31. As of now, Rosemary Mulligan is the certified winner of the March primary. Sept. 27, 40 days prior to the November election, is the deadline for printing the ballots.

Attorney De Lort, unfrustrated by time pressures, said the court can order the ballots reprinted, if necessary, and if the County Clerk sees the primary results are disputed, he can decide to print those ballots last.

The Illinois high court agreed to consider four different cases during its emergency hearing. In the Pullen/Mulligan hearing, the seven member court is short one justice since Justice Howard Ryan has removed himself from the proceedings.

According to the Chicago Tribune's On the Law column of Aug. 14, Justice Ryan met with Representative Pullen before the court agreed to hear her appeal. Because Pullen is a board member of the national Legal Services Corp., he briefed her on the Lawyers Trust Fund of Illinois at the request of State Senate President Phil Rock (D-Oak Park). Justice Ryan is the court liaison to the lawyers' group.

The election dispute between Park Ridge legislator Penny Pullen (R-55th) and Des Plaines paralegal Rosemary Mulligan has attracted national attention because of the candidates' opposing stands on abortion.

counsel the wording in the advisory referendum was vague.

A straight worded question should be posed so the community can decide the issue, he said.

The advisory referendum will ask voters to decide whether the district should pursue legal action to regain the former Borg School, sold last fall to the Muslim Management Group for $1.8 million, through condemnation proceedings.

Julian Campbell, a member of Citizens Advocating Responsible Education (CARE), a group opposed to acquiring Borg through costly litigation, presented a petition with 882 signatures of registered voters on it requesting the advisory referendum at the board's July 23 meeting.

Superintendent John Graham assured residents board Secretary Anny Burns had received a statement of certification and would file the petition for the advisory referendum with the Cook County Clerk's Office in a timely manner. The deadline for filing is Sept. 6.

One resident upset over the binding referendum issue was Angie Adler, spokeswoman for CARE.

Adler said she wondered how the board could even consider go-

Assistant Superintendent Dr. Donald Stetina said additional teachers will be hired if warranted by enrollment.

An open house will be held for parents of kindergartners at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 23 at Melzer School.

In other business, board members accepted the resignation of Brian Logan, instrumental music teacher at Gemini Junior High School. Another music teacher, Brian Jacobi, resigned last spring. Together, they were largely responsible for the success of the school's music program.

Both Korb and an administrator noted the resignation will be a loss to the district.

Replacing one of the instructors is Douglas Schuler.

Again, Anthony Lobue, a custodian, was suspended without pay for 30 days and placed on probation for a year. Superintendent Dr. Eldon Gleichman would not comment on the reasons for the board's actions.

In other action, board members approved a plan for student accident insurance which will cost $55 for a full 24-hour period.

ing ahead with a binding referendum without releasing figures and reports on the actual costs involved.

Adler said she has been denied access to a $4,000 legal opinion the board solicited evaluating the legal ramifications of regaining Borg.

Raymond Solal, a Mansfield Avenue resident, observed residents were not given proper notice of the wording of the board's referendum and the contents of the legal opinions were not disclosed to concerned parents and taxpayers. He also said the matter of how much classroom space is needed should be determined.

According to Quinn, "Between now and Nov. 6 there will be information given to the public. Voters will vote down (the question on the referendum) if we produce no information. Voters have the opportunity to make the judgment."

Campbell took issue with the wording of the board's referendum "to pursue or acquire the Borg School." He assumed the word "acquire" meant condemn.

Campbell believes the present owners of Borg are not willing to sell and an attempt to condemn Borg would be illegal.

In answer to a board member's inquiry, Stetina said student athletes must be insured under the school's plan or provide written notification that he or she is already insured.

Also, salaries were approved for 28 teacher assistants ranging from $10,593 a year to $15,025 annually.

Board members consented to accept a low bid of $5,920 for computer equipment from Business Electronics. Funds will be reimbursed from a grant.

They also agreed to purchase a $1,685 laser jet printer with a two meg upgrade and envelope feeder. The upgrade and feeder will total $700.

Telephone assistance for needy families

Central Telephone Company issued a reminder recently that Link Up Illinois, a federally-sponsored program, is available to assist eligible needy families in obtaining telephone service.

The program is a part of Link Up America which was established by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) in response to comments from the American Association of Retired Persons, the Consumer Federation of America, and other parties who pointed out that telephone connection charges in some areas comprise a barrier to the extension of telephone service to low-income households.

Although more than 90 percent of the households in Illinois have telephone service, telephone companies have a commitment to help locate low-income households that do not qualify for Link Up Illinois benefits. Currently, as of the first quarter of 1990, 62 Centel customers in the company's Illinois serving areas are taking part in the program.

The program provides payment out of a federal lifeline fund-supported by interstate telephone rates made throughout the nation. Funding is provided for one-half the cost of the local telephone service connection fees, up to $30. In addition, any eligible new subscriber is given up to six months to pay the balance, interest-free.

Eligible families are responsible for their monthly telephone bills once service is established. Link Up Illinois does not reduce regular monthly phone bills. Individuals of families qualify for Link Up Illinois if they

Skokie Chamber staff attends conference

Lisa Singer Edelson, executive director and Janice Greenberg, project director of the Skokie Chamber of Commerce, recently attended the joint conference of the Illinois Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives and the Wisconsin Chamber of Commerce Executives in Naperville.

Both associations are celebrating their 75th anniversaries this year. They are the leading professional organizations for chamber of commerce executives in their respective states.

The conference program featured a variety of sessions, including one to give both a practical and a theoretical approach to using "networking" to build the programs and the finances of the chamber, and another on future trends.

Every even year, the two state associations hold a joint meeting, taking turns as host. This year's conference was hosted by the Naperville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Foreign language offerings expand at OCC

Oakton Community College has increased its foreign language offerings to nine by adding Chinese and Polish to its already existing French, German, Hebrew, Italian, Japanese, Russian, and Spanish.

Beginning courses are available in all languages with day and evening sections in most languages among which six are offered at Oakton's Skokie campus. Beginners must start in the fall since this is the only time the 101 courses are available for most languages. Beginning Mandarin Chinese is taught at Skokie and Polish is offered at Des Plaines.

Intermediate level courses are offered in French, German, Hebrew, Italian, Japanese, Russian and Spanish. Advanced students may enroll in Conversational Spanish or introductory courses in French or German Literature.

Media-based courses are offered on Channel 20 for students whose schedules do not allow for regular class attendance. Media courses include: French in Action (FRE 101, 102, 201, 202) and Survival Spanish (SPN 101 and 102). For course information, call Linda Korbel, department chair, 635-1878.

The curriculum includes a combination of classroom instruction and supervised hands-on training at various human services organizations. Students will be required to complete 24 credit hours of coursework, including three special service courses, and six hours of practicum to earn the 30-hour certificate.

The demand for qualified, professionally trained human services workers is overwhelming and job openings are numerous. Graduates can work as residential counselors, child care workers, teacher assistants, telephone reassurance hotline operators and senior companions. Oakton will provide job placement assistance to graduates.

For information, call Joan Boggs, program chairperson, (708) 635-1855.

New Human Services program

A new vocational program leading to a Certificate in Human Services will begin at Oakton Community College this fall beginning August 27.

The program will train students as direct care workers helping adults and children with special needs in settings like residential homes and schools for developmentally disabled adults and children; emergency shelters for abused women, adolescents and children; residential and day programs for troubled adolescents; and geriatric centers.

Training will be provided in three special service areas: Adult/Children with Special Needs, Adolescent Services and Gerontology.

The curriculum includes a combination of classroom ingarding the question, indicating a water drainage problem along the south property line. The village's building department is considering this issue.

The trustees also enacted an amendment introduced by Trustee Robert Leavitt, prohibiting parking on the west side of Austin Avenue for approximately 230 feet between Beckwith Road and Church Street. The change was implemented following a suggestion by a member of the police department that parking along that section of the roadway was hazardous to right-turning vehicles from eastbound Beckwith as well as to pedestrians, joggers and bicyclists.

Trustee Lewis Greenberg's ordinance to approve installment financing for the purchase of a new $73,997 Supermod Walkthru ambulance was also approved.

The five equal annual installments, payable to Affiliated Bank of Morton Grove, will be made at interest rates equal to 66 percent of Prime Commercial Rate plus 34 basis points. This amounts to a 6.94 percent rate in the first year.

Lort predicts speedier action, within days. De Lort noted five or six issues are under court review and it's possible the justices could, for example, rule on the status of the uncounted Pullen ballots which failed to register, sending the issue back to Circuit Court Judge Francis Barh for further action.

Unless a federal issue is raised before the Illinois high court, it is unlikely the loser of this review could appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

But the pre-election time clock continues to tick. Merle Janowitz of the State Board of Elections said their office routinely recertifies primary contest winners Aug. 31. As of now, Rosemary Mulligan is the certified winner of the March primary, Sept. 27, 40 days prior to the November election, is the deadline for printing the ballots.

Attorney De Lort, unfrayed by time pressures, said the court can order the ballots reprinted, if necessary, and if the County Clerk sees the primary results are disputed, he can decide to print those ballots last.

The Illinois high court agreed to consider four different cases during its emergency hearing. In the Pullen/Mulligan hearing, the seven member court is short one justice since Justice Howard Ryan has removed himself from the proceedings.

According to the Chicago Tribune's On the Law column of Aug. 14, Justice Ryan met with Representative Pullen before the court agreed to hear her appeal. Because Pullen is a board member of the national Legal Services Corp., he briefed her on the Lawyers Trust Fund of Illinois at the request of State Senate President Phil Rock (D-Oak Park). Justice Ryan is the court liaison to the lawyers' group.

The election dispute between Park Ridge legislator Penny Pullen (R-55th) and Des Plaines paralegal Rosemary Mulligan has attracted national attention because of the candidates' opposing stands on abortion.

Legion aids fellow comrade

Always known for their generosity in assisting the less fortunate, the Morton Grove American Legion Post #134 recently aided a fellow Legionnaire whose house was gutted by fire.

Michal Stewart of the Benjamin Post in Northbrook, IL, was the comrade who received financial aid from the local Legion here.

In addition, Post #134 also contributed to Muscular Dystrophy, Misercordia and the Hadley School for the Blind.

In addition, board members commissioned a preliminary sketch by architect Dennis Stevens. His rendering of the proposed addition showed a one store addition in harmony with the present design and set aside 4,800 sq. ft. for office and storage needs and 784 sq. ft. for a garage.
