Niles has begun a new branch and leaf disposal program which will aid residents greatly. According to John Cokely of the Village of Niles, the program was designed to improve services to the residents and to help alleviate a problem which was most prominent with senior citizens. The branch disposal program which began Tuesday, Sept. 4 works as follows:

1) The village is divided east and west along Milwaukee Avenue.
2) The branch pickup program will run from April 1 through the end of November each year.

3) People living EAST of Milwaukee Avenue will have branches picked up on the FIRST MONDAY of each month.
4) People living WEST of Milwaukee Avenue will have branches picked up on the SECOND MONDAY of each month.

Villages crosscheck preliminary figures before Sept. 21 deadline

Officials question low census tallies

by Nancy Keraminas

Village officials say they are "surprised" by preliminary data released by the United States Census Bureau which show most northwest collar suburbs of Chicago have experienced reductions in population since 1980. Niles, Morton Grove, Skokie, Des Plaines, Lincolnwood, Park Ridge and Golf reportedly lost between two and ten percent of their population since the last census count but have until Sept. 21 to submit contrary evidence to the bureau. Niles experienced a 10 percent decrease, going from 30,363 citizens in 1980 to 27,245 currently. Officials in that community had anticipated that the population had remained stable.

"I'm kind of surprised at that reduction," commented village manager Abe Selman. "We're not sure how accurate it is." Selman indicated the results released to Niles Aug. 30 would be cross-checked with village housing counts to ensure that all households were enumerated. This is the main basis on which the federal bureau will accept a challenge to its results.

"We thought we were going to be close to 25,000," said Morton Grove Director of Community Development Charles Schick. Preliminary results sent to Morton Grove revealed however, Morton Grove's population had shifted downward from its 23,747 total in 1980 to a current level of 22,186.

Based on information from two of Morton Grove's school districts and a cursory examination of the village's own records, the director questioned the latest

Friday, March 12, 1976, a tornado skip-jumped in the Niles-Morton Grove area, causing damage estimated at $2,000,000.

Over the by-line of Alice Bobula, The Bugle reported the twister first landed in the Touhy-Milwaukee Avenue area.

Mrs. Bobula reported "The tornado action was preceded by darkening skies and a downpour of hail the size of mothballs which covered Niles.

"First in the path of the tornado was the Third District Cook County Circuit Court Building, 7166 Milwaukee Avenue. The twister tore half the roof off from the south end of the building and shattered a huge fir tree, a landmark in Niles.

"At Niles Elementary, 6935 Touhy Ave., the school principal, observing the darkening skies outside, had only seconds to sound the alarm and marshal the children into corridors of the building. Sections of the school roof were torn away and flung into the tennis court across the street which was a mass of rubble, fence and trees. The huge baseball scoreboard at Jozwik Park laid flat on the ground.

"A corner section of the roof at Niles Public Works building, 6849 Touhy Ave., was torn away as the twister

Radar camera could detect speeders in Niles

by Sheilya Hackett

Niles officials took a look at state-of-the-art traffic control Aug. 28.

Traffic passing the Niles Police station, 7200 Milwaukee Ave., slowed considerably when they passed the clutch of police and village officials standing curbside, watching a demonstration of a new, automated speed detection device. Called Photo-Radar, the device not only registers a car's speed, but it photographs the speeding driver and his license plate noting the date, time, location and speed on the photo. The high speed camera can click every half second.

To make matters worse for speeders, the device can monitor traffic in different directions at one time; can be adjusted for both car and truck speed limits, if they differ, and isn't picked up by radar detectors.

Niles Deputy Chief of Police William Terpinas likes the concept, calling it "Beneficial to us...the mobility is great." He sees the device as easy to set up, saving police manpower and enabling police to focus on four or five locations in one day.

The device's promoter, U.S. Public Technologies, Inc., one of two manufacturers in the country, stressed the device increases pub-

Niles changes fire, police manual

Niles' fire and police commissioners met briefly Aug. 28 in order to change the format of the 24-year-old personnel manual. The commission has also recommended that fewer copies of the new 24-page manual be printed as well.

Formerly standard issue to all officers, firefighters and paramedics, copies of the re-born, notebook-style guide will now be kept in command offices, the library, with the village clerk and the village manager.

"It won't affect them at all," noted Chairman Sam Bruno, who along with commissioners Anthony Scarlati and Joanne Clark, spearheaded the revision. "We're up to date now with all the new laws. The change was made to clarify, simplify and save money."

Unlike its predecessor, the new handbook is easily amended and

First National Bank of Niles celebrates 30 years of business

by Nancy Keraminas

First National Bank of Niles credits both its customers and its employees with its longevity and its success. Both its location and its endeavors are testimony to the financial institution's commitment to the community. The bank's week-long 30th anniversary celebration begins Sept. 10 and will be followed by a modest space expansion.

Located at 7100 W. Oakton St., First National was the pre-

But First National just as strongly emphasizes the value of people to its operation. Many account-holders are third-generation customers and there is

An architectural drawing of the proposed remodeling of the First National Bank of Niles reveals that the 30-year-old bank will gain additional second floor space, increased parking low personnel turnover as well.

"The key to our success is service and the longevity of our employees," Barbaglia comments. "Ten, 15 and 20 years of service is not uncommon in our employees." The bank promotes from within, allowing employees to rise through the ranks.

"We handle our customers as people not as accounts," adds Patricia Clausen, a bank vice president. Tellers recently surprised one long-time customer with a birthday corsage when she stopped in. Employees also report they have been treated to home-baked treats from account holders.

Many staffers are bi-lingual giving the bank the capability of communicating with Assyrian, German, Greek, Hindu, Italian, Polish and Spanish customers. In addition, First National personnel regularly visit other financial institutions in order to better empathize with those of the other side of the teller line.

First National Bank of Niles, under the direction of its president and chairman Alan Emerick, credits its success to long-term customers and employees who treat patrons as people rather than accounts. Many of the bank's employees are bi-lingual. "We've been community and people-oriented since we opened our doors in 1960," notes senior vice president Charles Barbaglia.

"Employees do bank shops to find out what it's like to be a customer," Barbaglia emphasized, adding, "our motto is to treat the customer as you want to be treated yourself."

First National also makes charitable contributions, "adopts" needy families during the holidays, sponsors athletic teams and is a major benefactor for Niles Fest.

The bank has invited the public at large to enjoy cake and coffee and be its guest at its 30th anniversary celebration next week, culminating with a Kid's Day on Saturday, Sept. 15. A drawing will be held with a grand prize offering of a 1-week Princess Cruise. In addition, a 27-inch TV, string of pearls, collector coins, and a $100 Toys R Us gift certificate are among the prizes.

Sometime later this fall, the bank expects to add a second floor to the main building, revamp the parking lot and give the interior and exterior a facelift. The design of the remodeled building will help remind the community First National Bank of Niles intends to be a fixture in the community throughout the 21st century.

Police warn residents about '911' solicitors

Police have issued an alert for residents, especially senior citizens, to beware of telephone solicitors who contact people to offer advice on the 911 emergency telephone system.

The Des Plaines Police Department and the city's Emergency Telephone Systems Board put out the alert after an unidentified individual contacted a senior citizen last week and offered to come to her home to "explain how 911 works and how to use it," said Des Plaines Police Chief Jack Storm. The citizen refused the offer and called the police.

Homeowner members of the Golf-Greenwood Gardens Improvement Association are saying "no" to the rezoning of the southwest corner of Golf Rd. and Greenwood Ave. in unincorporated Maine Township. Brick homes once stood on the now vacant, disputed property of about 1.6 acres.

At a recent meeting in Park Ridge, area homeowners asked the Cook County Zoning board to turn down developer Peter Mavrikis' request to rezone the corner property from R-5 residential to C-4 commercial, so he can build a restaurant or banquet hall. The Zoning board makes recommendations to the Cook County Board of Commissioners, which has the final say.

But Aug. 30, Mark Mennes, attorney for the homeowners' association, said the group's goal is to maintain the residential quality of the neighborhood and eliminate further noise and traffic congestion. Mennes said his clients "will not give in on commercial" (rezoning), but would allow higher density residential use, as in multi-family units.

Mennes stressed the commercial zoning would allow not only a banquet hall but gas stations, bars and liquor stores.

Carrot tops root of resident's garbage woes

by Sheilya Hackett

It didn't take long for Morton Grove officials to clear up the misunderstanding, but for a while, 71-year-old Berta Scherschel couldn't believe her eyes.

Berta, a resident of the 8800 block of Harlem Avenue, incurred overripe apples and pears, plus a few leafy carrot tops in her regular household garbage bag when she left it curbside Aug. 29. Harlem Avenue traffic was busy around 7 a.m. and Berta quickly returned to her house. But when she looked out a few minutes later, she saw garbage spilled over her trim lawn and a garbage collector looking into the bag.

After a brief altercation and debate whether carrot tops were regular garbage or yard waste, the truck drove off, leaving Berta to clean up.

"How piddly can you (get)?" asked Berta, who appealed to Morton Grove Village offices and then to The Bugle for confirmation of a recent article stating Morton Grove's ruling on discarded fruit from trees. The article told the village's directions to include discarded fruit, which falls from residents' trees, along Continued on Page 34

As Grandparents Day approaches on Sept. 9 give a gift of love to children as "Grandpa Phil" (Lincolnwood) does by volunteering his time to children in the Oakton Community College Child Demonstration Center. Eva Laase, Michael Ruff and Andrei Nikolov enjoy listening to the stories read by Grandpa Phil who is one of many volunteers who share their experiences, show their love and care, and stimulate children in day care centers, nurseries, pre-schools, elementary schools and child care settings through Oakton's Grandparents Unlimited Program. To become a volunteer grandparent, call 635-1461.

GRANDPARENTS DAY
Sunday, Sept. 9 marks the thirteenth official celebration of National Grandparents Day, a day set aside to honor grandparents, to give them an opportunity to show love for their children's children, and to help children become aware of the strength, wisdom and guidance older people can offer. With the geographic separations of families, it becomes more difficult for grandparents to play a part in the nurturing of grandchildren. Intergenerational fellowship plays an important part in youth acceptance of elders and healthy aging by those elders. In Morton Grove, seniors can enjoy many intergenerational opportunities with community youngsters as well as the Happy Grandmothers and Prairie View Grandfathers Clubs. For more information about these activities, call Ronnee Brenner, Senior Adult Supervisor at the Morton Grove Park District, 965-7447.

PRIME TIMERS
The North Shore Prime Timers Club invites interested residents to three appealing upcoming programs. They will enjoy a trip to the Cerman Space Center at Triton College on Sept. 9, then at an Antique Auto Exhibit with a senior citizen bake sale at Savings of America in Morton Grove on Sept. 16, and finally a day at the Kenosha Dog Races on Sept. 26. For more information about the Prime Timers call Dodee Connelly at 966-8350.

HYPERTENSION
Hypertension is directly related to the use of sodium in the human diet. Studies with infants have shown that the taste for salt is completely learned. The salt appetite is somewhat habit forming, people who have not been exposed to salt do not desire it, but may develop a craving for it once it has been introduced. Salt preference, however, is reversible, the taste will diminish once the dietary salt level has been reduced. Some high sodium foods do not taste salty or are not thought of as such. For example, fast food french fries actually have less sodium (115 mg) per serving than fast food cherry pie (450 mg). The Flickinger Senior Center will conduct its monthly blood pressure screening clinic from 9 to 10 a.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 11.

COMMISSION ON AGING
The Morton Grove Advisory Commission on Aging will hold its next monthly meeting at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 11 in the Flickinger Senior Center. The commission provides an arena for discussion and planning of services and programs to benefit Morton Grove's senior citizen population. All interested residents are welcome to attend.

"TELLING YOUR STORY"
Oakton Community College presents another program in their Passages lecture series entitled, "Telling Your Story." Learn how to leave these treasured memories for your children and grandchildren. The program begins at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 11 at the Oakton East campus, 7701 Lincoln Ave. in Skokie.

Nina and Jenera Kligman's father knew he had to get his family out of the Soviet Union no matter what.

Russian anti-Semitism, Igor Kligman says, "made everything we wanted for our children impossible to get—a good education, a good job, a life."

The openness of glasnost has meant a new openness in Soviet anti-Semitism. Every day brings new threats against Jewish property, Jewish culture, and Jewish life.

After the horrors of the Holocaust, American Jews made a promise: "Never again." Operation Exodus asks you to make good on that promise.

Operation Exodus is a worldwide movement to get Jews out of the Soviet Union now, while the door is still open. And with your help, we can do it.

Join former Secretary of State George P. Shultz and leaders of Chicago's Jewish community at a special event in support of Operation Exodus on September 10.

For more information on this event and on how you can help Operation Exodus, call (312) 444-2887.

NSREB compares '90 to '89 July sales

Total volume of North Side Real Estate Board sales closed by the end of July was 2.9% greater than last year, although the number of transactions closed is 1.8% behind 1989, according to Susan Cooney, president.

"The real estate market is never constant," Cooney observed. Today we have a buyers' market. Prices have stabilized for the moment, and there is a great deal of choice for the astute purchaser. Purchasers are well advised to take advantage of this climate. Sellers should be realistic in pricing and prepare their property so that it is in top condition. Homes that are in good condition and priced right are selling.

Total sales volume for NSREB in 1990 is $1,182,131,996 as compared to $1,148,842,910 in 1989. Number of transactions closed is 7,614. In 1989, number of transactions closed was 7,752. Pending sales are 9,155, 2% higher than last year's 8,977.

The average sale price of property for 1990 is $155,257, a 4.8% increase over last year's $148,199. The average residential sale was $170,182 in 1990 compared to $163,615 in 1989.

Average single family home sale in July, 1990 was $168,583. In 1989, average sale was $164,667. Average condo/coop sale was $109,706. In July 1989, condo/coop sales averaged $111,736.

Centel sponsors drug-free competition

Strong Athletes Against Steroids (SAAS), a Centel-sponsored organization, will hold its second annual bench press competition on Sunday, September 9 in Park Ridge. The event will begin at noon at the Centel building located at 36 S. Fairview.

SAAS is an organization dedicated to drug-free sports and to educating the public about the side-effects and dangers of using steroids. Mike Collet, a telephone PBX repairperson and experienced weight lifter, started SAAS in conjunction with Centel in the spring of '89.

Through a Centel public speakers program, Collet makes several presentations a month to area organizations and schools to promote drug-free sporting activities.

"Because steroid use is most prevalent among teenage athletes, I have talked extensively to area high school students," added Collet. "I have also established a SAAS hotline (708) 297-SAAS to offer information and support to athletes and others who have questions about steroid abuse."

The SAAS bench press competition will feature the SAAS powerlifting team, along with other area participants. The event is open to all athletes who are drug-free and practice healthy, all natural lifting. Weigh-ins for the event will be held from 9 a.m. - 11 a.m. and the lifting will begin at noon.

For more information or to become a member of SAAS, call (708) 297-SAAS or write to Mike Collet, SAAS Program, c/o Centel, 2004 Miner Street, Des Plaines, IL 60016.

Electricity demand nears record high

Demand for electricity by Commonwealth Edison's 3.1 million northern Illinois customers neared record levels Monday, Aug. 27.

The demand of 17,040,000 kilowatts occurred on the first 90-degree weekday since July 9 during an unusually cool summer, Edison noted.

The all-time record demand by Edison customers, 17,459,000 kw, occurred on Aug. 17, 1988, during a summer whose drought and record breaking heat stood in contrast to the comparatively cool, rainy summer of 1990, the company noted. The previous peak load for this summer was 15,312,000 kw on July 9. Edison customers set an all-time record for holiday use of electricity July 4 when they demanded 13,377,000 kw.

Edison's two newest generating units, Braidwood 1 and 2, operated at full capacity, each contributing 1,120,000 kw toward meeting customers' demands. Literature currently being circulated by the Citizens Utility Board claims Braidwood 1 and 2 "will not be fully needed until well after the year 2000." CUB testified before the Illinois Commerce Commission that Edison's 1990 peak load would total 14,968,000 kw, more than two million kw less than today's actual demand by customers, Edison commented.

Use two-way left-turn lanes properly

- When a two-way left-turn lane is provided, turn left from that lane only. Do not turn left across it from another lane.
- Enter the lane just before reaching the place where you want to turn. It is important to keep the lane open to prevent an accident with a vehicle turning left from the opposite direction.
- When turning left onto a street with a two-way left-turn lane, you may turn into that lane and then enter the adjacent through lane.
- You may use the two-way left-turn lane for a U-turn if U-turns are permitted.

Two way left-turn lanes have yellow pavement markings. They usually provide easier access to businesses and shopping centers located between intersections.

Department of Transportation studies show a significant reduction in accident rates after installation of two-way left-turn lanes. However, be sure to use the lane properly, and watch for motorists who use it as a passing lane or as an extra approach lane to an intersection.

Tips for better gasoline mileage

Given the recent turbulence in the Middle East, it makes better sense than ever to conserve gasoline.

The following tips are presented by the independent, non-profit National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE), the group which certifies the nation's automotive technicians.

According to ASE President Ronald H. Weiner, "Conservation of fuel is always a good idea. But sad to say, it sometimes takes an international incident to remind us how precious fossil fuel is. Motorists can get the most out of each gallon by taking a few simple measures that will allow them to drive smarter."

Tire pressure. Drivers should make certain that their tires are properly inflated. Underinflation wastes fuel, and shortens the tires' effective life. Consult your owner's manual for the recommended pressures. Do not check the pressure when the tires are still warm from driving - let them cool down first. Out-of-line wheels make the engine work harder too; an alignment is warranted if there's uneven tread wear or if your vehicle "pulls" to one side on a flat road.

Cargo. Remove excess items from the vehicle. It's surprising how much stuff can accumulate, especially in the trunk. Less weight means better mileage.

- Plan trips. Look at your schedule and activities and try to consolidate your daily errands. Some trips may be unnecessary. Also, try to travel when traffic is light so you can avoid stop-and-go conditions.
- Avoid excessive standing and idling. Shut off the engine while waiting for friends and family.
- Use windows and air conditioning wisely. Due to air resistance, your mileage should improve if you keep your windows closed at speeds above 35 mph. Some good news for motorists in warmer parts of the country: If your air conditioning system is in good condition, you should actually get a bit better mileage at speeds above 35 mph with the air conditioner on than with it off and the windows open.
- Observe speed limits. Mileage decreases sharply above 55 mph.
- Drive Gently. Avoid sudden accelerations and jerky stop-and-go's. Anticipate the traffic pattern ahead of you and adjust your speed gradually and well in advance. Pretend there's an egg between your foot and the gas pedal.
- Warm Ups. Today's modern vehicles are designed to "warm up" much faster - a matter of seconds - so forget about those three-minute warm ups in the morning. If you have electronic fuel injection, don't pump the pedal to set the choke - there isn't one.
- Engine Performance. A well maintained engine operates more efficiently and will get better gas mileage. Follow the service schedules listed in your owner's manual. Replace filters and fluids as recommended. With today's high-tech engines, it's wise to go to a good shop with certified auto technicians for engine performance work. Ask your technician if your engine really needs high-octane gasoline.
- Experienced drivers will recall many of the tips from their days in driver's education classes during their first few drives with their parents. The advice is still sound; it's just that we have to be reminded from time to time.

Coffee will be served at 9 a.m. with the meeting called to order at 9:30 a.m. by Chairman Dodee Connelly of Morton Grove.

Emma Kowalenko, president of Kowalenko & Associates, Inc., an historical consulting service firm, will speak about a project to put into a database a directory of oral history collections.

A wealth of historical knowledge is largely unused because no one knows where or how many oral histories exist in the metropolitan Chicagoland area. The directory will index and make-accessible this information.

N.E.I.L group sets meeting

Cook County Assessor's Office liaison awarded

Recently, a plaque was presented to Richard Vanecko, liaison to the Cook County Township Assessor's Association for the Cook County Assessor's Office. The purpose of the award was to recognize the work he has done during his tenure and during difficult and changing times in the assessment field. The past 12 years have seen a transformation occur in the relationship between the Cook County Township Assessor's Association and the Cook County Assessor's Office. The many services which most Cook County Township Assessor's offices now provide, has been sanctioned and encouraged by the Cook County Assessor's office. Although Township Assessor's do not do the original assessment of real estate, they are involved in the assessment process. The Cook County Assessor has the enormous task of assessing in excess of 1.4 million parcels of real estate in Cook County. Vanecko has prudently helped initiate and accelerate a program of cooperation with the Cook County Township Assessor's Association. The goal of our combined effort is to offer good and efficient service at the grass root or Township level. This cooperation has resulted in a high level of personalized service which many Township residents appreciate and expect.

Letters To The Editor

Nilesite in hope of 'Fine Arts' re-evaluation programs

Dear Editor: Why is it that Niles appears to have no interest in the Fine Arts? If I wish to hear a recital or see a somewhat progressive art exhibit, I must go to Skokie or some other neighboring community. It seems to me that if I want to hear music or see art in Niles I am limited to viewing yarn and bead creations at so-called "art and craft" fairs and listening to wedding bands play '50s music at the yearly Niles Festival. But let us not forget dance. Why enjoy even a simple production of a ballet when I can join the Niles Square Dance Club? Perhaps I am making an overstatement, but I am always hearing about the wonderful funding and developments at the Niles Public Library. Literature is a wonderful form of the Fine Arts, but the next time the Library Board thinks of purchasing another "quality" Stephen King novel, couldn't they just put the money towards holding music and dance recitals and art exhibits at the library? Meanwhile, I'll see you at the Skokie Public Library.

At the zoning hearing, Mavris could not tell the price of the property, when asked, and submitted the same plan as a previous rezoning petition, developer Sam Callas. Callas owns three lots at Golf Road and Greenwood Avenue and has an option to buy a fourth parcel of land. He claims the land is unsuitable for residential use, but the homeowners object, pointing to the number of new homes built on Greenwood Avenue in the past few years.

The homeowners have fought zoning attempts at least seven times in five years, according to Joe Salerno, Niles director of code enforcement. He noted any municipality within one-and-a-half miles has a say on the zoning and all are invited to attend the public hearing; if they have a problem with the zoning, they have a right to object.

Niles is backing the homeowners and at the hearing, asked the

"We have experienced a relatively large turnover in housing," Scheck noted. "There's a number of new families moving into the community and more young children on the streets...Frankly I don't know how to explain the decrease."

"We will be looking very carefully at each block of dwellings," Scheck continued. To the extent we've been undercounted by a thousand or more people, we'll ask for a special census."

lic and police safety by eliminating high speed chases of speeders and also avoids accusations of bias in awarding tickets. The company suggests PhotoRadar could be operated by community service officers, rather than police, and further free police from traffic duties.

With no cost to Niles taxpayers, the company proposes to provide the equipment and process and mail the speeding tickets. They say 98 percent of citations received are paid by mail, but if recipients fail to pay, the company sends a second notice, using stronger language. If necessary, it follows with a third notice sent by registered mail to the offender's last known address. The company exacts a fee from each fine paid.

PhotoRadar's backers compare Niles with Paradise Valley, a Phoenix, Ariz., suburb, where the device is already in use. Like Niles, Paradise Valley is a pathway to other suburbs and subject to heavy traffic. Since the introduction of the speed control device, Paradise Valley has seen a 42 percent drop in the injury rate from accidents due to speeding.

The device is usually set up inside a police car. The manufacturer hopes to make Niles the first Illinois municipality to use the device and to sweeten its proposal, will provide a fully equipped police vehicle for the device's operation.

Niles officials will further discuss the advantages and legalities of PhotoRadar before approving its installation.

Niles residents will not have to use the yard waste bags which they purchase for the disposal of their branches. On the appropriate Monday for their area, they will just put the loose branches out near the curb area where their garbage is normally picked up.

During the fall months of October and early November, the village will pick up any loose leaves that are piled at the curb or in the street. If residents prefer, they may use regular lawn bags for their leaves which will be dumped into village trucks and the plastic bags will be left at the curb.

Residents may also choose to mulch their leaves and dispose of them in the village yard waste bags which they purchase. These bags can be put out with your garbage on your regular pickup day.
