Mayors back plan for single member districts

by Sheila Hackett

Niles Mayor Nicholas Blase and other suburban Cook County mayors are working to give suburbanites more "say" on the Cook County Board.

They're promoting the Nov. 6 binding referendum that would require election to the Board of Commissioners to be based on new population districts to be established on the basis of the 1990 census. The so-called single member districts would end the present at-large representation by the 17 board members. Currently, ten members are from Chicago and seven from the suburbs.

Sept. 10, Mayor Blase pointed to the increased involvement of county government in suburban

Dist. 63 approves $19 million budget

by Eileen Hirschfeld

At a regular meeting and following a budget hearing, a $19,449,720 budget was approved for the 1990-91 fiscal year of East Maine Elementary School District 63 Sept. 11. Total expenditures decreased $373,203

The educational fund, which accounts for about 80 percent of the entire budget, will be increased from last year by $632,948 to $12,998,377. An increase reflects the recent raise in

Proposed 300-seat eatery brings Crain Street residents out in force

Residents irate over proposed restaurant

by Diane Miller

Crain Street homeowners came out in force to Monday night's meeting of the Niles Plan Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals to voice their concern over a proposed eatery in the vacant Uniforms Unlimited building in Sportmart Plaza, Dempster Street and Harlem Avenue, Niles.

Jim Conroy, director of construction for H-C Developers, a division of Sportmart and Jerry Saltzman, professional traffic surveyor for Barton-Ashman together with Sanford Cantor, head of H-C Developers. Sportmart were present at the meeting.

The proposed restaurant, Old Country Buffet, is part of a national chain based in Minneapolis and currently has restaurants in Rolling Meadows and Merrillville, Ind.

The eatery has expressed an interest in the center for 10,000 square feet of their vacant corner building, but no lease has been negotiated. Because an eatery is interested in the property, it is necessary for management to seek a B1 Special Use zoning.

Conroy presented architectural drawings showing proposed renovation plans for the shopping center including an entire new facade and new store fronts across the center. "We want to give the center more presence on the corner of Dempster and

Score one for the little old lady down the block. And give a little bow to The Bugle's Diane Miller.

The intrepid "lady" was the gal who told the village she was leaving a branch on her front lawn until they picked it up or until hell freezes over. She told the village honchos they could ticket her, send her up the river or even pull the switch, but she wanted them to haul away her branch.

My next door office neighbor, editor Diane Miller, jumped on the story and recommended the village create a program where different areas would have pick-ups on alternate weeks. After weeks of "letters to the editor", Niles came up with a program which will include branch and leaves pick-up at the curb area.

Score one for the little old lady. Score two for Editor Miller. And add a small doff of the hat to the local newspaper which hasn't won many battles lately.

Niles police warn against phone solicitors

Niles Police Chief Raymond Giovannelli is telling businesses not to be intimidated by fundraising organizations claiming to be affiliated with the Niles department.

"We, the Niles Police Dept., DO NOT make solicitations over the phone. If we do solicit, it is in person and we identify ourselves as Niles Police officers," a Sept. 10 department release explains. "If you wish to donate to these (organizations) represented by phone solicitors), that is your decision. "We have also been told that the solicitors will use high pressure or even have made threats about the non-givers receiving tickets as they drive through Niles," the release continues. "We want to (assure) you that this tactic is not in line with the goals of this police department."

Giovannelli asks businesses who feel they have been threatened or intimidated or who have a question about such a fundraising organization to contact his office at 647-0400.

Niles police nab convenience store robbery suspect

Prompt action by a Niles police officer resulted in the capture of one of two suspects in a Sept. 9 robbery at White Hen Pantry, 9004 Milwaukee Ave. The second male suspect escaped with at least $200 from a store safe.

Officer Kenneth Sall drove up to the convenience store one minute after being radioed of a robbery shortly before 10 p.m. Sall nabbed a 43-year old Chicago man as he ran from the rear of the store in an attempt to join his waiting accomplice in a car parked in a service station across

Niles resident harvests crop from his 'hydroponic' garden

by Sheilya Hackett

Just when most home gardeners are putting their last tomatoes on the window sill, Nilesite Ray Bartolucci's plants are growing with gusto and producing more. The reason may be Bartolucci's garden is hydroponic, a process of raising plants in a mixture of water and nutrients. It's a method often used in nurseries, Bartolucci said, but he may be the first backyard gardener to try the process in Illinois.

Bartolucci may be the first back yard gardener to try the process in Illinois.

This, his first year of hydroponic gardening, Bartolucci limited himself to three crops: tomatoes, green peppers and egg plant. And, although the growing season normally matches that of dirt gardens, this year, Bartolucci is watching his green plants continue to produce while most dirt gardens wane in the shortened days of fall.

The veteran dirt gardener of 30 years saw the abundance of a New York relative's hydroponic plot on a recent vacation and determined to try it himself. With a kit the relative puts together for $30, Bartolucci set up his experiment next to his regular garden and soon was in business.

The basis of the kit is rock wool, a fibrous material that formerly was used in insulation. It's a type of flocking made from rock that's compressed and made into three foot slab-planters, two inches high and six inches wide. Three small boxes of more rock wool are set on top of the slab and serve as receptacles for the seeds or plants. Because he started late this year, Bartolucci washed the dirt off purchased seedlings and planted them in the rock wool.

Bartolucci is watching his green plants continue to produce while most dirt gardens wane in the shortened days of fall.

Twice a day, he fills an empty gallon-sized jug with a water/nutrient solution and inverts the jug onto a pipe. In Bartolucci's method, the nutrient slowly drips into the rock wool base through tiny tubes, but the average gardener could use a sprinkling can.

The rock wool slab can be reused for another crop, but the small planter boxes must be replaced and are available at a moderate charge.

The veteran gardener normally raises swiss chard, kohlrabi, beans, beets, cucumber and tomatoes in a 20 ft. x 30 ft. plot, but with the success and challenge of his hydroponic crop, he may forsake dirt gardening for this new way. He said "Once it's set up, it's easy!" and besides, he doesn't have to hoe the rock wool planter. He claims hydroponic gardens grow faster and produce more.

Bartolucci calls it "something different" and a method that takes little space, an advantage for apartment dwellers with limited patio space. Roses also grow in this medium.

As eye-opening as the hydroponic method is, to an observer, the Ray Bartolucci family's love for the garden must be part of the

A plastic sleeve covering the rock wool helps retain the moisture, but small holes at the base of the sleeve allow any excess moisture to run off.

Skaja gets nod for funeral home expansion

by Diane Miller

Skaja Brothers Funeral Home received approval from the Niles Plan Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals Monday evening to enclose the existing second floor and increase their parking area through the purchase of the lot at 7830 Milwaukee Avenue.

Bernard and James Skaja appeared before the board and outlined their expansion plans which included the deletion of the two apartments on the second floor and the remodeling of the area to include four additional funeral parlors. In addition, they explained that with the purchase of the lot at 7830 Milwaukee, the former site of Mama Nitti's restaurant, they would now have 124 parking spaces. Since village code would require 135 spaces, they were seeking a 10% variation from the zoning board and permission to reduce the landscaping area at the rear of the lot

Objector fails to meet with Dist. 70 board

A special School District 70 electoral board meeting planned for Sept. 10 failed to take place. The board was to hear a Morton-Grove resident's objections to a Borg School referendum. But Sept. 11, District Superintendent John Graham said Raymond Solal, a resident objecting to a phrase in one referendum, indicated earlier that day he would not participate in the meeting because the board did not have proper jurisdiction.

Morton Grove residents will have 90 days to correct violations

Sewer violation notices mailed to homeowners

by Nancy Keraminas

The village of Morton Grove began its second phase of compliance with a Metropolitan Water Reclamation District (MWRD) mandate to eliminate ground and storm water from sanitary sewers by notifying 137 property owners that they must repair faulty downspouts and pumps which empty into sanitary sewers. The first wave of notices was mailed out Sept. 10.

"This is our pilot area," Village Administrator Larry Arft said, indicating this first batch of homeowners are in the north central area of the village roughly bounded by Naragansett Avenue and Beckwith Road west of the Chicago River. Approximately one third of all village residences have sump pump and down spout violations which will have to be corrected within 90 days of receipt of the official notification.

Morton Grove has already spent $2 million on the public portion of its MWRD mandated sewer repairs. The requirements for both the public and private sector projects are imposed on all communities by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency under the authority granted in the Clean Water Act.

The village expects to send out all 2,000 notices by November, along with detailed explanations of types of violations, available technical assistance from community development staff, an alphabetical list of plumbers currently licensed and bonded by the village and financial assistance plans. An estimated 1,500 will involve repairs estimated at between $350 and $2,000. All work will require a permit from the village, for which the fee will be waived.

Two caught selling liquor to minor

In a village-wide sweep, to stem underage drinking, Morton Grove police on Sept. 8 arrested two men for selling alcoholic liquor to a minor.

At the LaBamba restaurant/bar, 6000 Dempster St., police closed in after the male bartender, a 24-year-old Chicagoan, sold a bottle of beer to an undercover, 19-year-old community service officer. The bartender was later released on $1,000 bond and has an Oct. 11 court date.

The restaurant/bar was pinpointed because of two previous citations for allowing minors to be served and consume alcohol. In a second incident the same night, investigators charged a 34-year-old Morton Grove resident, the cashier at Family Pantry, a convenience store at 9259 Waukegan Road, for selling a six pack of beer to the same minor community service officer. The cashier posted ten per cent of a $1,000 bond and also has an Oct. 11 court date.

In neither location was the minor asked his age or for identification. At a third checkpoint in the 9400 block of Waukegan Road, the minor attempting to buy alcohol was told in effect, "No I.D., no sale."

The LaBamba arrest was the third citation for the bar's personnel in less than 14 months.

In July, '89, the manager, a Chicago woman, 43, was charged with allowing the consumption of alcohol by minors. At the time, two 20-year-old Skokie men were arrested for possession and consumption of alcohol. In June, '90, the owner/manager of LaBamba, a Chicago man, 44, along with two 20-year-old male customers, one from Morton Grove, the other from Cary, were arrested.

Rialto Theatre presents Gene Kelly

The Rialto Square Theatre will present its gala season opener, "An Evening With Gene Kelly," at 8 p.m. Sat., Sept. 15.

In a rare personal appearance, the multi-talented Kelly will chronicle his star-studded career using actual film footage, and answer questions from his audience.

For five decades, Kelly has consistently entertained and amazed audiences with his fresh, innovative techniques. While internationally known as actor, singer, dancer and choreographer, he has also established himself with equal distinction as producer and director of motion pictures, television and the Broadway stage.

The Kelly legend began as he left his home town of Pittsburgh with sights set on a long illustrious career in the theatre. A dramatic role in "The Time of Your Life" established this bright young dancer as a Broadway luminary.

Kelly's greatest opportunity in New York came with the musical play "Pal Joey" in 1940, after which David O. Selznick immediately signed him for Hollywood. His performances in motion pictures are legendary, with memorable films including "Singin' In The Rain," said to be the greatest musical ever produced, as well as "An American In Paris" and "On The Town." Leading ladies included Debbie Reynolds, Cyd Charisse, Leslie Caron, Rita Hayworth, Judy Garland and Lana Turner. His credits as a director span from the hit Broadway musical "Flower Drum Song" to the elaborate film version of "Hello Dolly."

Tickets are $30.50, $25.50, $21.50 and $17.50, available at the Rialto ticket office, 102 N. Chicago St. in Joliet. To charge by phone call (815) 726-6600 or Ticketmaster, (312) 902-1500.

Check tax withholding with IRS computer

Now that more than half the year is over, the Internal Revenue Service advises you to double check your tax withholding and make sure you have the correct amount of federal income tax withheld from your wages.

The IRS has a new computer assistance line that will help you do just that. It gives line by line instructions for completing IRS Form W-4, "Employer's Withholding Certificate," and tells you the number of withholding allowances you should claim. If you currently have too much or too little tax withheld, you should file a new Form W-4 with your employer.

This service can assist you in three languages—English, French and Spanish. You can use it seven days a week, 24 hours a day by calling (312) 353-1040 from a touch-tone phone.

Rabbinical Council gives statement on Jerusalem

On the eve of the 23rd Anniversary of the reunification of Jerusalem we think it important to spotlight the accomplishments of the State of Israel in caring for this most holiest of cities, ever cognizant of its role in the life and history of humankind.

It is appropriate to note that in its 3,000-year history Jerusalem has never been more accessible, never been more open to the faithful of all religions, as it is today.

The care taken by Mayor Kollek in particular in maintaining the architectural authenticity of the city, again reflecting its uniqueness and importance to so many, is appariant to all who have walked her streets. Jerusalem's rich history, her unusual beauty and grace, have been lovingly preserved and enhanced.

Jerusalem presents special problems to anyone charged with her care. Tensions, age old differences, and the current political realities of the Middle East, all contribute to making this task extremely difficult. Yet, in spite of these many difficulties, the State of Israel has been successful, as no other nation in history in fulfilling sacred responsibility in caring for Jerusalem.

We salute the State of Israel for its approach to this the Eternal City of Peace. We pray that Jerusalem radiate the love and compassion we all must feel for each other if we are to truly establish peace for all humanity.

Customers report stolen wallets in grocery store

The late afternoons of Sept. 8 and 9, two women shopping in a food store in the 6900 block of Dempster Street, Morton Grove, reported their wallets missing from their purses.

Sept. 8, a Skokie woman, 68, noticed her wallet gone and reported it to the store's service counter. A few minutes later, the service counter employees spotted a similar wallet among grocery items in a shopping cart. The woman said she lost $45 in cash and credit cards, but identified the wallet as her own.

Sept. 9, a 78-year-old Morton Grove woman said the purple wallet from her large hand bag contained four credit cards, one of which was worth $20; her driver's license, worth $8, and $175 in cash.

Each victim suspected an unknown woman who had stood near them as the thief.

Niles man charged with DUI

A citizen's tip resulted in a drunken Niles driver being kept from behind the wheel Sept. 6.

The 40-year-old man was stopped in the 7800 block of Milwaukee Avenue, after the Niles officer confirmed a citizen's report that a white truck was straddling the lanes and weaving.

After being asked to exit the truck, the driver reportedly stumbled, swayed and noticeably smelled of alcohol. The arresting officer noted the driver had problems performing field sobriety tests as well. The driver was charged with DUI and other traffic offenses and will appear in court Oct. 16.

Vending machines burglarized

A newspaper distributor complained to police, between Sept. 6-7, persons unknown used a hammer-type tool to break into three newspaper vending machines he owned.

He estimated a total of $200 was taken from his machines in the 6800, 6900 and 7200 blocks of Dempster Street, Morton Grove.

Rider flees cab without paying

A cab driver told police an unknown offender, about 21-years-old, fled his cab without paying in the 8900 block of Sherman Road, Morton Grove, in the early morning of Sept. 9.

The missing passenger, who owed the cabbie about $25, was described as 5'8", heavy set, with brown, spiky hair, and dressed in a dark suit, possibly a tuxedo.

Couple's return interrupts burglary

Unknown thief(s) escaped with approximately $500 worth of jewelry and some World War II souvenirs Sept. 7, but Niles police believe the home invasion was interrupted when the owners returned to their Maryland Avenue residence in Ransom Ridge around 11:30 p.m.

Investigators determined that the burglar(s) cut a rear bathroom screen, lifted it up and entered the home to ransack drawers in a bedroom and a den, using the homeowners' pillowcase to transport a gold rope necklace, gold chain with crucifix charm, cameo earrings, military memorabilia and two insignia one dollar bills.

Man tries to slash Doc Weed's doorman

A broken bottle-wielding Chicagoan was apprehended by arriving Niles police as he fled Doc Weed's, a Niles night spot at 8832 Dempster St., Sept. 7. The arrestee had attacked an employee who had asked him to leave.

Prior to the 1:59 a.m. arrest, a Doc Weed's door host asked the 22-year-old Uptown man and his male friend on the dance floor to ask them to leave, reportedly because they had been making obscene gestures as they danced. After they refused, the door host physically removed them from the area.

Couple escapes with armfuls of clothing

Officials at Fashion Bug, 8776 Dempster St., reported the Sept. 9 theft of at least $400 worth of merchandise. A baseball cap worn by the male offender was left at the scene.

Employees told Niles police a thin woman in her late teens and a 21-year-old mustachioed man of average build and with chin hair ran into the store, grabbed armfuls of jeans and shirts and exited, escaping in a dark blue 1979 Cadillac Coupe DeVille without license plates. Both man and woman were of average height.

Each pair of jeans was valued at $35 and each shirt retailed at $18.

The men were missing a generator, cordless drills and linemen's tools and equipment valued at $1,850, in addition to keys.

Back To School...
Some teens will do anything to put an end to it.

Yusef Hakimi, M.D.
Child and Adolescent Psychiatrist

The beginning of the school year... an exciting time. Students look forward to seeing their friends again. A time to don the new fall wardrobe. Time for football, dances and looking forward to Christmas vacation!

But, according to Yusef Hakimi, M.D., a child and adolescent psychiatrist on staff at several hospitals including Resurrection Medical Center, this time of year only magnifies the stress and pressures some of these teens feel. There's competition among friends in the areas of sports, grades, and popularity. They're having trouble achieving grades that meet parents' expectations. Or perhaps it's difficult to find a peer group who will accept them. Maybe they're struggling to fight the peer pressures of drugs, alcohol or sex. Some have experienced devastating rejection from a boyfriend or girlfriend. Some are searching for ways to cope with family problems as well.

Teen suicides tend to increase at the beginning of the school year. Unfortunately, parents and teachers often minimize or ignore suicide threats because they believe they are just attention-getting devices. Dr. Hakimi urges parents and teachers to understand the source of unusual comments and behavior, and then to seek professional help.

Suicide is a response to deep feelings of internal confusion. And adolescence is characterized by contradictions and lack of sense of direction... an intense ambivalence between a conscious wish to grow up and the unconscious desire to remain a child.

As a psychiatrist trained specifically in dealing with children's and teenagers' emotional, behavioral and learning problems, Dr. Hakimi is able to address the unique needs of this age group using special techniques. He seeks to identify the core of a problem, not just the symptoms. He understands the meaning of a youngster's actions, behavior, verbal and nonverbal communication, and uses that knowledge to help the child gain strength on an unconscious level.

Through it all, Dr. Hakimi emphasizes one central theme—poor self-esteem is at the core of every psychiatric problem, including teen suicide attempts. "If someone doesn't value him- or herself, that causes lots of psychiatric problems."

The main issue is to help children and teens become aware of their feelings. "Telling them what to do doesn't help. My goal is to help interpret for them what they are thinking and feeling, and how they can deal with their feelings and gain strength, control, and happiness in their lives," Dr. Hakimi emphasized.

Yusef Hakimi, M.D. can be reached by calling 708-825-3300.
His office is located in Park Ridge.

Prostate screenings at North Suburban Clinic

As part of Prostate Cancer Awareness Week, Sept. 16-23, North Suburban Clinic will be offering free prostate exams to men age 40 and over.

The Week is a community service program designed to focus public attention on this serious cancer and encourage men to have an annual exam.

Prostate cancer will strike nearly 106,000 men this year and kill more than 30,000. It is the most common tumor and second leading cause of cancer death in American men. The disease mainly afflicts men age 40 and older.

"Men should get examined regularly, because prostate cancer usually develops with no noticeable symptoms," says Dr. Israel Berger, a Board Certified Urologist with North Suburban Clinic. "If detected in its early stages, it is potentially curable. The screening is intended to provide men with a preliminary exam to detect prostate cancer.

The screenings will take place on Monday, Sept. 17 from 6:30-9 p.m. and Tuesday, Sept. 18 from 5-7:30 p.m. at North Suburban Clinic, located at 4801 Church St. in Skokie. Appointments are required, and can be made by calling 674-9830. The screenings will be performed by Dr. Berger and his associate, Dr. Randall Randazzo, also a board certified urologist.

North Suburban Clinic is one of more than 600 medical centers across the United States that will hold free screenings during Prostate Cancer Awareness Week. The program is sponsored by the Prostate Cancer Education Council, a coalition of national health groups.

For more information about the screenings, contact Margie Babura at (708) 885-0400.

Pilot program helps addicted individuals

"This pilot program acknowledges the wounded individual as a healer; by working with addicted individuals, the person in recovery continues to grow in strength and self-worth." This is the aim of the director of the new Peer Leadership Training Program, Edward F. Schurz.

Developed by Montay College in conjunction with Forest Hospital, this pilot program will prepare recovering individuals to work as helping agents on the "personal, same-boat level."

"This program harnesses a different trust factor that occurs between fellow travelers on the road of recovery," states Director Schurz. The students in this program will have an opportunity to work directly with in-patients with strong clinical supervision.

After completion of the 48 weeks, the participants will receive 10 hours of college credit applicable toward an Addictions Certification Certificate or Associates in Applied Science degree.

Openings are still available in this unique program. Classes will be held at Forest Hospital, 500 Wilson Lane, Des Plaines. Call Ed Schurz at Montay College for further information (312) 539-1919.

Friendly visitors program seeks volunteers

A friendly visitor program is a plan for volunteer service which includes visiting the community's lonely or shut-in persons. Volunteers for friendly visiting accept the responsibility for regular consistent visits to an individual in need of someone to take a personal interest in him.

Visits should be made at least once a week and, if both the volunteer and the shut-in would like, more frequently. A visitor can provide stimulation and enhance the person's interest in life and the outside world. He can aid in re-establishing or maintaining the person's link to the community in various ways.

For the individual who, because of age, chronic illness or disability, cannot get out and make friends, the friendly visit brings relief from loneliness, isolation and fear. It can restore the give-and-take companionship of normal life, the enjoyment of being wanted and liked, the pleasure of having a friend who is interested enough to call regularly.

For the friendly visitor, the program fills leisure hours with new satisfaction, offers the reward of helping others, enriches life through new interests and provides a friend who needs and appreciates companionship.

For further information, please call or drop in at The Center of Concern, Suite 223, 1580 N. Northwest Highway, Park Ridge, or call (708) 823-0453 and ask for Joan.

Center of Concern provides referral program

When The Center of Concern was founded over 12 years ago it was an Information and Referral program. It is still viable today, much enlarged by the expanded amount of information people are requesting about the larger number of facilities available.

Mental Health Counseling, for instance, has many off-shoots from psychological counseling. The Center has the information necessary to refer someone seeking help to the appropriate area of assistance.

Many other problem situations appear daily in the offices of The Center, and some of them require referral to another agency. Please stop in at 1580 N. Northwest Hwy., Suite 223, in Park Ridge, or call (708) 823-0453. The offices are open every weekday from 9 to 5 o'clock.

Baby Brigade marches into seniors' hearts

by Jonathan H. Marshall

The small children scrambled around the wheelchairs, balloons waved and beach balls bounced among the senior citizens.

The baby Brigade had arrived Wednesday, Aug. 15 at Bethany Methodist Terrace nursing home, 8425 N. Waukegan Rd., Morton Grove, for a ceremony to thank volunteers.

On a mat in the middle of Bethany Methodist Terrace's recreation room, more than a dozen babies and their mothers played with toys and dolls. About 20 residents sat in a circle around the mat, while the older children talked and played games with them. At the end of the play session, each child marched or crawled forward and received an award - a toy made by the senior citizens.

"The focus is on having the kids bring some joy and pleasure into the nursing home," said Shari Feifel, Baby Brigade coordinator. As she watched her two children play, Feifel explained that the program was started in 1985 by the Uptown Center Hull House in Chicago.

Every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday more than 60 volunteer parents and their children taken turns visiting nine nursing homes in the northern suburbs, Rogers Park and Uptown. Each nursing home is visited once or twice a month, Feifel said.

"They're wonderful," Catherine Nelson, a Bethany Terrace resident said as she sat in her wheelchair. "But sometimes they're pretty bashful," she added, clearly enjoying the laughter.

A member of the Baby Brigade receives a handmade gift from one of the seniors to thank him for participating in the program.

"The residents love the noise," said Monica Glaser, senior projects director at Uptown Center Hull House. The Baby Brigade brings life to nursing home residents, gives mothers an opportunity to meet other mothers and offers children the chance to get involved with older people, according to Glaser.

Glaser added that toys such as puppets provide occupational therapy for nursing home residents. The program is funded by the nursing homes, Glaser said. Some residents' families ask the staff to ensure that their parents go to the Baby Brigade parties, said Lisa Storto, marketing director at Bethany. The Baby Brigade helps "residents who rarely smile to smile," said Storto.

"You get to see people you haven't seen and talk with them and get to know them and have a lot of fun," John Tetzlaff, 9, said. He walked up to each resident and introduced himself. "I usually tell them my name and ask them their name," said Tetzlaff, who lives in Chicago. "Sometimes they tell me about their family." For his gift from the residents, Tetzlaff received a doll made out of cloth and a root beer can.

"I think it's wonderful," Feifel's husband Azi said. "Everyone is giving and coming away with something." His daughter Ziyva, who at age 5 is a two-year veteran of the Baby Brigade, ran up and showed her father the wooden necklace she had received. When asked if she enjoyed the Baby Brigade, she nodded and ran off to play.

As children, parents and residents began to sing "Ring Around the Rosy." Marie Rauscher, age 90, exclaimed, "We used to sing that song!" Rauscher said she is used to having children around and looks forward to the visits. "It's nice for the children," she said, joining a chorus of "London Bridge is Falling Down."

Shari Feifel, Baby Brigade Coordinator, honored volunteer mothers with certificates of appreciation.

Survey assesses seniors needs

Of the 385,088 people over the age of 60 in suburban Cook County (1985 census estimate), the following is estimated.

• Contrary to the myth that families are unavailable to older persons, almost 9 of 10 elders report they have someone to depend on if they become sick or disabled. People over the age of 85 are most likely to report that they have no one to depend on, 13 percent, or no one within one hour's travel time.

• Almost 29 percent of the elders report attending one of the senior centers in suburban Cook County.

• In this sample, 77 percent live in single-family dwellings. Among the remaining renters, 17 percent are in rent-reduced situations based on age or income status. Although the large majority are very satisfied or satisfied with their housing arrangement, 9 percent indicated a possibility of moving within the next two years. About one-third of these individuals indicated that any move would most likely be in the Chicago area, and 29 percent reported a preference for an out-of-state location.

• An elderly person interviewed by the Heartland Center on Aging reported that they had lived in the same home for 92 years! Most seniors want to age in place - to grow old in their own home environment. National statistics show that most elderly suburbanites live in housing that is usually 40-50 years old. Approximately 25.1 percent of the seniors (60+) interviewed in suburban Cook County had lived in their homes for more than 30 years.

• More than 42,000 older persons experience more than one problem with activities such as light-laundry, special transportation, and business affairs. Approximately 25,000 seniors are impaired in three or more of these activities.

• More than 70 percent of the sample report at least one chronic health problem, and almost 22 percent - representing 82,794 seniors - have three or more chronic health difficulties. Most often, these are problems with arthritis, high blood pressure, eye diseases, or difficulty hearing.

• In general, the large majority of elders describe their health status as good or excellent, and almost half indicate they have actively attempted to improve their health status in the past year. This pro-active attempt to maintain a healthy status includes activities such as changing their diet, beginning or continuing an exercise program and reducing or stopping smoking.

• The most frequently reported transportation difficulty for seniors involves evening or weekend access. This problem appears to impact more than 30,000 elders. Almost 2 percent report difficulty getting to medical care.

• A substantial majority, 47 percent, of respondents who had not yet retired indicated their intentions to work into their 70s. 40.1 percent of non-retired also indicate a desire to work after their retirement, and among this group, 94.1 percent wish to work part-time and 59.8 percent of them want to remain in the same profession.

This information is from a study conducted for the Suburban Area Agency on Aging by the Heartland Center on Aging. Data was collected in October and November, 1988, through telephone interviews with a random sample of suburban Cook County residents.

Information was obtained in the areas of demographic characteristics, impairments in activities of daily living, chronic health problems, use of personal and housing aids for physical limitations, self-reported health perception and promotional activity, formal care experiences, social interaction, transportation, housing, retirement planning and employment, community services, economic data, insurance coverage, and difficulty affording basics. For further information call 383-0258.

The Suburban Area Agency on Aging is a private not-for-profit corporation serving the suburbs of Cook County, Illinois and is one of thirteen Area Agencies in the State of Illinois designated by the Illinois Department of Aging to act as a planning, coordinating, funding, and advocacy unit for senior services. In 1989, the Area Agency on Aging service system reached 86,300 of the estimated 404,000 (1990) suburban population age 60 and over through a wide variety of community services funded at local senior centers, township offices, family services agencies, legal assistance office, congregational meal sites and other locations.

Alzheimer's Chapter expands services

The Chicago Area Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association has moved to larger offices to accommodate a growing staff needed to deliver greatly expanded services for the more than 108,000 Chicago area families affected by Alzheimer's Disease.

The Chapter's new offices will be located in the Concourse Building, 4709 Golf Road, Suite 1015, Skokie. The Chapter's Helpline telephone number will be forwarded for an indefinite period.

"We formed the Chicago Area Chapter just ten years ago with very few volunteers working out of their homes. Since then we've added new programs and services each year," said Peg Donovan, Chapter President. "Our network of volunteers providing those services has grown steadily over the years, and we've simply outgrown the Evanston facilities."

As the number of Alzheimer's victims has grown—most recent estimates suggest more than four million victims nationwide—the Chapter's services have been expanded to accommodate the growing number of Chicago area families seeking help.

There are now 30 Alzheimer's support groups throughout the city and suburbs, and the Chapter's 24-Hour Helpline answers more than 20,000 calls for advice, information, and encouragement each year. Other Chapter services include day care, respite aides and training, special assistance, counseling and referral, quarterly newsletters, educational materials, speakers bureau, advocacy and research support.

Implants offer alternative to dentures

Full Subperiosteal Implant

The full "sub" is used either in the upper or lower jaw as a support for a fixed, removable full denture or fixed bridge work.

The sub is used in patients who have lost much of their jaw bone structure due to resorption caused by aging, by dental disease, or by wearing dentures.

This type of implant is tailored to fit over the patient's jaw bone and is held in place by tissue attaching over the implant. The patient can then be fitted with a fixed removable denture or fixed bridgework.

The Submergible Blade Implant

The "blade" implant is used in either the upper or lower jaw, and is appropriate for supporting a bridge of 2-4 teeth.

The blade is inserted into a trough created in the jaw bone. Bone then grows around and through the slots in the blade, providing support to the implant head and the bridge attached to the head.

This implant is used only with patients who have enough bone thickness to adequately support the blade.

as much as 450 pounds per square inch—almost as much as natural teeth.

Dr. Gregory Page, a Chicago dentist, has successfully placed hundreds of such implants. He concurs, "A person who wears dentures retains 20 percent of their chewing effectiveness."

Implants have predictably increased their chewing effectiveness back to 80 percent of natural teeth." The key, according to Dr. Page, predictability. The success rate today has increased to 90 percent.

Dr. Page emphasizes that "Implantologists have minimized the problems of rejection and infection."

Innovations such as the use of titanium, a metal now used for joint replacement in other medical fields is employed.

Pain, discomfort, and long healing periods have been minimized using modern dental techniques.

Joint health care system program

The Lutheran General Health Care System, Park Ridge and Ballard Nursing Center, Des Plaines announce a new program that serves the needs and interests of Seniors and their families. The Health Education Network was developed with the purpose of providing speakers and presentations on aging issues for community and civic organizations.

Volunteers needed for terminally ill

You could be of great help to someone with a terminal illness. Volunteers are needed for the HOSPICE program at St. Francis Hospital of Evanston to directly help individuals with six months or less to live.

HOSPICE volunteers visit patients in their homes to serve a variety of needs such as helping to write a letter, reading, or providing simple companionship. Direct patient care is provided.

If you would like to make a difference in the life of a terminally ill patient, call Marge Everett at (708) 256-7882.

Implant wearers can become capable of eating apples, raw vegetables, nuts, and corn on the cob with confidence and without pain.

They no longer nervously cover their mouths when they smile. They can regain the ability to speak clearly and may no longer require denture creams, polishes, or glasses next to the bed.

Even though implants are just now coming into the public eye, tens of thousands of people have implants.

Special thanks to the following for their contributions to this article: The Midwest Implant Institute; Jody Fulks Sjogren, illustrations.

Pullen named to federal legal board

State Rep. Penny Pullen (R-55th) has been nominated to a full three-year term on the Legal Services Corp. Board of Directors. She is one of eight nominated thus far to the 11-member board and is the only director named from Illinois.

The White House announced last week that President George Bush is sending Pullen's name to the Senate for confirmation to the post, in which she has been serving since January as a "recess" appointee. Recess appointments are those made while the Senate is in recess and unable to receive nominations; their holders serve temporarily until formal nominees receive confirmation.

The appointment of Rep. Pullen by President Bush is her third presidential appointment since 1981, having previously served six years as a Reagan appointee to the National Council on Educational Research and one year on President Regan's Commission of the HIV (AIDS) Epidemic.

Cablevision offers new services

Stereo service is now available to Cablevision subscribers on a number of additional channels, and HBO and Cinemax are now available in Spanish.

HBO, MTV, and Cinemax are now available to subscribers in stereo at no extra charge. Broadcast channels have been available in stereo for a number of years. In addition, a system called second audio program has also been added. This free service will allow Spanish speaking customers to hear selected programming on HBO and Cinemax in their native language.

Customers need to be aware that they will need a stereo television to receive stereo service. Once they have this piece of equipment, the enhanced cable sound will automatically be available no matter what level of cable service they purchase. In order to hear HBO in Spanish, subscribers must have a SAP television. Most TV's bought in the last couple of years have this capability. Customers need only flip the SAP switch on the back of their TV, and HBO will be heard in Spanish.

In our technologically progressive world, it is important to stay ahead when it comes to innovative services. Cablevision demonstrates its commitment to offering the latest in cable technology by introducing stereo service on three additional channels and second audio program on HBO and Cinemax," said Irene McPhail, Cablevision general manager.

My husband returned from a walk this morning which took him through the Prairie View Community Center Park. He came upon a park employee transferring a 4' by 5' by 2' high pile of brush into a part district truck. A homeowner had dumped a pile of yard waste into a grove of trees. In our drives and walks through Morton Grove, it's becoming increasingly clear that a number of village residents don't wish to purchase the approved yard waste trash bags and don't wish to compost. Therefore, they dump it - at the edges for the forest preserves, in parks, and near playgrounds. Their yard waste then becomes someone else's problem - the village's. Our village employees work hard to maintain nature areas and parks so that we may all enjoy them. In talking to the park employee, it was apparent that this problem is widespread: park trash barrels are being stuffed full of yard waste so that there's no room for picnic trash, and open piles of brush, weeds, and mown grass now have to be removed by park employees from about 50 percent of Morton Grove's parks. This isn't fair. It's not fair to the people who wish to enjoy clean, open parks; it's not fair to those homeowners who are disposing of their yard waste in a responsible manner; it's not fair to all of us as taxpayers. The park employees told my husband that they were going to purchase a chipper/shredder for the truck to make the hauling a little easier. Our tax dollars will pay for that. If the present situation continues, our village may be forced to consider some sort of an assessment procedure whereby each homeowner's property would be assessed in terms of the numbers of trees, bushes, and square feet of grass. The homeowner would be given a certain number of approved yard waste bags and would be expected to pay for them. This would be an involun-

Students must supply the following items: a recent one-inch by one-inch, color, head and shoulders photo and $5 in cash (no personal checks).

If the student has obtained a 1990-91 application from school, and has it signed by a school official, permits also may be purchased at the CTA Special User Programs window at the Merchandise Mart on the 7th floor. ### Parent protests Niles Baseball All Star team selection process

An open letter to the Niles Baseball League

If you want to field a decent traveling all-star team that can compete with the other parks on an equal basis, I would suggest that you:

- 1) Eliminate the politics when choosing the team.
- 2) Set up certain criteria to be met in order to qualify.
- 3) Vote based on merit rather than if you are the coaches son.
- 4) Choose coaches by the same criteria and suggest they position and play the players by their ability, not by their fathers' preference or where they played on their respective teams during the season.

We are supposed to be looking out for the best interests of all the children, not just a few. To be chosen for the All-Star Team is an honor that should be reserved for the few children who excelled against their peers during the season, not because their Daddy is the Coach!

I don't think that this is asking too much. There are a lot of kids out there who are better qualified to represent our fine village than some of the kids on our All Star Teams, but because of lack of parental involvement, they aren't even considered.

If you can't do this, then I suggest that you eliminate the All-Star program entirely, or maybe you can field two teams. For Example:
Team #1: This could be the team that would normally get picked to represent Niles. We could call the "All Nepotism Team", consisting of all the coaches sons.
Team #2: This could be our imaginary "Dream Team" where all the players would be chosen on their ability alone.

Letters to the Editor

Illegal yard waste dumping in MG park irritates resident

An Open Letter to Our Friends And Neighbors in Morton Grove:

My husband returned from a walk this morning which took him through the Prairie View Community Center Park. He came upon a park employee transferring a 4' by 5' by 2' high pile of brush into a part district truck. A homeowner had dumped a pile of yard waste into a grove of trees. In our drives and walks through Morton Grove, it's becoming increasingly clear that a number of village residents don't wish to purchase the approved yard waste trash bags and don't wish to compost. Therefore, they dump it - at the edges for the forest preserves, in parks, and near playgrounds. Their yard waste then becomes someone else's problem - the village's. Our village employees work hard to maintain nature areas and parks so that we may all enjoy them. In talking to the park employee, it was apparent that this problem is widespread: park trash barrels are being stuffed full of yard waste so that there's no room for picnic trash, and open piles of brush, weeds, and mown grass now have to be removed by park employees from about 50 percent of Morton Grove's parks. This isn't fair. It's not fair to the people who wish to enjoy clean, open parks; it's not fair to those homeowners who are disposing of their yard waste in a responsible manner; it's not fair to all of us as taxpayers. The park employees told my husband that they were going to purchase a chipper/shredder for the truck to make the hauling a little easier. Our tax dollars will pay for that. If the present situation continues, our village may be forced to consider some sort of an assessment procedure whereby each homeowner's property would be assessed in terms of the numbers of trees, bushes, and square feet of grass. The homeowner would be given a certain number of approved yard waste bags and would be expected to pay for them. This would be an involun-ary program forced upon all of us because of the irresponsible actions of a few.

As long as we're talking about fairness - let's remember that our village is the one where streets are always kept clear in the winter. Our village employees are out there plowing all night long during heavy snowfalls. By the time some neighboring communities have gotten around to clearing intersections, our guys have already made three passes on almost every street in the village. It seems to me that responsible yard waste disposal in the summer is just a small way to show appreciation for the outstanding job our village does in the winter.

By the way, if you're hesitant to try composting because you think it's messy, smelly, or too much work, we invite you to stop by and see our working compost pile. We purchased a chipper/shredder because we knew that we'd make up the purchase price in less than two years during which time we didn't buy yard waste bags. Our compost pile is now 4' by 4' by 17" high. That's composted yard waste from a large corner lot with grass, two 40-year-old maples, two 40-year-old apple trees, 11 evergreen trees and bushes, 26 deciduous bushes and small trees, and seven small flower beds. It's important to remember that composting not only changes yard "waste" into nutritious material for plants, it also causes a 12:1 to 20:1 reduction in volume. The staff just seems to disappear, and there's no odor. We've done a lot of research on composting and are delighted with the result; we find ourselves wondering why we didn't do this before. It's so easy! Give us a call (967-7694); we're happy to share our experiences.

Let's all work together to keep Morton Grove a village in which we're proud to live.

Sincerely,
Gwen Godfrey

Maine East plans fundraisers

Although it's only the opening week of school, the senior class at Maine East wants the student body to know that it's going to be a busy, yet fun year.

Several "surprise" fundraisers are in the works for first semester, but the major fundraiser for the Class of 1991 will be the Saturday, Sept. 15, Homecoming dance.

Jenny Ricciardi (D.J., tickets, and title) of Glenview and Mary Yoon (publicity, food, and decorations) of Des Plaines are coordinating committee activities.

In addition, Kim Baim of Morton Grove and Corie Hirschtick of Des Plaines will organize senior T-shirt sales while Monica Chi of Morton Grove, assisted by Grace Hong of Morton Grove and Ella Jong of Niles, will be working on the senior breakfast.

Plans and arrangements for senior prom on Friday, May 31, were proposed and voted upon last May. The decision making process involved videotaping of three perspective hotels and reviewing the tapes by the prom committee. Kari Crowley of Des Plaines and Stephanie Simon of Morton Grove headed the site selection committee. The hotels considered were the Sheraton, Westin and Ramada. After serious consideration and voting, the Sheraton was chosen because it offered a fairly large-sized dance floor, had two dates open, and was the most reasonable out of the three hotels being considered. Ticket costs depend on how well the fundraisers do this year.

lion dollar building improvement at Maine South which is aimed at upgrading the library.

We received a letter from a Nilesite who has contacted County Treasurer Ed Rosewell about the high taxes she pays. And we received a letter from a west end Niles resident who also is incensed over his high tax bill.

We need a township-wide taxpayers' revolt. We need a group which will monitor every meeting which concerns our tax dollars. And we need the same group to push, shove and harass township committeemen, county officials and school board members to let them know that "enough is enough".

Once again, we own our areas...the schools, the parks and the public property. It is we who should control how our money is spent.

At an open house at the Warehouse Club last week, Chamber head Bob Word said he has had several homeless people walk into his new office located at the corner of Touhy and Milwaukee Avenues. He said several of the homeless have come to his office seeking food and shelter. He implied this is no longer a problem confined to the inner city.

Niles Family Service head, John Halvorson, told us some time back there have been several homeless people camping in the Forest Preserve. He said the village will give a person a meal and then drive them to the CTA at Devon and Milwaukee where they head back into Chicago.

Late Tuesday afternoon a young couple was sitting alongside Golf Road at the entrance to the Four Flags Shopping Center. They sat beside a crayon-marked cardboard sign which advertised their need for any type of employment which would result in their getting money for food. We were wondering if their sign may be a sign of the times.

At Monday night's zoning board meeting a national restaurant chain, Old Country Buffet, will wind up in the Sportmart Shopping Center at Dempster and Harlem.

'Taste of Oakton' at Skokie park

For the first time, Oakton Community College will offer two programs at the Skokie Park District this fall. A free preview of this day program will be presented at "Taste of Oakton" at 2 p.m. Monday, Sept. 17, at the Park District, 4701 Oakton, Skokie.

Community residents can meet with instructors who teach the two courses Oakton will offer: "How Do I Love Me?" beginning Oct. 4 and "Drawing Anything" beginning Nov. 9, and take advantage of instant registration. Oakton representatives will also be available to discuss programs and services offered by Oakton at the park district, at While neighbors were reporting about the problems they've had with a present tenant (Sportmart), they mentioned trucks emptying garbage dumpsters come around as early as 5:00 in the morning. The cacophony caused by the banging likely awakens the entire neighborhood.

Village officials said an ordinance forbids such action before 7:00 a.m. We suggest if the noise continues, residents should drive to the fancy home of Sportmart's owner and give him a few blasts with their garbage can lids. Maybe let the guy have a little symphony around 4:30 a.m. It would remedy their problems immediately.

The sports story about Bears' football player Dan Hampton playing again after having his tenth knee operation is sad. Coach Bill Walsh said Hampton's future does not bode well implying he could be crippled in future years.

One of my daughters lived in a San Francisco apartment complex where one of the Fortyniner's tackles lived. She told me every year the family returned to Iowa and the player underwent an operation. After the sixth operation he quit. That's a story which is not reported too often.

Mike Provenzano's wife, Joanne, reported her husband is back on the street after two recent hospital bouts. Feisty Mike will be back with his many friends at Brebeuf and St. Isaac Jogues soon, which is good news for everyone who knows Mike.

Niles' loss will be Morton Grove's gain next year when ABT TV and Kentucky Fried Chicken move. The sales tax revenue the villages receive is significant.

There's an irony to the story. Niles actively seeks new businesses to move into the village. Obviously, the flip side of this policy is to retain the businesses the community now has. While we can only guesstimate, if the combined sales of the stores is $10 million, Niles could lose $100,000 in sales tax revenue.

Niles loss becomes Morton Grove's gain.

Harlem," said Conroy.

He also noted new planters will be placed across the front of the center and a new parking lot will be constructed in the spring. The new lot will be diagonally striped and will have scattered landscape planters with trees, bushes, etc.

According to Conroy, replacement of the cooling tower in the rear of the center has already begun. Several smaller and more energy efficient units are being installed and will not only be quieter but more economical to operate.

The noise from the cooling tower has brought complaints continuously from Crain Street residents, one of whom noted that "it sounded like an airplane warming up on a runway in my backyard all the time."

New signs and lettering will be placed in the shopping center, all of which will be in total conformity with the village, noted Conroy.

The center currently has 534 parking spaces which, according to Jerry Saltzman, traffic analyzer for Barton-Ashman, is sufficient based on the hours of business of the present tenants in the center.

According to a memo sent to zoners from Joe Salerno, director of building and zoning who was not present at the meeting, the petitioners were requesting a 33 percent parking variation which was "not proper" since there is a 20 percent maximum.

Several Crain Street residents voiced their anger and objections to the proposed eatery including Joanne Provenzano who said "the parking lot was a disgrace, sidewalks were filthy, weeds and grass were knee high and the noise from the cooling tower was unbearable."

Theresa Metzker, 7227 Crain St., told the board she was concerned about odors, garbage, rodents and overflow parking heading for Crain Street.

Conroy responded by acknowledging the problems the residents have had with the center and stating they are now trying to update and revitalize it. He added all garbage will be stored in bricked-in sealed containers.

Walter Kushnik, 7217 Crain St., told the board he felt the density of restaurants on Dempster Street was getting out of hand.

Commissioner Angelo Troiani told Kushnik and the other residents present that he realized there have been numerous complaints over the center, but he also warned them that many other types of businesses could go into the center without permission from the zoning board. Troiani added some of these could include grocery stores which would generate more truck traffic for deliveries and more garbage than a restaurant would.

District 63...

teachers' salaries, paid for by the fund, as well as higher costs for educational supplies.

A sizable increase also can be noted in the transportation fund, from $770,622 to $873,584, or $102,962.

This will be the first time in several years the district is not expending funds on life and safety work which includes asbestos removal from all district schools. The asbestos has already been removed from the schools.

Although the district continues to display a deficit, District Controller Paul Halvorson said some gaps have been closed because of the quadrennial reassessment responsible for bringing in additional property taxes. This fiscal year's deficit will amount to $920,359.

In other action, board members changed to full-time the position of half-time instructor Heidi Schmeling, Melzer Kindergarten Center. The center now will have five full-time and one half-time teachers.

Also, board members approved pay raises for 204 teachers and three school psychologists. Teachers are in the last year of a two-year contract and negotiations for a new contract are scheduled to begin in March.

In other matters, board members agreed the superintendent and supervisor of operations and maintenance should be allowed to authorize building utilization, or licensing agreements. All agreements would be subject to later ratification by the board.

The board's attorney defined licensing as limited use of space while leasing is rights of ownership for a limited amount of time.

Also, board members consented entering into a one-year agreement with GasMark, Inc. to provide natural gas requirements for the district during the coming fiscal year.

Police nab...

Officers reconstructed the events preceding the arrest as follows: Two men in a tan-topped maroon Cadillac drove into the Shell station at the northwest corner of Ballard Road and Milwaukee Avenue, with the driver asking for $2 worth of gas and the passenger walking east across Milwaukee Avenue to the White Hen. After obtaining the fuel, the driver told the attendant he was going to ask his passenger for some cash to pay for the purchase and left the car to cross the street.

The first man entered the store and asked the clerk's assistance while he selected containers of juice and soda at the northeast corner of the store. The second man entered the store and the clerk noticed him behind the cash register with the locked store safe open. The robber ran out of the store crossing west on Milwaukee Avenue while the clerk alerted police.

The arrestee was identified by the clerk, by a 61-year-old Des Plaines man who witnessed the events but by the service station personnel. Extensive searching failed to turn up the Cadillac and its driver. The arrestee will appear in court Oct. 9, facing misdemeanor theft charges.

Timothy J. Regan

Marine Lance Cpl. Timothy J. Regan, whose wife, Valerie, is the daughter of Frank and Jean Mueller of Niles, was awarded the Good Conduct Medal.

He is currently serving with 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing, Marine Corps Air Station, Yuma, Ariz.

He concluded by noting, "you don't want another Lawrencewood, do you? If they don't renovate the center and lease new tenants, the structures will deteriorate and then you will have a real rodent problem."

The board voted to continue the hearing for the petition to Oct. 1 to give Conroy and the residents a chance to meet and the board to go over the recommendations presented by Salerno.

Granted a request for a parabolic dish to be installed at Here's Cheers, a bar at 8006 Oakton St. Size of dish is to be limited to 8 feet in diameter.

Robert Schaul of Schaul's Poultry, 7221 Harlem Ave., withdrew his petition to construct an addition at the rear of his property. Schaul will re-petition the board in February.

and said "(present) representation from the suburbs is not sufficient." The village boards of both Niles and Morton Grove are on record as approving the plan, but a committee of the Des Plaines City Council assigned to study the plan wants to keep the status quo and will not recommend a vote in the plan's favor. Park Ridge City Manager Gerald Haggman said the issue had not yet come before their City Council.

Lincolnwood Mayor, Frank Chulay, President of the 34-member Northwest Municipal Conference, planned to ask the members to back the proposal at their regular meeting Sept. 12. Chulay said the association has backed a similar move in the past and he didn't anticipate any objection. The single member district plan will come before Lincolnwood's Board of Trustees at their next meeting. Chulay emphasized the importance of bringing the issue to public notice in order to "make people aware of their opportunity to vote for good government."

The 1990-92 program for the League of Women Voters includes taking action to support the passage of single member districts, according to Elizabeth Matteoni of the Morton Grove-Niles League.

Lauren N. Johnson

Air Force Capt. Lauren N. Johnson has arrived for duty in Japan.

Johnson is an assistant staff judge advocate with the 475th Air Base Wing.

She is the daughter of Betty V. Johnson of Skokie.

The captain graduated in 1977 from Niles Township East high School, Skokie.
