St. John Brebeuf's school soup lunch

It has been a long tradition in the Catholic church to start the season of Lent in prayer, fasting and almsgiving. Here at St. John Brebeuf school the students and teachers did just that. On Ash Wednesday, Feb. 13, they began the day with an all-school liturgy at 8:45 a.m. For lunch, the students and faculty were served a simple meal of tomato soup and crackers. While eating the simple meal, the students were silent and listened to reflective readings and music. Special envelopes were given out and the children were asked to make a contribution to feed the poor on this day. Pictured above preparing the soup are Doug Indelak, grade 8, Edith Peirkowska, grade 4, Joey Stolz, grade 3 and Stacey Thomas, grade 6.

Display depicts urban affairs

A commemorative display, depicting 25 years of urban activism of the Jewish Council on Urban Affairs, is being shown at the temple of North Shore Congregation. Through looking at JCUA, an aspect of Chicago's history is conveyed. The display tells the story of many of Chicago's low-income communities and their plight for neighborhood empowerment. From Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s Chicago Freedom Movement, to the Chicago 1992 Committee, to the anti-Nazi marches in Marquette Park, JCUA's display is a monument to Chicago's movement for social justice and equality. The Jewish Council on Urban Affairs was founded in 1964 amidst a call for an active Jewish presence in urban issues. Today, more than 25 years later, JCUA continues to be an unparalleled voice for social justice in the Chicago area, working within the Jewish community and in minority communities to bring racial and social equality to all. While JCUA's programs and involvement have expanded over the past years, its focus remains the same - better understanding between communities and provision of resources to minority communities for empowerment and revitalization. The display can be seen at North Shore Congregation Israel, 1185 Sheridan Rd., Glenview, through March 31.

Couple arrested for grocery store thefts

In a grocery store in the 6900 block of Dempster Street, Morton Grove, the afternoon of Feb. 9, a witness saw a man and a woman take seven bottles of liquor and three packs of snack cheese from the shelves and place them in a bag, then cover them with material from the bag.

The two then paid for other food items, left the store quickly and drove off from the parking lot. The witness, who was prevented from stopping them because of the crowd, called to another grocery store in the 5700 block of Dempster Street warning the manager to be on the lookout.

The pair were sighted at the second store, and police stopped their car as they attempted to leave. They were returned to the first store where they were identified and the man admitted to having been there before.

The man, a Chicago resident, 32, was charged with retail theft. Investigators found he also had a $5,000 warrant from Evanston.

His female companion, 38, of Skokie, was found in the car, trying to use her legs to conceal bags of merchandise from several area stores. She was charged with possession of stolen property and retail theft. They both have a March 18 court date.

Another woman driving their car, was charged with driving with a suspended license.

The liquor and cheese taken from the first grocery store were valued at over $107.

Wallet missing

In an office building in the 5800 block of Dempster Street, Morton Grove, the morning of Feb. 8, a woman at a training class discovered a $10 wallet missing from her purse which was on the floor.

All 16 women in the class allowed the management to check their purses, coats and cars, but the wallet was not found.

Girl Scouts sell cookies

What's your favorite Girl Scout cookie? Across the nation Thin Mints are the best seller but you can choose for yourself as Illinois Prairie Girl Scouts begin their annual cookie sale.

During weekends in February, Girl Scouts will be out at local banks, grocery stores and businesses with 7 delicious varieties of cookies for sale. By the end of the month they'll be taking orders for delivery in April.

Girl Scouts participating in the cookie sale learn skills and discover abilities they will use later in life. The girls set their own goals, learn sales techniques and safety procedures, interact with the public, handle money and process orders.

Proceeds from the sale provide funding for troop activities, council services, facilities and programs and even national projects. Right of Read, a national literacy service project sponsored by Girl Scouts of the USA, is funded in part by cookie sales.

Right to Read provides ways for girls to improve their own reading and writing skills, help others improve their skills and do literacy service projects within their communities.

The Illinois Prairie Girl Scout Council is dedicated to serving the needs and interests of all girls so that they may become competent, confident women.

Students raise money for outdoor education

The sixth grade students at Nelson school have been very busy raising money to subsidize their annual OUTDOOR EDUCATION PROGRAM that is held at Camp Atwood in the Rockford area.

Under the leadership of the Team VI teachers, Marty Frega, Tom Norquist, Judy Pretschold, and Doris Telford, the students have been selling various items to parents, friends, and community members in this fund-raising project.

Doris Telford was very pleased to announce that the students had raised more than $4,000 as of Dec. 21. She mentioned that they anticipated that the $5,000 level could be reached before the project ended.

Outdoor Education is a special opportunity for students where they spend three full days and nights and Camp Atwood learning nature skills, studying flora and fauna, collecting specimens, and many other activities that cannot be accomplished in the traditional classroom.

Pre-school screenings scheduled

School districts in Niles Township will be conducting free developmental screenings during the months of February and March, 1991 for all children who are 3 and 4 years of age.

This annual screening is held to assess a child's general development and to detect any problems or delays in vision, hearing, motor, cognitive, social-emotional and/or speech and language development.

Members of the special services team will be conducting the screening and will provide feedback to parents as to their child's performance. The screening is done informally and children generally enjoy the process.

This screening is strongly recommended. Educational problems identified at an early age can often be corrected. If the screening identifies educational needs, services are available in the township.

Pre-school children screenings last year can be re-evaluated this year.

All children living in any of the nine Niles Township Districts are eligible. There is no charge for this service. The screening requires about 45 minutes to complete.

Please contact your local school district for further information at the number listed below.

Com Ed introduces Automatic Payment Plan

With Commonwealth Edison's Automatic Payment Plan you need never worry about missing your electric bill payment.

Through the Plan, Edison enables its customers to save on postage and checking charges and to minimize the chance of a lost or late payment.

Participation in this voluntary program assures that your electric bill is paid on-time each month. The plan automatically deducts the monthly billing amount from the customer's bank account and makes payment for the monthly electric service.

Agreement forms, authorizing participation in the plan, are available by contacting a service representative at (800) EDISON-1. By completing the form and returning it to the company, customers authorize Edison and the designated financial institution to begin deductions for Automatic Payment Plan payments.

Applicants are requested to attach a voided check to the agreement form which indicates the checking account to be debited. Customers' monthly bank statements will list all plan transactions, listing their date and amount of payments to Edison. If a participant's account contains insufficient funds on the payment date, the bank will return the pre-authorized debit, and the customer may be assessed a penalty by both the bank and the utility—just as if a check were returned for non-sufficient funds.

Take diabetes test: know the score

Diabetes is serious. Six million people have it. Another six million probably have it and don't know it.

You can have it without having the typical symptoms: blurred vision, frequent urination, or rapid weight loss. Untreated, diabetes can result in blindness, heart disease, kidney failure and even death.

That's why everyone should take the blood sugar test. Especially if you have a family history of diabetes. Or if you are over 50. Or if you've given birth to a baby weighing over 9 pounds.

The good news is, when most types of diabetes are detected early, there are usually simple treatments that don't require insulin. Like diet and exercise.

So the next time you see a doctor, ask about diabetes and take the blood sugar test.

Outpatient diabetes education classes

Are you concerned that you may know only half the facts about diabetes? Holy Family Hospital's StableLives classes are designed to broaden and enhance your knowledge of diabetes.

Class topics include: what is diabetes?, exercise and diabetes, coping with diabetes, and more. Classes are offered evenings and Saturdays. The evening courses consist of four, two and one-half hour sessions, and Saturday courses are five hours on two successive Saturdays. Please feel free to bring a support person (spouse, family member, friend) with you at no extra cost.

How to care for skin during winter

How do you avoid Jack Frost's nips and Old Man Winter's blows on your skin? Just take a few simple precautions this winter and do your skin a favor.

Frigid winds and warm, dry indoor environments can zap the moisture and smoothness from your skin, leaving you with taut, dry and itchy skin.

We sometimes forget that the skin is a living organ that requires protection. As a matter of fact, the skin of an average adult covers about two square yards and weighs about six and one-half pounds.

That's a lot of area requiring attention. But, don't despair. Following are a few helpful hints to keep your skin healthy and help you beat the winter skin blues.

According to Edward Lack, M.D., a board-certified dermatologist on staff at Holy Family Hospital, the best method is to either take quick showers that give you the least exposure to water or to use body oils and moisturizers with showers and baths.

If you are not using oils, then you want to bathe less frequently than you would in the summer," states Dr. Lack. "Also, when bathing in the winter, decrease the temperature of the water."

Another precaution is to lubricate your skin with lotions as often as you can—especially after the shower. Anything you can do to retain the skin's moisture, like protecting your skin when outdoors, will help keep it moist and supple.

"Low indoor humidity is the primary cause for dry skin or 'winter itch,'" says Dr. Lack. "So, check the filter on your humidifier and strongly consider purchasing a water vaporizer or humidifier to use in the bedroom during the night only. Also, avoid detergent soaps—use all soaps sparingly. After showering or bathing, pat your skin dry and do not rub it. Above all, remember to apply lotions any time you bathe during the winter."

The hands often take the brunt of winter's drying effects. Applying hand cream often or applying lotion and then wearing gloves overnight are effective measures against dry hands.

Loyola establishes shock trauma institute

A shock trauma institute to develop new strategies for treating and preventing injuries and learning more about the body's response to physical shock has been established at Loyola University Medical Center, Maywood, Ill.

"Serious injury triggers a cascade of biological changes that hinder the body's ability to ward off infection," said Richard L. Gamelli, M.D., director of the institute and chief of Loyola's 14-bed Burn Unit. In fact, overwhelming infection is the leading cause of death in patients who survive the initial injury.

The institute will draw together a multitude of experts skilled in patient care, basic sciences and clinical research and education. As a level I trauma center with effective ground and air emergency transport systems, Loyola University Medical Center is committed to serving a large number of burn and other critically-injured patients. The shock trauma institute represents a natural outgrowth on this commitment, Dr. Gamelli said.

He envisions a growing cadre of basic scientists who will support the clinical work for the institute by studying how an individual responds biologically to injury and its aftereffects. Trauma can actually lead to cellular changes in the body, including suppression of a person's natural defense mechanisms against infection and disease.

Other research will focus on the causes of injury, patient outcome and the "cost" of trauma. "The cost of trauma is beyond the dollar cost for acute hospital care. The true cost must include personal losses such as loss of productivity, disability and lifestyle changes," Dr. Gamelli emphasized.

In the area of education and training, institute personnel will create clinical fellowships in burn, trauma and critical care and research fellowships at the graduate and postgraduate levels.

Of particular interest is public education about trauma and the prevention of injury. "Trauma is not an accident, but an event capable of alteration. An analysis of injury events can offer an information base for trauma prevention programs, changes in employment practices, employee safety training, equipment design and modifications in the construction of housing for the elderly," Dr. Gamelli said.

Knock knock, folks.

Is opportunity knocking? In Carrollton, Texas, South Kingstown, Rhode Island and Silverdale, Washington, it knocks about 20 times a day. In the months to come, each of these communities will be the home of a new Edward D. Jones & Co. office. Between now and then, the Investment Representatives will open these offices and cover a lot of ground.

Opening an Edward D. Jones & Co. office means more than renting space and hanging a sign. It represents a long-term commitment to providing high-quality investments that meet your individual financial objectives.

We believe the best way to provide the level of service individual investors deserve is by getting to know them, and the best way to do that is face-to-face.

Getting to know you.

Investment decisions are some of the most important any of us make. No one should be expected to rely on strangers for help in making them. At Edward D. Jones & Co., we treat our customers the way we would like to be treated. We don't expect any investor to come to our door until we've been to his.

The arrival of a Jones Investment Representative in a new community is not marked by an office grand opening. We prefer "opening ceremonies" that take place on the doorsteps of our neighbors' homes and businesses. When it comes to introductions, we'll take quality over quantity every time.

"Hello" before "good buys."

If investors are surprised by their first meeting with a "door-to-door stockbroker," they're even more surprised to meet one who doesn't try to sell anything.

Edward D. Jones Investment Representatives can offer you a wide variety of conservative investments, but not during your first meeting. Not until they have visited with you and introduced our firm's investment philosophy. And certainly not until they understand your current financial needs and your long-term investment objectives.

Do you need extra income to meet monthly expenses? Have you established a college savings plan for your children or grandchildren? When do you plan to retire? Will your savings plan give you financial independence when you do? Your Investment Representative should know the answers as well as you do. If not, maybe you should start asking some questions.

In a class by itself.

At Edward D. Jones & Co., our training program is second to none in the industry. It begins the day an Investment Representative is hired and continues throughout his or her entire career.

In addition, state-of-the-art satellite technology links every office to our headquarters in St. Louis and to the floor of the New York Stock Exchange. Our resources are constantly updated and expanded to ensure that our Investment Representatives have access to the most current information for their customers. But simply knowing investments is not enough. We want to know our customers. We believe that's what sets Edward D. Jones & Co. apart. Any stockbroker can offer you good investments. Only an Investment Representative who knows you can offer you the right ones.

Edward D. Jones & Co. has more than 1,600 Investment Representatives in 45 states. To those who have welcomed our approach and our Investment Representatives, we are grateful. To those who haven't met, remember, you never know when opportunity may knock.

Serving individual investors from 1,500 offices nationwide.

The Pavilion unveils new models

After months of intense preparation that included lush landscaping, new lobbies and models designed by internationally-recognized interior designers, The Pavilion Apartments at 5441 N. East River Rd. will unveil its exciting new models at a gala Grand Opening weekend, Feb. 9 and 10.

Each of the five buildings on the 20-acre Pavilion grounds will be christened with resort location identities...from the Caribbean and Acapulco to the Polynesian, Rio and Riviera. Signage on each of the buildings will give residents and visitors a preview of the luxurious lobby styling in the building.

According to Mary Scarpelli, sales manager of The Pavilion, "The Pavilion has the widest range of amenities, services and activities available to renters anywhere in Chicago. These resident-oriented features, combined with the large living spaces in each apartment have given our residents a truly unique value in their living accommodations. For years, our residents have referred to living here as a year-round resort lifestyle. Our commitment to even more amenities and convenience services and our exciting new look are ways in which we can provide exactly the type of life our residents enjoy."

Among the social and recreational activities available to Pavilion residents are indoor and outdoor pools, tennis, volleyball and racquetball courts, sauna, exercise room, whirlpool, barbecue area, a social room and a full-service restaurant and lounge that caters and provides free delivery.

Residents never have to leave the grounds to enjoy the convenience of a grocery store, video rental, business services center, laundry and dry cleaner. In addition, daily maid service and specially-priced guest hospitality suites are available. Soon to be added to the services are a beauty salon and travel agency as well as a gift shop, flower shop and other resident-related services.

Tickets are $20 and may be ordered from the North Side Real Estate Board, 2625 W. Peterson, Chicago, IL 60659, or the Northwest Real Estate Board, 6965 W. Belmont, Chicago, IL 60634. Space will be limited.

Nestled next to a vast forest preserve, the Pavilion seems a long way from the bustle of the city. The appearance is deceptive, though. The Pavilion is five minutes away from O'Hare Airport, less than five minutes away from the Kennedy Expressway and Northwest Tollway and Tri-State Tollways. The Loop is twenty minutes away via car. A CTA bus stops within The Pavilion grounds and rapid transit is within walking distance.

The public can view The Pavilion's exciting new models and meet the designers in person from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Feb. 9 and 10. Refreshments will be served. For more information, call the Pavilion at (312) 693-5400.

Real estate boards plan convention

Three nationally acclaimed speakers will headline the first joint convention sponsored by Chicago's North Side Real Estate Board and the Northwest Real Estate Board to be held Thursday, Feb. 21, at the Holiday Inn O'Hare, 5440 N. River Rd., Rosemont.

Theme for the joint convention is Skyrocket to Success. Co-chairpersons Sid G. Woods, immediate past president of NSREB, and Elaine Poley, immediate past president of NWREB, and committee members from both boards are designing the program.

Tickets are $20 and may be ordered from the North Side Real Estate Board, 2625 W. Peterson, Chicago, IL 60659, or the Northwest Real Estate Board, 6965 W. Belmont, Chicago, IL 60634. Space will be limited.

Guardian Metal vice president resigns

Liebich, who has worked at GUARDIAN for more than 44 years, will remain on as a consultant, providing both experience and continuity to GUARDIAN's management and customers.

Liebich came to work at Guardian Metal Sales in February, 1947, eight years after Guardian's founding, when the company had only one part-time and four full-time employees. He began work at the company in a variety of capacities, including sales, order entry and merchandising.

After concentrating on sales, Liebich was Guardian's only salesman at that time -- he became a sales manager. He was general manager from 1974 to 1980 and became vice president of sales and marketing in 1982, supervising what had become a nationwide sales force.

Computer group meets Feb. 19

New Computer User Group of the Chicago Computer Society will meet Feb. 19 (3rd Tuesday) at 6 p.m.

This computer group is directed to individuals working within the manufacturing industries. Engineers, sales and marketing, and corporate managers will find new computer applications. Several types of software and hardware will be featured.

The featured speaker is Martin Didier, industrial engineer and consultant, Integration Technologies Incorporated. The presentation topic is manufacturing applications.

The group will meet at the office of C.W. Electronic, 519 Golf Rd., Arlington Hts. (just west of Ari. Hts. road). Call Bill Luksha (708) 967-6852 for info and suggestions.

Rep. Capparelli opposes monthly telephone surcharge

State Rep. Ralph C. Capparelli (D-13th) is expressing strong opposition to the recently-approved 15 cents per telephone line monthly surcharge and is encouraging northwest side Chicago and suburban residents to voice their disapproval in writing to their congressmen, state legislators, the Illinois Commerce Commission, and even Illinois Bell.

"The state-federal program was enacted without any legislative action and could be unconstitutional," said Capparelli, who is exploring how legislation might be developed to prevent Illinois Bell or any other utility from putting a surcharge on its bills to residential and business customers.

"When we hear about the federal government paying one-half the cost of the Link-Up II program, they are using our tax money," he said. "Then we are asked to pay the other half through the state as a surcharge. In effect, we are subsidizing the entire program."

Capparelli believes it might be time to reexamine the 1985 Illinois Public Utilities Act to determine if the ICC should have carte blanche in joining federal programs.

Realtors report sales increase

Niles-based real estate broker, ERA Callero & Catino Realtors, reported another increase in residential real estate sales. In 1989, property sales at their office increased 27 percent with an additional 3 percent gain for 1990.

These statistics run counter to the real estate market in general. In 1990, the northwest suburbs suffered a decline of 9 percent in the number of homes sold. The reduction in the north shore suburbs was 20 percent and home sales in northwest Chicago were down by 5 percent. ERA Callero & Catino is active in all three markets.

Area businesses get help during war

Debbie Temps, Inc. and its affiliate Instant Labor, Inc. have announced that the companies are foregoing all profits when placing temporary employees in positions vacated by men and women activated for service in the U.S. Armed Forces.

"We are aware that many Chicago area businesses have been affected by the loss of personnel who have been called up for military duty," says Debbie Temps CEO Phyllis Galanter. "As a means of easing the burdens of these companies, our directors decided to waive all profits, and bill clients for net wages plus payroll expenses only on military replacement personnel."

Galanter explains that Debbie Temps and Instant Labor were in upon finding a way to support the troops and the country during the Middle East crisis. "We recently arranged through Ft. Sheridan the delivery of several tape recorders and 1,500 tape cassettes to the troops in Saudi Arabia. The recorders and cassettes were donations from our corporation, its clients and temporary employees," says Galanter.

Orchestrals dance concert slated

If one were asked to describe this year's upcoming Orchestral dance concert in one word, it would have to be Variety as a variety of ballet, modern, jazz, ethnic, and show dance will be performed by senior and Junior Orchestral members.

"A Celebration of Dance" will be presented Friday and Saturday, March 1 and 2, starting at 8 p.m. in the auditorium. Tickets cost $3.50 per person and will be sold beginning Monday, Feb. 18. Tickets are also available at the door.

Solo performances include ballet numbers performed by Heather Vozella of Des Plaines, Senior Orchestral president, to "Eclipse of the Heart" and Barb Kauth of Niles to "Wind Beneath My Wings."

Several dances, including a duet by Barb Kauth and Heather Vozella, will be accompanied by Pianist Aris Buntinas of Niles.

The variety continues throughout the evening with a Polish ethnic couples' dance choreographed by Dorothy Wozniak of Park Ridge and Ewa Dembowska, of Morton Grove to "Mazur Polonaise," a duet by Dorothy Wozniak and Heather Vozella to the classical music of Stravinsky's "Firebird," a group jazz number titled "Witchcraft," which was choreographed by Heather Vozella; "Edelweiss," choreographed by Senior Orchestral officers Jean Stephens of Niles (vice-president) and Linda Strachowski of Morton Grove (secretary-treasurer); and modern number with unique props choreographed by Heather Vozella to music from "Beetlejuice."

Members of Junior Orchestral will also be busy during the weeks ahead rehearsing routines, including a medley of Broadway tunes and music from "Peanuts Christmas Show." Junior Orchestral is also working with some unusual props, including a modern dance routine choreographed by Vanessa Stout of Morton Grove.

After the March concert, "A Celebration of Dance," Orchestral members will concentrate their efforts on the annual Illinois High School Dance Festival.

Loyola plans fundraising auction

The Ramble, Loyola's 22nd annual fundraising auction, is heading west in 1991.

The "Laramie Trail" to Loyola on Saturday, May 4, begins this month with a round-up of local gift-gathering parties. These neighborhood get-togethers provide an opportunity for Loyola parents to meet, exchange ideas and above all, to support the annual Ramble auction.

Inaugurated in 1969, the Ramble continues to fulfill its goal of bridging the gap between tuition charges and actual education costs. Year after year, hundreds of volunteers collect thousands of auction items and hope to raise half a million for the Academy.

On Saturday, Feb. 16, more than 200 graduate parents and former Ramble workers are expected to attend the Past Masters Gift-Gathering Party in Loyola's Student Center. Hosted by Mary and Jim Asnis of Chicago, this sumptuous cocktail-buffet is catered by culinary contributions from a dozen volunteer hostesses. Each year the Past Masters contribute a special gift for the Ramble auction items such as the week at Mallows Castle, Ireland, a Concorde trip and QE2 cruise.

Executive director, Kathy Sinkle, of Winnetka is blazing the "Laramie Trail," along with 1991 General Chairmen Judy and Fred Lantomo of Park Ridge; and co-chairs Ani and Bob Mohs of Glenview.

Hosts and locations for the other gift-gathering parties are: Margaret and Jim Goodwin of Evanston, Sue and Tom Carney of Lake Forest, Mary Ann and Joe Flood of Park Ridge, Marilyn and Bill Smith of Rogers Park, Mary and Gary Coughlan of Glenview, Judy and Jack Fitzpatrick of Northbrook, Karen and John Byrnes of Northfield, Cathy and Dennis Davore of Wilmette, Claire and Mike Callahan of Winnetka, Sheila and Jim Burden of Chicago, Sue and Joe O'Callaghan of Glenview, Trish and Tony Riggio of Chicago, Laura and Jim Collins of Evanston-Skokie, Gail and Gerry Carrino of Barrington for the Western suburbs.

Cablevision adds new telephone answering system

Cablevision of Chicago is pleased to announce the installation of a new piece of equipment that will ensure swifter and more efficient answering of customer phone calls.

The Automated Response Unit (ARU), which is fully functional as a multi-line computer which answers customer service and repair phone calls from subscribers.

When Cablevision customers dial the cable system phone number, the ARU, in a clear, human voice, answers the call and presents a menu of message options accessed through the caller's touch-line telephone. When the caller selects an option, the ARU's voice response provides the desired information.

Customers may use the system to retrieve account balances, report service outages, confirm in-station appointments, and to obtain general information about Cablevision. The ARU will also make it more convenient for customers to order Pay Per View movies and special events by allowing them to do so automatically 24-hours a day.

Through the new ARU system, customers will be able to access information 24-hours a day, 7 days a week. By utilizing this system, customers can look forward to encountering fewer busy signals, and to shortened call holding times.

However, if subscribers do not have a touch tone phone, or if the inquiry required personal attention, Cablevision will continue to have a staff of customer service representatives ready and willing to answer questions.

North Suburban Public Utility will bring in lines to Ballard Road and Cumberland Avenue at the new reservoir to complete a link up for the purpose of buying Lake Michigan water from Niles for unincorporated Maine Township.

Bids for the new reservoir will be opened Feb. 19 at the Village Hall, and even though village officials redesigned initial reservoir plans to make the facility more palatable to adjacent residents, some nearby homeowners are planning to sell.

Connie Zachary, 9065 Cumberland Ave., a 16-year Niles resident, said "I don't want to put up with that noise this summer. If it (the reservoir) wasn't going to be there we probably would have stayed...three realtors told me we've lost money (in property values)."

Another Cumberland Avenue resident, who preferred to remain anonymous, said "It's going to be an eyesore...we've suffered a loss in value." While confirming she "would probably" move, she added, if the reservoir top were made a baseball diamond, she might want to stay.

Wheaton couple portrays Lincolns

The Morton Grove Public Library will present an original play, "An Evening With Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln" on Sun. Feb. 17 at 2 p.m. in the Baxter Room.

The play was written by Max and Donna Daniels of Wheaton and will be performed by them.

An Evening With Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln takes place in the White House and flashes back over their lives together - from their early days in Springfield through the Civil War years, and ending as the Lincolns prepare to leave for Ford's Theatre.

The Daniels have an extensive background in community theatre, having appeared in Glen Ellyn and Lisle. As the Lincolns, the couple has taken part in Civil War re-enactments and performed at the Chicago Historical Society, ChicagoLand schools, and various Lincoln celebrations.

Both children and adults are invited to enjoy this one-hour portrayal of one of our country's most beloved presidents and his wife. Refreshments will be served following the program. Admission is free.

Artist's drawings displayed at library

Chicago's Cabrini-Green housing development has long been associated with crime, poverty and drugs. Artist Anthony Hughes takes a different view of his old neighborhood.

In his drawings Hughes shows us a grandmotherly woman who keeps a close eye on a group of teenagers, the "mayor" directing local gossip from his wheelchair and a laborer fixing up his house. Contrary to popular opinion, a proud vital side of the neighborhood exists, one in which hard-working individuals and close-knit families are found.

Hughes' drawings will be on view from Feb. 15 through March 25 during regular library hours: Monday-Friday, 9 a.m.-9 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m.; and Sunday, 1-5 p.m. The library is located at 3215 Oakton St. in Skokie.

Psychotherapist offers war coping strategies

Television newscasts provide up-to-the minute coverage on the war in the Persian Gulf. Newspaper articles offer graphic details on the fighting and the impact of war on the nation and local community. Radio broadcasts keep listeners informed on the crisis wherever they travel.

And, listen in on a conversation, and chances are the topic will be the war with Iraq.

With the war creating headlines worldwide and topping the list of day-to-day conversation, people are undergoing a great deal of stress-especially those who have loved ones or friends stationed in the Middle East.

According to a local psychotherapist, people can control their emotions by forming an "active coping strategy" to deal with the trauma and uncertainty caused by the war.

"The key is to harness that uncertainty and helplessness and replace it with more control," said Dr. Jerry Hiller of Forest Hospital, a 170-bed psychiatric facility. "People have choices in how they can initiate actions of self-care in order to sustain hope and still feel connected to our men and women involved in the war."

To help control the anxiety and sense of fear, Dr. Hiller recommends the following "coping strategies":

1. Take charge and structure your environment. Rather than be consumed over the events in the Persian Gulf, limit the amount of time spent watching television or reading news reports. Or, if viewing television becomes too traumatic, only read newspapers for information.

2. Take care of yourself. Spend some time involved in enjoyable activities that have nothing to do with the war. These can include exercising, reading, listening to

Scout exhibit opens at museum
Girl Scout uniforms, photos, handbooks, badges and other memorabilia celebrating 65 years since the founding of the Des Plaines Council of Girl Scouting will be displayed at the Des Plaines Historical Museum.

The exhibit, "Be Prepared: The Girl Scouts in Des Plaines", opens Feb. 17 and runs through May 12. Remembering the beginnings of scouting in the area, the display features camp photos and uniform from Troop #1 worn by one of the girls back in the 1920's. Part of the exhibit is an education area with puzzles and trivia questions.

The Des Plaines Historical Museum, 789 Pearson, Des Plaines, is open Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. Admission is free; donations are always welcome. Group tours are available with two weeks notice; call (708) 391-5399 to arrange.

music or simply sitting alone in a quiet room.

3. Observe more closely your behavior and the actions of your family. If you find yourself becoming especially irritable or stressed, make a note of those feelings and do something different, such as taking a walk. Also, pay closer attention of the actions of family and friends for any non-traditional behavior.

4. Try something different. In order to take your mind off the war, initiate a new activity. Dr. Hiller said one support group participant took a bubble bath in the afternoon, something she had never done before, and found the experience to be therapeutic.

5. If you feel there is a serious problem, seek help. Trying to cope with the anxiety alone may be too difficult at times. Join a support group or get individual or family counseling before the problem escalates. For immediate help, call a community-sponsored counseling hotline, such as the Forest Hospital 24-hour Crisis Line, 1 (800) 866-9600.

6. Utilize coping resources that have helped you in the past. We all have strengths and abilities, which can be used to reduce stress and increase satisfaction.

Willows seniors earn State Scholar honors

In December, The Willows Academy in Niles, learned four seniors out of a class of 18, had been named Illinois State Scholars.

Catherine Amorella, Park Ridge; Jeanne Burns, Chicago; Clare Hood, Riverside; and Christina Heckman, Park Ridge, were awarded the Illinois State Scholar Certificate of Achievement for outstanding performance in the 1991-92 Illinois State Scholar Program competition.

More than 60,000 students from nearly every high school in Illinois competed in the program; approximately 10% of Illinois high school graduates are designated as State Scholars.

The awards are based on a combination of examination scores administered by the Illinois Student Assistance Commission and record of high school achievement and indicate especially high potential for success in college.

The scholars do not directly receive monetary assistance by being named a State Scholar, but are highly recruited by colleges and universities who may, in turn, offer scholarship awards.
