by Shellya Hackett
Nilesites Diane Brown and Marge Cieszykowski have talked with their sons in Saudi Arabia and know they are due back within hours or days. Brown, of Glendale Avenue mused "they don't know they're heroes."

She said a telephone conversation with her son was marred with static and maybe also because her son was eating ice cream cones. Steve Brown, Private First Continued on Page 30

Bus fees increase 7% for Dist. 63 students

by Linda A. Burns
In anticipation of rising costs for transporting students to and from school, District 63 board members approved a 7 percent hike in bus fees for the 1991-'92 school year Tuesday. Kindergarten through eighth grade students are affected by the new rate schedule. The cost for transporting one child will increase from about $160 now to approximately $170, according to Assistant Superintendent Dr. Donald Stetina. 9 candidates are now in the running for 5 Niles village trustee openings

Marusek, Panek okay write-in votes

by Shellya Hackett
Two write-in candidates are joining the contest for the post of Niles village trustee. March 12, Carol Panek and Mary Marusek told The Bugle they would file a declaration of intent with County Clerk David Orr. Their announcement, three weeks before the April 2 election, brings to nine the number of candidates running for the five openings on the village board. Five of the candidates are incumbent trustees, campaigning under the banner of the Leadership With Economy Party led by Mayor Nicholas Blase. Marusek acknowledged the write-in campaign was an uphill battle but said, "there are enough that have indicated interest; it wouldn't be fair not to have those votes counted." To help the voters, Panek said she and Marusek would put together a flyer on the write-in procedure, small enough to carry into the voting booth. She explained voters will have to write on the ballot envelope flap and indicate the office-village trustee-the length of term-four-year or two-year-the candidate's name and mark an "X" inside the square box. Misspelled names are not a problem, Panek indicated, as long as election judges get the intent of the voter. Also printing the candidate's name is as valid as writing it in longhand, according to Jeanne Quinn, a director in the County Clerk's office. The office will hold a school for election judges March 19 at Continued on Page 30

This Sunday is a very special day for Sister Irene Sebo, Cardinal Bernardin will be here in Niles to take part in the program dedicating the huge new addition to St. Benedict's Home For The Aged (see Shellya Hackett's page 2 story in her Focus report).

Sunday's program is the culmination of 30 years of dedication by a very fine woman whom many of us affectionately call "The White Tornado". Her well-earned nickname comes from her persistent drive to provide the very best home for her many friends at St. Benedict's. She has given direction and leadership and provided management skills to one of the finest homes in all Chicagoland. But most of all she has provided love.

Monday at midnight I stopped over at the Four Flags Jewel Foods store for a quart of milk. The lady at the checkout counter told me she works the midnight shift three nights a week, finishing work

Berrafato named MG village attorney

by Nancy Keraminas
The Morton Grove Village Board named Gabriel Berrafato, 62, to succeed Jordan Kaplan as village corporation counsel, after reviewing the qualifications of a dozen applicants. The vote was 5-1 in favor of Berrafato, with trustee Lewis Greenberg dissenting. Mayor Richard Hohs announced the appointment March 11, citing Berrafato's credentials in municipal law as well as his long-term civilities. Greenberg, while commending Berrafato's qualifications, said he would have preferred an attorney from a firm with more depth, expressing the viewpoint that Berrafato's partner does not have Berrafato's extensive experience with public bodies. Berrafato, who serves as counsel to both the Morton Grove and Niles Park District boards, indicated he will withdraw from the former-named board to avoid any potential conflict. He previously served two years as Morton Grove's attorney during the administration of Mayor Jules Bode, but was replaced in 1978 upon the mayor's death. In that Continued on Page 30

Gun wielding man threatens factory worker

Morton Grove police are investigating a claim by a 21-year-old Dolton, Illinois man that he was menaced by a man with a handgun in the parking lot of Avon Products, 6901 W. Golf Road, Morton Grove, where he works, the afternoon of March 7. The Dolton man told police the estranged husband of the woman he is dating confronted him in the factory's cafeteria and asked "if he was ready to deal with him." Assuming the man wanted to box, he agreed to meet him outside. Continued on Page 30

St. Benedict's new facility fulfills dream for Sister Irene

by Sheilya Hackett

The sprawling outline of the rosy brick structure can be seen half a block away.

Although close to busy traffic, the new St. Benedict's Home at 6930 Touhy Ave. is an oasis of its own, with a sheltered entrance next to a curving drive. An adjunct to the Home for the Aged, which has been in Niles since 1958, the new, spacious St. Benedict health care facility will be dedicated Sunday by Joseph Cardinal Bernardin.

Completion of the complex is the fulfillment of a dream for the driving force behind it, Sister Irene Sebo, of the Order of St. Benedict.

'I worked liked a trooper for it,' Sister Irene said.

Benedict. But even as her dream comes true, Sister Irene will soon step offstage, after 30 years as administrator there.

Not long after she came in 1961, she saw the need for a larger home and set to work. Four years later, the mortgage for the home for the aged was burned. Today, considering the new facility, she reflects "I worked like a trooper for it...I revolutionized thinking towards the aging by Architects Shayman and Salk's portrayal of the new, $5.5 million St. Benedict's healthcare facility at 6930 W. Touhy Ave., Niles. The 99-bed adjunct to St. Benedict's Home for the Aged will be dedicated Sunday by Joseph Cardinal Bernardin.

making the health facility a real home...and doing away with...an institutional mentality...I amortized the mortgage and saved $2 million for the new home."

The St. Benedict residences in Niles are a progression from two homes for the aged in Chicago which are now closed. One was on south Racine Avenue established in 1908, and another on west 18th Place, begun in 1921. Originally, the homes were planned for, and supported by, people of Czechoslovakian descent, but today the facility accepts residents from all faiths and nationalities, though Catholics have preference.

The Benedictine sisters operated the 18th Place and Niles homes from 1938 until 1986, in keeping with the "Rule" of St. Benedict, which urges them to give special care to children and the aged. Catholic Charities assumed responsibility for the home in 1986.

For many years the home supported the pro-life movement by providing employment and a residence to unwed mothers until their babies were born. Recalling her stay at the home, one young mother related "...the only thing that stood between me and the lake was St. Benedict's."

Although Sister Irene likens the new, $5.5 million center to a "medieval castle," architects Shayman and Salk describe the structure as a traditional design with prairie-style elements.

The interior is open and contemporary. Oak woodwork and soft colors provide a background for large private and semi-private rooms, a library, beauty and barber shops and a "Here's the Scoop" ice cream parlor. A big activities room provides space for entertainment, crafts and seminars.

Care was taken to avoid an institutional look and throughout, the furniture and decor bear the stamp of a comfortable, private home.

'Aging people are like ceramic dolls; they bruise and chip easily, because they're in the twilight of their life. They love to get a hug,' Sister Irene says.

Sunny dining rooms look over a terrace and on one floor, a smaller, adjoining room accommodates families wanting to have special parties. A chapel, edged with arched windows, is nearing completion off the main entrance hall.

Thinking over her years at St. Benedict, Sister Irene calls the aged a "number one priority," and adds "people here are happy...and know they're loved...treated with the dignity that they're due as human beings. They've lost their physical beauty, (but we must) supersede the exterior and go to the heart and soul of the individual."

Now Sister Irene is stepping offstage, relinquishing her administrative post, even as her goal of a larger home is realized.

A state licensed administrator of a health care facility and practical nurse and a former junior high teacher, Sister Irene now looks to new challenges.

She leaves a legacy of achievement: she has served as President of the National Geriatric Society and vice president of the National Interfaith Coalition on Aging, a group formed following the White House Conference on Aging in 1971. For four years she commuted to Washington, D.C. as a member of the Bishop's Commission on Aging. She belongs to the Gerontological Society and is a member of the American Coalition of Health Care Administrators.

Locally, Sister belongs to the Niles Historical Society and has served on the Mayor's Commission on Aging and as a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

In 1987, The Passionist Fathers Monastery on north Harlem Avenue in Chicago, gave her the Golden Heart award in recognition of her work in the community and church.

Board acts to control growing deer population

by Sheilya Hackett

Deer are over-crowding local forest preserves. Recently Cook County Commissioner Carl Hansen, (R-Mt. Prospect) said "...the deer are facing starvation...crossing highways, causing accidents with motor vehicles... (causing) destruction of carefully preserved flora..."

He gained the approval of the Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners for a plan, to be coordinated with the state and adjacent municipalities, to "bring the deer population...into ecological balance with its available food supply."

You can find Nilesites both agreeing and disagreeing with the plan. Barbara Turk, whose Howard Street home edges the forest preserve, thinks the deer are "very pesky; awfully thick... (in summer) they eat my garden and flowers...the tulips on the west side of the house, beans, peppers...they took the beets right out of the ground; they eat all the apples from my trees...the other day there were eight outside my window. Officials predict more belt-tightening for municipalities

Local GOP hopeful with Kustra in Springfield

by Nancy Keraminas

The 200 or so Republican faithful who attended Illinois Lieutenant Governor Robert Kustra's March 7 fundraiser at the White Eagle Restaurant in Niles had the chance to see the Des Plaines native back in his old haunts.

Kustra and fellow GOP office holders, while celebrating with their old friends, seemed to predict more belt-tightening for municipal governments and a decrease in state aid from the income tax surcharge.

Paying $40 each to eat, drink and dance polkas, Cook County State's Attorney Jack O'Malley, Maine Township GOP senators, mayors and other loyalists were optimistic about having one of their own close to the governor's office despite cuts in state funding looming in the horizon.

Youths charged with illegal use of credit card

Two Skokie youths face felony charges involving their role in the unlawful credit card purchase of a $2,279 computer from Montgomery Wards Electric Avenue.

Salman E. Imami, 18, of 9500 Lawler Ave., was arrested at the 8315 Golf Road store after he used a stolen credit card to purchase the computer.

Imami was apparently assisted by a 17-year-old Ward's employee who obtained the card illegally from a Wards customer.

Both suspects will appear in court March 20.

MG ditches proposed truck law

by Nancy Keraminas

A controversial proposed ordinance which would have allowed certain noncommercial trucks to park overnight on Morton Grove streets has been junked due to potential enforcement problems and after Mayor Richard Hohns and several board members received oral and written complaints from citizens.

Trustee Lewis Greenberg withdrew his request for a change in the existing truck ordinance, after hearing reports from Police Chief Larry Schey that officers would have trouble distinguishing between permitted small trucks with camper shells and commercial vehicles.

One woman resident who wanted restrictions relaxed told board members: "I believe I should be allowed to park in front of my house... (When I owned a small truck) I kind of felt discriminated against."

"A democracy rules by the majority," Greenberg sympathized, "and the majority of the people seem to want to keep the law the way it is. To distinguish between commercial and noncommercial vehicles places an undue burden on our police department."

Hohns reminded the resident

TRADITIONAL FOLK WISDOM AND GEMS

Since before the time of written records, traditional folk wisdom has attributed certain properties to various gems. In our society gemstones are worn for the pleasure they bring their wearers because of their beauty, not because of alleged medicinal values. Even so, knowing some of the properties various cultures attributed to certain gemstones is fun.

Amber was said to be effective in relieving sore throats and minor infections. Aquamarine was believed to relax the body and to banish fears. Azurite was used in ancient Egypt as an aid to meditation.

Coral, according to Plato, protected children from disease. Diamonds were considered to amplify the properties of any gemstones with which they were worn. Emerald was considered to have beneficial effects on the eyes. Hematite was thought to reduce inflammation and to serve in the treatment of hysteria.

Lapis lazuli was thought to bring its wearer strength. Onyx was thought to have the power to stabilize a person under stress. Quartz was singled out in many cultures as a stone of divination and clairvoyance. "Healing crystals" sought after by some even today are generally quartz.

The fact is people have worn gems for a variety of reasons over the centuries. Today, we know it is true that the price one has in wearing fine gemstone jewelry adds to one's overall sense of well-being. We don't "prescribe" gemstones, but we would be glad to help you find the finest gem of your choice.

BEHAVIORS OF STROKE

A stroke can present devastating changes in the physical, behavioral, emotional and intellectual outlooks of victims. When someone suffers a stroke, the physical damage usually ranges from minor to severe paralysis on the side of the body opposite to the side of the brain damaged.

Left-brain damage affects speech and language. Other tendencies are caution, anxiety and disorganization when trying new tasks. Don't underestimate the patient's ability to learn and communicate even if they can't talk. Don't shout at them. Keep messages simple and brief.

Right-brain damage affects self-care activities. They may be impulsive or careless. Don't overestimate their abilities. Break tasks into small steps and give them lots of feedback. Avoid rapid movements around them.

Stroke victims often have short retention spans. They can also suffer from varying degrees of sight or hearing loss. But not all stroke victims are alike. They act differently depending upon what part of the brain was injured, the severity and type of injury, how recent the stroke occurred, and their personality and previous behavior.

Capparelli introduces 'Tax Freedom Act'

State Representatives Ralph C. Capparelli (D-13) and James A. DeLeo (D-16) have introduced legislation that would reduce property taxes by almost 15 percent and subject future increases to approval by local referendum.

"Homeowners in Chicago and Cook County have been victimized by skyrocketing property taxes for too long," Capparelli said. "The 'Tax Freedom Act' would reduce property taxes to 1988 levels, which would relieve some of the burden felt now."

HB 513 includes the following provisions:
• Taxes would be rolled back to 1988 levels.
• Property tax increases and user fee increases would only be allowed with 60 percent approval by voter referendum.
• Property taxes would be paid twice yearly on election day, first, in the spring on the day of the March or April election and second, on the day of the November election.

The number of referenda on a ballot would not be limited. Currently there is a limit of three referenda per election.

Capparelli and DeLeo pointed out that unlike Governor Jim Edgar's property tax reform plan HB 513 will actually cut property taxes. "The homeowners of Chicago and Cook County want relief from their property taxes," Capparelli said. "This legislation will reduce their taxes whereas Edgar's plan virtually guarantees a yearly increase."

Tobin estimated that property taxes will be reduced by approximately 15 percent which would save homeowners $300 a year on a $2,000 property tax bill.

Politics

Schoenberg cites property tax relief problem

State Representative Jeff Schoenberg (D-56) recently called Gov. Jim Edgar's property tax relief proposal "well-intended but off the mark," during a hearing of the Illinois House of Representatives Revenue Committee.

The committee is studying a property tax "Cap" outlined by the governor in his State of the State address.

During the hearing, Schoenberg offered a number of alternative relief proposals, many of which were originally recommended by Douglas Whitley, Illinois Director of the Dept. of Revenue, during his tenure with the Taxpayers Federation of Illinois.

Some of Schoenberg's proposals include:
• Letting the state assume financial responsibility for some local government costs such as pensions, elections and the judicial system. These costs are currently mandated in the General Assembly but paid for out of local property taxes.
• The state must be the primary source of funding for education. Currently, education spending affects 60 percent of local property tax collections and only 37 percent of the state budget allocations.

Sheridan speaks out for seniors, teens

Niles Park Board candidate Rick Sheridan is a family man who sees a real need to address the Niles community's seniors and teens' needs through park district activities.

Rick Sheridan

"Although the Village of Niles Trident Center does an excellent job providing various opportunities for the seniors - what has the park district done? Ladies Choice and Senior Men's Exercise Class - That's Not Enough to meet the seniors diverse needs. In fact, we have one park board candidate who would like to remove the Senior Men's Exercise Class from the Niles Park District's Grenman Heights facility permanently," he said.

"The Niles Park District is for Everyone, and if elected I will always be available to the seniors and meet them anytime and anywhere - to address their needs and ideas; that's a promise!"

He said he believes the new Niles Park District Recreation Department staff is starting to address teens' needs. "I personally have teenagers of my own, managed a baseball team of teenagers, and feel I have a good idea of what they want and need in their leisure time," he said.

"The Niles Park District should be in the forefront in providing the teenage population of Niles with activities and programming - and if elected, I'll see to it that it's a reality."

He said he looks forward to working with the professional staff of the Niles Park District as well as Niles residents.

Here's why:
You may deposit any amount up to $2000. You may still be eligible to make full or partial tax deduction for your deposit.

Holy Family heritage remembered

The Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth, the sponsoring congregation of Holy Family Hospital and Holy Family Health Center, Des Plaines, will celebrate 30 years of operating Holy Family Hospital and 10 years of operating Holy Family Health Center.

During this special year, the sisters will remember their beginnings, over 115 years ago.

The Sisters of Nazareth play an integral role in education and healthcare in the Chicago/Des Plaines community. They have grown from an order of 11 sisters who came to Chicago from Rome in 1885, to an order with just under 2,000 Sisters, who won and operate many healthcare institutions.

What prompted the sisters to come to Chicago and choose service in the areas of healthcare and education?

The Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth, founded in 1875, began their mission of relief to needy persons through social and charitable activities and youth education.

On July 4, 1885, the sisters, led by their foundress Mother Mary of Jesus the Good Shepherd, Frances Siedliska, came to Chicago to give assistance to the poor immigrants of Archbishop Patrick A. Feehan's diocese. Eleven sisters (approximately half of the order) left Rome for America to carry on their mission through education, social service and parish work.

Within three months, the order, filled with tremendous spirit of mission, had already established a school and orphanage within the confines of St. Joseph parish. Involvement in the healthcare ministry began with the sisters' visits to the sick and suffering at home and in local hospitals.

Because of their concern for the family in spiritual, emotional, physical, social and cultural needs, the sisters eventually established healthcare institutions.

Today, the sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth own and operate six hospitals nationwide, including St. Mary of Nazareth in Chicago and Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines. In addition, the sisters also operate Nazarethville, a retirement home in Des Plaines, and a nursing home, Holy Family Health Center in Des Plaines.

A letter written by the founders on October 1, 1894 summarizes the sisters' healthcare mission: "...although both health and life are in the hands of God, we must do everything in our power to assist the suffering members of Christ in the persons of the sick who come to us for care..."

Practice electrical safety in the home

Look around you for a moment and take note of all the things you use that require electricity. If you're like most people, you most likely have come up with a long list which points out the importance of electricity in our lives.

However, it is important to realize that electricity must be used properly.

Your knowledge and concern for safety are the keys to help you prevent such accidents. The following are some suggestions for safe use of electricity in your home.

Check your home's wiring. All wiring should be installed and inspected by a qualified electrician to comply with all local and national codes.

Look for the following signs which may give you an indication of inadequate wiring: lights dim or flicker; heat producing appliances such as your toaster or iron are slow to warm; motors change speed when an appliance goes on; the picture on your television screen shrinks; you don't have enough electrical outlets; circuit breakers or fuses blow frequently.

Cover unused wall outlets with plastic safety caps; avoid using extension cords whenever possible. If you must use one, don't exceed its recommended rating or plug it into another extension cord. Be sure to unplug it from the wall outlet after its use. If an appliance smokes, sparks or gives a shock at any time, unplug it and call a service person to repair it before using it again.

Safe wiring in your home should feature a metal box for circuit breakers or fuses that should be rated for at least 100 AMPS. If it isn't clearly labeled, or if your home's power is delivered through ungrounded outlets designed for 2-prong plugs, have the wiring inspected and upgraded, if necessary.

Equally important in maintaining electrical safety in your home is the proper use of electrical appliances. In our era of modern appliances, it is important to know how to use them properly. Please make note of the following general safety rules: never operate an electrical appliance while touching a metal object, standing on a wet surface or taking a bath or shower. Electricity will go to ground through any good conductor -- metal, liquid or you; never insert metal objects into an appliance or outlet (consult a service person if it needs to be fixed); always unplug appliances before cleaning, removing parts, and when not in use; teach children not to play with cords and wall outlets.

Precautions to take when using microwaves

In the United States each year, more than two million people become victims of burn and fire-related injuries. The scald burn is the most common type of burn, and an increasing number of scald burns are caused by the misuse of microwave ovens. During National Burn Awareness Week (February 3 through 9), the Skokie Fire Prevention Bureau reminds residents that microwave use can present many of the same risks as heating food by more conventional means. The bureau offered these tips.

1. The single-most important prevention measure is to read and follow the directions.
2. Stir foods to distribute the heat. Many microwave ovens have a tendency to heat from the outside edge towards the middle. This can produce very hot food on the edge and cold food in the middle.
3. Caution must be exercised when heating foods that may contain fillings. The filling may become very hot, while the outer portion may only be warm to the touch.
4. Before giving any food to a child, test the food to ensure a safe temperature.
5. Be sure children are old enough to understand the safe use of the microwave oven before allowing them to heat foods.
6. In all cases, be sure a person fully understands how to use the microwave oven before allowing them to heat foods.
7. Some manufacturers do not recommend that their products be heated in the microwave oven. Follow these recommendations (i.e., baby bottle liners and some baby foods).
8. After heating moderate to large quantities of food, let the food and container remain in the microwave to allow vapor pressure to decrease - steam burns are very common when items are opened too quickly.
9. Escaping steam from microwave popcorn can burn the eyes and skin. Use caution and follow the instructions.
10. Be careful when removing coverings or lids from microwaved foods. Puncture plastic wrap before heating foods in the microwave.
11. Use an oven mitten or a pot holder when removing food from the oven to avoid burning your hands.
12. Keep all hot liquids out of children's reach, and keep children away from the microwave and other heating appliances when removing hot foods.
13. Aluminum foil should not be used to cover items you are heating. The foil will cause an arc resulting in sparks which can set your microwave oven on fire.
14. Glass or china with silver, gold or metal trim around the rim can overheat, resulting in a bad lip burn.
15. Leave a bowl of water in the microwave when the oven is not in use in case small children should accidentally turn on the oven. The water will attract the microwaves and prevent damage to the oven.
16. There is no safe way to microwave eggs without first removing the shell. An explosion can result.

For more information about burn awareness, call the Skokie Fire Prevention Bureau at 982-5340.

Estimated tax payments due

The Internal Revenue Service reminds people who make estimated tax payments that the first installment for 1991 is due Monday, April 15. The payment should be sent to the IRS along with the first quarter payment voucher from Form 1040ES, Estimated Tax for Individuals. To be sure that the payment is properly credited to your account, the IRS asks that you write your social security number and the words, "1991 Form 1040ES" on the check.

If you're not sure whether you should be making these quarterly payments, the IRS suggests first checking your 1990 return. If the return shows a balance due of at least $500, and if you expect your financial situation to stay pretty much the same during 1991, then you probably should be making these payments. Moonlighters and two-wage-earner households should also consider making estimates. The same goes for people who receive significant income on which no tax is withheld, such as business profits, rental income, alimony, interest, dividends, capital gains, and unemployment benefits.

Form 1040ES has a worksheet which can help you figure out whether or not you need to make estimated tax payments and, if so, how much. To get this form, call toll-free 1-800-TAX-FORM (829-3676). You can listen to a quick overview of this subject by calling Tele-Tax, the IRS' automated system of prerecorded tax information. Dial 1-800-829-4477 and request tape number 156.

Obsessive-compulsive disorder treated

Forest Hospital has introduced a new inpatient treatment program for Obsessive-Compulsive Disorders (OCD). OCD is characterized by recurrent, unwanted and unpleasant thoughts (obsessions) and/or repetitive, ritualistic behaviors that a person feels driven to perform (compulsions).

Providing a holistic approach to the disorder, Forest Hospital's treatment program will include a neuropsychiatric assessment - with medication, if appropriate - education about OCD, behavioral therapy and individual, group and family psychotherapy.

Because behavioral therapy is one of the most effective tools in overcoming OCD, the disorder can be difficult to treat on an outpatient basis. A major benefit of specialized inpatient treatment is that it removes the sufferer from day-to-day commitments and provides an environment in which he or she can focus solely on developing new skills and breaking old behavior patterns.

It's estimated that up to two or three percent of the population may suffer with OCD at some point in their lives. Such figures represent educated guesswork, since many OCD sufferers are so ashamed of their behavior that they strive to keep their condition a secret.

The Forest Hospital OCD program provides a continuum of care through an outpatient program and monthly support group meetings. For further information, contact the Forest Hospital outpatient department, (708) 635-4100, ext. 224 or 225.

Centel installs fire safety systems

Central Telephone Company (Centel) completed the installation of two new fire safety systems to protect the company's digital telephone switching equipment in Des Plaines and Park Ridge.

According to Carl Griffith, Centel safety manager, the new systems utilize a number of "smart" devices, or intelligent smoke detectors, which are strategically placed throughout the switching centers in each building. Each of the devices contains a data receiver, data transmitter, and a micro-controller that provides direct communication of information to a central control panel.

"Centel employees monitoring the status of the system through and LCD (liquid crystal display), and printout that logs system events," Griffith said. "In addition, in the event of a fire, an alarm will be directly activated at the appropriate fire department."

Griffith added that the new systems, with a combined cost of nearly $900,000, are the state-of-the-art in fire safety equipment. "They provide the best possible protection for the company's digital telephone switches, cable rooms and batteries."

Deer population ...

ward Street about two years ago. They're kind of taking over; kind of brazen."

Turk's neighbor, Bob Nordskog, on Dobson Street, has another view.

He said "We enjoy them, see them quite often. About three weeks ago, there were eight of them, a herd...we threw apples out to them. We worry about them crossing the street...there should be a deer crossing sign...the squirrels are more of a nuisance."

Niles Police Chief Ray Giovannielli said there have not been many complaints about the deer, although occasionally some become confused and one even ran into a store window in a nearby shopping area.

Recently, a deer attempted to jump the tall wrought iron fence at St. Adalbert Cemetery, 6800 Milwaukee Ave., Niles, and became impaled.

Some people may even be taking deer control into their own hands, even though the penalty for poaching is $1,000 and/or a year in jail.

A Morton Grove resident on Jan. 15 told police he heard gunshots and saw startled deer run from the woods near a dump off Beckwith Road. When Morton Grove and Forest Preserve police responded, they found parts of a deer carcass near the dump and a witness said the day before he had seen a field-dressed deer hanging from a tree.

Chet Ryndak, head of conservation for the Forest Preserve District, said he has done an aerial count of the deer in the woods around the north branch of the Chicago River and found the count "far beyond what it should be," but anticipates control methods there will not start until next winter.

The Miami Woods, east of Waukegan Road and south of Dempster Street from Morton Grove to Niles, has a deer problem.

Steve Packard is with the Nature Conservancy, an environmentalist group helping the Forest Preserve manage the prairie and woodlands in the north branch area. He said when deer are overpopulated, they get hungry and destroy the habitat for other animals, such as underbrush used by birds and butterflies. Even though medium-size predators such as foxes and coyotes continue in that area, large predators needed to control deer such as mountain lions and wolves are no longer around.

He said "Now the only things that kill deer are automobiles."

When he began his work in the Miami Woods 14 years ago, Packard remembers, there were no deer and he can recall the first time he photographed a deer hoof print there.

The Forest Preserve's Ryndak noted the Busse Woods, north sector, near Elk Grove Village, has been the site of a deer control project since 1983 and over 300 deer have been removed. Most carcasses are donated to the Chicago Food Depository and the venison goes to 500 different soup kitchens.

Usual control methods involve killing deer by sharp shooting or by a mechanical euthanasia of the type used on cattle and hogs in slaughterhouses.

Ryndak said as a naturalist for 25 years, "...it's a tough decision...I love deer."

Previously, there were options in deer control, according to Ryndak, but today there is no place to take deer captured alive. When they are taken alive, captors take a blood sample from them to be sure they are not carrying infections and hold them for two or three days. During this time they thresh about and when they are again released, there is concern they will not survive, Ryndak said.

A control project begins soon in the Des Plaines river valley forest preserves, near Lake-Cook Road, where the ecological balance is "way out of kilter," Ryndak said.

He called that project "a beginning," and plans to address the deer problem in all of the Cook County forest preserves.

Kustra in Springfield ...

That's all you can ask." Kustra's election to the second highest state executive post set off a chain of events that not only changed his constituency, but that of Martin Butler, the Park Ridge mayor who was appointed to fill Kustra's 28th District state senate vacancy.

Both Butler and fellow GOP Senator Walter Dudydz (R-7th) talked tough to municipal budget planners.

Butler said "I hope there aren't too many communities that have made the mistake of being too dependent on the state income tax surcharge. People are going to have to come up with other sources of revenue."

Butler, who insists that he and Kustra had not collaborated prior to the November election for him to fill the statehouse seat, described the budgetary aspects of his new position as "exciting" and "fascinating" and said he now has "fewer hats" to wear than when he was a mayor.

While Kustra, like Butler, has also changed hats, Kustra says he is still the same person as he was a decade ago when he first sought public office.

"The only thing that's changed is I have a much larger focus now," Kustra said, in between bites of mesquite-grilled Polish sausage and Lyonnais potatoes. "My major interest is in education as it had been ten years earlier. (Governor) Jim Edgar has asked me to make education my number one priority."

Kustra predicted any changes, such as the pooling of industrial property tax revenues, recommended by a government task force relative to state educational funding, would not hurt Maine Township schools.

"The end result is not going to injure suburban education as much as it will help poorer districts. Residential property will always remain in the local tax base."

Dudydz also seemed to agree with most of Edgar's budget pro-

No truck law ...

"We've tried to bend a little bit," Hols said. "It used to be trucks had to be off the street at 8 p.m., then it changed to midnight."

"Our police have more important things to do than measure trucks," Greenberg said after the board's meeting, referring to the proposed 200-inch maximum to meet the definition of a small truck.

"I really gave it some thought before withdrawing my request for a change," he said.

at 6 a.m. She rushes home to provide for her daughter before going on to a second job over at Fretters. She works there 40 hours a week over six days. She said she's the sole provider for her child which requires working two jobs. She is an example of a single parent who could use some extra support from the community. Mothers in the work force who are single parents are a special group of people in this country who need help. It seems an impossible task to rush home, provide nurturing for a child, and still retain a relatively normal environment for both parent and child.

Another very special Nilesite we've long admired is our barber, Lorenzo Marucci, who keeps the faith over on Oakton Street next door to Riggio's Restaurant. Lorenzo has been working the same old stand for at least 20 years. I don't recall his ever taking time off from his 52 week schedule. Yet, his efforts have provided well for his family, which includes a lovely daughter who will be finishing law school at DePaul within the next year.

We had a man in the office Monday afternoon who thinks it's time to oppose Niles village president Nick Blase. He was obviously hinting we should get involved. We told him if he really wanted to work for new people, he should contact Mary Marusek and Carol Panek who have announced they will write-in candidates for village trustees in April's election.

The Marusek-Panek decision to seek election is good news for the political climate in Niles. Nick's one-man rule has created a vacuum in the community which precludes any opposition voices being heard, either on the campaign trail or at village board meetings.

While it is difficult to mount a write-in campaign, it can be done successfully if a great number of troops are involved. It requires hard door to door and telephone to telephone campaigning by all the workers who will be competing against a political machine, many of whose workers have a financial interest in the machine's success.

Beginning this summer automatic bank tellers will be selling 18 U.S. stamp sheets. They are the same size as currency which will enable the machines to use their automatic facility. The stamps will cost the regular $5.22 for the 18 stamps though a service charge could be added. A bank in Seattle gave the program a test run and sold 75,000 sheets of stamps the first month.

A wag in The Bugle office (Diane Miller) said now that the banks are in the stamp business maybe they could begin delivering the mail.

Welcome Home celebration for Niles service personnel

A welcome home celebration to honor the men and women from the village of Niles who are currently serving in the armed forces is being discussed. The village of Niles and Operation Homecoming (Operation Beat the Heat) are currently seeking the names and addresses of all service personnel who are Niles residents, regardless of whether or not they have served in the Persian Gulf.

Residents with information on service personnel are asked to call (708) 470-2610 or drop a postcard to Operation Beat the Heat, P. O. Box 487147, Niles, IL, 60648.

Niles sidewalk repair program

The Village of Niles is offering a sidewalk replacement program for owners who will pay half the cost to repair cracked public sidewalks in front of their homes.

The Engineering Department is handling the program, which allows the village to repair the sidewalks at half price to residents. A minimum of two sidewalk squares must be repaired for an owner to participate in the program. The owner should mark with chalk the section or sections in need of replacement.

To apply, simply fill out the application below and send it to Niles' Engineering Division of Public Services Department, 6849 West Touhy Ave. Applications must be in by May 31, 1991. For more information on the program, call 967-6100, ext. 240.

Niles West High School in Skokie.

Quinn noted "the last possible" date for filing the candidacy declaration of intent is Friday, March 29 by 5 p.m. She said the Clerk's office would be open, even though that day, Good Friday, is often a holiday.

Panek and Marusek were recently deprived of a regular ballot listing when a Circuit Court judge ruled their candidacy petitions failed to specify they sought the post of "village" trustee.

The two women went to court after the Niles Electoral Board, legally composed of the village board president, the village clerk and the senior trustee not running for re-election—Mayor Blase, Kathy Harbison and Louella Preston—objected to their candidacy petition on the grounds it was unclear which trustee office the women sought.

Panek, a current park board commissioner, seeks to regain the village trustee post she held for ten years; Marusek was a park board commissioner for nine years. Panek is a former teacher and currently is an administrative assistant at R.C. Industries, Inc.; in 1986 she was a candidate for Illinois state representative.

Marusek is comptroller for a point of purchase advertising firm. Both women are active in the Morton Grove/Niles League of Women Voters and both have served terms as president.

year he began his partnership with Marc S. Porter.

Berrafato obtained his law degree from De Paul University in 1952, where he was editor of the law review. He has also served on three village commissions, as director of the Chamber of Commerce and as counsel to both Morton Grove and Niles' libraries. He and his wife Irene have seven children, six grandchildren and have lived in the village since 1957.

Despite the fact that three of his predecessors, including Kaplan, were named judges while serving as Morton Grove's corporation counsel, Berrafato says his ambition now is to "do a good job for the village."

"It's more than an opportunity; it's a challenge to do the right thing for the village," Berrafato said.

The village's special counsel, Michael Loizzi, has been representing Morton Grove in its court battle with Kovilic Construction, which seeks to prevent the village from awarding a $3.3 million sewer contract to Genesis/Shea. Kovilic had submitted a lower bid of $3.2 million.

After describing the situation to a friend, the Dolton man and the friend started outside but stopped on the stair landing as the estranged husband pulled out a bluish, long-barreled handgun and advanced toward them on the stairs.

The Dolton man quickly turned and returned inside the building and the gun toting former husband left before police arrived. The former husband, 25, whose last known address is his former wife's home in Evanston, was said to be living with his mother in Chicago.

Families prepare ...

Class with the U.S. Army's 82nd Airborne division, spent his 21st birthday in a foxhole in Iraq.

Calling from the airport in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, in their first talk since Thanksgiving, Steve told his mom he had just slept in a bed for the first time in months.

During his duty tour, Brown, a 1988 graduate of Maine East High School, passed the expert machine gunner rank and was promoted to assistant gunner. He was positioned with a French contingent, behind the Republican Guard in Iraq.

In a way suitable for a returning warrior, the Brown family is gearing for a happy family welcome when Steve returns from his base at Fort Bragg, Fayetteville, North Carolina.

Steve still must complete three years of his Army term of duty, but his mom said "He's home, almost...I'm just so happy he's okay and on the way home...it was rough."

Marine Lance Corporal Steve Cieszykowski is expected to be in Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, California, by Friday.

His mom, Marge Cieszykowski, of Ocotola Avenue, said the returning Persian Gulf veterans "have no idea of the homecoming they're returning to" and don't realize the support they had at home. She and her husband Robert plan an open house for friends to welcome home their son.

Mrs. Cieszykowski caught a glimpse of what post-war Kuwait was like.

In a weekend phone conversation with son Steve, she heard "Kuwait City is trashed; the entire country of Kuwait is like a junkyard of used car parts."

He deplored the damage done to the ecology from the oil spills and burning oil wells.

With his four-year term of duty nearing its end, Lance Corporal Cieszykowski will return to his base, then be home in two or three weeks.

Operation Beat the Heat, now called Operation Homecoming, was initiated by Marge Cieszykowski to send food and toiletries to troops in the Gulf.

With the war over, articles already collected will be dispersed to veterans' hospitals and to families of Illinois men in Saudi Arabia who can be expected to remain in the Gulf for several months.

Some of Operation Homecoming's stock will be contributed to an Operation Family Support benefit being staged March 24 at the Nashville North restaurant bar in Bensenville by the Tioga Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 2149.

Harlem Irving community thanks Gulf troops

Harlem Irving Plaza welcomes back the "We Care Committee" on Saturday, March 16 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The committee will be located at Center Court near Carsons, and will be collecting messages of thanks to send to the troops in the Persian Gulf. The center is located at Harlem Avenue, Irving Park Road, and Forest Preserve Drive.

Since Jan. 26, the HIP community donated 37 pints of blood, sent over 490 bags of needed items thru "Operation Beat the Heat", has displayed over 690 names of service men/women on two large hearts in the center court of the plaza, and has sent over 4,900 messages of support to the troops in Saudi Arabia.

the district pays the other half. The per pupil fee will be $86 if a $30 deposit is paid to the district by May 31, 1991. The $56 balance is due by Aug. 15, 1991, the last day of registration.

If the $30 deposit is not paid by May 31 the total fee increases to $136 per child due by Aug. 15. With the exception of new students, bus service will be on a space available only basis for those students whose fees are not paid by Aug. 15.

The fee for students moving into the district after June 1, 1991, is $86.

Under the bus fee resolution, the maximum number of fees any one family will pay for is two even though they may have more children attending school.

A built-in raise for the bus drivers and a possible increase in fuel costs are reasons Stetina cited for rising transportation costs.

The Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) reimburses parents for the cost of transporting children to school if they live more than one-and-a-half miles away from school or if a safety factor is involved, Stetina said.

An unsafe situation where the state would reimburse parents is if an IDOT investigation determined a child had to cross a main artery such as Dempster Street or Golf Road to get to school, he said.

In other business, Nelson students demonstrated to board members how manipulative devices are used in their classrooms to teach math concepts.

Students had board members separate candy M&Ms, a manipulative, by colors into groups, graph their color frequency, chart comparisons between the groups and practice division with them.

Coordinator of Special Education Michael Johann demonstrated his estimating skills by coming the closest to guessing the number of M&Ms in a jar.

First graders Jennifer Leifel, and Bryan Block, third graders Jonathan Aponte, and Kristen Snedden and fourth graders Mark Honsa and Sophia Varnasidis were all given certificates of appreciation for participating in the demonstration.

Turning to personnel matters, board members granted a maternity leave of absence for school psychologist Linda Cvetan effective May 20 through the 1991-'92 school year.

Her reemployment is contingent on whether a position for which she is qualified will be available when she applies for re-employment.

The board also agreed to pay Gemini Boys' Track Coach William Gibson $1,348 compensation for an extracurricular activity he is undertaking.

Currently, Shaver Service Plus, along with "Operation Beat the Heat" is continuing to collect daily drop-offs of hygiene products, letters, and various needed items to send over to the troops.

The support and response we have received from the community has been phenomenal", stated corporate marketing director of the center, Kathy Vitello. "We want the troops and their families to know we care and appreciate them. We are anxious for their return home and until that time, we are doing whatever we can to show our support," concluded Vitello.

For further information, please call Harlem Irving Plaza at (312) 625-3036 or (708) 453-7800.
