Businesses, multi-unit residences to get electronic meter readers

by Sheilya Hackett

Niles trustees on May 28 laid the ground work for an automated water meter reading system for business and industrial customers and for residences of over three units.

Customers will pay for the upgraded meters and conversion and interfacier units, which electronically relay data to the village.

As an incentive, the village is offering customers a seven percent discount if they pay within 30 days of their billings.

Customer benefits include more accurate billings and the elimination of a meter reader at the door. The village is pleased because it will have meter readers

Iowa college says Macken never received master's degree

Macken falsified job resumé

by Nancy Keraminas

Niles Library Board President Ted Frybylo has confirmed what an independent Bugle investigation determined that former administrator Dan Macken misrepresented his academic credentials when he was hired in 1984 and gave an unauthorized salary increase to a probationary employee last summer.

Macken's employment application and resume indicate he received a masters degree from Parson's College in Fairfield, Iowa, which closed in the mid-1970s. Parson's records are now kept at the University of Iowa in Iowa City but registrar Marylou Miller said there is no record that Mack-en attended Parsons. In addition, Miller said Parson's never had a graduate studies program. Macken did, however, receive a bachelor's degree in business administration in 1972 from St. Ambrose College in Davenport, Iowa, according to records at that school.

"I can't comment on that," Macken said when asked about the lack of proof that he attended Parson's. Asked if he had received a masters degree from another school, Macken replied, "I won't comment on that either."

"Our acting administrator (Judith Zelter) discovered it (the inaccurate employment information) with our attorneys and auditors and brought it to the

Review of zip code issue includes survey

by Sheilya Hackett

Two Niles officials recently alerted residents and businesses to a pending Post Office survey regarding the Niles zip code issue.

In their letter, Mayor Nicholas Blase and Trustee Bart Murphy described Niles' problems in being included in three zip code areas, 60631, and 60648, Chicago, and 60016, Des Plaines.

They told of diversion of sales tax revenues to Des Plaines and of possibly higher health insurance rates for Niles residents because of the current zip codes.

They complained of mail delivery delays and indicated Niles is trying to correct the situation by asking for a zip code of its own.

May 28, Village Manager Abe Selman said Chicago Postmaster

Niles man accused of bribing county inspector

A Niles man was indicted for allegedly bribing a McHenry County building inspector to overlook his failure to obtain a building permit for a gazebo he was building at 8107 E. Lake Shore Drive in Wonder Lake.

The two-county bill of indictment, which was returned by the McHenry County Grand Jury on Wednesday, May 22, charges Tadeusz Zimnoch, 44, of Niles with promising Harry Stafford $1,000 to avoid having to obtain the required building permit for the gazebo. It also charges that on May 13, 1991, Zimnoch paid Stafford $500 of the $1,000 promised.

Zimnoch was arrested by McHenry County Sheriff's deputies on Thursday morning. Bond

Water sprinkling restrictions in effect

It's summer again in Niles and with the heat and humidity comes lawn sprinkling restrictions.

The restrictions have been ordered by the Federal Water Administration and the Illinois Department of Transportation's Division of Water Resources. The Federal Government has threatened to cut Niles water allocation if the sprinkling restrictions are not properly enforced.

Water Sprinkling rules took effect May 15. Sprinkling is allowed for even numbered ad-resses on even numbered calendar days and for odd numbered addresses on odd numbered calendar days through September 15. All watering between the hours of noon and 6 p.m. is prohibited on everyday of the week.

All Niles citizens are urged to follow the sprinkling restrictions in order to maintain adequate water pressure for fire suppression as a protection for their homes and businesses. The police will issue tickets to all persons not complying with the law.

Veterans march in parade

The Morton Grove American Legion Post #134 held its Memorial Day parade on Sunday afternoon, May 26, from the Legion Home at 6140 Dempster St. to the Doughboy Statue in front of the Morton Grove Public Library on Lincoln Avenue. The parade consisted of representatives of the various branches of the Armed Forces as well as scout troops of boys and girls, a marching Drum & Bugle Corps and (pictured above) members of the Vietnam Veterans of America Chapter 311 from Niles and Morton Grove.

Former trustee asks village to take over library

by Sheilya Hackett

Niles Library concerns spilled over into village business at a Niles Village Board meeting on Tuesday, May 28.

Walter Chmielkowski, a former library board trustee, asked Niles trustees to survey the Niles Library and suggest it be made a municipal unit. He was concerned that Library Board members, whom he described as "all honest, prudent laymen", would have difficulty in finding a new library administrator.

Board President Nicholas Blase advised Chmielkowski the library was a separate government entity with an elected board and it would be improper for trustees to survey the district in regard to taking it over, unless it was requested. He suggested the library board come to the village if they were to move in that direction.

He said as an individual, he had confidence in the library

Greek radio broadcasting comes from Lincolnwood home

Shown above is Vicky Kourmetas, a Lincolnwood resident, seated at her in-home broadcasting station. Every Sunday from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., she presents "Hellenic Heartbeat", a Greek American Hour.

Meet Vicky Kourmetas...producer, director of "Hellenic Heartbeat" Chicago's newest Greek-American hour. The classical Hellenic Hour is the fulfillment of a long-time desire of Kourmetas and her colleagues to offer the best possible program in the Greek Orthodox tradition. Broadcasting from W.O.N.X. (1590 AM) every Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m., this powerful station with 3,000 kilo-watts, covers a greater and wider area of any other Greek speaking radio program. Mrs. Kourmetas feels a deep responsibility for "Hellenic Heartbeat."

Her ability to produce this excellent program exists the moment that it does not entertain, educate, support and advance the Greek Orthodox heritage. It has a vast audience of young and old alike, and is enjoyed by everyone. Vicky's many performing skills were nurtured by her high school teacher, George Sourelas in her native born Tripoli, Greece. After graduation she moved to Athens where she attended the famous Karolos Koun School of Drama, starring in numerous theatrical productions.

But, having varied interests and excelling in each one, she went into the medical profession, earning a degree in radiology. Her intentions were to advance her career in the United States, but in the interim she met John Kourmetas, got married, and has a son, Nick. A long-time ambition to unite the Greek community both here and abroad, Kourmetas and her co-workers have been able to bridge the gap. She has visions that anything is possible, all you have to do is try. Her relentless hours of work have paid off, par excellence. With the support of her husband, "Hellenic Heartbeat" is a new adventure and experience, and Vicky is someone you should know.

MG curbside recycling more efficient

Morton Grove's curbside recycling program, one of the first and most widely used in the area, is now more efficient. Haulaway Incorporated, the company which picks-up Morton Grove's garbage and recyclables, recently began operating their new processing facility in McCook, Illinois.

This facility contains machinery with the capability of processing commingled recyclables such as tin, aluminum and glass. As a result of this new sorting system, residents need not separate any of these materials themselves. Bottles and cans should be placed together in the blue bin. Well-intentioned residents who separate bottles and cans into individual bags only make more work for the recycling crews and reduce the efficiency of the effort.

The mills which recycle newspaper can use only the newspaper, itself. Magazines and "slick" inserts, like the Sunday ads and coupons, should not be included in bags or bundles of newspapers. At this time, these items should be discarded with "regular" garbage.

Although she is used to hearing fire sirens every day, it doesn't keep Nilesite Betty Rolla from occasionally chasing a fire engine on her days off.

Rolla, whose car radio scanner keeps her in touch with fire calls, is secretary to Fire Chief Harry Kinowski and Niles 1991 Secretary of the Year. Nominating Rolla for the Chamber of Commerce award, Kinowski praised her accomplishments "...in a wide range of assignments," and described her as "...a courteous and caring person...a great team player!"

Check and balance system would exist between employees

Library committee OKs policies to prevent fraud

New policy provisions, as approved by a committee of the Niles Public Library District, may make purchasing more secure if agreed to by the board. A committee meeting was held on the matter last week.

Pending details to be worked out by the board's attorney, a check and balance system will exist between library employees.

Board President Ted Przybylo, in questioning library employees on the proposed policy change said, "Think like a thief. Could someone circumvent this?"

Judith Zelter, chief of adult services, replied, "We tried to when we set this up."

Zelter told The Bugle the proposed changes are, "an institutional response to make the system more secure."

Hopefully, the new system will counter any embezzlement attempts such as the alleged take by former administrator Daniel C. Macken. Supposedly, Macken set up a dummy book company or companies and ordered nonexistent books so that $150,000 of the library's money could be used for his personal benefit. The funds have since been repaid.

For example, in departmental purchases an employee requesting a book must initial five copies of a purchase order.

The library's executive secretary, who has no control of funds, will verify all copies are signed.

Sewer violators receive second notice

Morton Grove homeowners who still have not corrected sewer violations have received a second, more strongly worded notice from the village.

According to Director of Community Development Charles Schreck, 1,000 warning letters were prepared for mailing when staffers realized some of those had, in fact, performed required work.

"I feel fairly confident that 75 percent of the properties are in compliance," Schreck said. "This last letter did generate a lot of interest. Here we thought we were at 35-50 percent non-compliance, we discovered it was much less."

"I know how upsetting it is for people who have gotten the work done to get a letter like this," Schreck continued. "Most of those people have been really nice."

The Fact That Mr. Gilbert Doesn't Like Boiled Eggs Is No Small Matter At Ballard

Mrs. Reeves likes to call her son every Tuesday and Thursday at 3 p.m. Mr. Gilbert hates soft-boiled eggs. And Mr. Thomas has a passion for the New York Times crossword puzzle. They are all Ballard residents. Mrs. Reeves is undergoing rehabilitation after breaking a hip and should be home by mid-June. Mr. Thomas has been with us for three years, and Mr. Gilbert is spending two weeks at Ballard while his son and daughter-in-law are vacationing in California.

All the interests and concerns of residents are very much the interest and concern of the Resident

Eli Pick

Services Department which is totally unique to Ballard. It was easy for me to discover these personal preferences. I just asked Susan Lasko, our Resident Services Coordinator. She is the Ballard professional who matches the resources of Ballard with each resident's needs as closely as possible. She makes sure that the little things as well as the big things are done.

That's why Mr. Gilbert never gets boiled eggs. Mr. Thomas gets the New York Times section every Sunday, and an aide makes sure that Mrs. Reeves calls her son twice a week at the appointed hour.

Ms. Lasko sums her job up much better than I could: "Older people are the gems of our society. I want to see them honored, respected and happy. My reward is smiles." For further information about Ballard, Call 708-827-9800 or write: Ballard Nursing Center 9300 Ballard Road Des Plaines, IL 60016

Prom kings, queens celebrate at Benchmark

Bob Romes, 78, and Jo Studebaker, 72, aren't used to having their friends treat them like royalty. But then, neither has ever been a prom king or queen before.

Chosen by their fellow residents, Romes and Studebaker will be crowned king and queen of The Benchmark when the Hoffman Estates retirement community holds its annual Senior Prom at 1 p.m. on Sunday, June 2.

On hand for the coronation will be the prom kings and queens from two nearby high schools. The two generations will celebrate in style as seniors and students share memories and dance. Area residents are invited to enjoy music by Dick Thel and the Continentals, dancing and refreshments.

Romes, who's used to being called "Bob", hasn't quite gotten used to his friends addressing him as "king" and bowing whenever they see him.

"They love giving me the business," he said, "but it's nice to know people appreciate you." Romes, one of the most active members of the men's club at The Benchmark, is also renowned for his handiwork with furniture and upholstery.

Studebaker was doubly surprised, both from being chosen prom queen, and also from the dozen long-stem roses her granddaughter sent to congratulate her. She's already picked out her dress for the big day - a pink beaded one that she wore for her 35th anniversary last year.

"It's a very big honor," she said, "and I'm very excited." Studebaker, still actively employed, manages to find the time to run The Benchmark's busy gift shop near the building's main lobby. Romes and Studebaker are good friends, and each was thrilled that the other had been chosen.

"Jo's a wonderful person... all smiles," said Romes.

Diane Mangiamela and Jason Lee, fresh from being voted prom king and queen themselves at Rolling Meadows High School, and Mark Hesiak and Kerry Schager, king and queen at Palatine High, also said they're excited about the event.

"Why should prom just be for us?" said Mangiamela, who will be presenting the crown to Studebaker. "I hope their prom is just as wonderful as ours was."

The Benchmark will make a donation to each of the high schools in honor of the participants. Mangiamela and Lee have earmarked the donation for their school's student council, in which both were active members for four years.

For reservations to the prom, phone (708) 490-5800.

Prom kings, queens celebrate at Benchmark

Bob Romes, 78, and Jo Studebaker, 72, aren't used to having their friends treat them like royalty. But then, neither has ever been a prom king or queen before.

Chosen by their fellow residents, Romes and Studebaker will be crowned king and queen of The Benchmark when the Hoffman Estates retirement community holds its annual Senior Prom at 1 p.m. on Sunday, June 2.

On hand for the coronation will be the prom kings and queens from two nearby high schools. The two generations will celebrate in style as seniors and students share memories and dance. Area residents are invited to enjoy music by Dick Thel and the Continentals, dancing and refreshments.

Romes, who's used to being called "Bob", hasn't quite gotten used to his friends addressing him as "king" and bowing whenever they see him.

"They love giving me the business," he said, "but it's nice to know people appreciate you." Romes, one of the most active members of the men's club at The Benchmark, is also renowned for his handiwork with furniture and upholstery.

Studebaker was doubly surprised, both from being chosen prom queen, and also from the dozen long-stem roses her granddaughter sent to congratulate her. She's already picked out her dress for the big day - a pink beaded one that she wore for her 35th anniversary last year.

"It's a very big honor," she said, "and I'm very excited." Studebaker, still actively employed, manages to find the time to run The Benchmark's busy gift shop near the building's main lobby. Romes and Studebaker are good friends, and each was thrilled that the other had been chosen.

"Jo's a wonderful person... all smiles," said Romes.

Diane Mangiameli and Jason Lee, fresh from being voted prom king and queen themselves at Rolling Meadows High School, and Mark Hestak and Kerry Schager, king and queen at Palatine High, also said they're excited about the event.

"Why should prom just be for us?" said Mangiameli, who will be presenting the crown to Studebaker. "I hope their prom is just as wonderful as ours."

The Benchmark will make a donation to each of the high schools in honor of the participants. Mangiameli and Lee have earmarked the donation for their school's student council, in which both were active members for four years.

For reservations to the prom, phone (708) 490-5800.

St. Anselm's plans lobster sale

Pat Swanson of Northbrook and Paul Koppe of Niles will cook Maine lobsters on Saturday, June 15 from 10:30 a.m. - p.m. for the annual Father's Day sale at St. Anselm's Church, 1600 N. Greenwood, Park Ridge.

On Saturday, June 15, the members of St. Anselm's will again offer Maine lobsters which can be a real treat for Mom, Dad, and other members of the family. This sale is always on the day before Father's Day from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Fresh Maine lobsters are flown in and kept in a refrigerated truck from touchdown to delivery. This assures top quality. Each lobster weighs approximately 1-1/4 lbs., which is the ideal weight for optimum flavor.

Donations for the lobsters "live or cooked" are $9.95 each. It is recommended that advance orders be received by mail or by telephone (708) 825-5811 by June 12. The "Hot-Line" is available from June 2 through June 13 from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The sale is primarily pre-order, but additional quantities are ordered to accommodate those who have not placed an order with us or wish to increase their order.

Proceeds are used to support church projects and outreach programs. The entire membership takes part in this function. Neighbors and friends are invited to see and meet this community in this labor of love in a festival atmosphere.

St. Anselm's Church is located just two blocks south of the intersection of Dempster and Greenwood in the Golf Mill area. The address is 1600 N. Greenwood in Park Ridge.

In the city, Edison Park, Nor-

"Neither Cook County nor the city of Chicago is likely to experience 'natural decrease,' despite isolated cases in some suburbs and city neighborhoods," said Johnson, an associate professor of sociology at Loyola. Natural decrease is a term demographers use to characterize an excess of deaths over births in an area.

CTA Culture Bus Service begins

CTA's popular Culture Bus service begins its 15th season and will operate every Sunday and holiday until September 19 from a terminal in front of the Art Institute, on Michigan Avenue at Adams Street.

Chicago natives, suburbanites and visitors alike have come to appreciate Culture Bus as the most economical and educational way to reach the city's major cultural attractions.

Buses on all three Culture Bus routes - South, North and West - leave the Art Institute every 30 minutes from 10:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. on round trips that last from 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 hours each. A commentator on every bus tells riders about Chicago history and points of interest along the routes.

Stops are made at some three dozen popular locations, which include museums, the Lincoln Park Zoo, university campuses, park conservatories and sky-high observatories.

Chinatown and Greektown are among the ethnic neighborhoods visited by Culture Buses, along with Polish, Ukrainian and Mexican museums, and the DuSable Museum of African American History.

The history of Chicago itself is reflected in exhibits at the Chicago Historical Society, Jane Adams Hull-House Museum, the Prairie Avenue Historic District and the Chicago Maritime Museum, while technological progress is presented at the Museum of Science and Industry, the Museum of Holography, the Museum of Broadcast Communications, the Printers Row Museum, and the International Museum of Surgical Science.

Culture Bus also offers the most relaxing way to get to the Field Museum of Natural History, the Adler Planetarium, Shedd Aquarium with its new Oceanarium, North Pier and Navy Pier, where parking is at a premium.

The Culture Bus fare is $2.50 for full-fare riders and $1.25 for reduced-fare riders (seniors, children 7-11, and disabled), and entitles them to a ticket that provides unlimited rides throughout the day on all three Culture Bus routes.

With a transfer, Culture Bus full-fare riders pay $1 additional and reduced-fare riders pay 40 cents extra. Everyday monthly passes are valid on Culture Buses on Sundays and holidays, and weekday only passes are good only on holidays.

Again this year, Culture Bus riders wishing to ride Chicago Motor Coach (CMC) double deck buses may do so at half the regular fare through Friday of the following week by showing the Culture Bus ticket.

Investment firm plants roots in Niles

by Jeffrey Cardella
Edward D. Jones & Co.

"What is different from many firms is that we are very personalized and conservative," says Jeff Cardella of Edward D. Jones & Co., the investment company whose office opened this month at 8143 Milwaukee Ave.

Cardella said he spent the last six months going from home to home and business to business, finding potential clients and getting to know them and their personal needs.

"We do things a little differently at Jones," says Cardella. "We will go out and knock on your front door to personally introduce ourselves and our firm. Any stranger can call on the phone with investment recommendations, but we feel it is very difficult to recommend an investment unless we know the clients personal needs."

He said that Edward D. Jones is a partnership, so he is a partner, not just a broker, and the company has no sales quotas to meet, and no pressure on the investment representative.

"We are very excited to extend our service to this area," said John Bachmann, managing principal of the firm. "All our investment representatives have built their business with a genuine concern for the clients welfare, and Cardella will be able to continue this tradition by providing one on one service to the people of Niles by offering only high quality, conservative investments."

Edward D. Jones & Co., headquartered in St. Louis is 119 years old, Jeff said, and has over 1,600 offices across the United States. "We are a full service financial firm," says Cardella, "and offer a complete range of investments such as insured certificates of deposit, stocks, tax-free bonds and mutual funds. We don't handle high risk investments such as penny stocks or options. If people want to gamble with their money, I recommend Las Vegas."

Cardella, born and raised here in Niles, found many friendly and familiar faces on his door to door quests. "Many people recognized my name from Niles Baseball League or the local schools," said Jeff. He is a graduate of Maine East High School, and earned a bachelor of science degree in finance from Northern Illinois University, finishing on the deans list. "I am excited on making my permanent residence here in Niles, and try to do much of my business here in Niles."

Cardella is planning an open house for the new Niles office Wednesday, June 5, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. his regular office hours. He added, "I will be happy to work after hours for appointments and I do make house calls."

All procedures concerning notifications and application of turf management chemicals will strictly adhere to the guidelines outlined in the Niles Park District's Board of Commissioners Statement of Policy.

Letters To The Editor

Chicagoan praises Pucinski; admonishes union

Dear Editor: Enough is enough. I have worked for the Circuit Court of Cook County for almost 10 years. What is so wrong about Aurelia Pucinski wanting to save the taxpayers some money? She is doing what any private industry company would do, expect their employees to come to work on time and give a good day's work. These people who are doing the complaining are usually the ones who time their arrival to walk in the door the exact time they should start work. What company allows their employees to come to work and not be ready to start their job for another 20 to 30 minutes? Unfortunately, because of the many who are habitual late arrivals, the employee who rarely comes to work late is caught up in the sweep.

While I am at it, another thing that really is annoying to me is all this nonsense with the union. Why does the union get to speak to all new employees and tell them how great they are and no way is anyone else allowed to tell them that there is nothing the union really gave the employees. All of the vacation, personal, sick and holiday days, we had long before the union came to the Circuit Court. All they did was lie to the people. The vote to get them in was a big farce. People were told they could not vote unless they joined the union. Since most of the people had no experience with unions, they just went right along. No one can tell the new employee that they have all of the benefits without joining the union. Now they come up with Aurelia Pucinski trying to decertify the union. I have always felt that unions do not belong in offices. I believe that if you do a good job, there is no need for unions. So, long before Aurelia Pucinski became Clerk of the Circuit Court, I with many others talked about and tried to decertify the union.

To the union, I say "Don't blame Aurelia Pucinski for your faults. She's doing a great job for the taxpayers."

Niles service station gets good recommendation

Dear Sirs: On Wednesday, April 24, I was enroute to Niles from Elmhurst to see one of our customers. Another driver signaled to me that my brake lights were not working. Knowing that the Niles Police force can be considerably firm on motorists with no brake lights, I eagerly sought a place to have them repaired. Upon a recommendation from my customer, I came to your station. I was greeted promptly and asked if I could be helped. After explaining my situation, I was assisted quickly and friendly. Within a short amount of time I was on my way again. I wanted to say thanks for the conscientious service. Being in a service business myself, I appreciate friendly and prompt responses.

Thanks again.
Sincerely,
Darryl F. Albert

Servicemaster of Elmhurst
EDITOR'S NOTE: The above letter was received by Joe's Service Station, 8401 N. Milwaukee Ave., Niles. The station is run by Joe Briski and sons.

Her affinity to the Fire Department may stem from her childhood when her dad, Edward Bacher, the retired director of Public Works, helped as a volunteer fireman for over 33 years and in building Niles' first fire station.

She agrees she comes from "...hard working people" with dedication to their jobs. Rolla's mother, Helen, retired as head custodian for school District 71 in 1990; her brother Edward Jr. is a Niles police reservist and her sister, Helen Smolik, is with maintenance at District 71.

Northwest Suburban Jewish Congregation has openings for our innovative Pre-school Summer Camp, three days per week, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Children bring a dairy lunch, camp supplies, apple juice and a treat.

board's attention," Przybylo said. Przybylo also confirmed that Macken, without board authorization, increased the salary of the library's personnel director Marilyn Harbold, whom he hired in June, 1990 shortly after, he was appointed administrator.

"Dan Macken is responsible for Marilyn's unauthorized raise (from $26,000 to $29,000 on or about August, 1990)," Przybylo said. "He was still on probation at the time and it was totally against the policy of the library."

At press time, Harbold, who is also Macken's roommate, was suspended with pay. A source close to the board indicated his written resignation would be submitted to the board "within a week."

Przybylo indicated that new policy and operational changes now under study by the board include methods to prevent recurrences of this type of incident.

"If we had held a personnel hearing for Dan Macken (he resigned May 15) he would have been accused of making unauthorized changes to Harbold's salary," Przybylo said. "He also falsified his resume and his employment application."

"I don't know why it wasn't checked at the time," Przybylo said, indicating Macken was hired by then administrator Duncan MacKenzie, who was later embroiled in controversy and resigned in May, 1990. "I wasn't on the board at that time."

Macken's trial on criminal charges that he embezzled $150,000 of library funds over a two-year period began June 6.

On May 10, he gave $200,000 to the library, reportedly to cover the missing money as well as legal and audit expenses incurred by the library.

Macken, 42, is alleged to have diverted the funds by authorizing purchases from bogus book companies he operated. He was arrested April 25 after a six-week investigation by Niles Police.

Review of zip...

Norman L. Miller has acknowledged receipt of Niles' request and the local postal branch has already been contacted.

But a Post Office review of Niles' zip code dilemma could take some time.

According to James Mruk, regional manager of communications for the U.S. Postal Service's central region, the review procedure unfolds in three phases, after the village formerly requests a zip code change from the Post Office's administrative sector.

An operational review is the first step, he said, in which the Post Office looks at the situation and determines if one zip code, instead of the current three, would create problems such as duplicate addresses.

Secondly, if a zip code is changed, Mruk noted, there is a certain period of adjustment when the new number is not known and a certain percentage of mail has to be re-handled, at

Judith Henning, coordinator of curriculum, indicated several junior high school committees reviewed the materials and agreed they would implement the Comprehensive Health and Education Act as required in the State of Illinois.

The Washington School PTA donated eight new laser computers with color monitors and Compton's Multimedia Encyclopedia to the school.

These new computer systems will be installed in the library for student use by the next school year. The estimated value of the donation is $7,200.

The district will hold a public hearing on Sept. 3 at the Educational Service Center, 10150 Dec Road, to discuss the budget and appropriation ordinance for 1991-92.

Once drawn up, a copy of the tentative budget and appropriation ordinance will be available for public inspection at the Office of the Board of Education.

In the other zoning referrals, three were for installation of parabolic or satellite dishes; four were for residential additions or a garage and one was for a car wash installation.

Trustees consented to allow a waiver of bids to purchase a leaf loader for the Public Works Department and medical radios and defibrillators for the Fire Department.

They authorized going to bid on four pieces of Public Works equipment, a Fire Department engine and a natural gas powered diesel generator for the E9-1-1 project. The proposed 135 kilowatt generator is considered sufficient to power the existing police facility and back up all the air conditioning and lighting.

At the meeting's onset, President Blase presented retiring Deputy Police Chief William Terpinas, Jr. with a plaque honoring his over 30 years of service to the village.

Fire Department Chief Harry Kinowski accepted an Intergovernment Risk Management Association first place safety award honoring the Niles Fire Department for having no accidents in 1990.

When the floor was opened for visitor's comments, Debbie Davis of the Gateway Foundation spoke of trying to get village permission to sell raffle tickets to support the foundation. Gateway is a not-for-profit agency which aids in chemical dependence prevention and treatment. She was accompanied by two of the agency's clients who have roots in Niles.

In reply, President Blase said Niles does not officially authorize raffles, although a good, legitimate organization can solicit door to door or on street corners.
