Bob Besser named new Bugle publisher

Bugle publisher, Bud Besser, announced Tuesday his son, Bob Besser, is the new publisher of The Bugle Newspapers.

While announcing the transition it was emphasized the five-newspaper chain has no immediate plans for any changes. "After 34 years, it's time the reigns be handed over to the next generation", said Besser, Sr., at a meeting of Bugle personnel. "I still expect to be here whenever Bob requests it. If Bob needs a salesman, a reporter, a columnist, a

Des Plaines, Morton Grove teens arrested following stabbing

2 youths charged in Niles stabbing

Two young men have been arrested in connection with a June 2 stabbing and beating of a 16-year-old Glenview boy.

The teenage victim was stabbed twice with a switchblade knife and beaten with his own baseball bat outside the Omega Restaurant, 9100 Golf Road, Niles, a culmination to an early morning argument, which began in a Glenview fast food restaurant.

According to Sgt. Dean Strzelecki of the Niles Police Department, the victim and a 19-year-old Des Plaines man verbally sparred earlier that day and the older teen was waiting in his car with some friends in the parking lot of the Omega when the 16-year-old arrived with his group of friends.

"There was a shouting match and the 16-year-old exited his car carrying a baseball bat and takes a swing," Strzelecki said. "The older youth then grabs the bat with (the 16-year-old) still holding it and plunges a switch blade into the victim's left side."

Strzelecki said the victim was then stabbed again in the back, let go of the bat and began running away. At least ten teen witnesses interviewed by police said another youth, an 18-year-old from Morton Grove, then ran after the stabbing victim and punched him in the face, knocking him to the ground.

Then, according to witnesses, the 19-year-old picked up the bat and cracked the prostrate teen in the legs before all youths fled the ground.

by Bud Besser

Niles village manager Abe Selman told us Tuesday the annexing of the Niles Library District was "more of a formality than a problem". However, Abe said no one has come to the village seeking such an annexation.

A couple of weeks ago we wrote the time has come for the village to take over the library. The recent problems of the director allegedly absconding about $200,000 was just the latest of many problems the library district has been confronted with in recent years.

While the problems in the library district have been formidable, the worst problem is some of the elected board members have not been representing the people who voted for them. It was reported one former board member had not attended a meeting in two years. And more recently, the president of the library board has been down in Florida and has not come back during this recent imbroglio.

The only major problem regarding the village takeover is the library district extends beyond the village's borders. Abe said he didn't believe Niles taxpayer's money could be used to support a district which goes beyond village border. Selman thought the borders for the library districts must be coterminous with the village's borders.

While he was only speculating, Selman thought the library

State grant will finance recycling bin purchase

by Sheilya Hackett

A $37,000 State of Illinois grant will buy bins for Niles' curbside recycling program.

Niles Village Manager Abe Selman announced receipt of the long-awaited grant May 21 and targeted Aug. 1 and 2 for the start of the village curbside program. Selman said the start-up date dovetails with the village's regular scavenger schedule in August.

Niles is one of 33 chosen from among 151 applicants to the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources' Office of Solid Waste and Renewable Resources. The grants reportedly will constitute a total of $1.1 million in state assistance to the recipients, according to State Senator Walter Dudydz's (R-7) office.

But Niles received the grant on its own merits and did not ask for help, Selman indicated. He noted

Niles showed it could accomplish the recycling project by demonstrating it had signed a contract with scavenger Haulaway and has the "...wherewithal to run this type of program."

The Niles Village Board recently approved a bid from the Rehing Pacific Company of Gurnee, Illinois, for 8,000, 18-gallon bins at a cost of $34,320.

At the beginning of August, Niles residents will be able to deposit newspaper, plastics, three colors of glass and steel, aluminum and tin cans in the curbside bins.

Sportmart Plaza undergoes renovations

Renovation and expansion of the Sportmart complex at Dempster Street and Harlem Avenue is well underway. Businesses in the plaza are open while the construction is being done.

The comparison that comes to mind is of an adolescent with braces: you know you can get through the ugly and obnoxious stage because the end product is worth the time and expense. But right now, Sportmart Plaza is a shopping center that looks like one of those awkward appearing teenagers as it goes through its own growth spurt and cosmetic overhaul, costing "about $1 million" for a new facade and parking lot.
Fortunately for the loyal customers of Lee Ward's and Sportmart, both stores are open for business and giving their clients the bargains and merchandise they are famous for.
"It's been an old and tired center for a long time," said Jim Conroy, Sportmart's construction manager. "We're striving to make it more customer friendly and more appealing. We have good quality tenants there and we intend to attract new businesses when the remodeling is complete."

"Father's Day is like a second Christmas season for Sportmart," Conroy continued, noting the sporting goods giant has a large selection of merchandise for gift-giving to dads on their special day.
Conroy said Sportmart is negotiating with a national hardware chain and a drug store to lease space formerly occupied by a uniform store and drug store, with a move-in projected to coincide when renovations are completed in late fall.
A second stage in the renovation includes a 5,100-square foot building to house additional tenants.
"Though it looks like a disaster now, it's really going to be a beautiful center," Conroy said with assurance.

Bookmobile schedule for summer set

The Niles Public Library District's Bookmobile continues to roll even during the lazy days of summer.
But this year, you will be able to check out books from the Bookmobile in air-conditioned comfort and make reading the coolest way to escape the summer doldrums.
You can even call ahead to confirm a scheduled stop or ask about the availability of a book on the Bookmobile by calling our mobile phone number, 421-6446.
The Niles Public Library District's Bookmobile will maintain its regular schedule of stops (Washington Court, Bay Colony, the Sports Complex, and Terrace Square Court are just a few) throughout the summer. We will also be stopping at day-care centers (for the summer only) and will continue servicing senior citizen residences like the Breakers, the Huntington, and St. Benedict's Home for the Aged.
If you have any questions about our Bookmobile and other Outreach Services, or would like a copy of the Bookmobile 1991 Summer Schedule, feel free to contact Todd Morris, head of Outreach Services, at 967-8554, ext. 54. You can also drop by the Bookmobile the next time it is in your area and pick up a schedule along with your favorite books.

Auction set for unclaimed bicycles

Commander Robert Jones, left, and Community Service Officer Gil Santiago, right, display some of the more than 30 unclaimed bicycles which, along with other miscellaneous surplus property, will auctioned off by the Morton Grove Police Department on Saturday June 8.

Local family featured in ad campaign

Skokie resident Jackie Nevel doesn't expect to be besieged by autograph-hungry fans when she shops at her local grocery store next month. But she will become a national celebrity, of sorts.
Jackie, her daughter Beth Yoselewitz of Buffalo Grove, and Beth's 9-year-old son Ryan will be featured in an ad for City of Hope National Medical Center, which is scheduled to begin running in the June issue of several national magazines, including "Time," "Newsweek," "U.S. News & World Report" and "Good Housekeeping."
Why did City of Hope, which is located in Duarte, California, choose a Chicago family for its ad campaign? According to City of Hope President and Chief Executive Officer Dr. Sanford M. Shapero, Jackie's family represents what City of Hope is all about.
"Four generations of Jackie's family have volunteered for City of Hope for a cumulative total of nearly 200 years," he said. "When we speak of City of Hope as 'one big family,' we couldn't find a better example of the concept."
For Jackie's family, the ties to City of Hope began with her aunt, who was a cancer patient at the Medical Center. Jackie's mother, Jean Kase, came from Chicago to stay with her sister during the final weeks of her life at City of Hope. Jean was deeply touched by the extraordinary care and kindness her sister received at the hands of City of Hope's physicians and staff.
After her sister died, Jean returned to Chicago and joined a local City of Hope volunteer chapter. Jackie followed in her mother's footsteps and became a City of Hope volunteer, eventually serving as president of her local chapter.
As a young married woman in her chapter, Jackie would often go out tagging—choosing some busy spot to stand and jingle coin banks at passersby. Those who responded were presented with boutonnieres which "tagged" them as donors to City of Hope. On those jaunts Jackie was usually accompanied by her daughter Beth.

Now 39, Beth is the founder of A New Generation of Hope, an auxiliary of women who support City of Hope through a variety of creative fundraising events: a holiday boutique, a children's fashion show, and evening at a local comedy club.
"I've been working for City of Hope my entire life," said Beth. "In fact, my friends still kid me about being out tagging at the Jefferson Park 'E' station the day before my wedding!"
Which brings us to the fourth generation: Beth's son Ryan. Now 9, Ryan has a life-long history of supporting City of Hope.
"He's stuffed envelopes, he's gone out tagging—whatever I do, he's been there doing it with me," Beth said.

Skokie water sprinkling regulations

Water sprinkling regulations mandated by the Illinois Department of Transportation's Division of Water Resources went into effect May 15 and continue until Sept. 15. The Division of Water Resources governs the use of Lake Michigan water.
The regulations prohibit lawn sprinkling between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. These regulations do not apply to hand-held sprinkling hoses.
Sprinkling is permitted during the cooler periods of the day when evaporation is minimized, thereby increasing the effectiveness of sprinkling while using less water.
Violators are subject to fines.
For more information please contact the Public Works Department at 673-0500, ext. 277.

Village to dismiss suit against Post Office

The U.S. Postal service will pay Niles $30,320.17 in rents past due on the post office property, Waukegan Road and Oakton Street, Civic Center Plaza.
The amount includes interest accrued during the period at issue, from January, 1990, to April, 1991, and is in response to a village suit filed April 9.
June 4, village attorney Richard Troy said he had a photocopy of the check from the Postal Service's St. Louis office and he was in the process of having Niles' court suit dismissed.
Under the Post Office's long-term lease, it agrees to a reappraisal of the property every five years to determine its value for the ensuing five years.
In January, 1990, a reappraisal added $1,797.57 to the $4,400 monthly rent base. Since 1990, the Post Office has paid the

More legal suits impede balefill project

More roadblocks were thrown in the path of the balefill project May 24 when the Kane County State's Attorney's office filed a suit to require the Kane County Board to approve any construction at the balefill site near south suburban Bartlett.
The state's attorney, Gary Johnson, also filed a similar suit on his own behalf, according to Assistant State's Attorney Patrick Jaeger.
The new suits join a current Village of Bartlett injunction that seeks to prohibit any further construction at the site.
The latest legal action was called "a delaying tactic; frivolous... a waste of taxpayers' money" by Brooke Beal, assistant to the director of the Solid Waste Agency of Northern Cook County (SWANCC), balefill developers.
Beal said the state's attorney's suit is nearly identical to one

Niles zoners approve restaurant satellite dish

The Niles Plan Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals has recommended the village board approve installation of an 8-foot satellite dish at Arvey's Restaurant, 7041 W. Oakton St., while promising neighbors village inspectors will look into their complaints about trash and parking.
George Arvanitis, owner of Arvey's appeared in his own behalf, after a ten-foot dish had been installed on his roof without the proper permits. Niles' codes allow dishes of six to eight feet.
Arvanitis told the board he wanted to "improve the business" and was unaware that the Waukegan-based installer had not obtained village permission prior to the installation.
"You put Mr. Arvanitis in a very bad situation," Commissioner Ginger Troiani chided the satellite dish company representative.

Former park director pleads guilty to theft

Criminal courts Judge Joseph Urso on May 29 sentenced Patricia Getz, former director of the Golf-Maine Park District, to 30 months probation and restitution of $3,550 to the district.
Getz, 60, of Park Ridge, pleaded guilty to charges of theft and theft by deception. According to Assistant State's Attorney Michael Leuer, during her tenure as director, Getz controlled a checking account and wrote 13 checks to herself in amounts of between $100-$500 between October, 1986 and May, 1988, depositing them in her own account.
The loss was discovered during a park district audit by the firm of Cooper and Lybrand and investigation by the state's attorney's office, Leuer said.
Michael Yesner, current president of the Golf-Maine Park District Board of Commissioners, said to his memory, Getz chose not to have a board hearing and resigned her position two years ago.

YOUR PARENTS AND YOU My Mother Needs Me. How Can I Take A Vacation?

A friend of mine recently told me of a personal dilemma. He and his wife had scheduled an extended vacation, but he felt he would have to cancel his plans when his mother unexpectedly had some minor surgery and was placed on a regular program of medication. "How can I leave on a vacation when she needs me to make sure that she is well taken care of?" he asked me.

I suggested that he look into Ballard's "respite" care program. Ballard welcomes those who need a bit of looking after for short stays, providing a congenial, homey atmosphere and lots of activities. "It could be a double vacation - one for you and your wife and one for your mother."

The story had a happy ending, a double happy ending. My friend took his hard-earned three week vacation. And his mother "loved every minute" of her stay with Ballard. "The people were great, the food was wonderful and I was so busy with all of the activities and socializing."

If you are looking for a home away from home for a short stay, call Jill Sirotzki at (708) 299-0182 for details on Ballard's "double vacation" plan.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reader comments on importance of using sex free language

Many are reluctant to acknowledge the importance of words. We would rather believe language is symbolic rather than powerful. For years proper English rules stated "he/man" were grammatically correct. There is nothing wrong with changing sentences to incorporate "the" instead of "his job." Many women use "guys" or refer to "girls" when speaking with other women. Anyone using those words towards women are subtly saying men are more important. The word "girl" is defined as a female under 18, who is not capable of adult responsibilities.

It is up to us to use sex free language so that there will be fewer words subtly hurting women's opportunities.

If anyone is interested in sharing ideas and lists of words please contact: Patricia Plautz, 147 Fernwood Dr., Glenview, 60025. Patricia W. Plautz, Glenview resident

Alex found a way to procure these tags, advertised for their distribution, enlisted help from others to distribute them, and is still following up on the requests for them.

Man damages van; charged with DUI, drug possession

Two residents of the 5600 block of Carol Avenue, Morton Grove, awoke to the sound of a crash and a speeding car the early morning of May 25.

One witness, a 24-year-old male, looked out his window to see a pick-up truck driving west on the block. A police officer called to the scene found a damaged '89 Plymouth van that belonged to a nearby resident. At the corner of Major Avenue, the officer also found a piece of a bumper.

Continuing to the next block, in an alley to the rear of the 5700 block of Crain Avenue, the officer detected a parked '83 Toyota pick-up truck with smashed headlights and a damaged front end. When he contacted the truck owner in a nearby house, the owner, 22, allegedly exhibited

Diamonds stolen from auto

Between $50,000 and $100,000 in diamonds was reported missing from a 1981 Lincoln, burglarized May 31, while parked in front of 7519 Milwaukee Ave.

The Warrenville jeweler who owns the car told Niles police he found the driver's window smashed when he returned from going into a currency exchange.

Ten diamonds, each between one and one-half carats were missing, as well as a 42-carat amethyst and diamond pendant. The jewels were part of a consignment to the jeweler.

Police were told a suspicious man of average height and build, between 25 and 30 years old was seen near the car prior to the theft.

Morphine stolen from medical supply firm

A witness saw a blond man run through an inner hall of a medical supply firm in the 6200 block of Park Avenue, Morton Grove, late on May 28.

The man was taken to the station where a custodial search uncovered a green leafy substance in one of his pockets. He admitted to smoking "a little" the previous night, then failed a field sobriety test and refused to submit to hospital blood and urine tests.

The man was charged with leaving the scene of a property damage accident; driving under the influence of alcohol; failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident; and possession of not more than 2.5 grams of cannabis.

He paid 10 percent of a $1,000 bond and turned over his driver's license. He has a court date of July 11.

Dresses missing from store

In the early morning of May 31, a patrolling Morton Grove police officer saw a broken glass door in a clothing store in the 9200 block of Waukegan Road.

Investigating, he found several dresses on the ground near the entry way. The store owner said at least 12 dresses, of assorted sizes and colors were missing from a nearby rack.

Until the store contents could be inventoried, the store owner estimated her stock loss at $1,000 and the door damage at $250.

Windows damaged

Two residences in the 8400 and 8300 blocks of Western Avenue had damaged windows shortly after midnight May 30.

Niles police reports estimate a four-by-six-foot picture window will cost $1,000 to replace and a four-by-four-foot window has a $400 price tag.

The incidents were similar to a Park Ridge event the same night.

Bike stolen from garage

An open garage service door and an open yard gate alerted a resident of the 8600 block of Georgiana Avenue, Morton Grove, and she found a 28" world sport bike, a French tour bike and bike accessories missing from her detached garage. She considered it an $850 loss.

The first time was at Washington and Church streets, the second, at the east end of the Waukegan Road/Dempster Street shopping plaza.

Cars damaged at dealership

Three sports cars at King Nissan, 5757 W. Touhy Ave., were damaged during the night of May 30 by person(s) unknown.

The 300 ZX cars, each valued at $34,000, had their T-tops stolen and windows smashed.

73-year-old homeowner victim of $4,200 scam

The afternoon of May 24, a man and a woman came to a house in the 5400 block of Washington Street, Morton Grove, and pointed out needed house repairs to the owner.

The 73-year-old owner said she did not keep the $4,200 they wanted for the re-asphalting of her drive at home. The couple offered the homeowner a $200 discount for cash and suggested they drive the woman to her Skokie bank.

She described the man as gray-haired and balding, about 5' 10" and weighing about 210 pounds; the woman was in her mid-30's, 5' 5", about 120 pounds and wearing a long, white dress. They drove a white truck carrying a compressor.

Security agents chase bleeding man

Penney's agents were alerted when they saw a six-foot, slimly built man in his 20's running through the Golf Mill store May 29.

In one instance, a Chicago student, 23, had trouble re-opening his secured locker along Greenwood Avenue and Lyons Avenue and was spotted in the 9200 block of Lincoln Avenue by Niles Police, who were called.

A homeowner in that same block of Lincoln Avenue told police the suspected thief sought medical attention for his lacerations, but was turned away.

It was unknown what the man might have stolen or attempted to steal or any other cause for his fleeing.

In the second instance, a Lincolnwood student, 20, returned to his locker and found the $15 lock missing. His $40 wallet, $150 in cash, a $12 license, a blank check and a cash station card were also gone.

While statistics show we are slowly winning the war against impaired driving, the death toll is still too high," Ryan said. "Someone is killed in an alcohol-related crash every 23 minutes in this country, and it is estimated that two of every five Americans will be involved in an alcohol-related crash during their lifetimes."

Two new DUI laws took effect in 1990. One, effective Jan. 1, 1990, provided for a 24-month drivers license suspension with a minimum six-month hard suspension for repeat offenders who refuse to submit to chemical testing. The other, which took effect July 1, 1990, established a criminal charge for anyone driving with any amount of controlled substance or cannabis, and provided for a summary drivers license suspension for drivers found by chemical test to have any trace of controlled substance or cannabis.

Legislation sponsored by Ryan to lower the blood alcohol content (BAC) from .10 to .08 failed by one vote to get out of the Judiciary II Committee last month. Ryan proposed the change based on medical data that indicates driving skills begin to deteriorate at .05 and a driver is severely impaired at .08.

Based on statistics compiled in 1990, males age 21-24 had the highest DUI arrest rate, 21.2 per 1,000, almost four times higher than the average of 6.2 per 1,000 for all drivers. The number of women arrested for DUI increased 5-percent and has risen 48 percent in the past five years. Women now account for 20 percent of all DUI arrests.

Of drivers arrested for DUI in 1990, 76 percent were first offenders while 24 percent had previous DUI arrests within the past five years.

An encouraging trend reported in the DUI Fact Book is that more teenagers apparently are choosing not to drink and drive. DUI arrests for drivers under age 20 decreased 8 percent in 1990 and are down 29 percent from 1986.

"This change is not coincidence, and it did not happen overnight," Ryan said.

State releases DUI fact book

Alcohol-related traffic fatalities in Illinois decreased nearly 15 percent from 1989 to 1990, but an estimated 725 persons lost their lives last year because of alcohol-related crashes, according to Secretary of State George H. Ryan.

Based on statistics compiled in 1990, males age 21-24 had the highest DUI arrest rate, 21.2 per 1,000, almost four times higher than the average of 6.2 per 1,000 for all drivers. The number of women arrested for DUI increased 5-percent and has risen 48 percent in the past five years. Women now account for 20 percent of all DUI arrests.

Of drivers arrested for DUI in 1990, 76 percent were first offenders while 24 percent had previous DUI arrests within the past five years.

An encouraging trend reported in the DUI Fact Book is that more teenagers apparently are choosing not to drink and drive. DUI arrests for drivers under age 20 decreased 8 percent in 1990 and are down 29 percent from 1986.

"This change is not coincidence, and it did not happen overnight," Ryan said.

Two new DUI laws took effect in 1990. One, effective Jan. 1, 1990, provided for a 24-month drivers license suspension with a minimum six-month hard suspension for repeat offenders who refuse to submit to chemical testing. The other, which took effect July 1, 1990, established a criminal charge for anyone driving with any amount of controlled substance or cannabis, and provided for a summary drivers license suspension for drivers found by chemical test to have any trace of controlled substance or cannabis.

Legislation sponsored by Ryan to lower the blood alcohol content (BAC) from .10 to .08 failed by one vote to get out of the Judiciary II Committee last month. Ryan proposed the change based on medical data that indicates driving skills begin to deteriorate at .05 and a driver is severely impaired at .08.

Johnson submitted two years ago, then voluntarily withdrew. Beal said the balefill project is wholly within Cook County. Of the 490 acres owned by SWANCC, 123 acres lie within Kane County, but are being left undeveloped and are not being used in the balefill project.

Assistant Kane County State's Attorney Jaeger told The Bugle the initial suit in 1989 was withdrawn because SWANCC indicated they did not plan to use the Kane County land. The suit was re-introduced May 24, he said, because the county "now believes to the contrary," that SWANCC does plan to use it.

Kane County Circuit Judge Michael Colwell is currently considering SWANCC's request to dismiss or grant a change in venue to Cook County in the Bartlett injunction. May 28, Judge Colwell advised he would render his opinion in writing and mail it to the parties in the suit, but he gave no time frame.

As planned by SWANCC, the balefill site will be the 20-year depository for the solid waste from the 20 northern suburbs in its association. The waste will be collected, taken to transfer stations, baled, then transported to balefill for deposit. The $11 million project was planned to ease the growing shortage of landfills.

SWANCC officials are working to overcome a U.S. Corps of Engineers' denial of a construction permit for the balefill site on the grounds balefill would threaten the environment of several birds on Illinois' endangered species list.

The association has two transfer stations in the planning stages, one in Rolling Meadows, another in Wheeling Township, near Central Avenue and River Road. A third station is being considered, possibly near the Northwest Tollway. Its location will be announced later this summer, Beal said.

Changes slated for Pace routes

Service changes on three north suburban Pace bus routes will start Monday, June 10, announced Pace, the suburban bus division of the RTA.

Due to low ridership, Route 210 Glenview-Chicago Loop will no longer operate north of Glenbrook Hospital. Two morning and two evening trips between the hospital and Wheeling will be eliminated.

Two early morning northbound trips on Route 210 will begin at the Western Avenue CTA Station instead of Irving Park Road and Marine Drive. Throughout the day, the scheduled time for this route will be adjusted to allow for increased traffic and construction.

In downtown Chicago, some Route 210 bus stops have been moved along Michigan Avenue. A stop will be added making the last stop Michigan and Jackson, instead of Michigan and Washington. The first northbound stop will be the Art Institute, near Adams and Michigan.

On Route 214 Green Bay Road-Northbrook Court, there will be later service on weekdays to match Northbrook Court's hours. Trips will leave Northbrook Court at 8 p.m. and 9:30 p.m.

There will also be an added trip from the CTA's Davis Street Station in Evanston at 8:45 p.m. to benefit North Shore residents staying downtown after the evening rush hour.

Rush hour trips on Route 215 Crawford-Howard will now operate every 20 minutes instead of every 15 minutes. Since the 20-minute intervals will start earlier in both the morning and afternoon, the change should better balance the amount of riders on each trip.

The Route 215 schedule changes will improve connections with other Pace routes at Old Orchard and with the Evanston Express at the Howard CTA station. All trips along the route will now operate locally along Howard Street, making all stops between California and the Howard CTA Station.

For more information and revised schedules, call Pace's Passenger Service Office at (708) 364-7223, extension 500, or the RTA Travel Information Center at 836-7000 within Chicago, or at 1-800-972-7000 from the suburbs.

Teens may turn to drugs in spring

Spring is the season of blooming flowers, warmer weather, the start of baseball, and, of course, catching "spring fever."

But, according to mental health experts, spring also is the time of increased drug and alcohol abuse among youths.

"With the advent of warmer weather and the end of the school year, high school-aged students are out of the house more often and associating with their friends," said Margo Reiner, director of Adolescent Countdown To Recovery, an outpatient treatment program offered through Forest Hospital. "That means they have more opportunities to do some of the things they shouldn't do, like taking drugs or drinking."

According to Reiner, studies reveal that nearly 85 percent of high school students experiment with drugs or alcohol at some time during their high school years, while an estimated 50 percent use them once or twice monthly.

She strongly urged parents to pay closer attention to their children's behavior for signals of substance abuse.

Some forms of behavior that may indicate a youth is drinking or on drugs include: lack of interest in school; cutting classes; irritability; dramatic mood swings, staying out past prescribed curfews and not socializing with known friends.

Reiner recommended that parents confront their child if they suspect he or she is involved with drugs or alcohol and seek professional help. Outpatient programs like Adolescent Countdown To Recovery allow students aged 13 to 19 to remain in school and their regular family environment while they undergo treatment. For more information, call (708) 635-4100, extension 261.

Gall stone removal without surgery

A new procedure being used at Lutheran General Hospital (L.G.H.), 1775 Dempster St., Park Ridge, noninvasively removes gall stones that have entered the common bile duct.

Because the abdomen is not opened, the length of the hospital stay is reduced and the time needed for recovery decreases.

The common bile duct allows bile to drain from the liver into the bowel. Bile helps the body absorb fat. In from two to 10 percent of the cases of patients with symptomatic gall stones, stones move from the gall bladder to the common bile duct.

The stone obstructs the drainage of bile from the liver and the patient becomes jaundiced due to the flow of bile (bilirubin) into the blood stream. If left untreated, the patient would develop serious infection, liver disease and/or pancreatitis.

Similar to the closed-abdomen technique used to remove the gall bladder, this new technique for the common bile duct utilizes a laparoscope, an instrument with a telescopic camera which allows the surgeon to view the interior of the abdomen. Instruments are inserted into the abdomen through small incisions. The surgeon works from a television monitor to diagnose the problem and to remove the stones.

Peter Geis, M.D., vice chairman, Department of Surgery, altered the technique for the common bile duct by inserting through the laparoscope a second instrument, the choledochoscope, which allows visual examination inside the duct in order to remove the stones.

Another new factor in Dr. Geis' technique is the use of special sutures to close the small incision in the bile duct. This special suturing technique as developed by another physician at Lutheran General, Howard Topel, M.D.

There are probably no more than 12 surgeons in the country who have performed this procedure.

The first procedure utilizing

Rush North Shore builds addition

The Village of Skokie Board of Trustees at its May 20 meeting unanimously passed a special use ordinance granting Rush North Shore Medical Center's application to construct a two-story addition to its hospital building at 9600 Gross Point Road in Skokie.

The board had approved the concept, location and site of the addition on the east/Gross Point Road side of the campus at its May 7 meeting.

Among the services to be relocated in the new 70,611 square foot addition are a seven-room surgical suite and recovery area (replacing the present six-room suite), an outpatient surgery suite, 20 critical care beds (replacing the present 15 beds), two ambulatory procedure rooms, the registration and admitting area, conference space and lobby.

The Village Board approval was the last in a series of approvals required before the hospital could begin construction, now planned for mid-June.

The 20 critical care beds will be split into two highly specialized units to care for both medical/surgical intensive care and intensive coronary care patients.

A section of the new building will be in front of the present hospital entrance. During construction, which is expected to last until spring of 1993, the main entrance to the hospital will be relocated to an existing door 180 feet north of the present main entry.

Local schools win education awards

Niles North and Niles West High Schools are among 13 schools in Illinois and 222 in the nation to be named as 1991 Blue Ribbon Schools by the U.S. Department of Education. The purpose of the recognition program, informally known as the Excellence in Education Award Program, is to identify and give public recognition to outstanding public and private secondary schools across the United States. The schools will receive the Blue Ribbon Schools Award at a ceremony in Washington, D.C., during September or October. Both Niles North and Niles West will hold celebrations for the entire school community at that time. "I'm very pleased to have recognition from the U.S. Department of Education that we are indeed an excellent school," said Niles North Principal Thomas Giles. "This acknowledgement verifies what I have always felt. We have been able to accomplish this because of a dedicated faculty and support staff, talented and capable students who are sincerely interested in learning, and a community that is supportive of our efforts to maintain this excellence."

"What pleases me about this award is that it is a reflection of the entire educational program," said Niles West Principal Donald Ring. "Many awards just recognize one specific program or activity, but this recognizes excellence in all areas. Everyone in the school community should be commended for their support and dedication that has made this recognition possible." The nomination guidelines stipulate that to receive the award, schools must provide clear evidence that its students are developing reasoning and problem solving abilities and attaining solid skills in all academic areas. In addition, schools must show that policies, programs and practices foster the development of sound character.

Students can learn about scholarship options

Contrary to popular belief, you don't have to be 6 foot 10 and be able to dunk with either hand to receive a college scholarship. Students who excel in the classroom can also obtain similar benefits. Now, an innovative strategy has been developed to determine who these students are, and how colleges can identify them. This fall, thousands of top Chicago area high school students will learn about their scholarship options at colleges across the country. This no-cost service for students and parents will be taken available through the cooperative efforts of high school counselors and college admissions directors. For more information, contact Searching For Scholars, P.O. Box 686, New Lenox, IL 60451. Or call 1-800-82-LEADS (1-800-825-3237).

Demand growing for Tech theater classes

Tech theater is an industry, which has grown more in the last 20 years than any aspect of the performing arts.

For example, audio and lighting technicians now are needed to work on musical concerts around the world and in broadcasting because of its escalating growth. The demand for people in this field is growing so more schools are starting to offer technical classes.

For some students at Maine East High School being involved in theater is a daily way of life, and they enroll in a class titled Tech Theater. The grade level of students who are in the class, taught by Mr. Roger Kleinfeld, ranges from freshmen to seniors.

In the class the students learn how to operate a counterweight system as well as lighting and audio control consoles. What makes this class different from all other normal classroom situations is that the class is an actual theater. This allows the class to get hands on experience with the equipment, such as lighting boards.

Because of the extreme amount of work it requires to produce a production on such a big stage, the crew at Maine East needs all the help it can get. The tech class helps regular crew members to construct the basic set for shows, which allows them to learn about stage construction. They also help to hang scenery, aim lights, and run audio and lighting cables.

The shows that have been presented this year include V-show, "The Dawn of the Demon," and Dance concert, "A Celebration of Dance." In the November V-show the set floated gently to the ground landing as pyrotechnic stage explosions went off to the Overture of 2010. In addition, tech students also assisted with the annual Broadway musical "Fiddler on the Roof," recently performed at Maine East.

Students call Saudi Arabia

Oakton recruits literacy tutors

The Volunteers in Teaching Adults program of Oakton Community College is currently recruiting volunteer tutors to begin training sessions.

The VITA program, established in 1978, provides tutors to assist teachers in both literacy and English-as-Second-Language programs. The program recently received the 1991 Golden Rule/Outstanding Volunteer Program Award from the Volunteer Center of Northwest Suburban Chicago and J.C. Penney.

Current volunteers come from 25 communities, range in age from 20s to 70s, and have varied educational backgrounds. Tutors are homemakers, business people, professionals, retirees, and college students.

Tutor qualifications include the ability to read and write English, empathy for others, warmth and enthusiasm, patience and flexibility, acceptance of cultural differences, dependability, and a sense of humor. Tutors contribute about six hours of formal tutoring per week.

Tutors are needed for summer reading classes at the Niles Public Library on Saturday mornings, and at the Des Plaines Public Library on Monday and Wednesday mornings and Tuesday and Thursday evenings. During the school year, classes meet at many other locations.

Call program coordinator Marilyn Antonik at (708) 635-1426 to schedule an interview. If you are able to make the VITA commitment, you will attend the following training sessions on the Oakton East campus, 7701 N. Lincoln Ave., in Skokie: Monday, June 10, from 7 to 9:30 p.m., and Wednesday, June 12, from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Maine Center honors volunteers

The Maine Center for Mental Health recently honored 40 volunteers at a reception held at the agency. During 1990-91, these generous volunteers donated their time and talents in various capacities. From the Board of Directors, who define agency goals and set policies, to the Auxiliary volunteers, who have raised tens of thousands of dollars through creative projects such as the Christmas in Park Ridge House-walk, to Compuser volunteers who offer time and friendship to socially isolated mental health clients, John Hoffman, Director of the Maine Center, honored these dedicated individuals by presenting a plaque bearing their names to be hung in the agency lobby. In addition to the plaque, volunteers were given boutonnieres and corsages made by the clients who participate in the center's day treatment program. As one mentally disabled client remarked, "It's the least that we can do for those who work so hard to help us." In turn, the staff showed their appreciation by volunteering to prepare an assortment of homemade refreshments.

Entertainment scheduled for festival

One of the main attractions at the annual Lake Park Festival is the free entertainment and, according to Ed Keane, festival chairman, the Des Plaines Chamber of Commerce has scheduled outstanding musical groups for 1991. Seven top bands will appear during the two-and-a-half day festival.

"Little Sister" Country Western Band will open the bandshell entertainment on Friday, June 28 from 5 to 9 p.m.

On Saturday, June 29, the Des Plaines Community Band will kick-off the live music portion of the festival from noon to 2:30 p.m. "The Great Pretenders" will follow from 3 to 6 p.m. The Revival Band (a flashback to the '50s and '60s) with Rick Saucedo, as Elvis, will perform from 6 to 9 p.m.

On Sunday, June 30 from noon to 2:30 p.m. Crossfire Country Western will be featured. This group is back by popular demand. Crossfire's versatility and experience provide a self-contained professional show, which has created excitement to heat up audiences for major performers, such as: Kenny Rogers, Mickey Gilley, Barbara Mandrell and Ricky Scaggs. "Midnight Ramblers" will perform from 3 to 6 p.m. "Ninth Street" Modern Variety, 9-piece band with brass section, will follow from 6 to 9 p.m.

Besides the musical entertainment, Lake Park Festival provides something for everyone -- waterski show, carnival rides, arts & crafts, petting zoo, clown and magic shows, etc.

For more information, contact the Des Plaines Chamber of Commerce & Industry at 824-4200.

'Little Me' features over 200 costumes

Wig designer Burt Pitcher (left) and Costume Designer Jack Kirkby are responsible for creating 263 lavish costumes and 89 wigs, making Candlelight Dinner Playhouse's production of Little Me an unbelievable spectacle.

Candlelight Dinner Playhouse's acclaimed production of Neil Simon's hilarious musical comedy Little Me features 263 costumes, 89 wigs, and a cast of 17 actors who make unbelievable split-second costume changes.

Little Me presents unique challenges to a costume designer, as the main character played by Larry Wyatt performs seven totally different roles. In addition, Dale Benson plays several different roles--one of which is a woman.

Ninety percent of the costumes are placed in the lobby and backstage throughout the performance. The only changes that are made in the dressing room are the ones made before the show and before the second act.

The "running crew", which handles the costumes and props, consists of a backstage crew of six. A dresser waits in each of the four entrances to the stage to assist the actors with their changes.

A staff of eighteen originally created the costumes. Because of possible wear and tear that quick changes may cause, the costume construction staff (consisting of Costume Shop Manager Jan Evans and seamstresses Paula Bilicz and Rose Danca) continues working additional hours to maintain the quality.

Little Me continues through July 14. For reservations, write or visit Candlelight Dinner Playhouse, 5620 S. Harlem Ave., Summit, Illinois 60501, or phone (708) 496-3000.

Free parking and shuttle bus service will be available from Maine East High School, Dempster and Potter Roads. General Admission is $3 ($2 with coupon) for adults. Children 12 and under are free. Free admission on Sunday only from noon to 4 p.m. Open until midnight nightly.

Pheasant Run presents 'The Nerd'

"The Nerd" is an uproarious comedy that pairs a bumbling "geek" with Mr. Nice Guy to create a captivating stage play for audiences of all ages at Pheasant Run Dinner Theatre from June 7 through Aug. 31, with Thursday through Sunday performances.

"The Nerd," which is set in Terre Haute, Indiana, tells the humorous tales of a suffering architect, Wilum Cubbert, who is visited by misfit Rick Steadman, a man he's never met but who saved his life in Vietnam. From there it's one laugh after another as "the nerd" becomes the guest who wouldn't leave, creating havoc for Cubbert and company.

Created by the late Larry Shue, "The Nerd" has a special significance for Chicago area theatre guests. Shue was a 1964 graduate of Glenbard West High School in Glen Ellyn. Shue's parents, Dolores and Percy, still reside in Glen Ellyn where Dolores taught Spanish at Glenbard West High School for 25 years.

A 13-year veteran of professional theatre (although he actually began writing and acting in the third grade), Shue was killed in a 1985 plane crash in Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, at the age of 39. In honor of his memory and his talent to make people laugh, the entire Pheasant Run Dinner Theatre performance of "The Nerd" will be dedicated to Shue and his parents.

The June opening of Shue's "The Nerd" at the Pheasant Run Dinner Theatre also marks the beginning of a special 2 p.m. matinee performance every Thursday. Beginning June 13, the afternoon matinee will feature the choice of a $25 ticket ($15 for children under 12) including dessert, coffee, tea, soft drink, or milk, or an $18 show-only ticket.

The regularly scheduled dinner theatre performances include Thursday at 7:30 p.m. ($33), Friday at 7:30 p.m. ($33), Saturday at 5 p.m. ($39), and Sunday at 5 p.m. ($39). Show-only tickets are $18 and children under 12 can purchase dinner/theatre tickets for $20. In addition, special group rates are available for all performances, as well as senior discount tickets (dinner and theatre) for $30 ($35 for Saturday).

For further information, please contact the Pheasant Run Dinner Theatre Box Office at (708) 584-6300. The Pheasant Run Dinner Theatre is located at 4051 E. Main Street (North Avenue) in St. Charles, Illinois.

Chicagoans treated to a fish boil

A Chicago seafood restaurant is about to borrow from a fishy Door County, Wisconsin, tradition, as My Place For? in Rogers Park (7545 N. Clark St.) kicks off its summer Door County Fish Boil under the cool breezes of an outdoor tent, on June 14.

Door County legend says that fish boils originated as a Scandinavian feast of sellers and lumberjacks, who found it a convenient way of enjoying an outdoor meal after working outdoors to catch it. A Swedish accordionist will be on hand to add a dash of Scandinavian ambiance to the occasion—which is also Swedish Flag Day as well as American Flag Day that will be celebrated from 4-10 p.m.

The tasty fish-in-a-pot meal is a simple, yet delicious, combination of Lake Superior whitefish, boiled potatoes and onions cooked together over an open fire. The piece de resistance, a final "boil over," is a dramatic flame lit atop the water to remove any fish residue. When served, these fresh ingredients are smothered with melted butter.

My Place For? will feature the fish boil, which also includes Swedish Limpa Rye bread and coleslaw, on the dinner menu all summer long, for $6.95; a generous slice of cherry pie costs just $5.50 extra.

The Door County Fish Boil is one of several specials this year that mark the 20th anniversary of the popular neighborhood seafood restaurant.

Before digging call JULIE

If fall chores include digging around your home, call JULIE or DIGGER before taking your first shovelful. Your safety and uninterrupted utility service may depend on it.

Electric, telephone and TV cables, and gas, water, and sewer lines all could be cut or damaged by digging in the wrong place. That's why you should call to have your utility services located before you start your project.

The service is free. Participating utilities and municipalities will mark the locations of your services within 48 hours.

JULIE (Joint Utility Locating Information for Excavators) is the Illinois one-call notification system for underground facilities. By calling JULIE toll-free at 1 (800) 892-0123 at least 48 hours before you dig, you can avoid damaging vital underground services. When damaged, these underground facilities can endanger property and public safety - they can also be expensive and time consuming to repair.

And calling JULIE is simple. Just dial the toll free number and give the necessary information to the answering operator: county/city or county/township; section number if available; name and phone number; location/extent of the excavation; and the date work will begin.

JULIE will advise you of the member companies having underground facilities in the area where you plan to excavate and will then forward this location request to them.

JULIE covers the entire state of Illinois with the exception of Chicago, which is covered by DIGGER (312) 744-7000.

district must first send a representative to the village board with a request for annexation. A referendum must then take place and Abe said he's not sure how large a margin of voters must favor the take-over. He said then library residents outside the village borders must indicate where they'd like to join a library district.

After a referendum the library property would have to be assessed and the village would have to purchase the assets of the district.

While the procedure sounds complicated it is quite likely a routine matter. The lawyers will stuff their coffers with a bit of the taxpayers' green. But in the long run, Nilesites will be better served by an administration which conducts the village business with such aplomb.

There's a time and a place for all of man's actions. The time for the village of Niles to take over the library district is now. It only takes the initiation of present board library board members to request Niles to begin the annexation process.

While we were writing this column Tuesday morning, an old friend George Hall, stopped by to say hello. George is now a Floridian, but is in town for the graduation of two of his nephews. George has long been a staunch friend of The Bugle and is probably The Bugle's number one booster.

Check tax withholding allowance for 1991

Before you put away your 1990 federal income tax return, the Internal Revenue Service says, take a moment to check your withholding for 1991.

You may need to give a new Form W-4. Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate, to your employer if too little or too much tax is being withheld from your wages during the year.

If your refund was large, you may want to increase the number of allowances you claim so that you will have less tax withheld. The result will be bigger paychecks and a small refund.

On the other hand, if you have less than 90 percent of your tax liability withheld, you will need to claim fewer allowances to avoid having to pay a penalty along with the taxes you owe. If you anticipate changes in your marital status, number of dependents, or deductions, the IRS says you should adjust your withholding to reflect these changes.

Publications 919, Is My Withholding Correct for 1991?, free from the IRS contains worksheets for computing the amount you should have withheld from your wages in order to closely match your tax liability for the year. Publication 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax, can also provide details on completing Form W-4. To get these and other IRS publications, call toll-free 1-800-TAX-FORM (829-3676).

To hear a message on the subject, call Tele-Tax, the IRS system of recorded tax information at 1-800-829-4477 and request tape number 603.

New process evaluates disabled children

The Social Security Administration (SSA) has a new way of evaluating disabilities in children, according to Thomas A. Curin, Social Security manager in Des Plaines.

The new process is expected to provide a more equitable assessment of disabilities in children.

Children with disabilities, whose families have limited income and resources may qualify for monthly Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits. In most states, eligible children also receive Medicaid, which can help pay their medical expenses.

In line with the decision, the new rules provide for individual assessment of each child's ability to function when deciding if the child is disabled. Although the adult vocational factors do not apply, the child's ability to function is determined by looking at the child's everyday activities and comparing them to the proficiency levels of other children in the same age group.

For more information about disability benefits for children, call SSA's nationwide, toll-free telephone number 1 (800) 234-5544 (7/2). It's available Monday - Friday, 7 a.m. - 7 p.m.

When police arrived, a witness handed them the license plate of a car that was involved. They also received a call from Glenbrook Hospital where the victim had sought treatment for his wounds.

After they began their investigation, they found a switchblade knife and a hunting knife in the bushes near the restaurant.

The Des Plaines youth was charged with mob action, battery and unlawful use of a weapon. The Morton Grove teen was charged with mob action and battery. All charges are misdemeanors or offenses.

Both youths paid ten percent of a $1,000 bond, with court appearances scheduled for July 10.

The Glenview teen was reportedly in stable condition, following surgery on his stomach and on a collapsed lung, after being transferred to Loyola Medical Center. Because he is a minor and because felony aggravated battery charges may be levied against him after the assistant state's attorney is able to interview him, police could not release his name.

Strzelecki emphasized the incident was not gang-related, though police are unsure as to the reason for the argument between the youths, who all know each other.

Child Development Center accepts applications

Oakton Community College's Child Development Demonstration Center on the Des Plaines campus is currently accepting applications for the fall, 1991 semester of its preschool program.

The Child Development Demonstration Center provides a preschool program for children aged three to five as well as teacher training. It offers an exciting, stimulating curriculum that fosters exploration, discovery, interaction with peers and self-expression.

Children can enroll in the Monday/Wednesday/Friday program, which meets from 8:30-11:30 a.m. or from 12:30-3:30 p.m. and in the Tuesday/Thursday program which meets from 9:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. The program follows the college's calendar, meeting for 16 weeks per semester. The current fees are $480 for the three-day program and $320 for the two-day program. There is a one-time registration fee of $25.

Parents are encouraged to call the center and make an appointment to visit with their preschooler. To make an appointment and for further information, call (708) 635-1840.

Students appreciate serviceman's correspondence

During the recent Persian Gulf crisis, fourth grade students of Washington School began to correspond with servicemen stationed there.

Fifteen students of Sarah Benishay's class wrote letters. Of the 115 letters sent they received a reply from ten people.

Not only did they receive letters back but one student received Saudi currency, while several others received decals with the word "Marines" printed on them. The students wrote letters back and forth and recently a "Certificate of Appreciation" was received from Sgt. Helen Pagan, who has actively corresponded with the class.

The class returned Sgt. Pagan's kindness and sent her a "Appreciative Heart" certificate.

$45,000 per year administrative post; May 15, following his April 25 arrest for theft.

During an audit into the misappropriation of $150,000 in Niles Library funds, Acting director Judy Zelter determined Harbold's salary was increased $26,000 to $29,000 apparently by Macken, who Przybylo said ignored procedure.

That same audit also determined Macken had falsified his own job resume, falsely stating he had received a master's degree from Parsons College in Iowa.

Parson's never had a graduate studies program and Macken never attended that school, though he did receive a bachelor's degree in business from St. Ambrose College in Iowa in 1972.

Macken handed over $200,000 to library officials May 10, reportedly to cover the amount of missing money plus audit and legal fees. While the specifics have not been publicly acknowledged, sources close to both the board and the investigation have confided orders for books were placed with dummy companies over a two-year period. The books were never delivered, but library officials paid the invoices.

Macken's criminal trial begins today (June 6).

Girl Scout Council center dedicated

A year of construction will finally come to a close on Sunday, June 9, as Illinois Prairie Girl Scout Council dedicates its new Charles Morrison Program Center.

The new facility features a spacious dormitory that sleeps 28, a dining hall with a woodburning fireplace and a versatile, air-conditioned training/activity center large enough to accommodate 100.

The kitchen is equipped with a dishwasher and the entire building is completely accessible to persons with disabilities. In addition to the new center, an on-site residence for program center director was also constructed in order to better serve the girls and adults who visit Morrison.

Construction was necessitated by an increasing Girl Scout membership and made possible through receipts from the council cookie sales, plus donations from corporations and individuals raised during the council's capital campaign which was spearheaded by Jim Carlson of NBD Skokie Bank and Jim Lancaster of NBD Illinois.

The Program Center is located on 22 acres in Lake Villa and serves girls from 43 communities throughout Cook and Lake counties.

The new Center will be available for Girl Scout troop use by Fall, 1991.

Chulay leaves NWMC post

When Lincolnwood Village President Frank J. Chulay accepted the position of president of the Northwest Municipal Conference in April 1990, his charge was to prepare the foundation, which would set the stage for the '90s and beyond.

On April 19, President Chulay reported to the Annual Meeting of the 39 members of the NWMC as he completed his one-year term as the top executive of the Regional Council.

At his inauguration, President Chulay mapped out an ambitious agenda for the Conference during his term. Heading that agenda was increased outreach and communications with the General Assembly, the residents, and amongst local governments, including municipalities, townships and the counties.

Under his guidance, the Conference has made major strides in advancing intergovernmental cooperation.

Accomplishments for the past year include:

- The successful formation of the Cook County Stormwater Planning Committee;
- The opening of the Conference's Transportation Unit;
- The formation of the Metropolitan Economic Development Alliance;
- The first joint municipal discussions with Commonwealth Edison to prepare a model Franchise Agreement;
- Sponsorship of State and County Legislative Forums; and
- A renewed spirit of regional cooperation through the Joint Councils of Government in Cook County.

President Chulay highlighted these successes as he turned the Conference gavel over to President-Elect Sonya Crawshaw, Village of Hanover Park.

Flea market benefits township

The Maine Township Agency flea market was held at the Maine Township Town Hall, 1700 Ballard Road in Park Ridge on Saturday, May 18. The large indoor event benefits the many worthwhile services provided by the township governmental body.

Senate passes anti-drug legislation

The Illinois Senate has passed legislation co-sponsored by State Sen. Walter Dudycz (R-7th, Chicago) to make it easier for law enforcement officials to find and prosecute drug dealers.

Senate Bill 1291 will allow judges issuing a search warrant to authorize the warrant to be executed without a knock and announcement by the police, under certain circumstances.

"The law currently requires police who are serving a search warrant to announce their presence and purpose before entering," Dudycz said. "Situations do exist, however, where police are unable to execute the search warrant. The bill specifically targets fortified drug houses, which have iron gates, double locks and lookouts that make it extremely difficult for law enforcement officers to serve the search warrant before the suspects destroy evidence or escape."

Senate Bill 1291, which is also sponsored by State Sen. Robert Raica (R-24th, Chicago) and State Sen. Carl Hawkins (R-Galesburg), now moves to the floor of Representatives for further consideration.

Clerk Levy elected group president

Charles Levy, clerk of Niles Township, was recently elected president of the townships of Cook County Clerk's division. This is an association of the township clerks representing the thirty townships of Cook County. This honor was bestowed on Clerk Levy because of his background, vast knowledge and experience in township government.

State Senator Howard W. Carroll (D-1) was honored by the Illinois Vietnam Veterans Leadership Program (IVVLP) for his outstanding support of veterans programs.

Annunzio backs tax break for working families

Congressman Frank Annunzio (11th Dist.-Ill.) thinks it's time American families get a break from the federal government.

"American families today are facing ever-increasing financial burdens in the form of rising prices for everything from housing to health care," Annunzio said on the floor of the House of Representatives. "At the same time wages for many middle-class Americans are either stagnant or growing very slowly. To top this off, the tax burden for working families has grown dramatically since the late 40's due to increases in state and local property taxes, social security payroll taxes and the relative decline in the value of federal tax deductions for dependent children."

To deal with this increasing financial pressure on middle-class families, Annunzio is cosponsoring a bill that would raise a family's federal tax deduction for each dependent child by almost 70 percent.

To begin turning this situation around, I have cosponsored House Resolution 1277, known as the Tax Fairness for Families Act," Annunzio said. "This bill will increase the income-tax deduction for dependent children from today's $2,050 to $3,500, and is designed to help reduce the federal taxes that are now placing an unfair burden on middle-income American families."

Pullen announces library grants

Libraries in the 55th District are the beneficiaries of nearly $200,000 in state grants to improve their services and facilities, according to State Rep. Penny Pullen (R-55th), Assistant House Minority Leader.

The grants have been awarded from two programs administered by the Illinois State Library. Libraries in the 55th District receiving the Per Capita grants are: Des Plaines, $55,374; Niles, $53,031; and Park Ridge, $38,704.
