Niles Park director bids farewell

This is an open letter of thanks and appreciation to the citizens and officials of the Village of Niles, and particularly those who have supported myself and staff's efforts on behalf of the Niles Park District.

As the Director of Parks and Recreation for the Niles Park District since January, 1990, I have had the unique opportunity to have been associated with many wonderful and friendly people.

I want to take this opportunity to personally thank those who have supported staff and myself. I feel that we were able, through working together, to achieve many things, though there is much that remains to be done.

Certainly, I regret the need to leave, however, I fully understand that time and circumstances change many things and reshape relationships.

I have found my employment with the Niles Park District very beneficial. Certainly it has given me a great deal of insight into the internal and external workings of a Park District, Board, staff and citizens. That process is both complex and fascinating; it is one which I plan to continue to study since I believe it to be the foundation for providing parks and recreation services on the local level.

Again, I have fully enjoyed working for and serving the citizens of Niles. There are many wonderful people in the community "where people count" who really care for and are committed to making our community a good place to live. I owe a great deal of thanks to them, also.

Finally, my sincere thanks for giving me the opportunity to be a small part of the Village of Niles' success. I will forever be grateful. Best wishes to all in the challenging years ahead.

Lippert supporters fight to the end

by Diane Miller

There wasn't a big group of supporters for Niles Park Director Tom Lippert at the December park board meeting last week, but they were a vocal group. This meeting was the last one at which Lippert would preside as park director since his contract for 1992 was not renewed by the board.

His supporters fought a valiant fight, presented the board with over 600 signatures in support of the extension of his contract, appeared monthly at board meetings voicing their opposition to his termination, wrote letters and made numerous telephone calls to the Bugle and still asked the same question at Lippert's last board meeting...WHY? And the board president over by the president pro-tem Jim Pierski told Nilesite Frank Kubas that "Lippert's contract said we had to give him a 90-day notice if we were not going to renew it. We did that. That's all we have to say and that's all we want to say." Period...the end.

Kubas told the board "you have a capable, qualified man who has the support of the employees and you got rid of him in executive session."

Nilesite Myrna Breitzman, who has led a non-stop effort to get the board to re-open discussion on Lippert's contract, told the commissioners that "I have done some investigating on my own and I didn't realize how politically naive I was." Breitzman continued, "Every commissioner has a purpose when they run for office and I know now that regardless of what Tom did, he would have been released by this board."

Breitzman reminded the board that the $10,000 they are spending in the search for a new director is taxpayers' dollars and wanted to know if the results of the interviews would be released to the public. Pierski told her they would not because "they were as private as finances or personnel matters."

Breitzman concluded with "We'll miss him. He's done a good job. She then turned to Tom Lippert and said, "Thanks for being."

Park Board approves capital project timeline

by Linda A. Burns

A timeline for an updated 5-Year Capital Project Plan was approved last week by Morton Grove Park District commissioners.

The board will review and prioritize projects, which over the two-year period 1993-94 could cost the district $1,722,000, according to the district's Administrative Manager Gary Balling. Proposed projects the district may undertake in the next five years include a new playground at the Prairie View Community Center, fieldhouse renovations at National, Oketo, Austin and Mansfield Parks, implementation of the Mansfield Park Master Plan to include renovation of ballfields, installing a path around the park, drainage work and a drop-off area in front of Mansfield on Church Street.

Township to continue monthly recycling program

Maine Township's recycling program will continue at least through July, 1992. Citing the overwhelming success of a pilot program that began in August, the Town Board Nov. 18 voted unanimously to continue monthly recycling collections for a full year before re-evaluating the effort.

Saturday, Dec. 28, will be the next date Maine Township will collect recyclable items. The collection will be held from 8 a.m. to noon in the parking lot of the Town Hall, 1700 Ballard Rd., Continued on Page 27

A legal battle continues between the Solid Waste Agency of Northern Cook County (SWANCC) and balefill antagonists.

Although an Appellate court on Dec. 9 took away a lower court's restraint on construction at balefill, a proposed landfill site in north suburban Bartlett, opponents of balefill are moving to block that action.

Bartlett Mayor John Stark on Dec. 23 said balefill antagonists have asked the same appellate court to rescind their action. The Dec. 9 order was signed by only of the three-member panel of ap-

Sewer construction work at school lot debated

by Mark Hoffman

A right-of-way negotiator for the Metropolitan Water Reclamation Services of Greater Chicago met with District 71 board members last week to request the signing of a letter of easement allowing his company to do sewer work on the site of the parking lot of the Niles Elementary School, located on Franks Street near Touhy and Milwaukee Avenues.

The project will involve the installation of two new sewer pipes. One pipe will be 84 inches in diameter and will be installed by the augery method. The other pipe, 18 inches in diameter, will be laid by the "open cut" method and will require the digging of a 2 1/2 foot-wide trench that will run pellate court judges and state law requires the signatures of all three, Stark said. He expects a ruling by the first of the year.

Balefill, an $11 million, 200-acre landfill project, is sponsored by (SWANCC) and is designed to hold the compacted and baled solid waste from Niles, Morton Grove and 24 other SWANCC member communities.

But Brooke Beal of SWANCC said Dec. 23, "There is no order barring us from construction on the site right now," and maintained the agency will drill wells to monitor ground water when

Annunzio calls for repeal of earnings penalty

Congressman Frank Annunzio is urging a House-Senate conference committee to approve an amendment to the Older Americans Act that would abolish the Social Security earnings penalty.

"Today's middle-income seniors face many burdens as they struggle to stay independent and continue living in their homes," said Mr. Annunzio (11th Dist.-Ill.). "Thousands of seniors must continue working in order to cope with the rising costs of property taxes, utilities, insurance premiums and other expenses. In addition to these burdens, America's senior citizens aged 65-69, face a double whammy in the form of earnings penalties that cut into social security benefits when a senior's yearly income exceeds $9,720. One senior citizen reaches this income threshold, they must forfeit $1 dollar in benefits for every $3 they earn above the limit. This forces working seniors to struggle harder than ever to pay their bills. The prospect of losing social security income is not pleasant for people who have spent a lifetime contributing to the system, but who now find they can't live off those benefits alone."

Mr. Annunzio strongly supports efforts to eliminate the Social Security earnings penalty, and he currently is cosponsoring H.R. 970, a bill that would do away with the earnings cap. Adopted during the 1930s, the earnings penalty was designed to encourage older workers to retire to make room for younger employees.

Citing figures from a recent study conducted by the Institute for Policy Innovations and the National Center for Policy Analysis, Mr. Annunzio said a reduction of marginal tax rates on senior citizens would boost U.S. economic growth by $15.4 billion per year. The IPI/NCPA study also estimated that a total repeal of the earnings penalty would cut the federal deficit by $140 million.

During debate on this issue on the House floor, Mr. Annunzio criticized the harsh economic impact the earnings penalty is having on middle-income seniors.

"This penalty puts an added burden on seniors who are trying to stay in their homes by working beyond traditional retirement ages," Mr. Annunzio said. "Meanwhile, wealthy retirees can continue to collect profits on stock dividends and interest payments with no corresponding cut in their social security benefits. That violates a basic standard of fairness."

She estimated the hatchback lock damage at $100.

Retail theft arrests at same store

Dec. 18, security guards in a clothing store in the 7200 block of Dempster Street, Morton Grove, saw a Chicago woman, 27 slip a watch on her 3-year-old's wrist, then hide six others in her jacket pocket.

She then concealed a $25 cutlery set in a box containing a $13 cutlery set. She removed price tags from a scarf and pair of gloves and acted as if they were her own, then paid for the $13 set of knives and other miscellaneous items and left the store.

Guards stopped her outside and police later charged her with retail theft, placed her on $1,000 bond and gave her a Jan. 6 date for theft of the approximately $184 of merchandise.

In the same store that night, security guards saw a Skokie woman, 62, take a tie, gloves and a pair of socks with a total value of about $41 and leave the store without paying.

Police charged her with retail theft, placed her on $1,000 bond and gave her a Jan. 21 court date.

Stolen vehicle never really stolen

Because of a mix-up in paperwork at a car dealership in the 6200 block of Touhy Avenue, in Niles, a stolen car report was filed with police on Dec. 19.

On Dec. 20 the missing 1987 Ford Taurus, valued at $4,500, turned up at the dealership on display for sale.

According to the police report, the vehicle was a trade-in and was sent out for repairs. The dealership, however, was unable to locate the paperwork on the vehicle so the stolen auto report was filed.

Bank forgery

When a 25-year-old Des Plaines man tried to transfer funds from his account in a Morton Grove bank to a branch in Des Plaines, he was told there were no funds to transfer.

Further investigation uncovered that an unknown blonde man, about 21, had used the Des Plaines man's code number to withdraw $375.

Retail theft arrest

A 19-year-old Park Ridge resident was charged Dec. 15 with the theft of assorted men's sportswear from the J. C. Penney's store, in Golf Mill. The sportswear is valued at $150, the man has a Jan. 10 court date.

Don't drink and drive during holidays

Now that we are in the height of the holiday partying season we should all make plans for safe transportation home after we celebrate!

In 1990 the United States Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, Georgia, reported that of the 44,529 traffic fatalities in the U.S., 22,084 involved at least one person with a measurable blood alcohol level. Though 22,084 alcohol-related traffic fatalities seems to be a terribly high figure it is actually the lowest number of alcohol-related highway deaths since health and transportation officials began keeping statistics in 1981 on these types of fatalities.

The total number of traffic fatalities in 1990, 44,529 is also a decline of 1,000 from 1989. Much of the credit for the decline in these numbers is attributable to groups such as MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Driving), who vigilantly campaign against drinking and driving, raising the legal drinking age in many states from 18 to 21, elimination of "happy hours" and the wider use of seatbelts.

This holiday season if you plan to go out partying there are alternatives to going out and getting into a drunken car crash! Get together with friends and pick a designated driver, who will not drink that night or flip a coin with your spouse to have a non-alcoholic evening and take up the driving chores, call a cab for transportation, or just don't drink!

DUI is an expensive mistake. Besides the anguish of personal injury or death and property damage you are going to be ARRESTED if you are intoxicated and driving. The officer, who stops you, is going to frisk you, he is going to handcuff you, and when he gets you to the local PD he is going to take your mug shot, fingerprint you, and ask you to take certain chemical tests. Then he will lock you up, in jail until you can make bond. If you have a valid Illinois driver's license you will also need $100 cash. If you do not have a valid Illinois driver's license it will cost you $500 cash, and if you don't have the cash for bond you will sit in jail until you are brought before a judge for a bond hearing, which may be the next day.

Besides this you will have to hire an attorney to represent you when you go to court for the many traffic tickets the officer is going to give you, and if you are convicted you will be subject to having your driving privileges suspended and a large fine. (Then you can take that cab you should of the night you were pinched! - If you can still afford one!) And on top of this your insurance premium will probably go up substantially.

It's not worth the risk to drink and drive. Have happy holiday season and remember "Don't Drink and Drive"!

Trio nabbed after liquor theft

In a grocery store in the 6900 block of Dempster Street, Morton Grove, the night of Dec. 19, three women were seen taking liquor bottles from their packages and then returning the empty boxes to the shelves.

Pocketing the liquor bottles, the women left the store without paying. Store personnel notified police and a patrolling officer spotted and stopped the trio driving east on Dempster Street at Central Street.

The store manager identified the women and police charged them with retail theft for taking the liquor valued at about $90. They were each placed on $1,000 bond and given a Jan. 21 court date.

One woman, 40, of Chicago, paid ten percent of her bond and was released; the other two, one from Chicago, 21; the other from Evanston, 20, were unable to make bail. A child about three years old riding in the car was put in the care of the released woman.

Student batters teacher at academy

The teacher, also a Niles resident, told police he and another staff member were attempting to restrain another student in his classroom when the offender, a 14-year-old from Chicago, approached him and punched him.

The youth was pulled off the teacher by other staff members and placed in another classroom. The youth was taken into custody and transported to the Niles Police Department for processing.

Stolen auto recovered

Two 14-year-old Evanston youths were apprehended and charged in connection with the theft of a 1986 Chevy Camaro from a Niles man.

The Niles man reported the car stolen from where it was parked Dec. 16 in the 7100 block of Carol Court, Niles. The same day an Evanston resident called the Evanston Police Department to report a group of youths were stripping a Chevy down in the 1800 block of Simson Street, in Evanston.

When officers arrived on the scene, the group fled, but the two Evanston juveniles were caught and charged with possession of a stolen motor vehicle.

Lippert supporters ...

As a final note, park Commissioner Bud Skaja, who has supported Lippert's retention, said he "hoped in 1992 the park board can better serve the public by letting the new director direct, let the staff do their jobs and let the commissioners just 'commish'." Skaja ended with "Thanks Tom for a good job."

Tom Lippert can hold his head high. He came into Niles Park District as director in January of 1990; a district that had not had a director for five or more months. He spent the first six months in his new job trying to reorganize an unorganized district. When he was finally able to implement his own ideas, he spent countless hours working on the new state-of-the-art pool, which Niles now has, together with major improvements at Grennan Heights and other park improvements. Since June, 1991 Lippert has seen the handwriting on the wall, knowing that the newly-seated board gave him an unfavorable review and that his contract would probably not be renewed. So all in all, Tom Lippert has been able to spend one full year doing his job as director of the Niles Park District and in that year of effort, the district has progressed more than it has in numerous past years.

Lippert can be pleased with the job he has done, but pride doesn't pay the bills. And so he will move on and hopefully get settled in a new job soon.

And though he will probably be leaving his Niles home, he knows that his friends and supporters will always welcome his visits.

ous hazards for young children. "We've had experience in the last ten years with people doing construction," said Grieshaber. "We know what the hazards are. I've seen people backing up semi-trailers when there are 5-year-old children present."

Grieshaber went on to relate past experiences in which noisy construction crews caused considerable disruption to classroom routine.

Afterward, he asked Giacobbe how long the construction would take and Giacobbe stated the project would take three months for construction and another three months for restoration.

Grieshaber then asked if it would be possible for the project to be scheduled so that at least half of the construction could be completed during the summer months when the disruption to the school routine would be minimal. Giacobbe replied such specifications could be written into a contract before it goes up for bidding, but this could increase the total cost of the project. To allay fears of disruptive construction crews, Giacobbe assured the board "if vehicles are parked where they shouldn't be or cause damage, we will be out there immediately to correct the situation."

Several board members recounted past experiences in which construction crews had left the grounds they were working on in less than perfect condition. Giacobbe pointed out all restoration work would be guaranteed for two years and a letter of release would have to be signed by the board before the contractors would be paid.

After Giacobbe left, board members concluded they would wait for the Metropolitan Water Reclamation Services of Greater Chicago to draw up final specifications for the project before deciding whether or not to sign a letter of easement.

In other business, Vice-President Robert Bianchi suggested parental participation in the educational process could be increased if District 71 were to create "homework classes" for students and parents based on those that have been established in Sauk Village District 168.

168 attend these classes, Bianchi believes those who do have benefited significantly.

Thomas Ray, principal of Culver Middle School, noted his school does have a special homework program that requires students who have missed a certain number of assignments to attend after-school study sessions. He indicated this program has improved overall study performance.

District 71 participation in DARE was also discussed. Thomas Ray said the district had allocated $550 for the purpose of sending two Niles police officers to take part in DARE training sessions, but more money might be required in order to continue with the program because the federal government had "pulled the plug" on funding.

though a safe was not tampered with, reports indicate an attempt was made to open it using keys found in the boiler room. The offender(s) entered the boiler room after shattering one of the room's windows with a nearby fire extinguisher. Red paint shavings were found on glass shards and the extinguisher was found to have gouged on its side.

Two unlocked offices were entered and a fax machine worth $750 was taken. Two file cabinets were opened and ransacked.

In the main aerobics room three of the six color TV monitors suspended from the ceiling were removed, the other three were damaged, dropped and left at the scene. The stolen monitors are worth $300. A video camera valued at $1,550 was also stolen from the aerobics room.

Glenview man named chief of staff

House Minority Lee Daniels (R-Elmhurst) has announced the appointment of Michael E. Triстано, of Glenview, as chief of staff, effective immediately.

Triстано, 43, succeeds Pam McDonough, of Springfield, who resigned to accept a position at the Capital Development Board. Triстано, a former director of the Illinois Department of Central Management Services (CMS) from 1985 to 1989, served the House of Republican caucus as a consultant in legislative matters.

they feel it is "most opportune." The monitoring will satisfy guidelines for a Cook County planned unit development and Illinois IPA requirements.

Federal sanction is also needed for full-fledged construction at balefill. Beal said SWANCC will again apply to the U. S. Corps of Engineers for approval early in 1992.

He said SWANCC will try to lessen the concerns of the Corps that The Bartlett Site is not "the least damaging practicable alternative" as the Corps had claimed in its initial denial of SWANCC's application in February.

In that denial, the Corps also stated balefill would harm the habitat of several endangered species of birds such as the Veery, Cooper's hawk and the Red-shouldered hawk. Beal noted two of the species no longer live in the area and the third, the Veery, needs a smaller habitat than originally supposed.

Meanwhile, the Illinois EPA has approved a SWANCC transfer station in Rolling Meadows and it is expected to sanction a Wheeling station, at Central and River Roads, in early February. The stations compact and bale waste so it can be trucked to balefill.

Beal predicted construction at the Wheeling site would begin in July. He said that station would serve local and north shore suburbs and their need is more acute since the Mallard Lake landfill in DuPage county will soon no longer accept Cook County waste.

Negotiations continue for a third transfer station to aid SWANCC's southern service area near Skokie.

how to make park facilities comply to the new Americans with Disabilities Act, Balling said.

The board has approved a resolution stating the district will abide by the Disabilities Act and maintain barrier free facilities which are accessible to disabled individuals and continue to offer recreational programming, in conjunction with the Maine-Niles Association of Special Recreation, for those with disabilities.

Some of these projects could be funded by the issuance of $1,300,000 in bonds by Dec. 1, 1992, Balling said. On the same date $665,000 in bonds used to finance other projects will be paid off.

Other sources of funding for these projects include a possible grant from the Illinois Department of Conservation, and money from the district's corporate, paving and lighting and museum funds.

In financing the proposed projects, the district is committed to keeping the tax rate constant, Balling said.

The current tax rate is 52.5 cents and, according to Balling, the district would keep the rate at less than 51 cents depending on the interest rate on the bonds.

The 1992 Capital Projects Plan is expected to be adopted by March 19 after a community feedback meeting scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 29 at 9:30 a.m. at Prairie View Community Center.

The following items will be accepted: newspapers; corrugated cardboard; aluminum and metal cans; green, brown and clear glass bottles and jars; plastic milk, water and detergent jugs; plastic pop bottles and other recyclable plastic containers. All items should be sorted.

Milk jugs and other plastic, glass and metal containers must be thoroughly rinsed with lids, tops and rings removed. Labels also should be removed from cans. Newspapers and cardboard must be bundled separately and tied with string.

This is the township's fourth recycling collection. Collections are scheduled from 8 a.m. to noon on the fourth Saturday of each month. Collection dates in 1992 are Jan. 25, Feb. 22, March 28, April 25, May 23, June 27, and July 25.

The township program is intended to provide a convenient recycling site for residents, who do not have curbside recycling and those who wish to recycle acceptable items that are not collected by their local haulers.

Maine Township Supervisor Joan B. Hall said, "The response to our recycling program demonstrates that we definitely are meeting a community need. We hope residents will continue to take advantage of this opportunity to conserve our valuable resources."

three years. Other assignments announced by the board were Janice Lynn Lagrosa as outreach page and Melissa Sanchez as reference page. Gerald Padecky has resigned as technical clerk.

Ted Przybylo, board president, reported the administrative search is continuing on schedule. He said the board does not have a deadline.

Former administrator Daniel C. Macken III resigned last April after being arrested for embezzling library funds. Replacing him is Acting Administrator Judith Zelter.

Zelter said the Des Plaines Library now shares computer information with the Niles Bookmobile.

Trustee Irene Costello, liaison to the "Niles Friends of the Library" reported the ongoing book sale netted $750 from July through October.
