Pullen defends volunteer status after charge of ethics violation

by Sheilya Hackett

State Representative Penny Pullen (R-55th) on March 1 responded to a charge she may have violated a state ethics code by being a member of a committee that later benefited from legislation she sponsored. The 1989 legislation at issue required that consideration of sexual abstinence be included in all school programs dealing with sex education. The Project Respect Committee and its educational material are spinoffs of the Committee on the Status of Women, reportedly a pro-life organization in Glenview. Continued on Page 30

Pizza delivery man maced, robbed in Niles

Two men in hooded shirts maced and robbed a pizza delivery man near 7617 Olcott Ave., Niles, in the early hours of Feb. 29.

Domino's Pizza deliveryman Lev Kanevsky, 20, told police he brought an order to the Olcott Avenue address and was motioned to the rear door of the house by two stocky men between 18-20 years old standing outside.

As one pretended to reach for his wallet to pay, he pulled out a cannister and maced the deliveryman, who ran down an adjacent alley. The two caught up with Continued on Page 31

Plan for single, 6-story building goes to Village Board for approval

Zoners OK new condo plan at Bunker Hill

by Sheilya Hackett

The Bunker Hill condo project, 6636 Milwaukee Ave., Niles, rejected by zoning commissioners in February, was reborn in a new plan submitted March 3. The Milwaukee Development Corporation and its chief spokesman, Park Ridge builder Michael Pontarelli, revamped earlier plans for a pair of buildings housing 70 units into a single, six story building of 60 units and won approval from Niles zoning commissioners.

Only Commissioner Sidney Mitchel voted against the plan, citing his opposition to the project's height, density and low amount of parking. His motion to deny the project died without a second. His attempt to amend a motion for approval by requiring the builders to set aside funds for parking lot expansion if the need arose also failed.

Commissioners Angelo Troiani and James Callero abstained from voting because of their association with the property owners, V.F.W. post 7712.

Project consultant Ralph Campbell stressed the building's amenities such as extensive landscaping and indoor, two-level parking.

While Niles' code calls for two parking spaces per unit, this project allows at most 1.78 spaces per unit. Niles' code for R-4 multiple dwellings allows about 17 units per acre; this Planned Unit Continued on Page 30

Orr announces voter registration increase

Voter registrations in suburban Cook County are up roughly 25 percent for the March 17 primary compared to the same period in 1988, according to figures released Monday by Cook County Clerk David Orr.

"We took 50,011 registrations between Dec. 1 and Feb. 18 - the registration deadline for the March 17 primary," Orr said. "The total number of registered voters in suburban Cook County is 1,180,000."

"The rise in voter registration is encouraging, but we still have more work to do to increase voter rolls," Orr said. "One of the fundamental rights we have as Americans is the right to vote and my office will continue to do all it can to expand voter registration."

Voter registrations taken during the same time period in 1988 totaled 40,150, Orr said.

"We attribute the increase in registrations now in large part to the extensive outreach program we launched in January," Orr said. "We aggressively targeted

Loyola Academy, Marillac begin merger discussions

The administration and boards of Loyola Academy, in Wilmette, and Marillac High School, in Northfield, have agreed to begin formal discussions with the goal of entering into an affiliation to establish a quality coeducational Catholic secondary school.

This collaborative effort seeks to ensure the 451-year tradition of Jesuit and the 359-year tradition of Daughters of Charity philosophy and education.

Loyola Academy an all-boys Jesuit institution, moved from its Rogers Park campus of 48 years to its present Wilmette location in 1957. In 1967 the Daughters of Charity founded Marillac, an all-girls school, in Northfield.

"This is an opportunity to create a new model of coeducation, which will be innovative and distinctive, incorporating the best of single gender and coeducational learning opportunities for young men and young women in a single school," a press release on the merger stated.

Through the course of several meetings this past fall, facilitated by Dr. Elaine Schuster, the Archdiocesan Superintendent of Schools, representatives of Loyola Academy and Marillac began discussions on the merger.

Permission to move ahead in this planning fashion has been granted and encouraged by Joseph Cardinal Bernardin, Archbishop of Chicago, Sister Dorothy Huber, D.C., Provincial of the Evansville Province of the Society of the Society of Jesus.

If an affiliation is established, it is anticipated that a planning process developing this new school model would take the part of two years. During that time Loyola and Marillac would work toward collaborative programs within the existing structures of the two schools.

Washington releases Deep Tunnel funds; Niles, Morton Grove to benefit

While local news has been dominated over the past several months by seemingly endless reports on the proposed third airport, a more immediate and certainly more individually important milestone has gone largely unnoticed. Nicholas J. Melas, president of the board of commissioners of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District announced that after frustrating years of waiting, Federal, State and local funds for construction of the North Branch segment of the District's Deep Tunnel project for capturing combined sewer overflows, have finally been released. Constructed from 210 to 250 feet below ground and paralleling the North Branch, these tunnels will capture sewer overflows from 35 points within parts of Chicago and the villages of Niles, Morton Grove and Golf. Roughly 86 percent of the pollution that is discharged annually to the North Branch of the Chicago River will be captured and treated. The tunnel will also, to some extent, alleviate the load on local sewer systems in these areas.

"This 9.1-mile segment is the final link in the 40.3-mile Mainstream Tunnel System. 31.2-miles of tunnel have been in operation since 1985," said Melas. "Since that time, there has been a significant improvement in the water quality throughout our service area. Lake Michigan has been protected and fish species that have been long absent from the waterways are once again in abundance."

Melas, who made numerous trips to the capital to plead for funds, notes that the need for the Deep Tunnel is predicated on strict United States Environmental Protection Agency requirements for control of pollution in local waters. He said, "With the passage of the Clean Water Act, the District was mandated to stop pollution from entering the waterways."

Following extensive study involving numerous government agencies and civic organizations, the District's Tunnel and Reservoir Plan, or 'Deep Tunnel' was deemed the most practical and cost-effective solution. However, the expected funding for the Engineer's exhibit shows the location of the North Branch Tunnel and the overflow points where drop shafts will be constructed to carry polluted water to the tunnel.

Reader questions Bugle's editorial response to Ruesh Garage controversy

Dear Editor:

After reading your "Letters to the Editor," in the February 13th issue of The Bugle, I found myself very upset and disappointed.

The letter was from a Mother, Mrs. Van deMotte, whose son had previously written to you regarding a subject that has been of much controversy for quite some time. The issue of the closing of the Ruesch Garage has been covered in The Bugle in many issues for a long time.

Following the letter to you, was a copy of the original letter sent by Mrs. Van deMotte's son, who seemed very sincere and took a great deal of time in writing this letter.

What upset me so, was not the issue at hand, but the fact that you, the "editor," still chose not to respond to either mother or son.

Although you may not be able to voice an opinion on the issues, don't you feel that your readers deserve more than a wall of silence?

Without letters of response from the editor, there doesn't seem to be a need for the "Letters To the Editor" column.

Sincerely,
Candace Hornkohl
Niles, IL

Editor's Note: The Bugle Newspapers have run approximately 15 news articles and several Left Hand columns on the controversy between the Ruesch family and the Village of Niles. The property has now been rezoned for condominiums after several court hearings and we feel we have given this story more coverage than any of the other community newspapers.

Resident questions Post Office policy telling carriers to walk on lawns

The following letter was written to Norma Dudzik, station manager of the Niles Postal Sub-Station on Feb. 10.

Dr. Mr. Dudzik:

The purpose of this letter is to request you instruct your mail delivery person in our area to stop walking across our lawn.

We had new sod installed late last fall and it hasn't taken solid root as yet. The reason I am writing you is, the mail person read the following note we placed on our mail box:

Dear Mail Person:
"We will appreciate your not walking across our lawn since it was newly sodded last Fall and hasn't taken strong roots as yet. Thanks much for your cooperation, Mr. and Mrs. Bruno."

Upon reading our sign the Mail Person informed us they were instructed to WALK ACROSS

OUR LAWNS when delivering the mail and a letter to your attention was necessary for them to stop this newly-implemented station Post Office policy.

Mr. Dudzik, I don't know who at your station came up with this policy and implemented it without informing the residents of Niles, of same...and their need to send you a letter to stop this practice by the mail delivery person...since our home is on private property I question by what authority do you have the right to instruct your mail carriers how to behave on our property without OUR APPROVAL.

A response to our letter will be appreciated...and your cooperation in this request is most appreciated.

Sincerely,
Sam S. Bruno
Niles resident

Harkin supporter claims he stands for working people

Dear Editor:

On Jan. 28, several friends and neighbors gathered in my home to watch the State of the Union address, and to hear Senator Tom Harkin give the "True State of the Union" as part of his Presidential campaign.

Obviously, the economy was on everyone's mind. People are worried. They feel that the country is headed in the wrong direction. George Bush's favor-the-rich, supply-side economics is a failure. Just look around. The economy is in a shambles, and Bush's answer is another tax break for the rich. And guess who pays the bill: ordinary working Americans.

That's why we support Tom Harkin. He stands up for working people, because he understands us. Unlike Bush, Harkin believes all Americans deserve decent, affordable health care. He understands that our children need good schools. He realizes we need to create and keep high-waged and high-skilled jobs here in America. And Harkin knows that if American business is to be competitive in the 90's and beyond, we must once again invest in America.

Tom Harkin's specific Five-Point Plan for Economic Growth makes him the pro-growth, pro-business candidate for President. His economic plan is plain and simple: invest our resources in American workers, our schools, our infrastructure and then the economy will grow.

As we watched the State of the Union, we knew that George Herbert Walker Bush and J. Danforth Quayle just don't understand ordinary working people. They are allowing the American Dream to slip away from most Americans. "We the people" can still enjoy the American Dream. But we need a President who understands and shares that dream. We need a President like Tom Harkin.

Sincerely,
Bonnie B. Lindquist

Letters To The Editor

Article reminds resident of small drug store's service

Dear Editor:

After reading The Left Hand on Feb. 20 in The Bugle I recalled the same type of incident.

I need a prescription filled on my way home from the doctor's office. I stopped at a chain drug store. They were just closing. They would not fill my prescription, so I came home and called Mark Toepel at his home. He went to his drug store (Toepel Drugs) and filled my prescription for me.

It's sad that those small businesses had to close.

I used to go to all those that you mentioned in your "Left Hand".

Sincerely,
Clare Doud

Diaco owner thanks Bugle for concern over small businesses

Dear Editor:

We at Diaco Video would like to thank you for your comments concerning our store in the Left Hand (February 27, 1992.) We appreciate your concern for the small businesses in our community. Since most of our employees are Niles residents and have deep roots in our community we appreciated this column and the previous week's column concerning small business vs. large corporations. We try to take a personal interest in the community by donating to church, school and community functions.

Again we would like to thank you and to thank the many loyal customers, old and new, and local merchants, who have stopped by or called to show us their support. One elderly woman stopped by to open a membership. She said she had never rented a movie before, but wanted to show us her support. We promise to continue to give the same personal service and care that our customers have grown to expect.

Sincerely,
Frank Diaferia
Owner, Diaco Video

P.S. We also love Minelli Brothers

It Was Just Yesterday

It was just yesterday I moved to Niles (1959) and became involved with the village.

It was just yesterday I worked with the Village Health Department as commissioner and Sanitarian.

It was just yesterday I met a lot of dedicated people who worked for the village in all capacities.

Today, some have passed away and many are retired.

Today, I have fond memories of my friends, past and present, whose friendship I cherish.

Today is the tomorrow we waited for yesterday.

Yes!! It was only yesterday. Loads of luck to Keith Peck in his retirement.

Police News

Drivers charged with DUI

The night of Feb. 28, a patrolling officer saw a blue Pontiac driving northwest on Milwaukee Avenue, weaving between lanes and scraping its tires against the median strip. When he stopped the car north of Greenwood Avenue, the driver failed a field sobriety test and later registered 0.30 on a breathalyzer test.

The driver, 38, of Park Ridge, has an April 15 court date. His charges include driving under the influence of alcohol, having a BAC over 10 percent, improper lane usage, suspended driver's license and no seat belt. His recognition bond was set at $3,000.

A Niles police officer asked a driver blocking traffic in the 7900 block of Milwaukee Avenue to pull into another parking lot, then observed he hit the curb twice as he tried to pull in.

In response to a question, the driver admitted he had been drinking, then failed a field sobriety test. The driver, 51, of Niles, was charged with having a blood alcohol content of over .10 and improper lane usage. He was placed on $1,000 bond and given a March 27 court date.

Theft suspect pulls knife on security agent

A security agent for J. C. Penney, Golf Mill, chased a teenager he saw take three pairs of socks the afternoon of March 1.

A short distance outside the store, the youth turned and menaced the agent with a knife, then fled and escaped near Chester Avenue and Ballard Road.

A bag containing the socks, a book and a Chicago library card was found in the area.

Offices burglarized

The night of Feb. 29, persons unknown broke a small office window in Niles College, 7135 N. Harlem Ave., Niles, reached in and unlocked the development department office door. Though nothing else was disturbed, $100 was taken from a desk.

Although the theft occurred Feb. 7, an employee of a bank in the 7000 block of Dempster Street, Niles, waited until Feb. 25 to report the theft of a portable car phone valued at $350 from the manager's office by unknown offenders.

Restaurant's windows smashed

In the early hours of Feb. 29, two men in their twenties stopped at a drive-in window of a fast food restaurant in the 7500 block of Harlem Avenue, Niles.

A long-haired blond man banged on the window for service, then when told the store was closed, smashed the windows, causing $250 damage. Police apprehended the two, after they fled from the scene, in a lot in the 7800 block of Waukegan Road.

The restaurant manager agreed to accept restitution for the window damage and did not press charges.

Home burglarized

Unknown offenders, who broke a small basement window to enter a house in the 7700 block of Oketo Avenue, Niles, Feb. 25 took two VCRs, a camera, a watch, $50 and miscellaneous jewelry, concealed the items in pillow cases, then left front and rear doors open when they left.

Except for the jewelry, which must still be inventoried, it was considered a $1,000 loss.

Plywood cow stolen

A four-foot high plywood cow valued at $50 was stolen from a resident in the 8600 block of Sunset Road, Niles, between Feb. 28-March 1.

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to "An Act in relation to the use of an Assumed Name in the conduct or transaction of Business in the State," as amended, that a certification was filed by the undersigned with the County Clerk of Cook County, File No. D006756 on Feb. 25, 1992, under the Assumed Name of Sign Production with the place of business located at 8843D N. Robin Dr., Des Plaines, IL 60016. The true name(s) and residence address of owner(s) is: Milorad Kostic, 8843D N. Robin Dr., Des Plaines, IL 60016.

Fish tales

A Prospect Heights man, 20, paid a $50 fine after he was seen taking oysters valued at about $9 from a grocery store in the 8900 block of Greenwood Avenue, Niles, the night of Feb. 29.

Feb. 25, an agent for a Golf Mill grocery store stopped a Chicago woman, 65, he saw take a package of fish valued at $9.20 and attempt to leave without paying.

Grocery store theft

A 19-year-old Niles woman, a cashier at a Golf Mill grocery store, was observed ringing up about $203 in grocery items for a Chicago man and woman, but charging them only $20.45.

She was placed on $1,000 bond and given a March 25 court date.

Wallet theft

While a Norridge man, 65, waited in a check-out line in a grocery store in the 7400 block of Waukegan Road, Niles, the afternoon of Feb. 25, another man reached into his jacket pocket, took his wallet and left the store accompanied by a woman.

The two drove away in a 1977 yellow Plymouth station wagon. The wallet contained identification and $20.

Car window smashed

A 1990 Toyota Camry parked in the 8500 block of Milwaukee Avenue, Niles, was damaged in the early hours of March 1 when unknown offenders smashed its rear window with an orange juice bottle.

The projectile also chipped paint from the car's trunk lid and total damage was estimated at $400.

Driving safely in the fog

Rapidly changing temperatures can cause fog, which reduces visibility and makes driving hazardous. Be prepared to change your driving habits if fog appears suddenly.

The best safety rule is to avoid driving in fog whenever possible. However, if you must drive, take the following safety precautions:

1. Slow down. Reduce your speed even more if you see headlights or taillights in front of you. Headlights may be on a vehicle coming down the center of the road, and taillights can indicate a stopped vehicle or one that is barely moving.

2. Dim your headlights. You not only will see more clearly, but other drivers will see you better. Low beams direct light onto the road ahead, while the light from high beams hits the fog and is reflected off it. Illinois law prohibits driving with parking lights only.

3. Avoid changing lanes.
4. Do not overdrive your headlights. Keep within the limits of your vision and be prepared to stop in an emergency. If the fog becomes so dense that you can hardly see, either exit the highway or pull onto the shoulder. Do not drive on a highway at five or 10 miles per hour. If you pull off the road, stay in your car.

Remember, driving safely in fog requires concentration and patience.

Theft from van

Two side view mirrors were taken from a 92 Ford van parked outside a furniture store in the 8100 block of Milwaukee Avenue between Feb. 27-28.

The loss was estimated at $100. The store manager said it was the second theft of its kind that week.

Man charged in sheet theft

A Chicago man, 22, stopped by clerks as he tried to leave a linen shop in the 5600 block of Touhy Avenue, Niles, without paying for a sheet set, ran back into the shop and threw the sheets over a display case.

In the incident, which happened the afternoon of Feb. 28, the man was charged with retail theft, placed on $1,000 bond and given a March 25 court date.

Wallet missing

A Niles man, 18, reported he left his jacket in the Grennan Heights gym the afternoon of Feb. 28 and when he returned, his wallet was missing.

Using and repairing electric frypans

The beauty of electric frypans is their versatility. You can use them to fry, saute or simmer a wide variety of foods over a broad range of cooking temperatures.

Also, many people find working with a frypan on a countertop more convenient than using a frying pan on the range. Here are tips for the use and care of these handy appliances:

CAUTION: Always unplug a frypan and its probe control before cleaning or repairing it.

• Clean the probe control regularly by wiping it with a damp cloth. Never immerse the probe in water. If it becomes wet accidentally, dry it by removing the bottom cover, then playing warm air over the interior with a blower-type hair dryer or similar device until all the moisture evaporates.

• An electric frypan is made so that it can be washed in a sink, though not in a dishwasher. Use hot, sudsy water and avoid harsh cleansers. Dry around the terminal pins carefully before the next use. If you use a scouring pad, be sure that no steel particles remain near the terminal plug.

• Never run cold water into a hot pan - it may warp the aluminum body.

• When using the frypan, attach the probe control unit to the pan before plugging the power cord into the wall receptacle. To disconnect the pan, first turn the control dial to "Off," then unplug the power cord.

• Don't store the frypan in the drawer of an oven. The high temperature from the broiler will damage plastic parts.

Troubleshooting tips:

• Appliance does not heat. Unplug the power cord and check the wall outlet with a lamp you know is working.

The terminals on the pan may be dirty. Unplug the power cord and polish the terminal pins on the body with steel wool. (Take care not to leave metal particles behind.)

• Unplug the power cord from the wall outlet and examine it for fraying. Examine the plug for loose or distorted prongs. Replace the power cord with an exact duplicate from the manufacturer, if necessary.

• The probe control may be at fault. Repairs to these control units are not likely to stand up, particularly if the control unit is old or has been misused by immersing it in water or dropping it. Take the old control with you when you buy a new one to be sure you get the correct replacement.

• If the pan still does not heat, the fryer's heating element is probably broken. Take it to an appliance repair shop for testing. If the heating element is at fault, it is usually less expensive to purchase a new pan.

Improper Temperature:

If the frypan does not operate at the correct temperature, it is safe to assume that the problem is with the thermostat in the probe control - it may either be broken or out of calibration. To adjust the calibration, unplug the control from the wall outlet and detach it from the pan.

If the control has a plastic button on the bottom, pry it out with a knife to reach the thermostat adjusting screw. To adjust the thermostat if it is set too low, turn the screw one-quarter turn counterclockwise. If it is set too high, turn the screw one-quarter turn clockwise. Adjust again if necessary.

If several calibration attempts fail to correct the problem, the thermostat is broken, and the entire probe control unit should be replaced with a new one.

Concrete driveway sealant controversy

Q: I have a concrete driveway and I'm confused as to whether I need to use a sealer. I've heard both pro and con on this subject. What's your opinion?

A: Driveway sealants are a controversial topic in many areas of the country, primarily because they are often used by traveling bunco artists to bilk unsuspecting homeowners out of thousands of dollars. In many cases, a sealer simply isn't needed, no matter how clever or persuasive the sales pitch.

But mass hysteria aside, driveway sealants do serve a purpose in some situations. They are often required when new concrete is poured in late autumn. In this instance, a sealer keeps water from entering the slab and popping the surface with the first deep freeze.

Ironically, the more years a driveway goes without a sealant, the less it is likely to need one.

Booklet describes mortgage options

People who begin to shop for a mortgage soon find themselves faced with an alphabetic smorgasbord of options. What do FRMs, ARMs and GPMs mean, and which type of mortgage is the best?

Help can be obtained from "The Mortgage Guide," a Federal Trade Commission (FTC) booklet that deciphers all the bureaucratic shorthand, reports Better Homes and Gardens magazine.

Fixed-rate mortgages (FRMs) are the most common type. The Mortgage Guide explains that with a fixed-rate mortgage the interest rate and monthly payments are fixed for the life of the loan, protecting homeowners against rising interest rates. FRMs are best for buyers who want stable payments.

Adjustable-rate mortgages (ARMs) often carry a lower initial interest rate than fixed-rate mortgages, which can qualify home shoppers for a more expensive home. But there's a trade off: Interest rates on ARMs are adjusted periodically according to terms specified by the lender. These usually peg the rate to an index such as U.S. Treasury bills. If rates rise, monthly payments go up; if rates go down, payments fall.

Graduated-payment mortgages (GPMs) make most sense for buyers who expect their incomes to increase substantially. Interest rates on GPMs can be either fixed or adjustable, but they start lower than those for conventional mortgages in the first few years, then gradually increase for a set number of years.

The FTC booklet describes these and other financing plans (more than a dozen), provides financial tables to help buyers estimate monthly costs, and gives a list of FTC addresses and telephone numbers for more information.

Care will extend life of flooring

Consumers who take care of their resilient flooring will see it last a long time. If problems should arise, Do It Yourself magazine offers these tips:

- Occasionally the edge of a resilient floor tile curls or lifts as a result of moisture seepage or a weak adhesive. If moisture is the culprit, first dry the damaged tile and surrounding tiles, using a hand-held hair dryer or heat gun. Applying heat also softens the flooring so that it becomes pliable enough to work with.

Once it's softened, pry up the tile with a putty knife and dry the underlying damp area. Also scrape off old adhesive or dirt that may prevent the tile from lying smoothly. When the area is clean, spread a thin layer of adhesive under the tile, then press flat. Weigh it down overnight while the adhesive sets.

- Sometimes tiles bubble in the center, usually as a result of worn-out adhesive or moisture. Soften the area with heat; slice through the blister with a utility knife. Scrape or dry the underlying area, add new adhesive, and press flat. Weigh down until dry.

- To replace damaged tile, soften it with heat; cut around the edges of the tile using a straight edge and a sharp knife. Scrape the area smooth and vacuum thoroughly. Spread adhesive. Butt one side of the new tile against the edge of a neighboring tile, gently curling the tile as it is lowered into place. Press firmly, and apply weight overnight. This technique also works for sheet flooring with a unified pattern.

Electric heater safety tips

Many consumers find that portable electric air heaters are an excellent secondary source of heat. And according to the safety experts at Underwriters Laboratories Inc. (UL), consumers can follow a few simple safety precautions to help reduce injuries and accidents.

The first precaution that a consumer can take is to carefully read the operating instructions and markings the manufacturer includes with the air heater before using the heater. Do not use the air heater unless you've carefully read these instructions and markings—they contain important information about how to use the product safely and maintain it properly.

Another step a consumer can take is to avoid placing the air heater near water. The box or the instruction manual will indicate whether an air heater is intended for use in locations such as bathrooms or out-doors—if this information is missing, don't use the heater in either of these areas.

Although air heaters on the market today are manufactured with such safety features as cutoff switches to turn heaters off if they accidentally tip over, and heating-element guards to help prevent contact with combustible materials, the safety experts at UL say that to prevent a fire, it is vital to keep combustibles such as draperies, clothing and furniture away from the heater.

The experts also recommend paying special attention to children if there's an air heater in the room. Remind them not to poke their fingers or objects through the protective guard. Even the slightest contact with a heating coil can cause a severe electric shock or burn, or start a fire.

Over 50 dancers perform March 7-8

Maine East presents 25th Danse Concerto

Maine East proudly presents its 25th Danse Concerto on Friday and Saturday, March 7 and 8, starting at 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

This dance concert, according to orchesis sponsor Betty Fisher, will be one of the best Broadway's "Phantom of the Opera", which will be performed as dancers take the roles of the characters from the musical, with choreography by Amy Talkowsky, of Morton Grove. Another dazzling performance will be that of Senior Orchesis members as they move to "Private Eye," using the song of Peter Gunn from the "Blues Brothers" movie.

The dance will be choreographed by Anna Polishchuk, of Des Plaines, who has also choreographed an outstanding modern dance to the music from "Enigma." The variety continues with Marissa Oshoff, of Niles, choreographing a country hoedown. Rhonda Dekelaita, of Des Plaines, featuring the Lambada, Jenny Noparstak, of Niles, and Jennifer Weinberg of Des Plaines, tap dancing to a medley of old-time favorites and Broadway tunes, and Melissa Jagst, of Glenview, performing an African dance.

In addition, Senior Orchesis president Tanya Gairabetoff, of Des Plaines, will do pas de deux to "Somewhere Out There." Tanya will also choreograph with Senior Orchesis vice-president Marlene Galicia, of Niles, a five-couple dance to "Red Petticoat and Hernando's Hideaway."

Junior Orchesis members are also featured in the March 7 and 8 Danse Concerto, executing a group dance to "Money, Money, Money" from "Cabaret." This will be choreographed by Karina Bogatova, of Des Plaines, Victoria Bukhover, of Des Plaines and Alyssa Bezzubov, of Des Plaines. The assistant Orchesis sponsor is Kathleen Aharoni, who will choreograph two dances, one a modern dance for a quartet and the other a more upbeat one for Junior Orchesis.

Those attending should also note the different backdrops used for numbers; in fact, one will be a collage of programs from the last 25 years. Another showstopper will be the tentative reunion of alumni who will perform. Many articles have been written on those who have continued successfully in dance from Maine East.

This year's Danse Concerto will celebrate a quarter of a century of dance at Maine East; tickets for reserved seating are available from the P.E. office or any of those in 25th Danse Concerto at $3.50 per person.

Junior Orchesis members are also featured in the March 7 and 8 Danse Concerto, executing a group dance to "Money, Money, Money" from "Cabaret." This will be choreographed by Karina Bogatova, of Des Plaines, Victoria Bukhover, of Des Plaines and Alyssa Bezzubov, of Des Plaines. ## ERA Callero & Catino has record sales year

The 1991 local real estate market was faced with two opposing forces that resulted in a very frustrating year for home sellers and real estate brokers. On the good side, mortgage interest rates dropped to their lowest level since the late 1970s. These low rates were a great incentive for families to purchase their first home, or to trade up to a larger one. On the negative side, growing unemployment, and under employment, made many families afraid to buy a home and make a commitment to a new long term mortgage.

The net result was a very stagnant year of local real estate sales. Property values in general did not go up, and in some cases dropped slightly from the peak 1988 and 1989 markets. Buyers shopped for homes in a very conservative manner, and about half of the home sellers were unable to get acceptable bids on their houses and condominiums.

One local real estate office, ERA Callero & Catino, managed to run counter to the general market, and in fact had an all time record year with an 18 percent increase in closed sales. They accomplished this by developing a detailed 16 point Marketing Plan to make sure their listings were exposed to the broadest possible market.

Their commitment to advanced training, and minimum production standards also assured both home sellers and buyers that they were working only with experienced sales agents.

This resulted in a sales ratio on real estate that was 49 percent higher than the average of the local multiple listing services. Also, their average property sold 16 days faster and for 2.1 percent closer to the asking price, compared to the average. ERA Callero & Catino is continuing to refine this Marketing Plan, and expects even better results in 1992.

Tunnel funds...

project slowly dried up in the wake of government spending cuts, to the extent that it became necessary to construct the system in segments." Melas continued, "We've been fighting for years to get the necessary funding for the North Branch tunnel. There is no way that the taxpayer should carry the full burden of the cost of federally-mandated projects. It's only fair that a portion of the taxpayers' federal government contributions; i.e., taxes, should be, in part, at least, returned to help defray the cost of such local projects. That's why we've been fighting for years for funds for the North Branch tunnel system," he said. "Our next quest is for funds to complete the series of reservoirs that will contain the flood waters that regularly plague our area."

Construction cost for the 9.1-mile tunnel is estimated to be $227 million. Approximately $77 million of the value of the contract will be shared by minority and women-owned businesses. Melas further points out, "With the awarding of this contract, over 2,000 sorely needed jobs for skilled laborers, tradesmen and professionals will be made available over the five-year duration of construction."

Bids for the contract will be accepted some time in April, with actual construction scheduled to begin in the early fall.

Bondholders say goodbye to high interest-rate bonds

by Jeffrey Cardella
Edward D. Jones & Co.

Many investors who have been relishing the high interest rates from bonds they purchased 10 or more years ago are saying goodbye to that attractive income as issuers rush to call outstanding, high-interest-rate debt so they can refinance at today's lower interest rates.

Like many homeowners who are taking advantage of low rates to refinance their mortgages and reduce their interest payment, bond issuers are flocking to call, or redeem, securities. When an issuer calls a bond, it ceases paying interest and repays the face amount, sometimes with a 1 percent or 2 percent premium, to investors. Most mortgage bonds do not pay a premium when they are called. Calling bonds enables issuers to sell new bonds at today's lower interest rates and reduce their interest expenses.

Late last year, even the Treasury called an issue of bonds -- the first time in three decades. Treasury securities issued after November 1984 are noncallable, but more than $75 billion of older, callable Treasury issues are still outstanding.

Many municipal- and corporate-bond issuers that sold bonds in the early 1980s, when double-digit interest rates were the norm, are also planning to redeem bonds as early as possible. According to one estimate, 60 percent of outstanding municipal bonds could be called in the next three to five years.

How can you tell if a bond you own might be called? The call features should appear on the confirmation slip you received at the time of purchase or on the bond certificate. Your broker should also be able to provide information on your bond's call features.

In the event of a bond call, the bond issuer is required to notify you. In addition, most brokerages track calls, so you may also be notified that way.

If your bonds are in "bearer" form, though, finding out if your bond has been called isn't so clear-cut. Owners of bearer bonds are not recorded with the issuer; therefore, the issuer has no way of contacting you in the event of a call. However, the owner can contact the issuer or trustee of the bond to see if the bond has been called. Notices of bond calls also appear in many financial publications, but few investors take time to review these notices regularly.

Perhaps the worst way to find out about a bond call is when you submit an interest coupon for payment and they tell you the bond has been called. By then, you have already sacrificed six months of interest.

You can be assured of being alerted to a bond call in a timely manner by converting your bearer bonds to "registered" form. This means your name is on the issuer's records. For added security, keep your bonds in safekeeping with your brokerage house, most of which monitor bond calls.

There are ways to invest in bonds without the worry of calls. Treasury bonds issued after November 1984, for example are non-callable. Or, by investing in a bond mutual fund, you can leave the worry of calls to the fund managers. Funds also offer the benefits of diversification.

Called bonds are something we will undoubtedly be hearing a lot about in the months to come, and it's important for investors to understand the implications and the alternatives.

vide information concerning any prior release of hazardous unregistered voters, such as high school students and college students, who accounted for 3,118 of our new registrations. Over 1,600 students were registered during "College Day" voter registration at ten suburban Cook County colleges.

Other outreach programs included "Grocery Night" voter registration at all Dominick's and Jewel food stores in suburban Cook County on Feb. 13, which netted 3,774 voters, Orr said. The Chicago Board of Elections and the Lake County Clerk's office also held voter registrations that night in all the city and Lake County Jewel and Dominick's stores.

These efforts were part of a comprehensive outreach program that included business, labor, education, community and traditional voter registration groups, who worked to increase voter registration.

"So many people pulled together to work for voter registration. I want to thank Dominick's and Jewel, the United Food and Commercial Workers, the League of Women Voters, the Chicago Board of Elections, Lake County Clerk Linda Hess, the Chicago Voter Registration Coalition and the media for airing our public service announcements and for helping us to get the work out," Orr said. "I want to thank countless volunteers and the employees of my office who worked so diligently during this effort."

"My thanks also to Chicago Bears quarterback Jim Harbaugh for donating his time and energy to registering more voters in suburban Cook County," Orr said. "Jim made numerous personal appearances on behalf of voter registration, as well as taping radio and television public service announcements. Jim's commitment helped to energize our program."

Voter registration will begin again after the March 17 primary election. Orr's office plans to continue the initiatives launched in January. Other events being planned to increase voter registration include summer concerns co-sponsored by Chicago radio stations and a direct mail piece distributed throughout suburban Cook County to unregistered voters.

Day began six years ago, when District 63 realized that it had evolved from an area of only a few two-language families to one where thirty-eight other languages were spoken at home, and felt that the children should be made more aware, and appreciative, of each other's cultures.

Any families who would care to share items representing their country in any media; coins, costumes, sculptures, painting, jewelry, housewares, needlework, or artifacts, may call Anlene Boyrazian in care of Nelson School at 965-0050.

Oakton College plans blood drive

Oakton Community College, 1600 E. Golf Road in Des Plaines, plans a blood drive on Tuesday, March 10. The drive will be held in the Student Center from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Blood drive chairperson Ann Marie Barry asks eligible donors to stop in and donate.

LifeSource reports that blood supplies are extremely low right now and that blood donors are seriously needed. Blood types O and B are critically short. Eligible donors must be in good health, weigh at least 110 pounds and be at least 17 years of age. In addition, donors should eat a well-balanced meal and drink plenty of liquids before donating. All volunteer donors will receive a mini-physical which includes checking a donor's temperature, iron level, blood pressure and cholesterol level. Donating blood is fast, easy and safe. Only pre-packaged, disposable, sterile needles are used and because of new FDA standards, donor inquiries are both written and verbal. Donations can be made every 56 days.

Development will have 32.08 units of 1,358 square feet per acre.

Projected cost of the two-bedroom condos is from $115,900 to $179,900.

As with all Zoning Board decisions, the Niles Board of Trustees has the right of final approval.

In other action, zoning commissioners cleared the way for the Golf Maine Park District to construct a recreation building at 8800 Kathy Lane.

The park district lawyer, Charlene Holtz, stressed the project would enhance intergovernmental cooperative programs, make maximum use of tax dollars and the traffic flow and storm water retention at the site would help alleviate "existing problems at the site."

Although the new building will be adjacent to Mark Twain School and will have youthful patrons, Park Director Bonnie Shinn emphasized adult programs would be included. Building plans include a multipurpose room, which could be used for meetings, and an indoor walking track, if funds are available.

Allen Weiner, a resident of the adjacent Highland Towers told of fears park district parking would overflow into Highland's parking area.

Joseph Grant, a resident of Kathy Lane, suggested the property was more suitable for single-family residences and questioned how the park would increase his property value.

Lawyer Holtz, who represents 15 park districts, said the park would indeed enhance property values and noted home buyers often chose an area because of recreational opportunities.

At Commissioner Angelo Troiani's motion, the board approved the park district's request

Tibetan Monks make rare appearance on Library TV

Cable viewers served by library partners in Library Cable Network will get a rare experience in March of the ancient costumes, instruments and music of the Tibetan monks.

The centuries old spiritual/musical tradition is usually celebrated behind monastic walls in the monks' home in exile in India. Because of their gratitude to people who have helped the Tibetan refugees, the monks' ancient spiritual music can be seen in Arlington Heights, Park Ridge, Skokie, Wheeling and Buffalo Grove on

An unusual aspect of the monks' music is their ability, developed through years of training, to produce multiple notes by their vocal chords simultaneously. The chords thus produced invest their music with another worldly quality that reflects its sacred purpose.

The performance will air channel 35 in Arlington Heights and Park Ridge, channel 50 in Skokie, Channel 82 in Wheeling and Channel 19 in Buffalo Grove. (Buffalo Grove will not receive the 8 p.m. broadcast on March 12.) For additional viewing times, call (708) 459-4100.

Viewers in LCN communities can also request a free monthly guide by calling their local library or LCN at 459-4100, ext. 28.

In making the charge, State Representative Ellis Levin (D-5th) referred to the January issue of the Chicago Reporter magazine in which a writer, Muriel Whetstone, claims since 1986, the Committee on the Status of Women received $1.7 million in state and federal funds to promote "Sex Respect" educational materials.

Pullen has served on the Project Respect Board for many years, she readily states. She said she had never received any compensation or remuneration for her service on the board and sees Project Respect as a means to combat "cultural influences with messages that aggressively promote sexual promiscuity."

She added "In this age of a rising AIDS epidemic, I find it incredible that Representative Levin would attack my work in seeking a healthier lifestyle for our next generation."

She noted "Since I have no financial interest in Project Respect, by definition there can be no conflict of interest."

Levin said currently, compliance with the Illinois Governmental Ethics Act is voluntary, but legislation he is introducing proposes, in part, that the Attorney General, in determining whether a legislator has a conflict of interest shall consider "Whether the legislator has an ownership interest in, serves as an officer or board member of or is otherwise directly involved with an entity, that makes up a substantial portion of those entities that have a direct financial interest or are otherwise directly affected by the legislative matter."

He said co-sponsors of the legislation would be announced.

Pro football coach Don Shula once went into a movie theater in Maine. The lights were still on as he walked in. The spread-out audience applauded and he was amazed at his recognition in the remote Maine town. When he commented to the man sitting next to him the man said, "Hell, I don't know who you are, but the movie operator said the film wouldn't begin until there were ten people in the theater."

State Senator Walter Dudycz (R-7th) has declined to attend, but challengers Curt Edlund, of Park Ridge, and Sal Terrova, of Chicago, will participate on the Republican side. Candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senator, Ronald Gibbs, has signed on and James McGing has indicated he will try to attend, a source said. Both men are Chicagoans.

Even though the incumbent office holders chose not to take part, "I believe voters have a right to be informed," stated Judy Snow, president of the Park Ridge League of Women Voters. She emphasized the League is non-partisan.

barked on a major water project, the Ballard/Cumberland reservoir/pumping station; it refinanced the Lawrencewood Tax Increment Financing (TIF) debt; and computer hardware and software were initiated in his department.

Karshna came to the Niles administration after serving as treasurer and comptroller for a small town in Milwaukee County, Wisconsin. A city of Milwaukee native, Karshna and his wife Christine have two sons, one at Niles Township, West High School, another at Culver Middle School.

Thinking back on the longer hours his department workers routinely kept, Karshna insists, "When you hear about municipal employees being lazy, you never saw it in Niles."

Preparing Niles' annual budget was the most hectic of times, he remembers his financial post as one of diversity in which "every day was an adventure; there was always some type of project."

During his tenure, Niles changed its water meters; environmentalist Lou Gold will present "Slides and Stories of the Oregon Wilderness" on Tuesday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center of Oakton Community College, 1600 E. Golf rd., Des Plaines.

Noted for his speaking and storytelling abilities, Gold will outline the importance of the remaining old-growth forests in the United States and will discuss mismanagement of this irreplaceable resource by the U.S. Forest Service.

A former professor of politics and American government at Oberlin College, Gold became a wilderness activist in 1983. In the summers, Gold retreats to a mountaintop sanctuary in Oregon where he conducts a vigil deep within the still-endangered North Kalmiopsis Roadless Area.

During the rest of the year, he directs the Siskiyou Regional Education Project and speaks to audiences across the country. "The Register Guard" newspaper in Eugene, Oregon, called Gold "...a hermit who comes down from his mountain every year to sow seeds of ecological idealism across the country."
