Sheridan wins top spot on Niles Park Board ballot

Richard Patrick (Rick) Sheridan won top spot in a lottery determining ballot positions for Niles Park Board candidates Feb. 17. He will be followed by current Board President Carol Panek, Myrna Breitzman, James Hynes and Commissioner Bud

Skaja, Jr. The lottery was needed because the five candidates were in line when Park District doors opened for candidacy filing Feb. 17. Candidate Michael Cielinski, the current Park Board Treasurer, was not in the lottery and remains in the sixth slot on the ballot for the April 20 election. The six candidates are contesting for three board openings. Park District Attorney Gabe Berrafato was on hand for the drawing as were Commissioner

District 71 receives transportation bids

by Ben Rieck

Included in the bid package for School District 71 students' transportation, which was approved at the Board of Education meeting February 16, is the new requirement of seat belts.

District Superintendent Eugene Zalewski said that this is the first time seat belts will be required. The additional safety feature was strongly required last year, but the 1993-94 school year will be the first year that it will be mandatory, he added.

The bid will also include the Village of Niles plans Illinois Supreme Court appeal

Court upholds Niles Parks on referendum

by Sheilya Hackett

The Cook County Appeals Court on Feb. 23 decided in favor of the Niles Park District regarding a Nov. 3 dissolution referendum. But Niles Mayor Nicholas Blase lost no time in declaring the Village would appeal the decision to the Illinois Supreme Court. He said the number of signatures on the referendum petition was appropriate, but a map used in delineating the District boundaries was insufficient.

Announcing the court decision following a special Park Board meeting for a bond issuance Tuesday night, Park Attorney Gabe Berrafato said the decision sustained the District's petition...

He referred to a Village appeal still pending, on a Circuit Court ruling that there were insufficient votes to dissolve the Park District in the referendum. Circuit Court Judge Marjen Staniec on Nov. 30 ruled that even though voters indicated by a two to one margin the District should be dissolved, the total vote did not equal a majority of the total number of votes cast in the election that day, nor

On the Other Hand

by Diane Miller

Last week the Niles Park Board reluctantly granted permission for Niles Events to hold their annual festival on the grounds of Golf Mill Park again. The park board commissioners stipulated liability insurance and protective fencing would be required.

Golf Mill Park is currently undergoing a $475,000 renovation, which is approximately what the Niles Park District paid for the land when it was originally purchased. Part of the facelift involves an underground sprinkling system, picnic shelter and landscaping.

We can understand the park's concern. Heavy trucks bringing in carnival rides and thousands of people trampling the newly renovated grounds is a major problem.

But there are other concerns. The cost to Niles taxpayers is approximately $10,000 for the added police, firemen and public services needed for the five day event. Additionally, the police have to deal with an element that is often attracted to these carnivals, namely gangbangers and drug dealers.

The police department spends all year trying to keep these urban problems from becoming suburban problems and then we sponsor a community event that attracts these same problems.

Harlem Ave. drivers face construction slow-down

by Sheilya Hackett

Four to five weeks of construction slow-down face motorists driving on Harlem Avenue, south of Touhy Avenue, Niles.

The construction work is tying in Niles water supply with a Chicago water main. It will give Niles an alternate water supply line and also bring in extra water to sell to unincorporated Maine Township through the North Suburban Public Utility Company (NSPUC).

February 17, Niles Public Services Director Jan Noriega said two traffic lanes, one north bound, the other south bound, will be affected until March 22. The incoming water supply will travel via a main from the southwest side of Harlem Avenue, Chicago, through a meter vault constructed last fall on the east side of Harlem, on an easement adjacent to Niles College granted by the Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago.

Democrats plan fundraiser

The Maine Township Democratic Slate will have a fundraiser Sunday, Feb. 28, at the home of Tony and Sue DeCarlo, 732 S. Delphia, Park Ridge, beginning at 2 p.m. Tickets cost $25.

Butler, Jr., John Halverson, John Matuszak and Lill White for trustees, Norine Murphy for clerk, Rob Festenstein for highway commissioner and Robert Mucci for collector. Wine and cheese will be served.

Unlike the Republicans, there will be no big-name politicians at the fundraiser.

Township GOP files slate

Skaja explains "no" vote on Park budget

by Sheilya Hackett

Park Commissioner Bud Skaja, Jr. was the only "no" vote when other Commissioners approved the District's 1993 Budget of $7.2 million last week. February 22, he outlined his objections.

Primarily, he spoke of frustration because golf course fees were raised 20 percent over last year. He said he had hoped to lower them. He speculated residential golf fees have risen 35 percent and non-residents 40 percent, in the last two years.

But statistics provided by the Park District show a resident playing golf on weekdays at Tam in 1991 paid $5.75; with the 1993 fees, he will pay $8.00, a 28 percent increase. Seniors pay less.

Niles Parks sell $864,000 in bonds

by Sheilya Hackett

The Niles Park Board held a special meeting Feb. 23 to announce the sale of $864,000 in roll over, general obligation bonds to Mesirov Financial Services, Inc., its financial consultant. Mesirov, in turn, will reoffer the bonds to Manufacturers Trust, New York at 4.10 percent, and a second maturity at 4.5 percent in December, 1997. Over the four year, nine month term of the bond, it will cost $1,012,207, with interest, according to Mesirov representative, Peter Koukos.

Hynes mails homeowner exemptions

Cook County Assessor Thomas C. Hynes announced that 1992 Homeowner Exemption applications have been mailed to almost 970,000 Cook County homeowners.

The exemption can save qualified homeowners from $200 to $500 in property taxes on bills payable this summer. The exact amount saved will depend on the local tax rate.

Hynes said that people should complete the application by signing and returning it to the assessor's office by March 22.

The Homeowner Exemption is for owners of single-family homes, condominiums, cooperatives, or apartment buildings up to six units. The property must have been occupied by the current or previous owner as a principal residence as of January 1, 1992.

The youths, Joshua Cadieux and Jon Peracki, pleaded innocent to the charges. A pre-trial hearing is set for March 17.

A 16 year old Chicago boy also is being detained in connection with the stabbing. He has been charged with attempted murder, aggravated battery and felony hate crime. A hearing Feb. 23 to determine if he should be tried as an adult was continued to March 26.

Funeral services held for Joseph DiMaria

Joseph P. DiMaria, a long-time resident of Niles, died Feb. 19 in Riverside, CA.

Mr. DiMaria was president of the Niles Lions Club in 1957-58 and a former member of the board of the Niles Park District. He also was active on the committee of several Niles Days.

Mr. DiMaria is survived by his wife, Johanna; two brothers, Matthew and Frank; two sisters, Margaret Zeigehorn and Rose Matio; and many nieces and nephews.

Oakton Community College (OCC) Board of Trustees President, Thomas TenHoeve began the February 16 board meeting with good news about student enrollment. Based on the official test day, the number of students enrolled in credit courses is 11,617. This number not only represents a five percent increase, it sets an all time record high for the school. Additionally, students in some non-credit courses are counted by the State of Illinois for reimbursement, increasing that number to 14,897, also a record high.

Unfortunately, due to government budgetary problems, while OCC may be eligible for these state funds, it is possible they will not actually be received. In response, not only to problems in receiving government funding, but to all the other current financial concerns, the Board is looking very carefully and cautiously at budget plans for the coming year.

President TenHoeve also noted that the Government Finance Association has awarded OCC with the Distinguished Budget Award. This is a major accomplishment, especially as a similar award was granted for last year's Annual Report. Vice-President of Business and Finance, David Hilquist, and all those who work with him were commended by the Board for this significant achievement.

The Academic report was given to Margaret Lee, Vice President of Curriculum and Instruction. She spoke about the Tech-Prep program that Oakton offers in conjunction with the high schools in the district. The program allows students who take high school classes in architectural Continued on Page 30

Seek prostate cancer victims for study

Urologists at Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center are seeking men with prostate cancer to participate in a study to determine the effectiveness of cryosurgery - a technique which freezes cancer cells in the prostate gland.

A recent study of 100 men with prostate cancer found that freezing the prostate gland eliminated cancer in 85 percent of the patients treated.

Freezing the prostate does not require surgery and eliminates complications associated with surgery, such as incontinence, impotence and a long convalescence period. "If the technique proves successful in the long term, it may be an ideal alternative to radical prostatectomy, the standard treatment for prostate cancer in which the prostate is surgically removed," Dr. McKiel says.

During cryosurgery, needles are inserted through the skin into the prostate by physicians using ultrasound scanning instruments as guides. Probes with tips cooled by liquid nitrogen are inserted into the gland through the needles, freezing the prostate to death. The dead tissue is eventually absorbed by the body. The procedure takes two hours and is done with general anesthesia. Patients usually return to their regular activities in a week.

The study is scheduled to begin in mid-February. It is open to men who have prostate cancer. Prior to being accepted into the study, each candidate will undergo diagnostic tests to ensure the presence of prostate cancer. These tests include a PSA blood test which measures prostate specific antigen protein secreted by cancer cells, transrectal ultrasound, bone scan, lymph nodes evaluation and prostate biopsy.

Once accepted into the study, participants will be followed on an outpatient basis. During regular visits to Rush, participants will repeat the PSA test, transrectal ultrasound, prostate biopsy and urinalysis to determine if the cancer has been eliminated. The first visit will be scheduled one week after discharge. Participants will then return every three months.

Men in the study will be responsible for the cost of the procedure and follow-up. For more information, call the Rush Department of Urology at (312) 829-1820, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and ask for Perri Spangler, study coordinator.

CHOLESTEROL SCREENING
Cholesterol has become a household word in the American vocabulary. Yet, as much as cholesterol's effect on health may be on our minds, this knowledge has not dramatically affected our eating habits - they typical American diet still consists of 40 percent fat. To reduce blood cholesterol levels - and the associated risk of heart disease - experts recommend reducing fat intake to 30 percent or less of daily caloric consumption and exercising daily. But making changes in diet and exercise patterns and sticking to them can be difficult, especially for seniors, whose lifestyles are often firmly established. A clinic for cholesterol screening will be held from 9 to 11 a.m. on Tuesday, March 2 in the Flickinger Senior Center. The quick and simple test will give an accurate blood cholesterol measurement in just three minutes. For Morton Grove seniors (age 65+) there is a discounted fee of $3 for the screening and $4 for those under 65 or non-residents.

Battle of the Books competition continues

Washington School's Battle of the Books team recently defeated Our Lady of Ransom School's team 130-117. Washington's team was led by Captain Genuine Pyn, and included Susie Lee, Milena Tomovic, Rachel Friedlieb and Abby Karh. After five battles, Washington leads all participating schools in cumulative point totals.

Battle of the Books is a program sponsored by the Niles Public Library. The public library furnishes participating schools with lists of books for students to read. Each school's members form teams and compete against other school's teams for points. The competitions consist of Niles Public Library staff members asking questions about books on the reading list. Each team must provide the correct book title and author. The team which racks up the highest cumulative score after seven battles wins the championship. The battles take place at the Niles Public Library. Battles begin at 4:00 p.m.

Various fundraisers, including a kick-a-thon, bake sales, pom pon clinics, and a powder puff football game helped to raise the $600 necessary for each girl to attend. Twenty of the twenty-one squad members participated with sponsor Sarell Hesser.

St. Paul plans open house

St. Paul Lutheran School in Skokie will have an Open House on Sunday, March 7, from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. The school is located at Galitz Street and Lincoln Avenue, just one block south of Oakton Street.

St. Paul has been offering a quality Christian education for over 90 years. The school is fully accredited, provides outstanding academic programs for pre-school through eighth grade, and has a teacher/student ratio of 20:1. A full range of athletics, band, choir, and computer education is offered. Bus service to many neighboring Chicago and suburban communities is available.

For additional information, stop by the Open House or call the school office at (708) 673-5030.

The varsity squad placed third in the regional, qualifying for upcoming state-level competition scheduled at the Illinois State University campus.

Maine East's varsity cheerleaders are Paula Agnello of Park Ridge, Daniela Baldo of Niles, Vicky Bergeron of Niles, Daisy Castleman of Des Plaines, Marie Esquivel of Niles, Kathy Loftus of Niles, Irma Majait of Des Plaines, Kristy Ramos of Morton Grove, Patty Ramos of Morton Grove, Nicole Rubio of Des Plaines, Melissa Sanchez of Niles, Randi Stein of Morton Grove, and Katie Weymer of Glenview.

District 207 students use Homework Hotline

By the beginning of December, 77 percent of the students at Maine West had called Homework Hotline at least once according to a recent survey. A substantial number of students also have become regular callers with 36 percent of all students reporting that they call at least once a week.

The tendency of students to call the Hotline is related to their academic level. Although a majority of all students, whether accelerated, regular, or remedial have called the Hotline at least once, the percentage is greatest among accelerated students. Among students with one or more accelerated classes, 84 percent have called, compared with 74 percent with all regular classes, and 57 percent with one or more remedial or special education classes.

Students reported that the Hotline has had a major impact on the quantity of homework that they do. Compared with last year, about one third reported that they do more homework now whether they are in accelerated, regular, remedial or special education classes.

Homework Hotline, which is being piloted at the school this year, allows students who are absent from school or who forget their assignments to call for their homework that is due the next day.

By giving parents a window through which they can look into classes and see the kinds of instructional activities that are taking place, the Hotline also helps parents become more active participants in the education of their children.

ONE OF THE REASONS WE CALL THEM SMART BUSINESS LOANS.™

When John Nixon of Nixon Printing wanted to purchase state-of-the-art equipment for his operation, First of America Bank helped with a Smart Business Loan. Because smart business people know the time has never been better to take advantage of low interest rates. And they're making their move.

Phil Duncan,
Vice President,
First of America

First of America knows that by helping businesses succeed, we help the economy and the community. Nixon Printing's new equipment, for example, will not only create new jobs, local contractors will have work upgrading their building as well. And we can't measure the value of that investment in monetary terms alone.

Since the beginning of 1992, we've loaned $600 million through our Smart Business Loan program. And we're ready to lend even more in the next few months.

First of America has always had a philosophy of supporting the communities we serve. So we work hard at providing competitive, customized commercial loan packages to local businesses.

If you think your business could benefit from a Smart Business Loan, call any of our First of America Bank offices listed below. You'll find that Smart Business Loans can give you a way to get things moving.

Legion Auxiliary salutes chaplains

The month of February is highlighted by the Morton Grove American Legion Post #134 and its Auxiliary Unit as a salute to four chaplains who were life savers 50 years ago, dying when the USS Dorchester sank.

A chapel has been dedicated to the four who attended to the need for saving others' lives when the convoy bound for Greenland had trouble keeping its zig zag course.

At 1 a.m. on Feb. 3, 1943, the ship was targeted and hit in the hull by a German torpedo, which killed hundreds instantly. Of the purported 902 Americans on board, 672 died.

Confusion and chaos abounded everywhere reports Aux. Pres. Mrs. Kay Larson. One soldier in particular was reported to have told those aboard, "I can't swim and I don't have a life jacket."

The four chaplains, each of different faiths, directed soldiers to life boats and then gave up their own life jackets.

Survivors testify that at the last sight of the Dorchester the Revs. George Fox and Clark Poling, ministers; Rabbi Alexander Goode and priest, Rev. John P. Washington, had linked arms together and lead the remainder of service personnel on board in a final prayer. As the water closed in, they were never to be seen again.

The two Protestant ministers, the rabbi and the Catholic priest are honored each year by the government and those still in the service of our country, but in addition, memorialized by American Legion Posts and the women of their Auxiliary.

Morton Grove Post Commander Hal Fritze further states that Rabbi Goode had received a medical degree but followed his father's footsteps in becoming a rabbi. Fr. Washington was remembered for his Irish grin and the characteristic of "sticktoitiveness". Rev. Fox was 5'7" and described as "the little minister". He was an accountant before entering the ministry. Rev. Poling was the seventh generation of his family to become a minister. It was reported he wanted to go to war carrying a gun instead of a Bible.

Fr. Washington is additionally remembered laughing and singing along with the prayers to comfort those who couldn't reach life boats as the ship went down.

Stop Crime!

CONSUMER ALERT

by Attorney General Roland W. Burris

Q: I've been seeing quite a few newspaper ads and store window signs that advertise greatly reduced prices on merchandise because the retailer is going out of business. I was wondering if there are any laws in Illinois which govern these liquidation sales?

A: Yes, the Illinois Fraudulent Sales Act requires that any person conducting a going out of business sale must first obtain a license from the clerk of the city, village, or township in which the sale is to be conducted. The license is good for 60 days and renewable for an additional 30 days.

The license application, which is designed to prevent businesses from misleading consumers about price, quality and ownership of goods offered for sale, requires detailed information about the nature of the sale and the merchandise offered for sale.

Consumers should also know that by law, a copy of the license must be posted on the front door of the store and a complete list of inventory be posted inside the store. Each license is assigned a number and that number must appear in all advertisements relating to the sale.

Further information about the requirements for going out of business sales is available at the local municipality or the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office.

Designing a fire escape plan for the family

The chances of surviving a fire are greater if families are prepared. A fire escape plan is essential to that preparation. Before developing one, be certain everything has been done to prevent a fire.

To create a fire escape plan, do the following:

- Include the entire family in preparations.
- Map out two escape routes from every room.
- Purchase the chain ladders for exiting from above the first floor.
- Make sure that windows can be quickly opened in the event it is necessary to exit a fire.
- Discuss and agree on what to do with a pet if fire breaks out; there may not be enough time to save a pet.
- Designate a place outside the home where family members can meet after escaping from a fire.
- In a fire, crawl low on the floor with mouth and nose covered with a cloth or towel until exit is possible.
- Go to the designated meeting place and stay put; do not go back inside!
- Hold family fire drills, and practice how to exit in case of a fire.

"HELPED WRITE
THE NEW JOINT CUSTODY LAW"

Police News

Ryan presents 'Future Access'

Beginning July 1, randomly selected Illinois vehicle owners will have the option of using a new technology to purchase a license plate renewal sticker over the phone, Secretary of State George H. Ryan said today.

Ryan announced the pilot project at the 1993 Chicago Auto Show while unveiling a hands-on exhibit called "Future Access," which gave visitors a glimpse of the future in obtaining government services.

Highlighting the three-part exhibit was a display called "Touch-Tone Renewal," which let Auto Show visitors experiment with the registration renewal system Ryan's office plans to begin on a pilot basis in the summer.

Showgoers were invited into a living room setting, where they relaxed on a couch, dialed a toll-free 800-number and, using fake credit card, completed a mock license plate sticker renewal.

"Touch-Tone Renewal" and the entire "Future Access" exhibit showcase ways that my office could deliver service in a more cost-effective and convenient manner," Ryan said.

The exhibit was underwritten by Ameritech, Harris Bank and Trust, NBS Imaging System, Inc., Phoenix Interactive Inc. and NCR Corp., a subsidiary of AT&T. It also included an interactive kiosk and a display related to new drivers license technology.

The kiosk, which was being tested for public acceptance during the show, also was programmed to conduct mock sticker sales as well as distribute information on secretary of state facilities in the Chicago area. The same technology also could be used to accept payment for parking tickets, orders for special vehicle plates and the filing of corporate documents.

The final component of "Future Access" is new technology that can produce a digitized driver's

This technology would enable the secretary of state's office to keep drivers' photos on file, as a service primarily to law enforcement agencies.

The pilot program will run through December, including from 750,000 to one million vehicle owners. The effort will help Ryan's office gauge the public's willingness to use the service and determine the cost and other implications of offering the service permanently.

People choosing to use the touch-tone renewal service will pay a slight convenience charge, which will appear on their credit card bills.

The service will be provided through an independent contractor, Harris Bank and Trust of Chicago, one of the state's largest credit card processors. Harris Bank is working with two subcontractors on the project, Ameritech Audiotex Services Inc. and Insol Corp.

Forest Hospital accredited by Healthcare Joint Commission

The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations recently announced it has renewed its accreditation status for Forest Hospital.

"The Joint Commission accreditation reflects the dedication and commitment to quality mental healthcare that has always been the hallmark of Forest Hospital," said Administrator Denise Frank. "Forest Hospital has always been at the forefront in providing innovative, cost-effective mental healthcare for the immediate community, and we will continue with that pledge in the years to come."

The Commission based its decision on a survey completed by the hospital. The Commission is comprised of these parent organizations: The American Medical Association, the American Hospital Association, the American College of Surgeons, the American College of Physicians and the American Dental Association.

Serving the northwest suburbs for more than 35 years, Forest Hospital is a private psychiatric facility offering treatment programs for children, adolescents and adults suffering from mental or emotional disorders. The hospital also offers comprehensive programs for eating disorders, dual diagnosis, substance abuse and partial hospitalization, as well as a range of outpatient services.

Lupus Support Group

A support group for those who suffer from Lupus is just a phone call away. For more information about local chapters, call their toll-free number at 1-800-2LUPUS2 or (312) 779-3181.

Reporter speaks on street safety

WGN-radio crime reporter Larry Schreiner will speak on "Street Safety Through the Eyes of the Media" at the next meeting of the New York Club of Swedish Covenant Hospital on Tuesday, March 2, at 6:30 p.m. in the Anderson Pavilion, 2751 W. Winona.

Schreiner, who is also a former Chicago police officer, will share what he has learned about street safety during his many years of reporting crime in the city.

The New Voice Club is a support group which helps laryngectomies and their families through education, information and sharing. The meetings are free and open to all appropriate persons. Coffee, cake and conversation follow each meeting. For more information call Sheila Derman, club moderator and manager of the SCH Speech Pathology department, at 878-8200, X5305. An information session for new members will begin at 5:30 p.m.

Doctor delivers benefit lecture

Philip Thorek, M.D., the noted physician, lecturer, author, speaker and medical director of Thorek Hospital and Medical Center, will deliver a benefit lecture at 7 p.m. on March 10 at the hospital. The subject, "Medicine: Then and Now," is based on the life of Sir William Osler, the late Canadian-born physician and co-founder of Johns Hopkins Hospital who was knighted by England.

The much-honored Dr. Thorek, whose family established Thorek hospital, will focus on the holistic style of medicine practiced by Dr. Osler that today's bottom-line oriented medicine has nearly forgotten. Dr. Thorek still believes the doctor must listen to and spend time with the patient while making a diagnosis.

"Doctors don't talk to their patients anymore. For too many, the first question is 'What's your insurance?'" To them, claims Dr. Thorek, "it's a business, not a scientific art."

A $75 donation to the Thorek Foundation covers the lecture and an 8 p.m. reception. The lecture is dedicated to the memory of Alma Goldfinger, wife of Dr. David Goldfinger, a long-time member of the Thorek medical staff.

For information and reservations, call (312) 975-6801.

Rush's critical care unit will be state-of-the-art

Rush North Shore's Gross Point Addition for outpatient, critical care and surgical services will contain state-of-the-art critical care units designed to provide comfort along with technologically advanced care for patients.

Critical Care nurses are excited about the impending move to the building in March.

"The Gross Point Addition means our patients will have a private room with a pleasant environment," says Sue Brown, nurse manager of the ICU. "Critical care rooms will utilize a heat lamp over each bed in order to maintain adequate patient body temperature, and a headwall system over each bed will allow the staff to individualize the support technology required to meet patient needs."

"Also, the Gross Point addition has been designed so most necessary diagnostic tests and most procedures can be conducted in the patient's own room, thus sparing the patient the inconvenience and discomfort of being taken elsewhere. In addition, the intensive care units are strategically located next to the operating room to provide convenience and maximum care."

Ms. Brown says that the Rush North Shore critical care unit will have an open door policy in which family members can visit at almost any time. "This is an unusual policy for such units," Ms. Brown says. When family members and friends cannot be with the patient, they will have a comfortable waiting area in which to sit. The waiting area has cable television and affords natural light through large windows. It is conveniently located next to the critical care units and operating rooms. "We are extremely proud of the way the Gross Point Addition has been designed to provide comfortable and effective care," says Ms. Brown. "Our new facility will offer patients and their families the most modern health-care environment available anywhere."

Ms. Brown, who received a bachelor of nursing degree from Barat College in Lake Forest, says she became a nurse because she has always been intrigued with medicine and enjoys working with people. She has been at Rush North Shore since September 1991. She previously worked at Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center for 10 years. Ms. Brown lives in Highland Park with her husband and two small children.

Volunteers in the study will receive one of three treatments: 0.5 milligrams of ondansetron; 2 milligrams of ondansetron; or a placebo. At the end of the four-month trial, all volunteers will have the option of taking the drug.

Researchers investigate Alzheimer's treatment

A medication used to control the side effects of chemotherapy in the treatment of cancer may prove useful in slowing memory loss caused by Alzheimer's disease, according to investigators at Loyola University Medical Center, Chicago.

Patients diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease are being sought for the study, which involves taking oral doses of the drug ondansetron during a four-month period.

Ondansetron currently is used to control nausea in patients receiving powerful anti-cancer medications. Earlier studies indicate the drug may prevent a buildup in the brain of a natural chemical known as serotonin, which plays a role in memory retention.

Alzheimer's disease is a progressive, degenerative brain disease that impairs memory, thinking and behavior. It afflicts about four million Americans and kills more than 100,000 people a year, according to the Alzheimer's Association.

Serotonin normally facilitates thought processes in the brain by enabling cells to "communicate" with each other, said Dr. Gastone Celesia, chairman of Loyola's neurology department. However, excessive amounts of the chemical may actually decrease a person's memory capabilities.

Ondansetron may block the memory-destroying activities of the excessive serotonin in Alzheimer's patients. At the same time, the drug itself contains a compound that is known to have an important part in the memory process and may increase memory when added to the brain, Celesia said.

Volunteers in the study will receive one of three treatments: 0.5 milligrams of ondansetron; 2 milligrams of ondansetron; or a placebo. At the end of the four-month trial, all volunteers will have the option of taking the drug.

People interested in taking part in the study may call Amy Perrin-Ross at (708) 216-8408.

The meeting will be held in the Doctors' Dining Room at Evanston Hospital, 2650 Ridge Avenue, Evanston, IL.

This is an opportunity to hear Dr. Salinger speak on a subject that is so close to the thoughts of many people, directly or indirectly.

'Flowers As Art' exhibit returns

Valuable centuries old art will be brought to life with dramatic floral arrangements in the annual "Flowers as Art" show at Loyola University Chicago's Martin D'Arcy Gallery of Art.

The D'Arcy Gallery has one of the area's finest collections of medieval, baroque and renaissance art. The gallery is located in Loyola's Cudahy Memorial Library on the Lake Shore Campus, 6525 N. Sheridan Rd., Chicago. Hours for the "Flowers as Art" show are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission is $4; no charge for students.

Now in its thirteenth year, the annual "Flowers as Art" show is the creation of florists Medard Lange, Kathryn Hardich, and Susan McGuire of Crest of Fine

Flowers. Drawing upon the museum's varied collection of precious paintings, sculptures and other fine art objects, the florists transform the D'Arcy Gallery into a "living museum" with exhibits designed to highlight the special shapes, colors and designs of those pieces on display.

Begun in 1989 with a single painting by Giovanni Bellini, the D'Arcy Gallery's collection now includes more than 140 works dating from 1100 A.D. to 1700 A.D. The gallery ranks among the nation's top collegiate art galleries, and its collection is valued at several million dollars. For further information call, (312) 508-2679.

Loyola presents dramatic art symposium

An upcoming Loyola University Chicago symposium will focus on "Dramatic Art: Creative Power for Peace and Justice," February 25 - March 7. This is the second in a series of two Loyola symposia focusing on dramatic art that includes multiple performances of a play, a dramatic reading, audience discussions and guest speakers.

The central focus of this symposium will be Arms and the Man, George Bernard Shaw's classic drama about war in the setting of a love story. According to director John Trahey, chairperson of Loyola's theatre department, in Arms and the Man, Shaw's sanitizing of the battle in the Balkans (still in progress today) satirizes the notion of war as a noble enterprise.

The play will be performed in Loyola's Kathleen Mullady Theatre in the Centennial Forum at the Lake Shore Campus, 6525 N. Sheridan Rd., Chicago, Feb. 25-28 and March 4-7. Friday and Saturday performances are at 8 p.m., Sundays at 2 p.m. Post-performance discussion sessions will follow shows on Feb. 25, 7:30 p.m., March 5, 8 p.m., and March 7, 2 p.m.

In addition, there will be a public reading of "No Other Gods," an original script by Rev. Willard Jabusch of the University of Chicago at 9:30 a.m. with an audience discussion to follow. "No Other Gods" tells the story of the only person in Austria to conscientiously object to forced conscription into the German army during the Hitler regime.

The symposium is free and open to the public. General admission for the play is $5. For further information call (312) 508-3830.

Present 'The Gathering' for Easter

"The Gathering" an annual Easter remembrance, will be presented Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m., March 12 through April 10 at the Theatre Shoppe, 2636 N. Lincoln Ave. in Chicago. Tickets are $10 and reservations can be made by calling (312) 477-8022.

"The Gathering" depicts the untold story of the last hour of The Last Supper. As 12 men and The Teacher share in The Last Supper, a dispute arises over who will be in charge after Jesus states he won't be around much longer. ("Who among them should rank the highest," Luke: 22:24). The result is a "roast" for Jesus, complete with humor, jealousy and some very serious discourse.

"The Gathering" is based on a concept of Josephine Raciti Forsberg. The script is written by Rolf Forsberg and additional dialogue written by Ms. Forsberg and Eric Forsberg.

and Patrick Casey, Ph.D., an associate professor of English at Loyola and an expert on Anglo-Irish literature. Berigan will discuss art as a tool for peace, and Casey will focus his remarks on Arms and the Man.

An audience discussion period and a panel discussion will follow moderated by Rebecca Manery, art-education director of the Court Theatre at the University of Chicago. Panelists will include Loyola faculty members Trahey, Thomas Wren (philosophy), James McCann, S.J. (political science), William C. French (theology) and Mary Evelyn Jegen of Pax Christi International. A reception will conclude the symposium.

The symposium is free and open to the public. General admission for the play is $5. For further information call (312) 508-3830.

Doors will open at 1:30 p.m. and showtime is 2:30 p.m. Movie begins at 3:30 p.m. There will be only one presentation of this very special show.

Letters To The Editor

Challenges impartiality of Berrafato, Greenberg

Dear Editor:

Illinois law requires established political parties to hold primaries or totally reconstitute themselves for each election. The Act-On Party has failed to do either and appears to be in direct violation of the law. Their transparent ruse of merely changing the party name while leaving the rest of the party structure intact was challenged last Tuesday, by my filing objections to the Act-On Party candidates' nominating petitions.

It is somewhat ironic that the Act-On Party/Action Party, which has consistently tried to deny other parties access to the ballot through lawsuits based on trivial technicalities, now finds itself defending their attempt to subvert the law and deny voters the right to a primary, in order to secure a place on the ballot.

The appointment of Gabriel Berrafato as the Electoral Board's Attorney and Trustee Greenberg as the Chairman of the Electoral Board now causes me to despair whether my objections will be given the fair hearing which is guaranteed under the law.

Mr. Berrafato, circulated, signed and notarized the nominating petitions being challenged before the Electoral Board, which he is now representing. Not only is this clearly a "conflict of interest," but Mr. Berrafato will also be billing the Village for his time, and you know who pays for this in the end, we the taxpayers.

Trustee Greenberg, in turn, also circulated the Act-On Party petitions and is a member of the same political party whose petitions are being ruled upon by the very board for which he is now to act as chairman. The principles of justice and due process, and the concept of fair play would dictate in favor of having an unbiased and impartial tribunal rule on such important and constitutionally protected rights. One would think that our elected officials would want to do all that they could to foster and protect those constitutional rights they swore to uphold and at least attempt to find a neutral panel to pass on such a lawful challenge. Perhaps these officials have been in office so long that they have lost touch with common sense and the people who elected them.

Sincerely,
John Hagen
Morton Grove

Appreciates thoughtfulness of others

Dear Editor,

I want to openly thank everyone who sent me such thoughtful cards, beautiful flowers, lovely gifts and especially for all of their prayers during my recent illness. I will keep these sentiments in my heart forever. I also want to urge everyone to never stop what you are doing: putting a lot of sunshine into an ill person's life when they truly need it.

An ill or injured person can receive physical treatment but that is not all they need to get. They also thrive on the concerns of people that remember them and mentally, this certainly adds to the healing process.

A special thanks to the following organizations: Senior Citizens, Leaning Tower YMCA; All American Club Trident Center; Brunswick Bowling Alley; Grandmother's Club of Niles; Father John Hennessey, Pastor, St. Isaac Jogues Church; Eucharistic Ministry/Parishioners of St. Isaac Jogues Church; Eucharistic Ministry of St. Zachary Church; The Parishioners of Our Lady of Ransom.

Again, thank you. God Bless you all - each and everyone of you.

Wanda Kennedy

Some dos and don'ts for successful investing

by Jeffrey Cardella
Edward D. Jones & Co.
8143 N. Milwaukee Ave.
Niles, IL 60714, (708) 470-8953

There is no magic formula for selecting winning stocks or stock mutual funds, but if you asked the professionals, the following dos and don'ts would probably be among their recommendations.

DON'T be a trader. Traders attempt to take advantage of the market's ups and downs rather than buying a company's stock for its long-term value and growth potential. In-and-out brokerage commissions can be expensive, particularly when added to the taxes on any profits.

DO have patience. Most professional money managers agree that stocks should be bought with the intention of holding them for at least five years. It takes time for some companies to mature or for the stock market to recognize their value.

DON'T invest only in common stocks. Keep cash available to take advantage of buying opportunities and to generate income during periods of non-growth.

DO buy stocks whose price-to-earnings ratios (PEs) are at a discount to the projected earnings growth of the industries. If the average PE in an industry is 20, and the stock you are considering sells at 15 times its current earnings and has a good possibility for future growth, it could be a good one to own. Research firms like Standard & Poor's, Moody's and Value Line provide this information.

DON'T hold on to the common stock of a company that is not developing as you had anticipated. If the company hits a snag and earnings are adversely affected, sell.

DO discipline yourself to sell stocks when they reach a predetermined price you have set based on that company's earnings and growth. If the price rises to a level at which you would no longer buy the stock, that's probably a good time to sell it.

There are periods when extraordinary times and events create market conditions that may tempt investors to stray from their proven strategies. It is times like these, however, when successful investors hold firm to the important aspects of successful investing.

University guild sets brunch

The Park Ridge chapter of the Valparaiso University Guild and AAL Branch #444 will co-sponsor a brunch on Sunday March 7, serving from 9:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. at St. Andrews Lutheran Church, Elm and Northwest Hwy., Park Ridge.

Artist presents wood cuts to guild

The Niles Art Guild will feature Edwin Margolis, a local artist, at their program at the meeting to be held on Wednesday, March 3, at 7:30 p.m., in the Ballard Leisure Center, Room 111, 8320 Ballard Rd.

Edwin Margolis, owner of Emar Studios, a commercial design firm at 4836 W. Main St., Skokie, takes a break from his commercial endeavors and recaptures the charm of old fashioned etchings and wood cuts in his unique original ink drawings featuring farm-scapes, landscapes and other interesting subjects.

Every detail is emphasized, every blade of grass and leaf is drawn individually. All details are made by using a fine pen and each drawing is made up of thousands of minute single pen lines. The various shades of areas are made by overlapping the lines to show light, medium or dark areas.

Everyone is welcome. Coffee and cake will be served.

Trustee Ray Harstein asked about OCC's nanny program. Vice President for Community and Information Services, Carol Davis, explained that it has moved from being a credited program to the MONNACEP division because of limited enrollment.

Although there are significant job opportunities in this area, there has not been as much student interest as OCC would like. The current MONNACEP program is highly regarded, including having been recognized by the British Nanny Association.

A letter of non-renewal for short-term faculty was approved, as was the tenure of six faculty members. Pointing to another concern, Skaja said in spite of an overall drive to reduce District costs, only Parks Superintendent Mike Rea's department of buildings and grounds tightened its belt.

He also takes a different view of bond issuance, he said. He believes bonds should be used for capital improvements, re-doing parks and buildings and not for buying equipment such as office chairs, which should come from the department's operating funds.

Skaja, a Niles businessman, has served four years on the Park Board and seeks reelection, even though he advocated Park District dissolution. Asked if he hoped to trim District expenditures if reelected, he replied "That's the biggest thing I'm pushing for."

The Association wants to make contact with these men and women, to inform them of the Association benefits. The Association is not just a social organization, although many old buddies have been located and friendships renewed through the process.

Hynes ...

Continued from Page 3 "Senior citizens will automatically receive this exemption if they are scheduled to receive the 1992 Senior Citizen Exemption which was recently mailed," Hynes said.

If a homeowner turned 65 last year or earlier, and has never applied for the Senior Citizen Exemption, Hynes said they should contact his office as soon as possible.

He pointed out that the combined saving from both exemptions for an eligible senior citizen can be from $400 to $700. Last year more than 950,000 homeowners saved over $300 million on the exemption.

Hynes sponsored the Homeowner Exemption while serving as Illinois Senate President and, as assessor, worked to increase its benefits to its present amount.

For further information on applying for these tax exemptions, contact Hynes' main office in the County Bldg., 118 N. Clark, Chicago 60602 (Homeowner Exemption Department, Room 301, (312) 443-7500; Senior Citizen Exemption Department, Room 301, (312) 443-6151), or his branch office.

Assistance is also available at suburban township assessors' offices.

Commenting on the raise, Assistant Park Director Tracy Taylor said the boost in fees was in order to bring Niles golf fees into line with those at nearby nine hole courses. A district survey indicates every area course except Billy Caldwell charges weekday resident players from 50 cents to $1 more than Tam. Caldwell and Tam both charge $8.

$246,000 being offered at a second maturity. Commenting on the bonds, Commissioner Bud Skaja, Jr. asked, "We look real good to (Mesirov) - what's the problem with the banks?" Koukos suggested with the bank tax situation, buying tax exempt bonds such as these is not profitable.

Park Attorney Gabe Berafatto said the banks bid two points higher, but that would have cost the District $60,000. Koukos stressed the bond would not affect the District's tax rate, which at last estimate is approximately .575 percent of the total last known equalized assessed valuation of the District.

Board President Carol Panek said "It is important to plan and invest in the future. If we don't have the money to roof (a building, it will decay) and in six or seven years, property values will go down. Panek said with bond issues, the Board is trying to look into the future for necessities without going to residents with increased taxes.

Replying to Park Board Candidate Myrna Breitzman's query about the definition of capital improvements, Park District Business Manager Ron Mrowiec stated "It is an expenditure of unusual nature, a large amount; it depends on how a governmental unit defines what a capital improvement is. Some are clear cut, such as the ice rink, but you also need capital improvements for roof replacement; you don't have money budgeted for big items."

Koukos noted that while school districts can levy for their building funds, park districts by state law use rollover bonds to maintain property.

Plan pancake breakfast

A pancake breakfast sponsored by Varblomman Children's Club will be held February 27, from 8 a.m. to noon at Ebenezer Lutheran Church, 1650 W. Foster.

Cost for adults is $4; for children, $2.

Other pancake breakfasts will be held on March 27 at Ebenezer Lutheran Church and April 24 at Swedish American Museum.

Also being planned is a Smorgasbord on March 6, from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. at Mayfair Lutheran Church 4335 W. Lawrence at a cost of $9 for advance ticket purchases and $10 at the door; $7.50 for senior citizens and $5 for children under 12. Reservations must be made by March 1.

Second Division seeks Marines

The Second Division Association is searching for all former or present Marines who were ever in or attached to the Second Division. The Second is a highly decorated division, known for its many historical battles and engagements, such as Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Okinawa, the Cuban crisis, Dominican Republic, Lebanon, Grenada and more recently, Panama and Desert Storm.

The Association wants to make contact with these men and women, to inform them of the Association benefits. The Association is not just a social organization, although many old buddies have been located and friendships renewed through the process.

A scholarship fund is set up for dependents of deserving families of former and present Second Division personnel and the Association.

Passages Lecture focuses on Israel

Gary Coleman, educator and social worker, discusses what's new in Israel, as part of the Passages Lecture Series on Tuesday, March 2, from 1 to 2:30 p.m. at Oakton's Ray Harstein Campus, 7701 N. Lincoln Ave., Skokie. A $1 donation is requested.

Coleman was sent to Chicago as an emissary by the World Zionist Organization to inform people about Israel.

Anti-Cruelty renews reimbursement program

The Anti-Cruelty Society is issuing coupons for dollars off spay-neuter procedures for companion animals. This subsidy program is available to all pet owners. The program allows pet owners to receive substantial savings on spays performed by their own veterinarian through discount coupons available at the Society.

The coupons available are valued at $45 discount for dog spay procedure; $30 discount for cat spay procedure/dog neuter procedure and $20 discount for cat neuter procedure.

The coupons will only be available at The Anti-Cruelty Society Shelter, 510 N. LaSalle. Chicago between the hours of noon and 5 p.m. seven days a week. The pet owner must present a picture I.D. and sign the coupon at the front desk.

No coupons will be issued for friends, neighbors, etc. A client may only obtain one coupon. A second will be issued as soon as the first is redeemed. Each coupon will expire one month after the date of issue.

The discount coupons can be used at the veterinarian of your choice, provided that he accepts the coupon. The Society suggests that the client check with his veterinarian to see if the coupons will be accepted.

The program, called the Ruth and Henry Dawson Spay/Neuter Fund was established by a bequest received by the Society four years ago.

Although the terms of the bequest state the principle must remain intact, the interest from this principle will be used as the Society chooses. The Board of Directors wished to establish a program to assist pet owners city wide and decided that this would be a good and proper use of funds. Additional dollars have been donated to the fund by The Lincoln State Cat Club. Last year approximately 6200 animals were altered at a discount due to participation in this program.

The Chicago Veterinary Medical Association and its members have endorsed the program. Veterinarians from throughout the Chicagoland area have agreed to participate in the program again this year.

The fund will be limited based on the amount of earnings generated each year. For information about obtaining coupons call the Shelter at (312) 644-8338.

Thomas Jefferson honored on stamp

On April 13, 1993 a 29-cent definitive postage stamp featuring Thomas Jefferson will be issued in Charlottesville, Va., site of Jefferson's home. The issue date marks the 250th anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson.

The Jefferson stamp was designed by Chris Calle of Ridgefield, Conn. This stamp will be part of the popular Great Americans Series which began ten years ago.

On the Other Hand

Every year after the Niles Events carnival, we get phone calls and letters, mostly from parents and grandparents, who say the carnival ride prices are way out of line. They tell us, "we can't afford to take 3 kids on a 90 second ride at $1.75 a head."

So now it's become an event that attracts an undesirable element, one that's too expensive for families to enjoy and one that costs taxpayers thousands of dollars.

Last year the Niles Events festival netted a $9,000 profit because of rainy weather, but the previous year, they netted $30,000. Local clubs and groups share in the profits, but is it time to call it quits?

In our opinion, the people who have chaired this event have donated hundreds of hours to the community, but carnivals are passe as a community function. A random survey of the people attending would probably reveal less than 10% were from Niles.

It's time to look to a new direction. Niles has become so ethnically diverse in the past 10 years that an International Festival would probably attract more of the locals. What would be more interesting than food and craft booths representing Poland, Greece, Italy, Israel, Korea, Ireland, India, Mexico, Germany, etc.

Bands playing different ethnic music and featuring dancers in costume from the various countries would be both entertaining and educational. All of this would certainly attract Nilesites and while it probably wouldn't raise thousands of dollars, it would be a community get-together.

The contracts have been signed and the plans are firm for the Niles Events Festival in July, but let's start thinking about 1994. It's time for a change.

* The Niles Park District is still playing games with numbers. At last week's board meeting, candidate Myrna Breitzman asked for a total on the number of Needs Assessment surveys returned by residents. Assistant Director Tracy Taylor told Breitzman that 421 surveys or a 17% total were received.

Taylor's 17% figure would be correct if the original 2,500 mailed surveys were counted, but an additional 2,500 were mailed to the same residents. That breaks down to an 8 1/2% return and many of those could possibly be duplicates from residents who sent them in both times.

Let's hope the park district gets a lot of information and new ideas from those 421 surveys. Remember Niles taxpayers, each one of those 421 surveys cost $77.20 of your hard earned dollars.

the majority of registered village voters. Later, Village Attorney Richard Troy elaborated on Tuesday's decision, explaining "You dissolve a park district in the same way you form it...you don't need a survey, but (you) need a map" to outline the District boundaries.

He suggested people should know from their tax bills what district they reside in. In addition, when the submitted map was reduced to letter size, as court documents are, it was too small, he added.

Troy said the Village will "petition for leave to appeal" or ask the Supreme Court to review the decision and should receive a reply within 42 days. If the request is granted, a decision should be reached within six months. He cited statewide application and public interest as some of the criteria the Court would use to determine whether it would hear the case.

Golfers set St. Pat's party

Glenview Men's Golf Club, Junior Golf Community Outreach Committee, will hold its 6th Annual St. Patrick's Party Friday, March 12, at Radisson Suites Hotel, Glenview.

Cost is $20 per person, and includes dinner choice of corned beef or fish, live band, dancing, raffle prizes, silent and live auctions, and a cash bar. Reserve seating is available by March 3.

Contact Lloyd Kuehn, Chairman, for information (708) 965-5210.

Proceeds provide financial support, golf equipment and lessons at Orchard Village, Skokie, Maryville, Des Plaines and Glenview Youth Services, as well as support through sportsmanship awards for golf programs at the high school, junior high and park district levels.

Present 'Me, Eleanor' at MG library

"Me Eleanor," a one-woman play about Eleanor Roosevelt will be performed at the Morton Grove Public Library, 6140 Lincoln Ave. on Tuesday, March 9, at 11:30 a.m.

Marilyn Damall will portray the wife of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in this historically based drama. The program is free and open to the public.

Income Tax Tips

EASING YOUR TAX BURDEN CHANGES CAN AFFECT YOUR TAXES

By Marilyn W. Day IRS District Director for northern Illinois

There are a number of changes which can have an effect on your taxes this year. I'd like to share them with you. One change that will certainly save you time and effort is modification of the tax tables in the Form 1040 instructions. They now cover taxable income up to $100,000, so if you file the Form 1040, you will not have to calculate your taxes if your taxable income is over $50,000 as you did last year. These changes are also outlined in your tax package and in Publication 553, "Highlights of 1992 Tax Changes."

Both the personal exemption and the standard deduction are indexed for inflation and have once again been increased. For 1992, the personal exemption is $2,300 (up from $2,150 for 1991). If you can be claimed as someone else's dependent, you will not be able to take the personal exemption on your own tax return.

There has also been an increase in the standard deduction for 1992 (used by those who do not itemize). The standard deduction for single individuals has been increased to $3,600 from $3,400 last year. For married filing jointly, it has been increased to $6,000 from $5,700. The standard deduction for head of household and married filing separate returns are $5,250 and $3,000 respectively (up from $5,000 and $2,850 last year).

Your standard deduction is more if you are over 65, blind, or both. In addition, some high income individuals may lose all or part of their personal exemptions and deductions. More information is available in Publication 501, "Exemptions, Standard Deductions, and Filing Information." If you are not sure where you fit in, call our information number, 1 (312) 435-1040 or check with your tax advisor.

A number of tax breaks expired on June 30, 1992. Employees who get financial aid for education as a fringe benefit for courses not directly related to their job must pay tax on the aid received after June 30. Self-employed people will not be able to separately deduct 25 percent of their health insurance premium for the period after June 30. These changes are spelled out in greater details in Publication 553 and the instructions for your tax forms.

There is an important change for those of you claiming residence interest deduction involving a seller-financed mortgage. The buyer must now include the seller's name, address and tax identification number on Schedule A, and the seller must include the same information for the buyer on Schedule B.

Another change is in mileage rates. The business mileage rate for 1993 increased to 28 cents. This amount is for all miles driven on business. If you use your car for medical and moving expenses the rate is 9 cents, and for charitable activities, 12 cents; Be sure to keep a log of mileage and expenses in case we ask you for it. Check out Publication 463, "Travel, Entertainment and Gift Expenses" for more information on mileage and other business expenses.

Again this year, medicare and social security taxes will be shown separately on your W-2 forms. If you worked for more than one employer, you may have excess social security tax payments which should be credited to your income tax package if this applies to you. Use the worksheet in your tax package if mentioned, or any of our 100 free publications, call us at 1 (800) 829-3676.
