Niles calls for stricter laws

By Tracey Berk

The Niles Village Board barely passed several amendments to existing ordinances at its meeting Aug. 23.

The amendments came in reference to three ordinances - Parental Responsibility, Possession of Alcohol and School Curfew - and were sparked in response to an announcement by the Northwest Municipal Conference. "The Conference went on record proposing legislation be adopted to have more uniform enforcement of laws concerning alcohol and school," said Trustee Louella Preston. "This way, parents and children will understand that, regardless of where they are, the law is the same."

"These are necessary measures that will enhance enforceability." According to Police Chief Raymond Giovannelli, who addressed the Board regarding each ordinance, Niles' current Parental Responsibility ordinance is more restrictive than the Conference's, except for one condition the

Ex-ND teacher gets new judge in sex abuse case

The former Notre Dame High School teacher charged with aggravated criminal sexual abuse of a 15-year-old student will now be tried by a new judge.

Douglas Williams, 46, of 3636 W. Church in Skokie, was arrested June 3 following allegations from the student that several occurrences of sexual misconduct had taken place, including one instance at the all-boy Catholic school.

Judge Marcia Orr had presided over the case in Skokie District 2 court until Williams' attorney, Patrick Reardon, appeared on Aug. 9 requesting a substitution. According to law, an attorney

Local mayors meet with Sprint/Centel

By Tracey Berk

The Mayors of Niles, Park Ridge, Des Plaines and Mount Prospect met with Sprint/Centel representatives Monday morning in an effort to decide why it was necessary for the telephone company to raise its customers rates 30, 40, even 50 percent.

It was not an extremely productive discussion. "We met with Sprint/Centel and the representatives gave their story as to why they had to raise the rates," said Niles Mayor Nicholas Blase. "After our hour long meeting, there wasn't anyone satisfied with their response."

Sprint/Centel announced last May that telephone bills would increase between $1 and $3 a month, however, when residents opened their bills in June, they found them to have doubled and tripled in size.

The rate hikes affected 120,000 customers and several law suits were filed in response, resulting in a joint suit between the four cities attempting to overturn the rate hike.

"We underestimated the impact our new, per-call rates would bring to many of our customers," said Thomas A. Norman, vice president and general manager of Sprint/Centel. "I want to make it clear that we needed that increase, which the ICC (Illinois Commerce Commission) ap-Schoolbuis.....

The rejection of petitions in School District 63 to place two referenda totaling $8 million on a November ballot is a last ditch end-around play being used by public bodies. After this year public bodies will not be able to pass such an expenditure without voter approval. Niles park board also used the same ploy to approve a one million dollar plus expenditure for a rec building on TAM golf course without seeking voter approval. Next year such action is likely to be restricted by a tax cap.

School District 63 business manager Walter Korpan told us Tuesday morning the $7 to $8 million in ten year bonds were sold this past Tuesday. The appeal period for anyone desiring to protest the rejection of the petitions for placing the issues on a voter's ballot expired Monday.

Korpan said because of the refunding of previous bonds the first four years after the new bond purchase, taxes would likely go down by about 1.5%. Taxes would increase by about 5.5% during the period from the fifth to the tenth years of the life of these new bonds.

An anonymous, disgruntled taxpayer sent us a list of administration salaries at Maine High School. Fifty adminis-

Invalid petitions fail to get bond issue on ballot

By Tracey Berk

Efforts to put an $8 million bond issue on the November ballot are officially over.

The School District 63 Education Officers Electoral Board ruled petitions favoring the issue invalid Aug. 19 following a school board meeting Aug. 18.

The board cited 17 discrepancies against the petitions including the fact that the petitions were not numbered nor bound, as required by Illinois statute, that there were illegible signatures and signatures of unregistered voters.

"(The board) voted in favor of the objectors based on the fact that 1,052 signatures on the petition for $2,500,000 are invalidated for various reasons and that 1,209 signatures were invalidated on the petition for $5,600,000 for various reasons," said petitioner George Smith, a Niles resident who originally submitted the petitions on Aug. 3 to District 63 Superintendent Donald Stetina.

"This, coupled with the discrepancies in the design of the petitions and the failure to number

District 71 Board studies computer use

by Ben Rieck

Phase II of District 71's Technology Plan was presented at the last board of education meeting held Aug. 23.

One of the recommendations that went into the more than 10 months of work on the second step of the plan is a request to have one "floating computer" in each school for classroom use.

"By creating two floating computers, what you have is the ability to do something in the lab and have children be able to follow up on it (in the classroom)," Glenn Grieshaber, principal of the Niles Elementary South School and Technology Committee member, said.

Along with the subject of computer use by the grade levels in the school district came the issue of computer availability and the time students get to use them.

"There are periods of time where it's very hard to get a class scheduled (in the lab) and middle school stays pretty well booked," Sharon Campbell-Zollman, a Technology Committee member, said.

Michelle Gordon (right), Niles resident and group travel assistant for AAA-Chicago Motor Club, recently presented Officer Tom Davis, Niles Police Department, with AAA-CMC's 1994 "School's Open, Drive Carefully" posters. The posters are to remind motorists that children soon will be traveling to and from school, and to drive carefully near schools and other areas where children are present. This is the 47th year that the AAA-Chicago Motor Club has distributed its posters to hundreds of Illinois communities. The week of Aug. 22-26 was proclaimed "School's Open" Week in Illinois by Governor Jim Edgar.

CDBG names Trident Center as next project

By Tracey Berk

The Niles Village Board held a public hearing on Aug. 23 seeking citizen participation and input for the preparation of an application regarding a Community Development Block Grant project change.

Niles Business Coordinator Robert Pilat said that the program is able to transfer money from a previously awarded project that left approximately $250,000 in funds available for other projects.

"Since such a large amount is available," he said, "we propose taking a portion of it to repair and resurface the entire parking lot at the Niles Trident Center."

The plan will utilize $75,000 from the fund for the resurfacing project which will include the entrances, new signage around the lot and line restoration.

According to Pilat, the hearing is required in order to submit an application. There were no comments or objections by members of the Board or audience.

The types of programs that can be considered for funding by the Cook County Community Development Block Grant program are residential rehabilitation, and housing related activities, economic development activities, commercial rehabilitation, capital improvements, real property acquisition, clearance activities, planning activities and public service activities.

"This is a good opportunity to benefit seniors using the Trident Center," Pilat said. "And it will be done in a manner that meets the standards of the Community Development Block Grant program."

New director hired for drop-in center

James Galdikas has been hired as the new director for the Maine Township Youth Drop-in Center.

The Maine Township Board voted Tuesday to approve Galdikas' hiring. He is scheduled to start on Sept. 19.

A resident of Naperville, Galdikas currently works as a family educator/counselor at the Lake House, an adolescent group home in Aurora operated by Aunt Martha's Youth Services. He also owns and operates a mobile disc jockey company.

Galdikas holds a bachelor of arts degree in juvenile justice and interpersonal communications from Western Michigan University. He also has an associate of arts degree in business administration from Thornton Community College in South Holland.

As the director of the Drop-in Center, Galdikas will supervise youths and organize activities and programs for participants. The previous director, Terry Hendershott, resigned in July to accept a position at a juvenile facility in Wisconsin.

The Drop-in Center, based at the Stevenson School building at 9000 Capitol Drive in Des Plaines, is open three days a week--Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. The program is free and open to all 5th through 12th graders who live in Maine Township.

The Drop-in Center was created in June 1992 in an effort to deter gang activity in the township's unincorporated area. The center provides a safe, supervised and drug-free place for youths to talk, play games, watch television or participate in organized activities.

Niles approves referendum to appear on November ballot

By Tracey Berk

The Niles Village Board approved a referendum at its meeting Aug. 23 that will add a public issue to the voting ballot Nov. 8.

The question, "Should the Village of Niles' spending decision on community services such as fire fighting, police, paramedic, snow removal and neighborhood crime prevention be made by your locally elected Village Board rather than by the State legislature in Springfield?" will be followed by a "yes" and "no" space to be marked by legal voters in Niles.

Trustee Louella Preston said the referendum came before the Northwest Municipal Conference, which is now urging all 35 municipalities and townships in North suburban Cook County to have it put on the November ballot.

He joined the Marine Corps in March 1993.

Oakton enrollment down as expected

By Susan Klingman

At the August meeting of the Oakton Community College (OCC) Board of Trustees held on August 24, Dr. Thomas TenHoeve noted that, although it is too early to know the final numbers, enrollment is down slightly, as was expected.

Oakton attributes the decline in registration to construction and to the new State of Illinois mandates for assessment and achievement testing. These requirements, imposed by the State, negatively affect students who might pursue taking a class or two a year, but are turned off by being required to complete these exams.

Chandrakant Ganger, Chairperson of the Building Energy Systems Technology Program, received the branch chapter award from the Refrigeration Service Engineers Society.

Oakton has once again received the Excellence in Financial Reporting award from the Government Finance Office. The Board noted the work of Maurice Archer, Director of Accounting Services, on this annual report.

Dennis R. Berkson, Professor of Communications and Chairperson of the Performing Arts Department, received the Ray Hartstein Award for the outstanding full-time faculty member of the year.

Ray Hartstein, Vice-President, noted that the public should be aware there is a lot of construction taking place at the Des Plaines Campus, in addition to the work at the Skokie Campus.

This year's Oakton Educational Foundation dinner, in celebration of OCC's 25th anniversary, was provided by the Hotel/Hospitality Management students.

The appointment of an in-house presidential search committee was announced. OCC's current president, Dr. Thomas TenHoeve, will retire, effect October 1, 1995.

Board members Ray Hartstein and Jody Wadhwa will co-chair the following committee: Alice Barnhart, Classified Staff Association president; Brian Berkowitz, Board of Student Affairs president; Constance Churchill, Dean of Science/Allied Health; Carl Costanza, Director of Business Services; Robert Hodap, Fraternal Order of Police campus representative; Barbara Keeley, Faculty Senate president; John Michaels, Professor and Chairperson of the Real Estate program; Lorraine Murray, Adjunct Faculty Association co-chair; Brian Ogradowski, part-time faculty member; Patricia Valentino, administrative assistant in Student and Counseling Services; and, an as yet unappointed representative from the OCC Public Safety Association.

The Board ratified approval of payment of bills for June, 1994, and approved payment of bills for July, 1994. They also accepted the Treasurer's report with notation that the payments for the State of Illinois are currently up to date.

The authorizations to employ one full-time, one year faculty member and to pay professional personnel for summer and fall of 1994 were granted.

The appointment of new legal counsel was made, along with the notation that the Board will review the work and bills of legal counsel every three months.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, Sept. 20, 1994 at the Des Plaines Campus.

Volunteers needed for Little City Foundation

Riverboats, crime, taxes, schools - some of the issues on the agenda for Assistant Majority Leader State Sen. Walter Dudyycz's (R-7, Chicago) annual Town Meetings.

Each year Dudyycz conducts a series of town meetings in communities within his district offering residents the opportunity to express their views on state issues.

"Local sites on the meeting schedule include: Thursday, Sept. 8, 7 to 9 p.m. at the Niles Public Library, 6960 Oakton, Niles, and Tuesday, Sept. 13, 7 to 9 p.m. at the Todd Hall Building, School District 74, 3925 W. Lunt, Lincolnwood.

"These meetings are one of my top priorities," Dudyycz said. "While I'm available all during the year and encourage the people in my district to contact me, these meetings take me out into the district for the specific purpose of reporting on our last session of the General Assembly. But even more importantly, I'm able to find out what issues are on the minds of the people I represent."

Sen. Dudyycz said he encourages the residents of Niles and Lincolnwood, as well as people from other parts of his district, to attend and participate in the meeting.

For further information, phone Sen. Dudyycz's office, (312) 774-7717.

For six years, Mabel had been coming to Ballard to show slides of her trips around the world. "I never dreamed that 10 years later I would be at the rehabilitation suite getting first class treatment following my hip replacement."

Just five days after her 90th birthday, Mabel underwent hip replacement surgery to alleviate the osteoarthritis that was making it painfully difficult for her to get around. A world traveler and published author, this active, accomplished woman was not about to be set back by her surgery - or her osteoarthritis.

So, Mabel came to Transitions in Rehabilitation,™ Ballard's newly remodeled rehabilitation suite. Her therapists helped her to regain her mobility so that she could return to her active lifestyle in the community.

Transitions includes a simulated community, called the OUR TOWN Rehabilitation Center,™ that provides a realistic environment for tackling the everyday activities that become more difficult after surgery or illness. OUR TOWN has an automobile, a bank with an ATM machine, a market with realistically weighted produce, and a gazebo and park setting. There's also a model apartment in Transitions for mastering personal hygiene and home maintenance skills.

Now back at home, Mabel has graduated from a walker to a cane. And the cane is for support only. She expects to be driving again soon, but for now her husband, Al, is taking her to her meetings at church and wherever she needs to go.

For more information on Transitions or to schedule a tour, call or write Ballard, 9300 Ballard Rd., Des Plaines, IL 60016. (708) 294-2300.

Restaurant to celebrate the Jewish New Year

The legendary Pump Room restaurant, located in the Omni Ambassador East Hotel, 1301 N. State Parkway, will celebrate the promise of a sweet future with its first Rosh Hashanah (Jewish New Year) celebration.

On September 5 and September 6, from 3 to 9:45 p.m., in honor of the Jewish New Year, the Pump Room will offer a classic five-course dinner with selections of traditional items in the Eastern European Jewish culinary tradition. Among the holiday menu items to be served are chicken soup with matzah balls, roasted chicken, noodle kugel, brisket and the traditional gefilte fish. The dinner will feature a selection of dishes drawn from Moroccan, Spanish and Italian Jewish culinary traditions.

Diners at the Pump Room will start their Rosh Hashanah dinner with fresh chopped liver and challah bread, followed by a choice of gefilte fish or insalata russa, a salad of carrot, red potatoes, french beans, hard boiled egg, sweet peas and anchovies. Matzah ball soup will be served next and then holiday celebrants can choose one of four entrees including braised brisket of beef, garlic glazed baked whitefish, prime rib of beef or oven roasted free range chicken with side dishes including kishke, kasha varonishka, noodle kugel or carrot tzimmes. Dessert, always an important part of the Rosh Hashanah dinner, also will be a highlight of the holiday feast at the Pump Room, with a wide variety of sweet selections including inehussa diricos, an apricot tart with kilm dried cherry syrup; honey cake with melon sorbet and raspberry sauce; poached pear with assorted fresh berries; and tshpshiti, in the Sephardic tradition, almond flour cake with vanilla bean syrup.

Rosh Hashanah is a time for repentance, self-examination and hope for a joyful upcoming year. The foods prepared for this holiday represent optimism for a sweet future. They are filled with color, and many dishes are made with honey, raisins, carrots, apples, and sweet potatoes. No butter or sour dishes are served during the holiday.

The Pump Room, with its warm mahogany-toned room and crystal chandeliers, is the ideal setting to celebrate one of the most important days of the Jewish faith. Seating will begin at 3 p.m. on both days, and reservations are required for the Rosh Hashanah dinner which is priced at $29.95 for adults, and $15.95 for children 12 and under.

The RE/MAX of Northern Illinois network posted a 10.6 percent increase in closed sales volume in June and a 12.1 gain for the first half of 1994 when compared to those same periods in 1993. RE/MAX closed sales in June totalled $796,910,026, up from $720,571,750 in June 1993, according to Betty Hegner, president of RE/MAX of Northern Illinois, Inc.

"The Chicago-area housing market seems to be strengthening as the year progresses. June was the first month in which we saw a major increase in new listings over 1993 levels. Our listings were up 14 percent, and we view it as a response to the fact that the market this spring was a good one for sellers. As a result, many homeowners apparently feel that this is the time to act if they want to capitalize on that market momentum and sell their homes quickly at a good price," said Hegner. "We think the confidence level in the market has moved up a notch or two."

Transactions closed in June by RE/MAX of Northern Illinois increased 6.7 percent to 5,295 from the 4,962 transactions closed last June. The average price of the homes sold by RE/MAX climbed to $150,502 in June from $145,210 for the same month last year, an increase of 3.6 percent.

"June was the first month in some time for which the average price of the homes sold by RE/MAX of Northern Illinois exceeded $150,000. That seems to indicate that the upper end of the housing market is seeing more activity," said Hegner.

For the first half of 1994, RE/MAX of Northern Illinois reports closed sales volume rose to $3.33 billion, up from $2.97 billion for the same period last year. Closed transactions increased to 22,817 during the first six months of this year from 21,030 for the period in 1993, an 8.5 percent gain.

Jim Reilly, GRI, Sales Associate for the Residential Division of W. M. L. Kunkel & Co., Realtors, recently closed on more than one million dollars in Residential Sales. The announcement was made by James McLaughlin, Vice President of the Residential Division of the Des Plaines-based realty firm.

"Jim is one of our most consistent sales performers," said McLaughlin. "Every year, without fail, Jim manages to be one of our top sales producers. He has now closed on about one and a half million dollars and is quickly approaching the two million dollar mark."

The 68-year old Reilly has been associated with the Des Plaines-based Realty firm for more than 40 years. A licensed broker, he consistently is one of the company's top sales performers.

In addition to his real estate activities, Reilly is committed to the Des Plaines community, where he has been a resident for more than 40 years. Barclay Place redefines 'Space Age'

A master bedroom suite with a 13-by-20-foot sleeping chamber, his-and-her walk-in closets and a luxurious master bath is one of the top attractions of the spacious Plan 16 condominium residence at Barclay Place in Lincolnwood.

Not counting the two terraces, which add 155 to 235 square feet of outdoor living space, Residence 16 at Barclay Place in Lincolnwood gives new meaning to the Space Age.

"It is a dream come true for the typical buyer, the couple recently liberated from competing with a growing family for everything from closet space to entertaining friends," suggests Marsha Garlovsky, sales manager for the luxury condominium complex at 4545 W. Touhy Ave., Lincolnwood.

"When you think about such features as the great entertainment center (a 450-square-foot living room/dining room combination) and three generous bedrooms including a 13-by-20-foot sleeping chamber in the master bedroom suite, it's amusing, if not amazing, how shoppers practically jump out of their skin over such details as closets and the big, central laundry room," she said.

The elegance of the 2,223-square-foot home, base-priced from $274,500, is established the moment you enter the formal, dramatic entry foyer capped with a recessed ceiling. An upgrade option is a marble foyer floor.

The door on your right opens to a walk-in closet that serves for storing off-season outerwear as well as guest clothes. The foyer is also flanked by a powder room that has a concealed storage area and another storage closet in the hallway adjacent to the dining room.

Bearing right you enter the combined dining/living room area. The dining room portion measures approximately 10 by 15 feet. The living room, which measures about 15 by 20 feet, features a wood-burning fireplace with a marble surround and hearth. Glass sliding doors open from the living room to a terrace that measures 10 by 16 feet on the first floor and 5 by 16 feet on the upper floors.

Directly ahead from the foyer is the 10-by-11-foot kitchen, which opens to an 8-by-10-foot eat-in windowed breakfast room that opens to the terrace when the climate beckons to outdoor dining.

A turn to the left from the foyer leads to the private side of the house, past the aforementioned powder room and laundry room to the bedroom wing. You first come to a 12-by-16-foot area designed as a den or third bedroom. Beyond that is a 12-by-13-1/2-foot bedroom, opposite of which is a bathroom with a linen closet.

At the far end is the master bedroom, a "getaway" area with a 13-by-20-foot sleeping chamber, large his-and-her walk-in closets and a luxurious, private master bedroom. The bath includes a cultured marble vanity top with two vitreous china bowls, ceramic tile floor, base and shower walls, a steaming tub and separate shower stall, an enclosed privacy area for the commode, custom European-style vanity cabinets and recessed medicine cabinets. A second 5-by-15-foot terrace is accessed by sliding glass doors from the master bedroom.

Other standard Barclay Place features include space-stretching 8-1/2-foot ceiling heights, high-quality carpeting in all living areas and individual gas forced-air heating.

All homes include state-of-the-art security systems, separate laundry areas and one or two large terraces, depending on the plan. Familiar top-of-the-line brands include Pella patio doors and clad wood windows with insulated glass, Kohler plumbing, Grohe fixtures and Stainmaster carpeting.

Kitchens are equipped with General Electric 24-cubic-foot refrigerator/freezers, built-in double ovens, dishwashers, disposers, double-bowl stainless steel sinks and custom Euro-style cabinetry.

A country-club atmosphere pervades the maintenance-free lifestyle at Barclay Place. It includes a large outdoor swimming pool and sunning deck with a whirlpool, a separate outdoor patio deck for socializing and community activities, men's and women's fully equipped fitness rooms with saunas, a tennis court, card rooms and a party-hospitality room.

Barclay Place, at 4545 W. Touhy in Lincolnwood, the closest North Shore suburb just minutes from the city via the nearby Edens Expressway, has a total of 168 homes in two identical seven-story towers joined by an elegant two-story atrium lobby that you enter via a columned port cochere. It is attended by a doorman 24 hours a day.

New attention deficit group for women

A new group for adult women who have been diagnosed with attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD) is being offered by Forest Health Systems. The group will begin weekly sessions on Thursday, Sept. 8 at 7 p.m. at Forest Hospital, 555 Wilson Lane, Des Plaines.

Though the characteristics of attention deficit are the same in men and women and often are of concern in a workplace situation, some women find that the disorder also interferes with their parenting and household responsibilities, according to Charlotte Edwards, Psy. D., ADHD program director.

"Along with their other responsibilities, women are very concerned with maintaining attachments with children, family and friends," Edwards said. "Plus, to a large degree, they still are responsible for taking care of 'home and hearth.' And those tasks can be among the most difficult for someone with attention deficit. This group will provide an opportunity for women to explore and learn to cope with the disorder."

The group will be led by Dr. Edwards and Sharon Nighorn, M.S., R.N., a therapist on the staff of Forest Hospital. The fee is $35 per session.

Mothers to meet

La Leche League of Skokie-Morton Grove has been helping mothers in the local area since 1957. The group meets regularly to discuss breast-feeding information and to receive encouragement from other mothers.

Employee robbed of deposits by co-worker

A 32-year-old Skokie woman was robbed by her co-worker while she was driving to the bank to get money for him Aug. 25.

The victim told police that the offender, a 41-year-old Chicago man, came into their place of employment, a restaurant in the 9800 block of Milwaukee, with an unknown man around 6 p.m. Thursday asking her to lend him money. The woman told the men that she was too busy and to return before closing.

The men came back around 9 p.m. and the three left in the victim's car with two company deposit pouches. The victim headed toward Golf Mill State Bank with an intention of depositing the pouches and using the cash machine for her co-worker.

However, as she was pulling into the bank, the offender climbed into the front seat, removed the two deposit pouches from her bag and told the woman to keep driving. The victim, who was on a cellular phone with her sister at the time, was told to hang up and the offender ripped the cord out of its socket.

The woman questioned the offender's motives, but the subject merely told her to shut up or she would be hurt. At that point, the victim saw a shiny object in the offender's right hand, but was unable to determine whether it was a weapon.

The two men exited the car near Oakton in Evanston and the Evanston and Chicago police were contacted, however, the suspects could not be found.

The general manager of the restaurant said that it is against company policy to hold onto the deposits after closing and they should have been deposited earlier in the shift.

Bomb threat in mall no cause for alarm

An unknown male called a Golf Mill department store switchboard around 6:35 p.m. Aug. 22 and said that there was a bomb in the store.

The offender called a second time and asked the operator if she had seen the movie Speed and then said "you have four min-

Drunk driver arrested, taken to hospital

A 31-year-old Buffalo Grove man was arrested for drunk driving at Dempster and Luther Lane around 2:12 a.m. Aug. 24.

Police observed the man driving northbound on Western when he attempted to turn left onto Dempster, drove over a curb, swerved across the inner and outer lanes and onto the median and then drove onto the sidewalk where he came to a complete stop.

The man failed several field sobriety tests and was transported to the Niles Police Department. The offender registered a blood alcohol level of .36 and was taken to Lutheran General Hospital after being processed due to his high level of intoxication.

The offender was charged with a DUI, B.A.C. over .10, no insurance, improper lane usage, no seat belt, failure to notify Secretary of State change of address and violation of license restriction. Bond was set at $2,000 plus his driver's license and a court date was set for Oct. 7.

Local improvement projects granted

The Illinois Department of Transportation has awarded road improvement contracts valued at over $184.3 million for various projects throughout the state. One of the projects calls for 2.33 miles of cold milling and bituminous concrete surface on Church St. in Skokie, beginning at Gross Point Rd., continuing easterly to Grey Ave. Callaghan Paving, Inc., Burr Ridge, was awarded the contract at $984,955. Another local project includes continuous reinforced concrete pavement patching and approach slab repair at various locations from Cicero Ave. to Clavey Rd. on the Edens Expressway in Lincolnwood, Morton Grove, Skokie, Northfield and Northbrook. This contract was awarded to Thos. M. Madden Co., Carol Stream, in the amount of $88,500.

Police News

Son arrested in parent's house

A 27-year-old Chicago man was arrested Aug. 26 after allegedly breaking in to his parent's home and ransacking the place.

A 41-year-old stepson discovered the break-in Aug. 22 when he went to feed the fish and water the plants while his parents were away.

The offender, who has broken into his parent's house before, broke his way through the basement window causing about $30 in damage. The subject had to push-kick open the basement door, causing another $200 in damage.

The man went through all the rooms and ransacked all the bedrooms. In addition, he kicked in the master bedroom door which had a dead bolt lock on it. The total damage equaled approximately $430.

Police found a tool set, a radio and a travel bag outside the house and said that the offender brought them there. The suspect was arrested on Aug. 26 at Adams and Canal in Chicago. Bond was set at $5,000 and the son is expected to appear in court on Sept. 14.

Sporting goods stolen

Golf Mill security found the rear door open on a mall store around 3 a.m. Aug. 22.

At least $328.92 in merchandise was stolen from the store including an authentic pair of Bulls shorts, valued at $79.99, a pair of replica shorts ($39.99), five baseball jerseys ($39.99 each) and a blank t-shirt ($8.99).

Bad mix of chemicals empties store

An employee for Tri-Star Cleaners, the janitorial service for Jewel Food Stores, mixed bleach and ammonia in a bucket at 3:43 a.m. Aug. 29, causing strong gas fumes throughout the store.

The manager of the store, 8203 Golf Rd., evacuated all the employees and the Niles Police Department was contacted.

Niles Fire arrived at the scene, disposed of the chemicals and aired out the building.

Pregnant woman beaten by brother

A pregnant Niles woman and her 26-year-old brother got into an argument which turned violent Aug. 23.

The victim told police that her brother hit her in the face, first with a rope and then with an open fist. The woman refused medical attention, but did want to sign a complaint against her brother.

The offender was taken into custody and, at the station, it was determined that, though this was the first documented case of domestic violence, the woman had been battered by her brother in the past. She was given an "Illinois Domestic Violence Act" form.

While in lock-up, the offender said that he was going to do harm to his sister and her fiancé. The man was charged with domestic battery and bond was set at $150,000. Police said the subject, who is scheduled to appear in court on Oct. 4, had a drinking problem.

Employees involved in theft

A 17-year-old Skokie girl told her employer Aug. 23 that she had information about a theft that involved three other employees at a store in Golf Mill.

The witness said that she saw two employees, a 19-year-old Niles man and an 18-year-old Morton Grove man, commit a theft at closing time on Aug. 15. The Niles man made a purchase from the other employee and the two left with three bags of merchandise that did not appear to be part of the purchase.

On Aug. 18, the witness said she saw the two suspects and a third employee, a 19-year-old Palatine man, placing merchandise on an empty shelf. The Morton Grove man told the witness that he was stealing and that he wasn't the first or last person to do it. The next morning, that merchandise was gone.

The Morton Grove man is an assistant manager and a key holder and has access to the store after closing.

Management requested a follow-up and complaints will be signed. It is believed that the two thefts involved about $1,000 in merchandise.

Overdose

A 29-year-old woman living at the YMCA, 6300 Touhy, told police that she had consumed vodka with an unknown amount of various prescription drugs around 1:14 p.m. July 28.

The woman was transported to Resurrection Hospital by the Niles Fire Department.

Hospitals host conception seminar

Learning how lifestyles can affect pregnancy and understanding both the traditional and new approaches to conception can boost a couple's chance for a healthy pregnancy.

To help couples learn more, the Evanston and Glenbrook Hospitals are sponsoring a free seminar, "Getting Pregnant," on Monday, Sept. 19 at 7 p.m. in the Frank Auditorium of the Evanston Hospital, 2650 Ridge Ave., Evanston.

Susan Warner, M.D., obstetrician/gynecologist, and Barbara Orcutt, C.N.M., certified nurse midwife, will discuss such topics as: how nutrition and exercise factor into a healthy pregnancy, how a couple's age affects conception time, and when to consult a fertility specialist. The seminar will also address your questions about conception and pregnancy.

All participants will receive a free gift to help in the planning for a healthy baby. Those interested in participating are encouraged to register early because space is limited. For more information or to register, call (708) 570-5020.

The program, one in a series of educational forums that have become a monthly feature of Turning Point's Family Support Group, is open to anyone who has a mentally ill family member.

The cost for this special two-hour discussion is $5 per person. For additional information, or for reservations, call Rosemary Nichols, LCSW, at (708) 933-0051.

Rush donates space to pediatric AIDS group

Rush North Shore Medical Center has generously donated free office and storage space to the Chicago Fundraising Committee (CFC) to benefit pediatric AIDS. In an effort to contribute to the fight against AIDS, Rush North Shore will house this nonprofit organization created primarily to raise funds to benefit pediatric AIDS research.

It is estimated that 20,000 children are affected with the HIV virus in America today. It has been proven that the virus affects children differently than it does adults. C.F.C. raises funds for the separate research needed to understand and treat the pediatric form of the disease.

Funds raised by C.F.C. are distributed locally in the form of grants to qualified local pediatric/adolescent care giving agencies, and nationally through the support of research funded by the Pediatric AIDS Foundation, which was founded by Elizabeth Glaser, Glaser, who is married to actor/director Paul Michael Glaser, started the organization after AIDS tragically took the life of her 7-year-old daughter, Ariel. Elizabeth Glaser contracted the HIV virus during a blood transfusion in 1981, and unknowingly passed it on to her daughter and her second child Jake, now 9.

In addition to supporting research, C.F.C. helps facilitate AIDS education in the community, and provides AIDS patients and their families. This non-medical support includes hosting parties, outings, and special events under the auspices of local care-giving agencies.

Rush North Shore Medical Center has donated its 2-west nursing unit to C. F. C. This new location will provide the convenience and efficiency of an official headquarters for the group.

"We've been working out of people's houses for years," says C. F. C. co-founder Lynn Weber. "It's great to finally have somewhere to go. It's great that the hospital has let us do this."

Rush North Shore Medical Center is proud to be able to do its part in the national effort to find a cure for this killer.

Questions and Answers

by Karen Collins, MS., R.D., American Institute for Cancer Research

Q. I have heard people talking about a meat called beefalo. Is there is such a thing, how nutritious is it?

A. Beefalo is a hybrid animal bred from beef cattle and bison (buffalo). Bison meat is lower in saturated fat than is beef, and beefalo's saturated fat seems to be midway between beef and bison. We need more information about the range of beefalo's nutritional content and its effect on blood cholesterol, but it may provide a reasonable alternative for people who are having trouble cutting back on meat. However, if beefalo has the same total amount of fat as beef, we must remember that many health goals, such as lower cancer risk, aim for not just less saturated fat, but less fat overall. That means keeping meat portions to a moderate size to maintain good health.

Q. My child asks for the same thing at every meal. What should I do?

A. Children often go through stages of very limited food acceptance. While variety is an important goal for good nutrition, it may be best attained by patience rather than force. Experts in childhood nutrition suggest that you continue to include favorite foods in meals, but that you also offer new foods to the whole family. Set a good example by creating a family pattern of openness to new foods. Don't let yourself become a "short-order cook," always preparing different foods for each child. When planning a meal, try to include at least one food that simply means serving bread with each meal. Letting your children help you fix foods may also make them more eager to try those foods. Eventually this repeated casual, pleasurable exposure to new foods will allow a child to expand his selections.

Q. I'm used to seeing a long list of vitamins on the nutrition information part of food labels. Why are there now only two vitamins and two minerals included?

A. Vitamins A and C, calcium and iron are the only vitamins and minerals required on the new food labels. The reason for this is to make labels less confusing by providing only the information that is of most concern to public health. Surveys have found that these nutrients are among those most commonly low in Americans' diets. When we eat a balanced selection of foods to meet our needs for these four nutrients, we are also usually getting all we need of other nutrients. When a nutrient, such as any of the B vitamins, is not listed on the label, that does not mean it is not present in the food, only that most of us get enough that we don't need to keep track of it. If vitamins or minerals are added as supplements to a food, or if a claim is made about them, content must be listed on the label.

Rawls to headline Lutheran General benefit

Legendary vocalist Lou Rawls, whose show business career spans more than 30 years, and who is equally at home singing pop, soul, jazz, blues and gospel, will be the headliner at Lutheran General Foundation's Sept. 17 Gala '94: "Cherish the Children."

The Gala, which will be held at the Hyatt Regency-O'Hare in Rosemont, will benefit pediatric patient care, facilities, research and education at Lutheran General Children's Hospital. More than 1,000 people are expected to attend the dinner dance and silent auction.

Four-time Grammy Award winner Rawls, who this past year released his first Christmas album in 30 years, was born and raised in Chicago, where he watched the great African-American entertainers of the day, including Billy Eckstine, Arthur Prysock and Joe Williams, perform at Chicago's Regal Theatre. He has released more than 40 albums since he began his recording career in 1962.

The entertainer's voice, one of the most easily recognizable in popular music, has been described as "sweet as sugar, soft as velvet, strong as steel and smooth as butter." Well-known to several generations of audiences, 58-year-old Rawls first established his musical reputation in the 1960s, but his "Portrait of the Blues" album ranked among Billboard Magazine's top five jazz albums just last year. Rawls' artistry also appeals to the very young; he has provided the distinctive vocal styling for the popular cartoon feline "Garfield the Cat" in three animated specials.

"Last year, the Gala Benefit Committee pledged to raise half a million dollars for the Children's Hospital because we believe so deeply in the work they are doing for kids," said Joyce L. Phillips, Chairman of the Gala '94 Benefit Committee. "So far, thanks to the tremendous turnout at last year's event, we have already raised more than half of that amount and we fully expect this year's Gala to bring up all the way to our goal!"

Other featured entertainment at the Gala will be music by the Dick Juddon Orchestra and a performance by the Chicago Children's Choir. The evening's program will also include a silent auction hosted by the Lutheran General Foundation Gala Benefit Committee in which 100 items will be offered for sale. Items to be auctioned include a health and fitness retreat at the Heartland Spa; vacations to London, Paris, Milan, Palm Springs; Vail and Reno; provided by American Airlines; Waterford Crystal; sports equipment; memorabilia; golf outings; event tickets and much more.

Gala tickets sell for $200 per person. Those wishing further information about the Gala should call Lutheran General Foundation at (708) 696-6500.

In addition, the winning poster will be displayed in all 3,500 CTA buses and trains, Metra Stations, PACE buses as well as all Chicago Public Library branches.

First runner up will receive a $250 scholarship and 50 pounds of candy, and second runner up a $200 scholarship plus 25 pounds of candy. Fourth through tenth place recipients will each be awarded 10 pounds of Brach's candy.

The deadline for all entries is September 30. Posters will be judged by Chicago area artists and teachers, whose decisions are final. Winners will be notified by October 12.

All entries will become the property of the E. J. Brach Corporation and can be used commercially without compensation or the written permission of entrants. No prize transfers or substitutions. Taxes on prizes, if any, are the responsibility of the winner.

Oakton presents music performance

Those who enjoy listening to modern rock or jazz will enjoy The Nudes, a unique alternative folk duo, providing a coffee-house performance on Thursday, Sept. 8 at 8 p.m. in Studio 1600 (located in the Performing Arts Center) at Oakton Community College, 1600 E. Golf Rd.

Possibly the tallest and thinnest musical group in New York City, The Nudes are a visually striking duo comprised of vocalist/guitarist/songwriter Walter Parks and cellist/vocalist Stephanie Winters. Park's percussive "drum-strumming" acoustic guitar style and thrilling scat vocals combine with Winters' mesmerizing cello playing and refreshing vocal harmonies to bring their original songs to life. Billboard Magazine earmarked The Nudes self-titled debut CD as a "Critical Choice Writing."

The performance is co-sponsored by Oakton's Board of Student Affairs (BSA) and the College Program Board (CPB). Proceeds will be donated to the Rwanda Relief Fund.

Tickets are $6 or two for $10. Refreshments will be served. For more information regarding this and future BSA or CPB events, call (708) 635-1699.

The Northwest Choral Society announces the beginning of its 1994-'95 season of singing classical and popular music, with rehearsals starting Tuesday, Sept. 6, 8-10:15 p.m. at the Park Ridge Community Church, 100 S. Courtland Ave., Park Ridge.

This non-profit community choral group is comprised of over 50 members rehearsing Monday nights under the direction of John Melcher, with a serious devotion to singing quality choral music for the northwest community area. Members come from Chicago as well as the surrounding and distant suburbs.

The Northwest Choral Society will be presenting a December 4 holiday concert of Carols and Lullabies by Conrad Susa, accompanied by harp and classical guitar, as well as other holiday pieces. The classical concert on March 25, 1995 features such masterpieces as Rutter's Requiem. The annual spring concert June 3 showcases light classical pieces, music from The Lion King, and medleys from The Sound of Music and other Broadway musicals. Professional instrumentalists accompany the concerts.

There are openings especially for good voices in the tenor and bass sections, and limited openings for additional sopranos and altos. Prospective members may audition at one of the first two open rehearsals on Sept. 6 or 12. For more information about joining the Northwest Choral Society, call Karen LaRock at (708) 253-4167.

Summer fun 'sizzles' through Labor Day at museum

Children experiment with building strong and stable structures in the Museum of Science and Industry's new temporary exhibition, "Science in Toyland," part of the Museum's "Sizzlin' Summer" line-up.

Hot summer fun continues to sizzle through Labor Day at the Museum of Science and Industry with a variety of "Sizzlin' Summer" activities.

You may choose to lose yourself in the world's largest indoor mazes, create the fastest spinning top or unscramble dozens of the wackiest puzzles you've ever encountered in the exhibitions, "Mazes & Puzzles" and "Science in Toyland." The two exhibitions close on Sept. 5.

"These two exhibitions continue to be a great way to put fun into your summer," said Tasmyn Searl, the Museum's traveling exhibit coordinator. "People of all ages, from the very young to their grandparents, have enjoyed the challenge of the maze, puzzles and games."

Memory is the name of the game in the "Mazes & Puzzles" exhibition when you step foot inside the giant 36 by 120 foot maze. Entering one of two doors to the colorful purple and yellow maze, you weave through a series of ten "clues" to reach the end. On-lookers on the balcony and a Museum staff member located in a central tower can provide directions to help "mazers" successfully complete the maze.

The second section of "Mazes & Puzzles" demands your attention to detail, hand-eye coordination and shape recognition in order to successfully complete numerous difficult, yet stimulating puzzles. Of course, a little patience is always a virtue in this exhibition.

The Museum's accompanying exhibition, "Science in Toyland" encourages children to learn scientific principles such as gravity, the Bernoulli effect and kinetic energy through a common medium: toys. The exhibition contains interactive stations that allow children to "play," while learning about human anatomy, food chains and engineering.

"This area has been very popular with the youngest visitors," Searl said. "Most come to the area and spend a couple of hours moving from activity to activity."

Another special exhibition, "Tuskegee Airmen," will also close on Sept. 5. A tribute to the historic African American World War II Aviation Squadron, this exhibition features the many accomplishments of the famous flyers. The exhibition is located in the Navy Annex, part of the new permanent exhibit "Navy."

Technology at Sea" which opened this summer.

The Museum of Science and Industry is located at 57th Street and Lake Shore Drive. Museum hours until Labor Day are from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily, with special extended hours from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Fridays. Admission fees are $5 for adults, $4 for seniors and $2 for children (ages 5-12). There are additional fees for the Museum's Omnimax Theater. For more information on "Sizzlin' Summer," call (312) 684-1414.

"Sizzlin' Summer" has given a whole new meaning to the fun of going to the Museum," Searl said. "Not only can you be hands-on, have fun and participate through toys, puzzles and games."

Senior spends first semester in Springfield

The Class of 1995 at Maine East, numbering nearly 580, has one student with a very unique schedule first semester.

Senior Aaron Raffel of Des Plaines will not attend classes at Maine East nor will he do daily homework or study for exams. Instead, Raffel will be in Springfield first semester as a participant in the Illinois Governmental Internship Program. In fact, he left for the State Capitol on Aug. 26.

The program, sponsored jointly by the State Board of Education and the Springfield Public Schools, has 40-50 Illinois high school seniors serve as special assistants to officials in state government in lieu of their regular high school studies for a semester.

Interns work the daily schedule of the state employee they're assigned to, but on Fridays the students attend group seminars, meet with other Illinois officials, or make site visits.

To be considered, last spring Raffel submitted an application, Maine East faculty recommendations, and a personal essay; he was later invited to Springfield for interviews with program directors.

He was naturally excited when notified mid-June that he was selected as one of the program's interns and was "eager to start my internship. The experience will be a great opportunity in giving me insight into the 'real' work state government does."

David Renz, Maine East social science department chairman, said, "Last year we had two seniors who participated in the Illinois Governmental Internship Program. Both were very excited about their experiences, which they were happy to share with our Government students. One had a very active opportunity to participate in government through the legislative process; the other gained more experience working in the business side of government. We look forward to having Aaron share his experiences with his peers when he returns second semester."

Raffel is also thinking ahead to "life" after Maine East; he's narrowed his choices to Illinois State or Northern to major in business law.

Associate Administrator of Education named

Jane Rubenstein, M.A., has been named Associate Administrator of Education for Forest Health Systems.

Rubenstein will oversee all education programs as well as the day-to-day operations of Forest's five schools, which accommodate a total of 200 students. Formerly, a Special Education Supervisor for Waukegan Community Unit School District #60, Rubenstein has more than 20 years' experience in special education. In Waukegan, she was responsible for the development, coordination, evaluation and supervision of all behavior disorders special education programs and services for grades K through 12. She also coordinated private, residential and home hospital placements for students in the district.

Earlier, as clinical educator at Children's Memorial Hospital, Chicago, Rubenstein taught the behavior disorder/learning disabilities adolescent class for the child psychiatry inpatient unit, and also handled administrative responsibilities, including coordinating instruction programs with students' home schools.

A resident of Highland Park, Rubenstein received her master's degree in education, with a specialization in psychology, from the University of Chicago.

The fully accredited schools of Forest Health Systems include two residential programs - the Forest Academy for Young Women, Wonder Lake and Lovellton Academy, Elgin - and the three locations of Forest Academy, in Des Plaines, Elgin and Chicago.

Oakton offers nursery school programs

Registration for the fall Demonstration Nursery School Programs offered through Oakton's Early Childhood Education Program is currently underway. The programs are offered at Oakton's Des Plaines campus, 1600 E. Golf Rd., and Ray Hartstein Campus, 7701 N. Lincoln Ave., Skokie.

The child development centers are nationally accredited, high quality preschool programs for three to five-year-old children. A stimulating, play based, bias free curriculum, responding to individual and group needs, is planned with developmentally appropriate activities designed to support development in all areas.

The centers are licensed by the Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS) for children three to five years of age. Children must have reached age three by Sept. 1, 1993 to enroll for summer or by Sept. 1, 1994 to qualify for fall.

Full hours are available three days per week, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. or 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. or two days, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. A few spaces are still available in the morning and afternoon sessions at the Des Plaines campus, and there are also openings in the afternoon session at the Ray Hartstein Campus.

Anyone interested in visiting or enrolling their child in this model nursery school program can contact the Des Plaines site at (708) 635-1840 or the Skokie site at (708) 635-1441.

Oakton receives grant

The U.S. Department of Education has awarded Oakton Community College a four year grant with first year funding of $170,279 and second year funding of $174,877 to partially fund the Services to Establish Patterns for Success (STEPS) program.

The STEPS program provides disadvantaged, low income, first generation and disabled students with an established path to achieve academic success in a supportive, nurturing environment. The program's components consist of basic skills tutoring including English as Second Language (ESL), diagnostic testing, counseling, financial aid assistance, College 101 (a student success course), mentoring, assistance with transfer to four-year institutions and exposure to cultural activities.

Project STEPS has been able to provide more than the normal classroom experience to ensure student success academically and beyond. For example, one student was recently accepted into the Physical Therapy Assistants program this fall. Another student, who transferred to Northeastern Illinois University last fall, is an honor student with an A-average.

Both students are examples of the impact Project STEPS has on students. As first generation low income students, who often lack exposure to the benefits of an advanced degree or professional career, Project STEPS assisted these young women in exploring what seemed the impossible.

On one counseling with a STEPS counselor helped them to identify their strengths and weaknesses. They were able to transfer the skills learned in the STEPS time management workshops and individualized tutoring to their studies. In addition, career exploration and college visits assisted them in selecting a program of study and a school that would be most beneficial to the attainment of their goals.

The STEPS program provides students with the confidence to explore things that may be different, an understanding of networking and marketing oneself, and more importantly, they develop stronger leadership skills. It will be these attributes that will make them stand out from others as companies look for the well-rounded, multi-cultural employee.

The college has operated this highly successful program with the aid of federal funds since 1990. For more information regarding the STEPS program, contact Jacqueline Thomas, at (708) 635-1434.

'The Fox' is the premiere production of the Director's Circle, a new theater program at Niles North High School. The play, written for the stage by Allan Miller and based on a novella by D.H. Lawrence, will be performed on Thursday, Sept. 1 at 1 p.m. and Friday and Saturday, Sept. 2 and 3 at 8 p.m. in the Niles North High School Auditorium, 9800 N. Lawler Ave. in Skokie. Tickets are $5 for the evening performances while the Sept. 1 show is open to senior citizens at no charge.

'The Fox' is set in England in 1918. Two women, Jill and Nellie, who have recently moved from the city to the country, are visited by a soldier, Henry, who at first gets along well with one woman while intensely disliking the other. Through the course of the play Henry finds his feelings changing, and he ultimately learns to like and respect the lady who he initially shunned while turning upon his original friend.

Brad Malow of Skokie plays Henry. He is a junior who has appeared in such Niles North productions as 'The Diviners' and 'Brighton Beach Memoirs.' Jill is played by Niles North senior Jaclyn Pryor of Skokie. She also appeared in 'The Diviners' and 'Brighton Beach Memoirs,' along with 'The Matchmaker,' and was the director of the student production of 'The Zoo Story.' Amy Kurash of Morton Grove, a Niles North senior, is Nellie, the other female character. She has appeared in 'Stags Door,' 'Doors' and 'Brighton Beach Memoirs,' and directed the student production of 'Present Tense.' In addition to these three actors, the production includes stage manager Adam Kaplan of Skokie and Timothy Ortmann, director of the Niles North Theater Department.

The Director's Circle is a new audition-only program at Niles North designed to offer an opportunity for outstanding theater students to hone their craft. "We take kids who are leaders in the department based on experience in the classroom, experience on stage, intensive auditions and leadership ability," Ortmann said. "The actors were chosen before the play, so the play was really chosen for them, to showcase their abilities."

Upon completion of this production the students are expected to assist their teachers in the school's theater classes, run acting clinics and work as leaders in sharing their skills with fellow drama students.

For further information regarding 'The Fox' or the Director's Circle program, contact Timothy Ortmann at (708) 673-0051.

CNB participates in Bank at School workshop

Columbia National Bank of Chicago is a charter member of the "Bank at School" program. This program is a partnership which includes local financial institutions, elementary schools, the State Treasurer's office, and the Save At School Foundation. The purpose of this program is to teach cash management and the value of saving to grammar school students.

On Aug. 12, Representatives of Columbia National Bank attended a Bank at School workshop entitled "Making it Work" at the James R. Thompson Center. June Barnard, Vice President/Branch Manager Six Corners, conducted a short presentation which highlighted several Bank at School anecdotes experienced during Columbia's years of involvement in the program.

Out of the many statewide financial institutions committed to the Bank at School program, Columbia National Bank of Chicago is proud to have the largest amount of money ($53,700) invested in student savings accounts.

The elementary schools involved in this program with Columbia National Bank are Dirksen, Falconer, Union Ridge, Gray and Irving Park Middle School. As Columbia National expands its branch locations (6425 W. Belmont, Chicago and 8950 N. Greenwood, Niles), the Bank at School program will expand to include three additional schools.

Columbia National Bank has six branch locations and assets of over $737 million. With 30 years of community commitment, Columbia has established itself as a leader in community-oriented events and activities.

Resource Development Campaign '94 underway

Resource Development Campaign '94 is currently raising funds to provide job training and education scholarships for economically disadvantaged residents in the north and northwest suburbs.

The effort is co-sponsored by the Northwest Municipal Conference (NWMC) and the Private Industry Council of Northern Cook County (PIC). A NWMC subcommittee chaired by Mayor Ronald Wietecha of Park Ridge coordinates the fund drive which assists PIC in expanding its job training and education services. The mayors or presidents of all participating suburbs coordinate the effort in their respective communities.

Communities participating in Resource Development Campaign '94 include Arlington Heights, Bartlett, Buffalo Grove, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Evanston, Glenview, Hanover Park, Hoffman Estates, Inverness, Lincolnwood, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Park Ridge, Prospect Heights, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg, Skokie, Streamwood and Wheeling. Each community is targeting local businesses throughout the summer to ask them for their Corporate Share to support job training and education. Each community raising $1,000 or more will award at least one scholarship this fall.

"We hope this campaign can highlight the awareness of citizens among us who are truly in need and who have been out of work for some time," said Park Ridge Mayor Ronald Wietecha, Resource Development Subcommittee Chair. "Many people need help retraining and reeducating themselves and reestablishing their self-esteem so they can find jobs."

Campaign '94 represents the second year of this innovative scholarship program. In its inaugural year, the effort successfully surpassed its $25,000 fund goal, with participating communities giving away nearly 20 scholarships. The goal for Campaign '94 is $75,000.

"This is a long-term, expanding strategy," said Mayor Wietecha. "With most businesses contributing between $250 and $1,000, they are making a small investment in the scholarship pool on an annual basis, providing their Corporate Share in providing quality training to area residents."

Scholarships will be available this fall. Interested individuals should watch for information about application availability in their communities beginning in September. Scholarships allow recipients to receive training or education at any school in a network of more than 70 approved education providers in Illinois. Scholarship administration is handled by PIC's educational counseling staff. One of these counseling assistants, scholarship winners with academic advising and payments directly to the educational institution for tuition, fees, books and supplies not exceeding the scholarship amount.

For more information on the Resource Development Campaign or on the Private Industry Council, contact Amy Roberts, Public Relations Coordinator, at (708) 699-9040, ext. 158.

Oakton offers lecture on property management

In this lecture, LeValley will help homeowners who are contemplating remarriage, or thinking about purchasing a retirement home or another home. Participants will learn how to deal with the many facets that may affect future plans for their current home. LeValley is a member of the Chicago IRS district director's filing readiness committee.

Center offers scholarships for $400 course

People who are out of work and want to explore entrepreneurship instead of employment, may qualify for a scholarship to enroll in a unique course being offered in Chicago.

The Women's Business Development Center (WBDC) is offering a 12-week series of workshops called The Jump Start Business Certificate Program. The course typically costs $400, but a limited number of scholarships are available to unemployed men and women who qualify.

People who may qualify for a scholarship can attend an interview session on Thursday, Sept. 8, 1 to 4 p.m.; Monday, Sept. 12, 2 to 5 p.m.; or Tuesday, Sept. 20, 4 to 7 p.m., at the WBDC office, 8 S. Michigan Ave., Suite 400, Chicago. Registration at (312) 853-3477 is required for the screening sessions.

Sara Shifrin, director of Entrepreneurial Training Services, said the course is taught by successful business owners who share their hands-on experience and business training background. "People who complete the program will earn a Business Development certificate and have the opportunity to write a business plan," Shifrin said.

The program consists of six core and three elective workshops. Core workshops provide basic, comprehensive information about starting and sustaining a business, including some of the realities entrepreneurs face. Additionally, participants will analyze their business plans with a group of bankers.

Elective workshops are more specific and examine individual businesses and other practical issues such as using computers and working with resource people.

The Business Certificate Program begins Monday, Sept. 26 and continues for 12 consecutive weeks. Classes are held at National Louis University, 18 S. Michigan Ave., from 6 to 8:30 p.m. on Monday and Thursday evenings. For more information, contact Sara Shifrin at (312) 853-3477, ext. 13.

KPMG Peat Marwick has begun to solicit nominations for the 11th Annual Illinois High Tech Awards program, established to promote high technology growth in Illinois. Since 1984, the program has honored high tech entrepreneurs who have made outstanding contributions to the development of technology. Park District tax rate decreases

For the sixth year in a row, the Northbrook Park District Board of Commissioners has announced a tax rate decrease for residents. At just over $6 million, the District's tax rate of .504 is $.097 less than the 1991 rate and $.013 less than the 1992 rate. The District's EAV (Equalized Assessed Valuation) increased slightly this year from $1.188 billion to $1.219 billion.

Glenview School Dist. 34 taxes and budget slammed

Dear Editor:

This budget continues to grow at a pace unjustified by increases in costs and in enrollment because of programs for which there is little accountability.

Over the eight years ending June 1995, local real estate tax revenue sought to run Dist. 34 will have increased 120% from $10,364,000 to $22,752,500, approximately three and one half times inflation over the same period.

The board has been led to believe that tax increases of this magnitude are necessary on account of increasing enrollment and increasing costs. But based on a comparison of FY 1983 to FY 1993 operating expenses with adjustments both for inflation and for enrollment increases, I believe the board has been misled.

In FY 1983, Dist. 34 had operating expenses of $9,295,000, average daily attendance of 2658 pupils, and operating expenses per pupil of $3,497.

FY 1983 operating expense per student restated in 1993 dollars and extended over FY '93 average daily attendance of 3065 pupils, yields an expected FY '93 operating expense of $15,621,929. But actual FY '93 operating expense was $20,184,974. This increase of some $4.6 million over the expected FY '93 operating expense is not attributable either to inflation or to enrollment increases.

What then are we spending this extra money for? I think it is clear that we are spending large sums on avant-garde educational fads. We spend for experimentation with curricula, teaching methods, and facilities. There is no line item for research and development in Dist. 34's budget, but unaccounted District 34 dollars are spent to concoct and carry out extensive experimental programs. Regrettably, the true cost of these programs is not known because this district does not account for costs by program.

Programs drive this budget. Without financial control of programs, budget growth will continue to exceed combined inflation and enrollment growth.

It is time for the board to adopt better financial controls. It is imperative that the board implement cost accounting by program, and require that clear, predictable and measurable educational benefits be stated for each program.

"District 63 has overstepped the bounds of human decency"

Dear Editor:

Last week, reading about the young gentleman that attended the last board meeting of School District 63 objecting to the latest increase in taxes, really got me upset. I felt I was in his shoes forty years ago trying to understand how the board always acted contrary to the feelings of the people that elected them.

Then I read your Left Hand column this week and it seemed the past again was repeating itself.

We the people, attend board meetings to object to the spending of the board, we sign petitions thinking it will do some good, we even listen to the Mayor objecting. However, nothing is ever done to stop the spending or stop the constant increase in taxes in School District 63.

I am now seventy years of age and I can honestly say this has been going on for at least the last 40 years.

Maybe the "Left Hand" column in conjunction with the Mayor could some day lead the people in a proper legal method to do exactly what you proposed to do in your Left Hand column of August 25, 1994.

School District 63 has overstepped the bounds of human decency.

Respectfully,
Robert J. Miller

Friends to sponsor Chicago River conferences

Animals like the red fox, black-crowned night heron and snapping turtle are living proof that the Chicago River is making a comeback. The Friends of the Chicago River and the National Park Service are hosting two one-day conferences which will focus on issues facing the Chicago River. The conferences will explore innovative projects in the region's urban wilderness including wetland and streambank restoration, improvements to water quality, and responsible developments along the river.

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, USDA Forest Service, U. S. Bureau of Mines and U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service will present findings of recent studies on the Chicago River's ecology, wetlands, wildlife habitat, contaminated sediments and current public attitudes about the various reaches of the river. Local advocates will share their views and help to create a community-inspired vision for the future of the river.

The conference will be held in two locations: Saturday, Sept. 17, 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Chicago Botanic Garden in Glencoe, and Saturday, Sept. 24, 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Lake Katherine Nature Center in Palos Heights. Participants at both sites will tour nearby river restoration projects.

A registration fee of $15 covers the entire day's activities and lunch. To register for the conference, contact Friends of the Chicago River at (312) 939-0490.

Volunteer responsible for successful week

Dear Editor:

This year's Community Unity Week was a great success, and the reason is undoubtedly Gwen Sures.

Gwen, who with her husband, Mitch, is a driving force in Maine Township Neighborhood Watch, spent weeks of her free time planning the many activities that took place during Community Unity Week. She helped line up such excellent speakers as J.J. Bittenbinder, a renowned crime expert with the Cook County Sheriff's Police, and Peter Bostrom, a crime prevention officer with the Park Ridge Public Safety Department. She also helped organize a rally with musical entertainment, a Unity walk, a car wash benefit for the Maine Township Emergency Food Pantry and the Youth Drop-In Center, and various activities for the week's highlight, the National Night Out Against Crime.

Without Gwen's dedication and hard work, we also would not have had prizes for participants in the Unity Week poster contest, or all the hats, t-shirts and other items promoting National Night Out. Gwen represents the finest of volunteers, and all of us in Maine Township should be grateful for her efforts. She brought many residents together for Community Unity Week, and helped raise everyone's awareness about the need for cooperation and teamwork to keep our neighborhoods safe.

Of course, Gwen and Mitch aren't the only ones who put their efforts into Community Unity week. Thanks also are due to the many other members of the Neighborhood Watch, area residents, the Cook County Sheriff's Police, the township's Emergency Management Agency volunteers, corporate sponsors and our own Maine Township staff for all their support.

So thanks again, Gwen, and all the others who help make Community Unity Week possible. We at Maine Township are looking forward to working with you all again next year.

Sincerely,
Mark Thompson
Supervisor, Maine Township

Letters To The Editor

Jewish domestic violence exists

Dear Editor:

Domestic violence occasionally makes its way into the news. However, with the breaking of the O. J. Simpson "story" it has become a front page item. Many celebrities have come forward to admit that they have endured abuse from their husbands or boyfriends, thereby dispelling the myth that Domestic Violence is only found in the economically deprived areas.

Another such myth exists within the Jewish community and needs to be corrected. The Jewish community can no longer keep its eyes closed to the reality that Jewish Domestic Violence exists. Statistics show that it is present in 10 to 20 percent of Jewish homes and even more worrisome is that Jewish women remain in the situation twice as long as other women before looking for help. There are no ethnic or economic barriers to Domestic Violence.

NA'AMAT USA, realizing the importance of bringing this issue to the forefront of the minds of the Jewish Community, has called for a Summit Meeting of all major American Jewish women's organizations to deal with the ever-growing problem of battered women and abused children in both the United States and in Israel. NA'AMAT has for years supported measures to provide effective programs to counteract the conditions and attitudes which debase women. This issue was high on our agenda prior to the highly publicized cases which have now caught the full attention of the general public.

NA'AMAT's concern is not limited to Domestic Violence in the United States. In Israel, NA'AMAT has spearheaded a campaign to deal with the issues of battered and abused women and children for more than a decade. Our local fundraising efforts help to support five NA'AMAT Centers for the Prevention of Family Violence, and a Shelter in Israel, which have been open for thousands of battered women since 1984. The Centers extend professional advice, and serve as a liaison with related agencies; police, hospitals, shelters, etc. The staff has developed many innovative approaches to address the issues of both the battered and battering partners.

NA'AMAT has published booklets on Domestic Violence as a way of bringing awareness of this evil out into the open. It provides training seminars for educators, police hospital employees, social workers, and others to help them recognize the signs of Domestic Violence and learn how to deal with it. And a year-long pilot workshop for battered husbands was held in cooperation with the Israel Prison Authority at Ashmore Prison and is now serving as a model for workshops in Israel's other prisons.

Domestic Violence is a difficult subject for the Jewish Community to address, but address it we must! NA'AMAT's primary concern is for the woman and her family, improving her status within the community and society, and fighting for equal rights and opportunities. We must do everything we can to break this cycle of violence in the United States and in Israel. But we cannot do it alone. We invite everyone who can to join us and support NA'AMAT's programs against domestic violence. For information on how to support NA'AMAT's efforts call the local NA'AMAT office at (708) 446-7275.

Thank you,
Barbara Novick
Executive Director

Veterans invited to join American Legion

The retiring Commander of the American Legion Post 247, Bill Young, and the incoming Commander Richard Small, this week announced a general invitation to veterans living in the Park Ridge-Niles area, to join Mel Tierney Post 247.

United States Veterans who received an honorable or good conduct discharge and military reservists called to active duty during periods of national military conflict are eligible for membership. Active duty military service during one of the following periods qualifies an individual for membership: World War II - Dec. 7, 1941 to Dec. 31, 1946; Korean War - June 25, 1950 to Jan. 31, 1955; Vietnam Era - Dec. 22, 1961 to May 7, 1975; Lebanon/Grenada - Aug. 24, 1982 to July 31, 1984; Panama - Dec. 20, 1989 to Jan. 30, 1990; or Persian Gulf - Aug. 2, 1990 to date.

The Mel Tierney Post in Park Ridge was formed by returning World War I veterans in 1919. Since that time, Post 247 has been an integral part of the community. The American Legion originated the District 64 School Cau-

Calling all invertebrates

Experts from The Field Museum's Division of Invertebrates and The Chicago Shell Club will be on hand to share information on shells, snails, slugs and other invertebrates during the Museum's Shell I.D. Day, on Saturday, Sept. 17 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., in Stanley Field Hall. Touch, see, and learn how these backyard critters and underwater dwellers can shoot poisonous harpoons to catch their prey or cast nets of paralyzing slime. Discover how clams have the ability to sink ships or how mussels make beautiful, precious pearls.

Everyone is invited to bring in their found treasures and join the Museum in a fun learning experience. Participants can create small shell drawings and compare their drawings to the many other varieties of shell shapes and sizes found. Also artifacts that man has made using shells will be displayed.

The Field Museum's Shell I.D. Day is free with regular Museum admission; $5 for adults, $3 for children, seniors and students with ID. For more information, call the Field Museum at (312) 922-9410.

MaineTRAC aims at preventing juvenile crime

by Mark Thompson
Maine Township Supervisor

With all the news reports we hear today about teens getting into trouble, it's easy to end up feeling overwhelmed. But while solutions might be hard to find, the situation is far from hopeless.

I believe one small part of the cure is being provided by Maine-TRAC, Maine Township's innovative restitution program for juvenile offenders 12 to 17 years old.

Started in 1987, MaineTRAC works with referrals from area police and probation departments. Teens in the program must either live in Maine Township or attend a township school, must have committed a minor, non-violent offense and must not be a danger to themselves or others. They also must show that they are willing to cooperate with the requirements of MaineTRAC.

Teens in MaineTRAC, which is run by MaineStay, Maine Township's youth services department, begin the program with a mandatory orientation and pre-employment workshop. They also must attend additional workshops in life skills.

Youths' families also play a part. Both offenders and their parents must attend an intake interview to learn what MaineTRAC is about, and to discuss the problems that led to placement in the program. A second family meeting is required at the end of the program to review each youth's performance.

The heart of MaineTRAC, though, is community service. Using a network of private and public non-profit agencies in Maine Township, the program assigns each teen to a certain number of hours of community service. Organizations that have worked with Maine-TRAC youths include area park districts, hospitals, service centers and other units of local government.

The program benefits everyone. MaineTRAC youths have an opportunity to learn responsibility while paying a price for their offenses. The juvenile justice system has a positive alternative for punishment, one that may help deter teens from future crimes. And the community as a whole gains volunteer manpower that helps save many dollars in taxes.

In MaineTRAC's seven years, participating teens have put in more than 11,733 hours of community service. Multiply that by the minimum wage, and you get a savings of $49,866.

But the greatest benefit of all from MaineTRAC may be one we can't measure: the prevention of more crimes in the future. We can't know for sure how many teens will straighten out their lives with the help of MaineTRAC. But if just a few youths are put on the right path, our community may be able to enjoy a safer, brighter future. And that's a benefit worth working for. With the continued help of MaineTRAC, we will.

Geographic Society offers excursions

Five Midwest excursions are planned for September, October and November by the Geographic Society of Chicago.

On Wednesday, Sept. 7 Dorothy Gibson leads a day trip to the Cuneo Museum in Vernon Hills, with its Venetian architecture, old masters' paintings, and 75-acre grounds consisting of lakes, fountains, and formal gardens. After a luncheon under a tent on the grounds, there will be a leisurely walking tour of Lake Forest College.

Day trippers are invited to Starved Rock and the Illinois/Michigan Canal (both rich in Indian and French history) on Saturday, Sept. 24. Enjoy the unusual beauty of the park followed by luncheon at the Mississippi River lodge. Then trace the course of the canal that connected the Great Lakes with the Mississippi River, led by Edward Kenworthy.

On Wednesday, September 28, Society President James Marran will conduct a tour of the Power House, Commonwealth Edison's recently opened energy museum at Zion, followed by a London broil luncheon in the Orrington Hotel's Wedgewood Room. Stop at Kendall College's Mitchell Indian Museum to learn about the Native Americans who peopled this region, and conclude with a sojourn at the new Chicago Loop Room at the Cultural Center.

The Best of Branson, Missouri will be offered October 3-7. Includes round trip bus transportation, four nights first class hotel, College of the Ozarks, guided tour of Branson, Silver Dollar City, five shows including Bobby Vinton, Mel Tillis, Shoji Tabuchi, Baldknobbers and Andy Williams, four meals and luggage services, as well as all taxes and tips on included features.

"Camelot" and luncheon at Drury Lane Theater in Oakbrook will provide a day's escape from winter on Thursday, Nov. 10, when Lerner and Lowe tell their everlasting loveable legend of King Arthur, his knights and their ladies. Led by Charles Baker.

Prices on these trips vary. All excursions leave by bus from Dearborn and Monroe Streets downtown. Non-members of the Society are welcome if space permits. For full information about the excursions and membership contact the Geographic Society of Chicago, 30N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, IL 60602, (312) 726-5293.

trators are receiving $4.4 million in annual salaries. The superintendent receives $148,000 followed by six other salaries which exceed $100,000. Fifteen administrators receive more than $90,000, nineteen exceed $80,000 and nine administrators receive $78,000-$79,000. Among the fifty administrators are several teachers who are heads of their departments and also teach classes.

In Niles Township there are approximately 26 administrators in the high schools.

We pay real estate taxes in Michigan as well as Illinois. On our Michigan bill we pay 54% of our taxes for schools. In Illinois in School Districts 63, 207 and 535 (Oakton College) we pay 60.44%.

The school board president in School District 63 has taken us to task for two errors we published in previous articles. He said the superintendent does not receive $100,000 as we reported. He said he only receives $95,000.

He said we also erred in writing about comparative scores of school districts. We contended they were not available and are not publicized by local school districts. He said they are annually published in the Chicago metropolitan newspapers. He added because of the "socioeconomic" background of the students they must be weighed in determining how well the school districts are performing. He said there is a formula which takes the backgrounds of the students into consideration for such a determination.

Blase said that the meeting, which was called so representatives could explain their motives, produced no solid answers for the enormous rate hike.

"The representatives could not give us a satisfactory answer as to why they needed the increase," Blase said. "Furthermore, we learned that the case they presented to the ICC resulted in them making a lot more money than they indicated they would make."

In response to mounting complaints, Sprint/Centel filed a formal request with the ICC on Aug. 18 to expand the 5 cent calling area and the discount period for its local customers.

"That resulted in a one-third reduction in phone rates," Blase said. "It is difficult to analyze that. We are going to have to see how that translates."

The ICC has 45 days to respond to the request, but Blase says he believes Sprint/Centel already received clearance to activate its new discounts, and that the reduction in rates should appear around Oct. 5.

"We feel this is a positive step, but until we see the results, it will be hard to measure the impact it will have on the rates," said Niles Village Manager Abe Selman. "Until we see the response, we will continue in our efforts."

The four Mayors set a tentative meeting for November at which time they will be able to evaluate the new discount and determine their next action.

"No one has been satisfied as of yet," Blase said. "So at the moment the law suit is proceeding forward."

The board unanimously approved the amendment.

The Niles Possession of Alcohol ordinance, according to Giovannielli, also covers all bases that the Conference encompasses except one that the Chief recommended for adoption.

The amendment reads, "It shall be unlawful for any person under the age of 21 to remain in any motor vehicle, conveyance, vessel, house, apartment, room, hotel room shed, yard, premises, or other area when said person knows that one or more other persons under the age of 21 (located in the same area) are unlawfully in possession of alcoholic beverages."

In addition, the police chief requested that possession of any cannabis or controlled substance prohibited by Illinois Statute also be added to the ordinance.

The Board voted 5-1 in favor of the amendment; Trustee Jeff Arnold voted against the proposal.

The final amendment put the bench in a split decision. It involved the Curfew ordinance, which currently deals with mi-

She assured the board, however, that, "every student gets into (the) computer lab and gets time on at some point and on a regular basis," she said.

One district resident asked, repeating what she had heard from parents, "Is it true that if your child got computers the first quarter of fifth grade you may not see it again until the end of sixth grade?"

Grieshaber confirmed that the opportunities for computer use in formalized instruction may not be often between certain grade levels, "but because of the way computers are used throughout the school, the children will not be void of having computer time."

Another subject discussed was the recommended automation of school libraries by marking books with a scannable code.

"The reason we have looked into automating now is the new methods of researching information," Pat Balston, a Technology Committee member, said.

"Children are no longer using card catalogs," she said. "It's an outmoded way of researching and accessing information."

Superintendent Gene Zalewski had a different idea on whether to attempt to keep up with advancing technology.

"Maybe we shouldn't buy any additional books" he said. "I think the information sources out there are greater than what we have (in the school libraries)."

The board of education voted not to spend money on the automation of the libraries right now.

In recent meetings, the subject of making laptop computers available for student loan has come before the board.

Previously, the idea was recommended back to the education committee at the May meeting and a decision was made against the purchase of the laptops at the June meeting.

Grieshaber said that the subject was still important to the Technology Committee, so it brought the matter up for a final time in its recommendations.

The board voted 4-3 for the purchase of the laptops, but Grieshaber said he would still need to report back to the board on issues such as the protection of the computers.

Phase III of the Technology plan will focus on practical knowledge, Grieshaber said. The district's instructional program in technology will include hydraulics, electronics and the use of video.

Also, at the meeting, the starting date was changed on a contract for the new principal of Culbert Middle School, Barbara J. Lavrakas.

In a 4-1 vote, the board of education approved the contract with a starting date change from Aug. 18 to Aug. 22.

The only "no" vote came from board secretary Eileen Varisco, who does not think that the district needs another administrator, despite Lavrakas' "impeccable" qualifications.

Lavrakas was an assistant principal for three years at Springman School in Glenview, before which she taught French and language arts in Evanston-Skokie's District 65.

The board also agreed, via consent agenda, to accept the contract from Maierhofer for the transportation of students for the 1994-'95 school year for $91,683.

Fewer bus routes will be needed this year, Zalewski said, as an extended kindergarten schedule required fewer trips.

Still remaining to be worked out are details and costs surrounding the addition of video cameras to buses.

Zalewski said that all buses will carry a box that conceals the camera, but cameras will be rotated among buses.
